DEMOCRATS LACK INTEREST IN MUNICIPAL PRIMARIES

Independent Candidates Will Evidently Figure in Election

Nomination papers of both parties for candidates for city office at the party caucuses, Tuesday, Nov. 12, were filed with the Republican and Democratic City Committees Thursday night.

The Democrats showed a peculiar lack of interest. At the last minute, James H. Penniman was prevailed upon to run for the party mayoralty nomination.

No papers for councilmen at large, or in wards, one, three and five, or for school committeemen.

Even in the Republican ranks there is not that activity or desire to serve in the City Council on the part of some of the citizens, which the tax payers would like to see.

Machine Went Down an Embankment, but Little Light Thrown on Accident

Companions Went to Boston After Leaving Body at the Inn

Albert L. Dinnin of Teck chambers, Irvington street, Boston, was killed in an automobile accident shortly after midnight this morning on Quincy avenue, at the entrance to the Cedar Crest Inn. Just how the accident happened is not known at the present time ast he other occupants of the car have not been located.

From what can be learned however it appears that shortly after midnight an automobile containing three men, one of whom was the dead man visited the Inn and asked for supper. Not being members of the club the steward refused to entertain them.

A few minutes later the party started out but had not been gone long before one of the party came rushing back to the Inn and said that there

DEMOCRATS GET ENTHUSIASTIC

PARTY SUCCESS URGED

"I have changed my mind on non-partisanship and believe in straight Democratic lines," were the words of Ex-Mayor Shea at the Democratic rally at Hibernian hall, Thursday evening. The announcement came like a bomb out of a cloudless sky and created no end of enthusiasm among the 200 people who were present. The rally was in the interests of the Democratic candidates and Ex-Councilman Michael T. Walsh presided.

John F. McDonald, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic state committee was the first speaker. In an able manner he spoke of constructive Democracy, how the committees all over the state were working for the success of the ticket on Nov. 5 and added words of commendation to all the Quincy people who have interested themselves in the candidacy of all men who will appear on the ballot. He urged a stimulation of interest in the indifferent voter and closed with a tribute to the Democratic platform.

Edward Gilmore, condidate for congress in the 14th district spoke of the splendid opportunities a man has in doing service for the people along general lines, that his heart was open and said he would do everything possible to help the masses and ease off the high cost of living.

Hon. William T. Shea told of the efforts being made to place a Democratic ticket in office explained his change of views from non partisanship to straight Democratic policies and urged the support of the ticket.

Michael T. Sullivan, candidate for representatve n the fifth Norfolk district said that he was unqualifiedly opposed to the Luce law which he believed detracted from the purpose of the Australian ballot which should be and intended to be secret. He further said that he had been approached with regard to his voting for the next United States Senator and stated that he felt there were more good men who would enter the fight before long, that he had not chosen any of the present candidates named in print and that when the time came for him to cast his vote for a senator it would be for the man who would best interest the people of Massachusetts.

William Kelley, secretary of the city committee and a representative of the Central Labor Union attacked the record of Roger Wolcott on the labor end and also on general legislation.

SHAW LETTERS NOT INSPIRED

In the Interests of Any Mayoralty Candidate

MR. ABELE HIS CHOICE

Irving L. Shaw, author of the series of letters appearing in the Ledger on "What's the matter with Quincy" denied, in no uncertain terms, allegations of John L. Miller that the letters were inspired by a group of men in the interests of a certain mayoralty candidate.

Mr. Shaw said: "The statement is absolutely and unqualifiedly false. I started the letters on my own volition without outside suggestion from any person. Of course I have drawn from everyone I was able for my information, including present councilmen and former councilmen.

"When the series was started early in September I had no idea who the candidates for mayor would be. Councilman Abele had been mentioned to me as a possibility by no one and I did not know he was going to run.

"Mr. Miller called me up on the telephone early this week and asked me who I intended to support. It was not until he learned my choice was Mr. Abele that he commenced to make this talk about the letters.

"I shall publish no letter in Saturday's Ledger but will wait until the candidates announce their position as I suggested in my letter of last Wednesday."

MISS BUCKLEY HOSTESS.

Miss Florence Buckley entertained a party of friends at her home on Bates avenue, Thursday evening. Hallowe'en games and singing helped pass the evening. She was assisted by Mis Salbina Louise McLaughlin and Miss Anna Buckley. Refreshments were served. The house was lighted only by the lanterns which were part of the decorations.

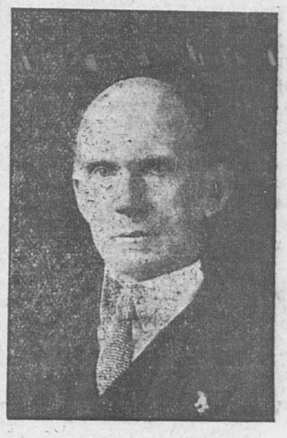
QUINCY EXTENDS GLAD HAND TO PROGRESSIVE CANDIDATE BIRD

Alpha Hall Packed to the Doors by Large, Enthusiastic Audience

"Bill" Shea Called Upon—Urged All to Vote For Wilson



CHARLES S. BIRD,
Progressive Candidate for Governor.

DANIEL COSGROVE,
Progressive Candidate for Lieut. Gov.

Charles Sumner Bird, the Progressive Party candidate for governor received a royal welcome on his second visit to Quincy Thursday night. He was escorted to Alpha hall by about 200 men carrying red fire and American flags.

The hall was packed to the doors with men and women and Mr. Bird gas given one of the biggest receptions a candidate ever received in Quincy.

There was enthusiasm within and without the hall. Prior to opening the meeting, a band played in front of the hall while another paraded the streets, on Kincaide's big motor truck, which was framed in and across the side appeared many Progressive suggestions.

City Square was a blaze of red light, as the marchers moved to and fro.

Many transparencies were called. One said, "We stand for the Square Deal for the American Consumer." Another, "My Country 'Tis of Thee' is greater than the G. O. P." Others appealed to the woringmen to stand for their own interests.

He was introduced by State Committeeman John H. Johnson and throughout his short address was frequently interrupted by applause.

Among the audience in the latter part of the evening was Hon. William T. Shea who is a Democrat, and at the invitation of the chairman Ex-Mayor Shea delivered a few pleasant remarks on the situation.

A resolution to be sent to Governor Foss urging him to call a special session of the legislature was unanimously passed. A letter of regret was read from Arthur Huddell who could not attend because the machine was spending money to beat him for office in Chelsea, according to the chairman's explanation.

Mr. Bird spoke in part as follows: "Weeks ago I urged Governor Foss to call a special session of the legislature to allow the people of Massachusetts to decide for themselves the next candidate for the United States senate to be voted on at the coming legislature. I have again and again asked the leaders of the party to urge Governor Foss to take action.

"Today I have asked the leaders of the Democratic party, Gaston, Hamlin, Fitzgerald and many others to call a

Properly Celebrated by Merry Party of Friends

The home of Emile Gustafson, 207 Granite street, was the scene of a merry gathering Thursday evening when friends to the number of 30 helped him celebrate the passing of another milestone in the pleasant journey of life.

During the evening all the Hallowe'en festivites were indulged in to the great amusement of those present. The house was prettily decorated with autumnal foliage and the principle flowers were chrysanthemums. After refreshments were served all departed for their homes, wishing Emile happy returns of the day.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

GENUINE SORROW.

Nothing but genuine sorrow and regret is heard on every hand upon the almost sudden death of Vice president Sherman. Little was known of his severe illness up to within a few days. His death so suddenly following the announcement of his illness came as a distinct shock to the nation. His family have universal sympathy at this hour. Mr. Sherman held a rather unique position. While known to a great many people of the nation, he was not any great central public figure, up to the time he was nominated for the vice presidency, and even then he filled that retiring niche in the national life in a quiet way. He was a kindly, courteous gentleman who had a happy faculty of making friends. In all the heat and turmoil of this campaign, he escaped much of the abuse which was so ruthlessly hurled at others. He was not of the type of practical politicians of the present type, but rather of the old school. That he was a home loving and kindly man has been evidenced by his quiet mode of life. Yet he was not a recluse, but got out and mingled among his fellow men and many of them were the better for the contract with the kindly, genial vice president, James S. Sherman. His death comes at a time which tends to complicate matters, but there is no occasion for the slightest tangle resulting. Everything will be smoothed out so that events will be permitted to move along on the even tenor of their way. The National Republican committee will meet after the election and name a man whom the Republican Electers can vote for in the electoral college.

STARTLING FIGURES.

Attention is called to some startling figures by the Committee on Wild life protection of the National Conservation congress. It is an amazing array which this organization offers in evidence of the terrific waste produced by the useless slaughter of small birds, the insect destroyers of the country.

In our own community we know that it costs a good round sum each year to protect the trees from the ravages of the gypsy moths. Other cities and towns of the state, and even all over the nation funds to the same end are expended yearly making the outlay enormous. Crops of all kinds are likewise the common prey of the insects. It is estimated that insects did damage to the amount of $420,100,000 to crops in 1904. These figures are taken from government reports. Small insect destroying birds, which could by their habits prevent much of this loss, are killed each year, in the most wanton manner. It is claimed that the killing is for food. It is hardly tenable, but that they are destroyed for millinery decoration is quite certain. The congress is active to check this wholesale slaughter of birds. The body with some degree of reason contends that this annual waste, which might be diverted, to some extent if the birds were permitted to live is another item chargeable to the high cost of living.

UNDER ARCH OF AUTUMN LEAVES

Grace D. Hicks Becomes Bride of George E. Scott

Miss Grace Darling Hicks, daughter of Silas C. Hicks, 32 Robertson street and George E. Scott of 6 Ballou street were married Wednesday evening by Rev. J. Hamilton Woodsum of the First Baptist church, East Milton. Miss Annie B. Scott of Braintree was the bridesmaid and the best man was Ainslie U. Hicks of Quincy.

The bride was given away by her father. She was dressed in white net with ball trimmings over white satin, wore a pearl ornament and pink rose buds in her hair and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid was dressed in light blue voile over blue messaline and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

As the bridal party entered the parlor, Miss Belva Hamilton played the Mendelsohn wedding march. The ceremony was performed beneath an arch of autumn leaves and white chrysanthemums.

Following the marriage there was a reception and they were assisted in receiving by William Scott and Ainslie U. Hicks. Guests were present from surrounding cities and towns.

After a wedding trip to New York and Washington they will reside at 6 Ballou street. The bride is a former teacher at a Gloucester business college.

CORBIN-COATES NUPTIALS

Brilliant Wedding of Popular Braintree Couple

The home of Mr. and George H. Bird of 17 Hollis avenue, Braintree, was the scene of a pretty home wedding Thursday evening when Mrs. Alvaretta Johnson Coates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Johnson was united in marriage to Thomas G. Corbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Corbin. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by the Rev. A. Lowell Ryan pastor of the South M. E. church of South Braintree. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bird attended the couple. The bride was attractively gowned in brown chiffon taffeta silk with bead trimmings while Mrs. Bird wore a becoming dress of blue whipcord trimmed with pearl ornaments. Mrs. H. A. White of Washington street played the wedding march from Lohengrin and rendered other suitable selections. The house was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and cut flowers. After the ceremony the couple received their friends and were assisted in doing so by the Misses Bird. There were guests present from Somerville, Boston, Brighton, Lynn and the Braintrees. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain. Both Mr. and Mrs. Corbin are well known in this locality and have a host of friends who offer every congratulation at this time. Mr. Corbin has been in the employ of Mr. Peter Ness, (the painter for some years. The couple have decided to make their new home in South Braintree and will be at home to their friends at 700 Washington street. They received many beautiful presents. Among them were the following:—

Coffee Percolater, Mrs. Chapman of Brighton; Silver tea spoons, Mrs. A. J. Smith, Jr., Somerville; Silver service, Mrs. A. Smith, Somerville; Lemonade set, Misses Bird; Centre piece, Miss Armella Cudmore, N. B.; bed spread, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Bird; berry-dish, Mrs. William McNamata, Boston; Centre piece, Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, Boston; bon bon dish, Mr. and Mrs. Slade, Braintree; Linen set, Harry Giles, Lynn; Five dollar gold piece, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ness; photo group Messrs. Middleton, Harrison and Peele.

During the evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. It was a most pleasant occasion for all present and it was a late hour when the guests departed leaving many expressions of good will.

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 1.—Former Mayor Charles A. Stott of this city, long a prominent figure in the Grand Army of the state, died at his home here after a long illness. He was a member of the legislature in 1867. He was 77 years old and leaves four children.

CANDIDATES QUESTIONED

By Mr. Chase As to Their Attitude on "Rum Ways"

To Messrs Evans, Leslie, McGilvray, Piper, Roberts, Sullivan, Candidates for election to Legislature.

Gentlemen:—In this No-license city its voters are intensely interested in the laws to be supported and enacted which relate to the morals and safeguarding of its citizens. What will you, individually, do if elected?

"High cost of living," burdens of the people," "shorter labor days," numerous "patent hot air remedies" —and even "water ways" don't concern us more than our "rum ways." Can your votes be depended upon in defense of such acts as the "Bar and Bottle Bill?"

Respectfully Yours.
R. D. Chase.

MR. CLAFLIN OPTIMISTIC

Mental Delirium Not a Happy Frame of Mind

Editor Quincy Ledger:

At this particular juncture of affairs, it seems to me wise to interject a word to in some slight measure calm the troubled waters of political controversy.

The City of Quincy is firmly established—in the common opinion—as a city with most of the qualities that make it a good home for its citizens. It has been clearly shown in recent letters that there are some things to be done at an early date to give the city a full return for the investment made through the annual tax levy.

That our city in the past has had a succession of executives who entered upon their duties with a full determination to administer the office of Mayor in a way to bring to themselves credit of such administration, I firmly believe. I think there has been no exception.

As has been said by others, the city covers a large area, and on the whole is not a rich city. Its citizens require the improvements and luxuries that are enjoyed by its sister cities, with rather a large expense list and rather a small revenue; but while we appreciate the fact that our tax rate has been pretty high, taking two per cent of our property for the city, it is well to remember that we have ninety-eight per cent still in our pockets and that we have got quite a bit for the money that we have parted with.

The mental delirium into which some minds have been thrown by the exposure of some blunders that have been made in the Public's business, is not, it seems to me, a happy mental condition.

That the men that have held the subordinate offices from time to time have been men of good average ability, and men of integrity, I believe to be absolutely true.

That we cannot get men for our administration of too high an executive standard, is a sentiment in which all men agree.

That we have had anything in the nature of a corrupt City Hall cabal I do not believe, and I think, in brief, that at this time it is a very good plan, while we are looking at the mistakes that have been made, that we strike a trial balance and see if the assets do not balance the liabilities.

CROW ISLAND ILLUMINATED

Usual Sombre Aspect Lighted By Lively Brush Fire

An alarm from box 154 at 9.18 Thursday evening called the fire department to a brush fire on Crow Island, across the Marsh from the National Sailors home. The blaze was beaten out by the crowd without aid from the apparatus.

In attempting to reach the fire in his auto Chief Litchfield took a disused cart path, the only road to the island, but was forced to turn back when half over on account of the weak wooden bridge at that point.

special session. He has refused on the ground that there is no need of doing it because a previous legislature has turned down that proposition. I have reminded him that a good deal has happened since the old legislature adjourned since public sentiment has centered on that question. I also reminded him that by a very narrow margin the bill was turned down and therefore if he would call an extra session now there is no doubt whatever that the law would be passed to allow them to express their pleasure. I told him, as well as the other leaders of the party that it was, perhaps, more important to choose a Senator by direct vote than choose a Governor.

"The Senator is elected for six years and it is of the greatest importance that the man who represents Massachusetts as a successor to Senator Crane should come from the voice of the people rather than the bosses. This means the people should have a right to choose the leaders. Both parties pretend that they should have that right but they are afraid to trust the people.

"Foss says he believes, and if he really does believe it, it is up to him to put it up to the legislature. I have been accused of having allied with Fitzgerald whereby my influence is going to cast in his favor. I resent the accusation. I am not in favor of any man who is the representative of the bosses of the Democratic party or any other man representing the bosses of the Republican party. I am in favor of the man whom the people of this state decide by preferential vote. Fitzgerald and the Democratic and Republican leaders are trying to befog the issue. They are trying to place the blame on the Progressive Party. I recent it. We are doing all in our power to help the people choose.

"I also called on Walker and after a few days he has agreed that it is better to allow the question to come before the people but he is acting as an individual and that is all he can do.

"I called on him, Weeks, McCall, Crane, Lodge and others to bestir themselves and tell the Governor it is his duty to call a special session.

"I have asked him if he is a real commander or a dummy. If he is a real commander cannot he get them to vote in favor of its passage. If he is a figurehead he ought to be defeated. Why is he willing while McCall, Weeks and others are not in favor.

"Is he a leader or have the leaders repudiated Walker? I think he is an amiable, estimable man but I do not think that he is the right kind of a spine. If he had you can rest assured that he would read the riot act to the leaders and he would say we will stand committed to allow the people to choose the next United States Senator.

"If he does not do that then he is not a man of the right sand and stuff to be the next Governor. If Foss does not do that and the leaders of the Democratic party does not insist, then you will know there is some kind of an alliance between him and some other gentlemen who is close to him for the senatorship. The people have a right to choose the next senator and not the bosses of the people. I am not now going to discuss the Republican party but just as sure as I stand here the Republican party is dead and gone beyond all hope of resurrection.

"Just as sure as I stand here a vote for Taft is a vote wasted. They have given up the fight, they are discouraged because the people have not responded to their kind old party with its great and glorious history which is a relic of the past and Taft has done more to kill it than anyone else, but the bosses backed him up and are as responsible.

"I am not going to talk about the Democratic party because I have not the time. They are painted the same. I was a Democratic follower part of the time, and the other half have been a Republican follower and I know something about the kind of men in each party. There is no great difference. Big interests control the bosses and the bosses control the candidates and their work. Now I am going to get to the Progressive Party which is the only one I can support with enthusiasm. This Progressive Party is not the offshoot of anyone party. We draw from all parties. We are a party of Progressive men and women."

Candidates Bird's reference to Theodore Roosevelt was greeted with cheers. He spoke of Old Age Pensions, Minimum Wages and other legislation which is in the party plank.

Concluding, he said, "if you want a politician, don't vote for me, but if you want a man who can be Governor, vote for me."

Dr. Hutchinson, said that his profession endorsed the Progressive platform because its humane tendency would develop a stronger race of people.

"Bill" Shea was presented as one who feels pleasantly always and gained a burst of applause when he took the platform. He said he had just come from a Democratic rally, urged all to weigh the pro and cons and then vote for Wilson. He said John Evans was one of West Quincy's best citizens.

Dr. McIntosh gave an extensive explanation of the recall of judicial decision, and John Evans and James P. Roberts talked on their candidacy.

Col. Kincaide was the last speaker and said that regardless of who was elected, a solid vote for a Quincy candidate meant a better chance for Quincy's betterment. He told of his success throughout the district and touched on the Harris record. He asked the support of Quincy voters.

BLACK CATS AND WITCHES

BUSY SEASON PLANNED

The Wollaston Tennis club opened its winter social season in Brasee hall, Thursday evening, with a Hallowe'en party. To the music of Corey's orchestra a large number enjoyed the dancing and at intermission refreshments of doughnuts and cheese cider and apples were served. E. Tyler Brigham was floor director.

Decorations of Hallowe'en significance abounded. Suspended from the ceiling were several huge paper counterfeits of pumpkin faces while around the hall were witch and black cat ornaments.

The committee has the following program in view for the winter:

A dancing party on Nov. 29th, Leap year party on Dec. 31st, Shirt Waist party on Jan. 24th, dancing party on Feb. 21st and the annual masquerade on Mar. 22nd.

BOSTON AND VICINITY

BOSTON THEATRE.

A special production of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" with a cast chosen with excellent regard for their ability in this line of country impersonation opens a limited engagement at the Boston Theatre Saturday afternoon. There is no question that, in these strenuous days of business life, when competition is so fierce that those who succeed do so only at the expense of a tremendous output of energy, the majority of the people who attend the theatre do so to be taken out of themselves. They seek in the playhouse recreation and relaxation for their nervous organization. To this much of the success of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" is doubtless due, for as a celebrated dramatic critic of the middle states has expressed it, the play comes "like a crisp and refreshing autumn breeze, straight from the hills of New England bringing with it the sweet aroma of the woods and the homely music of the farmyard." No one who sees it can rise from his seat at the close of the performance without feeling refreshed. The play is a tonic in its brightness and its total freedom from the hackneyed and the conventional. As a rural drama it is quite unlike all other plays of its class. Its sentiment possesses a quaint and delicate unobtrusiveness that it quite its own. One great charm is its exceeding fidelity to nature. This appears even to its comedy, for the fun which it animates almost every moment of the play's action, although irresistibly funny, is never strained to the point of burlesque. The laughter that it invariably creates is of a kind that no one can regret. Matinees daily.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

The last two weeks of Henry W. Savage's gay operetta offering, "Little Boy Blue," at the Majestic Theatre began Monday evening, with the customary spirit of joy prevading the large audience that always attends these performances. It is easy to understand why New York kept this show in its midst for six whole months. Its charm is irresistible, and musically there is just enough variation from a haunting Viennese melodies by the introduction of unique arrangements of popular Scotch airs to lend the entire production a piquancy that one does not often find in musical presentations of this kind.

Such musical hits as "King of the Boulevards," "Love Never Dies," "The Crystal Ball," "Sandy McDougal," "Aeroplane," "Angus Gordon Donald Douglas Evart John McKee," "Little Boy Blue," "When the Mists of the Night," "Kiss Me dearest, Kiss Me, Do," "Two Cockatoos," and "The Gathering of the Clans," will be hummed and played a long time after the operetta has left town.

There will be an extra matinee on Election Day, when the election returns will be read from the stage.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The title of "The Cummuters" indicates that it is a play for all who appreciate the humors of suburban life. It comes to the Castle Square Theatre on Monday, and it will undoubtedly repeat the popularity that has been its reward wherever produced. Hetty and Larry Brice are a newly married couple who dwell in a suburban town called Auburn Manor just outside of New York, and when Sammy Fletcher is invited by Larry to come out and spend the night, complications ensue that make up three acts of almost unending humor. The dialogue is bright, witty, and goodnatured in its thrusts at suburban life, and the action is spirited and lively.

The author of "The Commuters," is James Forbes, and he also has "The Traveling Salesman" and "The Chorus Lady" to his credit. Throughout its three acts it fairly bubbles over with mirth. Since the vast majority of theatre-goers live in the suburbs and travel back and forth between city and home each day, it is bound to have a general personal appeal. Its scenes and incidents give out real bits of actual life as it is lived at the present day. The cast will include Miss Mary Young, Mr. Wilson Melrose, and the entire strength of Mr. Craig's Castle Square company.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

The announcement that David Belasco will present his famous production of "The Concert" at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, for two weeks beginning Nov. 4, is welcome news to theatregoers. Standing room no doubt will be at a premium, for Mr. Belasco's fame as a producer draws crowds of sympathetic and delighted audiences. In any Belasco production they know they will see a play worth while, and they bank on the Belasco promises and achievements of the past—promises that have been kept and achievements that have been triumphs. "The Concert" is one of Mr. Belasco's greatest contributions to the glory of the contemporary stage.

Why does "The Concert" arouse such a tumult of enthusiasm and approval? Briefly described "The Concert" is a dramatization of the old Adam in man and the old Eve in woman, which this day and generation chooses to call "artistic temperament." This artistic temperament the author of "The Concert" has treated with a lance and scalpel, dissecting it with merciless logic, and holding it up for our amusement in a series of situations as intensely dramatic as they are always humorous and full of the true comedy spirit. Gabor Arany, the hero of the comedy is a world-famous piano virtuoso. He is handsome, debonnaire, beloved of many charming and beautiful women. He is imbued with the artistic spirit to the very roots of his hair. He is temperamental to the very tips of his exquisite fingers. Indeed, speaking of temperament, Gabor Arany has such a superfluity of that commodity that life for him is one long, fine frenzy.

This temperamental genius has a wife who is not gifted with the artistic vagaries that bother her husband. Nobody realizes that fortunate fact better than she does. One artistic temperament is enough in any family, opines Mrs. Arany. She watches over her husband as a mother does over her foolish child. She is a patient wife, and forberance is one of her greatest virtues. In spite of her husband's many flirtations, and his affairs with other charmers, she continues to love him. She has a keen sense of humor and a sympathetic understanding of her husband's shortcomings. When harm in the form of a foolish escapade with another woman, hovers near, this wise wife goes to her husband's aid and protects him.

There will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees of "The Concert." The night performances are over in plenty of time for suburbanites to get their trains.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

One of the most extraordinary captures ever made for vaudeville was announced yesterday, when John J. McGraw, the famous manager of the New York "Giants," signed a contract to appear at B. F. Keith's Theatre in Boston next week. Mr. McGraw is without question the greatest baseball general that the American game has ever produced. He will appear in evening dress, giving a short talk on "Inside Baseball," describing the workings of a big major league team from the standpoint of the manager. Running Mr. McGraw a close race for first honors on the bill, will be Don, the wonderful talking dog from Germany, who is without question the canine phenomenon of the century. "Don" is, so far as known, the only animal that has ever been educated to actually articulate words. He speaks several words in German, including his master's name, the German word of "cake" and several other of the more common German words. He will be introduced by Loney Haskell, the well known monologuist. Aside from these two brilliant features the bill will include Cunningham and Marion, the jolly tumblers Schrooner and Dickinson, the pianist and the maid; Barnes and Barren, two new Hebrew comedians; the Musical Kings in a big spectacular musical act; Williams, Thompson and Copelands in a funny farce called "The Burglar's Union," The Steinert Trio, bar experts and many others.

WEIRD REVELS OF GARDNER CLUB

The Guests Conducted Through Many Marvelous Ways

Witches and ghosts carried on their weird spooking revels at the Halowe'enn party given by the Gardner club Thursday evening. The parish house of the Christ church was the heath upon which these wierd beings let forth their hollow moans and shrieking wails.

The guests of the club were met at the church yard entrance by three members of the Old Witches gathering and then escorted through the "Tunnel of Darkness" and up the winding stairs of "Fate."

After taking this perilous journey those present were led through the Witches Arch and into the exquisitly decorated hall. The Goblin's March then took place while the "Chief Goblin" played his enchancing music.

The Goblins March was followed by numerous Hallowe'en games such as "riding in the witches basket," "the hunt," "marshmellow race," "thread the needle," apple bobbing, etc.

The Parish House was decorated with autumn foliage, cats, pumkins, black and orange paper, while all of the lights were covered with Jack-o-lanterns. The two fireplaces burnt briskly through-out the evening.

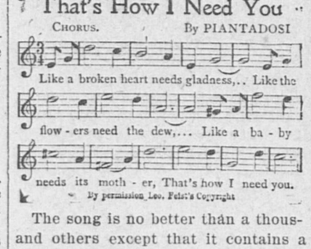
The party came to a close at 11 o'clock after all present congratulated the committee of arrangements for a very pleasant evening.

—The British royal astronomical society has recently received a small log from the apple tree which bore the apple that fell on the head of Sir Isaac Newton, and set him to thinking about the law of gravitation. Needless to say, this is the world's greatest apple tree, if one leaves out of consideration the tree that bore the forbidden fruit of Eden.. It is not certain that that was an apple tree—Taunton Herald.

THIS LOVE SONG BROUGHT $10,000

FANCY PRICE PAID FOR COPYRIGHT OF "THAT'S HOW I NEED YOU."

Fancy prices for the copyrights of popular music reached a climax yesterday when a music man, Leo Feist, paid the fantastic figure of $10,000 for the copyright of a song scarcely dry from the press, called "That's How I Need You." And yet Feist claims he will make a fortune on it at only a dime per copy, wholesale. Here is a portion of the chorus clipped from a copy just received:



The song is no better than a thousand others except that it contains a number of odd harmonies aimed, evidently, to develop women's voices. The song bids fair to become a fad in Quincy within the next fortnight.—Adv.

DRAMATIC CLUB IN FULL CHARGE

Of the Party at St. John's Parochial Hall

An even 100 attended the Hallowe'en party given at Parochial hall, on Thursday evening, by the St. John's Dramatic club. There were games, dancing and an entertainment. The hall was decorated with crepe paper, Japanese lanterns, witches, brooms and other weird contrivances and an open fire place was set in one corner of the hall.

Rev. John J. Coan, Father Sharkey and Father Casey were the guests of the evening.

About 11 o'clock all adjourned to the lower floor where a long table was groaning under the weight of eatables. Nearly 40 minutes was spent at the table after which the party closed with dancing. Candy, ice cream, cake, apples and cider were served the company.

The committee in charge was Miss Nellie Desmond, chairman, Miss Margaret Ford, Miss Mary Driscoll, John Donahue, Louis Bouchard, and Walter Ferguson.

PAINTING THE CHAINS

But Those of Religious Freedom and Not Bondage

A corp of efficient artists, members of the Junior laymen of the First Church painted the chains hanging from the posts around the property today. The work is going on under the direction of Dr. Hudson and Superintendent Porter of the Sunday School. They are assisted by a painter who follows that business. Under such direction those amateur artists should certainly perform good work.

☞The test of time is the severest business test. For over fifty years A. Shuman & Co., has enjoyed a reputation for integrity second to none in the country. This fact accounts for their unimpeachable business reputation. Every bit of merchadise is sold on honor—the fabrics are absolutely all-wool and non-fading and the A. Shuman & Co., label on clothing is a guarantee of service and satisfaction. From the time the business was founded they have given loyal service to their customers. The merchandise has always met the statements made in the newspapers through advertising. The mark-down sales are genuine and honest, and the public's quick response is substantial proof of faith and dependability.

had been an automobile accident and one of the party had been injured. The injured man was found buried beneath the over turned antomobile, which was down a banking and taken to the Inn where a physician was summoned. He lived about ten minutes. He had been caught by the seat of the car and was badly crushed.

Sometime later the other two men, after leaving the name of the dead man hired an automobile and were taken back to Boston. They did not say how the accident happened. From appearances however it looked as though after leaving the road leading to the Inn they had first turned toward Weymouth. Then finding their mistake they had tried to turn around and in doing so went over the embankment and the automobile capsized.

When righted this morning the engine was started and found to be working all right but the levers were set for the machine to back.

FAIR AND SUPPER GREAT SUCCESS

Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostom's Entertain

IN USUAL FINE STYLE

The annual fair and supper of the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostom's church Thursday afternoon and evening in the rectory and parish rooms was a successful affair preparations for which have been going on for many weeks.

At the entrance tickets were sold by Mrs. David L. Jewell. The decorations of Japanese Cherry blossoms in the rectory attracted attention and were credit to the Junior Auxiliary who made them for the Guild.

The Remembrance table presided over by Mrs. Herbert H. Albee and Mrs. Albert N. Murray was an attractive booth where choice articles mostly of linen were sold. Several of the exquisite hand embroidered articles were contributed by ladies who formerly lived in the parish.

At the apron stall were the Misses Clean, Mrs. Arthur Stanley, Mrs. Alice J. Bainbridge and Mrs. David Fulton and the aprons of every conceivable shape and size found a ready sale.

The baby booth was in charge of Mrs. Frank E. Cleveland, Mrs. Percy L. Davidson, Mrs. George D. Rundlett, Mrs. Horace W. Richmond and Mrs. Frederick H. Steenstra. The dainty little articles of hand work for infants in white, pink and blue were adorable.

The candy booth was in charge of Mrs. George M. Campbell, Miss Eleanor S. Roberts and Miss A. Maud Briggs. The home made candy stuffed dates and popcorn balls were readily sold.

At the miscellaneous table were Mrs. John H. Landry, Mrs. George E. Allen, Mrs. J. Lewis Ellis, Mrs. George P. Parker, Mrs. William H. Spooner and Mrs. Frederick S. Waite and here all kinds of useful articles as well as canned fruits, jellies and cake were sold.

Mrs. J. Kneeland Ellis, assisted by Mrs. James W. Hallett and Mrs. Morgan were in charge of the childrens' amusements and the mysterious grabs.

Mrs. Sydney J. Smith and Miss Jean Hopkins presided over a table at which delicious punch was served. Mrs. Eleazer F. Drew, assisted by Miss Edith Atkins and Miss Irene Colman served ice cream and cake.

An excellent supper was served from 6 to 8 o'clock in the Parish rooms which were prettily decorated with autumn colorings. The Menu was chicken patties, scalloped oysters cold ham, rolls, mashed potatoes, salad, home made pies, and coffee.

The supper was in charge of Mrs. Daniel C. Miller and an able corps of assistants including Mrs. George H. Bean, Mrs. Vernon S. Brokaw, Mrs. Howard D. Fowler, Mrs. Alfred J. Fox, Mrs. Charles J. Hennigar, Mrs. David Hansen, Mrs. Edward F. Parlee and Mrs. John E. Walters.

The waitresses were Mrs. Frederick L. Bent, Mrs. Ralph P. Currier, Mrs. George B. Curran, Mrs. William J. Crocker, Mrs. Edwin Coleman, Mrs. Woodford Ketchum, Mrs. Charles T. Kelley, Mrs. Ellis M. McTear, Miss Gertrude Allen, Miss Elizabeth Cook and Miss Adelaide Nichols.

ACTOR REDDING HANGED

Pays Extreme Penalty For Murder of Morris Greenberg

Wethersfield, Conn., Nov. 1.—George Redding, the youthful playwright and actor from New Haven, was hanged early this morning for the murder of Morris Greenberg of Hamden, in September, 1911.

Redding's mother and father, his sister and his brother, visited him Wednesday for the last time and they were accompanied by Mrs. Leora Hudson, the widow with whom Redding was infatuated and to court whom he murdered and robbed Greenberg.

Redding was an actor in small companies and was the author of a play, "Trapped by the Wireless," in which he had the leading part.

ASKS REPARATION IN SUM OF $500,000

Record Document Reaches Interstate Commerce Commission

Washington, Nov. 1.—A petition was filed with the interstate commerce commission which constitutes a record in the history of the commission in two respects. It contains the names of 1562 separate complainants, who are business men of Montana, and it demands reparation in the sum of $500,000.

The complaint was directed against the Northern Pacific railway and seventy-five other carriers which operate between the Atlantic seaboard and the Rocky mountains. Freight rates on all classes and commodities are attacked as unreasonable, exorbitant and discriminatory; the commission is asked to reduce the rates from 25 to 50 percent, according to the character of the articles transported, and damages in the sum mentioned are demanded for alleged excessive charges on shipments during the years 1910, 1911 and 1912.

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—Declaring that the will of his father, Frank H. Holyoke, a wealthy lumberman of Bangor, Me., was a forgery, Sydney Holyoke of Milwaukee filed in the superior court here a notice of contest. The case will be heard Nov. 11.

Holyoke died at Pasadena a year ago, his will giving each of his two sons $100, and his wife, from whom he had been separated a short time, $1000. The remainder of the estate, said to be valued at $1,000,000, with the exception of $50,000 bequeathed to Bangor philanthropies, was left to two nieces, Madeline and Majorie Holyoke of Bangor.

MOSLEMS IN FULL RETREAT

CRUSHING DEFEAT FOR TURKS

Probability That Adrianople Has Fallen—Constantinople Expected to Suffer Same Fate Within a Week—Allied Armies Continue to Sweep Through Macedonia

London, Nov. 1.—The whole of Europe gasps with astonishment at the news that General Savoff's Bulgarian army had completely routed the forces of Nazim Pasha, totalling 200,000 men, by his skilful strategy and practically brought to a close one of the shortest and most remarkable wars on record.

The powers are interested not only on the question of dividing the territory, but France and Germany are especially concerned because officers from their armies have trained the opposing troops. The rapid and sweeping victories of the allies have proved a crushing blow to Germany, for the flower of her officers had trained the Ottoman soldiers, while France was responsible for the brilliant, snappy work of the Balkan soldiery.

General Savoff is now hailed as one of the greatest military leaders of the age. He has utterly defeated the main Turkish army, brought his victorious army within fifty miles of the sublime porte, which is practically at his mercy, and brought about a meeting of the Turkish council at Constantinople, which is discussing the advisability of suing for peace.

War News Via Vienna

Vienna, Nov. 1.—A three days' battle between the main forces of Bulgarians and Turks forty miles southeast of Adrianople has ended in the overwhelming defeat of the Turks.

Though it was thought the reports from Sofia might be somewhat exaggerated, they are generally accepted here as substantially accurate. The Turks claim some small successes farther east near the Black sea coast, but they are of trifling importance compared with the demoralization of the main Turkish army, which alone has opposed the Bulgarian advance toward Constantinople.

Not only were the Turks beaten, Bulgarian advices say, but they are in full flight with the Bulgarian cavalry harassing them in the rear.

That Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander, will try to rally his men for a last stand, forty-five or fifty miles west of Constantinople, across the narrow peninsula at the extremity of which the capital is situated, is the belief of military men here. His line, if he chooses his position well, need not be more than thirty miles long, and by massing his entire force to protect it, experts believe he may offer an effective resistance.

Turkey's friends here have practically abandoned hope. Wednesday's advices from Constantinople gave some encouragement, but later developments reported by the Bulgarians destroyed it.

Few Austrian authorities believe it will be more than a week before the Bulgarians control the sultan's capital. It is agreed that their occupation of it will mark the end of Ottoman rule in Europe.

Verification of rumors that Adrianople has fallen are lacking, but the best military judges think them highly probable. With all hope lost of relief from Nazim Pasha's forces, it is pointed out, it would be folly for the city's defenders to prolong their resistance.

Details of the fighting about Lule Burgas, now occupied by the Bulgarians, are lacking, but all reports from the front speak of an engagement of unprecedented violence and of tremendous losses on both sides.

Little is learned of the situation in western Turkey, but the few dispatches received from Belgrade and Athens report uninterrupted advances by both Servians and Greeks. Within the next day or two it is expected they will be in complete control of Macedonia and all of Albania except Scutari, where the Turks are still holding out, and are said to have repulsed a Montenegrin assault at latest accounts.

Already the powers are feeling around to see if there is any way of uniting on the proposition of saving Constantinople from the armies of the allies. A dispatch from the pro-Turk centre, London, asserts in positive language that Europe will not tolerate the entry of Bulgarian troops into the Moslem capital. Even Russia is in agreement on this, it is said. In the Balkan capital it is proclaimed that what their armies win the states will keep.

New Turkish Atrocities

An Inexpensive Food.

Pickled Pig's Feet.—The pig's feet should be allowed to stand in cold water for about twelve hours or over night. Then the toes should be taken off and the feet well scraped. Place on the fire and boil them till they are tender, salting the water just before they are done. Then they should be placed in a large jar or crock and covered with hot vinegar which has been spiced with whole cloves, pepper and allspice. They may be served without further cooking or may be cut in two, rolled in flour and fried in hot fat until brown.

A Novel Relish.

Pig's Feet Salad.—The pig's feet should be cooked in salted water and cleaned the day before they are needed. When boiled until tender drop them in vinegar. Next day pick out the meat, shred it finely and chop, using the bits of jelly sticking to it. Chop the white and tender stalks of celery to make a large teacupful and mix this with the meat. Chopped white cabbage or cold boiled potatoes may be used instead of the celery if you prefer. Use a French dressing on the salad.

Pork and Beans.

Pig's Feet With Beans.—Take two nice pig's feet, cook for an hour and scrape and clean well. Put the feet into a covered vessel and stew gently for two hours, just covered with water and seasoned with pepper and salt. Add a quart of hot parboiled beans and see that all are well covered by adding more water and put back into the oven. Let the contents of the vessel cook very slowly for three hours and serve hot.

Halved and Broiled.

Grilled Pig's Feet.—Scrape the pig's feet and wash them. Then soak in cold water two hours and wash and scrape again. Split each in half lengthwise. Tie the halves in pieces of cheese cloth. Place in a deep saucepan, cover with boiling water, add one tablespoonful of salt and simmer slowly until the feet are tender. Take them from the liquor and set aside until cold. Remove the cloths. Into two tablespoonfuls of thick cream stir well one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley and a dash of tabasco sauce. Having removed the cloths from the pig's feet brush each piece with good olive oil and dust lightly with salt and pepper, using one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-half saltspoonful of pepper for all the pieces. Broil over a clear fire for several minutes. Serve on a hot platter and spread the prepared butter.

WHEN SERVING PARTRIDGE.

PARTRIDGE is roasted about the same as chicken. The birds should roast about forty minutes and be basted often.

When broiled the birds should be brushed inside and out with olive oil or melted butter. The fire should be a moderate one and the birds browned over it.

How to Cook.

Broiled Partridge.—Halve the birds and flatten with a knife. Season with salt and pepper or cayenne. Dip into clarified butter, then into very fine breadcrumbs. Place over a very clear fire and broil gently from twenty to thirty minutes. Send it to table with brown mushroom sauce or a slice of butter put on when taken off the grill.

The Favorite Method.

Roast Partridge.—Choose plump, tender young partridges for roasting, put a lump of fresh butter in each one and, after tying thin slices of larding bacon over the breasts, roast the birds for eighteen or twenty minutes. They can be roasted in a paper bag or in a fireproof earthenware casserole, with the addition of butter and bacon fat only.

When cooked the birds may be carved into two or at most three pieces and should be served on croutons of crumb of bread that have been fried in butter.

Pour off the fat from the dripping pan, add a little boiling water or some stock made from partridge bones and trimmings and serve the gravy separately in a sauce boat. On no account add any flavoring to the gravy or the delicate aroma of the partridge will be lost.

Using Cold Birds.

Scalloped Partridge.—The cold cooked birds may be used for this. Cut off all meat from the bones of the birds and put the bones into a saucepan with enough cold water to cover them and a little salt. Let them simmer gently for three-quarters of an hour. Then the bones must be taken out and the stock strained. Add two teaspoonfuls of red currant jelly, a few grains of nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste.

Now brush the scallop shells with butter. You use china ones or even the natural shells.

When the stock has been nicely seasoned, add the chopped partridge, mix it well and pour some into each of the shells. Then sprinkle a layer of browned crumbs over each and put them in the oven to get hot through.

A RECORD DEMONSTRATION

New York Crowd Cheers Wilson For Sixty-Three Minutes

New York, Nov. 1.—It was Wilson night in New York last night, the Democratic nominee for the presidency addressing a big rally in the Bronx and a tremendous outpouring of voters in Madison Square Garden.

The demonstration for Governor Wilson lasted for one hour and three minutes. It began when he reached the garden, at 9:11 o'clock, and it was 10:14 before he could begin his speech.

Governor Wilson took occasion to reply to the talk of his opponents that the prosperity of the country would be affected by his election. He pointed to the betting odds in Wall street, so largely in favor of Democratic success. This was what he called his "answer in a nutshell," showing, he declared, that there is not the slightest prospects of any check in the country's prosperity.

The only way the prosperity of the country could be injured was by the deliberate efforts of Wall street, he said.

"The gentlemen in Wall street don't bet 5 to 1 on their own destruction, and they don't go to their business smiling and complacent when they expect a deluge next week," was his way of putting it.

GETS BULLET IN ABDOMEN

Hallowe'en Prank May Cost a Boy of Fourteen His Life

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 1.—Herchal Hoyt, 14, was probably fatally wounded last evening by Mrs. Mary Wesoja, who fired a revolver from the back door of her home at Goff's Falls into a crowd of youngsters who were annoying her with Hallowe'en pranks.

The bullet struck Hoyt in the abdomen. Mrs. Wesoja dropped the revolver and ran to Hoyt's side. With some of the boys she carried him into the house and placed him on a bed. After administering first aid, she called a physician.

Mrs. Wesoja was arrested and will be held, pending the death or recovery of the boy.

TURRET OF MAINE HURLED FORTY FEET

Divers Make Discovery In the Harbor of Havana

Havana, Nov. 1.—Divers engaged in the work of removing the shattered remnants of the forward section of the battleship Maine for the purpose of restoring the harbor to its normal depth, discovered the forward turret, intact, containing a pair of 10-inch guns and mounts weighing upward of 200 tons.

The turret had been hurled forty feet from its original position. It had been believed that the turret was lying under the barbette which was discovered months ago in an inverted position near the side of the ship.

The turret lies in thirty-two feet of water, and no attempt will be made to remove it. It will be necessary, however, to explode many charges of dynamite for the purpose of sinking it deeper in the harbor bottom.

INCOME TAX AMENDMENT

Four More States Must Ratify to Make the Plan Effective

Washington, Nov. 1.—Thirty-two states have notified Secretary Knox of their ratification of the proposed income tax amendment to the federal constitution and four have notified the state department of their rejection.

To become effective thirty-six states—three-fourths of those in the Union—must ratify. Those which have not notified the department of ratification or rejection are Delaware, Florida, Louisana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New Mexico, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Utah have notified of rejection.

Late James S. Sherman Popular In Washington

Narrowly Missed Being Speaker of the House----Skilled Presiding Officer.

THE death of Vice President Sherman takes a ray of sunshine out of public life. Whatever men may think of parties and of politics, of this national issue or that, of progressive or standpatter, or what not, they love good cheer and wholesome natures, kindliness and simplicity, of all of which James Schoolcraft Sherman was the embodiment.

If he had followed in the footsteps of his clan Sherman would have been a Democrat. When he showed Republican tendencies early in life his father reproved him severely. One of the main arguments adduced by the elder man was that one of Sherman's brothers had been elected mayor of Utica, his native town.

"And he was elected as a Democrat, Jim; don't forget that," said Pater Sherman.

The younger son laughed softly and took off his coat, metaphorically. He went to work and at twenty-nine found himself elected mayor of Utica.

"And I was elected as a Republican, dad; don't forget that," said Mayor Jim.

Then "dad" smiled softly.

Mr. Sherman was born in Utica, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855, and lived there all his life when not absent on official duties in Washington. Utica was also the home of Horatio Seymour, Roscoe Conkling and other notables. His father, Richard U. Sherman, an editor who was prominent in the public life of his day, was also born in Utica.

Law and Politics.

The making of James S. Sherman began at Hamilton college, from which he was graduated in 1878, being an honor man in his class. After his graduation his father sent young Sherman to Europe to travel and study for two years After spending his time in the foreign capitals he returned to Utica, took the bar examination and was admitted to practice.

His prominence in politics dated from his term as mayor of Utica. That election made a place for him in the politics of the state, and from that time on he had been reckoned as one of the rockribbed Republicans of New York. He was elected to the state central committee. In 1892 he was elected a delegate to the Republican national convention. Three years later he was elected chairman of the state central committee in New York. In 1895 he was re-elected to the same office.

Mr. Sherman was elected to the Fiftieth congress and served there, with the exception of one term, till made vice president.

According to Mr. Sherman's friends, he made his first race for congress to vindicate his family name—a thing he is very proud of. His brother-in-law, W. H. Cookenham, had been the Republican candidate for congress in his district and had been defeated.

Two years later Mr. Cookenham was asked to make the race again, but refused, saying that he thought the Democrats had the election for a certainty.

"If you don't run I will," said Sherman. "I'll show the Democrats that they can't beat a Sherman twice in succession."

It was a little farfetched, it is true as the only Sherman defeated was Mrs. Cookenham, Sherman's sister, but he made the race and was elected.

Before entering his first race for congress Mr. Sherman had made a name for himself in New York as a speaker. He had served through several local campaigns and in one national campaign in which he was in great demand on account of his forceful delivery and his engaging personality.

Candidate for Speaker.

In 1899 Mr. Sherman was the candidate of New York for the speakership of the house. He was a strong candidate for the place, but the eastern delegation split at the last moment, and the combining of the western states defeated him for the honor.

After that Mr. Sherman contented himself with his legislative duties. The bulk of his work has been done on the committee on Indian affairs. He was known for his strong work in securing to the red men the rights that were being taken from them by land grabbers and petty politicians and always stood for the advancement and betterment of "Poor Lo."

In the Panama canal preliminaries Mr. Sherman was very prominent, as he was in the investigation of the naval and army schools growing out of the hazing exposes.

It was through Mr. Sherman's work in this investigation that the gradual dropping of hazing has come about.

Mr. Sherman continued the practice of the law till 1906, but was also interested in various outside enterprises. He was president of the Utica Trust and Deposit company and of the New Hartford Canning company. He was married in 1881 to Miss Carrie Babcock and had three sons.

Sherill is teller in the Utica Trust Company bank, of which Mr. Sherman was a director and former president. Richard U. is professor of mathematics at Hamilton college, from which his father graduated and of which Mr. Sherman was a trustee, and Thomas M. is secretary of the Smyth-Despard company of Utica.

Mrs. Sherman a Social Leader.

Mrs. Sherman is very prominent socially and enjoys great popularity. During her sojourn at the national capital she won an enviable position for herself. Owing to ill health she gave no large entertainments, but her small dinners at the New Willard were invariably noted for their extreme smartness. Little was ever said about them in the papers owing to Mrs. Sherman's dislike of publicity.

A story is told of Mr. Sherman that he was in his committee room at Washington one evening dictating a report to his stenographer while two pages were carrying on a discussion as to the relative batting ability of Lajoie and the late Delahanty. Mr. Sherman apparently was engrossed in the reports and figures in front of him, and baseball scores and averages seemed the furthest from his mind.

"Lajoie batted .402 last year," said one of the pages, "and Delahanty hasn't hit more'n a double this year. He's battin' about .200, if that much."

"He batted .316 up to yesterday, sonny," came the sudden interruption from Congressman Sherman, "and he leads the league in extra base hits. And you've got the Lajoie dope wrong. He batted .406." And then he resumed his dictation.

Mr. Sherman was one of the best presiding officers that ever occupied the chair in either house of congress. He was a skilled parliamentarian, prompt in his rulings and stated his position so simply and fairly that there is no remembrance of his having been overruled. In the house he was probably called to the chair oftener than any other floor member. In the senate he handled matters with the quickness and facility of a veteran. He had a clear voice that carried well.

Headed Congressional Campaign.

In 1906 Mr. Sherman became chairman of the Republican congressional committee, of which he had previously been vice chairman. He presided over state conventions in New York and was often talked of for governor.

After his election to the vice presidency Mr. Sherman's name was brought out in the Indian scandals in Oklahoma, but he was completely exonerated by the report of the committee conducting the investigation. One of his last appearances in New York politics was in connection with the Republican state convention of 1910, when he was chosen by the state committee to become temporary chairman, the opposing candidate being Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. This was the beginning of the fight that finally resulted in Roosevelt winning the convention, defeating Sherman and nominating Henry L. Stimson for governor.

One who had known him long and intimately said of him:

"Young Sherman was a boy whom other boys tied to. There wasn't a mean streak in him. Men tied to him as boys tied to him, a fact that the visitor to the halls of congress might learn with little trouble inside of an hour.

"Mr. Sherman had strength and a will of his own when principle was involved. Popular and genial he was, but he did not give way to the demands of friends when the demands were not what he thought they should be.

"Mr. Sherman was a man of strong character and of deep convictions. His word was binding, and no man ever doubted his sincerity."

YOUNG GOODWIN ADMITS MURDER

Youth of Seventeen Did Not Calculate to Kill Young

ROBBERY WAS THE MOTIVE

Testimony at Inquest Shows That Slayer Saw Retired Sea Captain Tuck Money Into Wallet Just Before Leaving His Store—Blow Over Head Caused Death

Ellsworth, Me., Nov. 1.—"I suppose I am guilty; I did not calculate to kill him." This unexpected statement by Edwin Goodwin, aged 17, of Surry, acknowledging the killing of Harry C. Young, the store keeper and retired master mariner whose body was found on the edge of Patten's pond stream, startled those gathered in the municipal courtroom late yesterday.

It came when Goodwin was asked by Judge Hall to plead to the charge of murder, on which he had just been formally arrested. He made no other statement in court. He was ordered remanded to the county jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury next April.

When Goodwin was detained here Wednesday as a suspect, he was about to take a train for Bangor. He was unable to explain to the satisfaction of the authorities how he came by $25 found on his person.

At the inquest, which resulted in a verdict that Young was murdered by a blow over the head, testimony was given that Goodwin was in the store fifteen minutes before closing time Tuesday night, and saw Young fold his money into a wallet, preparatory to taking it home for the night, as was his custom.

The wallet was found on the shore of the stream below where the body rested.

HENRY L. KINCAIDE & CO.

WEDDING TRIP TO NEW YORK

Thursday evening, October 31st the marriage of Miss Evelyn E. Towne of Carruth street, Wollaston and Mr. R. Ray Findlay of South Quincy was quietly solemnized at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church by the rector, Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra. After a wedding trip to New York the young couple will reside in Quincy, where the groom is employed as conductor for the Bay State Street Railway Company.

PROGRESSIVE RALLY.

A rousing rally was held in Long's hall, Thursday evening by the Progressives of Braintree. There was a large attendance, a considerable portion of the audience being of the fair sex. Assembling in front of their headquarters on Washington street, South Braintree, the members of the party bearing torches and escorted by the Quincy National band and a drum corps led by L. Thurlow Torrey, marched to Braintree, followed by crowds of people, and cheered by many more enthusiasts along the way.

Many dwellings displayed flags and the residence of Dr. C. H. Gould was heartily cheered for its briliant illumination.

The hall at Braintree was quickly filled and proceedings began at once. I. Wendell Gammons acting as master of ceremonies.

There were numerous selections by the band and some spirited singing of well known airs by the assemblage led by A. F. Palmer, Mrs. George G. Ellsworth presiding at the piano. There was a brilliant array of speakers who voiced remarks relative to the campaign and its obligations.

Among them were: Russell A. Wood of Cambridge, Lester P. Winchenaugh, candidate for senator, John R. Evans, Frank A. Morrill, Colonel Henry L. Kincaide, candidate for congress, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, the famous physician and magazine writer, Dr. Herbert McIntosh, and Charles Sumner Bird of Walpole, the Progressive candidate for Governor of Massachusetts. All the speakers received great applause and references to Roosevelt, Johnson, Bird, etc., etc., were accorded thunderous cheers.

The rally was concluded at 10.30 o'clock, and was one of the best attended and most enthusiastic political gatherings held here for a long time.

ROSS—RYAN.

City Clerk, Emery L. Crane, assisted by his assistant Miss Rita Lyons again officiated in the role of ties of knots and witness, Thursday afternoon when he performed the marriage ceremony for Miss Edith Gertrude Ryan of 21 Chestnut street and Angelo Ross of 50 Revere road. The knot was tied about 5.30. Tuesday the couple applied at the office for an intention and desired to be married immediately. After a conference with Judge Avery he said he considered it a case of exigency and gave the necessary permission.

YOUNG SAFFORD FEARFULLY CUT

LEFT LEG ALSO INJURED

Royal Safford of Atlantic, a High school boy had a very narrow escape from being killed Thursday afternoon on Newport avenue near the corner of Adams street. His left leg was badly injured and he was badly cut and bruised about the face and body. That he was not killed outright is considered miraculous. The boy started for his home on a bicycle. He went up Bridge street and started to turn into Newport avenue. As he turned the automobile of Dr. Fred A. Bartlett of Atlantic was coming up the hill. Both saw that an accident was unavoidable, although both did their best to prevent it. The next instant the bicycle and automobile came together head on. The bicycle was badly smashed and the boy thrown off and rolled to one side of the street. Dr. Bartlett was not injured although the front of his automobile was somewhat smashed.

The doctor took the boy in his car and rushed him to the office of Dr. Hunting where his injuries were dressed and he was taken to his home The physicians found nearly 100 cuts on his face and body in addition to a bad injury to his left leg. Not long ago the boy suffered an injury to his left leg which laid him up for many weeks.

ONE WATCH RECOVERED

Officers on the Trace of One Other Harder to Locate

After court Thursday, George W. Alexander, the young man found guilty of the larceny of three watches from C. F. Pettengill, accompanied Inspector Goodhue to Boston in an effort to locate the watches. Alexander first led the officers to a pawn shop on Hanover street where one of the watches was recovered. Of the remaining two, one Alexander says he sold to a newsboy and the police have a trace of this and hope to recover it. The third watch was also pawned but has not yet been recovered. The difficulty is that the numbers of the watches are not known and they are hard to trace. The young man however tried all he could to locate them for the police.

LEATHER TOKENS FOR TEACHERS

Fields School Pupils Made Merry at Hallowe'en Party

Pupils of Grade VII, Massachusetts Fields school made merry in the school hall, Thursday evening ,at a Hallowe'en costume party in honor of their teacher Miss Annie L. Blacklock and her assistant Miss Downing.

A jolly crew were present in a wild conglomeration of costumes ranging from Doctor Pill and Mother Witches to ghosts and Colonial dames.

Miss Blacklock and Miss Downing were respectively presented with tan leather hand bags by Violet Shay and Emily White in behalf of the class. The teachers replied gracefully.

A variety of games were played and ice cream and cake served. The hall was prettily decorated in orange and black with lanterns and other Hallowe'en tokens.

The committee in charge were: Mildred Morris, Blanche Morris, Janetta Shay, Emily White, Catherine Finn and Lucille Snow.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

The Ladies' Catholic Club of Houghs Neck held a Hallowe'en party on Thursday evening in Bungalow dance hall, Houghs Neck. The affair was in charge of Mrs. P. F. O'Brien president; Mrs. Helen G. O'Toole, vice-president; Mrs. Walter Buchan, treasurer and Miss Helen Gagan, secretary.

FIREMEN ON STEADY JUMP

Rubbish, Woods and False Fires Keep Them Moving

SIX SEPARATE ALARMS

From 7.35 until 9.12 Thursday night there was an almost continuous ringing of the fire alarm bells, five bell alarms being sounded between those hours. Fortunately however there was no serious fire for three of the alarms were for brush and woods fires and two were false alarms. The alarms were sounded as follows:

Box 413 at 7.35 P. M. Woods on Buckley street.

Box 42 at 8.10 P. M. Rubbish at Hardwick's dump.

Box 34 at 8.20 P. M. False alarm.

Box 431 at 9.05 P. M. False alarm.

Box 154 at 9.12 P. M. Woods fire at Wollaston.

This morning at 7.49 the auto chemical was called out on a still alarm for a grass fire in the rear of the Rice residence on Adams street.

NO MEN WANTED FOR SHORT WHILE

The Ladies Aid of the Hall Place M. E. Church gave a successful Hallowe'en party in the vestry, Wednesday evening.

The evenings entertainment consisted of violin solos by Miss Pauletta Kristofferson and Miss Helen Martin and duets by Miss Helen Martin and J. Lawrence Martin. The hit of the evening was a short sketch entitled "No Men wanted."

Miss Elizabeth Rawley and Miss Isabelle Granger, two young ladies who are keeping "batchelor's hall" are satisfied with the situation until "my Tom" and "my John" put in an appearance, when both are convinced they can no longer keep their secrets and are glad to confess their weakness. Miss Prynnella Abercrombie, as a colored maid tries to help matters along and in true negro style hopelessly jumbles things up in her great eagerness to attend the "Pop Concert" with her "Persimmons."

The cast of characters was Elizabeth Rawley, Mrs. Joseph Francis, Jr., Isabelle Granger, Miss Helen Martin, Pyrnnella Abercrombie, colored maid, Miss Hilda Francis.

At thec lose of the entertainment refreshments were served by the ladies.

ATE BY LIGHT OF JACK-O-LANTERNS

Master Clarence Barron gave a Hallawe'en party to his young friends at his home, 20 Orchard Place, Thursday evening. The house was very prettily decorated for the occasion the dining room being especially attractive. All sorts of Hallowe'en games were played and the prizes given added greatly to the fun. Refreshments consisting of good things that appeal to the appetite of the average boy, were served by the light of Jack-o-lanterns, the place cards and favors being much enjoyed.

Among those present were: Trescott Abele, Mannert Abele, Lewis Curtis, Harvey Curtis, William Curtis, Read Nichols and the young host. Clarence Barron.

DIED AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Miss Annie Harkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harkins of Adams street and sister of Rev. Howland J. Harkins of Amesbury, died this morning after a short illness. The deceased was in her 26th year. She is a graduate of the Quincy High school, class of 1902 and has been the bookkeeper for J. Peterson at Quincy Point for about three years.

Miss Harkins was a girl of charming disposition and one whose friendship was valued. She has been a devout attendant at St. John's Catholic church and was a member of the various societies.

—Ten thousand pushcart peddlers in the country are said to be rich men. Which, if true, shows once more what has been proven so many times before—that the fellow with a cheap article to sell is the one likely to make many sales and become wealthy faster than many of those who sell high-priced goods and depend on high-priced trade.—Brockton Enterprise.

GLASS SWEPT AWAY

The red line in the big thermometer on the corner of the Shaw building, which during the City Hospital campaign was constantly going up, went down Friday night. Not only did the red line go down but the thermometer shared the same fate. There was some young wind about 7 o'clock and one heavy gust ripped the thermometer from its fastenings and it came down with a crash. As it fell the wind whipped it around the post and threw it up against the large plate glass window which also fell a victim for the glass was smashed into a thousand pieces. Some of the china displayed in the window was also smashed. It was fortunate that there was not the usual crowd awaiting for a street car at the time or someone would surely have been injured.

For some little time the sign threshed around, people being somewhat timid of taking hold of it, because of the electrical connection, until the men from the Electric light station arrived and made everything safe.

BUSY SESSION NIGHT BEFORE

City Council to Meet on Eve of Election to Consider Veto

A busy session of the City Council is promised for Monday evening, even if it is the night before the great battle of ballots. There is likely to be a lively debate on the veto of the Mayor on the order relative to the Auditing of accounts. This communication is now on the table and the chances are that it will be taken from the table and disposed of. A number of reports will be received from several of the committees, so that altogether the meeting promises to be a busy one.

BURGLARY.

The shoe store of Timothy Deasy on Water street was entered by burglars sometime Friday night. The parties gained entrance by prying open one of the windows in the rear of the store. Once inside they thoroughly ransacked the premises turning things upside down. They were not successful however in getting any money but they did carry away some shoes and rubbers. The break was reported to the police and Inspector Goodhue is making an investigation. Rubbers of course were among the essentialls and gloriously required Friday night.

RAIN NO DAMPER TO REPUBLICANS

Wolcott Claims He Has Been Misrepresented

PIPER EXPLAINS

Rain did not dampen the ardor of the Republicans that attended the rally in the interests of the G. O. P. ticket at Hibernian hall, Friday evening.

The speakers were Grafton D. Cushing, speaker of the house of representatives, Representative Roger Wolcott, Amos Saunders, Representative William J. Naphen of Natick, Dr. Everett M. Bowker of Brookline, and Representative Walter E. Piper, Councilman George E. Gauthier, presided.

Roger Wolcott defended his record which he claims has been misrepresented since his opposition to many measures was out on the actual measure but to amendments which would have changed the sense of the legislation.

Speaker Cushing talked largely on the legislature, explaining the needs of proper legislation and asking all to pay a more particular attention to the workings of the session and its accomplishments.

Amos Saunders, a former representative discussed legislation and touched on the merits of the Workingmen's Compensation Act.

Representative William J. Naphen of Natick delivered an address which glowingly depicted the result of the Republican parties work in state and national issues.

Dr. Everett M. Bowker said he considered himself the logical man for the county commissionership and believed that Brookline was entitled to the office. He said he had the experience and executive ability to handle matters which come before the board.

Representative Walter E. Piper talked on his candidacy for re-election and said that he could stand on his record before the people and considered himself entitled to another term.

REP. ROGER WOLCOTT.

He said his opponent had criticised his support of the trolley bill for western Massachusetts on the grounds that he was aiding the steam railroads to get control and that it was after mature consideration that he concluded that private capitol could not be secured to develop western trolly lines and that the people should have trolley lines to help decrease the high cost of living. He outlined the effect trolley service has had in Eastern Massachusetts and said the same was possible for western sections.

WOMAN'S CLUB SCORED SUCCESS

Hallowe'en Party Unique in Its Features

GOODLY NUMBER PRESENT

The Hallowe'en party given by the Literature committee of the Quincy Women's Club at Alpha hall, Friday evening easily eclipsed all other successes of this organization.

The proceeds will be devoted to a fund for buying a reflectoscope for the use of the public library and its branches.

The decorations of the hall were unique and the harmonious effect gave it the appearance of a bower of woodland where happiness comfortably dwelt. The orchestra was hidden behind orange and black streamers hanging from the curtain to which were attached jack-o-lantern pumpkins. A white fence, on which were two traditional Black Cats, hedged in a bed of sunflowers, and along the bottom ran vines with pumpkins.

The matrons corner was daintly decorated and a background of red roses contracted prettily with the color scheme. Autumn leaves were caught up by wires around the hall and surrounding the hall clock was a miniature forest.

All the electric lights were covered with the prevailing colors and witches and cats were attached to the draperies.

The matrons were Mrs. Henry M. Faxon, Mrs. Henry L. Kincaide and Mrs. John O. Short and among the patronesses of the affair are: Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr., Mrs. George Abele, Mrs. Albert E. Avery, Miss Helen Baxter, Mrs. Elisha Bird, Mrs. Paul R. Blackmur, Mrs. B. F. Bowles, Mrs. George H. Brown, Mrs. Walter E. Burke, Miss Grace Burke, Mrs. Francis H. Corey, Mrs. Emery L. Crane, Mrs. A. In His Democratic Policies in Nation and State Affairs

CITY IT IS DIFFERENT

Hon. William T. Shea takes exception to what appeared in a report of a rally on Thursday evening and makes the following announcement on the subject:

"I did not use those words and did not speak at Hibernian hall at the Thursday evening Democratic rally and it is well known that in state and national politics I am a Democrat but I believe in non-partisanship in muncipal affairs and the action of the present city council more firmly convinces one in the elimination of party designations in municipal politics and if I live I will appear at the next session of the legislature as I have the past two years and advocate the passage of such a measure.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Those records of noise at Republican and Democratic rallies in New York, gave the gothamites a chance to expand some of that enthusiasm they had bottled up if their team had not been Snodgrassed.

That was a considerate burglar in a New York cigar store who after binding and gagging the clerk, waited upon a customer and rung up the sale in the cash register.

While so much consideration is given to the welfare of people serving jail sentences, how about relieving the condition of the average apartment house prisoner in the hotels and apartment houses of large cities?

Those Burns detective who visited New Bedford to check election bribery had all the appurtenances of a political candidate and a high class stage person, they had a well established press bureau.

Mr. Lawson has again found his pen, likewise choice advertising space in the newspapers. What a boon he is to the advertising departments of many papers.

Martin Lomasney still maintains his inscutable silence. He cannot be smoked out. However much his enemies may attack him, his friends say that Martin was never known to go back on a friend which accounts in a measure for his political strength.

A few more candidates, a little more activity and interest in local affairs would have a good result.

Mr. Shaw only temporarily lays down his pen to hear from the candidates when he will resume his letters to the people.

The Young Turks who took control only a few years ago with such a flare of trumpets appear to have made a complete mess of maintaining the integrity of their country.

In tumbling over themselves to kill Mayor Fitzgerald, politically, some of the newspapers will find they have accomplished just the reverse. There is nothing that the "Little General" thrives so much as publicity of whatever kind.

That the Lawrence victim did not meet death from an American bullet is some consolation.

The building and leasing of the Commonwealth docks was rather a hasty event, but there is no need of making the lease release an event of the same kind.

And now it is suggested that a copper from each of Mrs. Cleveland's admirers would purchase a costly wedding gift. A suggestion purely in bad taste and undoubtedl strongly disapproved by Mrs. Cleveland, judging by the fine womanly, retiring traits she has exhibited during all her years before the public gaze. Her life as a wife, mother and widow has been an example which many of the female wranglers of the present day would do well to copy.

There is a noticeable lack in the public utterances of individuals on the election problem of purely party politics. The individual candidate appears to be more a subject of discussion.

It looks as though Mr. Walker had a board of strategy who did not look far enough ahead to see the possible shoals and breakers in the pathway of the Bird suggestion.

While the Boston stock exchange will be closed Tuesday that does not mean that the stocks will be closed out or even the stockholders.

There are more "quizzers" to the square inch on the evening trains from Quincy to Boston than on any other line of equal stretch. And the joke of it is the self appointed public interviewers take themselves seriously and believe every one else does. There is always an awakening period however.

The debut of Candidate Penniman has given some stir to what was being considered a rather quiet compaign.

Some of the Association orators should enter the political field, run for office and then get their share of the kicks and cuffs.

While those women may not have caused Roger Wolcott the loss of a single vote, it is doubtful if their campaign has added a single vote to their own cause.

Last night was the last chance for events, nothing has been heard of any one falling down stairs, so all the stunts must have been pulled off without accident.

So the New Haven has steamer terminal locations at Atlantic. Let them come. The more steamers, the more railroads, the more people, the busier and better the place will be and the bigness will come along in time.

An official announcement has been made that Candidate Marshall is a Presbyterian, as if that will or should have any effect upon the election, although one brilliant prophet says he cannot predict with certainty just what effect this will have upon the result. However by way of enlightenment it would not be amiss to say, one at all on the result, the number of votes will affect that."

While some people are howling in their glee of November having only 30 days others are grinning up their sleeves at the five Saturdays which appear on the calendar.

Election day and the anniversary of the Guy Fawkes plot to blow up parliament are one this year. Wonder it has any significance to some of the political parties now in the running.

If the participation of Turkey does not produce a general war in Europe, it will come pretty near to it.

November did not come in with the promise of being near so kindly as her sister October.

It is about all over except the shouting. We refer to the election coming at the end of a remarkable campaign which has aroused here as well as everywhere a storm of discussion and argument. The voters of the city are greatly divided by their allegiance to the various candidates but party lines seem less sharply defined this year than ever before and the citizens will cast their ballots according to the dictates of conscience, rather than being influenced by party precedents.

Shortly after the law was enacted requiring horse-drawn vehicles to display a light after nightfall, the statute was very generally obeyed and the wagon or buggy without its warning lantern was the exception to the general rule. At the present time in Quincy very few equippages other than automobiles are thus equipped and the dangers of collision on the highways are greatly increased. To be sure the streets are well lighted but law is law and is effective only when enforced and consequently respected. Should an accident occur, the driver who failed to display a light would quite likely be the one to bear the blame of the affair. The automobilists are held very strictly to the letter of the law. It seems only fair that drivers of other conveyances should be held just as accountable.

FALSE ALARMS.

False alarms for fires in Quincy are really getting too numerous to be looked upon as a joke or condoned. Every time the fire department is called out it costs the city quite a tidy bit of money. Possibly this may not be realized by every one, but it is a fact just the same that a mere response to an alarm whether the hose, machines, ladders or other apparatus are used means the actual expenditure of a certain amount, which would look well in a pay envelope. Again there is the element of danger to citizens, which is ever present on the streets, when swiftly flying apparatus is on th way to the fire.

All of those things and some few others leads to the conclusion, that this joke and condoning business of false alarms should be checked before it leads to serious consequences. A determined effort should be made to apprehend any person, committing such an offense and the punishment should be meted out with due regard to law and justice and the rights of the people and the protection of the city from such a continued nuisance.

FAWKES ANNIVERSARY.

It is peculiarly coincident, if not particularly significant, that the election day this year, comes on the 287th anniversary of the famous gun powder plot to blow up the English parliament.

Thirty-six casks of powder were smuggled into the cellars of the great parliament buildings. There was a leak and Guy Fawkes was arrested in the cellar where he had gone to set the train, and the horror was averted. The schemer was executed the next January. For the first time in 59 years the Republican party goes before the people with its strength divided and facing practically a united Democracy.

Will this anniversary mark the wreckage of the Republican party or the obliteration of the new party?

The decision of the voters on Tuesday will tell the tale.

GETTING WARM.

That Boston woman, manager of a cooking kitchen had more courage than all the politicians and economists put together. She came out plump and plain and told the real cost of high living or at least some of the main causes. And she likewise pointed out the absurdity of some of the methods offered as remedy for the same. It is not so much the high cost of living as it is the cost of high living. Things which our forefathers considered luxuries, people of the present age look upon as necessities. Those things cost money and tend to the cost of high living. The people in moderate circumstances aim to copy those fairly well to do and the latter are keeping pace as best they can with those just a little better off than themselves. The result is that all hands spend more than they really need to. That French woman told a whole volume of truths when she said, Americans make Paris to expensive for French people to live in. The reckless and lavish expenditure of money in Paris has raised the cost of living there. It is not in this case the cost of high living, because the cost can be kept down there, but is not, so it is the high cost, wholly unnecessary, just a product of the American importation. Look at the clothes we wear, the food we eat, the hours of leisure, the amusements, the schools, the colleges, everything which is offered for young and old today and compare them with the conditions of 50 years ago, and some accounting for the high cost of living is given, but not all. The immense profits accruing to trust magnates and the like swell the total.

QUINCY IS ALL RIGHT.

Since Mr. Shaw entered upon his series of letters with a query "What is the matter with Quincy?" there has been a continuous performance in the handicap and matinee class of writers speakers and a host of others to tag on to that Band wagon of high sounding name with the idea of getting a place. Mr. Shaw's query did not mean that there was anything particularly the matter with Quincy as a health resort, a place of residence, a depot for industrial foundation and an asset to Boston as a waterway terminal.

His question was a natural one upon the existing condition of things. But since the ball has been started it has been a favorite theme of discussion. Every one appears to know just what is the matter but hesitates about suggesting a remedy. With the condition so popularly in evidence, the remedy should be easy. A little united action, minus endless discussion, which leads no where and the change for the better would come automatically.

JOHNSON'S PLANS UPSET

Friends Took Charge of Tin Wedding Celebration

A party of friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson at their home on Cranch street, Thursday evening, as they were about to leave for Boston to celebrate their tin wedding. They were obliged to quickly change their plans and were entertained by the thirty guests present instead of wandering to the Hub to celebrate by their lonesome.

The guests brought floral decorations with them and soon turned the house into a veritable woodland bower. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were presented with a beautiful parlor table. Refreshments were served during the evening. Guests from Roxbury, Everett and Quincy were present.

Mr. Johnson is a well and favorably known grocer and has been located on Cranch street for six years.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

The annual chrysanthemum exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society will be held at Horticultural hall, Boston, Thursday to Sunday, November 7 to 10. This exhibition, the last of the season, and one looked forward to with greatest interest by the members of the Society and public generally, is the crowning feature of the horticultural year. In addition to the display of chrysanthemums there are classes for orchids and for groups of flowering and foliage plants from many of the private greenhouses and commercial growers of this and other states.

There will also be exhibits of seasonable fruits, a special feature of which will be the collections of native and foreign kinds arranged for decorative effect with autumn foliage berried shrubs.

A popular ladies' orchestra will furnish music every afternoon and evening. The exhibition will open Thursday, November 7, at noon, continuing through Friday and Saturday, from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M., and on Sunday from 2 to 10 P. M.

The Social Realm

The meeting of the Shakespeare Society of Atlantic on Thursday with Mrs. Theodore Parker was a little out of the usual form of meetings of the club being in the nature of an informal reception to Mrs. W. Ward Whitcher, president of the club who leaves Atlantic today to live in Connecticut. The hostess served refreshments. Besides expressions of good wishes Mrs. Whitcher was the recipient of a beautiful bunch of chrysanthemums.

The Ladies' Aid association of the Universalist church held their regular meeting and Hallowe'en party Thursday with Mrs. Mary Hobart Pearl street. The ladies had their pictures taken, their costumnes as ghosts and witches making a very pretty picture in the sunlight as the march was taken to the dining room which was prettily decorated with black and yellow crepe paper, pumpkins lanterns and colored candles. Black cats greeted the guests unexpectedly from all points. After the collation the ladies enjoyed a social hour around the table having their fortunes told, and all voted the Hallowe'en the best yet.

1910 CLASS REUNION

Ghosts With Clanking Chains and Queer Noises Paraded

In spite of the heavy downpour a goodly number of the class of 1910 gathered in the hall of the Massachusetts Fields school, Friday evening, for their third annual reunion.

The program was of the Hallowe'en nature with ghosts and ghost stories, witches and fortune telling. Miss Gertrude Fratus of Atlantic told a creepy ghost story entitled "The golden arm."

Three ghosts entered one at a time. The first was laden with clanking chains, the next with an instrument of weird noises, while the third emitted hollow groans. The ghosts were Misses Bertha Polk, Annie Thomas and Mabel Doring.

The class prophecy was read by Miss Marjory Snow and contained many knocks and mirth provoking forecasts. A vocal solo "A thousand fathoms deep" was sung by Charles Wade.

A realistic scene was formed by a seething witches cauldron while nearby Miss Marjory Snow in the costume of a witch dispensed fortunes to the curious. Many games were played and refreshments were served. A social dance with Miss Irnine Baker at the piano brought the pleasant evening to a close. Composing the committee in charge were: Misses Alice Beals, Annie Thomas, Bertha Polk and Charles Wade, Eldon Emerson and Earl Gilliatt. The class officers are: Alice Beals, president; Stanley Smith, secretary and Florence Crowell, treasurer.

LET US PAUSE AND PONDER.

With the shroud not the shadow of death evident in the state of New York and the nation by the second official lying cold in his last resting place it would seem as active political movement might cease for the time being. To continue aggressiveness in a campaign which has been distinctly aggressive if not abusive and at times beyond the bounds of common decency. at this hour shows a lack of complete understanding of the intelligence of the people of the United States.

COL. KINCAIDE QUESTIONED

By Correspondent on Certain Matters of Interest

Editor Quincy Ledger:

Through you I would like very much to ask a question or two of a man who is very much "seen" about town these days. I refer to our fellow townsmen, Henry L. Kincaide. I have, at least been interested in the effective way he has been calling attention to himself. It does not seem to me, however, that he has been as wise in the manner he has selected as he might have been, that is to inspire confidence in him as the one best fitted for the office he is seeking. On the other hand our present Representative has been very modest in not placing his "phiz" on every sign post, nor by promising a lot of things that some at least, question as wise measures to advocate.

One matter I would like to ask Mr. Kincaide about. We are hearing a lot about, as the gentleman in questions puts it, the "voice of the people.' It is a popular cry today. Just tell me Mr. Director of the Granite Trust Company, if I want to get a loan of $100,000 from your bank why not submit the matter of loaning me that money to the stockholders, why be subject to the will of the Board of Directors? I can see a lot of my friends and show them that it is a good loan, but the Directors have refused me. Give me the popular voice. I want the money.

Again Mr. Furniture dealer who dictates the "policy" of your store? Do you follow out the "whim" of every customer that comes into your store? Or do you after weighing the views expressed decide the matter as you think best?

Do you want to see another spectacle like the one we saw last spring in the Presidential primaries? It is all right to let people see and hear you but never another one for me. How did the thing work out practically? What did the "people" in this grand old Commonwealth say? They said by their votes that they wanted President Taft as the candidate but elected delegates to the convention who favored ex-President Roosevelt. Why send delegates to a convention why not nominate the man without the convention? Mr. Kincaide, give me the old fashioned caucus where the members of a party get together, and in larger numbers than they did at those primaries and decide whom they want to select their candidate. And for the same reason that the stockholders of the Granite Trust Co., have chosen you as a Director to carry on the business of the bank. Even the judgment of you men who have looked into and passed upon loans will often be at fault, how much more so that of men who have not had the experience you have had. A young friend recently came to me with a rosy scheme he had for buying out another man who conducts a store. He had the price the man asked but had no idea whether the outfit was worth half of that amount or not, He had seen no inventory whatever of the stock, and yet he was going to a bank to get a loan to buy the store. If the bank stockholders knew no more about doing business than this young man did, they might loan him the money.

This leads up to my asking you what you know about the tariff? And for this reason, even though you are above the average in ability, think it is safe to say you have not given a very large amount of study to it. If you have not, is your judgment as good on the matter as the gentleman who now represents us? How are we sure you would vote for the best interests of this country in the matter? This is true in view of the fact that the Underwood bill was passed by the House and the Senate with the aid of the so-called Progressives. Now what did this bill do to some of the goods manufactured in New England? The tariff on drop forgings for instance was reduced from 40 to 15 per cent. Machine tools were absolutely put on the free list. True these do not mean much to Quincy but listen, The British Board of Trade has compiled a comparative list of wages paid in England and America, and it is as 100 to 223. You can easily see what that would mean to the men employed in those factories. There is a company in Connecticut that has been looking for business in Germany for a good many years. How have they gotten it? By building a plant over there, and what are the comparative wages paid? 10 cents and 23 cents per hour, and they say the labor in Germany is more efficient than in Connecticut. Now the same product IS

LOCATELLI CO. HAS A WORD

On Adams School Contract Which is Interesting

CLAIM LETTERS IGNORED

The following communication is self-Explanatory and may serve to shed some light upon the delay in the construction of the Adams school, which has been the subject of much discussion of late and particularly by the Parents and Teachers Association:

Boston, Mass., Oct. 31, 1912.

Editor Quincy Ledger:—We noticed in your publication of Oct. 16 and Oct. 21st, certain news concerning the building of the Adams school and certain references made relative to the position of the lowest bidder, which was our concern.

Your publication of the 18th is headed: "Contractor threw up job" "Cause delay in construction of Ward 3 School." We beg to state that if the citizens who protested had in their hands the real facts of the matter their protest might have been stronger and have some influence on the opinion of the people in charge of this contract for the City of Quincy. Our bid which was submitted on Aug. 1st was the lowest of all the bids submitted, as properly stated in your publication. The amount of our bid was $62,725.00. For some reason or other better known to people interested in the welfare of the city, the bid was not accepted until Sept. 27th, 1912, by the Commissioner of Public Works after we had written letters to the Architect, and to the Mayor of the City of Quincy, requesting that the bid be accepted immediately, because the price of materials was gradually going up, making it necessary for our sub-contractors to withdraw their bids. These letters although brought to the attention of the proper officials of the City of Quincy, in an indirect way, were utterly ignored. On August 31st our letter to the Mayor stated substantially that unless the bid was immediately accepted that our bid is thereby withdrawn. We were willing, as we wrote the Mayor of Quincy, on Sept. 28. to take the contract if the city would pay the difference of $2500 caused by the rise in price of materials, and other inconveniences, and with this addition on our original bid, we were still the lowest bidders for the job. We hope that you will give the same space to the real facts. which we are ready and willing to prove, that you have given to the publication above referred to, and let the citizens understand the exact situation in the matter.

If you desire we shall be glad to send you copies of our letters substantiating the above facts.

In conclusion we might state that the city is not only losing money by not accepting our bid as it stood after the rise in price of material but will also have to undergo the expense of a law suit.

Your statement that we had another large job on our hands which caused the withdrawal of the bid, was quite erroneous, very unjust and we think, libelous, because we are, and were at that time in a position, to handle contracts to the amount of $500,000 or even more.

Yours truly,
J. E. Locatelli Company. Inc.
Frank B. Locatelli, Sec.

CHORAL SOCIETY.

The exact date for the Quincy Choral Society's first concert this season has not as yet been definitely settled although it is understood that it will occur sometime just prior to the Lenten season.

The chorus, with conductor McConathy are hard at work on a most interesting program. Mendelssohn's oratorio the Hymn of Praise will be given, and whereas this work ranks from every standpoint with the other great oratorios, yet it is somewhat shorter, and for this reason, it will be supplemented by several other numbers on the program, consisting of selections by the orchestra, soloists and chorus; one of the chorus numbers being "Unfold Ye Portals" from Gounod's Redemption.

It is believed that such a program, which will be of the same high musical standard as that already established by this society, may on account of its variation from the usual order appeal more generally to our public.

Dowie to Be Episcopal Deacon

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Gladstone Dowie, son of the late John A. Dowie, founder of Zion City, is to be ordained a deacon of the Episcopal church tomorrow in St. Paul's church, where he will remain as assistant pastor.

MR. HEARN ASKS SOME QUESTIONS

Claims Public is Entitled to Know Certain Things

UNHEARD OF METHODS

Editor Daily Ledger:

In common with many other citizens of Quincy, I have read with interest the letters of Irving L. Shaw published in your paper.

Apparently these letters are being published with the intention of arousing public interest in our coming municipal election, and in so far as that is their real purpose, Mr. Shaw, if in good faith, is clearly within his rights, and no one should complain, even if unable to agree with many of his statements; but if, as stated by Mr. John L. Miller at the recent progressive rally, these letters are really "frame ups" in the interest of Mr. Abele, and are outlined at meetings held at the Boston City Club, between certain Quincy politicians, then the public is entitled to know the facts, for if so, Mr. Shaw has been obtaining a hearing under false pretenses.

Will Mr. Shaw please enlighten us?

Is it true that Councilmen Abele, Bailey, and Murray have been meeting at the Boston City Club, and there arranging for his campaign or for his candidacy for Mayor?

Has Mr. Shaw attended any of these meetings?

Have these letters been discussed at these or any other meetings between these parties?

Is it true these Councilmen are advocating Mr. Abele's nomination, and these letters were inspired to create a public feeling against Mayor Stone?

It is only right that candidates and parties should be freely discussed, and if occasion requires, criticised, but let us be frank and honest in such matters.

If Mr. Shaw's object from the very start has been to attack Mayor Stone in the interest of an opposing candidate, he should have said so, and then his letters would have been valued at their real worth.

Perhaps however, the fact that Mr. Shaw has been registered even as a poll tax payer only since and including 1910, may account for his not understanding the real sentiment of the Quincy people, and their love for fair play.

If Mr. Miller's accusation be true, then he has performed a public service, in unmasking a new, invidious, and at least in Quincy, unheard of method of introducing a mayoralty candidate to the people.

AMERICA'S GREATEST DANGERS

A course of five Sunday evening sermons willl be delivered by Rev. G. W. Palmgren in the Swedish Congregational church, Garfield street, November and December.

The dates and subjects to be treated are as follows:

Nov. 3.—"The Liquor Curse,"

MERRY FIGHT IS PROMISED

Five Candidates Will Line Up in the Mayoralty Contest

It looks now as though there would be at least five candidates for Mayor on the ballot for the municipal election in December which means a merry fight. At the present time it is known that there will be a Republican, Democratic and Independent candidate and it is more than probable that the Progressives and Socialists will each have a candidate in the field. The more candidates in the field the better it will be for the Republican candidates is the way most politicians figure it out.

TAX PAYERS GOT BUSY

Rush Over the Treasurer's Counter Nets Quite $100,000

Interest on unpaid taxes of 1912 commenced Nov. 1 which accounts for the great rush there was Friday at the Tax Collectors office to pay up. There was a big crowd in the office all day long and at night when the returns were counted up it was found that the receipts of the day had been nearly $100,000.

EAST BRAINTREE

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Wilson of Front street have moved to Philadelphia.

The members of the G. Y. G. C. club will hold a leap year dance in Pythian hall, Weymouth this evening.

Sanford P. Record of Commercial street has purchased a large farm in Avon and intends to move there with his family.

Jeremiah Cotter and Miss Mary Ferrix were united in marriage at the parochial residence by the Rev. J. B. Holland on Wednesday evening.

It is rumored that the following democratic candidates for office are expected to speak in Washington square tonight after the moving pictures. Edward C. Gilmore for Congress, John J. McDevitt for senate, and James M. Lynch for representative.

Mrs. Margaret Frazier of Cotton avenue, widow of the late James Frazier, was married at the parochial residence on Sunday evening to Joseph Frazier of South Braintree by the Rev. J. B. Holland. The couple will reside at the home of the bridegroom in South Braintree.

FELLOW CITIZENS VIEW BODY

Lies In State at County Courthouse For Six Hours—Public Funeral In Church Preceded by Services at Home In Which Sherman Family Only Participate—Utica Mourns

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Beginning at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon thousands of the people of Utica took the last general opportunity to make outward manifestation of their regard for their fellow-townsman, Vice President Sherman. In order that the funeral procession of today might start from the family home, arrangements were made to have the body lie in state at the county court house and in that building, which possesses a large rotunda, Mr. Sherman's friends and neighbors gathered.

From 3 o'clock until 9 last evening an opportunity was afforded to the laboring element and those engaged in business to participate in this mark of respect and affection. The body was in a heavy mahogany casket.

There was an honorary escort to the court house consisting of a committee of the vice president's friends, while the procession was protected from intrusion by a detachment of the National Guard. The public generally accompanied the cortege. The court house was draped and its flags at half staff. Uniformed members of the Nation Guard acted as a guard of honor.

At 9 o'clock the body of the vice president was returned to the family residence. After a brief service of prayer today in which only the family participated, the body was taken to the First Presbyterian church and thence to the cemetery. The casket will be placed in a crypt in an imposing mausoleum recently erected by Mrs. Sherman's family in Forest Hills cemetery. This tomb was opened first for occupancy less than a month ago, when the body of Sherman's mother was placed in one of its crypts.

A tribute of respect to the dead vice president, echoing around the world, was paid at noon today, when from every United States naval station and army post and from every warship, no matter where located, a salute of nineteen guns was fired. Every officer of the army, navy and marine corps will wear a mourning badge for thirty days.

President Taft and the entire congressional committee appointed to attend the funeral, consisting of a congressman from each state, reached Sherman's home city on the same train today.

It was planned at first to issue tickets of admission for the church services today, but this idea was reconsidered and after the seats set apart for the Sherman family, President Taft, the visiting officials and others were taken, the public was admitted. Rev. W. M. Stryker, president of Hamilton college, delivered the eulogy at the church, while Rev. Louis H. Holden, pastor of Christ Church, which Sherman attended, conducted the private services at the Sherman home.

The honorary pallbearers were United States Senator Root, Thomas R. Proctor, Charles S. Simmons, William S. Doolittle, J. F. Day, George E. Dunham, Charles B. Rogers, William T. Baker, Henry H. Cooper and Fayette H. Peck. All are Uticans except Root, whose home is in the neighboring village of Clinton.

Messages of condolence continue to pour in from all parts of the world. In every possible way the people of the vice president's home city are showing thier sense of loss. All public bodies have taken appropriate action, society functions generally have been suspended, and some of the newspapers appeared with turned rules.

Boston, Nov. 2.—One hundred and seventy-five cases of macaroni were seized and 1500 bottles of vodka and twenty-five cases of apricots destroyed by the federal authorities yesterday on complaint of the pure food inspectors.

A BOSTON GIRLS' BUDGET.

Yankee "Nooze" and Western Burr Are Assailed by Boston Opera Singer—English Is Not A Bad Language to Sing In—New Clubhouse Boon to Boston Business Women—Children Save Thousands in One Year—Big Tuberculosis Exhibit at Public Library.

The school savings system has been in operation in Boston for one year, and the results are notable. Inquiry in 87 schools has brought forth unanimous approval of the system. The High School of Commerce reports that between November 1 and June 30 of the school term 286 pupils deposited savings amounting to $2,862.11. The English High School depositors numbered 181 with deposits amounting to $1604.90. The total deposits including elemetary and high schools amounted to $8,694.59, the deposits of 2,712 pupils. Of these more than 600 took their money out of the school control at the end of the term and placed it in the savings banks. Money so placed amounted to nearly $6000 Thus it is readily seen that the plan is working successfully in the first year, and is an important addition to the education of the younger generation in prudence and economy.

A new and notable clubhouse has been added to Boston's list of gathering places—the Business Women's Club house on Beacon Hill. Co-operation of some 200 women members of the club during the past two years has resulted in the remodeling and fitting out of a well built old fashioned dwelling overlooking Statehouse Park, the object of the club being to provide a comfortable, accessible point of rest or recreation or convenience for the many business women who sadly need such a place to call their own. The broadening of acquaintance, the benefit of keeping in touch with people whose problems are widely different, and the social possibilities of such an organization are emphasized by the leaders as main ideas of the club. Incidentally it will fill a long felt want in furnishing a place to which business women who live out of town can go to change their office suits for evening costumes, where they may have a comfortable and inexpensive dinner and may be called for by their male escorts. It also offers an opportunity for the business woman to entertain a small party at luncheon or dinner. And last but not least provides a homelike and familiar place to pass the night when one is kept in town by late work or recreation. The Business Women's Club has thus far done well whatever it has undertaken and promises to become one of the notable organizations of the Hub.

Bostonians and visitors to the city have been keenly interested in the extensive exhibit being shown at the Boston Public Library through co-operation of the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis and the State and municipal boards of health. The main corridors and ante-rooms of the Library are arrayed with numberless charts, maps, photographs and diagrams setting forth the efforts and results in the fight against the great white plague. Frank and convincing pictures showing the breeding places of the disease and the causes of its spreading are numerous. Maps indicating the 7,650 milk station from which Boston gets its supply reveal that these extend even to St. Lawrence county in northern New York, 402 miles from Boston and that each one is inspected by Boston board of health inspectors. The systems of food inspection, sewage control, purification of streams, and kindred precautionary measures are shown, and the entire exhibit is instructive and interesting from the start. The old saying that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing does not hold in this case, for there is not an inhabitant of the city or country but would be benefited by the suggestions and graphically portrayed facts of this exhibit.

First aid to the English language has been brought by another of Boston's group of distinguished teachers of singing, this time by Clara Doria as she is known to the operatic stage or Mrs. Clara Kathleen Rogers as she is denominated in the year book of the New England Conservatory of Music at which institution she conducts a course in "English diction for singers and speakers." Mrs. Rogers in a little book just published assails the American fad of declaring English "a bad language to sing in." She observes that the reason why songs written in English sound badly as sung by the rank and file of American singers is that these musicians both in song and speech habitually misuse the mother tongue. Well trained English singers, she notes, such as Braham, Clara Novello, Sim Reeves and Santley have not complained of their own language or shirked singing in it. Instead they have taken pains to acquire a knowledge of the exact sounds of our vowels and consonants and of the proper methods of adapting them to their own voices. Foreign singers who study English conscientiously find no essential difficulty in accommodating the sound combinations to their voices—as several members of the Boston opera company have proved. "If American singers," says Mrs. Rogers, "would take as much pains to learn the correct sounds of their own language as Mme. Titjens did in acquiring a foreign tongue, they would never again have cause to complain that English is not a good language to sing." Dealing with students from every part of North America Mrs. Rogers has had a large experience with American provincialisms and dialect forms which often stand in the way of that clear well modulated utterance that is necessary to correct singing. "In America," she regrets, "we are constantly brought into contact with people who have had advantages of education and whose social status should call for all the outward and visible signs of culture and good breeding, but who nevertheless maltreat the English language in a most painful and deplorable way." The work of this former opera singer is directed primarily toward training young people who expect to sing professionally, either in concert and church choir work or on the operatic stage. Yet that her teachings might well reach a still wider audience is incontestable as one listens in Boston's student colony to the burr of the western R. the New England flattening of vowels and the all but universal addiction to "Huntington Avenoo" and "nooze" of the day.

GETS TWO WEEKS' GRACE

Sickles May Be Able to Satisfy Judgment of $5080 Held by Bank

New York, Nov. 2.—General Daniel E. Sickles was given two weeks longer by Sheriff Harburger to satisfy a judgment of $5080, held by the Bank of the Metropolis.

The sale of the veteran's furniture and bric-a-brac at public auction was advertised for Nov. 1. It was postponed until Nov. 14 because the sheriff thought Sickles would be able to satisfy the judgment by that date.

VICTORS DRAW NEAR CAPITAL

Bulgarians May Be Impelled to Occupy Constantinople

TURKS AT MERCY OF ALLIES

No Hope of Deliverance of Garrison at Adrianople—Cross Will Soon Replace Crescent In Macedonia—Butchery of Christian Populations by Moslems Continues

London, Nov. 2.—One of the world's greatest battles is now being waged between the victorious Bulgarian army and the Turks, within fifty miles of Constantinople.

With their backs to the wall the Turks are fighting as only the Mohammedan can fight, but the Bulgars, under the brilliant General Savoff, flushed with many victories, seem, from all accounts, to be driving them slowly but surely toward the portals of the capital.

Already thousands of wounded soldiers have been brought in.

Turks In Desperate Straits

Vienna, Nov. 2.—Out-generalled, out-maneuvered and out-fought, the Turkish main army under Nazim Pasha has been "beaten and baffled and backward hurled" on every battlefield of Macedonia by General Savoff and a Bulgarian army inferior in numbers, and by Servian, Greek and Montenegrin.

At last the question as to what has become of the Turk of Plevna is answered. He was buried in the vicinity of the breastworks of that famous fortress. Military experts thought that he still lived, polished up by the Young Turk regime to meet the new conditions.

Collision with the modern Christian soldier, however, shows that the present Turk, while perhaps a desperate individual fighter, under certain circumstances is no match for the well-organized, well-led European.

Today the Turkish soldier, because of his record of a quarter of a century, stands pre-eminent only as butcherer of unarmed Christian populations—of women and of children—and the cross will replace the crescent in Macedonia, for it is not conceivable that the European powers will, in the face of the work of the victorious Christian army, tear down the symbol of humanity and put in its stead what for five centuries has been for Macedonia the emblem of oppression and unspeakable atrocity.

Constantinople is at the mercy of the allies if they can hurry their armies to the help of King Ferdinand. It is believed no real defense can be made by a horde of beaten and demoralized troops at Tchatalja, the last fortified line guarding Constantinople. The Bulgarian army may be impelled to occupy Constantinople by military and other considerations.

While the Bulgarians have disclaimed any ambition to retain Constantinople, they are likely to consider that the quickest way of arranging peace will be to dictate it to Turkey in its own capital. The Bulgarian army would also be able at the same time to profect the Christian residents there.

While Adrianople has not yet fallen its position must be desperate on the word of Nazim Pasha himself, who, in a telegram to Constantinople, says that "the citadel at Adrianople is still holding out." If only the citadel is still offering resistance this means that all of the outer defenses have been taken by the enemy.

News comes of the Bulgarian occupation of Demotica, thus placing another wedge between Adrianople and any remaining hope that the garrison of that city may have had of deliverance. Other parts of the line of invaders are pulling themselves together for another spring which they hope will finally and definitely put an end to Turkish rule in Europe.

The Servians, having completed the occupation of Macedonia, are establishing civil administration there and releasing some of their troops to go to the assistance of their allies before Salonica as well as before Adrianople. On the latter place armies are converging from three directions.

The Greeks, too, are taking the offensive on the sea, and having occupied the Aegean sea, have put out of commission a Turkish warship stationed at Salonica by torpedoing her.

Nothing new has been heard from the region of Scutari except a report that the powder magazine in Tarabosch has been destroyed by Montenegrin shells.

The retreat of the Turks from their different positions in Macedonia has been marked as usual by the most atrocious massacres. Foreigners in Constantinople and elsewhere are fearful for the safety of the Christian population of the Turkish towns and the European powers have already taken steps in this connection by the dispatch of warships to Salonica, Constantinople and other Turkish ports for the protection of their nationals.

SIX-YEAR SENTENCE FOR WOMAN DOCTOR

Judge Frees His Mind In Imposing Maximum Penalty

Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 2.—In the superior court here, Judge King sentenced Dr. Nellie S. Tilton of Brockton to six years in Sherborn. The jury had returned a verdict of guilty against Dr. Tilton, who was charged with performing an illegal operation that resulted in the death of Annie Farrell of Brockton.

"The maximum penalty is a severe one," said King. "You have been well and ably defended, but I can find no extenuating circumstances. The fact that you made statements that would make any woman blush is against your receiving the minimum penalty. I sentence you to six years at Sherborn. It is hard to sentence a woman."

TWO GUILTY OF MURDER

Man and Woman Are Convicted of Killing Latter's Son

Baltimore, Nov. 2.—Albert J. Patterson and Mrs. Emma Bamberger were found guilty of the murder of James Bamberger, the convicted woman's 23-year-old son, who was stabbed to death by Patterson at the Bamberger home here.

The slain man had objected to Patterson's attentions to his mother, whose husband is alive. Witnesses for the prosecution testified that Mrs. Bamberger cursed her son while he lay dying on the pavement.

The penalty for first degree murder is death or life imprisonment. Sentence was deferred.

THE COST OF LIVING

Agricultural Department Shows It Is Climbing Steadily

Washington, Nov. 2.—Just how the cost of living is climbing is illustrated in a special statement by the department of agriculture showing prices paid to farmers for their products. Almost every sort of edible has increased in the last few years.

Beef cattle, for instance, sold for $4.32 per 100 pounds a year ago; now the farmer receives $5.36. Prices for veal, hogs, sheep, milch cows, honey, milk and tomatoes have likewise soared.

There are slight reductions noted in values of apples, peaches, pears, cabbage and onions.

Strike In Cotton Mill

Salmon Falls, N. H., Nov. 2.—The Salmon Falls cotton mills were shut down because of a strike of loom fixers. Eight hundred operatives are idle.

STRANGLED UNDER AUTO

Companions of Man Who Was Killed Are Hunted by Police

Boston, Nov. 2.—Alfred L. Dinnin of the Marion Sales company, who was killed in an automobile accident in East Braintree, died of strangulation, according to the report of Medical Examiner Frazier of Weymouth.

It is supposed that Dinnin's body was pinned beneath the car, which was overturned, in such a way as to compress his lungs and prevent him from breathing.

The two men who were with Dinnin in the car have not yet been found. The police are searching for them in order to get a complete account of the accident.

BOWLING.

Close rolling marked the Fore River Bowling league matches at the Coliseum alleys Friday night. An unusual feature was the securing of one point each by the Engine Draftsmen and Patternmakers who will still continue for cellar position.

Bohlker of the Engine squad and Olsen of the Hull team tied at 103 for high string. The latter secured high total of 296.

The Yard boys won three points from the Pipe fitters, the Electrician took three points from the Eingine Draftsmen and the Hull Draftsmen beat the Patternmakers 3 to 1.

DEATH DUE TO STRANGULATION

Car Toppled On Dinnin While Companions Were Absent

MYSTERY CLEARED

Chief of Police Horace Hunt of Braintree was hard at work all day Friday trying to run down the accident near the Cedar Crest inn early in the morning which resulted in the death of Albert L. Dinnin of the Teck Chambers, Boston. There was an air of mystery about the accident which Chief Hunt succeeded in clearing up before night.

From what he learned from the two men who were Dinnin's companions on the night of the accident it appears that when the party left the inn they started to turn off into Quincy avenue thinking that they had reached the end of the street. The entrance to the street leading to the inn from Quincy avenue is a very blind one and unless a person is familiar with the location an accident is likely to happen. In this case it seems that they thought they had reached the end of the street when they were thirty feet from it.

The result was that two of the wheels went over the banking. The automobile however was not overturned at this time. Two of the occupants got out of the car and tried to lift the wheels but being unable to do so started to look for a plank to put under the wheels. When they came back a few minutes later they found that the car had been overturned and Dinnin was buried beneath it.

Appearances indicated that after the two men had left to find a plank Dinnin had tried to get the car out alone by backing it with the result that it went over.

Mr. Dinnin represented the Marion Motor Company and had that day been elected as president of the company.

Medical Examiner Frazier reported that Dinnin's death was due to strangulation.

HEAVENLY FLOODGATES

Opened and Earth Was Deluged and Abundantly Sprayed

Quincy in common with many other places was the centre of a heavy rain storm Friday night, but although the rain at times fell in torrents but little damage was done. It began to rain early in the afternoon although it was well along toward dark before it came down hard. Along about four o'clock there were several heavy showers. A little later there was a steady rain which continued until late into the night although it did not rain hard at all times. There was but little wind so that little damage was done. The heaviest wind came about seven o'clock and it was this wind that tore down the large thermometer used during the City Hospital campaign. The gutters in some streets were washed out, but Commissioner Tupper says that no great damage was done.

ENTERTAINED FRIENDS.

Miss Marion Orr of Montclair entertained eight of her young friends at her home on Pope street on Hallowe'en night. As the guests arrived they were met at the door by a ghost and escorted to their places. After the usual games refreshments were served. Each guest received a Jack-o-Lantern as a souvenir of the affair.

Those present were Florence Brown Bertha Grass, Edith Nickerson, Matilda McLausen, Grace Purdom, Helen Arthur, Laura Ross, Agnes McCarty.

GRINNING SKELETONS

Peeped Their Ghostly Horrors On Hallowe'en Guests

The Montclair Improvement Society club house was the scene of a very pretty social affair on Thursday evening when Miss Lillian Purdom and Miss Ethel Dicey entertained their friends at a Hallowe'en party. The hall was decorated with the convential Hallowe'en symbols. Jack o'Lanterns were strung along the rafters while black cats and grinning skeletons peeped out from all corners of the room.

The earlier part of the evening was passed in playing games after which the merry party danced until eleven o'clock when the party broke up. Refreshments of doughnuts. cake, apples, punch and cider were served.

Those present were Miss Ethel Dicey, Miss Maud McCannel, Miss Lulu Gardner, Miss Gladys Brown, Miss Gladys Arthur, Miss Jennie Harding, Miss Gladys Parlee, Miss May Marshall, Miss Margaret Dennehey, Miss Julia Dennehey. Miss May Collins, Miss Katherine Kissler, Miss Lillian Purdom, Arthur Fowler. Lonzo Luhman, George Morgan, Guy Gardner, Louis Wilson, Herbert Barnard, Frank Barret, Peter O'Neill, George Parlee, Russell Dicey, George Ela, William Shaw, M. J. Brady, Harry Hern, John Driscoll.

Mrs. William Purdom and Mrs. Dan Dicey were the matrons.

MRS. McDONNELL BURIED.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret McDonnell took place from her home 29 Cottage avenue this morning. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. John's church by Father Sharkey. Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery. A large delegation from Ladies' Auxiliary, Div. 10 A. O. H. of which deceased was a member, was present There was a profusion of floral tributes She leaves a husband John McDonnell.

HOSPITAL FUND GROWS LARGER

That $35,000 In Sight Owing to Public Spirit

SEND ALONG DONATIONS

The Hospital Fund is growing. The appeal sent out has not been in vain. There was $7,500 lacking to make up the total of $35,000 when the campaign closed Monday night.

A public spirited citizen came forward with the offer that he would give $5,000 if the balance was raised by next Wednesday. The response has been generous but not quite enough to come up to requirements.

Up to date the fund is $28,740 leaving $1260 to come before the $5000 is available.

Telephone your intentions to the Y. M. C. A., Quincy. Telephone number 252. The time is short. The amount is small. Make it up before Wednesday and the Hospital will be on Easy street.

SALVATION ARMY TAG DAY

To Raise Funds for Memorial Suggested by Booth

A national tag day is being arranged for November 5 by the Salvation Army to reduce to an actuality the dream of the late General Booth and erect a college of moral and economic problems. It is hoped to raise $550,000 and the Quincy members who have headquarters on Granite street are to make an extra effort to secure their proportion.

The college is to be the beginning of a great "University of Humanity," planned to perpetuate the memory of the founder of the army.

BRIEFS

It will require 22 crosses to vote the complete ticket at the State election next Tuesday.

The letter carriers are having a hard time for thousands of political circulars are beizg sent out.

The topic at the Sunday meeting of the Men's club of the Washington street Congregational church will be "The Word and Life." The discussion will commence at 6.15 o'clock.

Mayor Stone has opened campaign headquarters for the municipal campaign in the Hancock building, in the room formerly occupied as a clerks room in connection with the district court.

The pulpit of the old North church at Weymouth Heights was decorated on Sunday with a beautiful bunch of white chrysanthemums by Mrs. Lorenzo Wood of Quincy in memory of her mother Mrs. Frances Burrell late of Weymouth.

Eugene F. DeNormandie will address the Good Citizenship Forum in the Wollaston Unitarian Church tomorrow at 12 o'clock upon the subject "What's the matter with Quincy?" All men interested in the welfare of Quincy are cordially invited. The meeting lasts just one hour.

MR. MILLER TO THE FRONT

Queries Mr. Shaw About Meetings at Boston City Club

CLAIMS FRAMEUP

Editor Daily Ledger:

I notice in your Friday issue a column headed "Shaw's letters not inspired." Then the statement is made that Mr. Shaw denied in no uncertain terms that his letters were inspired. He is quoted as using strong words "Unqualifiedly false." If Mr. Shaw is rightly quoted, then he is using big unfriendly words, and I would suggest to him that he learn to "subdue his passions," for the use of such language is a very poor buttress for truth, for truth can stand alone.

I would like to ask Mr. Shaw a few questions. First, is it not a fact that a certain two members of the Finance Committee of the City Council and you took dinner many times at the Boston City Club, by appointment, when the material for your letters were discussed? Second, did you not dine there with these two councilmen on September the 18th, and was not th subject of your letters the principal conversation? Do you deny saying to me that you knew of these two councilmen (Mr. Abele being one) visiting my house to ask me if I would run for mayor this year? Do you deny telling me over the telephone that a few of you had got together and discussed the question of who should run, that my name was mentioned, but was not satisfactory to the committee, or the few who got together?

Now Mr. Shaw, if these are facts, then who made those few men (a self constituted committee,) the judges of who the people wanted for mayor? Was not the friends of vested interests the controling factor on that committee? There are many people in this city who think it is time these same interested parties were losing their hold on City Hall, when it appears as though they had no interest in our city beyond having their property assessed at a very low figure, and there is no trouble to prove this by the assessors books,

It is this same spirit of bossism that has made the tremendous revolt of the people this year, when they have arisen as never before, to say, they will have a word about who shall be their candidates.

I believe your letters Mr. Shaw were good, and there was much food for serious thought, and I consider it very unfortunate that you should allow yourself to take sides with any candidate, much less one of the three who was so intimately connected with the letters, for it spoils the whole effect. I was told of the letters several weeks before the first one appeared, by one of the trio.

Now Mr. Shaw, if you were in my place, and I in yours, and you were in possession of certain facts that you must know I have, would you not think yourself perfectly justified in saying at least that the whole thing had all the ear marks of a frame up.

I can further, truthfully say I had almost no intention of being a candidate up to the time these two members of the Council waited on me. I told them plainly that I would not spend a lot of money of my own to pay the necessary expenses of a campaign. They said they had approached several men to try and raise a little money, but they invariably met the question "Whose your candidate, get your candidate, then come back." I told them I would think it over a few days and let them know, which I did and told them I would run on nomination papers.

So Mr. Shaw, there is no need of such strong words, for the World will move along after you and I have passed.

Yours very truly,
J. L. Miller.

WOLCOTT ENDORSED
For Senator
ASSOCIATION OF PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS
CHAS. S. BAXTER, Chairman
CHAS. L. BURRILL, Treasurer
ROOMS 803-804
6 Beacon Street, Boston, Mass.

The Association of Progressive Republicans endorses the candidacy of former Representative Roger Wolcott of Milton for Senator in the first Norfolk district.

Mr. Wolcott is the type of man that all progressives should support and place the utmost confidence in. His enemies in the district have been stating "that he is the tool of the corporations," but it was through his splendid efforts while a member of the Legislature and on the Committee on Railroads that the Boston & Eastern Electric Railroad was granted a charter, in spite of the opposition of all existing railroad corporations in Massachusetts. Mr. Wolcott led the fight in behalf of the Boston & Eastern on the floor of the House.

Last year, while a member of the Railroad Committee, he gave valiant aid to the Grand Trunk Railroad, and assisted it, in spite of the efforts of the New Haven Railroad, to obtain an entrance into Massachusetts.

He is a sane progressive, absolutely unprejudiced in all public questions, and free to act for the benefit of his district.

His two opponents are without records of any kind and should in no way appeal to any progressive, who is fighting for progressive principles.

The Association of Progressive Republicans has this year brought about notable progress in the Republican Party. The Republican platform, thanks to the energy of our Executive Committee, is the most progressive platform ever written by the Republican Party in Massachusetts.

We have elected a State Committee composed of Progressive Republicans. We are proud of the achievements of this year, and anxious to do yet more for the political welfare of the Commonwealth.

We want good men, honest men and capable men to work for our principles.

We appeal to you for the good of your district and for the good of Progressive Republicanism to vote for Roger Wolcott of Milton and to work enthusiastically for him.

McGILVRAY QUIZZED

Well Wisher Would Like to Know His Senatorial Views

Editor of the Ledger:

Dear Sir:—Judging from the expressions heard on every hand it is a fair assumption that Charles J. McGilvray is to be the next representative from the sixth Norfolk district.

It is therefore at this time, quite within reason to request from the gentleman an expression as to his views on the United States Senatorial situation and if he is pledged by party affiliations to any party or individual for the place.

Speak up, Mr. McGilvray, and answer the query of A Well Wisher.

So Fallon's Horse Walked Off On His Own Account

Charles Fallon reported to the police Friday night that while he was delivering milk in a house on Main street. a bay horse hitched to a Goddard buggy, mysteriously disappeared It was later reported that the horse was at the city stables. It was raining heavily at the time of his disappearance and it is probable that a desire to get in out of the wet prompted the animal to move.

SOLD CHEAPER in Germany than in Quincy. And why?

Now Mr. Kincaide I do not know about the duty on fountain pens but I do know that the Waterman Company, in order to sell their goods in Canada, were obliged to establish a plant up there in order to do so.

In a large measure what applies to you, Mr. Kincaide, applies to Mr. Roberts, for the reason that a vote for him means the nearer the Mayor of Boston will come to an election and that means, and it doesn't matter one bit what he says, that he will simply go with the crowd of Democrats who believe, as shown by the Underwood bill, which please do not forget was sent up to the President by the votes of men who are sailing under the same banner you are carrying, was in line with their platform despite Mr. Fitzgerald's attempt to call blue green. A vote for Mr. Piper means just ONE MORE nail in the coffin of our genial friend in his aspirations for the United States Senate. Then furthermore do we want to be a part of the Boston Democratic run government? A vote for James P. Roberts helps to make possible their threat or boast to annex Quincy to Boston.

Voters, lets think today and tomorrow and Monday rather than wish we had. Perhaps you do not remember 1893, but I do and it will come again just as sure as we are her today. if you by your vote elect a Democratic House and President.

Just a Voter.

Ex-Councilman Eugene F. DeNormandie was the principal speaker at the third Sunday noon meeting held in the Wollaston Unitarian church on the subject "What's the matter with Quincy."

A longer term for Mayor, a real auditor, a board of commissioners in place of the commissioner of public works and a smaller city council were among the reforms advocated by the speaker.

Representative citizens from all over the city were present and at the close of the speaker's address an opportunity was given for open discussion. Irving L. Shaw presided.

"We are rapidly approaching conditions" said Mr. DeNormandie, "that are intolerable where Quincy must either change her methods or face a commission form of government which is tantamount to acknowledging the necessity of appointing a receiver.

"Quincy is a long way from being bankrupt but she is in a very unsatisfactory condition at the present time.

"There are direct and visible causes for existing conditions also indirect and invisible causes.

"Among the visible causes are:

1 The city charter.

2 The purchase of the Quincy Water Company and the construction of the present distributing system.

3 Construction of the sewerage system.

4 Construction of new school buildings to meet modern requirements.

ELECTION PREDICTIONS

On the Quincy Vote Tuesday Made By Party Chairmen

VOTE OF OTHER YEARS

Owing to the presence this year of the Bull Moose party, whose strength at present is an unknown quantity comparisons, or conclusions can not be very well drawn from the Presidential election of 1908 as a forecast of what will happen tomorrow. It will be interesting however to recall how the city voted at that time.

The total vote for Presidential electors in 1908 was 5,048. Of this number the Taft electors received 2996 and the Democratic electors 1411. That same year Gov. Draper received 2393 votes for governor against 1647 for Vahey the Democratic candidate.

In 1908 the presidential year the vote for Congressman was 2800 for Galvin the Republican candidate against 1407 for O'Connell the Democratic candidate. In 1910 the vote for Congressman was Galvin 2719 and Curley the Democratic candidate 2035. During these years Quincy was in the Tenth Congressional district and the main contest was between the Republican and Democratic candidates.

This year however a new element has entered the arena in the shape of the Progressives. Just what strength this party will develope remains to be seen. For years Quincy has been classed as a Republican city.

Here is how the three parties size up the vote of Quincy at the election Tuesday. Louis F. R. Langelier, chairman of the Republican City Committee says that an estimate at the best is nothing but a guess. He however believes that Taft will carry the city by about 500, Walker by 1200 and Harris by about 900.

Alfred J. LaCroix, chairman of the Democratic City Committee says he believes that the Progressives will pull more from the Republicans than from the Democrats. He believes that Wilson will get many Republican votes and that Roosevelt will receive more votes than the other Progressive candidates. Kincaide will receive a handsome vote in Quincy from all parties yet he believes that Gilmore stands a good show to beat Harris. He also believes that Foss will carry the city by at least 200.

John H. Johnson, the Progressive State Committeeman comes right out with figures. "There will be 5500 votes cast in Quincy. I believe that Roosevelt will get 3000, Wilson 1700, and Taft 800. For Congressman Kincaide will get 4000, Gilmore 900 and Harris 600. There is no way to estimate the vote for Governor but a substantial vote will be cast for Bird."

EIGHT HOUR LAW AT FORE RIVER

New Regulation In Operation In All Departments

PAY ROLL OF $55,000

The eight-hour day went into effect at the shipyard today, the day men going to work at 7.45. Half an hour is allowed for lunch, from 12 to 12.30, and the day's work is completed at 4.15. The night men work from 4.30 P. M. until 1 A. M., except on Saturdays, when work stops at midnight.

The payroll at the Fore River shipyard is now the highest in the history of the company, amounting to $55,000 per week, and the city is enjoying the benefit of this prosperity. Labor should also be thankful for the stand taken by President Taft relative to the eight-hour law. Great pressure was used in an effort to nullify the vote of Congress, but President Taft insisted that it should apply to all naval contracts as well as government work at the navy yards, and for this reason it was necessary for the Fore River Company to adopt the eight-hour day in all departments that it might construct the dreadnought Nevada, the largest battleship in the world. Now that the eight-hour day has been adopted other contracts will undoubtedly be obtained from the government.

Unless the shipyard has government protection, however, it cannot compete with foreign ship yards in building ships for the merchant services. Because of the armor plate and guns which enter into the building of battleships like the Rivadavia for Argentina, it may occasionally get a battleship contract in competition with the world, but the building of merchant ships is an entirely different proposition. Without protection, merchant ships can be built much cheaper abroad. They should be built here.

PEOPLE WILL NOT PERMIT SIDE-TRACKING REAL ISSUES

Mr. Shaw Not Seeking Office---Actuated Only By Public Spirit

Answers Mr. Hearn With Regard to Lunches and Conferences

In Saturday's issue of the Ledger I seem to have been the subject of attack by two of our interested citizens, one of whom is to be a candidate for Mayoralty honors, and the other a very close friend of the present administration, and who, the report goes, was himself being groomed for the Mayoralty contest until it was definitely decided that Mr. Stone was to try again.

Mr. Hearn's letter seems clearly to be an attempt to befog the issues of the municipal campaign and throw dust in the eyes of the voters to the end that they may lose sight of the real issues and that their interest may be side-tracked by minor questions.

If I thought for a moment that the citizens of Quincy in general were more deeply interested in my connection with Mr. Abele's candidacy for Mayor than they are in securing a more thoroughly business-like, economical, honest administration of our city's affairs, I should be pleased to answer specifically and in detail each and every question and suggestion advanced by these interested parties; because, as I am not a candidate for any office either elective or appointive I have absolutely nothing to gain or lose personally by stating the facts other than exactly as they are.

For the benefit of any to whom the subject may be of interest I am frank to state that I have several times lunched at the Boston City Club with the gentlemen named as well as with other friends and acquaintances. Also that I have talked freely about my letters with these gentlemen and many others both while lunching together and at other times, and that some of the information upon which some of my letters were based was obtained from these gentlemen, as is also true of various other city officials and ex-councilmen.

But that my letters were undertaken in the interests of Mr. Abele's campaign for Mayor, or even in its remote contemplation; I most imphatically deny; because it was not until Monday, Oct. 21 that I knew he was to be a candidate, and up to within two or three days of that time I had never heard his name mentioned in that connection.

These correspondents have simply put two and two together and made five, for reasons best known to themselves.

If I had realized that the manner of a candidate's entrance into the field for Mayoralty honors was of such tremendous importance to the voters, I should have been at pains to lay before the people the fact that while, according to newspaper report, Mayor Stone's physician had advised him against entering the lists again and he had virtually signified his intention to withdraw from the contest; it was upon the morning of the day the papers stated that he had decided to run again, that there was, according to reliable report, a conference at the Mayor's office at which Ex-Mayor Shea, Mr. McAnarney, and two or three other well known politicians persuaded Mr. Stone to change his mind and become a candidate for re-election.

Since it seems to be of interest to certain persons how our candidates come to be candidates, perhaps Mayor Stone will tell us whether the above is a substantially accurate statement of fact.

Regarding my letters which have appeared twice a week in the Ledger since Sept. 4, I have to say that they were undertaken entirely upon my own initiative and volition, have been written entirely by my own hand, and have been based upon data obtained from the City Report, the Auditor's office or directly from City Officials themselves, including some of the Councilmen, just as was stated in my first letter published Sept. 4.

The purpose, which was also then stated, was to awaken the citizens of Quincy to a full realization of the conditions existing at City Hall in the hope that we, the citizens of Quincy, might secure the services of abler, more public-spirited and more thoroughly conscientious and business-like officials to administer our municipal affairs.

I have constantly urged the citizens that it was their busines to see to it that better qualified men came into the field for public service.

In-so-far as the contents of my letters have been detrimental to Mayor Stone or any other public official I am content that they should be construed as intended to "create a public feeling" against his reelection or against the reelection of any other public officer whose official acts will not bear the lime-light of public scrutiny.

It would be entirely consistent for the public to take a deep interest in my personal choice for Mayor provided it could be shown or suggested that

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The escaped prisoner from Deer Island was accidentally found in a hammock after 48 hours, in the very room from which he was supposed to have made his break.

THE ELECTION.

The great contest will be ended tomorrow night. It looks very much as if Gov. Wilson would be elected president. Still one never can tell. That Mr. Taft has gained considerable in the past few weeks is undeniable. That he has gained anything by the absurd claims which have been sent out by the Republican campaign manager is not conceded. The very tone of those claims showed their insincerity proved to the average reader that they were issued with the hope of bolstering up a forlorn hope. The average voter is fairly intelligent. It takes more brilliancy than displayed by Hilles to deceive them to the true situation. President Taft is a good citizen, a fair minded, honest man, but he was a victim of circumstances and the insatiable ambition of others. The campaign has not been as free from rancor, hot headed statements, recriminations, false statements and other undesirable qualities as would seem consistent with the dignity of the office, but all of that is over for the present at least. A recurrence of such uncalled for campaigning should receive its rebuke at the hands of the voters.

LOCAL PRIDE.

Local pride may prove stronger than party allegiance at the polls, tomorrow and send Col. Henry L. Kincaide to congress. Not since the days of John Adams has this city had a congressman at the capital and the idea is pleasing to many who would not deviate from party lines under ordinary circumstances. But the present situation is somewhat different from the ordinary state of affairs. Col. Kincaide has always been looked upon as a public spirited and enterprising citizen. He has a great many friends who would like to see him in congress and he has made a contest for this office which has appealed not only to his friends in the city and district, but has met with the approval of many others who had not up to this time known him so very well and it looks very much as if he would receive liberal support at the hands of his fellow citizens of Quincy.

POLITICS IN THE CHURCH

Correspondent Thinks It Is No Place For Such Discussions

Editor of the Ledger:

Wholly aside from the rather intemperate remarks indulged in by another Quincy paper over the practice of holding political meetings in our churches, I feel that criticism of the practice is warranted. To call the meeting a civic discussion does not alter its character. I would not go so far as to say that political discussions on the Sabbath should be forbidden, although many people would so contend, but I emphatically assert that such meetings in a church building are out of place and tend to decrease popular respect for the Church and her mission. The church edifice may be no more holy or sacred than the mountain side, but the fact that it has been dedicated to religious worship should ensure its being set apart for that sole purpose. It should be a sanctuary and nothing else.

As to the habit of smoking in vestries or chapels or basements of churches at meetings of men's clubs, my sense of reverence is so outraged by seeing or hearing of anything of the sort that I cannot discuss the question dispassionately. Let such desecration cease so far as Quincy is concerned. Surely we haven't yet wandered so far from the old paths that there can be any two opinions on this question.

CITY'S WELFARE UPPERMOST

Councilman Murray Has a Word on City Affairs

AND THE SHAW LETTERS

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:—

A communication signed by Charles C. Hearn in your Saturday edition rather interested me, inasmuch as my name was connected with the introduction of a certain candidate into the mayoralty contest. Mr. Hearn's question: "Is it true that Councilmen Abele, Bailey and Murray have been meeting at the Boston City Club, and there arranging for his campaign or candidacy for mayor?" to me does not seem of much import in determining any of our candidate's qualifications for the office of mayor; but for Mr. Hearn's "personal" enlightenment the writer is free to state that he lunches frequently at the cub mentioned, and that often during the past year the three councilmen named have found it a most convenient meeting place. The fact that these three councilmen were members of a special committee of the Council often brought them together at the lunch hour. That the uninitiated may appreciate the high standing of this club I need only state that it is a favorite rendezvous of our genial ex-mayor Shea and our busy city solicitor, whom I have frequently seen there; and furthermore—for Mr. Hearn's enlightenment—I have had the pleasure of lunching there with Mayor Stone and our good friend John L. Miller, as well as other Quincy notables. This does not look like any attempt at secrecy or "invidious" practices, does it, Mr. Hearn?

That Mr. Abele's candidacy was originated at any of these meetings is a very poor guess on any one's part and such report is without truth. A few luncheons at which I was present were graced by the presence of Mr. Shaw, and of course we discussed the famous Shaw letters. Who is not discussing them in Quincy today?

Mr. Hearn questions whether these councilmen "are advocating Mr. Abele's nomination." Personally, and it is obvious that I can answer this query only for myself, I am advocating and working for Mr. Abele's nomination because I believe him to be the best qualified candidate yet in the field. If at any time before the municipal election a candidate should appear whom I felt was more competent to carry on the work of our city as its mayor then I should pledge such candidate my support.

I believe present conditions in Quincy call for a capable, competent executive, a man large enough to put the city's welfare above politics, progressive enough to know that the time is ripe for improvements, and strong enough to bring about some improvements speedily.

Mr. Hearn's expression "unheard-of method" leads the writer to inquire which is the better method to protect Quincy's welfare: to let the people know what is going on, or to keep the people in ignorance of true conditions? One year's service in the City Council has convinced me that still more publicity is needed in our city's government, and that such publicity should be furnished the press in truthful form. Perhaps my convictions may receive the endorsement of some of our citizens when they read the other side of the Ward Three school house controversy, which was printed in the column parallel with Mr. Hearn's inspired catechism. That article surely furnishes material for reflection, when compared with the City Hall statement of the case recently published.

Now Mr. Miller, Mr. Stone, Mr. Abele, Mr. Penniman and other mayoralty candidates to be, do not waste further time in this campaign in trivialities, but get right down to the real issue: "What are you going to do for the city of Quincy if elected mayor?" The people do not care where I eat, or whether I eat at all, but are vitally interested to know how you are going to feed them if you become their mayor. What is it going to be—"spoon vittles" or square meals?

COL. KINCAIDE ANSWERS VOTER

Directors Are Representatives of Stockholders in a Bank

AGAINST DUTY ON BEEF

Editor Daily Ledger:

Life is altogether too short to pay any attention to any correspondent who hasn't the courage to come out in the sunlight and do his fighting there rather than from behind the ambush of a nom de plume. On general principles, the letter of "Just a Voter," which appeared in Saturday's Ledger, deserves the treatment accorded anonymous communications as a rule, but a fear that some voters may possibly be mislead or confused by some of the things he has said impels me to make a brief reply.

Passing over the first paragraph, which contains nothing worthy of attention, I come to the analogy which "Just a Voter" tries to draw between the running of the Granite Trust Company and the running of the governmental business of the United States. He wants to know why the Directors don't refer to the stockholders his application for a loan. Clearly, because the stockholders have entrusted that duty to the Board of Directors, and if we appear to be over cautious at times it is because we are handling the money of other people and desirous of safeguarding their interests and rights. If at any time the stockholders want to pass upon the question of loaning money to "Just a Voter" they can do so. They, and they alone, are the "people." They are the only ones, strictly speaking, whose rights are involved. The public at large have nothing to do with the matter; whereas on the other hand every man, woman and child in the United States is a stockholder in the corporation known as the Government and as such entitled to be heard. I have never advocated the Town Government plan of running the affairs of Congress. I merely claim that when the congressmen (the directors) fail to serve the interests of the people (the stockholders) the "voice of the people" should be heard removing them from office. That's all.

Your anonymous correspondent also wants to know whether the policy of my furniture store is dictated by myself or the "whims" of customers. That is only another form of the same lame argument. If my customers were stockholders, their "whims" would prevail, but I being the manager reserve the right to shape the policy of the store, guided, of course, by the desires and convenience of the store's customers, for our mutual benefit.

Let the voters of Quincy be not deceived by any side issues or lop-sided debates concerning the conduct of the Granite Trust Co., or my furniture store. Both institutions are thriving because they are being conducted on well-known principles of common sense and fair dealing. The question before the voters is, "Shall the trusts be permitted to continue to exploit the ultimate consumer for their enrichment, through his own government?"

Let us take the two subjects which naturally concern the people of Quincy most, namely, the building of battleships and the cost of living. My views on the necessity of keeping our naval strength up to par are well known. Can as much be said for my opponents? I shall vote and work for the reduction or even the complete removal of the duty on beef. Have my opponents committed themselves on this question?

Your correspondent puts to me this sapient question, "How are we sure you would vote for the best interests of the country," etc. My dear sir, you can be sure of hardly anything that hasn't happened, but it is my intention to represent my constituents faithfully if elected, and a great many of the people appear anxious to give me a trial.

Henry L. Kincaide.

MR. ABELE'S PLATFORM

Discusses Appropriations, the Collection of Taxes

AND CITY DEPARTMENTS

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger;

Believing it eminently proper that a candidate for office should state his position in regard to matters of vital interest to the city, I beg leave to make the following statement:

All current expenses should be paid from the tax receipts, and therefore the tax rate should be sufficient to pay them. That has always been the position which I have taken in the City Council. I believe the budget appropriation should be made sufficient to carry the city through the entire year and should cover all current expenses that can reasonably be anticipated and should include adequate allowance in the form of an overlay for the abatement of taxes.

I do not think it is a wise policy to allow the taxes to remain unpaid until the lien is lost or until there is any possible danger of losing the lien. There would seem to be no reason why taxes should not be collected within one year from the time the tax bills are sent out, and if elected I should see that this is done.

The almost unanimous sentiment in our city seems to be that the construction of new streets is not done economically and construction by contract has been strongly advocated by many. I believe and shall insist, if elected Mayor, that work of this kind, if done by city employees, shall not be at greater cost to the city than if performed by contract.

As regards the water department, I have always believed that a thorough reorganization and overhauling of the department would be greatly beneficial to the city. No water should be sold below cost, and it is absolutely unjust that the general consumer, in other words the ordinary citizen, should bear the burden of the cost of running this department, and be charged almost four times as much for his water as some favored few. I have always advocated metering the entire city including public buildings, believing that when that is done any leakage can be easily detected and any unjust discrimination in rates can be readily prevented. The report made by former Commissioner Bainbridge on the great amount of leakage or waste of water deserves prompt investigation and if found to exist the waste should be immediately stopped.

As regards the matter of an adequate sewer assessment, there can be no need of my making any statement in view of the fact that the Special Committee of this year's Council for financial investigation, of which I am chairman, has carefully looked into the matter and recommended an increase calculated to prevent any future deficit. The Mayor's veto has prevented the proposed ordinance from becoming operative.

The matter of expending $100,000 to puchase property for development of the water front is one that should be carefully looked into. With my present information I believe that the price asked is absolutely excessive and I am strongly opposed to it.

In regard to appointments I do not believe it appropriate for any candidate for Mayor to make any specific pledges other than that the men he appoints will be honest, efficient and qualified for the positions to which they are apointed.

I am sending a copy of this to all the local papers requesting its publication.

MR. SHAW'S LETTER

I had any "vested interests" which a mayor could be expected to influence, or that I was a candidate for any appointive office or other honors within the control of the mayor of Quincy; but as there are none such, either in fact or fancy, it seems to be the plan to raise a false issue in the hope of discrediting or obscuring the facts brought out in my letters.

Let the public ask why have not the statements and assertions published over my signature during the past two months been denied or controverted?

IS IT BECAUSE THEY ARE FACTS, —UNANSWERABLE, UNDENIABLE AND UNCONTROVERTABLE, AS WAS IT FOUND THAT THE MORE THEY WERE DISCUSSED THE FOULER THE CONDITIONS SMELLED TO HEAVEN?

With the acumen and finesse of the adroit politicians they are, the gentlemen represented by Mr. Hearn have maintained a stolid silence, hoping the matters would be overlooked or forgotten by election time, and biding their time to spring some sudden "dust-trap" to deflect attention to some trivial matter or other until they could worm their way into power again under the cover of false issues.

It had not hitherto occurred to me that taking a strong interest in city affairs disqualified me from having a preference of candidates or rendered the candidate I happen to prefer open to the attack of being party to a "frame up."

Now, the real reason why I am supporting Mr. Abele for Mayor of Quincy, is because I am satisfied that he is the best candidate before the people today. I have known Mr. Abele and done business with him for a sufficient length of time to feel competent to judge of his sterling integrity, his entire honesty of purpose and his undoubted ability in handling matters requiring careful and painstaking attention to detail as well as sound business judgment, and I believe that if elected he will make a thoroughly good mayor of Quincy.

Furthermore, his record in the City Council is clean and irreproachable. He has not feared the open antagonism of the "ring politicians" and the "vested interests" whenever taking a stand against them has seemed necessary for the welfare of Quincy, and he has won many good battles against their bitter opposition.

I believe that if elected Mr. Abele would give Qiuncy a clean, thoughtful economical, business-like administration; free from "political influence" and free from the "reelection tactics" with which we are all so familiar almost to the point of nausea tion.

I believe the nomination and election of Mr. Abele as Mayor of Quincy will deal a crushing blow to the "ring politicians" and the "vester interests" who have made our city such an expensive place to live in, and that Quincy's reconstruction period will have been well begun.

If I did not believe these things I should certainly not take the trouble to make this statement nor would I advocate Mr. Abele's nomination and election, because personaly and aside from my civic interest in my city's welfare, it is absolutely immaterial to me who is the next Mayor of Quincy.

It has been a matter of constant amusement to me that our local politicians find so much difficulty in figuring out the position of anyone who would take the trouble that I have taken in attempting to arouse the people to a realization of existing conditions without expecting some return for my trouble.

My position is so entirely foreign to their understanding of politics that they seem to have trouble in finding a method of handling the situation, and so it would not surprise me if next on the program I had some trumped up attack on my personal character, or something equally foreign and unimportant to the welfare of Quincy, in order that, if possible, the force of my letters may be obscured.

BUT THE FACTS PREVIOUSLY PRESENTED STILL STAND UNDENIED! No, gentlemen, the people are awaiting your statements as to why certain conditions which have been exposed have been allowed to exist and what assurance you can give that you will do any differently another year or how you will go about remedying conditions provided you get the chance.

STICK TO THE REAL ISSUES AND DON'T TRY TO BLIND THE PEOPLE BY RAISING A DUST.

THEY ARE TOO INTELLIGENT TO BE SIDE-TRACKED BY ANY SUCH A SUBTERFUGE.

JUMPING TO CONCLUSIONS

A Strong Propensity of John L. Miller

SAYS MR. ABELE

Editor Quincy Ledger:

The letter of Mr. John L. Miller in Saturday's "Ledger," affords me the first opportunity I have had of replying to the charges which he has been making for the last few days, and I welcome it. The statement that I in any part "inspired" the letters by Mr. Shaw or that my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Mayor is the result of a "frame up" is an absolute falsehood.

I have always had a high opinion of Mr. Miller as a man of honesty and integrity, but that he does have a fatal propensity to jump at conclusions is admitted by even his best friends. He is not always fair in his criticisms and I do not think he has at all times dealt fairly with Mayor Stone. If, entertaining the suspicion which he now declares to be facts, he had first come to me like a gentleman before rushing into print, and had given me an opportunity to disprove them, then if he were still convinced that his suspicions were true, he would at least be warranted in making the charges. He has given me no such opportunity and has asked for no explanation.

He bases his charges, so far as I am concerned upon two incidents, which he incorrectly reports. I was present at the Boston City Club on the occasion referred to, by special invitation of Councilman Murray, on whose invitation also Mr. Miller was present. To digress, I wish to say just one word as to the Boston City Club. Councilmen Bailey, Murray and myself were early in the year appointed members of the Special Committee of this year's City Council for financial investigation, and as were all engaged in business in Boston, we found it more convenient to meet there at lunch, rather than spend what few spare evenings we had at City hall. Those meetings began back in March almost immediately after our appointment on the Committee and were always on invitation of Councilman Murray, who alone was a member of the club.

Anybody familiar with the Boston City Club knows that it is no place to concoct "frame ups" such as Mr. Miller charges. There is no secrecy at the Club and not a few men prominent in our City affairs lunch there. The fact that we lunched at the Club I supposed was generally known; certainly no attempt has ever been made to keep it secret.

To go back to Mr. Miller's charge. I had no intimation that I was to meet either Mr. Shaw or Mr. Miller on that occasion and my meetings with them at that time was merely casual. My recollection of the conversation as confirmed by both Mr. Murray and by Mr. Shaw is entirely different from his. Mr. Miller himself did practically all the talking, and so far as I can recollect he discussed almost nothing but closing of the Quincy school. I took practically no part in the conversation, as Mr. Miller must himself recall. As Mr. Murray, Mr. Miller and myself left the Club and were walking down Beacon street, we met Commissioner Tupper, with whom Mr. Murray and myself left Mr. Miller still discussing the Quincy school.

As to the other incident, Mr. Miller's version is entirely misleading and false. As we were leaving the Council meeting, Monday evening, September 9th, Mr. Murray invited me to ride home in his automobile. We then saw Mr. Miller, as we were leaving the Council Chamber, and Mr. Murray offered to take him home, too. We did go into Mr. Miller's house. In the course of the conversation, Mr. Murray asked Mr. Miller if there was any truth in the persistent rumor that he was planning to run for Mayor. He said he had not considered it seriously and did not think he would. I took nothing more than a perfunctory part in the conversation. I did NOT say that I had approached any man to try to raise money, or that I had asked any man to run for Mayor; nor did I say anything that by the WILDEST imagination could be so construed. As a matter of fact, I had asked nobody to run for Mayor; nor had anybody up to that time asked me to run, I never asked a soul for money to carry on any campaign. My presence during that conversation was entirely casual, and Mr. Miller must or should have so understood it. He had no reason to believe otherwise.

As Mr. Miller is not a candidate at the primaries and the contest is between Mr. Stone and myself, I cannot understand what bearing such a charge as he makes has upon the question of our relative qualifications for the Republican nomination for Mayor. It's only possible and perhaps intended result, is to throw dust in the peoples' eyes and blind them to the real big issues involved.

Is Mr. Stone's conduct of the City's affairs such as to warrant his renomination and election? Comparing our records and our platforms, who will give Quincy the better administration during the coming year?

Those are the questions that are, or should be, of vital interest to all voters.

Mr. Miller does ask whether vested interests are back of my candidacy. In reply I will say emphatically, NO, and I defy anybody to point to one single act of mine during my three years in the City Council that was not prompted by an honest desire to do what I believed to be for the best interests of the City of Quincy. My public record ought to be a sufficient answer to any such charge.

In closing I wish to add just one word as to my own candidacy. Until I was approached in regard to the matter Tuesday, October 15th, and again on the following day, I can truthfully say that I had not the slightest intention of becoming a candidate. At that time, I said that I much preferred to drop entirely out of politics, as the demands upon my time this last year have been too great both for my own comfort and my health, and I suggested that they find some other candidate. I finally agreed to consider it, but wished to wait until my associate, the Hon. Asa P. French, returned from the west, so that I could confer with him. He returned Monday, October 21st, and I then gave my consent to run. In the meantime, I was informed by some person, I cannot recall by whom, that in conversation with Mayor Stone, the Mayor had said that on his physician's advice he would not be a candidate for renomination. That the Mayor was at least undecided is shown by the fact that although nomination papers were issued Monday, October 21st, his papers were not taken out until the evening of Wednesday, October 23d, after numerous conferences with certain persons, according to statements in the "Ledger" at that time. As regards Mr. Miller, I never heard positively previously to October 21st, either directly or indirectly that he intended to be a candidate. I was positively informed Saturday, October 19th, by a friend that he had been told by a member of Mr. Miller's family that he would not be a candidate.

However, my main purpose in writing this letter is to deny emphatically the charges made by Mr. Miller. They are absolutely false. Whether intentionally or not on his part, they can have but one result which, of course, is greatly desired by some politicians, but not by the voters at large, and that is, to befog the real big issue involved:

Shall Quincy have a good, honest, efficient, business administration during the coming year; and, which candidate is best qualified to give it?

MISS HARKINS LAID AT REST

Funeral of Popular Young Woman Largely Attended

The funeral of Miss Annie Louise Harkins was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harkins of 95 Adams street, this morning.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. John's church by Rev. Howland J. Harkins of Amesbury a brother of the deceased.

Monsignor Ambrose F. Roche of Watertown, wearing the full robes of his office was on the altar. Many priests were present at the mass.

Rev. Fr. Casey was deacon, Rev. P. A. Sharkey was sub-deacon and Rev. J. J. Coan was master of ceremonies. Other priests present were Rev. J. P. Cuffe, Rev. J. F. McNiff, Rev. William J. Duffy, all of Quincy and Rev. M. McDonnell of Braintree, Rev. Ed. Sliney of Charlestown, Rev. J. J. Flood of Newburyport, Rev. Francis Walsh of Reading, Rev. A. J. Campbell of Mattapan, Rev. Edward Murphy of South Boston, Rev. William T. Deasey of Randolph, Rev. Walter J. Lambert of South Boston and Rev. Jeremiah Driscoll of South Boston.

As the body was taken to the altar the processional of Edward Marcheneal was played by the organist ,John Mahan. During the mass the Gregorian chant was rendered by Dr. Nicholas Gallagher of Malden, Dr. D. B. Reardon, Miss Eva Rice, Mrs. Mary Burns King, Francis Sweeney and Edward Sweeney.

Miss Harkins was in her 27th year and one of Quincy's most popular young ladies, of a generous nature and sunny disposition. She has been a faithful attendant of St. John's church during her lifetime. She graduated from Quincy High school, class of 1903. Her death occurred after a short illness at the Quincy City Hospital where she was taken a week ago for treatment.

Interment was at St. Mary's cemetery. The funeral was under the direction of E. E. Bean and there was a profusion of tributes as follows:

Pillow of lilies, chrysanthemums and roses, Mr. and Mrs. John Harkins; spray of chrysanthemums, Mrs. Mary Harkins and family; spray of chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cook and family; standing cross, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arbuckle; pillow of lilies, carnations, roses and chrysanthemums, from Brothers and Sisters; standing wreath of chrysanthemums, roses and carnations, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dasha; wreath of lilies, chrysanthemums and roses, Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch and family of Brookline; spray of pinks, Miss K. PROTECTION NOT NEEDED

Argentine Battleships Secured In Open Competition

Editor Quincy Ledger:

I was amused to see the half page political advertisement in your issue of Saturday last, signed by the President of the Republican City Committee, and calling on the voters to save the ship building business in this country.

Does the signer of the advertisement forget that the contract for the building of the two Argentine battleships was open to the world and that it was secured by the Fore River Ship Building Company, in open competition, through the good work of their efficient president, Admiral Bowles. What other protection do they need?

UNITY URGED TO ELECT KINCAIDE

Editor Daily Ledger:

The spirit of Brockton which has largely helped develop that city is the spirit of "pull together." In the election of Tuesday Quincy for the first time in a decade has an opportunity to vote for a Quincy man for Congress.

Now let Quincy "pull together" every vote irrespectiive of party and show the whole new Fourteenth district that Quincy has strength and unity by polling a rousing vote tomorrow for Henry L. Kincaide for Congress.

Quincy will then receive greater consideration at the capitol from all parties and will be a factor in all future elections—and the future development of our water front, ship building, and granite industry will reap the benefit.

Unity.

McGILVRAY NOT BOUND

By Any Pledges With Regard to Senatorial Matter

Editor of the Ledger:

Replying to the letter of "A Well Wisher" in Saturday's Ledger in reference to my views on the United States senatorial situation, may I state briefly my position on this most important question.

I wish to declare as positively as I may that I am absolutely without pledge or alliance of any sort, and if elected, shall cast my ballot for the candidate who, according to my best judgment, will reflect most credit upon and most ably represent my constituents. Being a firm believer in the principle of direct election of United States Senators, if elected I shall gladly advocate the submission of the question to the people at the very opening of the Legislature.

Respectfully,
Charles J. McGilvray.

HALLOWE'EN JINKS.

The Hallowe'en party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Malloch, 2 Newbury avenue, Atlantic, was a very enjoyable affair. The young people met at Memorial church, donned sheets and pillow cases, and wended their way across the field to Mrs. Mallock's. There they were led down cellar, where the only light was the occasional flicker of a small pocket search-light. Different electric contrivances which had been set up made weird noises. After the ghost walk, the young people enjoyed games and a lunch. Hallowe'en sports were enjoyed and Miss Jordine Davison told fortunes.

The rooms were decorated with jack-o-lanterns and crepe paper. Black crepe paper portieres were over the doors.

NO EVIDENCE OF LARCENY

Frank A. Parsons a former driver for one of the delivery teams of the Electric express was arrested in Boston Saturday night by Inspector Goodhue on a complaint charging him with the larc ny of a keg of cocoa cola. Early in October Parsons was given a keg of cocoa cola to deliver to a drug store at Atlantic. On his return from his delivery trip he paid the agent 20 cents, the amount he was to collect for the expressing. A few days later there came an inquiry for the keg from the druggist. The keg had not been delivered and a warrant was issued against Parsons. In court he said that he did not know what became of the keg, that it had either been lost off of the team or had been stolen. He did not miss it until he had arrived at Squantum and did not know what had become of it.

It also came out during the evidence that Parsons was willing to pay for the goods. After hearing the evidence, however, the court said that there was nothing in the evidence to prove that larceny had been committed and Parsons' discharge was ordered.

BY SCORE OF 16 TO 6

Harvard Triumphs Over Princeton In Hard-Fought Contest

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 4.—Princeton's Tiger stalked into the Harvard stadium for the first time in his illustrious career and slunk out again some two hours later with a knot in his tail and the almost forgotten strains of Harvard snake dance music dinning in his ears.

Charley Brickley, who as a freshman last season booted the crimson to a victory over the Jungletown youngsters, repeated the performance against the maturer enemy. Three goals from the field punched by the swarthy half-back and a hard-earned touchdown by Hardwick toward the end of the game gave Harvard her total of points.

Two tremendous forward passes sweeping the Tiger attack over the Harvard goal line helped Princeton to a touchdown. The score was 16 to 6, the more versatile, better rounded eleven winning.

JUDGE'S IRE AROUSED

Girl of Fourteen Weds an Hour After Being Granted Divorce

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 4.—Just thirty minutes after Mrs. Minnie Scrogging, 14 years old, was granted a divorce from Will Scrogging, she entered the county clerk's office with C. E. Lacy, obtained a license and was married to him one hour later. The girl is also suing for possession of her baby, 6 months old.

Judge Swayne, who granted the divorce, when he heard another license was procured, went to the girl and threatened to spank her.

Hunter Killed by Own Gun

New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 4.—George Pelletier of this city accidentally shot and killed himself. He had been hunting in the woods and had to climb a high bank to reach the highway. It is supposed that he slipped on the wet grass and as he fell discharged the gun.

BURNING NEWSPAPER

Called Fire Apparatus Out For Blaze In Taylor Building

The alarm from Box 54 at 11.43 Saturday night was needless. The fire, what there was of it, was in the old house on Hancock street, between Elm avenue and Beale street that has been on fire many times. In this case it appears that some person passing had lighted an old newspaper and thrown it in the building. The paper burned and nothing more.

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION.

MAYOR DRIVEN FROM HOME

Illness of His Daughter Forces Executive to Seek Other Quarters

Mayor Eugene R. Stone and his son Frank are quartered for the present at the Greenleaf. The reason is that his home on River street has been quarantined by the Board of Health on account of his daughter Edith who is ill with diphtheria. Miss Edith had been ailing for several days and Saturday the family physician pronounced her illness due to diphtheria. The Board of Health was immediately notified and the house promptly quarantined. All in the house were ordered to stay there and those of the family not at home ordered to remain away for if they entered the house they would have to remain.

It was not until Mayor Stone went home Saturday afternoon and was confronted by the red Board of Health card giving notice that the house was quarantined on account of diphtheria. that he was aware of the situation. The only thing to do was to submit to the orders of the Board of Health and His Honor with his son immediately sought quarters at the Greenleaf.

RUTHLESS WAR ON SMALL BIRDS

Means Removal of Insect Destroyers and Great Loss

The American people must awake to a realizing sense of certain facts that seriously affect the cost of living. The 5,000,000 men and boys who are slaughtering our birds are levying tribute on every American pocketbook.

The destruction of these birds means a great increase in the armies of destructive insects, a great decrease in our agricultural products, and a great loss to consumers, and to farmers.

The insect pests are preying upon everything of the vegetable kingdom that man is producing, and upon many domestic animals as well. As their bird enemies decrease. the insect hordes increase. When 2,577,000 acres of wheat are destroyed in Indiana and Ohio in one year by the Hessian fly (1900), does anyone believe that such an occurrence does not raise the price of wheat?

In 1904, the U. S. Department of Agriculture made a study of the annual losses to the people of this country by the ravages of destructive insects. So far as we know, the estimates published in the "Yearbook" for 1904 have not been disproven or disputed. Behold some of the figures:

Product	Percentage of Loss	Amount Loss
Cereals	10	$200,000,000
Hay	10	53,000,000
Cotton	10	60,000,000
Tobacco	10	5,300,000
Truck Crops	20	53,000,000
Sugars,	10	5,000,000
Fruits	20	27,000,000
Farm Forests	10	11,000,000
Miscellaneous Crops	10	5,800,000
Total		$420,100,000

DANCE HALL PROBLEM.

Fighting the devil with fire is often good and successful strategy when directed by capable hands. A voluntary society in the city of Newark, N. J., known as the Social Centre Corporation is doing quiet but effective work in meeting an admitted evil in city life on its own terms, beating it on its own ground, and at its own game.

The corporation is in competition with the cheap and nasty dance halls, and proposes to run them out of existence in the big New Jersey town by providing something bigger and better.

Those in charge recognized the necessity for social meeting places for young men and women, and intend to supply such. They have already opened a large dance hall in Newark with a dancing floor 137x147, splendidly lighted.

incident to the growth of the city and the maintenance of a relitiively large mileage of accepted streets.

8 Equipment and maintenance of a comparatively expensive fire department.

9 The metropolitan park, sewerage and boulevard assessment (over which the city has no control.)

"The indirect causes are:

1 The control, since 1899, of the city affairs by a very small coterie of political manipulators.

2 Lack of efficiency in nearly all city departments and positive mismanagement in some.

3 Unwise and improvident expenditure of city moneys.

4 Utter absence of any well defined financial policy looking toward the extinction of the funded debt.

5 Lack of moral courage on the part of our respective mayors and city council to meet the situation squarely and formulate measures to remedy existing conditions.

Year	Valuation	Debt
1888	9,757,960	43,775.00
1889	12,319,245	168,811.79

(Exclusive of Temporary Loans.)

"With the change from town to city government the valuation jumped from $9,757,960 to $12,319,245. Was the adoption of a city charter worth two and one half millions to Quincy?" asked Mr. DeNormandie.

"Quincy's valuation has increased about a million each year. Quincy's valuation has increased three and one half times since it became a city while its debt has increased 50 fold.

"No doubt Quincy has had a good substantial healthy growth that has resulted in a substantial increase in valuation but the debt has increased out of all proportion to good, substantial, business management.

"Every city should own its own water system but I doubt if more than a very few know how much our water system has cost the city.

"The water department has been a source of revenue up to and including 1911 but on account of bonds issued on excessive long term rates we are obliged to pay practically an indirect tax as may be seen by the following:

"Water bonds issued to and including Dec. 31, 1912 $1,311,000
Retired 613,000
Outstanding 698,000
Added in 1912 65,000

"There might be a good deal said about the management of the water department but an exhaustive investigation would be necessary. It is my personal opinion that the water department is poorly managed and I might say mismanaged.

"None will deny that Quincy or any other city should have a proper sewerage system. For this work bonds have been issued up to and including Dec. 31, 1911 $816,000
Retired 205,500
Outstanding 610,500
Added in 1912 40,000

"The street improvement debt is outside the debt limit and was created for laying out new streets. This, I think, has been thwarted by the city council by transfers for other purposes. Bonds issued up to and including Dec. 31, 1911 $79,725
Retired 36,025
Outstanding 43,700
Added in 1912 38,000

"For playgrounds bonds for $50,000 have been issued and $26,000 retired, leaving a debt outstanding of $24,000.

"The outstanding municipal debt on Dec. 31, 1911 was $696,433 to which has been added $170,606 in 1912.

"Practically the only expense of the municipal debt has been the building of new schools in response to the well defined demand for properly constructed commodious and pleasant school buildings. The city has met this fairly well at an expenditure of approximately $1,000,000.

"Permanent sidewalks have cost the city considerable but no one would do away with them.

"Quincy has a good fire department which costs us a considerable amount of money. The cost for maintenance is large as compared with departments in other cities of the same size but we could not do without a modern fire department and we willingly meet the situation.

"The metropolitan park sewerage and boulevard assessments are levied under the metropolitan commission but the city knows it will have to pay from time to time and provision should be made to meet the same without undue difficulty.

"The indirect causes are the leading ones however and are far more important and of greater interest than the direct causes. Not a single citizen will deny the need of good sewers, water supply, schools etc., but the indirect causes comparatively few people realize and if they do they do not give their thoughts utterance.

"The control of city affairs by a small coterie of political manipulators is a matter, the fact of which we should be keenly alive to. Since the year 1899 the affairs of the city have been in the control of a group of less than 20 men.

"They are in control of the city today and will be next year unless an organization of sustained and concerted effort on the part of the citizens brings about a change of conditions.

"Quincy lacks efficiency in a great many city departments and positive mismanagement in some. There is an effort to make two dollars do the work of one.

"Not in a single department is there efficiency and the earnest effort for the direct expenditure of energy to secure proper return for money expended and salaries paid.

"That there has been unwise expenditure of city moneys we all know. We cannot say just at what moment, for to follow this up it would be necessary to take up each city order.

"It is a safe statement however, that money has been, in less than 12 months, unwisely and improvidently expended. The purchase of the steam roller and auto chemical are examples.

"The amount paid was in excess of the ordinary market price for these articles. In the case of the roller it was covered up by charging it to various streets but the roller people got their money and the city paid the money.

"There is also a lack of courage in our mayors to meet the issue squarely. This is of the most importance. We elect a chief executive to take entire charge and expect him to handle the matter with disinterestedness, ability, forethought and judgment.

"He takes his office makes his address and it soon comes to his attention that the tax levy will be so much, retiring the debt will require so much, interest will be so much and there will be so much left.

"He must then do one of two things—either increase the valuation of the city or increase the tax rate.

"Almost any individual will look toward reelection. It is perfectly proper. He believes in himself and would like 3 or 4 years to bring about the reforms contemplated.

"If he increases the tax rate the citizens howl. If he does not keep the city laborers at work there comes a howl from that quarter. The easiest thing to do is to raise the valuation. In Quincy the valuation is higher than it should be and higher than conditions warrant.

"A councilman stated our charter was a model one. It is a model and admirable charter for ideal conditions, but we haven't ideal conditions in the city.

"When the charter was drawn up there was a marked civic spirit and a deep interest taken in town matters and they saw that financial affairs were in a normal and healthy condition. They assumed this would continue but it soon degenerated.

"Unless we take a personal interest to determine the selection and election of representative, public spirited men and unless we elect such a mayor as contemplated by the charter then it is one of the poorest that could be imagined.

"The mayor appoints all the administrative officers including the assessors and commissioner of public works.

"Steps should be taken by some organization of competent disinterested citizens to modify the present city charter.

"I would suggest in considering this first extending the term of the mayor. We should also have a real auditor, to be given power of control. Not a creature of the city council but one with full power.

"I would place the duties of the commissioner of public works with a board of commissioners. We place too much power with the commissioner of public works.

"I believe in direct responsibility but it is expecting too much of one individual to have him an expert on road building, water systems, sewerage and in addition be an architect.

"I should desire a smaller council. The present council is not unwieldy but a smaller body of more representative citizens would accomplish more.

"What of the financial condition of the city today and for the next ten years? If on January 1, 1912 we had established a policy not to increase the bonded debt what would we pay off for the next ten years?

"The payments which the city will have to meet in the next ten years for obligations contracted for on or before December 31, 1911 are as follows:

1912	$245,443
1913	211,270
1914	187,870
1915	172,800
1916	145,800
1917	125,300
1918	116,550
1919	101,800
1920	92,800
1921	84,800

"This makes a total of $1,434,433 to which must be added interest to the amount of $269,761.72, making a total of debt and interest accrued in 10 years of $1,754,194.72.

"Sherman said 'To resume specie payment-resume.' I say 'To reduce the debt-reduce.' Not until we elect councilmen who will pledge themselves to retire a substantial portion of the city debt will we accomplish results."

In the discussion that followed Eugene H. Sprague inquired as to what had been received for the $400,000 increase.

This brought up "Order 292" to borrow $150,000 with which to fund the temporary debt and retire it at the rate of $15,000 yearly. Mr. DeNormandie admitted this move was taken to replace illegally issued temporary loans used to make up the deficit occuring in current expenses.

Mr. Sprague inquired if bonds were not issued and interest paid on them before the money was used for the purpose appropriated and if they needed the money for some other purpose was it not drawn against. Was this not the case with the $80,000 appropriation for the Ward Three school house?

Councilman Murray said: "They are holding back the contract on the Ward Three schoolhouse because they need the money for other purposes. They will not make a payment on this job until the taxes begin to come in."

J. Frank Shay declared that the 10 or 20 political manipulators should be smoked out. We should not try to do this until we were able, he declared.

John Morgan said that men with back bone were needed to deal with the politicians in the present situation He suggested candidates be asked to speak before the meeting.

In closing Mr. DeNormandie said that the time had passed for nominations and if another mayor was to be elected it could only be done by widespread public sentiment. Placing another candidate in the field, however, would probably lead to the election of the candidate the interests wanted.

BECKER RETAINS NEW LAWYER OF RECORD

Shay Says Chief Counsel McIntyre Has Not Withdrawn

New York, Nov. 4.—Charles A. Becker, former police lieutenant, who is in the death house at Sing Sing under sentence of death for the marder of Herman Rosenthal, has retained a new lawyer to help prepare his appeal. He is Joseph A. Shay, and henceforth he will figure in the famous case as attorney of record in place of John W. Hart.

Shay denied that John F. McIntyre, who acted as Becker's chief counsel before Justice Goff, had withdrawn. With Hart, however, has gone from the array of legal talent Lloyd Stryker and George W. Whiteside.

New York Herald's Canvass Forecasts His Election

TEST BALLOTS IN 37 STATES

Gives Democratic Nominee More Than 100,000 Votes Over Both Rivals—Poll Upsets All Predictions of Landslide—Gradual Shifting of Conditions In New England States

New York, Nov. 4.—The figures presented by the New York Herald in its nation wide poll of votes show that Woodrow Wilson will be the next President of the United States. The victory of Wilson and Marshall is indicated by the great flood of test ballots gathered in thirty-seven states. Based on these test ballots, all conducted and compiled by experts, the following analysis of the electoral vote is given:

Governor Wilson, 360; President Taft, 27; Theodore Roosevelt, 7, and 137 doubtful. There will be 531 electors, of whom a majority is 266.

Thirty states are accredited to Governor Wilson. Taft is allotted the votes of Idaho, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, Maine and Utah. Roosevelt is only given one, and that is Washington, while eleven —California, Colorado, Illinois, Massachusetts, Montana, New Jersey, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wyoming—are classified in the doubtful column.

Of the thirty-seven states where test ballots were taken, Wilson leads in twenty-six, Taft in five and Roosevelt in six. In every state in which he does not lead Wilson runs second, Roosevelt in twenty-one and Taft in five.

The poll is based on a grand total of 319,321 votes. Of this number Wilson received 133,792, or 36,253 more than Roosevelt and 67,499 more than Taft.

Will Be No Landslide

All throughout this campaign there has been heard at frequent intervals rumors and often flat assertions that a landslide was in progress for this or that candidate. The present poll upsets all such predictions. There have been no startling changes or anything on which to base the prediction of a landslide one way or the other.

There appears to be little or no likelihood that any change can come which would throw the election of the president and vice president into the house or the senate. In the states classed as doubtful, which have a total of 137 votes, Wilson has, according to all estimates, at least an even chance of victory.

Illinois, with her twenty-nine electoral votes, also goes into the doubtful column. All are puzzled by the shifts in that state. Roosevelt leads in the straw polls. Wilson is 1500 behind him and Taft is a good third.

The Vote of New York

In the Empire State, with its great block of forty-five electoral votes—usually regarded as the pivotal state in all national contests—indications are that Wilson will be a victor. There is a steady drift back to the president, but it is not regarded as sufficiently strong to stem the Wilson tide.

Michigan, another of the important battle grounds, is classed as doubtful. It leans toward Roosevelt. But conditions there are chaotic. It is "anybody's state."

Wisconsin by many is regarded as doubtful. Best information indicates that the Badger State will be carried by Wilson, with Taft a good second and Roosevelt not a very good third.

Ohio, with her twenty-four electoral votes, seems certain for Wilson. He has obtained about as many votes in the test ballot as both Roosevelt and the president combined.

In New England

There has been a gradual shifting of conditions in the New England states, but not enough to make any radical change in the general situation. It seems reasonably certain that the president will carry New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont and Rhode Island. Massachusetts and Connecticut are classed as Wilson states. Massachusetts is experiencing a drift toward Roosevelt, but not enough, it is believed, to jeopardize Wilson.

Straw votes indicate that Roosevelt will have a plurality in California. Wilson is showing improvement. The contest is close between those two nominees and the state is rated as doubtful. In Oregon the prosperity issue has called many Republicans back into the Taft fold, and it is apparently a close fight between Taft and Wilson. In Washington, due to the support of the women voters, Roosevelt leads.

The middle western states of Indiana, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska seem certain for Wilson. The Dakotas have been wavering from the beginning of the campaign and it is difficult to estimate what will happen there on election day.

BAY STATE CAMPAIGN

Final Appeal Made by Candidates of Three Parties

Boston, Nov. 4.—Except for the postscript to be written tonight, the campaigners in the great three-party political contest, the greatest ever waged in this commonwealth, have told their stories to the voters.

Each party chose a different method to bring to a close the last week of the campaign. The Republicans held a rally, filling Tremont Temple, with Senator Lodge, Isaac M. Meekins, Joseph Walker, candidate for governor, and Lieutenant Governor Luce as the speakers.

To express their enthusiasm 4000 Progressives took part in a torchlight procession. Five thousand persons gathered on the common after the parade and speeches were made there by Charles S. Bird, Progressive candidate for governor, and Daniel Cosgrove, candidate for lieutenant governor.

While the Democratic candidates, reinforced by Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food expert, and several others from out of the state were speaking at rallies in four wards, the Wilson college organizations were taking part in a torchlight parade of their own. There were 1200 in line.

A general scarcity of funds exists in the campaign coffers of the state Republican, Democratic and Progressive organizations, and, unless some financial rescue work is done between now and this evening, all three parties are going to have difficulties in getting out the "stay-at-home" vote.

It was reported at Democratic state committee headquarters that the confidence in the party ranks that there would be a Democratic victory all along the line Tuesday was so widespread that the party "angels" saw no occasion for loosening their purse strings.

The Republicans have been handicapped all through the present campaign by lack of funds. There is little left in the state campaign treasury.

The Progressives are no better off. So many have volunteered, however, to act as election scouts Tuesday, that it is believed this will offset the lack of cash.

TO SUCCEED SHERMAN

National Committeemen Favor Hadley as Mate For Taft

New York, Nov. 4.—Eighteen out of twenty-four members of the Republican national committee, who have notified Chairman Hilles of their choice of a vice presidential candidate to succeeed the late James S. Sherman, favor Governor Hadley of Missouri.

Chairman Hilles declared no selection would be made by the national committee until Nov. 12, but he made public the desires of the twenty-four committeemen who have openly stated their choice.

CONGRESSMAN UTTER DEAD

Newspaper Man Long Honored by Rhode Island Republicans

Westerly, R. I., Nov. 4.—Congressman George H. Utter died at his home here after an illness of several weeks from stomach trouble. Before his illness had had campaigned in the west for President Taft. He was a candidate for re-election in the Second district.

Last evening the members of the Republican state executive committee filled the vacancy on the congressional ticket by nominating as Utter's successor Zenas W. Bliss. Bliss is now lieutenant governor but is not a candidate for re-election. He is also chairman of the state tax committee.

Congressman Utter had long been prominent in this state which he had served as governor for two terms in 1905 and 1906. He was born in Plainfield, N. J., in 1854, and seven years later moved to Westerly, where he had since lived. Graduating from Amherst college in 1877, he entered the printing and publishing business in this town, and became owner of the Westerly Sun. He married Miss Elizabeth L. Brown in Boston in 1880, and she survives him with two sons.

Mr. Utter served in the general assembly from 1885 to 1889, presiding over that body for the last two terms. From 1889 to 1901 he served in the state senate, and then was elected successively secretary of state, lieutenant governor and governor. Utter was opposed for re-election to congress this year by Peter G. Gerry, Democrat.

Wilson Gets a Shakeup

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 4.—Governor Wilson wears a narrow strip of collodion across the top of his head, covering a scalp wound three inches long, which he received early Sunday in a motor car mishap on the way home from Red Bank, N. J.

His automobile struck a mound in the road and jolted him up against a steel rib in the roof of the limousine car.

RELEASED ON $65,000 BAIL

A. O. U. W. Alleges Quigg Has Missing Funds of the Order

Providence, Nov. 4.—Alfred W. Quigg gave $30,000 bail on the ten indictments brought against him by the grand jury, charging him with being accessory before the fact to J. J. Davis' alleged embezzlement from the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Quigg was about to walk out of jail after a long incarceration as a result of a failure to procure satisfactory bail of $30,000 when he was arrested again in an action for $35,000 brought by the Ancient Order of United Workmen. The order is suing to recover from Quigg funds which it alleges fell into his possession as a result of the alleged Davis defalcation.

After some time had been spent in making arrangements to obtain sureties for the $35,000 in this civil action, Quigg was finally released.

William H. Draper went bail for Quigg on the indictments and in the other action.

Teacher Killed by Highwayman

Kansas City, Nov. 4.—Miss Elma Perrine, 38 years of age, a teacher in a Bible training school here, was shot and killed by a highwayman who had failed in an attempt to rob her immediately after she had alighted from a street car.

A COMMON ERROR

The Same Mistake Is Made By Many Quincy People.

It's a common error.
To plaster the aching back,
To rub with liniments, rheumatic joints,
If the trouble comes from the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney ills,
And are endorsed by Quincy citizens.

Mrs. F. Curtis, 18 Quarry St., Quincy, Mass., says: "We used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family with good results and in 1908 publicly endorsed them. At the present time, I am pleased to confirm that statement. A member of my family was in bad shape from kidney complaint. He used plasters and several well-known remedies, but did not improve until he began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They effected a cure in two weeks and restored him to better health than he had enjoyed for years. I have also taken Doan's Kidney Pills myself and have found them excellent for strengthening the kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DRAFTSMEN VICTORIOUS

Over Lynn Team in Exciting Football Contest

Quincy Marine Draftsmen journeyed to Lynn Saturday where they defeated the Lynn Fosse team 3 to 0. There was considerable delay on the part of the Home team in getting the game started, and when they finally lined up it was seen that their President had taken post at Outside Right, a position which he filled creditably, in spite of his not being as young as he once was.

For some time the exchanges ruled even, but after the visitors had repulsed a determined attack on their goal they transferred operations and Laidlaw, obtaining possession, scored the first goal of the match with a good shot.

The referee's eye was perhaps a trifle too keen for "offside," both teams being frequently penalized for breach of this particular rule. Half time came with the Draftsmen leading by 1 goal to 0.

The two outstanding plays of the second half were a fine individual run by Laidlaw, from which he scored the second goal, and the saving of a "penalty-kick" by Altstein. A penalty-kick is a pretty severe test upon the capability of a custodian, but Altstein came forth with flying colors, handling himself and the ball like a veteran.

The teams lined up as follows:

BRIEFS

The first annual dance of the Sagamore club will take place at Alpha hall tonight.

Tonight's meeting of the City Council promises to be an important one, for there are several matters coming up that will doubtless call for debat.

St. Margaret's Guild members have been invited to a social to be given at the Christ church vestry tonight by the Laymen's Club.

The sudden change in the temperature Sunday resulted in many being kept busy shoveling on coal. There was quite a frost Saturday night and the temperature Sunday at noon did not get above 39, or seven degrees above the freezing point.

Miss Florence M. Ford will be hostess to the St. Margaret's Guild at her home 84 Franklin street, Friday evening. A short business meeting will be held and it will also be work night.

YOU need the Ledger every day.

FAST TEAMS FOR BASKET BALL

Saturday night about 25 men responded to the call for Basket Ball candidates for the Y. M. C. A. first and second teams. From the calibre of the men who came out, the local Association ought to have the fastest team in its history, as all but two men who were on the teams two years ago have announced their intentions of playing again this year. The first home game will be on Saturday night, Nov. 30th, against the strong Somerville teams.

The squad included: Rich, Holmes, Trask, Parker, Johnson, Dineen, Childs, Pinel, Thomas, Price, Summers, Chell, Shirley, Croucher, Altstein, Gearwar, England, Nicoll, Corthell, Foss, Bartlett, Minchin, Veale, Kemp, Kenn, Melville, Bishop and Estey.

The first of the Monthly Handicap Athletic Meets will be held on Saturday night, Nov. 23; the events will be as follows: 15-yard dash, 8 potato race, running high jump, 220-yard dash and 1000-yard run.

Representatives of seven Sunday Schools met at the Association Saturday night to discuss the advisability of conducting a Basket Ball League this coming season. The feeling was general that such a league could be successful in every way and another meeting will be held next Saturday night to draw up eligibility rules, etc.

The members of the Sunday Schools will be given the privilege of practicing on the "Gym" floor on Saturday afternoons during November and the teams will be picked late in the month. It is planned to start the league early in December.

BATTLESHIP TEAM BEATEN

Hunter the Star In Classy Football Game

VERY CLEAN CONTEST

Hunter of Quincy sent a drop-kick over the bar and then kicked the goal in the Quincy A. A. and U. S. S. New Jersey game at Merrymount Park Saturday afternoon for a 7 to 0 score.

The game was clean, snappy and unusually free from the unfriendly feeling which breaks out between two opposing elevens.

The game indicated no score until Quincy was headed for the line by forward passes and if a New Jersey player thoroughly understood the new rules it would have remained 0 to 0 However, on a nice forward which was short, a New Jersey man threw his arms out and touched the ball instead of catching it and a it bounced off his arms Hunter caught it and crossed the line after a 30 yard run.

Quincy won the toss and held New Jersey for downs in the first few minutes of play. They carried the ball to the 20 yard line in two forward passes to Hunter. Both teams were penalized for delaying the game in this half. Quincy gradually recovering from a little stage fright toward the last, took the ball from their own 20 yard line to the visitors 10 yard line where they lost on a fumbled forward. New Jersey rushed the ball back to Quincy's 30 yard line where a forward pass went into McDonald's arms on the 15 yard line.

Quincy kicked to New Jersey in the second half and the visitors after do-tried a quarterback rush formation, tried a quarterlock rush formation, the first man taking the ball, through the right guard. They were penalized 15 yards for pushing the man and were given 15 yards for Boyle interfering with the next play. They were later penalized for the same distance. Getting anxious they tried a drop but although the line held, the ball did not go the required distance.

A large number of jackies attended the game and the enthusiasm was high in the closing minutes because of New Jersey's rapid ground gaining in the darkness. They were on the Quincy 10 yard line when the whistle blew.

"Bob" Comins known to followers of the game as "Rusty" was on the line and played a classy game. Saturday morning he was paid off on the New Jersey and helped defeat his shipmates in the afternoon. "Bob" played on the 1906 Quincy High team which was unbeaten during the year.

An unexpected incident during the day was the appearance of the Plymouth team at the Quincy A. A. rooms. They came up before their manager verified their date. The hospitality of the club was extended to them and many witnessed the game.

MRS. HARLOW GIVEN SURPRISE

Many Friends Congratulate Her On 80th Birthday

Miss Fremetta Shepherd, of Mill street, distinguished herself as a very charming and diplomatic hostess, Saturday afternoon. For a week or more she had planned a birthday party to be held at her home in observance of the birthday of her aunt, Mrs. Augusta A. Harlow, of Goffe street. The auspicious event, for Mrs. Harlow is eighty years young, was kept a profound secret by Miss Shepherd and grandchildren.

Saturday morning, upon the arrival of the postman, Mrs, Harlow was asked, "What is the matter, all the mail in my bag is for you?" To her astonishment, she received a shower of birthday cards, from friends in Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan, Colorado and California, also telegrams from W. Farnum, and Clarence Smith of Omaha, Nebraska, Arthur Smith of Hartford, Conn., and from Miss Zoe Armstrong of New York City. The cards were mostly from men, who as boys had been pupils in Mrs. Harlow's Sunday school class, and they expressed appreciation of her faithfulness and loving and helpful advice.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Harlow was invited to Miss Shepherd's, where another surprise awaited her. The parlors were one mass of beautiful flowers, roses, pinks, violets, chrysanthemums and lilies. As the guests began to arrive her face was a study, but she rose to the occasion with her accustomed grace and vivacity and welcomed all very cordially.

Her many friends were delighted to have the opportunity of greeting and congratulating her, as "to know Mrs. Harlow is to love her."

Among those present, were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobart, Mrs. George Bailey, her nephew Dr. Hovey Shepherd of Los Angeles, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shepherd, Misses Hattie and Carrie Shepherd of Cambridge, Mrs. Hattie Brown of Lexington, Mrs. William B. Rice, Mrs. Lewis J. Bass, Mrs. John L. Eldredge and daughter, Miss Avonia Eldredge, Dr. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Abele, Col. Anderson and daughter, Mrs. D. Wadsworth, Mrs. George E. Pfaffman and son John S. Pfaffman, Mrs. Walter E. Burke, Mrs. L. H. Sturtevant, Mrs. Charles A. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Sidelinger, Mrs. Zenas Sidelinger and Miss Esther U. Sidelinger, Mrs. Thomas Lincoln, Arthur Newcomb, Miss Amey Newcomb, Mrs. Daniel Higgins, Mrs. Thomas Pollard, Mrs. Percy Holman, Mrs. Sidney Thomas, Miss Margaret L. Thomas, Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Mrs. Ivil Dyer, Miss Kittie Peabody, Mrs. M. Howes, Mrs. Bonney, Miss Ella May Freeman, Mrs. Mark Wight, Mrs. Herbert Newcomb, Miss Alice White, Misses Clara and Helen Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Hall, Mrs. Sarah Blanchard, Mrs. Richard R. Freeman, and Misses Elizabeth and Catherine Freeman, Mrs. William Chubbuck, Miss E. Heaton, Mrs. Joseph Whiton, and Mrs. Lucy B. Waterman. Many who were unable to be present sent regrets.

The success of this party was due to the untiring zeal of Miss Shepherd. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Miss Margaret Thomas, presiding at the tea urn, and Mrs. George Bailey at the chocolate urn. Mrs. Harlow's grandchildren, Fred and Harlow Schenkleberger, Winsor Harlow and Misses Maria, Roxanna and Lilian A. Schenkelberger assisted in serving the guests.

Mrs. Harlow was the recipient of numerous and beautiful gifts, one of which was a box of apples from the ranch of Julian Hayward of Paonia, Colorado, and a beautiful silver pin with a topaz stone from George W. Brown of Boston, with a characteristic note. Topaze being the birthday stone for November it was very appropriate.

Dr. and Mrs. James Harlow came to Quincy in 1870, residing on South street. After the doctor's death, Mrs. Harlow made her home on Goffe street and she enjoys the love and esteem of a host of friends.

BRIEFS

Joseph Carruthers and afmily are moving this week from Edison park to Adams street.

Miss Helen White of Weymouth spent the week end with Mrs. William Loud of Hall place.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mitchell, nee Maud Dyer, moved from Edwards street to Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday.

Mrs. Sarah J. Mconald of Maple street is confined to her home by sickness and under the doctors care.

A meeting of the trustees of the Hall Place M. E. church is called for this evening at 8.30 at the parsonage.

The sewing circle of G. L. Gill Rebekah Lodge is to hold a fair in I. O. O. F. hall, Adams building, Nov. 14 and 15.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bailey of Norwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud of Washington street over the wek end.

The teachers and training class of the Hall Place M. E. Sunday school meet tonight in the vestry at half past seven..

A novel sight was seen today when C. P. Gould of Adams street towed four touring cars and two runabouts from the freight yard on Granite street to his garage.

Query! The District Court of East Norfolk has on its ground a Flag staff. Why does not the stars and stripes wave from it? An empty flag staff is no ornament.

Maple Lodge K. and L. of H. holds a public meeting and entertainment Wednesday evening at Electa hall, to which all who have attended the whist parties are cordialy invited. It is hoped that all the members will be in attendance. The committee in charge are Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, Mrs. Alberta Hewson and Mrs. Rose A. Reed, who have provided a very pleasant and enjoyable evening's pleasure which none should miss.

MARRIED IN BOSTON.

Miss Cecelia Honkanen and Kustaa E. Rentala both of 56 Albertina street were married in Boston Oct. 19 by J. Alfred Anderson, Justice of Peace at Boston. The marriage became known when the certificate was received at City Hall this morning.

CANDIDATES FOR RE-ELECTION--- COUNCILMEN PLAYED POLITICS

Such the Intimation at Council Meeting When Street Orders Came Up

Ladies Urge the Acceptance of Winthrop Street

Monday night's meeting of the City Council developed a lively debate on street matters during which politics frequently played a part it being intimated that certain councilmen took the stand that they did because they were candidates for reelection. This was emphatically denied however. These debates came on the accepting of minority reports on widening and building Sea street and changing the grade of Elm avenue. The Finance committee had reported reference to the next City Council. Councilman Ericson offered minority reports in each case which were accepted after lively debates and the orders advanced a stage.

There was also some discussion on the question of widening Coddington street at the junction of Washington street. This order had been referred to the next Council at the last meeting but on motion of Councilman Richards the reference was withdrawn and an amendment perfecting the order offered. The matter then went over to the Finance Committee.

The public hearing on the acceptance of Winthrop street from Sea street to Rock Island brought out a large attendance of residents of that section, many of whom were ladies, who were emphatic in their desire that the street be accepted.

A communication was received from the Mayor appointing Rufus B. Tobey Trustee of the Public Library in place of Rev. C. P. Marshall. Placed on file.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Board of Trade requesting the use of the Council Chamber for a public meeting on train service, Tuesday evening, Nov. 19. Laid on the table until later when Councilman Richards offered an order granting the request. Adopted.

John E. Simmons as clerk Ward Five, precinct 2 in place of Albert C. Armstrong.

A more ideal election day, it would have been difficult to desire than that which dawned today, marking as it does, one of the most vital in the history of this country, since the election of Abraham Lincoln as president of the United States in 1860, which paved the way for the abolition of slavery and the entrance into power of the Republican party, which was maintained during all the intervening period, with the exception of the two terms to which Grover Cleveland was elected.

Today marks the greatest struggle in the history of the Republican party for a maintenance of that supremacy. On this occasion it is split and divided in the contest by the Progressive party, a wing of the Republican organization which has for its evident intention the splitting of the old party in twain and the construction of a new party on the ruins. So far as National affairs are concerned then, the Republican party is with its back against the wall, fighting for its life. Never in the history of the country, since the civil war has the Democratic party been so united with regard to the National ticket.

In the congressional districts, while there is some division, it is not looked upon as possessing sufficient strength to offset the control of the lower house of congress which the Democrats secured two years ago. There is an admittedly grave danger on the part of many of the most optimistic Republicans on the other hand that they may lose control of the senate. If this comes to pass it will establish a record.

The splitting of the Republican party by the candidacy of the Progressive leaders, headed by Theodore Roosevelt, gives rise to a firm conviction that Gov. Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, the Democratic candidate for president will be elected and that he will carry with him on the tidal wave of Democratic victory, the party candidate for vice president, Thomas Marshall of Indiana and both branches of congress. If this is done, it will give the Democratic party a control which it has not enjoyed since the civil war.

The size of the Republican party vote and the Progressive vote will indicate which will survive this interesting contest.

The Democrats a few years ago, were divided on the currency question with the result that the Democratic Sound money ticket was in the fields. This revolt however did not materialize sufficient strength or power to make it more than a temporary offshoot, and the Democratic party maintained its integrity and the dissenters returned to the fold, with the result that the party is more united and stronger than it ever was.

The situation which the country meets today then is a possible disruption of the Republican party which may result in its complete annihilation, as a party power, the advancement of the new Progressive party so that of one of the two great parties, and the possibility of the election of Democratic president, a Democratic house of Representatives and when the time comes next year of the election of enough Democratic senators to leave the party in absolute control of the Federal government.

The strength of the Progressive party in Masachusetts, will really determine if the state is to depart from its usual custom and give a Republican majority or flop into the Democratic ranks, in giving its electoral vote for the Democratic candidate, which again would be another record chapter in National history.

So far as the governorship goes, it looks very much as if Gov. Foss would be elected for the third term. The late Gov. William E. Russell, accomplished this feat, but in each case he had a Republican Lieut. Governor and Republican legislature. There is stronger possibility of a Democratic Lieut. Governor being chosen than at any time for a good many years. And even if the Democrats do not gain the legislature they will make strong inroads into that body, which will make them stronger there than ever before.

The purely local contests for senators, representatives and county officers have progressed with the usual enterprise on the parts of the candidates. It is difficult to determine

BATTLESHIP KEEL LAID

MEN FEEL HAPPY

No ceremony attended the laying of the keel of the U. S. battleship Nevada at the Fore River yard Monday. The day was one of joy to the employees because there is plenty of work ahead and the new eight hour day with no decrease in wages went into effect.

With a displacement of 27,600 tons the Nevada will be 583 feet long and 95 feet beam. She will carry 10 14-inch guns in four turrets, besides smaller guns. The contract calls for delivery in January 1915.

The eight hour day basis effects about 3700 men. The average individual increase in wages because of the lessened work day without a decrease is about 11 per cent.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Turkey is no sooner off with one war than it is on with another. In the meantime it is bleeding to death.

The army is getting meats at better prices than ever before. Why can't we all buy through the Commissary Department?

The present fine frosty mornings are very bracing, but somehow you fail to think of this when you have to get up.

The Allied-States-Turkish war, will go down into history as a record for war brevity. Turkey was knocked out in the first round in the language of the prize ring.

Many people will break their usual rule and stay up a little later than usual tonight to get the election returns.

The crop of freak bets this year did not appear to be as numerous as in previous presidential elections.

Bill Hicks of Biggs, California, pawned his wooden leg to get a drink leaving himself with hardly a "leg to stand upon from drink."

Mayor Stone is barred from his own house. Every one sympathizes with the mayor under the peculiar circumstances and unite in the hope that the speedy recovery of his daughter will make his exile but a brief one.

An Austin woman trimmed a hat with greenbacks and gold pieces to the value of $1,000. Ordinarily a fellow is pretty contented to have his pocket decorated with that amount of loose change.

A Belfast man suggests re-arrangement of the calender, with a five day week. Some people would not be satisfied if every second day was a holiday and the Sundays sandwiched in between.

It is pretty hard lines on William Wolf, 89 years old and one of the founders of Kansas City that he is to spend his last days in the poor house of the place he helped to found.

Despite its inconvenience the narrow skirt has evidently come to stay for a while longer.

Somewhat colder, but as long as it does not come with a rush it will not be so bad.

Harvard got Princeton's tigers goat, will it be able to take Eli's bull dog into camp easily?

With Roosevelt and Wilson getting a bang on the head from his bumping automobile, President Taft appears to be the only leading candidate who escaped personal injury in the contest just closed. Yet he may be hurt more than either of them.

It is pretty near all over by this time, but there are a few hours left for our more western neighbors to record their decision.

Hadley as a running mate for President Taft, only again illustrates the saying that politics make strange bed fellows.

And now there is a cry as to the way in which campaign funds were used. This appears to be the most important part of those large funds, the people would like to know just how they are expended.

ELECTION DAY.

Election day dawned bright and clear, auguring well for a heavy vote throughout the country. The conditions in Massachusetts are ideal and give promise of producing the heaviest vote in the history of the state.

Nominally the Bay State is a strong Republican district and is always considered an asset to Republicanism but this year with the Progressive party making such a tremendous contest, the exact position of the state is somewhat in doubt, and cannot be determined until the votes are counted tonight.

Everything points to a big vote as there are contests from the top to the bottom of the ticket, which means that every local candidate is anxious to get out as large a vote as possible. Owing to the size of the ballot final and definite returns are not expected very early.

Today marks the close of one of the most bitterly contested elections in the history of the country, not excepting the remarkable contest which marked the election of Abraham Lincoln in 1860.

It is well to vote early and avoid any possibility of losing one's vote as accidents are liable to happen which might prevent any well disposed citizen from exercising his right of franchise. Vote early, but not often as was once suggested as such an effort might lead to trouble.

SHORT BUT CRUEL WAR.

While the war between Turkey and her neighboring allies, is practically ended and will go on record as the shortest war in the history of the nations, it was still marked by cruelty and atrocities which it might seem should have been eliminated in those enlightened days. And the worst of the matter is that the end is not in sight and hardship, suffering, if not actual rapine, slaughter and every form of cruelty are not practiced upon innocent non combatant, unless the prompt intervention on the part of the powers can check the lust of blood which seems to have overpowered both victor and vanquished.

The Turkish capital is a prey to rioters. Starvation stalks along in the wake of the defeated Turk, who has been driven to the very fortifications of his own capital. The powers are hurrying warships to protect the Christians within Turkish territory. Will they arrive too late to be of benefit in preventing the massacres which are threatened.

While this war is ended, its results are looked upon with more concern by the powers of the world, then if it had been of longer duration. The victors flushed with their rapid successes may demand more than the concert of powers desire to permit. On the other hand the non-combatant nations have a jealous eye on the partition of European Turkey, which promises fresh difficulties in the settlement and it may involve the powers war. Such a condition is frightful to contemplate and it is to be hoped that it will be averted by wise diplomacy.

SAGAMORE CLUB FIRST DANCE

Attended By 30 Couples From Brockton In Auto Trucks

The first dance o the Sagamore club at Alpha hall Monday evening was a social success. During the evening two auto trucks, carrying 30 couples from Brockton arrived at the hall. The appearance of John J. McDevitt, the senatorial candidates was the signal for an outburst of applause and he was obliged to respond with a few remarks.

He spoke briefly on his campaign and new legislation which he believed should be introduced and passed.

"Jerre" Moynahan, the floor director, presented Mr. McDevitt and because it was "Jerres" first platform appearance he had a hard time to start a cute little introduction which he had prepared. He managed to finish the first sentence when his voice gave out.

Everett Harris was the assistant floor director and Paul Franzi chief of aids. The aids were Miss Margie Tucker, Miss Abbie Pellerin, Miss Kathryn McEachern, Miss Florence Drysdale, Thomas Cotter, Albert Turner and Miss Ruth Devine.

The following Brockton clubs were represented, Delco Girls, Sheridans, Glenno Girls, Oaklands and Estellas.

ON THE WAY--- BUT WHERE?

Auto Chemical and Chief's Car Must Be Going Backward

Quincy's new auto chemical, is somewhere between Quincy and Elmira, N. Y., on the way to Quincy, According to all information the car was shipped from the factory last week and should be here any day now. In fact it was due Saturday night. Chief Litchfield said this morning that he would believe the car was here only when he saw it. The new Chief's car is in the same boat. A chemical tank has been fited to the car and it was to have been delivered Saturday so that it could be tried out today. Up to noon however this runabout had not been delivered. This car is painted the standad fire department red and carries a chemical tank becoming in the nature of a flying squadrun car, and will doubtless save the repartment many runs, for there are many small fires that can easily be extinguished by a chemical, such as the Chief's car will carry.

DEATH OF DR. CABOT

Ranked Among Most Famous Surgeons Practicing In Boston

Boston, Nov. 5.—Dr. Arthur T. Cabot, one of Boston's foremost physicians and surgeons, and a fellow of the Harvard corporation, died late last night at his home in this city from the effects of an illness extending over several months. He was 61 years of age and a native of Boston. He leaves a widow, two brothers and two sisters.

Last July Cabot underwent a serious intestinal operation. He seemed to gain somewhat during the summer, but grew worse when colder weather set in.

As a surgeon, Cabot was one of the most famous who have practised in Boston in recent years. He was a member of many medical and surgical societies, and was at one time president of the Massachusetts Medical society.

CITY COUNCIL

Ward Five, precinct 2 in place of John E. Simmons.

Warren C. Barlow as deputy warden Ward Five, precinct 1, in place of Lora C. Merrill.

The appointments were confirmed.

A communication was received from the City Auditor giving the cost and amount of water furnished the several departments of the city, as requested by an order adopted at the last meeting of the council.

The communication showed that the several departments used 28,645,935 gallons valued at $3,122.71. The amount of cost varied from 9 cents to 19 cents per thousand gallons.

Councilman Cunningham asked how it was that some departments were rated at 9 cents and others at 10, 11, 15 and 19 cents. Commissioner Tupper replied that these rates were according to the established meter rate schedules, the price being according to the amount of water used.

Councilman Cunningham said that was not what was wanted. What was desired was the cost of the water to the city delivered at the several places and upon his motion the communication was referred back to the Auditor for correction.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Board of Health recommending the passage of an ordinance which should prohibit any person, firm or corporation from obstructing or changing the course of any brook or water course on public or private land without a written permit of the Board of Health, also prohibiting any person, firm or corporation from allowing any refuse or other obstructing material to flow into any stream, brook or water course. The communication was referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Several petitions for minor licenses were received and referred.

The Committee on Licenses reported orders granting minor licenses which were adopted.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported an order for a public hearing, Dec. 2, at 8.15 on the petition of Wollaston citizens that the old building on Beale street be removed. Adopted.

The Finance Committee reported reference to the next City Council on the order for $1,800 for a tar sidewalk on Sea street. Report laid on the table.

An order for $900 to complete the finishing of the hall in the Quincy school building was ordered to a second reading.

The Finance Committe reported a slight amendment to the order widening Faxon avenue, charging the amount, $10 to the Excess and Deficiency Fund and as thus amended the order ought to pass. Order adopted.

Ought to pass on the order for $100 for drain and catch basin on West Elm avenue, charging the amount to the appropriation for drains of 1911. Order passed.

An order for $100 for miscellaneous expenses of the City Clerk. Adopted.

An order making transfers in the appropriation for the School Department. Order passed.

No legislation necessary on the communication from the Board of Health requesting an appropriation of $500 to abate nuisance off Woodward avenue. Report accepted.

Next City Council on the orders for the following new streets, Muirhead, Taber, Staunton, Morton, Doble and Curtis streets, Roselin avenue, Cheriton road. Report accepted.

Next City Council on the order to change the grade of Elm avenue and widening Sea street. In its report the commitee say that owing to the lateness of the season and the financial condition of the city they recommend reference to the next council with the further recommendation that the matter be taken up early next year.

Councilman Ericson moved and it was voted that that part of the order relating to Elm avenue be laid on the table.

Councilman Ericson offered a minority report on Sea street. This report amended the order by adding the borrowing clause.

Before action was taken on the report a public hearing was called on accepting Winthrop street. No one appeared in favor or against and the hearing closed. It was evident that the citizens present did not fully understand what was taking place and on motion of Councilman J. R. S. Ross the hearing was reopened.

Several of the ladies present spoke in favor as well as some of the gentlemen. They all stated that they understood that Mr. Cavanagh would give the land necessary for the street.

John T. Cavanagh said that he opposed the order as it called for building the street under the betterment act. The land which he had proposed to give was about one hundred feet from the present street on which the hearing was being held. The hearing then closed.

The question was on accepting the report of the minority.

Councilman Craig said the work should be done or the order killed. He opposed sending it over to the next council.

Councilman Ericson said that the Finance Committee agreed that the street should be laid out and built but wanted to send it over to next year. The people in that section of the city are entitled to something. The date of the bonds are Jan. 1, so that the first bond will not come due until 1914.

Councilman Sandberg agreed with the last speaker. This order has been before the council for several years. Houghs Neck was entitled to something and he hoped every man would vote for this order.

Councilman Richards spoke at length in favor of the order. He was sorry to differ from the Finance Committee. Sea street has been made a foot ball of for a long time. To refer it to the next council simply meant a further delay. The whole question was one of economy and policy. The speaker then went into figures of the debt coming due for the next year and also gave figures of the debt that fell due for the past few years.

The trouble is we have been extending loans over too long a period and we are feeling the effects of it today. We must shorten up the loans. It was time we got down to business and did something on this street.

Councilman Abele said that all agreed that the street should be fixed but he did not believe this was the proper time of the year. The committee had recommended the taking of the land at this time and having the council consider the building of the street early next year.

Councilman Craig said the committee does not go out on streets until April. Then there must be a hearing, which means late next year before it could go through. To refer to the next council was but a polite way of killing the order.

Councilman J. R. S. Ross spoke at length in favor of the order. Something must be done of the street or the city will be liable for damages. Physicans will not respond to calls at Houghs Neck in the spring owing to the condition of this street. It was the only street leading to Houghs Neck and the work should be done before the middle of the summer.

Councilman Devany believed that the street should be fixed and favored the order.

Councilman Cunningham favored the majority commitee report. The Finance Committee decided that it was imposible to do the work this year. Do you want $8,000 spent during the month of December? It would take twice as much money to do it then. Why not take the land this year and build next year? Why did not the Street Committee report the matter earlier in the season Probably two thirds of the present council will return next year so that he did not see where Houghs Neck would suffer.

Upon request of Councilman Sandberg, Commissioner Tupper appeared beore the Council and in reply to his questions said that work could be done cheaper in cold weather, if the ground was not frozen. He should certainly consider the work on this street as rebuilding It was possible to do considerable sub-grading during the winter months.

Councilman Murray said it seemed the proper time for the Council to make a stand on these matters. The proper time to do street work was in the open season

Councilman Bailey said it was up to some one interested to tell why, an interest was not shown in this street earlier in the year.

Councilman Studley claimed that the order had been held up in the Finance Committee since Sept 9. It was that committee and not the Street Committee that delayed.

At this point President Hobbs announced that no further personal argument would be allowed.

Councilman Sandberg rose to speak when he was called to order by Councilman C. A. Ross that under Rule 11 he was out of order having spoken twice before on the same matter. President Hobbs ruled the point well taken.

On a rising vote the ruling of the President was sustained, 11 yes and 6 no.

On motion of Councilman Ericson, Councilman Sandberg was given permission by the council to speak again on the question.

President Hobbs then stated that he did not make the rules of the council and that he had tried at all time to be fair in his ruling.

Councilman Craig moved that unless a vote was sooner reached the debate close at 9.38. Voted.

The question then came on accepting the report of the minority. On a rising vote of 13 yes and 8 no the minority report was accepted and the order ordered to a second reading.

On motion of Councilman Craig the order for $4,000 for Independence avenue was taken from the table and put on its final passage. The order was rejected by roll call 13 voting yes and 8 no as follows:—

Yes:—Beeman, Boyd, Craig, Devaney, Ericson, Forde, Gauthier, Mahoney, Richards, C. A. Ross, J. R. S. Ross, Sandberg, Studley—13.

Not voting—President Hobbs.

Absent—Gilliatt.

The Committee on Streets reported an order granting the Electric Light Co., a location for poles on Newton and Sea streets. Ordered to a second reading.

The same committee also offered an order granting the Citizen's Gas Co., a location for mains on Fenno street. Ordered to a second reading.

The same committee reported an order for a public hearing on petitions of the Telephone Co., and Electric Light Co., for location for poles. Adopted.

On motion of Councilman Richards the reference to the next City Council on the order widening Coddington street was withdrawn. He then offered an order changing the amount of award for the Insurance company from $6,200 to $6,500 and the amount to be appropriated from $1,700 to $2,000 also to further amend by adding the borrowing clause.

On motion of Councilman Richards the order then went to the Finance Committee.

Councilman Boyd offered orders for the city election Dec. 2, and designating the polling places. Adopted.

Councilman Devaney offered an order for a fire alarm box on South Walnut street between South and Main streets. To Committe on Fire Department.

On motion of Councilman Sandberg the report of the Finance Committee on Elm avenue was taken from the table. Councilman Ericson offered a minority report adding the borrowing clause and that the order ought to pass. The amount of the loan was $8,000.

Councilman Sandberg and Richards argued at length in favor of the minority. They expressed surprise that members from Ward Five on the Finance Committee had opposed the order.

Councilman Bailey said that he opposed the order. He did not understand that he was sent to the council to get everything but to represent the best interest of the city. "It takes more courage for me to vote against the order than it does those who are candidates at large to vote for it."

In reply Councilman Richards said they had four years of feast and one year of famine. He did not believe in either of them. He had been lambasted by the local press earlier in the year for the stand he had then taken. The people in this section of the city are entitled to something. It was not right to give them nothing. He had hoped politics would not enter the debate.

Councilman Murray said that his position was not to favor Ward Five to the disadvantage of any other part of the city and he believed the voters of Ward Five would uphold him.

Councilman Cunningham said there ought to be some system of handling street orders. Why not make a budget of them the same as we do the annual appropriation budget and do it at one time. It was a litle peculiar that with two members from Ward Five on the Finance Committee that the chairman of the committee should be so solicitous for Ward Five.

The report of the minority was then adopted on a rising vote of 11 yes to 9 no and the order went over for a second reading.

On motion of Councilman Studley it was voted that when the council adjourn it be until Monday Nov. 11.

Councilman Studley asked that the Finance Committee report on the order for $1,000 for gypsy moth at the next meeting.

Adjourned at 10.15.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL.

Dr. Sneath's sermon on the Constraining Love of Christ, was brief but full of helpful thought and suggestion. He said in part, that the dominating motive of the majority of mankind is Sense of Duty, reinforced in many cases by motives of prudence;—as for instance, if we do not Christianize the heathen, the heathen will eventually bring trouble and distress upon us.

Love of Duty lifts a man to a higher plane of living and greater enrichment of character. "I ought" drives, but the "dear Must" of Goethe's characterization is a beloved teacher and friend.

But higher than any other ideal man may hold as a motive, "the Love of Christ which constraineth me," stands highest, noblest, happiest. This love makes possible the seemingly impossible: through it duty is easy and sacrifice is joy.

The sermon led fittingly up to the Communion Service which was immediately preceded by the reception into membership of Dr. and Mrs. Sneath.

Rev. Rufus B. Tobey conducted this ceremony in an impressive manner after which Dr. Sneath administered Communion.

Sunday School met at 12.15. C. A. Randall, Supt. The Men's Bible class has secured a good start in electing for president, William N. Nichols, who will be sure to start something lively. This class is to be in the hands of young men, and all such are heartily invited to co-operate .

Christian Endeavor Meeting at 6 P. M., had a good attendance. Gordon H. Tucker was leader.

"In the Heart of the Cumberland" is the subject of the lecture to be given by Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury in the vestry Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E., for the purpose of raising funds for missionary work.

Dr. Sneath is facing good sized audiences at the mid-week meetings on Thursday evenings at 7.45 in the vestry. Come and enjoy a bright, snappy evening service, overflowing with good fellowship and sociability. The Pastor's installation will occur on Tuesday, November 12th. The Council will meet at 3.30 P. M. and the installation services will be at 7.30. All are welcome to both services.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, W. B. M., meets this afternoon with Mrs. A. A. Lincoln, Lincoln avenue.

"The Love Chapter," will be the subject of Dr. Sneath at the Thursday evening meeting in the vestry.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH.

At the morning service of worship Rev. Carl G. Horst preached the fifth in the series of sermons on Corner Stones of our Republic, namely the Church, the others being, the Home, the Public School, Respect for Law and Sunday. The sermon was from the text "I was glad when they said unto me let us go into the house of the Lord," Psalm 122, 1 He said: "These are the words of David, the statesman the warrior, the King, the poet. Although a busy man he found time to go to church to worship God and to sing praises to the Most High. The Church is one of the greatest blessings that we have inherited from the past. Though empires have fallen, though generations have come and gone the Church has lived and is marching on. It is the pillar and stay of the truth. Around it has always gathered the best life of the community. If we wish to make the best and most of life and ourselves, if we wish our influence to continue to bless the world then we must ally ourselves with the Church of the living God. The Church holds a vast accumulation of conserved spiritual energy by which individuals as they come into the church are vitalized. In the Church we participate in a religious life that is larger, richer and nobler than our own. It is the divinely appointed agency, for the redemption of the world. Its business is to carry on the work which Jesus began in Palestine, many centuries ago. To save the souls of men, we have no organization but the Church. Other organizations aim to prepare men for citizenship here; the Church trains him for citizenship hereafter as well as here. The need of spiritual health is constant and can never be outgrown. It also helps toward physical health for that is largely dependent on spiritual health. While man remains dependent on God and feels the mystery of life and his own insufficiency he needs to come to the sanctuary to refresh his soul at the fountain of eternal life. God grant that we may always be ready to say with David "I was glad when they said unto me let us go into the house of the Lord."

There was a large attendance at the Kindergarten which enables so many parents when they come to Church to bring their children.

The Sunday school classes of Mrs. E. N. Barstow, Mrs. C. G. Horst and Mrs. Chandler W. Smith attended the morning service in a body, occupying the front seats and greatly aiding the singing of the hymns with their sweet voices.

The Good Citizenship meetings in the church on Sundays at 12 o'clock are proving most interesting and instructive and we are glad to see so many present and ready to express their convictions on "What's the matter with Quincy?" These meetings are not in the interest of any political candidate but furnish an opportunity to our citizens, irrespective of party to express their thoughts on what in their judgment is best for the interest of Quincy.

The biennial church fair will be held in the vestry Wednesday and Thursday, December 4 and 5.

DR. ENGLAND DIED SUNDAY

Had Been Inmate of Masonic Home, Two Years

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

Word has been received of the death at the Masonic Home at Charleton, Sunday at 2 o'clock of Dr. George R. England, formerly of Quincy. Dr. England was a native of New York city where he was born in 1843. He obtained his education at the Oswego academy and graduated from the Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery in the class of 1871. He practiced his profession for ten years in Philadelphia and for four years in Pittsburg, before coming to Quincy.

He made many friends soon after coming to Quincy and being possessed of a fine personality soon built up a large practice. He eventually moved into the house immediately in the rear of the Bethany church which he occupied up to the time of his discontinuing active business. He always enjoyed the best of health until the death of his wife after which his health began to gradually give away and about two years ago upon the recommendation of Rural lodge of Masons he went to the Masonic Home at Charleton.

He was a member of Rural lodge, St. Stephen's chapter and South Shore Commandery, Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows and Merrymount lodge Knights of Honor.

His funeral will be held at Forest Hills Wednesday at 2.30, Rev. Mr. Calley of Jamaica Plain will officiate at the services.

AUTO VICTIM LAID AT REST

Funeral of Alfred L. Dinnin, Held at Chelsea, Monday

Funeral services for Alfred L. Dinnin, who was killed in an automobile accident Friday morning at Weymouth were held Monday afternoon from the home of H. C. Steger, 101 Washington avenue, Chelsea, where Mr. Dinnin formerly lived. Rev. R. Perry Bush, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, Chelsea, officiated. Delegations were present from the Star of Bethlehem lodge and the Royal Arch chapter, Shekinah, A. F. and A. M. Interment was at Woodlawn cemetery.

MR. STUDLEY ENTERS FIELD

Is Rather Caustic In His Remarks on Mr. Shaw

AND OFFERS SOME ADVICE

Editor of Daily Ledger:

Mr. Miller's revelations of last week concerning Mr. Abele and the methods of a small group of Wollaston politicians confirms and crystallizes into a certainty what before had been but a growing suspicions. The attempt on the part of these men to so direct and control the public sentiment of our city that its affairs in the end would be turned over to their control will now receive a well merited rebuke.

We may not all agree politically with Mr. Miller, but every one knows he is honest and it would be a bold man who would dare to question his veracity. No amount of ingenious denials by either Mr. Shaw or any of these politicians will remove from the public mind the belief that they sought to deceive and mislead the people. There is now only one thing for Mr. Shaw to do, and that is to go away back, remove himself from the political lime-light, cease being the all wise one telling everybody how to carry on his business, and then in the quiet seclusion of his retreat attend to the business for which the state is paying him a salary, and hope that time may throw the charitable mantle of forgetfulness over him and his bombastic letters "What's the matter with Quincy?"

Mr. Shaw, there isn't anything the matter with Quincy, if men of your stamp will only cease holding her up to public ridicule and attempting to acquire notoriety at the expense of the good name and character of citizens she knew and trusted, long before she ever heard of you, and whom today she honors.

Harry G. Studley,
Councilman Ward Two.

SCORCHED POST CARD

From Hawaiian Volcano Finds Its Way to Quincy

Frederick Johnson, a brother of Mrs. Frank P. Hill, was recently married and is now on his wedding trip to Hawaiin Islands. He sent home to his mother, Mrs. S. E. Johnson, a postal card, showing the Kilauea Volcano, in Hawaii. The scene is a picturesque and wild one.

Yet the Volcano is not dangerous and people daily make a trip to the crater. As illustrative of the ease with which people can approach the crater, Mr. Johnson held the post card over an edge of the opening and the heat and smoke scorched the card, near the address end.

Mrs. Johnson prizes the card very highly. Aside from the personal message on the post card, the following information is presented relative to the volcano and hotel, near the brink.

Kilauea Volcano, is the most accessible active volcano in the world. On the banks of its crator is situated the Valcano house and near by are the sulphur baths from the natural vapor cracks. The circumference of the crator is 7.85 miles and encloses an area of 2650 acres. The remarkably deep pit of the extinct crater, Kilauea -iki a mile and a half to the Volcano house is easily reached. A splendid automobile road goes to the brink of the crater.

The Volcano house is on the brink of the crater of Kilauea. A comfortable rambling structure with accomodations for about 200. Elevation about 4000 feet, open the year round to tourists and much patronized as a summer resort by residents of Honolulu.

VENERABLE MEN AT THE POLLS

Anthony Dyke, 94, Declines to Ride to Vote at Braintree

THAYER'S BIRTHDAY

Two veteran voters turned out to cast their votes in Braintree today Anthony Dyke, 94 years old declined the use of an automobile or carriage. He said when it came to pass that he had to be carried to the polls he would decline to vote. Elisha Thayer

ANTHONY DYKE.
Ninety-four Years.

Mr. Dyke has been marking ballots for President, since 1848 and while a Republican for years, he will vote for Col. Roosevelt today.

ELISHA THAYER,
Eighty-seven Years Old Today.

Mr. Thayer is likewise a presidential voter since 1848 and has always been a Republican and will vote the Republican ticket today with some slight exceptions.

When Mr. Dyke was asked if he would ride to the polls, he replied:

"I'll walk, I'll walk. I can do it as well as a good many of you young men. If I had to be carried, I wouldn't vote.

"Yes, sir, I voted in 1848 for Zachary Taylor, a Whig. I would have voted in the two presidential elections before that, but I was following the sea then and was a few hundred miles from a voting booth when the elections were held. After that first time and until 1896, I voted the Democratic ticket, until 1856-60-64, when I voted for Fremont and Abe Lincoln. After that I voted for Republican candidates for President.

"This year I am going to vote for Roosevelt. Economic and industrial conditions demand a change and Roosevelt is the man to give it to us."

Mr. Dyke was engineer of the first boat train between Boston and Fall River over the Old Colony. When he was 87 years old he retired from railroad work on a pension.

He and Mrs.Dyke will celebrate the 58th anniversary of their wedding, Christmas day.

Mr. Thayer was born in East Braintree, now Holbrook, went to school there, worked for a while at the shoe maker's trade, afterward worked for a baker, then set up in business with an express route between Braintree and Boston. After a few years of that, he started a country store, became a manufacturer of leather and carpet slippers, and subsequently became president of the Nantasket Steamboat company until the company was absorbed by the present Nantasket Steamboat company.

He lives on Crescent avenue, Braintree. He voted early today and the balance of the day, will remain at home where he will informally entertain friends who may call to pay their respects.

BOYLE HIT BY A TRAIN

Is Still Alive Although Seriously Injured

NOW AT THE HOSPITAL

Michael J. Boyle, aged 35, of 40 Bradford street, South Quincy was struck in the head by a train near the Quincy station Saturday evening and was taken to the hospital in the police auto. He was doing well this morning.

The accident occurred as Boyle was walking down the track after getting off the 6.21 at the station. He was picked up by Officer Dahlberg who was passing.

His head was cut in several places and he was badly shaken up. It is probable that he is injured internally although nothing has developed along that line up to this afternoon.

PROGRESSIVE CHURCHMAN

Sees No Harm in Clean Politics and Smokes

AT MEN'S CHURCH MEETING

Editor Quincy Ledger:

The letter appearing in the Ledger of Nov. 4 entitled "Politics in the Church" is to me some what obscure and nonprogressive. I do not know if this political discussion is to take the place of the sermon or whether it is to be carried on within some organization connected with the church.

Nevertheless it is very important that civic discussions should take place, at the present day, where they will prove an incentive to our best men. Where do such men gather? In the church. The cry goes forth from day to day that good, upright, clean cut, honest men will not go into politics. What's the reason? Because men of today do not go to church. They are indolent, proving a stumbling block to the younger generation instead of an inspiration.

Now if the discussion of politics within the church will bring men to church, there it is fitting for her to do it. It is far better for the church to enter into this work than remain out. By all means line our men up within her walls and flay them with the rod of righteousness, until you have impressed them, that when they sell their vote for a dollar or a glass of beer to the grafting politician, they have violated the solemn obligation of religion. Politics carried on as it should be is nothing more than the passionate gospel, "The Brotherhood of Man." Perhaps the following taken from a certain paper will prove the need of the right influence upon politics.

"The politician is my shepherd; I shall not want for anything during this campaign. He leadeth me into the saloon for my vote's sake. He filleth my pockets with good cigars, my cup of beer runneth over. He inquireth after my family, even unto the fourth generation. Yea though I walk through the mud and the rain to vote for him, and shout myself hoarse when he is elected, straightway he forgeteth me. Although I meet him at his own house, he knoweth not me. Surely the wool has been pulled over my eyes all the days of my life and I shall dwell in the house of a chump forever."—Exchange.

Smoking is not a sin, it is a habit acquired by 99 per cent of the men of today. It may have its bad effects. So does the glutton at a free church supper. Far better smoke at church functions where men only assemble, than try to hide behind a mask of hyprocity. Its a very degrading example to the boys of our homes, to wear the angelic look to a men's club where you cannot smoke and come home suffering for the want of one. They know you are playing false and will do likewise.

Y. M. C. A. HOST ELECTION NIGHT

The Y. M. C. A. is going to keep "open house" tonight. A special Western Union wire will be run into the building and the returns will be announced upon a screen iin the auditorium.

There will be an entertainment in progress in connection with the receiving of the returns. The public is invited to accept the hospitality of the association and sitting in a warm room listen to the reports of the results of the election.

There will be something doing in the "gym" in the evening as well.

Returns will be received until 12 o'clock and later if conditions warrant keeping the building open.

The invitation to accept the association's hospitality is especially extended to the women of Quincy.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Arrangements have been made by Committeeman John H. Johnson of the Progressive party to throw the election returns Tuesday evening on a screen near the Savings Bank building. With its usual hospitality the Granite City club will keep open house and from its windows a good view can be had of screens The club will serve hot coffee and light refreshments.

LAYMEN'S CLUB HOST.

The Laymen's Club of Christ Church entertained the St. Margaret's Guild and Gardner Club at a dancing party at the parish house Wednesday evening. About 25 couples participated in the fun of the evening.

Refreshments were served and music was furnished by an orchestra The parish house was tastefully decorated with streamers of red, white and blue and lanterns were suspended from all corners.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters of the following persons, remained unclaimed at the Quincy post office for the week, ending, Nov. 2:

Dwyer, Miss Hilma Koponen, Uunzo Lenzo, Michele Manfo, Matt Mattson, James McDonough, Jim Montgomery, John Morty , Mrs. Bertha Pingree, Domenico Ricci, Anna Scuala, Makcumy Tabpumoky, Mrs. M. R. Walsh, Mrs. Wilkinson, R. C. Wyllie, —They say in Indianna that a "lean" year in the production of nuts is followed by heavy crops. Last year there were few nuts and this year the crops were of the largest. This fall there is an unusual abundance of nuts, and if the rule works both ways the outlook for crops next year is far from bright.—Taunton Herald.

WOMAN'S CLUB HARVEST PARTY

Unabated Enthusiasm By Squantum Organization

Another successful party was held Saturday night under the auspices of the Squantum Women's club, at the vacation House and was called a Harvest party. Like all other social affairs held by the club it was well patronized which goes to show that when the ladies have a club house there will be no trouble in getting the people out to attend their functions. Every one enters heart and soul into the fun thus making the affairs informal.

Nearly everyone wore "farmer-ish" looking costumes.

The decorations were green and yellow bunting and crepe-paper. Pumpkins, squashes, corn and other vegetables were placed on the tables mantels and piano. Whist was enjoyed by those who did not care for dancing but needless to say the majority danced.

Refreshments of coffee and doughnuts and tonic were served.

A huge pumpkin was on exhibition and chances were sold on the number of seeds it contains. Quite a bit of money has been realized from this. The success of the affair is due to the following ladies, Mrs. John Mardon, chairman of the refreshment committee, Mrs. Charles Bostwick, chairman, of the entertainment committee, Mrs. J. R. Nelson, Mrs. Joseph Allen, Mrs. Joseph Uppling, Mrs. Robert Bell, Mrs. Herbert A. Smith, Mrs . James Hagan, Mrs. James Foster and Mrs. Charles Watts.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mason, Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Wunderlich, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Cahoon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramsdell, Mrs. Hiram Morse, Miss Ethel Morse, Mrs. Helen McGowan, Mrs. Redmond, Mr. and Mrs. John Jepson, John Jepson, Jr., Mabel Bickford, Thelma Holt, Helen Simpson, Hazel Watts, Edith Olson, Doris Libby, Hanna Phillipson, Russell Rich, Mrs. James Currie, Mrs. James McCarron, Mrs. Ackley, Mrs. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Berghaus, Miss Sherin, Mr. Colby, Mrs. Charles Bostwick, Mrs. William Reed, Mr. and Mrs. John Mardon, Miss Mabel Cox, Walter Mardon, Margie Mardon, Earl Watts, Miss Neil, Mr. Callahan, Mabel Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hagan, Mrs. James Foster, Mrs. Joseph Uppling, Joseph Uppling Jr., Mrs. Joseph Allen, Mrs. Robert Bell, Mrs. Charles Watts and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

A regular meeting of the club will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Foster. A large attendance is expected as important business is to be brought up.

LIGHT TOUCH DID NOT WORK

Self Appointed Starter Finally Landed In Toils

A man, apparently the worse for liquor, stood opposite the Auditorium Monday morning and performed in a manner of a car starter only he applied his directions to carriages and autos. A number of times he narrowly escaped toppling in the path of a vehicle, but luck was with him.

After creating much amusement for a large number of onlookers he started Quincyward, and hurrying along the sidewalk in a devil-may-care fashion he touched a Boston newspaper correspondent on the arm and said, "I am going to vote for yau tomorrow, Governor, and I want to see you elected. I am with you to the end old boy." On being thanked he took his new found friend by the arm and released it when it was explained that the arm had been injured.

"Well," he said, "I am sorry, but I will vote for you just the same. I am not going to stay away from the polls, and say, Governor, (in a pleading voice, let me have the pass to the polls will you?

Whiffo, the secret was out. The so called Governor left him and in an effort to follow the righteous citizen fell into the tiols of Officer Murray.

QUEEN OF BULGARIA

Nursing Wounded Men While Her Husband Is at the Front

Queen Eleanor of Bulgaria, who has been at Philippopolis, Bulgaria, for the last few days, has assumed the dress of an ordinary nurse and is attending the sick and wounded arriving from battlefields. The large waiting room at the railroad station has been converted into a reception room for the wounded, and from there the men are assigned to the various hospitals.

SON IS NAMED FOR NEXT PRESIDENT

Texas Parents Have No Difficulty In Settling Qustion

Washington, Nov. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tyler of Denison, Tex., have named a son born Oct. 29 after the next President of the United States.

The Tylers know their son will bear the president's name, even though he has not been selected yet, because triplets were born and have been named respectively William Howard Taft, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson Tyler.

The White House sent a message to the Tylers congratulating William Howard Taft as the first baby to be named after the "next president."

"FATHER" RUSSELL DEAD

Founder and For Years Leader of the Prohibition Party

Detroit, Nov. 5.—"Father" John Russell, founder of the Prohibition party, and the oldest Methodist preacher in the Detroit conference, died at the home of his daughter in this city. He was born in Livingston county, N. Y., in 1822.

"Father" Russell co-operated with most of the leading temperance organizations during his life, such as the Sons of Temperance and the Good Templars, was twice at the head of the Order of Good Templars of the World and presided at the first session of the order ever held in England.

He wrote the call for the first national convention at which the Prohibition party was organized in Chicago and was the party's first candidate for the vice presidency in 1872. For years he was the recognized leader of the Prohibition forces of the country.

Clerks and Stenographers on Canadian Pacific Road Strike

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—A strike which may affect 5000 clerks and stenographers employed at the various stations and offices of the Canadian Pacific railway has begun.

President Mosher of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes, the organization of the office and station workers, said that its members would go on strike throughout the system at once and that the men at nearly all the small stations already were out.

MRS. LINDLOFF CONVICTED

Gets Twenty-Five-Year Sentence For Murdering Her Son

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Louisa Lindloff, spiritualist and crystal gazer, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Judge Winde's court last night and her punishment fixed at twenty-five years in the penitentiary.

She was charged with the poisoning of her 15-year-old son, Arthur.

Summer White House Closes

Beverly, Mass., Nov. 5.—Beverly's glory as the summer capitol faded today, when Paramatta, the summer White House, was closed for the season and the members of the Taft family who have been at Beverly since the president returned to Washington, left for New York en route for Washington.

TURKEY BEATEN TO HER KNEES

People She Has Oppressed For Years Hold Upper Hand

NO INTERVENTION BY POWERS

Conditions of Peace Must Be Settled Between Ottoman Government and Balkan States Direct—Program Now and For Future Has Been Arranged—Most Savage and Bloody War Ever Fought In Europe Continues

London, Nov. 5.—The Balkan nations and Greece insist that Turkey must arrange direct with them the terms of peace without the intervention of the European powers. This attitude is emphasized in a statement from official sources, which says:

"The Turkish proposal of peace is satisfactory in so far as it shows a desire to prevent further bloodshed. As regards foreign intervention, however, there seems to be no chance of the Balkan states listening to any foreign counsels while treating for the arrangement of conditions of peace. These must be settled between the Balkan states and Turkey direct.

"It may at this stage be declared that the whole campaign was prearranged, and has so far been carried out entirely in accordance with the program. For a considerable time an officer of the Greek military staff, Colonel Dousmanis, was engaged at Sofia, preparing the military details, while the political program was largely, if not entirely, the work of Premier Venizelos of Greece.

"The union of the Balkan states at this moment is more close, hearty and intimate than it has ever been, for it has been welded by blood and common sacrifice. There is not the least danger that any disagreement as to the division of territories or the positions of the frontiers will disturb it.

"It may be assumed that inasmuch as the details of the campaign were arranged with the greatest care the same procedure will be followed, both as to the conclusion of hostilities and subsequent political considerations."

The negotiations which were taking place among the powers when Turkey sprung the surprise of asking for mediation were not over successful. The European governments had not even agreed upon the preliminaries for an offer of mediation. The suggestion made by France to which both Russia and Eugland subscribed met with nothing but criticism in Austria, and she, of course, was backed by Germany and Italy, the other two members of the triple alliance.

The besieging forces are tightening their grip around Adrianople and the bombardment is becoming more vigorous. In other directions the allies are consolidating their occupation of Turkish territory. The Greeks have taken Nicopolis and Prevesa and have landed a division at Stavros, which is marching to attack Salonica. An unconfirmed dispatch from the latter town intimates the likelihood of its surrender without resistance.

While the number of troops engaged in the series of battles fought between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies in Thrace during the last fortnight was not so large as that of the armies who fought in the Russo-Japanese war, yet this will probably be the most savage and bloody war ever fought in Europe. One correspondent says 40,000 Turks have fallen since the battle of Kirk Kilisse, and another that they lost 20,000 at Lule Burgas.

At the Bulgarian ministery of war, according to a dispatch from Sofia, the names of 400 dead Bulgarian soldiers have been listed, and it is known that during the last few days 20,000 Bulgarians were wounded, half of them seriously. Nowhere on the scene of operations have there been adequate hospital facilities, and from all accounts those on the Turkish side are almost useless.

LARCENY FROM MAIL

Charge Against Advertising Manager For Woman's Journal

Boston, Nov. 5.—Frank C. Beetle, 29, married, advertising manager for the Woman's Journal, the official organ of the National Woman's Suffrage association, was arrested, charged with the larceny of letters containing money addressed to The Woman's Journal at various times during the last eight months.

The total amount charged against Beetle in the complaint is $125. Although Beetle, when arraigned before Judge Wentworth, pleaded not guilty, the police declared he admitted he had taken the amount. Beetle was held in $300 until Nov. 10, when he will be given a hearing.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

BEEF FOR INVALIDS.

MEAT for beef tea should be of good flavor, lean and juicy. It is a mistake to think that any beef will do for this purpose. All skin, fat and membrane should be taken off.

In choosing meat for tea remember that the top of the round and the back and the middle of the rump have the best flavor and will yield double the quantity of juice that other parts do.

When In a Hurry.

Broiling is the quickest way of preparing beef essence or tea in an emergency. The tea is made by adding water to the essence.

Broiled Beef Essence.—Broil a half pound of round steak until the juice will flow. Cut it into small pieces and squeeze the juice into a bowl placed over warm water.

Meat Juice.—Shred half a pound of raw beefsteak and free it from fat and skin. Pour on it a half pint of cold water. Stir well. Add a pinch of salt and let it stand for half an hour in a warm place. Stir again, then strain the liquor through muslin. Press it well to extract all the juice.

This may be drunk cold or before using the cup containing it may be warmed in a saucepan of hot water.

It may also be mixed with a little cream or a beaten egg.

Savory Broth.

Beef Broth.—Take one pound of lean beef, one pint of water, pepper and salt to taste. Cut the beef into pieces, remove fat and skin, put it into a saucepan with the cold water and let it simmer for two or three hours. Season and strain.

How to Make Tea.

Beef Tea.—Take steak from the top part of the round. Remove fat and divide the meat into small pieces, cutting across the grain. Put the meat in a dry saucepan and allow it to stand for five minutes over a slow fire. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. After cooking for five minutes you will find the meat white in color and with a very rich gravy. Pour over the meat its weight in cold water, allowing a pint of water for a pound of beef. Stir until the water boils. It must not boil again, but simmer gently for five or ten minutes. Strain into a bowl. If there is any fat remove with a piece of unsized brown paper.

HOW TO USE BARBERRIES.

BARBERRIES are nice and may be made into many delicious things for the fall and winter table. Barberries grow wild in many places, and where they are available they should be utilized. Barberry jelly is delicious.

The fruit is so tart as to be admirably adapted for this purpose. Malic and citric acids are chief constituents, and these make the fruit an excellent antiscorbutic.

The sirup provides a cooling drink for fever patients. Taken in large quantities, the fruit is cathartic. In small quantities it is laxative.

How to Keep Them.

Barberries may be dried for winter like ordinary berries.

Make the jelly like any other jelly.

Preserved Fresh Barberries. — The bunches of barberries may be preserved without cooking if they are placed in air tight jars, covered with molasses and then sealed.

Jam and Marmalade.

Barberry Jam.—For each quart of the stemmed and cleaned barberries allow a quarter pound of sugar. The berries should be mashed, placed in a double boiler, mixed with the sugar and allowed to boil. When the scum rises it should be removed, the berries being allowed to cook for at least an hour. Then the jam may be put into jars and sealed.

Barberry Marmalade.—Allow a pound of sugar to every pound of the barberries. The fruit before it is weighed should be washed, stemmed and passed through a sieve. After adding the sugar it should be allowed to cook slowly for a half or three-quarters of an hour. It must be stirred often to prevent its burning. Place in air tight jars for winter use.

Wholesome and Delicious.

Preserved Barberries.—Stem the barberries and wash them. Then place in a double boiler until heated through. Weigh and add sugar of equal weight. Replace on the fire and let them cook for twenty minutes longer. No water should be used. When the juice begins to jell it is done and may be taken from the fire, put into jars and sealed for future use.

Barberry Sirup.—Make a sirup of a pint of water boiled with a pint of sugar. First cook the barberries until they are clear and soft, then cook them with the sirup. Mash the berries when they are tender enough, strain and return to the fire to cook again. Then put up in sealed bottles. This sirup may be used in flavoring puddings or custards or in making ices. Raisin, apple or pear tarts are nice flavored with this sirup.

WOMAN IS HELD AS KIDNAPPER

Boston Child Is Found With Her at Portsmouth

THE BOY WAS CONTENTED

Rigged Out In New Clothing In Place of Shabby Garments Which He Wore at Time of Disappearance—Prisoner Begs Child's Mother to Forgive Her Wrongdoing

Boston, Nov. 5.—Miss Louise M. Roach, in tears, and Edward Yates, the 5-year-old abducted son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Yates of Boston, caressing her and calling her mamma, arrived back in Boston last night, in charge of Policeman Igoe.

The missing child was discovered yesterday in Portsmouth, N. H. On Thursday afternoon Miss Roach arrived at the boarding house of Benjamin Blake in Portsmouth and engaged as a housekeeper.

She had been at Blake's house before, and he, knowing that she was not married, became interested in the child at once. He questioned Miss Roach, and she informed him that the boy was a child of a relative.

Yesterday Blake read the story of the kidnapping of the boy in a newspaper and immediately looked for the scars on the boy's neck. The description satisfied him that the lad was none other than Edward Yates. He got in communication with Chief of Police Entwistle of Portsmouth.

The woman became alarmed, and, while Blake was relating the story to the police, got herself and Edward ready to take the train at 1:42 bound west.

The chief got to the depot just as she was about to step aboard, and placed her under arrest.

She begged the chief to let her go with the boy, but he hurried her off to the police station. There she told a story of how she picked up the lad.

"I met the little fellow on Green street. He was alone and shivering with the cold," she said. "He was poorly dressed and had on only one stocking."

"I said to him, 'Do you want to go with me?' He said, 'Yes; have you got any cats and dogs?'

"I told him I had and we went at once to the North station and were soon speeding on our way to Portsmouth. I cannot help it. I love children so I had to take that boy."

Edward certainly seemed contented. He had on all new clothing, underclothes and all.

All the way from Portsmouth, on the train Miss Roach held the boy in her lap and gave him fruit and candy, weeping from time to time at the thought that she was about to part with her stolen baby and face the court. She carried a small leather bag in which were crammed little Edward's old clothes, toys, candy and food.

In an interview with Mrs. Yates, after her arrival at the Joy street station, she begged forgiveness while the happy mother was fondling her baby boy.

She was held and will be charged with kidnapping in the municipal court.

THE PETERSON MURDER

Boston City Council Offers Reward For Capture of Slayers

Boston, Nov. 5.—The city council passed an order calling upon the mayor to appropriate from the reserve fund $500 to be offered as a reward for the detection of the person or persons responsible for the death of Albert R. Peterson, the patrolman who was shot early one morning last week at the West end.

Another order was passed calling for the payment of an annuity of $300 to the widow of Peterson, so long as she remains unmarried.

Mayor Fitzgerald signed the annuity order last night. Both orders were passed unanimously.

KILLED FOUR COMRADES

Life Sentence of Soldier In the Philippines Is Commuted

Manila, Nov. 5.—The sentence of life imprisonment on Private Michael Beecham of the First cavalry has been commuted. Beecham ran amuck and killed four of his comrades in May, 1908.

At the trial the court took the view that the crime was unpremeditated and held that under the Spanish law the circumstances did not warrant the infliction of the death penalty.

Millionaire Seeks Divorce

Boston, Nov. 5.—Demarest Lloyd, prominent Boston man, Harvard graduate, yacht racer and said to be worth $9,000,000, has filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court of Suffolk county a divorce libel against his young wife, whom he married while attending Harvard university.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH.

At the morning service at the Hall Place M. E. church, the pastor, Rev. T. C. Martin, explained his plan in regard to the taking of "Church Aid" collections among the churches of the Springfield district for the furthering of the improvements on the church property. The church aid collection, from this church must go through the hands of the hands of the church aid treasurer of the Conference before it can be credited to the church but will be returned this year to the Hall Place Church for its own needs, and was taken up at the regular morning service on Sunday.

The pastor preached from Prov. 14-9. "Fools make a mock at sin." He said in part:—"There is a waining sense of sin. We hear a great deal about the sins of graft, fraud and sins of one form or another through the daily press, but there is very little about sinfulness, the wrong in the heart, the wrong conduct that is crime, the violation of the law. If I should go about my parish work that wouldn't be news but if I should do something wrong as a minister that would be news, and would be in the papers the next day.

"We hear a great deal about wickedness, in fact it is set up in such a way as not to be repulsive, it is almost made fascinating, and out of the abundance of sin I fear there is not a growing distaste for sin, not a growing repugnance for sin. Long ago the wise man who uttered these wise sayings in Proverbs said 'Fools make a mock at sin.'

"This whole book from beginning to end is saturated with the seriousness of sin, how sin came through disobedience of God's dealings with a sinful people and his efforts to rid the human family of sin. A great work as recorded in this book is how to eliminate wrong, out of the human family. It is not a book on history, not a book on science, not a book on philosophy, not at all, it deals with one serious subject and deals with it in a serious way and that is, this strange thing we call sin.

"Now the act of belittling sin or making light of it is spoken of in the text as folly. Sin is everywhere. It has touched all our lives and we all have more or less indulged in it. It is not confined to any class, the ignorant or the poor or the rich, the high or low, young or old, how soon it manifests itself in the little life.

"What is the last act of many a man? To say something or throw back something to this old world of sin before he drops into the grave. What a story we find here in the Bible of sin, the awful story of Noah and the flood. The world so wicked that God repented he had made mankind, caused the great flood to sweep them off and start anew.

"When we consider that sin is first, last and always a damage and a loss, it never brings health or happiness, no not at all, it is always a loss, sooned or later, though there are pleasures of sin for a season. Yet it shortens peoples days, it is sin that peoples jails, and much of the lives in the almshouses and asylums can be traced to sin.

"Why is it so universal, why has it touched every life if it is a loss? Why do we not find a life un-smirched by sin; some one who has not chosen to do wrong? I will not stop to say there are those who deny this universality of sin and say that there are people who have not sinned, for I think that is making light of sin. I think in our serious moments that we will all admit that we have sinned. Why is it so general, so prevalent in civilized lands as well as in heathen lands? It is made too fascinating. The truth of it is as the text implies. We do not realize the seriousness of sin and what it means to do wrong, the nature of the wrong and the consequences. It is folly to treat sin lightly. Sin is not only sin, it is foolishness; righteousness is wisdom. I wonder if we can define sin. I don't suppose I could find a definition of sin that would cover all cases or that would be accepted as being a full complete definition for sin. If fact the Bible does not give us in one sentence the whole definition of sin, it looks at it in different ways. We might venture this that sin is a free conscious violation of God's law. It is being over against and contrary to God. It is a conscious choosing of the wrong and that which God has forbidden, or is contrary to His nature, spirit and will. An act to be wrong must be known to be wrong. If a person is in ignorance of the right they may be to blame for their ignorance just as our law holds them responsible for not knowing civil law. But a person does not sin without consciousness. Our first parents knew what they were doing.

"But when we come to the fullness of time, in God's great revelation of His Son, 'And thou shalt call His name Jesus; for He shall save His from their sins,' then starts a new story in a new way. He was always talking about sin and righteousness, how to bring in one and dispel the other. He himself gives us an example as one who lived without sin. See how He burns with indignation and yearns with pity over the wrong doers. He laid down His life in order to show God's hatred of sin and love of righteousness. He puts Himself over against it with a perfect hatred and yet with a perfect love for the sinner. The culmination of it was on thec ross for He said 'I lay down my life. I have power to lay it down and I have power to take it up again.'

"There is only one thing that can strike in the face of God and that is sin. When a human life goes wrong it strikes at His very heart. Other things can be eliminated, can be borne with, but sin is something that rises up against the majesty of God.

"No wonder hat persons sometimes say we must have a different definition of this thing called sin. But Jesus never looked on sin as a necessity never looked on sin as simply a disease, an imperfection of the human body, he never made allowances for it as a necessity. He looked on it as an intrusion, as the one offense to God. He gave Himself up to the great sad fact that sin had gotten into the human hope with a great hope that He could rescue the perishing. He took up this great task and then committed it to His disciples, this great work of spreading the news that sin if allowed will bring forth death, that it is for time and eternity and He calls upon all to emphasize this fact and never make a mock at sin."

CHRIST CHURCH.

The calender for the week at Christ Church is as follows:

Tuesday, 3.45 p. m., Junior Auxiliary 8.00 p. m., Confirmation Class.

Wednesday, 7.30 p. m. Galahad Club

Thursday, 8.00 p. m., Gardner Club.

Friday, 4.00 p. m., Confirmation class, 7.30 p. m., St. Margaret's Guild, 7.45 p. m., Reapers' Circle.

During the period of preparation for Confirmation, the Rector is giving a series of addresses, Sunday evenings, on first principles of faith and conduct. The topics to be considered are The Christian Covenant; The Christian Belief; Christian Duties; Christian Prayer; Christian Sacraments; The Christian Church.

We need flowers for regular Sundays through the year. In the summer those who have gardens can easily give the flowers, but during the other seasons the Altar Guild needs assurance of Sundays being provided for. It is only once each year, remember, and the beautifying of our Altar is surely a blessed privilege. Please give this your thought and send to the president of the Altar Guild, Mrs. W. F. Torrey, 21 Shelton Road, Adams Shore your name and the date desired.

During the summer broken lights of glass have been replaced and leads straightened in the church windows, thus adding to the comfort of worshippers who were exposed to draughts.

The Annual Service of the Massachusetts Juniors is appointed for Saturday, in Trinity Church, Boston. This is always a most inspiring service, and it is hoped that all our Juniors, eight years and over, will go. There will be at least four grown people besides the older girls, to take charge of the children on the way. We are to take the 1.20 train for Boston and Mrs. Turtle wishes the children to be at the Quincy Station at 1:15 sharp.

The meeting Friday evening will be a special work night at the home of the president, Miss Florence Ford, 84 Franklin street. A speaker's night had been planned, but an extra work night is needed, as the last one was very stormy and a number of the members were unable to be present.

The parishioners will be glad to know that Mr. Wrigley, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia is steadily improving and all will wish him a speedy recovery. Miss Louisa Ross, formerly organist of St. Chrysostom's Church, has been serving as temporary organist.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S CHURCH.

The choir will rehearse Wednesday evening. There will be a musical in the parish rooms, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, and Friday evening, the Girls' Friendly Society will meet in the parish rooms.

The Anniversary Meeting of the Massachusetts Branch af the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions will be observed by a general meeting in Trinity Church, Boston, on Wednesday. St. Chrysostom's is usually well represented at this meeting and it is hoped that a goodly number of ladies will attend this year. It is the custom for the ladies going to meet, if they conveniently can, on the train leaving Wollaston at 9.18 and stopping also at Norfolk Downs and Atlantic. The meeting, however, is to last all day and all ladies are cordially invited to attend all or part of it.

Under the direction of St. Chrysostom's Choir a Musical and Entertainment will be given in the parish rooms on Thursday evening at eight o'clock. The Programme is pleasing and varied. Glees will be sung by the choir as a whole and solos are promised by Mrs. Spooner and Mrs. Waite. Mrs. M. J. Walker will give a declamation. New music and new vestments are urgently needed. It is the object of this enterprise to raise money for this purpose.

November 17-24 inclusive, is to be Home Mission Week throughout the Christian Church of the country. This in an interdenominational movement and its "Home Mission Council" represents 27 general boards engaged in national home mission work. The motto of the movement is "Our Country—God's Country." It concerns and unites all Christian people.

Twelve large posters issued by the leaders of the movement are now posted in the parish rooms, where they will remain until November 25.

The general object is clearly stated; "In general, Home Mission Week is an attempt to impress upon every man an woman of every church of every evangelical denomination in this country the supreme importance of saving America for the Kingdom of God through the established agencies of the Church, and to convince them that they have a distinct personal responsibility in the performance of this stupendous task."

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE CASE

One of the "Jobs" Referred to In "Dynamite Conspiracy" Trial

Indianapolis, Nov. 5.—Letters which, the government charged, showed that Frank C. Webb, New York, wrote to J. J. McNamara about sending Ortie E. McManigal to New York and Boston to blow up work there, were read at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

A letter from Webb was quoted as showing Michael J. Young, Boston, was anxious to have "jobs" done in Boston in the spring of 1909.

The government asserted these letters were referred to Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' union, and that Herbert S. Hockin was sent to Chicago to prepare McManigal for the eastern trips. McManigal reported that an opera house under construction in Boston and a viaduct in Hoboken, N. J., were blown up in March, 1909.

BRIEFS

John Hancock lodge, I. O. O. F., of Wollaston, will confer the initiatory degree on candidates at the regular meeting, Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Nixon Elmer of Greenleaf street, has returned from Germany, where she enjoyed a very delightful time during the summer and autumn.

The annual fair of Col. Abner B. Packard Camp, 95 S. of V. in Faxon hall closed Saturday night. C. R. Hammond of this city secured the upright piano and a bicycle.

The Quincy Co-operative Bank is a busy place these days with the regular subscribers paying their dues and the new series commencing tomorrow, Nov. 6. It is a popular and safe way to put money by for the proverbial rainy day.

Roscoe R. Ricker of Quincy was cordially received by a large audience, many of whom remembered his work of the previous season, on the occasion of his appearance in a concert given by students of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, Saturday. Mr. Ricker is studying in the violin department, and his rendering of the violin score of Senallie's Sonata in G major for violin and pianoforte was brilliant and proficient. He was assisted by Joseph G. Derrick of Springfield.

MEN'S CLUB GET BUSY.

The regular meeting of St. Chrysostom's Men's club was held in the parish rooms, Monday evening, President Edward F. Parlee presiding.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and the following committees appointed.

Entertainment — A. E. Holland, chairman F. J. Sherer, Archie Briggs George B. Curran.

Their Reward.

Dr. Strachan, bishop of Toronto, was waited upon by two churchwardens, who complained that their clergyman wearied his congregation by repeating the same sermon. He had preached it twelve times. The bishop asked for the text. Neither of the churchwardens could remember. "Go back," said the bishop sternly, "and ask your clergyman to preach the sermon once more and then come back and tell me the text."

—It must be that the Common Council of the city of Malden does not fully apreciate the desirability of municipal automobiles. They have just sat down hard on a bil presented by the building inspector for repairs on a city auto which he admits using for his own purpose sometimes. He said the machine cost originally $1100, and it costs $450 a year to run it, and that the machine depreciates about $300 a year. That's a cheerful outlook for those who urge municipal automobiles

WITH HEAD CUT OFF

Body of Missing Man Is Found In Woods In a Maine Town

Saco, Me., Nov. 5.—The body of Asim Pheijoula, the Albanian missing since Aug. 4, was found in the forest in the rear of Alderman Charles Clark's home, near the Saco river.

The authorities have learned that Pheijoula and another Albanian were seen together on the river bank on Aug. 4. The companion had a large sum of money on the night of Pheijoula's disappearance, and left this country the following day for Albania.

No money was found on the body. A revolver and money belt which Pheijoula carried are missing.

FAILED TO REGISTER

Roosevelt and Johnson Each Will Lose His Vote Today

New York, Nov. 5.—Theodore Roosevelt and Hiram Johnson will not vote today because neither one registered. Roosevelt intended to register on his return from his western trip, but the delay caused by his being wounded made it impossible for him to reach Oyster Bay in time.

Johnson, who took up the speaking tour of the colonel, was unable to reach California in time to register.

Conductor Crushed to Death

Boston, Nov. 5.—Alexander J. Gillis, 35, a freight conductor for the New Haven railroad, was crushed to death between an engine and freight car at the Readville freight yards.

No Rulings In Big Cases

Washington, Nov. 5.—The supreme court again adjourned without announcing decisions in the hard coal trust, Union Pacific merger or state rate cases.

The Delay.

Willie Chumpleigh—D'ye know, Miss Gladys, I hadn't been talking to your father more than a couple of minutes when he called me a brainless idiot. Miss Gladys—Indeed! I wonder what caused the delay?—Life.

MORE OF THAT CITY CLUB LUNCH

John Miller Says He Has Unmasked the Battery

NOW AN OPEN FIGHT

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

I think I ought to apologize to you for being the cause of monopolizing so much of your valuable space with the letters in yesterdays issue of Messrs. Abele, Murray and Shaw, the self appointed trio to get a candidate for Mayor that could beat the present incumbent. Well I have surely drawn the fire of the masked battery, and now they stand in the open, stripped of their veils, and as to their fire it doesn't hurt me, for their weapons are too obsolete.

Mr. Abele uses the words "Absolutely false." I would remind Mr. Abele that powder has been used so many times by scheming politicians that it injures no one. I fail to find in the whole Bible where any man is condemned because some one says he lies, but I do find very strong denunciation to those who pose as leaders of the people, who were continually heaping burdens on them, "Woe unto you scribes and hypocrites who make long prayers but devour widows houses." So Mr. Abele that doesn't hurt me.

You have acknowledged all the points that you thought I had witnesses for, and you were very careful to draw another witness who had not been mentioned, Mr. Tupper. That is well. Now Mr. Abele, at that particular lunch where I was present, would you have the people believe that one member, a very busy man, would walk from Atlantic avenue to Beacon Hill merely to get his lunch? Would you leave your office and go up that steep hill, when there are many other places on Washington street? Of course it was near for the other members, but how was it I happened to be there? Well, I was coming out of the Boston Chamber of Commerce building when I met Mr. Murray, and he insisted that I go to lunch with him, and supposed he was alone, so I consented. When we got to the Boston City Club the first man we met was Mr. Shaw, who appeared to be looking for some one, and appeared to find that desired party in Mr. Murray. Mr. Murray asked if Abele had arrived, and was answered in the negative, but in about ten minutes that individual arrived with a very red face, as if he had been hurrying very fast. The first thing he began to excuse himself for being late.

A word as to the Boston City Club, I have often dined there, and it certainly is the best and most exclusive and secluded eating place in Boston, with a membership of about 4000, where no one who is not a member can buy anything. It has big dining rooms or great parties, smaller ones for little clubs, and alcoves where there is only one table, and you are practically alone, so it makes the ideal place for the meeting of politicians from the State House to discuss any bill before the Legislature, and by little groups from the surrounding cities, and more political chickens are hatched and reared in the incubators of that club than any other place in Boston.

Mr. Abele says "Mr. Miller has a propensity to jump at conclusions." Thank you Mr. Abele for telling me that, but as you have only a speaking acquaintance, I think you are wholly incompetent as a witness.

I note your sympathy for Mayor Stone, but that gentleman is of age and can speak for himself.

You say many of the thinks I have said are untrue. You acknowledge all that you think can be proven by personal witnesses, yet you try cases in court even for theft and murder, where you know (if you have had experience) that there is not half as much direct evidence. I have more witnesses who have not been put on the stand yet.

Let us look a little further into self appointed committees to find candidates. Over a year ago, a few got together in Ward 5, and they selected the men they thought should be elected as councilmen. They got out cards and employed other methods to have them nominated, when suddenly it dawned on the people of Mass. Fields district that they had not even been consulted, (and Mr. Shaw was one of the candidates) so they rebelled. I was present at a meeting held on the east side of the railroad at which Councilman Murray and another prominent Councilman from Ward 5 were present, and at which the methods were denounced in no uncertain terms. They eat humble pie by saying that they meant all right, they wanted to get good men in the Council. That did not go with Mr. Voter, and Mr. Shaw got the privilege of staying at home. Will history repeat itself?

Mr. Abele says I am trying to befog the issue, but I deny the charge, as the only issue apears to be between two machine made candidates. Certain men say one candidate is honest and efficient, and another group say the other candidate may be, they think he will be, but where is the proof. What big corporation business have you run, what great act have you performed. We have a lawyer for City Solicitor, and a very smart one too, so we don't need another one for Mayor. Where is your absolute proof? That is what the people want now.

Don't use any more worthless powder, for I have no time or inclination to continue a newspaper controversy. I do not think our citizens propose to go it blind this year. They will require more than glittering generalities. Yours for the City's good.

John L. Miller.

FORTY-EIGHT STATES VOTE

Each Presidential Ticket a Factor In Great Contest

FEATURES OF 1912 CAMPAIGN

By ARTHUR W. DUNN

Washington, Nov. 5.—(Special).—Silently the ballots are failing today in every part of the Union save here in Washington, the seat of government and for the next four years the home of the man who will be chosen by those ballots as President of the United States.

In a few hours we shall know the results of one of the most interesting campaigns in years and in which for the first time forty-eight states composing the contiguous territory of the United States take part.

There are three contending and possible candidates in the field, any one of whom might be chosen, making this the first three cornered presidential contest within the memory of present voters. Each ticket is a factor in the contest, as the votes polled for the so called third ticket may decide the election.

Also Electing a Congress

Second only to the selection of the president is the election of a congress, especially as the result today may change the complexion of the senate, which has been for so many years Republican. In thirty states legislatures will be elected which will choose senators. In three—Illinois, Idaho and Colorado—two senators are to be elected. Maine has held her election and will elect a Republican in place of Gardner, Democrat. In many of the states the primary elections have already settled the senatorship.

The new house of representatives to be elected will be composed of 435 members, the largest ever known. Of these two in Vermont and four in Maine have already been elected.

Many Governors to Be Elected

Were it not for the overshadowing interest in the presidential contest the country would be considering the state elections, where many governors are being chosen. The states electing governors today are Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

In many of these states the contests have been spirited and interesting because of local conditions. This is especially true in New York, where there are three tickets in the field and each claiming success.

All Eyes on the Presidency

But no matter what other contests there may be it is the presidential election which attracts attention and brings out the largest vote. The people may be apathetic in other years even when they should be interested, but the choice of a chief magistrate never fails to arouse the voters. Nearly everybody is interested in the great quadrennial event.

just how the candidates of each party will come out. The apathy of many succeeding years, has been displaced by a strong sentiment all over the state and in the several districts, which augurs well for a record vote. How this will be distributed so far as it bears on preference for the local officials is difficult to figure out.

The vote in Quincy, and the surrounding towns, those of the senatorial and 14th congressional districts, gave promise at an early hour today of reaching record proportions. The polls opened as usual at 6 o'clock. They will close at four o'clock.

If the weather in the other parts of the country, is as good today as it is in this section, then the estimated vote of about 16,000,000 will fall short of the actual returns.

The vote is coming along in this city in great shape. Returns up to noon, indicate that the largest percentage in the history of the city will be cast.

The total registration of the city is 6580.

The Bull Moose party was extremely active. There is however a strong feeling that while the members of the party will be strong for Roosevelt, the support will not extend so strenuously to other members of the party ticket.

The per centage of the total registered vote of the city, cast today will easily pass 80 per cent.

Up to one o'clock this afternoon, the vote was 4803, against a registration of 6589, which meant 74.4 per cent of the vote had been cast. Last year with a total registration of 6,188, 4,253 votes were cast up to one o'clock or a per centage of 68.

Last year at the state election 4907 votes were cast all day, and up to one o'clock today, the vote was 4803, only 104 votes below the total vote of last year. Every ward and precinct of the city, showed a material increase of the vote cast at one o'clock today when compared with the vote at the same hour last year.

Col. Henry L. Kincaide voted in precinct one of ward one about eleven o'clock and when his candidacy was mentioned his face was wreathed in smile.

Brooks Adams who said a few days aga that he would run on stickers as the Bull Moose ticket for the Executive council evidently changed his mind since there were none distributed.

WARD ONE.

At ward one at nine o'clock about one half of the total vote in the ward had been cast. Both precincts numbered over one hundred votes registered the first two hours and in the third hour of voting precinct one vote had reached 275 against 307 for precinct two. During the burning most of the candidates visited the voting places and while all showed an optimistic spirit there was no boasting as to what the results would be. It was generally conceded by those in touch with the situation that the Bull Moose vote in both precincts would be large for the head of the ticket and doubtful as to how the votes would go on the rest of the ballot.

WARD TWO.

At ward two an unusual activity is evident and all supporters of the three tickets are working tooth and nail. An effort is being made to increase the Fore River vote and it is thought that there will be an even split, particularly in the representative contest. A feeling that M. T. Sullivan will run slightly ahead is expressed quite freely, although no conclusions can be definitely drawn from what was said by the men at the helm.

At the Union street and Newcomb place voting booth there was a rush of people who were trying to vote before they went to work and the arrangements were very unsatisfactory because of the small floor area. A strong sentiment in favor of a larger polling place is current among the members of all parties.

WARD THREE.

Ward three presents a complicated phase since no one seemed to be willing to make any public statements. It demonstrates that the people in this section are not running along the staid old party lines and it is rumored that Democrats as well as the Republicans will split their tickets. In precinct one there were 375 votes cast at 12 o'clock and 239 votes in precinct two.

WARD FOUR.

In Ward Four the vote came out in its usual strength and at nine o'clock about half of the total had been cast. A contest in the representative field seemed to stimulate an interest and candidates Evans, Leslie and McGilvray were getting out the voters.

Candidate Evans received a good vote in a councilmanic contest and it is difficult to estimate his strength because of his connection with the Bull Moose party. It is expected the candidate McGilvray will receive the flattering vote given John J. McDevitt last year who was credited with a majority of 483.

WARD FIVE.

Ward five in common with other wards of the city is casting a phenominal vote today. The Pregressive party is very strong in this ward and they are putting forth every effort to get out a large vote. They have three or four automobiles on duty at the polls and the work of geting out the vote is being personally directed by state chairman John H. Johnson. All of the cars are gaily decorated with Bull Moose emblems, pictures of the party candidates, and red bandanna handkerchiefs. If the Bull Moosers vote the entire ticket it will whittle the usual large Republican majority down.

About the polling places however the impression seems to be that while the Bull Mooser's to a man will vote for Roosevelt for President they will shift off when it comes to some of the state officers and vote for the Republican candidates.

Up to eleven o'clock this ward had cast 394 votes which was within 41 votes of the total vote at the state election in 1911. As usual the ballot box in precinct one is not working right, being 14 votes out of the way in its registration. In precinct two the box also failed to work right during the early morning but the election officers with a hammer and screwdriver soon suceeded in geting it to work all right.

The great rush in this ward is always between 12 and 1 o'clock for it is between these hours that the vote of the Tubular Rivet and other factories is cast.

The total registered vote of this ward is 1268 and at one o'clock the two boxes showed that 1016 had voted showing that about 80 per cent of the total registered vote had voted.

WARD SIX.

The total vote of Ward Six at 1 o'clock was 722, showing that in common with other wards of the city a large vote is being cast. The total vote of the ward at the state election in 1911 was 691 showing that up to 1 o'clock more votes had been cast than last year. In precinct 1, located in Music hall the total vote at the above hour was an even 400 while in precinct 2 located in Poland's hall at Norfolk Downs the vote at this same hour was 322.

Louis F. R. Langelier, chairman of the Republican committee is giving his personal attention to this ward, as it is his home ward, and is getting out a big vote. Several carriages are in use and all who desire may ride. Indications point that the early voting was ahead of a year ago. Usually this ward gets a big vote in during the afternoon hours but today it seems that the vote is getting out early. Chairman Langelier is very optimistic over the result and predicts that the Republican ticket will win out in spite of the claims of the Bull Moosers.

In precinct 2 things were very quiet between 11 and 12 o'clock but it was expected that there would be a grand rush between 12 and 1 o'clock. Up to 11.30 this precinct had cast 247 votes and during the noon hour about 75 were cast swelling the total at that hour to 322.

THE BRAINTREE VOTE.

Braintree is feeling the impetus of the fine weather by the heavy vote cast. At one o'clock, 587 votes had been cast in precinct one, 480 in precinct two and 374 in precinct three, a total of 1442 out of a registered vote of about 1750.

It is very evident that close to 90 per cent of the vote of the town will be cast, as the percentage up to one o'clock was about 84.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Quincy Republicans celebrated the eve of election day by holding a city committee meeting at their headquarters and making arrangements to take care of the voters who cannot reach the polls other than by an automobile. The meeting was harmonious and those present were extremely optimistic of today's results.

The Democratic candidates closed their campaign at a late hour Monday evening. Rallies were held in halls in different parts of the city during the evening and Monday was devoted particularly to a personal canvas. The usual supply of literature was in the mails Monday. Today an effort was made to have the full Democratic vote cast. It is thought that but few Democrats will split their ticket.

The Roosevelt-Johnson campaign auto passed through this city at 7.45 Monday evening. The machines were filled with Bull Moosers who burnt red fire. Attached to the sidel of each machine was a letter of "Teddy's" name. American flags and campaign slogans were conspicuously displayed on the body of the cars.

The local Republican candidates for office made their last appeal to the voters last night. They were busy up to the last minute, visiting many parts of the city, where they met small bodies of voters. The meetings were not extended by any means, being of short duration, but the activity of the candidates was decidly marked.

All felt that they had done everything suggested by human ingenuity to secure victory and it was now up to the voters to render the verdict.

BOWLING OF THE AVERAGE KIND

YARD MADE JUMP

The regular rolloff in the Fore River bowling league at the Coliseum alleys Monday night was of the ordinary variety.

The Massachusetts gallery made three points against one point for the Government Draftsmen, while the Pattern Makers and Engine Draftsmen split even. The Yard team beat the Machinist Floor 4 to 0.

White of the Yard team was high man with 113 single and a total of 297.

HAS CHEATED DEATH

Man Afflicted With White Plague Has Walked Six Years

Memphis, Nov. 5.—Walking to cheat death, Robert E. Hillman, 39 years old, has arrived in Memphis, covering the last lap of probably the strangest journey in the history of the country.

Six years ago the physicians told Hillman in Waterville, Me., that within a month or two he would be dead, a victim of the white plague. A friend advised Hillman to get out and walk.

Great In His Line.

Robert Barr once showed a portrait of Mark Twain to a silk merchant of Lyons. "Tell me who that is," Mr. Barr said. The merchant gazed at the portrait and answered, "I should say he was a statesman." "Supposing you wrong in that, what would be your next guess?" asked Mr. Barr. "If he is not a maker of history he is perhaps a writer of it—a great historian, probably. Of course it is impossible for me to guess accurately except by accident, but I use the adjective 'great' because I am convinced this man is great in his line, whatever it is. If he makes silk he makes the best." Mr. Barr told the French merchant who the portrait represented and said, "You have summed him up in your last sentence."—London News.

SWEPT COUNTRY--ROOSEVELT SECOND WITH TAFT NOT IN RUNNING

Foss and Walsh Triumphantly Elected---At the Head of State Ticket

STATE LEGISLATURE STILL IN CONTROL OF G. O. P.

McDevitt Won From Wolcott and Kincaide's Vote Gave Gilmore Some Cold Chills---Vote of City

It was a land slide for the Democratic candidates, Woodrow Wilson, and Thomas Marshall of Indiana. Gov. Foss carried the state, by about 45,000 votes, about 37,000 more than last year when, just when the polls closed two Boston papers were launched on the street, announcing his defeat and the victory of Louis A. Frothingham. For the first time in 80 years a Democratic president carried the state. David I. Walsh, has the honor of being the first democratic lieutenant governor to be elected.

The Bull Moosers elected four members of the legislature, but even with this gain they did not encompass the defeat of enough Republican members of the legislature to deprive the party control of the both branches of the state legislature. However it is certain that the Republican members in view of the stinging rebuke administered the party, Tuesday, will not fool with the buzz saw but will come pretty near attending strictly to business and voting some where near the wishes of the people. The "Bull Moose" strength in the state was problematical, uncertain, but it is quite evident that it received its greatest corps of recruits from the Republican party and certainly showed great strength.

The manner in which President Taft was left at the post is a strong indication, that many Republicans realizing he was fighting a hopeless cause, and fearful of the success of Col. Roosevelt and his new party deliberately voted to make sure of the election of a Democratic president and of the defeat of Roosevelt.

As a National organization the Republican party is ripped fore and aft. If the Progressives maintain their organization, likewise their balance, they are liable to oust the G. O. P., from its proud place of the first position in the two leading parties.

The "Bull Moose" strength in Quincy was undoubtedly a surprise to many. Yet it is strange that while one Progressive candidate Henry L. Kincaide was second in the Quincy returns, Senator elect John J. McDevitt, running on the Democratic ticket was a close third.

The defeat of Representative Roger Wolcott in his aspirations to the upper house was among the things which loomed above the horizon for a few days and the returns were hardly any surprise to those who had been watching the contest.

The returns from the various wards and precincts of the city were not rapid in coming in. Still there was a large and complicated ticket to handle and the precinct officers who made returns to City hall,, before midnight had no occasion to feel ashamed of their efforts.

There was one case however where it is said one warden decided he would not follow the usual custom or the request of the City clerk in counting the head of the ticket first but leave it to the last.

Of course the request of the city clerk, and the instructions from the Secretary of the state, to say nothing of the natural anxiety of the general public to receive the votes to get a line on the head of the ticket are not of much importance. But they should receive some consideration. Undoubtedly they will in the future.

As the returns came slowly drivelling in it was quite evident that Roosevelt had carried the city, but how much was a matter of guess work for some time. When the Wilson returns showed they were driving President to third place in the race, the result was quite evident.

Col. Roosevelt received 2014 votes to 1715 for Gov. Wilson and 1473 for President Taft.

But the surprises were not all confined to the National ticket. Charles S. Bird for Governor led Roosevelt by 87 votes. Gov. Foss with 1858, took second place, with 503 ahead of Walker who had 1355.

And so it was all down the line. Col. Kincaide for Congress swept the city, with 2264 votes, to 1533 for Gilmore and 1275 for Harris.

Guy Ham for Councillor had the handsome vote of 2510.

McDevitt for Senator led Wolcott in Quincy, by a vote of 2184 to 1532, a plurality of 652, while his plurality in the district is 963, having 5502 to 4539 for Wolcott, with Winchenbaugh trailing along with 3392.

M. J. Sullivan defeated Representative Walter E. Piper by 52 votes in the Fifth District.

William J. Leslie was re-elected over his opponent Charles J. McGilvray, by a plurality of 221. Coming up to precinct one, of ward 5, McGilvray led by one vote, but the 222 plurality in that precinct helped Leslie some and then some more.

Dr. Bowker candidate to fill a vacancy on the board of county commissioners received a handsome endorse in Quincy. On the constitution questions, Quincy registered a large majority in the affirmative, although there was a large number who refused to vote on the questions. The complete vote of the City for all the officers will be found on Page Three.

CROWD HUNG ON TO GET RETURNS

One Warden Had a Way of His Own of Counting

As was anticipated it was late before the official returns from the entire city were received at City Hall. By an arrangement made with the wardens of the several precincts however City Clerk Crane was able to get the head of the ticket in practically all of the precincts comparatively early in the evening. The principal exception was precinct one of Ward One. In this precinct the warden had a scheme of his own and the head of the ticket was not counted until the last thing so that it was not until the official returns were received in the clerks office that a line of any kind was learned of how the vote was going in this precinct.

The City Clerk was not alone in his long vigil for in addition to the army of reporters, who were waiting for the official returns there was an unusual large crowd of citizens also waiting for returns. Usually this part of the waiters get tired out by 11 o'clock and take their departure. Tuesday night however was an exception for although some of the crowd went away early others immediately came in to take their places so that there was an anxious crowd hovering over the City Clerk until after 1 o'clock. They might have even remained longer than that, but at that time the newspaper men, upon invitation of City Clerk Crane left for one of the other offices where they were his guests at a lunch. As soon as the reporters left the waiting crowd also made themselves scarce and in a few minutes there was breathing space about the desks..

Considering the large and complicated ballot it was not surprising that it was late before the official returns were received. As usual it was nip and tuck between precinct 2, Ward 5 and precinct 1, Ward 4 to see which would be the first to arrive. Tom Dunphy's counters in Ward 5 however were victorious for his precinct arrived at 9.44. Four minutes later an officer appeared with precinct 1 of ward 4.

The other precincts came dragging along until 1.33 when everything was in but precinct 1 of Ward 3 and precinct 1 of Ward 5. The palm for being late is usually carried off by the precinct 1, Ward 3 officers but this year they surrendered it to Ward 5 by fifteen minutes. The missing precinct of Ward 3 came in at 2.39 and the missing precinct of Ward 5 at 2.45.

Then the figures had to be tabulated and totaled so that it was 4.05 before the City Clerk could put on his hat and go home for a little sleep.

The time of the arrival of the official vote and the total vote of the city by precincts is as follows.

Ward 1, pre. 1	11.25 p. m.	503
Ward 1, pre. 2	12.43 a.m	637

BLAZING WAGONS LIGHTED THE WAY

Through the City For McDevitt to Celebrate His Victory

There was a big McDevitt demonstration as soon as it was definitely settled that he was elected senator from the First Norfolk district, over the Republican candidate Roger Wolcott. Undoubtly Miss Margaret Foley and the other suffragettes rejoiced over the defeat of the Republican candidate whom they had pursued with relentless determination all over the district.

But the demonstration was a gem in its way. The friends and admirers of the candidate formed in West Quincy and headed by a band marched to the City Square. As the line moved through the streets, it was augumented by additions all along the line and before the square was reached fully 1000 people were marching and yelling themselves hoarse with joy.

The cry "McDevitt," was heard on every hand. Some of the paraders had secured two old wagons, which were piled high with old boxes, wood paper and other inflamable material and set on fire.. The flames leaped high in the air forming a vivid and picturesque illumination all along the line while the trait of the paraders was marked by a line of smouldering embers, which dropped from the vehicles.

The wagons were drawn by a crowd of young men while a band of stokers kept pace with them and piled on the fuel to keep the fires of enthusiasm aflame and the torch of Democracy blazing. As the line passed the throng reading the bulletins thrown out by the Progressives, the marchers were greeted with cheers.

Several American flags were triumphantly carried in the line. There were two automobiles, in one of which rode a party of women. In the second machine, Mr. McDevitt stood on the seat and waved his hat to the cheering thousands who greeted his triumphal movement.

It was a great spontaneous movement and was one of the features of the closing of a wonderful election, and a complete party turnover throughout the nation, and in the local senatorial and representative districts. Many women were in the line and marched and hurrahed with as much vigor and enthusiasm as the men.

FULLY 5,000 PEOPLE PACKED CITY SQUARE

To Watch the Election Returns Flashed on Board

It is estimated that 5000 were at one time watching the bulletin on the Welsh block, opposite the Johnson building, Tuesday evening. The crowd was orderly but enthusiastic.

When the returns on the congressional state, and senatorial contests commenced to flash a warmth of enthusiasm grew into wild cheers as each succeeding slide forecasted the growing vote of Wilson, Kincaide and McDevitt.

When it was flashed across that Mathew Hale conceded Massachusetts to Wilson there was a wild yell and it was some minutes before the applause subsided.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Government at Washington still lives.

The hum of the spindle—the smoke from the factory—the clang of the workshop and the prosperity of the farmer are in evidence everywhere.

Kidnapping children, then regretting the act, when the thoughts of the parents were considered on sober second thought appears to be the latest popular fancy.

Roosevelt carried Quincy. Who'd a thunk it?

Now that the campaign is over, the country can once more give its undivided attention to business and industry which promises to be an era of prosperity and business activity for some time. It is noticeable that this campaign has caused less depression in business than any that has taken place for many years. In fact the people seem to have determined not to be frightened by politics as they have in the past, and it is very certain that while there will be some changes in the tariff there will certainly be no radical changes to disturb the exsisting satisfactory conditions of business.

In any event, it has been demonstrated that those voting machines though not warranted nonskidding did not exceed the speed limit.

It might be well for some wives to remember that nagging doesn't make the nag go.

If a stir up of some kind would only stir the voters to exercise their rights every time there would not be so much bad legislation and after election broken promises.

The way people turned out to vote during the early part of yesterday all over the state, is a direct argument against keeping the polls open any later than they are at present, although a few cities and towns kept them open until 8 o'clock in the evening.

Women voted in Washington Tuesday. It was only a straw vote however, but as voters in the district of Columbus have no franchise on state and National affairs, their vote was just as that of the men.

The granite product had a value of $21,391,878 in 1911, an increase over the preceding year, and Massachusetts took second place in the output of this splendid building material. Of course Quincy had a good place in the Bay State export.

Watch for a raise in the rates on dining car service of the Boston & Maine and Boston & Albany lines. They both report a loss on this branch of their operations.

The candidate who announces that he has no chance of being elected, must like to spend his money just for the sake of seeing his name in print.

No doubt the votes thrown away upon such an aspirant would be of much good to some one else who could by their aid, aid his fellow citizens.

An exchange solemnly asks "What shall we do without leisure?" During the past few months the people of this country have had no leisure to think of anything outside of politics.

During the entire reign of the Kaiser he has been painted as the great war lord, the man who was all the time going about with a chip on his shoulder, in order that he might have a little game of battle. While Europe has been witness of much straining, peace relations during his reign, the German nation has never approached the point where war was eminent, so that we will all have to revise our opinion of the German ruler.

A REMARKABLE VOTE.

The vote cast in Quincy, Tuesday, 5681, out of a total registration of 6188, or 85.5 per cent was a remarkable achievement on the part of the citizens as it denoted a high water mark in political activity which is a healthful sign of the times. The same degree of interest in the election was manifested in every part of the country as evidenced by the returns received.

The question arises what excuse did that other 14.5 per cent have for remaining away from the polls and failing to exercise their right of franchise. If one-third of the stay-at-homes had performed their duty an able and efficient Quincy man would represent the district in the next congress.

Col. Kincaide made a splendid up hill fight. It was aggressive without being offensive. There were several causes any one of which taken singly or combined could be accepted as accountable for his defeat. His primary campaign was as clean as the effort for election. He entered into a gentleman's agreement with his opponent on that occasion. The manner in which that agreement was kept by his primary opponent requires no recalling at this time. Col. Kincaide has every reason to feel proud of his Quincy vote. His fellow citizens stood by him in a most pleasing manner. No less bright in the page of the campaign is the support which he received in Brockton. While a loser Col. Kincaide has nothing to be ashamed of in the size and character of his vote or the campaign which he conducted.

SENATOR McDEVITT.

Another citizen of Quincy who has just cause for gratification over the support accorded him by his fellow townsmen and the voters of the district, is Senator-elect John J. McDevitt. He conducted a campaign practically single handed and alone against a Republican who was a member of the house of Representatives for two years. There were many things which combined to aid him however in his efforts. The suffragettes have been claiming that if he was elected, it would be mainly due to their efforts. Probably they may have contributed towards the general result but for them to claim the entire credit is flying rather beyond the horizon of reasonable expectation.

It is quite an honor for a man to be elected direct to the senate without any preliminary grooming in the house for the higher position. Mr. McDevitt secured that honor. His vote in this city was exceptionally interesting and surpassed only Col. Kincaide, the Progressive candidate for congress

Mr. McDevitt has a golden opportunity to perform splendid service in the senate. His friends believe that he will reach to the expectations of his supporters and the citizens in general and exercise but care and judgement in voting on matters which come before the senate and that he will make good his promise to urge upon the house, the adoption of certain legislation, for the benefit of all to which he pledged himself before election.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

The voice of the people has been heard. The verdict has been rendered in no uncertain terms. Woodrow Wilson, Governor of New Jersey, was elected president after one of the most remarkable campaigns this country has ever witnessed, and is only approached in its spectacular features by the campaign of 1860. After 50 years of nearly continuous power, the two exceptions being the terms served by President Cleveland, a Democratic president has been elected and the house is largely Democratic and the Senate shows many additions to the Democratic ranks. If Gov. Wilson makes an effort to carry out the legislation he has pledged himself to bring about reforms which are needed, it is doubtful if the Senate even with a working majority will attempt to thwart the will of the people. The Republican party is ripped asunder. The Democrats have a splendid chance to improve things. The election of Wilson was in the nature of a landslide. This does not indicate that he or the Democratic party can play fast and loose with the pledges and promises made. The election result should act as a lesson. It shows that when the people are aroused they can be depended upon to assert themselves. Such activity, in previous years would probably have resulted in better conditions than exist today. At any rate the people have spoken. It would be well for those in power to heed that warning lest they be destroyed by the power which created them.

AWAY WITH THE BILLBOARD.

Many poor jokes have been perpetrated upon the aggressive and consistent claims made by Chicago people that the city has been in advance of all Christendom for the past few decades. A theatre manager of that city deserves credit for an advanced step in which he has taken, towards the abolishment of bill board advertising, which many other places have felt like inaugurating for some time. The bill boarding of a city, is conceded by all to detract from the attractiveness of a place. The custom has been warred upon persistently. Newspapers have taken up the cudgels in many places, but their attitude has not been accepted from a public spirited tone.

Interested persons have contended that the newspapers have been animated in their opposition by selfish motives, because of the impetus it would give their advertising department. This can hardly be justified, ewspaper owners and editors have long realized the drawbacks of hideous looking bill boards, strung out at every available point and the war has only been for the benefit of the community and its beautification. The Chicago manager advances the idea that his dropping of the bill board advertising is due to the graft and bother of the system. If all advertisers have the courage to demonstrate that this method of advertising can be dispensed with without loss and maybe at a profit, the life of the bill board form of publicity will be of short duration.

INCENDIARIES IMPROVING

Their Style At the Old House Shows Form

STILL IT IS STUBBORN

The larm from box 54 at 9.48 Tuesday summoned the fire department to another fire in the old Quincy house on Hancock street. This time the parties who evidently fired the building intended that it should be done to a finish for the fire was found to be going all over it, as well as behind partitions and in a blind attic. It was quite a job to find the fire and get out. The Chief was frequently told by citizens during its progress to let it burn but he of course could not do that. It was therefore not until 12.20 o'clock all out was sounded.

The alarm was followed almost immediately by the steamer call which also sent that piece of apparatus to the scene. City Square was full of people at that hour watching the several election return stereopticons and the run of the auto chemical and steamer through the crowd was spectacular.

The fire was set inside in the northerly rear corner with much better results then at the last attempt Saturday night. Firemen report the entire interior soaked with kerosene.

The house has been unoccupied for a long time and decay has brought it into the class of public nuisances. There is nothing left but a charred shell plastered with bill posters.

The building has been the object of several protests by improvement associations on account of its condition.

MAYOR--SPEAR WEDDING BELLS

Romance of Excursion Trip Ended in Wedlock at E. Braintree

One of the prettiest weddings of the late autumn was solemnized Tuesday evening when Miss Mildred Spear, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gould Spear of East Braintree was united in marriage to Thomas J. Mavor, son of Mrs. Agnes W. Mavor of Los Angelos, California. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock at the bride's home, 95 Hayward street, by Rev. Daniel Roy Freeman, pastor of All Souls' church, Braintree, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The rooms were beautiful with their decorations of hemlock and chrysanthemums and the same floral scheme was used to form a canopy beneath which stood the bridal party. While the guests were assembling and throughout the evening, delightful musical selections were rendered by the Astrella Brothers orchestra of Boston. The ushers were Horace F. Spear of Marshfield Hills, Theodore F. Spear of East Braintree, Clarence W. Packard of Roslindale and Ronald R. Moore of West Somerville.

The best man was Fealey Page Sleeper, Dartmouth '06 of Boston and the maid of honor was Miss Ruth Augusta Winslow of Brockton a close friend of the bride and her classmate at Woodward Institute, class of 1910. She was charming in a gown of pink chiffon over pink satin, with a bouquet of pink roses.

At the appointed hour, heralded by the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin played by the bride's cousin, Miss Theodore C. Moore, the chorus of the march being sung by a sextet of the bride's friends the bridal procession entered the room, the groom and best man leading, the maid of honor next and then on the arm of her father came the bride, looking very pretty in her gown of white charmeuse cut en train, over white satin with Duchess lace. She wore a tulle veil fastened with lilies of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and immediately after the nuptial knot was tied came the reception, the happy couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Spear. Punch was served and also delicious cakes and ices the caterer being C. F. Spargo of Dorchester.

About 9.30 o'clock the newlyweds departed amid a shower of confetti and congratulations. After a three week's tour of the south they will be at home to their friends at 5 Hayward street until sometime in December when they will take their departure for their new home in Los Angeles

The groom's present to his bride was a pearl and diamond pendant and the maid of honor was presented with a pendant, the gift of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Mavor received a great number of handsome wedding gifts, testifying to the love and esteem of their many friends. Just at the close of the ceremony a telephone of congratulation was received from Mr. Mavor's relatives in California and other messages came during the evening. Mr. Mavor's mother was unable to attend because of a recent severe illness.

Miss Spear was a well known and popular young lady of East Braintree and Mr. Mavor holds a responsible position with the Raymond, Whitcomb Company. While en route to California with her parents, Miss Spear met Mr. Mavor,who was in charge of their party at the time, and it is said to have been a case of love at first sight. Their friends call it an ideal match and the young people have been overwhelmed with congratulations and best wishes for many years of wedded bliss.

HOT DOGS AIDED Y.M.C.A. CROWD

To Drive Away Hunger While Watching Election Returns

Open house at the Y. M. C. A. brought a good crowd seeking early returns from the elections. A special wire ran into the building and returns were thrown upon a screen in the assembly hall, interspersed with pictures and announcements. Messrs Erastus Osgood and Walter Vreeland gave a splendid entertainment consisting of readings, banjo solos, banjo duets and banjo and guitar duets. At eleven o'clock a feed was served consisting of hot dogs, sandwiches, and coffee. During the evening while the returns were being shown "Ed" Bullock presided at the piano in his usual popular manner. The gymnasium was also a centre of attraction and the gallery was well filled with spectators watching the men play basketball, volley ball, etc. During the evening between three and four hundred people accepted the invitation of the Association to partake of its hospitality.

At the afternoon session, Dr. Woods Hutchinson will speak on the subject of "Woman's Responsibility for the Health of the Community." There should be a large attendance of club women from Quincy as it promises to be an interesting and instructive meeting and Warren is not far to go for members in the Greater Boston district.

There is to be an exhibition and sale of baskets at the Quincy Women's clubhouse Tuesday afternoon after the regular meeting. These baskets are the handiwork of James W. Hamilton of Wollaston. Mr. Hamilton was made blind by a severe illness about twelve years ago and since that time has obtained a thorough knowledge of basketing and is making it his business. He is said to be one of the most expert basket makers among the blind. Club women feel that being a citizen of Quincy they may make a special plea for a generous patronage by club members and friends.

A forum to discuss "Opportunities for Civic Helpfulness" is announced by the Boston City Federation for Friday afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, in the lecture hall of the Boston Library, entrance on Boylston street. Mrs. Esther M. Andrews, Mrs. Esther Frances Boland, Mrs. T. J. Bowlker, Mrs. R. E. Hawley, Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, Mrs. Eleanor H. Wood, Dr. Adelaide Abbott, Mrs. Walter G. Newell, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, Mrs. Ella C. Whiton and others will speak, and an open discussion will follow.

The annual teachers and guest night for the waiting list of the Brockton Woman's club last week was a delightful occasion. Mrs. J. Harry Poole, the president, gave a greeting to the guests, and said she wished the club might come into closer contact with the Teachers' Association, since the aims of both organizations were for the betterment of the city. The programme consisted of the presentation of "The Lady of the Decoration," by Hetty J. Dunaway, a charming entertainer, who gave the bright story in costume.

Attention is called to the stereopticon lecture to be given in Association hall, Y. M. C. A. building, by H. B. Drew. immigrant secretary of the Y M. C. A. of New Bedford. His subject is "Little Men and Women of the Under-world" and his work among the foreign population of a mill city should give him a wealth of material of much interest. This is the regular meeting of the Auxiliary, but the hour is changed to 7.45 P. M. to give a greater number the opportunity of attending. All, both ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited.

The president, Mrs. George O. Wales presided at the regular meeting on Tuesday of the Philergians of Braintree. The business session included a report by Mrs. Frank A. Bower, chairman of the Civic and Conservation department. Seumas MacManus spoke to the club on "Stories of Irish Fairy and Folk Love," his delightful brogue and inimitable Irish manner adding much to the quaint charm of the stories he told and the poems he read. He concluded with many Irish proverbs, containing characteristic wit.

The next meeting of the New England Wheaton Seminary club will be held Saturday afternoon at The Vendome, Boston; business at 1.30; lecture at 2.15 by Miss Helen M. Winslow subject: "The Songs We Used To Sing," illustrated by vocal solos by Miss Alison Winslow and violin solo by Miss Elizabeth F. Mansfield followed by a social hour and tea from 3.30 to 5 o'clock.

Mrs. May Alden Ward, president of the New England Woman's Club, greeted a large number of guests at a reception in the club rooms on Boylston street, Boston, Monday afternoon, and thus opened the season of that organization. Miss Mary H. Ladd, Mrs. Frank K. Nash, Mrs. Horace Mann Willard of Quincy and Mrs. True Worthy White of Arlington, the club officers, assisted in welcoming the guests who were presented by Mrs. Walter E. Reid, Mrs. F. H. Potter, Mrs. George H. Bent, Mrs. George L. Mayberry, Mrs. Addie R. Bradbury, Mrs. C. D. Black, Mrs. T. M. Strong, Mrs. C. P. Washburn, Mrs. Walter H. Woods, Mrs. Albert M. Parker, Mrs. Leo Lewis and Mrs. Frank Wren. Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, Mrs. L. Hill, Mrs. George W. Sprague, Mrs. Frederick Lawton, Mrs. Lilias Folger, Miss Ada Hersey and Miss Clara Hersey presided at the refreshment tables. There was music by an orchestra of young women.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, former president of the National Federation, admired by all club women and loved sincerely by those who knew her best, is to have more than one fitting memorial. The women of Colorado have started a movement to erect a woman's building in Denver, where the State University is situated, which shall stand as a monument to the splendid powers of her gracious, sympathetic, brilliant character. Many will contribute toward it, and the Western women are certain of encouragement in their project.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The regular meeting of the Women's club on Tuesay afternoon at the club house promises to be of unusual interest with the following program: Mrs. Albert E. Avery will report the conference at Templeton; Miss Beatrice Griffin, child violinist will furnish the musical program and the speaker of the afternoon under the auspices of the Education and Home Economics committees, will be Miss Frances Nevin who will give "The Piper." There will also be an exhibition of baskets and a social tea.

Miss Nevin as an interpretative reciter comes to the club endorsed by such well known people as Richard Burton of University of Minnesota; Professor M. M. Bennett of Wellesley college; Woodman Bradbury, president Boston Browning Society Mrs. Philip Hale of Boston and Mrs. L. K. Hosea president of the Cincinati Woman's club. She has read before the New England Women's club, Boston Art club, New Englandd Woman's Press Association and kindred clubs and had most cordial approval.

The Cafe Chantant and Hallowe'en dance of the special events of the club season being now success of the past club members are looking forward to the annual assembly and the Twelfth Night Revels.

The various departmental classes are now well underway and many of them are largely attended. One of the most successful is the parliamentary law which meets the first Tuesday of the month in the morning at 10.30 and the third Tuesday in the afternoon at 2.30. The current events class is another which is well attended, also the literature class at the homes of members. The classes which meet for active work such as dressmaking, millinery, basketing, stenciling, etc. are also well underway.

Q. Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY.

Deviating from their usual custom the Women's Auxiliary will hold their next meeting in the eveinng instead of afternoon, giving the men an opportunity to attend the lecture which will be held Friday evening at 7.45 in Association hall. It will be illustrated by stereopticon. H. B. Drew, foreign work secretary of the New Bedford Y. M. C. A. will lecture on "Little Men and Women of the Under World." It is a lecture that should bring out a large attendance of men and women who enjoy the privileges of the "upper world," that they may better appreciate their blessings and consider those less fortunate.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Quincy Charitable Society was held Monday evening at 7.30 at the home of Mrs. E. G. Pratt. There was a good attendance and it was a very enthusiastic and enjoyable meeting. The following board of management for 1912-13 was elected:

President—Arthur W. Newcomb.
Secretary—Mrs. Thomas A. Addison.
Treasurer—Mrs. Francis Abele, Jr.
Directors—Mrs. Robert Teasdale, Mrs. Thomas Fenno, Mrs. Harry W. Read, Miss Amey F. Newcomb, Mrs. E. G. Pratt, Mrs. Walter E. Piper., Mrs. Roderick McLellan.
Auditor—Horace F. Spear.

The resignation of Mrs. Helen L. Mass, treasurer, for thirty-one years; Mrs. Lucy A. Mitchell and Mrs. Frederick Jones as directors, were received with deep regret.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

This is the seventy-fifth annual report of the Quincy Charitable Society. Our membership remains the same as last year 110 including the executive board. One new life member has been enrolled. Mrs. Mary J. W. Morton of the Point district. The meetings, of the executive board have been held the first Thursday of each month, from December to May inclusive, at the home of Mrs. E. G. Pratt. A goodly attendance is reported.

At each session cases were stated, and their worthiness discussed. As in prior years, the truly needy, have received our utmost consideration and so far as has been within our means, have been cheered and comforted by counsel and financial assistance. Fifty, one half tons of coal have been distributed and thirty-three families assisted.

A statement has been received from the State Charity Investigating Board, requesting a report of the number of children dependant upon widowed mothers. This report of eleven children has been forwarded.

At the close of the seventy-fifth year of the Quincy Charitable Society, it is interesting to review a bit of our history and progress.

In 1837, the society began its good work, with 86 members in 1862, twenty-five years later, the membership, numbered 186; in 1887, another twenty-five years, and we find our number 243. Today another quarter century, a decrease is noted, namely, 110 subscribers. Although we have made no material gain in membership the last quarter century there is no cause for regreat, for during this time other institutions of charity have come into existence the stimulas of which has been set by us and other predecessors.

Fifty years ago we were the only charitable society in Quincy—today we share our purpose with others. So let us endeavor in future years, with the same ideals as in the past, to carry out the purpose for which the Quincy Charitable Society was founded. "To relieve the necessities of such individuals, as may have just claims upon its sympathy and charity."

Mary E. Addison.

PRETTY GIFTS OF CRYSTAL

Presented Miss Joss Soon to Becoma Bride

The young ladies of the Ruth and Lydia class of the First Presbyterian church tendered Miss Ellen Joss, who is soon to wed, a chrystal shower at the manse on Tuesday evening. The shower consisted of dozens and sets of many useful and beautiful pieces of glassware.

When the bride-elect arrived with her mother they found a merry party of young ladies of which she became the centre of interest.

Towards the close of the evening all passed to the dining room to the strains of Lohengrens Wedding March. The centre of the table was decorated with a large pink rose, which being picked by Miss Joss revealed many pieces of gifts of the class.

The card, expressing the best wishes of the class was encased in a glass slipper, made at the "Centenial Exposition at Philadelphia in 1876. A very merry and happy evening was spent and all left feeling the young lady would have a rosy future.

WOLLASTON CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

Hear Election Returns and Present Season's Trophies

At the annual meeting of the Wollaston Yacht club held at the club house, Tuesday evening the following officers were elected:

Commodore—Edward A. Bean.
Vice Commodore—Frank F. Taylor.
Secretary—Arthur N. Potterton.
Treasurer—Carroll E. Bates.
Executive Committee,—H. C. Seymour.

Many remained until midnight to hear the election returns by the direct wire provided by the club for the occasion.

In the absence of Carroll E. Bates the treasurer, his report was read by the secretary and it showed the club to be on a firm financial footing with a good balance on hand.

Reports for the house committee were given by Frank F. Taylor, the regatta committee by H. C. Seymour and the entertainment committee by A. N. Potterton.

Irving L. Blossom and George Elmer were appointed tellers and after the election Commodore Bean thanked the club for his re-election. Among his recommendations for the year were a crib for painting boats and a new float.

Amendments were adopted raising the membership limit from 200 to 250, placing the retiring commodore on the executive, exofficio and making certain changes regarding dues.

The club trophies for the season were presented by H. C. Seymour, chairman of the regatta committee the following awards being made:

Class A.—Eleanor, W. L. Jefferson.
Class B.—Domino, Charles Crombie
Class C.—Elizabeth F., Leverett Brown.
Class D.—Tomboy, Fred Davis.
Ocean Race—Eleanor, W. L. Jefferson.

Each winner was called upon for a speech and responded briefly.

Commodore Bean had a strenuous time in announcing the election returns as fast as supplied.

Refreshments were served to fortify the inner man until the midnight hour.

THE VERMONT VOTE

Taft and Roosevelt Run Close, With Wilson Third Man

White River Junction, Vt., Nov. 6.—A close contest between Taft and Roosevelt was a feature of the polling in Vermont. With about fifty districts missing Taft led Roosevelt by less than 500 votes.

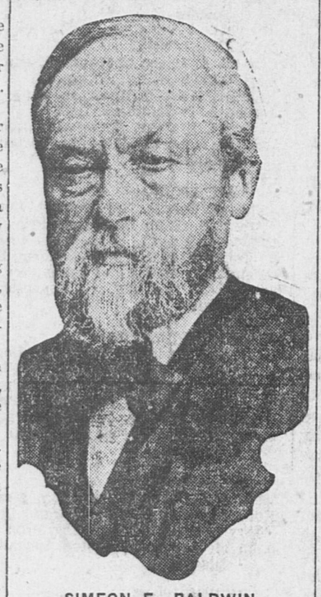
The same places in the September balloting gave: Fletcher, Rep., 21,914; Howe, Dem., 14,972, and Metzger, Prog., 13,351.

Under the law none of the three candidates for governor receiving a majority of the popular vote, the election was taken before the legislature. The legislature, which was elected in September, showed Mr. Fletcher governor.

IN THE NUTMEG STATE

Wilson a Winner as Well as Present Democratic Governor

New Haven, Nov. 6.—The indications are that Connecticut has given Wilson and Marshall seven votes in the electoral college. Wilson has 55,073 votes, Taft 50,052, Roosevelt 24,913.



SIMEON E. BALDWIN

The indications are that Governor Baldwin, Dem., has been re-elected by about 9000 plurality and that the Democrats have elected four out of five congressmen.

WILSON CARRIES NEW YORK

Sulzer Also Wins Over Republicans and Progressives

New York, Nov. 6.—New York state will cast its forty-five electoral votes for Wilson for president. Congressman Sulzer was elected governor.

Upon the returns Chairman Barnes concedes that Wilson has carried the state by about 100,000, while Democratic State Chairman Palmer claims that Wilson will have a plurality of 250,000.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

WILLIAM SULZER

Governor-elect Sulzer sent telegrams to Governors Wilson and Marshall extending best wishes and sincere congratulations. Commenting upon the result in the state, Sulzer said:

"This is a victory for the people and good government. Of course, I am grateful, but I realize the responsibilities entailed and now I want to see the Democrats make good. The opportunity is theirs."

125,000 PLURALITY

Estimated Figures by Which Wilson Will Carry Buckeye State

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—It is believed Wilson has carried Ohio by a plurality of perhaps 125,000 and that Cox, Dem., for governor, is elected by even greater plurality.

With this margin there is reason to believe that the Democrats have elected their state ticket complete

TURKEY MAKES NEW PROPOSAL

Asks Powers to Undertake Collective Mediation

FRANCE TAKES FIRT STEP

Makes It Clear That All Idea of Exercising Pressure Is to Be Excluded —Austria States Her Position— British Cruiser Reaches Constantinople to Protect Foreigners

Paris, Nov. 6.—The Turkish ambassador, Rifaat Pasha, presented to M. Poincare, the premier and foreign minister, last evening, the request of the Turkish government for mediation, and the foreign office immediately took steps to acquaint the other powers with the new Ottoman proposal. The Turkish note says:

"The Ottoman government requests the great powers to undertake collectively mediation, with a view to the immediate cessation of hostilities and the determination of the conditions of peace."

Before undertaking to act Poincare emphasized to the Turkish ambassador that it must be clearly understood that all idea of exercising pressure was excluded and that the powers could not undertake the task unless all the belligerents were agreeable.

On Rifaat Pasha signifying his agreement with this view, Poincare notified all the powers that France was ready to join with them in the action requested by Turkey.

Attitude of Austria

Buda Pest, Nov. 6.—The Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, Count Von Berchthold, in a statement to the foreign affairs committee of the Austrian delegation on the situation in the Balkans, after referring to the exchange of views by the powers and expressing the hope that this would result in extinguishing the conflagration as soon as possible, said:

"Whereas the Balkan states originally demanded administrative reforms of their race brethren in Turkey, the of their race brethren in Turkey, the successes they have gained in the war have considerably enlarged their aspirations, which no longer are consistent with the principle of the integrity of Turkey. While the policy of Austria is not influenced by any tendencies toward expansion, our guiding care must be to combine, according to the need, the maintenance of peace with the supreme duty imposed upon us of defending the interests of the monarchy from any impairment.

"That we can make our voice heard we do not doubt, and that we may be able to do so without coming into conflict with the rightful claims of others, we are prepared to make a large allowance for the new situation created by the victories of the Balkan states and thus lay the foundations of a lasting and friendly understanding with them.

"On the other hand we have the right to demand that the legitimate interests of monarchy suffer no harm from the new settlement of things."

For Protection of Foreigners

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—The British cruiser Weymouth arrived in the Bosphorns last night. She is the first foreign war vessel to reach Constantinople for the protection of foreign residents. French and Russian warships are expected to arrive today.

No important news has reached here from the seat of war in the eastern Turkish provinces and none at all in regard to the operations around Scutari, Janina, Monastir and Salonica.

The Turks are pouring troops into the forts along the Tchatalja line, where they are preparing for a renewal of the struggle against the Bulgarians. The weather is very cold and rain is falling on the plains, while it is snowing in the mountains and this renders the movements of both armies very difficult.

Nurset Set Fire That Killed Three

St. Louis, Nov. 6.—Barbara G. Arnold, 18, a nurse in the family of Rev. William J. Williamson, confessed she set fire to the Berlin hotel to "create excitement." She said she tried to burn the Windermere, another family hotel. In the Berlin hotel fire two women and a retired banker were burned to death.

Answers Summons In Airship

Paris, Nov. 6.—Summoned to answer a charge of automobile scorching, Aviator Chemet descended upon the surface of the Seine in his hydroplane opposite the palace of justice, tied his craft alongside the quay, entered the courtroom and had his case continued and flew homeward.

Democrats Sweep Missouri

St. Louis, Nov. 6.—Scattering and incomplete returns indicate that Wilson has carried the state by 10,000 to 20,000. Returns on the legislature indicate both the senate and house will be controlled by Democrats.

LAND COURT.

To the Electric Light and Power Company of Abington and Rockland, of Abington, Catherine Hunt of Scituate, Bert Irving Richardson, Earl Smith Richardson and Emma J. Turner of Norwell, Martha A. Seymour and Harriet L. Soule of Hingham, in the County of Plymouth and said Commonwealth; Samuel E. Pratt of Cohasset in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Ira N. Pratt, Herbert W. Apts, Aaron Pratt, William H. Nelson, Sanford L. Damon, Joseph Whitcomb, Herbert L. Whitcomb, Rebecca N. Litchfield and Eliza J. Litchfield of said Cohasset; George H. Hardwick of Quincy, Mary F. Litchfield of Braintree, in said County of Norfolk; Carrie Hardwick of Foxboro, in said County of Norfolk; Lucy E. Nichols of Dartmouth, in the County of Bristol and said Commonwealth; Martha J. Nichols and Harriet J. Nichols, of Lancaster, in the County of Worcester, and said Commonwealth; Mrs. H. B. McTier, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York; David R. Damon, of Peterboro, in the State of New Hampshire; any heirs, devisees or legal representatives of Ruth L. Sylvester formerly of said Scituate, deceased, not above named; and to all whom it may concern;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Benjamin S. Atwood, of Whitman, in said County of Plymouth, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land situate in said Cohasset, bounded and described as follows: Commencing at the southeasterly corner of said parcel at a stake on Beechwood Street, thence running northerly on a wall and land of Samuel E. Pratt to a stake; thence easterly on land of Samuel E. Pratt; Ira N. Pratt and Herbert W. Apts to a wall and land of Aaron Pratt; thence northerly on a wall and land of Aaron Pratt to a stake and stones; thence westerly still by said land of Aaron Pratt to an old stake and stones; thence northerly still by said land of Aaron Pratt to a beech tree and stones; thence westerly on land formerly of Joseph Cushing (now believed to be of the estate of Charles W. Seymour and of Richardson Bros.) to a bound; thence southerly by land of the estate of Horace J. Damon to a bound; thence westerly by the same to a bound; thence southerly by land now or formerly of the estate of A. Bradford Litchfield (said to have been recently sold to William Nelson) and of Samuel E. Pratt to a bound; thence easterly by land of Samuel E. Pratt to an old stake and stones; thence southerly by a stone wall and land of Samuel E. Pratt and land late of the estate of Mary F. Damon, now of Sanford L. Damon, to Beechwood Street; thence on land of Sanford L. Damon and said Beechwood Street to the point of beginning.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the second day of December A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of November in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

BRIEFS

Charles N. Richards, keeper of stationery for the United States senate, has been in the city this week. He is a registered voter of Quincy and came to vote at the Presidential election.

Paul Coombs, 1914 of the Quincy High school has been chosen assistant business manager of the Golden Rod. Morton Beattie, 1913, is the business manager and Mr. Coombs will no doubt fill the position next year.

The new Kissle car for Chief Litchfield was given a try out Tuesday night by her builders. It is a handsome machine and attracted considerable attention at it went through City Square. It is not in commission however as yet.

That crowd in City Square was on the job all right last night. They stuck to the ship until the last gun was fired.

There were many women in the party and they showed keen interest in the returns as they were thrown upon the canvas.

BOARD OF TRADE.

A meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in the rooms in the Adams building this evening. Business of importance will come up for consideration.

Registration
CITY OF QUINCY

For the purpose of correcting the Annual Register of Voters, and of receiving evidence of qualifications from persons claiming a right to vote at the coming City Election, The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session in the Council Chamber in the City Hall building on the evenings of THURSDAY, Nov. 7, and MONDAY, Nov. 11, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock, also on

from 12 M. to 10 o'clock P. M., which will be the final session before the City Election.

Every applicant for registration must appear in person before the Board. Every male applicant must present either a certificate from the Assessors, or a Tax bill or notice from the Collector of Taxes, showing that he has been assessed a Poll Tax as a resident of the city on the first day of April last, or a certificate from the Assessors that he became a resident of the city prior to June 3, 1912. If a naturalized citizen, he must produce for inspection his papers of naturalization.

Persons who have lived in the State one year and in the city six months previous to December 3, if qualified in other respects, can be registered.

No names can be added to the registers except the names of voters examined as to their qualifications between the thirtieth day of April last and the close of registration on Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 10 o'clock P. M. The Board of Assessors will be in session at their office during the same hours.

MUCH JUSTICE IN THE CLAIM
Of Citizen Relative to the Condition of Hancock Cemetery

Editor of the Ledger;

If you will spare me a small space in your paper I would like to say a few words in regard to the Old Hancock Cemetery, as there were several complaints in the paper that the cemetery was badly cared for during the summer and fall. In justice to those who care for the cemetery I would say that I am very sure they try to keep it looking nicely but often after it has been taken care of there will be some kind of a celebration or passersby throw over refuse paper etc. Then again the public go to the cemetery taking refreshments with them such as peanuts and bananas and throw the paper bags or other paper around. The next day it may be someone will come out with an item in the paper complaining that the cemetery is not cared for as it should be. Why not put the blame where it belongs on the public?

A Citizen.

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas DeCosta and family are occupying their new house at 37 Euclid avenue.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Universalist church hold a parlor social Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. S. A. Harris, Brook avenue.

Mrs. Mary I. French, formerly of West Quincy, has returned to her home in Concord, N. H., having been the guest of Miss Josephine Bowen at the Holland Commonwealth avenue Boston, the past week.

"Washington, the great American will be the subject of Charles H. Johnson's illustrated lecture at the Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Massachusetts Field School on Thursday evening. Solos will be rendered by A. H. Charles Bishop, Mrs. Samuel D. Drew. Miss Henrietta Gram will be the accompanist.

Among the many at City Hall getting the returns was a well known Democratic politician and former chairman of the Democratic city committee. When the unofficial returns made it clear that McDevitt had been elected he was so tickled that he entered the big vault in the City Clerk's office and executed a kind of Indian war dance all by himself.

—It is the duty of the press to give the facts in the world's daily events to readers. These facts ought not to be suppressed or colored. A paper's clientele is made up of all shades of opinion, and the news column ought to cater to the views of all and not to those of any particular clique or party. Clean news and no other variety should be printed. Every local newspaper ought to measure up to the standard of the best and avoid the shoals of partisanship and misrepresentation. —Dedham Transcript.

WATER BURDEN STILL GROWING
Mr. Shaw Quotes Some Figures to Councilman Studley
WITH SOME SUGGESTIONS

Editor of the Ledger:

For the benefit of the citizens of Ward Two I beg the privilege of a small portion of your space to say in reply to Councilman Harry G. Studley's uncalled for attack in Tuesday's issue, that I care not a whit for his anathema and causticity, because I am working for larger things; but if this Councilman had given the study and thought to the welfare of Quincy which his literary effort must have cost him and to which his constituents are entitled, he would know without having to be told that since Quincy became a city her funded debt has increased a trifling matter of twelvefold in proportion to the increase in valuation; that the water works which cost $600,000 several years ago are still a burden upon the city of the original $600,000 and $160,000 more on top of it; that the sewer department is $100,000 behind the game on assessments and about $50,000 behind as a cash deficit; and that Quincy spends a larger proportion of its revenue for debt and interest than any other city in the Commonwealth by ten per cent; which have all lent their quota toward giving us the highest tax rate of any city in the state this year.

And still he says "there isn't anything the matter with Quincy,"—which only serves the more clearly to illustrate one of the principal troubles with our city which I have been at pans to previously point out, namely, —a lack of competent, thoughtful Councilmen, who have sufficient breath of view and sound business judgment, to see and understand the true force of the conditions; and the public spirit, ability and back-bone to meet the situation and do something to remedy it.

If I were a resident of Ward Two I should strongly desire a more competent representative in the Council who would and could give more capable thought and study to the City's problems and less attention to "politics."

Now, just one more word and we will let the subject drop.

When I read what purported to be an "exclusive interview" with him in a local daily last Friday evening, I could scarsely credit my eyesight.

But instead of rushing "hot-foot" into print, as seems to be the prevalent habit, I took occasion to call up Mr. Miller on the telephone and ask him if he really claimed that I said the things attributed to me. He told me that he did not, and that the "interview" was over the telephone and short, and that the local daily referred to had "made copy out of about three words," or something to that effect.

Upon my request he promised to take the matter up with the paper and have them correct the misquotation.

Not until Tuesday evening did any item appear, and this was the briefest denial and reiteration of substantially the same sentiment in milder form.

Furthermore, the editor of the paper appended a note wherein he stated that he had "quoted Mr. Miller accurately and did not attempt to exaggerate the interview."

Now, Mr. Miller, I am not prone to quote the Bible never-the-less my respect for the Book is deep, and so is my respect for the truth. And also, I have a witness at my end of the telephone who heard and recalls substantially every word I said to you on that memorable morning when you called me up.

The issue of veracity is squarely raised between you and the editor of the paper mentioned.

Please settle the dispute with him publicly, and if, as you have told me yourself, he is guilty of garbling your statements, make him "eat his words" as you surely ought to do; because however innocently, you have done me an injustice and an injury which I am certain you would resent yourself in no uncertain terms.

And also, Mr. Miller, please think carefully again and see if you cannot give the public a little less abridged and more comprehensive and accurate statement of just exactly what I did say to you about your running for Mayor.

You know and I know and the third party at my end of the wire knows how much different it sounds.

And then I shall be pleased to say: Thank you, Mr. Miller; for the matter is quite trivial and insignificant after all.

Irving L. Shaw.

FIRE FROM OUTSIDE.

The alarm from Box 431 at 11.20 this morning was for a slight fire in the house on Rogers street owned by Patrick Manix and occupied by Peter Quinn and John Daly. The fire was on Daly's side. The first started on the outside of the building near the door probably from a rubbish fire. There was practically no damage.

STATISTIC OFFICERS.

Auditors from the state Bureau of Statistics are in Quincy this week making a general audit of the city preliminary to establishing the state system of auditing and accounting as adopted by the City Council some weeks ago. After completing the general audit the condition of the city will be reported to the City Council.

BOOTH BUILDING FUND.

From the early hours of Tuesday morning until late at night three Salvation Army lassies from the Granite street barracks sold tags for the national educational fund out of which will be erected a building to the late William Booth. Although no figures were given out it is thought that a tidy sum was realized.

BASKET SOCIAL.

The daughters of John Adams, No. 2, will hold a basket social in Electa hall, Friday evening, which promises to be an affair of unusual interest.

CANDIDATE INJURED.

Three candidates for office of National fame were in accidents within the last few days of the campaign. Gov. Wilson was injured by striking his head against a steel bar by the bumping of his automobile. Col. Roosevelt was on a platform which gave way at Mineola, and prior to that was shot and Congressman Sulzer, Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, was in a train smashup, Tuesday but escaped injury.

BAY STATE FLOPS OVER
Surprise Over the Majority For Wilson and Walsh

Boston, Nov. 6.—For the first time in its history yesterday Masaschusetts was carried by a Democratic candidate for president.

Governor Foss was re-elected, winning by a plurality of nearly 35,000 votes and defeating the Republican candidate, former Speaker Walker, and Charles W. Bird.

David I. Walsh of Fitchburg was elected lieutenant governor, defeating Lieutenant Governor Robert Luce. He is the first Democratic lieutenant governor to be elected in the state.

The Republicans got a bad smashing all over the state. In Boston Roosevelt ran second to Wilson and Bird ran second to Foss.

WILSON SWEEPS COUNTRY

Women in great numbers were sprinkled throughout the crowd and added to the tumult at each succeeding Wilson vote by clapping and cheering. Fully one third of the gathering were women .

It was after 11 o'clock when the local fights were shown with any degree of accessary and the tense feeling of ardent supporters communicated to indifferent onlookers with the result that when it was time to disperse a bedlam reigned. Women and men and a few boys hidden in the crowd, actually screeched their joy and there is no doubt but what they would have stayed all night if the service was continued after midnight.

GRATIFIED AT FINE SUPPORT
Kincaide Says it's An Expression of Progressive Growth

Col. Henry L. Kincaide when interviewed this morning on the result of the congressional fight said:—

"I am delighted at the splendid vote polled throughout the district. When I take into consideration that I went into the fight single handed and an entire stranger, to poll as large a vote, gives me a considerable amount of gratification.

"It demonstrates a disatisfaction with existing conditions and the demand for a change. I believe the spirit which has promoted the Progressive Party will grow and my endorsement is an expression of that growing feeling."

"Great Cause Has Triumphed"

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 6.—Responding to a telegram from the national Democratic chairman indicating that Wilson undoubtedly was elected, the Democratic candidate sent a message to Mr. McCombs as follows:

"I deeply appreciate your telegram and wish to extend to you and the members of the campaign committee my warm congratulations on the part you have played in the organization and conduct of a campaign fought out upon essential issues.

"A great cause has triumphed. Every Democrat, every true Progressive, of whatever alliance, must now lend his full force and enthusiasm to the fulfilment of the people's hope, the establishment of the people's rights, so that justice and progress may go hand in hand."

This was Governor Wilson's first utterance of a public character following his acceptance of the reports that he had been elected.

Taft Cheerful In Defeat

Cincinnatai, Nov. 6.—In the same house where he heard the news of his victory over W. J. Bryan four years ago, President Taft last night read the bulletins that told the story of the election.

The president was cheerful and smiling and apparently under less strain than other members of the family dinner party at the home of his brother, C. P. Taft.

President Taft received news of his defeat shortly before dinner. A telegraph office was set up in the rooms of the mansion and as soon as the wires were opened at 6 o'clock the bulletins of Wilson's election and the Democratic landslide began pouring over the wires in rapid succession.

Has Annihilated G. O. P.

New York, Nov. 6.—Theodore Roosevelt telephoned to friends in the Union League stating he had practically annihilated the Republican party, and the Progressive party would be the party of the future and be in control of the national committee in 1916.

Also Roosevelt stated in the message that the Progressives would be in control in New York state and would control the state convention of 1914.

Foss Feels Grateful

Boston, Nov. 6.—Governor Foss last night issued the following statement:

"Wilson's splendid vote in the New England states is highly gratifying. Massachusetts has endorsed the Democratic record of the past two years in this state, and our program for the coming year.

"For my own part I am deeply grateful to the people of Massachusetts for the remarkable approval they have given to my two administrations."

Kentucky Is For Wilson

Louisville, Nov. 6.—Governor Wilson apparently has swept Kentucky. His plurality exceeds 50,000. The Progressive vote was remarkable, Roosevelt being within 300 votes of Wilson in the Fifth district.

Michigan Conceded to Roosevelt

Detroit, Nov. 6.—It is conceded that Roosevelt will easily carry the state. For governor 145 precincts show Musselman, Rep., 7484; Ferris, Dem., 9154; Watkins, Prog., 6813.

Nebraska's Choice

Omaha, Nov. 6.—Returns received from scattering precincts over the state, show a clear plurality for Wilson, who will probably have the electoral vote by a safe plurality.

Wilson by 105,000

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 6.—The Democratic majority in Mississippi is estimated at 105,000. All the Democratic congressional nominees are elected by large majorities.

Wilson In New Mexico

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 6.—Incomplete returns indicate that Wilson for president and Ferguson, Dem., for congressman, are leading by two to one in New Mexico.

MAYORALTY BATTLE NEXT
Looks Like a Lively Five Cornered Fight For Place
KINCAIDE BOOMED

Thte next move on the political checkerboard will be the Municipal caucuses which will be held on next Tuesday No. 11. There is no contest for the Democratic nomination. The Republicans have a hot and bitter contest on hand and judging from what has taken place during the past few days things this week will be lively.

From the present outlook it looks as though there might be a five cornered contest for Mayor at the election in December. It is a known fact that there will be a Democratic and Republican candidate. In addition to these John L. Miller will be an Independent candidate. Then there will as usual be a Socialist candidate and it is pretty well understood that the Progressives will have a candidate and rumor says that John H. Johnson the district chairman of the party will lead the Bull Moosers as their candidate. However Col. Kincaide made such a splendid run for congress that many believe he would make a logical candidate at this time.

IN DOUBTFUL COLUMN
Contest In New Hampshire Appears to Be Very Close

Concord, N. H., Nov. 6.—President Taft's apparent lead, claimed last evening, was greatly reduced by later returns, and the state is in doubt.

The contest between Worcester and Felker for governor is also a close one, and the indications are that there has been no choice by the electors. A majority of the popular vote is necessary for a choice under the laws of New Hampshire, and when there is no majority the contest is settled by the legislature.

The new legislature will be Republican. The contest for congressman in the two districts of the state is uncertain.

The defeat of Congressmen Sulloway and Currier, Republicans, seems probable.

IN PINE TREE STATE
Taft Vote of Four Years Ago Is Cut More Than Half

Portland, Me., Nov. 6.—For the first time since the Civil war, Maine Democrats helped toward the election of a Democratic president, if returns received from four-fifths of the state prove correct.

The standing, with returns from 400 out of 521 places, was:

The same places four years ago gave Bryan 33,488 and Taft 61,101—a plurality of 27,713.

These returns show a Republican loss of 58 percent and a Democratic gain of 44 percent, while the vote of the leading three parties was 23 percent in excess of that thrown four years ago for the Republican and Democratic candidates.

South Carolina's Vote

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 6.—Indications are that Wilson has carried South Carolina by a majority over both his opponents of more than 50,000.

SWUNG FOR A TREE TO ESCAPE FIRE---FELL TWENTY FEET

Sidney Guild Had Thrilling Experience When His House Burned Down

Nearby Dwellings In Danger, But Fire Spread Was Checked

What might have been a most dangerous conflagration had conditions been right, started in Braintree, Wednesday evening about 6.20 o'clock when the picturesque residence of Sydney Guild of Elm terrace was burnt to the ground. When the fire was discovered Mr. Guild had just come in from the street, after leaving matters at the house in perfect condition ten minutes previous. He noticed a strange choking haziness in the atmosphere, as well as a mysterious glimmer which seemed to come from above. Rushing up the stairs he found that his most alarming fears had been realized, a Perfection burner which had been left burning had overflowed, setting fire to the lamp and the floor for the radius of two or three feet. It was burning fiercely, flames shooting up to the ceiling

$3,000 AWARD TO HUGH GOLDEN

FROM BROKEN CABLE

A case of considerable interest to West Quincy people was settled at the superior court at Dedham Wednesday when the jury returned a verdict for $3,000 for the plaintiff in the civil suit of Hugh Golden of Miller street against Patrick W. Mannix. The suit was for personal injuries received by plaintiff on December 1909. He was employed at the quarry of Mannix. While a large stone was being hoisted from the quarry the cable broke and the stone fell back onto Golden who was severely injured. The case has been on trial for several days. Charles J. McGilvray was counsel for Golden and John Lowell of Boston counsel for Mannix.

ABELE RALLY AT NORFOLK DOWNS

Administration Matters Touched Upon By Speakers

HOBBS PRESIDED

A rally in the interests of the candidacy of George Abele for Mayor was held in Poland hall, Norfolk Downs, Wednesday evening. President of the Council Hobbs presided, and in his opening remarks read what the Ledger statements of Mayor Stone in November and December of 1907, with regard to conditions at that time. He claimed that the contention of the Mayor, that Council had handicapped him was not a fact but that the Mayor had handicapped the Council.

Irving L. Shaw, said that the way to stem a tide of extravagance and incompetence was to elect honest and capable city officials. He read from the testimony of the Mayor and auditor before the special legislative committee on finances, to show that they did not agree in their statements. Councilman Murray likewise criticised conditions at city hall. He claimed the Mayor had vetoed progressive measures. Councilman Cunningham related the history of the budget. He said that the assessors did not do their duty. He wanted the assessors to increase the tax of a certain citizen which they refused to do.

NEW KISSLE CAR WELL EQUIPPED

Small Sized Fire Department in Itself

MEETS WITH FAVOR

Mayor Stone was given a ride this morning in the new Kissle car to be used by Chief Litchfield. The new car all ready for service was run down to City Hall this morning where it was the subject of much admiration by the citizens who happened to be present.

The car has a fifty horse power motor and has an extra long wheel base. It carries a 25 gallon chemical tank and basket large enough for 200 feet of chemical hose. In addition to this it carries two hand chemical tanks, an axe, crowbar and two lanterns so that it is virtually a piece of fire fighting apparatus and will be valuable addition to the department as it may well be called a flying squadron. It also has been fitted with an automatic lighting apparatus, a gong and fire bell.

The car is painted the stardard fire department red, with large gilt letters Q. F. D. on the hood of the engine and the word CHIEF on the sides of the seats. The letters Q. F. D. also appear on the rear of the hose basket.

The car is very speedy and is capable if necessary of making more than sixty miles an hour.

Mayor Stone was given a ride about City Square in the new car this morning and expressed himself as very much pleased with it.

DUKE HAPPY ON OUTCOME

Thanks Friends For Support and Ledger For Fairness

Senator—Elect John J. McDevitt, better known to his friends as "Duke" swept into the Ledger office today, all smiles, and happy at his success in the election.

He expressed his delight at the outcome at the polls. He was more than gratified at the splendid support given him by his friends, all over the district and especially in Quincy. "And I want to say this," declared Mr. McDevitt, that I heartily thank the Ledger for the splendidly fair manner in which it treated me in this campaign. I have nothing to complain of in the way in which I was treated by the Ledger and my friends feel the same way about it. I shall endeavor to bring about the reforms which I pledged myself to do, when I take my place in the senate and shall work at all times for the interests of the district and state and all the people.

MAYOR DECLINED THE INVITATION

Does Not Believe in Talking Politics in Church

WILL SPEAK IN HALL

Mayor Stone has been invited to speak at the Sunday citizen's meeting at the Wollaston Unitarian church next Sunday afternoon. His Honor said this morning however that he had refused the invitation as he did not believe that it was proper to use the churches for political meetings. Mayor Stone however said that his committee had offered to hire a hall in Wollaston for a public meeting for any evening except on a Sunday.

MOTHER'S GOWN WORN BY BRIDE

The Bridal Vestments of 24 Years Ago Fitted Daughter

A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elden G. Howe of Farrington street, Wollaston, Wednesday evening to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gladys Helen Howe to Everett Forrest Prior of Wollaston.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Carl G. Horst, pastor of the Wollaston Unitarian church, the double ring service being used.

The bride was given away by her father, Elden G. Howe, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Ethel S. Arthur of Brookline as maid of honor, who wore a costume of white chiffon over white brocaded satin and carried pink chrysanthemums. The best man was Elden L. Howe, brother of the bride.

The bride was gowned in the wedding dress and veil worn by her mother 24 years ago. She carried a shower bouquet of tea roses and wore orange blossoms. The dress was of white silk with pearl trimmings.

The ceremony was performed under a bower of asparagus fern while banks of palms added to the effectiveness of the scene. The wedding march was played by L. Howard Emery of Dorchester.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony at which the couple were assisted by their parents Mr. and Mrs. Elden G. Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Prior of Portland, Maine.

Mrs. Howe wore a light blue satin messaline with blue silk embroidery and Mrs. Prior was attired in white chiffon with white silk embroidery.

The ushers were the four cousins of the bride, Frank Arthur, Elden Arthur, Frank Halfenstine and John Halfenstein, all of Brookline.

The grooms present to the bride consisted of a pearl pendant while scarf pins were presented the ushers.

Following a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Prior will reside at 86 Riverview Road, Faneuil, where they will be at home to their friends after January 1st. Mr. Prior is in the employ of the White Automobile Company of Boston.

TABER—STETSON.

Word has ben received of the marriage at Medford Tuesday of Percy Elliott Taber of Quincy, son of Mrs. Albert H. Taber to Miss Edith Gertrude, daughter of Mrs and Mrs. Frank L. Stetson of Medford. The ceremony was perofrmed by Rev. George M. Butler of Medford. The groom is employed in the plant of Mayor Stone in Boston.

PIPER WANTS RECOUNT.

Papers were taken out for Walter E. Piper, this morning asking for a recount of the votes cast in the Fifth Norfolk district for Representative in the general court. The district comprises wards one, two and three. Representative Piper was defeated for re-election by Michael T. Sullivan by 52 votes. Whether there will be other recounts is not known as yet.

PROGRESSIVES IN THE FIELD

Will Prove Factor in Municipal Campaign

FULL LIST OF OFFICERS

It has been definitely settled that the "Bull Moosers" will be a factor in the municipal election to be held Dec. 3.

There have been many rumors during the past few days as to what the progressive party proposed to do in the coming municipal election, but nothing definite was desided until Wednesday evening when the committee held a largely attended meeting at headquarters. The matter of entering the municipal election was taken up. Some of the members of the committee were opposed to mixing into local affairs but others believed that the party should make itself felt all along the line.

When the question came to a vote it was decided that the party should enter the municipal campaign and that Progressives would be placed in nomination for every office from Mayor down. This of course includes members of the City Council at large and from each of the wards, school committee from Ward One and Five and at large.

Chairman Johnson said after the meeting that people have ben hearing a lot during the past few weeks in the newspapers about the calabre of the City Council and the need of getting better men in the council. If that was the sentiment of the people here would be their opportunity to get what they wanted through the Progressive party.

Chairman Johnson further stated that a mass meeting of the Progressive party would be called for an early date and that it was probable at this meeting that candidates for Mayor and other offices would be named.

As to Col. Henry L. Kincaide being a candidate for Mayor on the Progressive ticket it can be said definitely that he will not be a candidate for Mayor on any party ticket. He said today he was not a candidate for mayor.

INTERESTING LECTURE.

An interesting lecture was enjoyed in the vestry of the Wollaston Congregational church, Wednesday evening when Mrs. Ida Vose Woodbury spoke on "The heart of the Cumberlands," Mrs. Woodbury is field secretary of the American Missionary Association and her many personal experiences of the country related were much appreciated.

QUINCY GRANITE BARRED BY FREIGHT RATES TO NEW YORK

Difference of From 15 to 20 Cents Per Cubic Foot By Rail Route

Mr. Chase Lectured on Freight Before Board of Trade

A large number of the members of the Quincy Board of Trade attended a meeting at their rooms Wednesday evening to hear a talk on freight rates by Wm. M. Chase of this city. The speaker has been indentified with a transportation company for about 30 years and at the conclusion of his talk a number of the members asked questions. President C. C. Hearn presided at the meeting.

Mr. Chase explained what was meant by a differential rate and said that it was possible to ship from New England points west at the same rate as from New York, that Chicago was the keystone for western freight purposes and that Boston answered the same purpose for New England.

He said that while the railroad was not obliged to meet water rates, that it was possible they would do so, and that through the establishment of a public dock here Quincy would probably gain an advantage in rates.

He further said that the question involved many intricate points and that other boards of trades and chamber of commerce boards had secured the services of a man who was an expert in tariff and interstate commerce law to look after their interests.

Mr. Chase said that he favored a full and sufficient investigation of rates from southern points to Quincy and that he thought that Quincy was a sea board town and entitled to water rates. He said that they would not apply to East Braintree because it was not on the coast, but that he felt Quincy men could secure a water rate.

The case of the Fore River being able to secure a water rate from the south to their berth on lumber was taken up and he said that he rather though others could do the same, but, that with a municipal dock it could be obtained easier.

He took up the subject of shipping granite and shoes, explaining the actual cost to the consignee, and mentioned other commodities. He said Boston enjoyed an export rate which was less than a rate to the west and that through it they were able to meet the New York shipping.

A general discussion followed Mr. Chase' statement and the cleating of granite was talked over. Nothing of a definite nature being advanced by any of the manufacturers interested.

The following communication sent to John S. Swingle from a New York firm was read because of its bearing on the shipping question from Quincy to New York.

John S. Swingle, Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir:—Referring to your favor under date of Oct. 18, it was the undersigned who visited you in the winter of 1911 and made the statement that the rail freight to New York, in most instances, have eliminated Quincy granite, when specified by architects.

As an illustration: the rate from various islands along the coast of Maine, by water, runs from one dollar to one dollar and fifteen cents per ton, and it stands to reason that a water rate from Quincy should be less, if it were possible to use the services of a 400 or 500 ton schooner.

This possibly would give an opportunity to the granite manufacturers of New York to use a great deal of your grout pile which is not only worthless to you but costs money for you to handle.

By comparing the freight rate from Maine with your rail rate on rough stock here, you can readily understand that there is a difference of from 15 to 20 cents per cubic foot, a difference on the freight rate alone.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

No one envies Chairman Hilles, his position of host to Mrs. Taft and Miss Taft at a party to receive election returns in New York, Tuesday night.

Senator-elect McDevitt has expressed his appreciation of the fairness of the Ledger in his recent campaign. The Ledger plans to be absolutely fair to all candidates. It has no axe to grind.

The Philadelphia sub-treasury boasts of a bank note 500 years old. We hope it has been duly washed and ironed or else the pure food and drug experts will be getting busy.

The fellow who was looking for fraudulent voters at the polls, Tuesday would have never got fat if he was on piece work.

It was more than human endurance could stand to await the returns which named you as the next president of the United States, until the morning. Woodrow Wilson did just what every other candidate would do, stayed up and eagerly scanned the telegrams.

The woman who after four years blindness awoke to exclaim that she never believed women could make such frights of themselves would have more to wonder at if her eyes had first opened on a first night at the opera.

Now that John F. is assured that on this occasion the Senatorship crater does not yawn for him, he may be content to hold on to one office with using up the time looking for another. before the first job is vacated.

That seems to be the only thing which saved Massachusetts legislature to the Republicans.

Congressman Peters, just re-elected announces that he is already being groomed for mayor of Boston. Possibly the people may again decide to elect or reject a candidate.

"The leading candidates for office of the three parties" solemnly announces the Post, "fortunately were men of high personal character." To reconcile that statement with some of the things said in the campaign it would be necessary to revise the dictionary.

In all the campaigning this fall, not a single word has been said against the manner in which Mr. Bird treats his employees, but much has been said to his credit.

Pacific whale who objected to the acquaintanceship with a submarine volcano have plenty of friends on shore.

Being a call firemen hardly warrants pursuit of the apparatus in another machine going equally fast, through a square lined with thousands of people. The presence of one firemen more or less at that Tuesday night fire would not have been regretted.

Did Johnson reach home in time to escape the avalanche?

Is it the cremation and burial of the G. O. P., or has the elephant sufficient stamina to recover from the shock and come back strong as ever? Time alone will tell.

The 102 year old Pottsville, Pa., man who voted for Wilson was deprived of seeing his state go for the man he voted for. Boss Flin, might just as well have let those few votes go the same as the others and made the centenarian feel good.

One thing to be thankful for is that the presidential election was out of the way before the more important football games take place.

We sometimes wonder the alphabet can stand the terrible assaults being made on it in the Balkans.

Dr. Edward T. Devine says that it is possible to cure poverty. But who will put up the money to do it?

The claim of the Chicago theatrical manager that "bill board advertising has become a nuisance because of graft and bother," looks as though some one had been trying to rub it in.

THE MUNICIPAL CONTEST.

The threat of the Progressives to enter the municipal campaign, should not be accepted as any evidence that they desire to disrupt local affairs, or parties or upset long established condi tions, but as indicating a desire to continue the party as a tangible organization of soundness and permanancy. It has fully as much right to enter the municipal campaign as Republicans or Democrats, or so-called independents.

The vote of the party Tuesday indicates that it has a vast influence which can be exerted for good or evil in municipal or other elections. It is to be assumed that the party will endeavor to secure the confidence of the people as a whole by worthy performances. Any organization, political or otherwise, public spirited enough to take an interest in local affairs to the extent of tending to improve them should be welcomed. A purely office grabbing organization, with every hand out, and the spoils coming to those with the longest reach is to be deplored and given the set back it deserves. The Progressives can detract nothing from their prestige, by entering the municipal contest. In fact it seems as though they should continue, in city, state and national affairs and perform their political duty, now that they have been launched. Their entrance into municipal affairs can do no harm, it might be productive of much good. Who can tell?

STRIKING GOWNS.

A popular debutante of Washington is shown in a paper picture in one of her striking coming out gowns. It looks more like an old fashioned night gown. It is striking enough to wear in the presence of civilized beings. In fact it has the full force of a battering ram so strong is its presence felt.

Funny papers often create funny jugle scenes, of the African or other heathen, with a cuff around an ankle, an iron pot on the head, garments of every description, arranged in some outlandish way. The poor things are without the civilized influences to teach them better. We are told that money is expended lavishly in their advancement and enlightenment. A view of some freak garments worn in the civilized communities are enough to make people wonder if some of this money sent on foreign mission work could not be expended to better advantage in the local field. "Charity begins at home," is an old saying, and why should not teaching of rational, reasonable and common sense fashions, also find a prolific field on our own doorstep until the desire to shine as a freak dresser, or otherwise is completely eradicated.

BLUFF SURE TO BE CALLED.

Lincoln's memorable and wise words, "You can fool most of the people some of the time and some of the the people all of the time, but you can not fool all of the people all of the time," has borne fruit time and time again since it found expression from that remarkable man. And it will prove true again. The men or candidates who think they can fool all the people all of the time, are mistaken. They are unwise to continue the practise and think they are going to get by with it all the time. There is always a day of reckoning for such people, and when the time comes that they are hurled from power and position to the obscurity of defeat the blow is more severe, it is more galling and contains a sting which can never be eradicated..

It would be well that office holders and office seekers read and study well the lesson which has been read to them in this election. If the rebuke administered to some candidates is not experience sufficient to keep them in the proper path then the punishment be on their own head. Because as sure as they continue to fool with the rights, privileges, carelessness, and temper of the people just so sure are they digging a pit for their own downfall and overthrow.

OLD FASHIONED REMEDY.

A crowd of Waltham youngsters went on strike and refused to attend school because they were reprimanded for being late on account of giving their football team a farewell send off. Just think of it. Every little while one reads of some disturbance in High schools from one cause or another. In most cases it is a Simon pure illustration of "Billy O'Rourke," who "learned to write before he could read."

The present generation of High school pupils are a trifle over and above the boys and girls of the same age, a few decades ago. But in instances of that such as referred to in Waltham the old fashioned remedy should have been immediately applied. The swell headed youngsters would have some of the conceit taken out of them if they were spanked and put to bed. Taking a serious view of their revolt was even as ridiculous as the revolt itself.

BRAINTREE FIRE

while the very floor seemed crackling ominously.

Without pausing to recollect that the large door down stairs had been left open, Mr. Guild picking up a three foot length of piping, attempted to carry the blazing mass down the stairs. The draft coming up from down stairs, however, forced the flames back so fiercely and suddenly that he was either forced to drop the lamp or be enveloped in burning oil, so choosing the former alternative and becoming severely singed, the artist was forced back to his only refuge, the window facing the river. The intense heat and the slowing surrounding flame soon told him this was no place to remain but the stairway had been consumed and so he made a fruitless attempt to swing onto the tree just outside the window, missing his footing and suffering a fall of 20 or 25 feet landing on his spine besides sustaining severe lacerations of the hand, serious injuries to his neck, also a very bad jouncing up, in addition to the burns he suffered while in the building. In the meantime the fire was seen by neighbors and an alarm sent in. Great anxiety was at first exhibited by the neighbors on account of the nearness of several buildings one of them being the Cochato club, but the fire soon burnt itself out, setting all fears at rest.

Many extremely valuable books and papers were destroyed and samples which were collected at a cost of great time and money are gone, a complete summer's work is also missing. The building was not covered by insurance and it is not known whether Mr. Guild will rebuild or not. An auto chemical might have saved this house and lessened the danger of neighboring houses being destroyed.

Mr. Guild is one of the interesting personages of Braintree, as well as being a skilful artist in stained glass. He was born in Lynn, graduating from the high school there with great honors being at the head of his class. After living in Lynn for thirty-one years he moved to Braintree in 1905 occupying a barn, once the property of Erskin Kelley of Winchester. Mr. Guild recently, however, had built this charming little house living in it, less than a year. He has a married brother residing in Arlington.

MISSION.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

If you are sighing for a lofty work,
If great ambitions dominate your mind,
Just watch yourself and see you do not shirk
The common, little ways of being kind.

If you are dreaming of a future goal,
Be careful that you let no struggling soul
Go by unaided in the present hour.

If you are moved to pity for the earth,
And long to aid it, do not look so high
You pass some poor, dumb creature faint with thirst,
All life is equal in the Eternal eye.

If you would help to make the wrong things right,
Begin at home; there lies a lifetime's toil,
Weed your own garden fair for all men's sight
Before you plan to fill another's toil.

God chooses his own leaders in the world,
And from the rest he asks but willing hands;
As mighty mountains into place are hurled.
While patient tides may only shape the sands.

ATTENDANCE AT THE CHURCHES

Should Not Be Conditional on Politics and Smoking

SAYS MR. BAMFORD

Editor Daily Ledger:

Now that the election is over and pressure upon your space is relieved, I desire to say a word in reply to "Progressive Churchman," whose letter in favor of politics and tobacco in church appeared in Tuesday's Ledger. I reafirm that the church exists or is supposed to exist, to minister to the spiritual needs of man and not to his political prejudices or his craving for tobacco, and the churches that have the largest and most regular attendances at their services are those which appear to have the most sacred regard for the edifice. Conversely, the churches that have empty pews on Sunday mornings are those which are most lax in this respect. The fact of the matter is, the average man has great respect for the church which has a sense of dignity and propriety and when a church is turned into an ecclesiastical club he usually takes his departure. A prominent Quincy minister answered the query "Why dosen't Jones go to church?" the other night by saying, "Jones will go to church whenever there is anything to go to church for."

If our politicians are as corrupt s "progressive churchman's" quotations would have them appear, it would be time wasted talking politics or smoking we should use the time thus spent in listening to the gospel pure and simple. And if we would reflect seriously upon those truths and act in accordance there would be very few corrupt politicians. Let us cease to desecrate our churches by allowing political discussions in them and let us cease to defile our churches by permitting smoking in any part of the building. If it requires either politics or tobacco to bring any man to church all I can say is that such a man has nothing in him that an be utilized by the church. He is spiritually dead. Mr. Editor I will also add that anonymous leters are worthless, let every writer sign his name.

DANCING AND WHIST.

Braintree and Quincy residents attended the first season whist party and dance run by John J. Joyce at St. Mary's hall Wednesday evening. Whist was on the card until ten and dancing followed to midnight.

The following were the prize winners, Miss Beatrice Morrisette, Miss Katherine Gogan of Braintree and Miss Luella Desmond. The mens prizes were secured by John Mulligan, Edward Martell and John Connolly of East Milton. Miss Annie Morrisette was awarded the ladies consolation prize and Frank Mahar of Braintree took the mens consolation.

Rousseau on Show.

Rousseau created a sensation when he visited England in 1766. "Rousseau and his Armenian dress," wrote Lord Charlemont, "were followed by crowds when he first arrived in London, and as long as this species of admiration lasted he was contented and happy. Garrick not only gave a supper in his honor, but played two characters specially to please him. Rousseau was highly gratified, but Mrs. Garrick declared that she had never spent a more unpleasant evening in her life, the philosopher being so anxious to display himself and hanging over the front of the box so much that she was obliged to hold him by the skirts of his coat to prevent him from falling over into the pit."

PRECINCT TWO HAD NEW PLAN

Of Counting Ballots and Not Precinct One

It was not the Warden of precinct 1, of Ward 1 that tried the new scheme in counting the ballots Tuesday so that no word was received as to how the precinct had voted on the head of the ticket until early the next morning, but the Warden of precinct 2. It appears that the City Clerk, having in mind the general interest of the citizens at large, had made a request of all the wardens that the head of the ticket be counted first and word sent to him as soon as it was known how the precinct had gone for President and Governor. Every precinct in the city did this with the exception of precinct 2 of Ward 1 when the new scheme kept the citizens in the dark until 12.45 the next morning.

Edward L. Goodridge the Warden in precinct 1, readily complied with the request of the City Clerk and it was known half an hour after the polls closed about how the precinct had gone and as soon as the votes for President and Governor had been counted word was sent to the City Clerk.

CALM SLEEP OF ITALIAN CHILD

While the Fire Alarm Proclaimed His Disappearance

A lost child call, followed by one round from Box. 138 was sounded at 5 o'clock Wednesday night to summons help to search for a little Italian boy who had been missing from his home, on Nightingale avenue, for some time. The little fellow was found shortly after the alarm sleeping in a shed near his home.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

The entries are coming in fast for the annual chrysanthemum show of the Massachusetts Horticultural society, which opens in Horticultural hall, Boston, Thursday at noon and runs through Sunday the 10th. Many people who usually visit these fine exhibitions of the Society, are prone to wait until the last days of the show, not stopping to realize that in the early days of the show the view is even more wonderful. It is hoped this year this fact will be evident, and as the exhibition will undoubtedly be one of the finest given in years, every lover of flowers in Boston should avail themselves of this privilege of seeing the finest grown specimens of chrysanthemums, orchids, begonias, and other fall flowers.

The Massachusetts Fruit Growers Association will also make a great showing of the "Big Red Apple," vieing with the Western product. In fact the East is forging ahead rapidly in apple culture and this year shows a great advance.

POVERTY PARTY.

A poverty ball will be held by the Wollaston yacht club at the club house November12th, under direction of the entertainment committee. Prizes will be awarded for the most effective costumes.

THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

High School — Public Schools
Woodward Institute — Parochial School

The lecture at the Cranch school this evening by Alan E. Dodd of the North Bennett street school of Boston will be one of especial interest. Mr. Dodd's school is unique in its way among New England schools. Not supported at public expense it has had opportunity to experiment with various forms of manual and vocational training and it has been the pioneer school in both those lines among the schools of the country.

EVENING SCHOOLS.

One of the evening school courses for machinists that started as a course in blue print reading and drawing has been converted into a class in gear design. A large number were found enrolled among the machinists who already had a good working knowledge of blue prints and drawings and who were more interested in the design of gears and consequently the course was changed to reach their interests.

The attendance at the evening classes maintains itself well. The Adams school is arranging more than 150 per night and the Willard school at about 100 while the one class at the Lincoln school remains at about 20.

QUINCY SCHOOL MASTER'S CLUB.

A regular meeting of the School Master's Club was held in the library of the high school last evening with a large attendance. Ernest L. Collins the headmaster of the High school gave a talk on "Some Functional Changes in the High School in the Last Ten Years." Following the talk there was a general discussion of the topic by the members of the club.

WILLARD SCHOOL.

A meeting of the parents and teachers will be held in the Willard school, Thursday evening, November fourteenth, at eight o'clock. Albert L. Barbour, Superintendent of Schools, will speak on "The Child and His Job." Refreshments will be served by the members of the cooking class. An opportunity will be given those present to visit the printing plant and carpenters' shop, and the sewing and cooking room.

The boys of the pre-vocational class have put new roofing on the entrances to the basement, and painted the roof's black. They are, also, painting the gratings to the basement windows.

A candy sale will be held Monday, November 11 at 3.30. The proceeds will be used for athletic purposes and to purchase school room decorations.

R. L. Wiggin, Superintendent of Schools, Braintree, and Mr. C. A. Maddocks, Head Master, Noah Torrey School, Braintree, visited the pre-vocational classes Wednesday afternoon of this week.

WOLLASTON SCHOOL.

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Parents-Teachers' Association will be held on Monday evening, November eleventh at eight o'clock.

Dr. O. P. Gifford, Pastor Baptist Church, Brookline will speak on "Points of Contact." Dr. Gifford is a very able speaker and it is hoped that a large number will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him. Vocal duets will be rendered by Mrs. Frank Page, soprano; Miss Ernestine Litchfield, contralto. All are cordially invited.

President—Theodore Higgins.
Vice President—Harold Ewertz.
Secretary—Florence Palmer.
Treasurer—Helen DeNormandie.

The children are rehearsing daily for the operetta—"Cinderella in Flowerland," which is to be given on Friday evening November 22nd under the auspices of the School Art Committee. Miss Lillian Newman is in charge.

MASS. FIELDS.

The Parents' Teachers' Association will hold its regular meeting this evening. Mr. Charles H. Johnson of Quincy will give his illustrated lecture "Washington, the Great American."

Soloists—Mr. A. H. Charles Bishop, Mrs. Samuel D. Drew. Acompanist, Mrs. Henrietta Gram. All are welcome.

The pictures purchased with the proceeds from the Art Exhibit held last April were received on Monday and are on exhibition in the corridor for a few days before being placed in the class rooms. Following are the names with grade.

Children catching Minnows." Grade I.

Hiawatha—Norris, Grade II.
Contrary Winds—Webster, Grade III
Holland Cattle—Troyon, Grade IV.
Autumn—Mauve, Grade V.
Spring, Grade IV and V.
Pilgrims Going to Church, Grade VI.
Concord Bridge, Grade VII.
Constitution and Gueriere, Grade VIII.
Capitol, Corridor.

The class of 1913 held its election on Tuesday morning at 8.30 o'clock with the following results:

President—Richard Howe.
Vice President—Lawrence Wetmore.
Secretary—Muriel Matlack.
Treasurer—Velma Haskins.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

The Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Washington school held an enthuiastic meeting at the school Wednesday evening. There were 90 present and 53 new members joined the association. A slight change was made in the constitution relative to qualifications of members and there was an address by J. G. Spofford, Director of the Quincy Half-Time Industrial School.

The program opened with selections by the pupils of the eighth grade, under the direction of Principal Thomas B. Pollard accompanied by Miss McCall Liberal applause was given the children for their fine efforts.

The address of the evening by Mr. Spofford touched on industrial training for the young boy and girl. He described in detail the method of operation of the school, its object, ideals, and its importance to the community in the training of our boys and girls to the efficient self-supporting citizens of a type in keeping with the advanced political ideals of the present day.

The speaker laid special stress on the part parents and guardians must take in order that this school should have a measure of succes worth while, namely, the necessity of their making the financial sacrifice incidental to a half time school in order that the boy or girl would be able later on to increase his or her earning capacity many fold as well as better fitting themselves for citizenship.

Article three of the constitution was changed to read as follows: qualification for membership; parents and Teachers or anyone interested in the welfare of the Washington school may become members by payment of an annual due of ten cents. An effort is to be made to make the association the largest one of its kind in the city.

FOOTBALL.

The series of grammar school football games is almost closed after an unusually successful season. The weather has been such that there have been few postponements and public interest in the games has steadily increased. The school interest has been good throughout and the soccer type of football is getting a good hold on the interests of the boys.

CHAIRS AND LOT OBJECTIONABLE

Montclair Residents Have Cause For Complaint About School

A vote of protest against the present condition of the lot around the Montclair school was passed at the meeting of the Montclair Improvement Association, Wednesday evening.

The matter of seats in the school building was also brought up and several complaints were received that the seats were too big for some of the children. Both matters were referred to the legislative committee with instructions to take them up with Mayor Stone.

It was voted to equip the association building with a gas heating system. The legislative committee reported the curbing around the school lot had been set.

Joseph P. McCabe, chairman of the entertainment committee reported on the ladies' night recently held and announced a whist party for Nov. 21st. James Ross and A. L. Sherman were added as members of the committee.

Edward F. Parlee reported for the street committee and Blair Taylor for the building committee.

A communication was received from the movement favoring a revision of the city charter and the secretary was instructed to keep in touch with future developments.

HEALTH BOARD URGES TEACHERS

To Send Home Children Who Show Signs of Sickness

AS A SAFEGUARD

The Board of Health has sent a letter to all of the school teachers of the public schools of the city relative to sickness of children. The Board in its letter says:

"Careful investigation has shown that mild cases of contagious disease such as diphtheria, scarlet fever, mumps, whooping cough, tuberculosis, tonsilitis, measles and small pox may be only characterized in the early stages at least by a discharge from the nose, or cough or swelling of the throat. These apparently innocent symptoms are usually characterized as a cold or simple sore throat by the parent or teacher, and the mild case so characterized is liable to and usually does infect in the school room other children, and the epidemic is started or physical damage, more or less, is done."

The Board further urges that the teacher send home any child who shows the least sign of sickness. While to send a child home may cause it to lose a portion of its schooling, to allow it to remain in school may cause many others to lose portions of their school year.

If the request of the Board is not complied with a regulation covering it and imposing a fine for its violation will probably be adopted.

EZRA'S HARD LUCK.

Tom McNeal of Topeka was talking to Abe Peters about luck, so Tom reports. Tom thought there was no such thing as luck, but Abe protested.

"Take the case of Ezra Boil," said Abe. "To begin with, think of his name. A name like that is hard enough luck to prove my contention, but Ezra lived up to it. When he was a baby he fell into the horse trough and was almost drowned. Then he got hold of a can of concentrated lye and it took them four weeks to bring him round. He fell out of an apple tree when he was six and broke both arms and a leg, and just as he was hobbling round again he went on a watermelon stealing expedition with six other boys. The others got away, but the dog caught Ezra and chewed him up until the farmer came along and he put on finishing touches with a harness trace. He fell in love when he was seventeen, spent all he had for buggy rides and candy for the red cheeked object of his adoration—and she shook him and married another. A mule kicked him and broke six ribs. He had a lot of hogs and they died of cholera on the identical day when hogs reached 9 cents a pound, live weight. He had a big crop of wheat and a hailstorm came along and ruined it one hour after his hail insurance policy had lapsed. He got $500 to make a payment on his land, put in the bank and the bank busted.

"A cyclone wrecked his house and barn and crippled all his family except his mother-in-law, who escaped unhurt. He bought four gold bricks and took some counterfeit money in pay for two good horses.

"Then he died. When they were taking him to the cemetery the team pulling the hearse ran away going down hill and scattred the remains of Ezra along the side of the road.

"In the course of time his family marked his grave by an appropriate stone on which the stonecutter got the date of his birth wrong and misspelled his name in two places.

"And still you say there is no such thing as luck!"—Saturday Evening Post.

ORIGIN OF CINDERELLA.

It has been said, "Not one girl in a thousand knows the origin of the friend of her childhood, Cinderella."

Her real name was Rhodope, and she was a beautiful Egyptian maiden who lived 670 years before the common era and during the reign of one of the twelve kings of Egypt. One day Rhodope ventured to bathe in a clear stream near her home, leaving her shoes, which were very small, lying on a bank. An eagle, passing above, caught sight of the little sandals and, mistaking them for a toothsome tidbit, pounced down and carried off one in his beak.

The bird unwittingly played the part of fairy godmother, for, flying over Memphis, where the king was dispensing justice, it let the shoe fall directly at the king's feet. Its size, beauty and daintiness immediately attracted the royal eye, and the king determined to know the wearer of so cunning a shoe.

Messengers were sent through all the kingdom in search of the foot that it would fit. Rhodope was finally discovered, the shoe placed on her foot, and she was carried in triumph to Memphis, where she became the queen of King Psammeticus.

HORN DENIED THE OFFENSE

But Witness Identified Him and He Was Given Three Months

Many complaints have been received by the police from young ladies who have been annoyed by young men in the vicinity of the Adams Academy. One of these young men, Carl Horn, came to grief this morning when he was sentenced to three months in the house of corection for indecent exposure. The alleged offence took place Tuesday night. It was in the vicinity of 10 o'clock that two girls employed as domestics on Adams street complained to Officer Avery that a young man was annoying them near the Adams Academy. Half an hour later another young lady was annoyed in the same way although in this case the young man followed her from the sidewalk into the street beneath an arc light as she started to take a car. She therefore had a good chance to identify him which the first two girls did not. She also made a camplaint to Officer Avery. Horn was found that evening by the officer and while he admitted having been in the vicinity of the place he denied the charge made against him.

He however was the only man on the street at that particular time that could be found by the officer. Wednesday the officer took the last girl to make a complaint to the Tubular River factory where Horn was employed and she positively identified him as the man who annoyed her. A warrant was issued and this morning Horn was arraigned in court. He pleaded not guilty but the girl on the witness stand was positive in her identification of him.

In summing up the case the court said the case was a serious one and it was time something was done to protect young women on the street. The court then imposed a sentence of three months in the house of corection. An appeal was taken and Horn held in $500 bonds for the grand jury.

CITIZENSHIP vs BASEBALL.

A young man had just told the general manager that he had been six years with the firm, and thought that he was entitled to more salary. He was still in the place they had given him when he first went to work. Others of shorter service had been promoted, and had their pay increased. He did not think that he had been fairly treated.

"You're fond of baseball, aren't you?" asked the general manager, suddenly. The assistant shipping clerk admitted that he was.

"Go often to the games?"

"No, I can't get away very much."

"Who has the highest batting average in the league?"

The clerk gave the name.

"Who pitched for the Athletics last Saturday?"

The clerk had the name at his tongue's end.

"How many times was Smith struck out last season? What do you think are the merits of Brown over Jones?" and so forth.

Suddenly the questions changed: "What ward do you live in?"

"Lemme see—six—no, eighth."

"What precinct?"

The clerk grinned. "You've got me," he said. "I don't know."

"Who's the alderman?"

"Um-m, why, er—Connors!"

"Wasn't Connors beaten last spring?"

"Yes, he was. I've forgotten who beat him, though."

"Who is your representative in Congress?"

"Senator Black."

"Senator Black is dead. I mean your Representative in Congress, your Congressman?"

"Why—Johnson. No, Johnson is our mayor. I can't think of his name."

"You are twenty-seven yeears old, you say? You must have voted for two Presidents."

The clerk was silent. Then he said:

"I'll tell you, Mr. Blank, I never voted in my life. I don't take any interest in politics."

"Well, William," said the manager, "I never saw a better posted man on baseball than you are, and I'm something of a fan myself. Baseball is a mighty fine sport, but it isn't everything, and there's always danger of your becoming a monomaniac on the subject. Now, Gates, your chief tells me that he has to watch you constantly, to see that you don't ship half our orders to towns of the major leagues instead of where they belong.

"He says, too, that you talk baseball so much that he and the other boys can hardly do their work properly, and that you certainly cannot do yours as it should be done. I have found you sadly deficient in the field of politics. You have neglected your vote, and if you hadn't, you probably would have cast it ignorantly. I don't care what party you vote for, but vote!

"I have no doubt I could find you quite as lacking in information about business as about politics. I can't give you promotion or a raise; I don't think that you deserve it. You are devoting too much time to baseball—to thinking about it, I mean. You have not been promoted, because newer men have passed you by dint of learning, to do something additional. And most of them like baseball at that.

"You are where you started, and you will stay there so long as you take only a passing concern in our affairs. You must interest yourself in other matters, and above all, you must begin to vote and vote intelligently."—Youth's Companion.

Why Blackie Wore the Plaid.

Professor Blackie frequently stayed at Dr. Donald Macleod's house in Glasgow. One night, said the doctor, we were sitting up together. Blackie said in his brusque way, "Whatever other faults I have, I am free from vanity." An incredulous smile on my face roused him. "You don't believe that. Give me an instance." Being thus challenged, I said, "Why do you walk about flourishing a plaid continually?" "I'll give you the history of that, sir. When I was a poor man and when my wife and I had our difficulties she one day drew my attention to the threadbare character of my surtout and asked me to order a new one. I told her I could not afford it just then, when she went, like a noble woman, and put her own plaid shawl on my shoulders, and I have worn a plaid ever since in memory of her loving deed."

How Could She?

Student—I told you last night to wake me at 7 this morning. Why the dickens didn't you do so? Landlady—Well, sir, at 7 o'clock you hadn't come home.—Fliegende Blatter.

TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kennarie of 68 Brook street, Norfolk Downs, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage last Saturday evening. A large number of friends from the Downs and Boston gathered at their home and spent a most enjoyable time. After luncheon was served a musical feast was given by the Humphrey quartet—Miss Grace Humphrey at the piano, assisted by Master Derringer, ?violinist. Mrs. F. J. Peirce rendered selections from Faust and in her happy manner entertained all present. At 11.30 the party joined in singing Auld Lang Syne and after wishing the host and hostess all good luck left for their homes.

ELMENDORF LECTURES.

The closing lectures of D. L. Elmendorf will be given this week Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, at Symphony hall, Boston. After many years of travel and careful observation, Mr. Elmendorf has come to the decision that the Yellowstone National Park contains more curious and interesting exhibits of the marvelous forces of nature than can be found in like area anywhere in the world.

In addition to the evidences of dying volcanic action as seen in the hot springs, geysers and fumaroles, there are mountain brooks fairly alive with trout of many species, cascades and waterfalls of unequalled settings, a beautiful lake surrounded by lofty mountains and volcanic peaks and a river of clear water that dashes over a great precipice into a canyon so extravagantly colored that it seems unreal.

GOOD FEED FOR GRANITERS

After a Nerve Racking Contest at Whist

Nine tables contested in the weekly whist tournament at the Granite City club Wednesday evening. After twenty-five hands the entertainment committee served escalloped oysters and coffee. The best scores were made by Mark L. Read, Jr., who secured 77 per cent and George A. Bolster who secured 68-9 per cent.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES.

Because of a mistake in the transferal of pictures, the exhibition of Japanese prints at the Public Library will be postponed for two weeks. The collection of ninty-three photographs entitled "From Cork to Killarney" will, however be of interest to many people. The pictures begin in the north of Ireland at the Giants' Causeway, and proceed by way of Lough Erne to Dublin, ending with Cashel and Hore Abbey in Tipperary. These pictures will remain at the library until November 18th.

A most interesting and valuable book called the "Complete works of Geoffrey Chaucer" has just been added to the library. This is the first complete edition of Chaucer's works to be rendered into modern English and is the work of John S. P. Tatlock and Percy MacKaye. The volume is beautifully illustrated and will be of interest to the student as well as the general reader.

FOOTHOLDS IN EUROPE ASKED

Terms of Armistice Are Named by Bulgaria

MANY WOUNDED IN BATTLE

Casualties Will Run High Into the Thousands—Main Water Supply of Adrianople Is Cut—Porte Has Little Hope of Holding Lines Guarding Constantinople

Berlin, Nov. 7.—Bulgaria has announced the conditions on which it will grant Turkey an armistice, it is understood in official circles here.

The Sofia government, it is said, demands possession of Adrianople and Salonika, which means practically the surrender of the sultan's only remaining footholds in Europe outside Constantinople and an assurance there will be no movement of Turkish troops while the armistice is in force.

No news has been received for two days in regard to the fighting between the Bulgarian and Turkish armies in the neighborhood of Tchorlu and Serai. A report from Sofia says the losses there have been heavier than at Lule Burgas.

Confirmation of the stubbornness of the battle comes from Constantinople, where the doctors have been told to prepare to receive 20,000 wounded men in addition to the 15,000 already in the city, where the hospital accommodation is scanty and poor. The embassies and every other available building, however, have been placed at the disposal of the Society of the Red Crescent.

Adrianople is reported to be in a bad way, as the main water supply of the city has been cut. Provisions are said to be running short and the soldiers of the garrison are fighting with the civilians for the small amount of food to be obtained.

The Turks are pouring troops into the forts along the Tchatalja line, where they are preparing for a renewal of the struggle against the Bulgarians. The fact that the Servian army has been called to the aid of the Bulgarians is held by some to indicate that the Bulgarians realize that it will be no easy task to reduce Constantinople.

Since the Turks advanced through Thrace three weeks ago, confident in their ability to face and drive back the hosts of Bulgarian invaders, they have been chased from position after position until they have reached the final line of defenses before Constantinople.

The porte obviously has little hope of holding the lines of Tchatalja, for it is still trying to enlist the assistance of the powers in order to suspend hostilities. The Turkish government has even threatened to leave the capital and go to Asia Minor if the war is not stopped. This, however, is considered a bluff to hasten the action of the powers, who would find themselves in a worse dilemma than ever if they had to decide to whom Constantinople should be awarded.

On the other side of the peninsula Scutari continues its resistance. Its garrison has scored some successes in sorties, but it is reported the Montenegrin army has cut off its last communications by taking Alessio and the port of San Giovanni di Medua, through which Scutari has been obtaining supplies. The Servian army is getting nearer Monastir, where some thousands of Turks are concentrated. The towns in the vicinity are falling one by one.

Constantinople is quiet, but the embassies have applied to the porte for permission for the passage of a second cruiser of each power through the Dardanelles.

Bulgaria Pushing Turkish Army

London, Nov. 7.—Bulgaria is giving the broken Turkish army no time to recuperate. In accordance with the tactics adopted throughout the war, the Bulgarians are following up the defeated Turks with extraordinary energy.

Flying columns are pushing along the seacoast towards the Tchatalja lines, and it is believed that the main attack will be delivered today or Friday.

Constantinople appears to have lost hope of stemming the victorious advance even at Tchatalja, and the Turkish court is ready to cross into Asia.

Two More Airmen Killed

Haiberstadt, Ger., Nov. 7.—Lieutenant Altrichter was making a flight in a biplane in which he carried an engineer as a passenger when the aeroplane plunged to the ground from a height of sixty feet. The two airmen were found dead in the shattered machine.

Twenty Years For Zelig's Slayer

New York, Nov. 7.—"Red Phil" Davidson, slayer of "Big Bill" Zelig, and who pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree last week, was sentenced to serve not less than twenty years in Sing Sing.

WILL HAVE 100,000 LEAD

Late Returns Show Indiana Is Strong For Wilson

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—With returns thus far giving the Democratic national ticket a plurality of nearly 75,000, it appears the lead will near the 100,000 mark by the time the vote is counted from the missing districts. Roosevelt, with nearly 100,000 votes, is leading Taft by nearly 10,000.

SAMUEL M. RALSTON

Samuel M. Ralston, Democratic nominee for governor, has been elected, leading Beveridge, Progressive, by almost 60,000 votes, with Durbin, Republican, running third. The Indiana general assembly will be Democratic.

Missouri Again In "Solid South"

St. Louis, Nov. 7.—Missouri, for eight years in the Republican ranks, scrambled back into the "solid south" line. Both national and Democratic state tickets won pluralities estimated at 100,000. For the first time in its history, St. Louis went Democratic on a national ticket, electing Democratic national, state and city officers.

Dixon Loses In Montana

Butte, Mont., Nov. 7.—Senator Dixon, campaign manager for Mr. Roosevelt, went down before the Democratic landslide. The Wilson wave which put Montana in the Democratic column by upwards of 6000 carried into office a Democratic legislature.

Colorado Goes to Wilson

Denver, Nov. 7.—A Democratic presidential plurality of 47,000 in Colorado is predicted, based on returns thus far received. Complete returns from 345 precincts give Wilson 31,257, Taft 14,535 and Roosevelt 19,860.

Wilson Wins Nevada by 1800

Reno, Nev., Nov. 7.—Governor Wilson apparently carried the state by 1800 votes. Pittman, Democrat, leads in the preferential vote for United States senator.

Uncle Joe Gets By

Danville, Ills., Nov. 7.—Complete unofficial returns from the Sixteenth congressional district show Joseph G. Cannon elected by eighty votes.

WILSON'S STATEMENT

Honest Business Has Nothing to Fear as Result of Election

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 7.—President-elect Wilson gave the following statement to newspaper men who had besieged the Wilson home:

"The result filled me with hope that the thoughtful, progressive voters of the the nation may now at least be united to give the country freedom of enterprise and a government released from all selfish and private influences, devoted to justice and progress.

"There is absolutely nothing for the honest and enlightened business men of the country to fear. No man whose business is conducted without violation of the right of free competition, and without such private understandings and secret alliances as violate the principle of our law and the policy of all wholesome commerce and enterprise, need fear either interference or embarrassment from the administration.

"Our hope and purpose is now to bring all the forces of the nation into active and intelligent co-operation and to give to our prosperity a freshness and spirit and a confidence such as it has not had in our time.

"The responsibilities of the task are tremendous, but they are common responsibilities which all leaders of action and opinion must share. And with the confidence of the people behind us everything that is right is possible. My own ambition will be more than satisfied if I may be permitted to be the frank spokesman of the nation's thoughtful purpose in these great matters."

HOPEFUL FOR THE FUTURE

Defeated President Says the Republican Party Will Live

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—Defeated but far from discouraged, President Taft has formed plans for holding together and strengthening the Republican party. The plans are indefinite, but he declared last night to friends who accompanied him north from Cincinnati that the party will continue to exist, that it will be as active as in the past, and that there is no reason to believe that its chances of future success were not excellent.

So far as the president's plan is concerned he hopes to see organized a "National Republic club," entirely apart from the Republican national committee, which shall cherish the principles of the party and be a source of political activity not only during election years but at all times.

PLENTY OF MATERIAL

Cabinet Makers Already at Work For the President-Elect

Washington, Nov. 7.—Without waiting for President-elect Wilson's victory to be formally affirmed by the electoral college, slate-makers are at work picking the next cabinet. The names generally mentioned for the Wilson portfolios are as follows:

Attorney General—Samuel Untermyer of New York, Louis D. Brandeis of Boston or ex-Governor Folk of Missouri.

Postmaster General—William F. McCombs of New York or Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.

Senator O'Gorman of New York is also mentioned for cabinet honors.

TAFT TO RETURN TO LAW

Plans of Various Cabinet Members After Leaving Public Office

New York, Nov. 7.—President Taft will resume the practice of law in his home city of Cincinnati on March 5 next and his partner in the firm will be Robert A. Taft, a member of next year's graduation class at the Harvard law school.

Secretary Knox will probably not return to the practice of law, as he is wealthy and has a large farm at Valley Forge, Pa. Secretary MacVeagh will resume his business connections in Chicago and Secretary Fisher will return to the practice of law in the same city. Attorney General Wickersham will resume his law partnership in New York and Secretary Stimson will follow his example. Secretary Nagel will resume his former law partnership in St. Louis. Secretary Meyer will go abroad for a rest soon after inauguration and Postmaster General Hitchcock's name has been mentioned in connection with flattering business offers. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who has broken the record for cabinet service, says: "I am going back to Iowa to take it easy."

British Praise For Wilson

London, Nov. 7.—The presidential election resulted much as had been anticipated in Great Britain. The newspapers all speak very highly of Woodrow Wilson and of his policies and politics.

DEED OF A MADMAN

Shoots Aunt and Uncle and Then Takes His Own Life

Alstead, N. H., Nov. 7.—Frank Kidder, an insane man, shot and fatally wounded his aunt, Miss Mary Richardson, aged 76, slightly injured his uncle, Martin L. Richardson, and committed suicide here. Kidder was released from an asylum some time ago and had been living with his father, Erastus P. Kidder.

Miss Richardson and her brother called at the Kidder home and Frank Kidder apparently was pleased to see them. During their conversation Frank suddenly drew a revolver and began firing. One of the bullets penetrated the abdomen of Miss Richardson and four others lodged in her brother's leg. Kidder then fled to his room in the upper part of the house and sent a bullet through his brain.

STEAMER IN BAD PLIGHT

Mail Liner Royal George Goes on Rocks During a Fog

Quebec, Nov. 7.—The Canadian Northern royal mail steamer Royal George, with 910 passengers on board, grounded on the rocks during a fog in the St. Lawrence river last night and is reported to be in a serious plight.

The vessel went aground about one mile east of Point St. Laurent, island of Orleans, ten miles below Quebec. The wrecking steamer Lord Strathcona and two tugs have been sent to the Royal George's aid.

The Royal George was said to be going at full speed at the time she met with the accident. She was on her way from Avonmouth, Eng., and was due in Montreal today.

The grounded steamer is in a position difficult of access and news of developments is slow reaching shore.

Sadly Lacking.

"Did young Charlie Goldie call on you last night?" "Yes. He calls almost every night." "That sounds serious. What sort of young man is he—pretty intelligent?" "Intelligent! Why, say, he doesn't know enough to embrace an opportunity." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHEN MAKING WAFFLES.

MOST cooks have struggled with the annoyance of having waffles stick to the irons. This may be remedied by treating the irons with salt. After these have been used and are washed and dried rub them with dry salt. Then set them on the back of the range after the salt has been brushed out. Let them stand there for a couple of hours.

The irons should be set on the range or in the oven to heat for about a half hour before they are to be used. After they are heated they should be greased thoroughly. A bit of fat pork wrapped in a rag or butter may be used for this purpose.

Tempting Waffles.

Sweet Milk Waffles.—Take two eggs, a pint of flour, one and a half cupfuls of milk, butter walnut size, a dash of salt and a small teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix the salt and baking powder into the flour, rub the butter in evenly, then the beaten eggs and stir all into the milk. Have the waffle irons hot and well greased, pour on the batter and bake quickly.

Old Fashioned Waffles.—Take a pint of flour and sift a couple of times with a teaspoonful of baking powder and an even teaspoonful of salt. Beat the yolks of three fresh eggs smooth, stir these into two cupfuls of sweet unskimmed milk and add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter or other shortening. Then with long, swift strokes mix in the flour alternately with the whites of the eggs whipped to a standing froth. As soon as the waffle batter is thoroughly mixed, drop by large spoonfuls into the heated and greased irons.

Novel Recipes.

Lemon Waffles.—Take one quart of flour, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, two large teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of lard, rind of one lemon, grated; one teaspoonful extract cinnamon, four eggs and one pint thin cream. Sift together flour, sugar, salt and powder; rub in lard cold; add beaten eggs, lemon rind, extract and milk. Mix into smooth, rather thick batter. Bake in hot waffle iron and serve with sugar flavored with lemon.

Rice Waffles.—Take two eggs and beat the whites and yolks separately. Stir one cupful of flour with a teaspoonful of baking powder and a level teaspoonful of salt. Mix the beaten eggs with a pint of milk. Add a teaspoonful of sugar and a cupful of cold boiled rice. Beat for a minute before adding, alternately and quickly, the whites beaten stiff and the prepared flour. Lastly beat in with deep and long upward strokes a large tablespoonful of melted butter.

FRIED MUSH.

The mush may be made with cornmeal or graham flour.

Mush for frying should be prepared just as for ordinary serving, but it should be poured into a deep oblong dish to cool. When it is to be used it should be turned out of the dish and sliced for frying.

Breakfast Appetizers.

Fried Mush.—Slice well cooked mush about one-quarter of an inch thick. Cut in squares or oblongs. Drop in smoking hot fat as you would French fried potatoes. When a delicate brown lay on a paper a few minutes.

Mush Croquettes.—For this use cornmeal mush. Take about a pint of the hot mush and stir into a tablespoonful of butter and let it cool until lukewarm. Then add two well beaten eggs and a saltspoonful of salt. Shape into croqnettes about three inches long and fry in hot fat until golden brown.

Novel and Nutritious.

Fried Graham Mush.—The day before you wish to serve the mush mix a cupful of graham flour and a level teaspoonful of salt. Make this into a paste with two pints of cold water. Stir this, a little at a time, into a half pint of boiling water and cook for fifteen minutes, stirring it frequently. Then turn into a buttered tin or dish and set it aside. The next morning turn the mush out of the mould, cut in slices and place in a frying pan in which a teaspoonful of butter has been melted. Fry the mush till it is a light brown. This may be served with maple sirup.

A Tempting Dish.

Fried Mush and Bacon.—Fry thin slices of breakfast bacon in a hot frying pan and then lift out and set aside where it will keep warm until the mush is ready. Cold cornmeal mush should then be sliced and dipped alternately in cracker or breadcrumbs and beaten egg. Fry in the bacon gravy and serve with the slices of bacon laid on top of each slice of mush.

FAMILY GHOSTS.

It is almost as necessary for an old family to have its hereditary ghost as it is for it to bear a coat of arms, and it is also a hallmark, provided that it be really hereditary, and not purchased with house, lands, pedigree and family portraits, by some retired manufacturer.

The ghost of Powys Castle was a most benevolent gentleman; he made his final appearance at the end of the eighteenth century, and, having relieved his mind of its burden, to the benefit of a Powyses, he disappeared forever and a day. The story is this: During the absence of the Herberts from Powys Castle an old Welsh working woman was put to sleep in the haunted chamber by the other servants.

She had sat down one evening in front of the fire to read her Bible, when, to her amazement, in walked a gentleman, attired in a gold laced waistcoat and three-cornered hat, and the rest of his garments to correspond. His manner was easy and well bred, but he did not speak, walking across the room to the window, where he stayed a few moments, resting his elbow on the sill. Then he turned and left the room.

The old Welsh woman was too frightened to speak, but, getting up from her chair; fell on her knees and began to pray. As she prayed the ghost re-entered, and, stalking about the room, came at length and stood close behind her. Once more he vanished, and yet a third time returned, and then the old woman summoned up the courage to speak. "Who are you, sir, and what do you want?" she asked..

The ghost beckoned and said: "Take the candle and follow me, and I will tell you." In fear and trembling she obeyed, following the spirit into a tiny room. Ripping up a board, the ghost showed her an iron box hidden underneath, and also a small niche, in which a key was hidden. He bade her send these things to the earl, which she did the next day. After giving this message the spirit dematerialized. It is not known what was in the iron casket, but the old Welsh woman was kept in comparative affluence by the Powys family until her death.—London Globe.

JOSH BILLINGS' IDEA OF A COUNTRY EDITOR.

"A country printer iz a male being whose bizziness it iz to navigate a nuze paper. He writes editorials, grinds out poetry, inserts berths and weddings, sorts out maneskrips, keep a wastebasket, blows the "devil," steals matter, fits other people's battles and sells hiz paper for a dollar and fifty cents a year, takes white beans and apple saas for pay when he can get it, raises a large family, works nineteen hours out of every twenty-four, knows no Sunday, gets damned by everybody, and once in a while whipt by someboddy, lives poor, dies middle-aged and often broken-hearted, leaves no money, iz rewarded for a life of toil with a short free obituary puff in the nuze papers. A STITCH IN TIME

Quincy People Should not Neglect Their Kidneys.

No kidney ailment is unimportant. Don't overlook the slightest backache or urinary irregularity. Nature may be warning you of approaching dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Kidney disease is seldom fatal if treated in time, but neglect may pave the way. Don't neglect a lame or aching back another day. Don't ignore dizzy spells, irregular or discolored urine, headaches, weariness or depression. If you feel you need kidney help begin using the reliable, time-tried remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. For 50 years, Doan's have been found effective. Endorsed by Quincy people.

W. Charlesworth, 33 Cranch St., Quincy, Mass., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly an effective kidney medicine. They fixed me up in good shape some years ago and since then, I have had no kidney trouble."

LATE RETURNS SHOW CHANGES

But They In No Way Affect the Democratic Victory

WILSON RETAINS LONG LEAD

Will Have 315 Votes In Electoral College, Roosevelt Second With 104 and Taft a Poor Third With 12—Accurate Tabulation of Popular Vote Will Be Delayed For Several Days—Bull Moose Forces Get a Scare Over Illinois Returns—Complete Victory For Woman Suffrage In Kansas, Arizona and Michigan

New York, Nov. 7.—Only the uncertainty of a few close states whose electoral vote in no way can affect the election of Wilson and Marshall, speculation over the popular vote of the three presidential candidates and the complexion of legislatures that will name United States senators holds interest in the final returns of Tuesday's general election.

The total of the Republican electoral column apparently was fixed at the twelve votes of Idaho, Utah and Vermont, but the footing of the Wilson and Roosevelt columns flickered alternately, as late returns from Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, South Dakota and Wyoming gave indications of change from the results accepted Tuesday night.

On the basis of the latest returns Wilson has 315 votes in the electoral college, Roosevelt 104 and Taft 12.

A bi-phase of the general election that has become known was the success of woman's suffrage in four of the five states where constitutional amendments were submitted to the people. The victory of the women was complete in Kansas, Arizona and Michigan; late returns from Oregon indicate they succeeded there, also; while Wisconsin returns show the decisive defeat of the equal suffrage proposal.

Estimates of the popular vote polled by Wilson range through many millions. it was found impossible to compute with any accuracy the popular vote of any of the presidential candidates and it will be a number of days until the counting of the three-cornered contests in the different states is concluded and an accurate tabulation of the popular vote made possible.

Assertions were made from several quarters where an effort had been made to gather preliminary popular vote figures, that Wilson had not secured a majority of the votes cast throughout the country. Estimates ranged from a small majority of all votes to figures nearly 1,000,000 below a majority. The popular vote, however, would in no way affect his election, or his complete control of the electoral college, should it show his total to be less than that of the combined vote for Roosevelt and Taft.

There were many surprises throughout the day and night. Early in the day New Hampshire, first credited to Taft, went definitely into the Wilson column with a majority of about 1500 for the Democratic candidate. Returns from Idaho, which came in scattering form early in the day, favored Wilson so strongly as to create the belief that it would give him its electoral vote, but late returns made it the third state to go certainly for Taft.

The Roosevelt forces, watching the returns hourly as they came from Illinois, suffered a scare as the downstate Democratic districts reduced Roosevelt's plurality from Cook county until it promised to disappear. Late in the day a complete report from Cook county again swelled the Roosevelt majority in the state and seemingly made certain the control of Illinois' twenty-nine votes by the Progressive candidate.

Kansas, which had been conceded to Roosevelt by all interests on the preliminary returns, gradually slipped back until it has become a question whether Wilson or Roosevelt will control its ten votes.

Wilson has the better of the situation in Iowa and Minnesota, where the counting still is in progress, with but a narrow margin between the candidates; while South Dakota, still a doubtful state, apparently has turned toward Roosevelt on the later returns.

WILSON IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Indications That Felker Will Be the Next Governor

Concord, N. H., Nov. 7.—Returns for president from 280 election precincts in New Hampshire give Taft 31,103, Wilson 32,586, Roosevelt 16,741, scattering 1180.

The same places for governor give Worcester, Rep., 30,650, Felker, Dem., 31,287, Churchill, Prog. 13,545.

SAMUEL D. FELKER

None of the candidates for governor having received that "majority of all the votes cast" demanded by the state constitution, the election of a governor falls to the legislature.

The Republicans will not have a majority in joint convention of senate and house. The Progressives will not help them to elect a Republican to succeed Governor Bass.

In this situation it appears that the Democrats and Progressives will come together under a working agreement, electing Samuel D. Felker of Rochester to the governorship and Robert P. Bass to the United States senate. Felker worked shoulder to shoulder with the Churchill-Bass Republicans in the state legislature. Next to Churchill, Felker's choice as governor will please the Progressives.

IN THE BAY STATE

Indications That Donahue Will Be Secretary of State

Boston, Nov. 7.—Following are revised figures of the state vote in Tuesday's election:

President

Wilson	174,057
Roosevelt	141,925
Taft	156,018
Wilson's plurality	18,039

Governor

Foss	192,764
Walker	143,448
Bird	125,883
Foss' plurality	49,316

Lieutenant Governor

Estimated.

Walsh	185,500
Luce	146,000
Cosgrove	99,900
Walsh's plurality	39,500

The election of Frank J. Donahue, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, is indicated by late returns from all the cities of the state and 219 of the 320 towns. His lead over A. P. Langtry is 12,577 votes.

The returns for other places on the state ticket, outside of governor and lieutenant governor, do not indicate the election of the Democratic candidates.

Joseph St. Coeur, Democratic candidate for state treasurer, is leading State Treasurer Stevens, Republican, by 2577 votes.

The returns include the heavily Democratic places in the state.

The Republicans retain control of the state legislature, gaining one seat in the senate and losing twelve seats in the house on a strict party alignment. On a joint ballot, however, the Republicans will have a majority of forty-two, sufficient to elect a party successor to United States Senator Crane.

The house in 1913 will stand: Republicans 134; Democrats 90, Independent Republican 1, Progressives 5, Democrat-Republican 4, Independent 1, Progressive Republican 3, Republican-Progressive 1, Socialist 1.

WILSON LEADS BY 200,792

Democrats Clean Up About Everything In Empire State

New York, Nov. 7.—A Wilson plurality of practically an even 200,000 votes over Taft, a Taft lead of 60,000 over Roosevelt, and similar alignment of parties in the gubernatorial vote, is the result of the election in New York state so far as confirmed by nearly complete returns.

The Democratic party plurality is the largest New York state has ever given to that party, and it is the first time in the history of the state that the voters outside of the metropolitan districts have given a Democratic presidential candidate a plurality.

On the general wave of Democratic success, the party appears to have won the most substantial control it ever had of the state legislature and the state delegation in the national house of representatives. The state senate will, according to the latest figures, have thirty-three Democratic members and eighteen Republican, and the new assembly 107 Democrats, thirty-nine Republicans and four Progressives.

Of the forty-three New York congressmen, thirty-one Democrats and twelve Republicans appear to be elected.

WOMEN DEFEAT HODGE

Roosevelt's Plurality In Washington Reaches a Total of 45,000

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 7.—Theodore Roosevelt carried Washington with a plurality of 45,000, and has carried the entire Progressive ticket with him, according to incomplete returns.

The fight for the governorship developed into a three-cornered one, with Hodge, Progressive, running far behind Roosevelt, while Lister, Democrat, and Hay, Republican, are fighting it out with him to win. Returns indicate Lister's election by a small plurality.

The votes of the women were a big factor in deciding the governorship fight, the contest against Hodge being made on his personal record.

DEBS' LARGE VOTE

Close to 800,000 Ballots Were Cast For Socialist Candidate

New York, Nov. 7.—Revised returns and estimates made for localities where returns are yet incomplete indicate that the Socialists polled nearly 800,000 votes in the presidential election for their candidate, Eugene V. Debs, against 420,793 given in 1908.

Gains were made by the Socialists in practically every state, but the largest were recorded in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Maryland, West Virginia, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Congressman Berger went down to defeat in Milwaukee, against the fusion candidate.

THE FIGHT IN OHIO

Wilson Carries President's Home State by About 100,000

Cincinnati, Nov. 7.—All of Ohio's twenty-four electoral votes, all of the important state offices and all but two or three of its representatives in congress went into the Democratic column in the election.

Wilson carried the state by about 100,000. Taft defeated Roosevelt by about 50,000. Taft carried his home city by a safe majority. Nicholas Longworth was re-elected by a small majority.

The Democrats will control both houses in the state legislature.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

Iowa Contributes Her Electoral Vote to the Democratic Nominee

Des Moines, Nov. 7.—Latest available returns indicate that the Democrats have won a presidential election in Iowa for the first time in the state's history. Returns indicate a Wilson victory by about 10,000 votes.

George W. Clarke, Republican governor, and nine out of the eleven Republican congressmen are considered to have won. The Iowa legislature, which elects a senator, is thought to be Republican.

MEN TO WEAR BLINDERS.

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has determined to wage its warfare against the horse blinders and tight check-reins by showing the effect this treatment would have on a human being.

Before long there will be men on the streets of Boston wearing blinders an overdraw check which, at stated times, will be pulled tight to show how uncomfortable it would be should the device be used for mankind.

"It is astonishing how many people whom we stop and try to show the barbarity of the blinders declare they never had given the question any thought. If people can get an object lesson showing how uncomfortable and silly it would be for men to have to wear blinders, then they will, perhaps, think of this matter and more blinders will be removed," declared President Francis H. Rowley of the Society yesterday.

Chesterfield's Love Letter.

A famous love letter, cautious and clever, is that written in 1661 by Philip, earl of Chesterfield, to Lady Russell:

"Madam—The dullness of this last cold season doth afford nothing that is new to divert you; only here is a report that I fain would know the truth of, which is that I am extremely in love with you. Pray let me know if it be true or no, since I am certain that no one but yourself can rightly inform me, for if you intend to use me favorably and do think I am in love with you I most certainly am so, but if you intend to receive me coldly and do not believe that I am in love I also am sure that I am not. Therefore let me entreat you to put me out of a doubt which makes the greatest concern of

"Dear madam, your most obedient faithful servant.

"CHESTERFIELD."

Registration

CITY OF QUINCY

For the purpose of correcting the Annual Register of Voters, and of receiving evidence of qualifications from persons claiming a right to vote at the coming City Election, The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session in the Council Chamber in the City Hall building on the evenings of THURSDAY, Nov. 7, and MONDAY, Nov. 11, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock, also on

from 12 M. to 10 o'clock P. M., which will be the final session before the City Election.

Every applicant for registration must appear in person before the Board. Every male applicant must present either a certificate from the Assessors, or a Tax bill or notice from the Collector of Taxes, showing that he has been assessed a Poll Tax as a resident of the city on the first day of April last, or a certificate from the Assessors that he became a resident of the city prior to June 3, 1912. If a naturalized citizen, he must produce for inspection his papers of naturalization.

Persons who have lived in the State one year and in the city six months previous to December 3, if qualified in other respects, can be registered.

No names can be added to the registers except the names of voters examined as to their qualifications between the thirtieth day of April last and the close of registration on Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 10 o'clock P. M. The Board of Assessors will be in session at their office during the same hours.

BRIEFS

It is rumored about City Square this morning that papers were to be taken out by a West Quincy gentleman as an independent Democratic candidate for Mayor.

The Quincy Catholic Ladies club will hold a social whist at the Knights of Columbus rooms tonight under the direction of the hospitality and entertainment committee.

Councilman Charles W. Bailey will be the speaker on "What's the matter with Quincy?" at the next meeting of the good citizenship forum to be held at 12 o'clock, Sunday noon in the Wollaston Unitarian church.

H. B. Drew of New Bedford, immigrant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is to speak tomorrow night at the Quincy Y. M. C. A., under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary. His lecture on "Little men and women of the under world," will be illustrated by the stereopticon. The meeting is changed from afternoon to evening at 7.30 that men as well as women may attend.

The first meeting of the Registrars of Voters to revise the voting lists for the municipal election will be held at City Hall, Monday evening. These meetings are usually held in the City Council chamber but as there is to be an adjourned meeting of the Council that evening to canvas the election returns it looks as though the Registrars would have to use some other room.

NOMINATION PAPERS.

Nomination papers were taken out this morning for three independent candidates for councilmen from Ward Four. The candidates are Stephen B. Little, Patrick Tangney and Daniel F. Fitzgerald.

DISTRICT COURT.

Carl Horn was sentenced to three months in the house of correction for indecent exposure at Quincy. Appealed and held in $500 bonds for the grand jury.

Waldo H. Remington was fined $3 and Robert Kellow $5 for drunkenness at Quincy.

George B. French was arraigned for drunkenes at Quincy and was held in $100 bonds until Friday.

JOHN CASTS ARMOR ASIDE

For Period of Recreation After Warm Campaign

WARD FOUR CANDIDATES

A large number of Ward Four citizens regardless of party designation met at Progressive hall, Copeland street, Wednesday night. There were present Democrats, Republicans, Progressives and at least one Socialist, a good representation of all the heavy tax payers of the ward. The chief subject before the assembly was representation of the ward in the City Council. As one man present put it' "It was the prevailing opinion that Ward Four ought to be represented by solid men. Men that are not afraid to put their shoulders to the wheel and do their very best to stem the tide of extravagance, misrule and tax climbing in our beloved city." The meeting urged on "fighting John Evans" to put his armor on again, and fight for the ward, but no amount of urging would prevail. He says that he needs a good rest after the hard battle he has just fought, and lost, and that he has made his mind up to spend this winter partly in Washington and partly in Florida. After much discussion it was voted unanimously to present the names of Daniel F. Fitzgerald, Stephen B. Little and Patrick Tagney to the voters of the Ward for Councilman. The meeting was then adjourned to Monday night. After all had pledged to work for the ticket. Every voter in the ward is invited to attend .

OFFICERS TO BE INSTALLED.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the installation of the officers-elect of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus this evening. District Deputy John A. Foley and suite will officiate. All the state officers have been invited. Supper will be served by Burleigh and Martin.

GUNNING CAMP DESTROYED.

Fire, which probably started from a defective chimney destroyed the gunning stand and contents of William Norteman at Sheep Island Wednesday afternoon. No guns were in the stand and the few decoys were saved.

Mr. Norteman with two men had been at work on the grounds all day and at noon had used the stove to prepare dinner. It was about four o'clock when the fire was discovered. It was partially insured. The loss was probably $200.

A LIVING TOWER.

What is known as the "living tower," says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, stands on the very summit of a hill more than 200 feet high at Camp Meeker, a summer resort in Sonoma county, Cal. It was Captain Meeker, an old pioneer, who first conceived the idea of building a tower on the very summit of a high hill near his hotel, and while looking around one day for a suitable site he found four young redwood trees standing about twelve feet apart, representing a perfect square. The trees were each about 150 feet high. Fifty feet of each top was lopped off, and the work of building six stories was then commenced. From top to bottom the living tower was a hundred feet high.

Each floor is about 12 by 12 feet and rests on strong timbers, the ends of which are securely attached to the four trees by means of steel cables and bolts. So strongly was every part braced that the whole structure does not move as much as one would naturally suppose, even when rocked by heavy winds. In the building great care was taken by the workmen to cut only the branches growing on the inside of the square, and the trees were not chopped, mutilated or weakened any more than could be avoided.

Leading up from each story are broad stairways, so that one may ascend and descend with ease and perfect safety, while around the edge of each floor are strong railings to prevent accidents. Since this tower was completed the trees have grown and flourished just as well as before. This living tower is claimed to be the only one of its kind in the world.

ZOBO BAND MADE GOOD

Added Much to the K. and L. of H. Entertainment

The public entertainment of Maple lodge, Knights and Ladies of Honor, under the direction of Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, chairman of the committee, at Electa hall, Wednesday evening, was attended by over 100 people.

During the evening there was an address by Carleton T. Hicks of Boston, Grand Past Protector, who spoke on the merits of the organization. Protector Nellie M. Cate gave a speech of welcome, which was the signal for the fun to commence.

The entrance of the Zobo band was hilarious, and as they marched across the floor, headed by Miss Furnald, they were liberally applauded. After performing a few evolutions they seated themselves in the centre of the hall, where they dispensed popular music and jokes.

Miss Bertha A. Davenport of Norfolk Downs gave a cornet solo and Miss Ruth and Rena Garland of Dorchester gave mandolin solos. Mrs. Albert Heuson gave a vosal solo, and all were well received.

Refreshments were served in Protection hall and dancing was enjoyed.

The committee was Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, Mrs. Rose A Reed and Mrs. Albert Heuson.

The band consisted of Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, Mrs. Alberta Heuson, Mrs. Emma Marnock, Mrs. Rose A. Reed, Mrs. C. G. Fletcher, Miss Lena Allen, Miss Margaret Tibbets and Miss Isabella McBirnie. Mrs. E. L. Rhines presided at the piano for the band selections.

CITY LEAGUE TO CONTINUE

Satisfaction Over the Work of the Season Just Closed

At a meeting of the officials of the Quincy City League at the home of Charles W. Ganzel Wednesday evening it was voted to continue the league next summer unless something unforseen happens.

The work of the season which closed a few weeks ago was reviewed and there was considerable satisfaction expressed with the results.

Mr. Ganzel related a number of interesting incidents while he was a member of the champion Detroit team and of his later experiences with the Bostons. He exhibited a medal which was presented to him as a token of esteem by the fans.

Baseball topics in general were discussed during the evening and refreshments were served by Miss Gladys Ganzel.

THE LURE OF GOLD

A ROAD TO WEALTH AND CRIME

It Led to the Richest Deposits of Gold, In a Relatively Small Territory, Ever Discovered—Days of Strenuous Life and Frenzied Lawlessness.

The Bonanza trail began at Fort Laramie, Wyo. It ran east of the Owl Creek mountains, west of the Big Horn mountains, in a northwest direction to Livingston and Bozeman, then forking to the present Helena and Virginia City. In war and Indian department annals it is known as the Bozeman trail. Immediately, however, it was given the more romantic name, and for the best of reasons. It led to what were the richest deposits of gold, in a relatively small territory, that the world had ever seen.

Out of Alder gulch and Last Chance gulch, within 200 miles of each other in Montana, was taken, in ten short years, considerably more than $500,000,000 in pure gold. It was anybody's fortune, and the wonderful luck of the California gold diggers a few years before roused men to brave every hardship for these prizes.

It did not matter at all that these gulches were 2,000 miles from the nearest railroad and that other gold fields were far easier to reach. Here was the great El Dorado, and without a qualm the gold seekers hurried into the unknown territory, defying Red Cloud and every other Indian, outlaw, renegade and holdup man.

How many lives were sacrificed along this trail to wealth will never be known. All that is certain is that there never was another chapter in the world's history like this. The long road into the mysterious country and the settlements of mining camps grew up almost in a single night. There were only five men in the little party when Bill Fairweather "washed" the first pan in Alder gulch and made a discovery even more wonderful than any in the palmy days of California or even in the later era of the Klondike.

Two years later Alder gulch, at one of the Bonanza trail's two ends, was among the most picturesque places in the country. The world was ransacked for men and women to give performances at the theaters, to offer free entertainment to the patrons of the various resorts. The gold hunters, gorged with prosperity, wanted amusements. Fine restaurants were opened and food brought in at great expense from beyond the seas. The smallest money was a twenty-five cent pinch of gold dust, taken from a pouch. It bought less than a copper cent does in any part of the United States today.

Meantime an unending stream of people poured into the new country. It is estimated by some that 90,000 in all took the trail at Fort Laramie.

The days of the trail were those of frenzied lawlessness, and many are the picturesque stories that have come down. Over the big road disputes about cards were of daily occurrence. The man who started an argument did so with the knowledge that it was his life or the other man's, for he was calling into question the "honor" of the "shark." Swindlers sold "mines," fought with their proposed victims and killed without compunction.

Armed robbers ran off stock, stole horses from one class of immigrants and sold them to another. As the horse was the sole means of transportation and valuable beyond human life, "hoss stealing" was set down by the "districts" as a crime punishable by death. There were few courts, and such as there were were miles from the trail. A jury would hence be at once impaneled among those present, the man tried and if found guilty hanged to a tree without ceremony.

Hotels flourished and were prosperous beyond imagining, for every one spent money, and there was much flaunting. In the higher grade establishments beverages were served in cut glass; champagne was common. Every resort was crowded with people. The newcomers frequented these places in quest of information, paid 25 cents for a glass of beer made from barley grown by the ex-Confederate soldiers at Bozeman and sold to the Virginia breweries for 8 cents a pound, and not enough could be received to supply the demand. Table board cost $7 a day for the very cheapest, and if one slept in a chair in the hotel lobby at night, when the rooms were all rented, he paid $1.50 for the privilege.

Gold was the only medium of exchange. A pinch of it, between the forefinger and the thumb, as has been said, counted 25 cents. There would be a tendency with some men to take just a little bit more. When that tendency was noticed in a man he was given hours to leave town—and it was seldom over two hours. The wise man did not stand on ceremony or protest—he "vamoosed," in camp vernacular.

The newspapers of the city sold for 25 cents a copy, red hot from the press, and full of news of lynchings, new diggings, "clean ups," "hold ups," "bad men" and gossip of a breezy character. Ham and eggs to order cost $2.50. Eggs were worth 50 cents apiece and an ordinary meal of deer or buffalo meat, with potatoes or coffee and bread, was never less than $1.50. A man was very poor to get down to fare so coarse as that.

It made no difference what a man might have been back in "the states;" if he was "on the square" in Virginia he was accepted at par.—F. J. Arkins in Harper's Weekly.

PONTIAC STARS THE ATTRACTION

Against Quincy A. A. Saturday at Merrymount

The Pontiacs of Roxbury, rated as one of the fastest football teams of the season play the Quincy A. A. at Merrymount Park Saturday afternoon. The visitors have not been defeated. The team consists of former St. Alphonsus players, college and school stars. The inside rules will no doubt govern the game since Quincy has perfected a number of plays whereby it is hoped to gain ground which they have not been taking. Hard practice is being put in and will probably show the results Saturday.

MRS. MAGINN BURIED.

Mrs. Ellen Maginn, who died Tuesday was buried from the home of her daughter Mrs. Katherine Collins, 164 Willard street this morning. A high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William J. Duffy and interment was at St. Mary's cemetery. The Gregorian chant was sung under the direction of Miss Francis Cronin, organist. Mrs. James L. Fennessy was the soloist. The bearers were Cornelius Collins, Frank Collins, Michael L. Riley and Bartholomew Gunning. Edward D. Barrett was funeral director.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

Mrs. Mary A., widow of Alonzo G. Davis, died this morning at home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter H. Ripley, 40 Cross street, aged 88 years. Mrs. Davis was remarkably smart for one of her advanced age and has made her home with her daughter for some years. She was also the mother of the late Mrs. George H. Field.

SPLIT EVEN IN BOWLING

Best the Leaders Could Do with Argentine Inspectors

The Shipfitters, leaders of the Fore River bowling league and the Argentine Inspectors won two points each at the Coliseum alleys, Wednesday evening. A lead of 63 pins for the Inspectors on the first string was too great for the fitters to overcome in the total.

Binder and Smith, representing each team, tied at 95 for high single string, and Smith made the best total with 275.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 262 QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 8, 1912 PRICE TWO CENTS

RUSH MATTRESS TO BATH ROOM ---THEN RUSH OUT FOR FIREMEN

Strange Action of Two Excited Lodgers when Blaze was Discovered

Never Occurred to Them to Throw it Out of Window

Shortly before 6.30 this morning an excited man came running into the central fire station and informed the firemen that there was a fire in the building at the corner of School and Franklin streets occupied on the first floor as a store by J. H. Gillis and on the upper floor as a tenant by S. K. Ellis. The man said that he did not ring in the alarm as he did not want to call out the whole fire department.

It seems that two boarders, occupy one room in the house. Early this morning one of them got up and visited the bath room. Returning a few minutes later he was surprised to find the mattres on which his room mate was sleeping on fire. The two men grabbed the burning mattress, and instead of throwing it out of an open window, they carried it into the bath room and jammed it in the bath tub and then rushed out and closed the door. One of the men then ran to the fire station half a mile away and summoned help.

When the firemen arrived they found the house filled with smoke but had no difficulty in putting out the fire. When asked why he did not throw the burning mattress out of the window the man said he did not know, that he was probably too excited to think of that.

While the firemen were at this fire an alarm was sounded from Box 34 at 6.35. This was for a slight fire in the house of Mrs. Winslow Hobart on Verchild street.

The four year old grandchild of Mrs. Hobart had crawled out of his crib and securing a match set fire to his clothing after which he crawled back into the crib. In a few minutes the room and house was full of smoke.

The child was rushed out of the room and the alarm sounded. The fire department made short work of the fire when it arrived. It is considered remarkable that the child was not suffocated by the smoke. The loss in both fires was small.

MAGNETS THE SUBJECT.

The opening Saturday morning meeting in the Y. M. C. A. gym. will be addresed by E. P. Conlin, the county secretary, who will speak on the interesting subject of "Magnets." Admission to the gym. is by tag and judging by the number taken, these tags are in great demand. Mr. Conlin is always popular with boys and is both entertaining and inspiring in his talks to them. Note should be taken by the boys of the change in time and place of meetings. They begin at 10 o'clock and are in the "Gym."

ABELE RALLY IN SOUTH QUINCY

Candidate and Others Discuss Present Local Situation

SHAW QUOTES FIGURES

A rally in the interest of George W. Abele for Mayor was held Thursday evening at Malnati hall South Quincy and although the evening was stormy there was a good attendance of citizens. Councilman Charles W. Bailey presided and in opening spoke of the conditions that had brought about the high tax rate, which he claimed was due to inefficiency and extravagance. He said that Mayor Stone had done nothing to change these conditions but had done many things that had aggravated them.

Irving L. Shaw spoke of the conditions as he had found them and as he had described in his letters in the Ledger. He also spoke particularly of the water department. That it was not on a paying basis and that the deficiency had actually increased. That Commissioner Bainbridge had made an investigation and reported about 75 per cent of the water purchased from the Metropolitan supply was wasted yet nothing had been done by Mayor Shea or Mayor Stone to look into the matter and stop the leakage. He also spoke of the water rates and said that the city was selling the Fore River Co., water for six cents a 1000 gallons which was four cents less than cost and that other consumers were charged 23 cents. He believed in encouraging industries but should not make a gift to them.

Councilman Cunningham said that the debt of $150,000 was largely due to the failure of the assessors to make an honest tax rate. Not for many years had they made the proper allowance for abatements. He further said that Mayor Stone had a splendid opportunity to cut down the deficiency but that instead of raising $40,000 for abatements he had only raised $6,500. Of this sum $2,500 was used to abate taxes on property on which the city held tax titles, so that the present rate only allowed $4,000 for abatements. He also critized the Tax Collectors department for their failure to collect taxes properly and claimed the office of showing favoritism.

Candidate Abele replied to the statement made by Mayor Stone at the Park and Downs church for his having caused the investigation of the Woodward Fund in 1908. This was the only attack that had been made on his record of three years as a member of the City Council.

Mr. Abele described the laxity of method that had been conducted in the management of the Fund at the time and told of the change in the ordinance governing the management of the fund which he had succeeded in having passed so that now all loans made by the fund were under the same rules as governing the loans of Savings banks. This was one of

RURAL LODGE PROSPEROUS

Reports Show Gains in Membership and Funds

ELECTION AND INSTALLATION

The annual reports of Rural lodge, A. F. and A. M., at the annual communication Thursday evening were most gratifying to the members, as there has been an unusual increase in members, a large increase on the general fund, a gain in the permanent fund, and the lodge has several thousand dollars in its charity fund.

Bro. Joseph L. Whiton attended the meeting and presented the lodge with the bequest of his father, $100, which was added to the permanent fund to be known as the Joseph L. Whiton fund.

The election of officers was unanimous, there being only one or two changes. Rt. Wor. Walter S. Pinkham, district deputy grand master, was present, and with Wor. Bro. Charles E. Monroe of Wollaston lodge as grand marshal, installed the following:

Worshipful Master—Frank A. Reed.
Senior Warden—H. Everett Crane.
Junior Warden—Frederick E. Tupper.
Treasurer—Alexander Falconer.
Secretary—Walter E. Simmons.
Chaplain—Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson.
Marshal—Joseph P. Prout.
Senior Deacon—Henry P. Hayward.
Junior Deacon—Edward B. Marsh.
Senor Steward—Horace W. Rice.
Sentinel—William Patterson.
Tyler—Arthur Crowley.

Past Master Albert M. Parker, in behalf of the lodge, presented a beautiful past masters' jewel to Wor. Frank A. Reed, who has completed one year.

The lodge voted a generous donation to the Masonic Home, and transferred $250 to the permanent fund.

The new chaplain of the lodge is the pastor of the First church, and the new tyler one of the popular members of the lodge. Applications for membership are received at every meeting.

SYMPATHY FOR MAYOR STONE

And Family on Serious Illness of His Daughter

Mayor Stone has the sympathy of his many friends in the serious illness of his daughter Miss Edith Stone. The young lady was taken ill Saturday with diptheria since which time Mayor Stone has been obliged to seek a home in the Greenleaf. Thursday the young lady had a bad turn, owing to her weak heart and two physicians were at her bedside all night., This morning she is reported as being a little more comfortable.

MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN

FEW MICAWBERS

The political situation is assuming more than an amusing proportion and with the Progressives anxious to place a full ticket in the field matters are all the more complicated. The question of securing a candidate for mayor is the bone of contention among the members of the Bull Moose and several candidates have been mentioned.

Col. Henry L. Kincaide, who because of the splendid showing in the congressional fight states that he is not in the race. John L. Miller, treasurer of the Progressive Party committee in this city has entered on independent papers and would probably accept the endorsement of the part.

A few weeks ago John L. Miller said that Mr. Abele had promised to support him for mayor and that the entrance of the candidate was a complete surprise.

Mayor Stone has taken out papers, opened campaign quarters and will conduct an aggressive campaign for the Republican nomination.

John H. Johnson, a member of the state committee and an active Bull Mooser has been prominently connected with a rumor which may result in his entering the fight. Mr. Johnson gave out the following statement Thursday evening:

"I do not intend to solicit the nomination for mayor on the Progressive Party ticket, and to this date I have done nothing which can be interpreted as having been in the interests of my candidacy. However, if the party as a whole, agree that I would make a good candidate, without any contest whatsoever, I would feel that it would be my duty to accept the post. Otherwise I am not giving the matter any serious thought as far as I myself am concerned.

"I consider it a man's duty to support the winner when two men are running for the nomination on the same ticket and any other policy is unfair to a political opponent."

James H. Penniman who is the democratic nominee is waiting a few days before starting his campaign and it is said that he will receive the solid support of the party. However rumor says that another man will enter the race but no active signs have developed as yet.

PROGRESSIVES MAY CONTEND

For Places in the City Council Under Some Conditions

A mass meeting of the Progressive party is to be held next Monday evening. It is probable that final action will be taken at this meeting relative to entering the municipal election. There are many members of the Progressive party who are opposed to entering municipal elections as the trend at the present time is the elimination of party designations in purely local affairs. In some of the wards however, where the men seeking election are considered weak it is possible that the majority of the Progressives would favor opposing them by stronger men.

WILSON TARGET OF MOST MYSTERIOUS ASSAILANT

President-Elect and Uncle Sam in Line of Hurtling Missile

But Only Their Pictures were in Any Danger

President Elect Woodrow Wilson, and his Uncle Samuel had a close call from complete annihilation, at the hands of an accurate mysterious assailant, but both were saved serious consequences by reason of the heavy armor plate glass which stood between them and the missle which was hurled with such unerring aim.

It may be as well to state at the outset, so that no wrong impressions may gain ground that the assault was not made upon Gov. Wilson in the flesh, but in the form of the picture, occupying the front window of the Ledger office, showing Uncle Sam extending the glad hand to the next president. If the missle had been more penetrating, if had reached that velocity which would insure its penetration of the plate glass armor plate behind which the picture stood, then Gov. Wilson certainly would have been torn into scraps, and Uncle Sam would have shared the same fate, but as he is only a mythical figure anyway, his spirit would still have roamed at large whether in pieces or one solid junk. The aim was true, remarkably so, and destructive as well, as a plate glass window was punctured with a hole about an inch in diameter, with all the radiating cracks surrounding it, and on either side, a wavy, curling artistic line, marks the complete break in the glass from one casement to the other.

It is a beautiful break. The lines nd curves are perfect. It would have done credit to an artist. But that is another story. The cause of the crashing glass, the near escape of the governor and uncle Sam are mysteries which the local police have been called upon to solve and if they fail, Sherlocke Holmes, Stealthy Steve and a few other notables, probably Mutt and Jeff may be called upon to clear the mystery.

While the window is broken good and plenty and the evidence indisputable on that point, the question is how did it happen. Was is accident or design? Certainly there could be no grounds for dynamiting the Ledger office an and as for wilfully and maticously attempting to annihilate two pictures on one paper, that appears to be absurd and beyond consideration.

It may have been the work of some crank who was either aggrieved at the election of Wilson, or mistook Uncle Sam for a long lost uncle who had failed to remember him in the will. Anyway the glass is broken, but the picture remains intact and the police are on the trail.

It was shortly after the noon hour, Thursday, when the bookkeeper in the Ledger office on the ground floor heard, a sound, as if something coming in contact, with glass, then a slight grating and vibration, and a dull cracking sound as of ice formed over tidal regions, when the water recedes from beneath it. For a moment the young lady could not account for the noises, she is not inclined to Spiritualism she had no idea that it could be in the form of a message from the other world, but being a very matter of fact, young woman she immediately started out to ascertain the cause.

It was some little time before the full extent of the accident or its significance was revealed. The crack in the plate glass window was quite evident but how id it get there? Finally the hole in the glass, which was hidden from the inside by the picture of Wilson and Uncle Sam was revealed and the fact that the glass was broken from the outside was quite evident. But how and by whom? There was the rub.

The police station was notified and Chief Burrell, was soon on the scene. He at first concluded that the window must have been broken from the inside. It was pointed out to him however that if this was a fact, not a theory, the picture would have shown some signs of the contact with the missle. But there was no mark on the picture. Again if the missle had penetrated the window from the outside it would have damaged the face of the picture. The whole thing was a mystery. Search on the inside failed to locate a rock or any other missile which could have broken the glass.

The theory of its being broken from the inside has been abandoned. The bookkeeper is not a member of the Progressive party or a suffragette, so that she could not be expected to be throwing things around to the end of

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A certain Boston office seeker is entitled to a monument from the Republicans of Massachusetts for saving them the legislature.

The local political pot is commencing to boil at fever heat. Look out that it does not boil over and scald a few of the feeders.

While these congratulations are being thrown around so promiscuously to this and that chairman for carrying out their pledge to deliver this or that state, the candidates should not lose sight of the fact, that the "plain people" had something to do with the little affair.

When it comes to Poverty Parties there are a few who can shine resplendent in their regular regalia.

Governor Wilson need have no fear that his cabinet will be picked out for him hundreds of times between now and the time he makes his own choice.

Some of the Boston cafes have had their licenses suspended for selling to school girls. The punishment hardly fits the crime.

If the licenses of all the cafes in the Boston theatre district which could be circled by a clever lariat thrower were revoked. Boston would be none the loser.

November is doing very well so far. Let it continue and again nature will materially aid in solving the coal problem.

Prosperity brings its own reward. One cannot eat their pie and still have it, neither can prosperity be obtained without the price.

Even if the Thanksgiving day proclamation is delayed, it will prove no great loss, as every one has the date red lettered.

Has Hobson lost his voice or the art of kissing. Not a word from him about war for the past few months.

That big diamond is not only off color but is has shrunk in size. Who cares any, but few people are in a position to wrangle over it.

Did the souls of Rosenthal and Zelig pass through the Tenderloin on the way to the goal?

That machine of the chief's can certainly make a noise when it comes to color.

A professor argues for more morality in the statutes. The poor things what have they got to do with it. They do the best they can in pointing out wrong and providing a remedy, but it seems as if they had little to do with the operation. Another throwing together of words to little effect or purpose.

Business, of course business is going to keep moving. Did any one imagine that it could stop.

Tomorrow there will be more numerous gatherings of long-haired, wild-eyed youths, tearing each other apart, while thousands will look on and yell their approval.

The only thing that would induce us to imitate John D. in having 33 telephones in the house would be a pretty blonde operator at each one.

An Evansville, Ind., man has left a certificate of deposite to be kept for the use of the city for 250 years, when it will amount to $19,956,400; but by that time Evansville will be a ward of Chicago and the alderman will have the coin.

Army aviators have invented a noiseless aeroplane; but can it fall without the dull sickening thud?

Chairman Riley says he cannot understand the logic of Massachusetts voters who elected a president by 50,000 plurality and failed to elect a legislature. Then he is alone in his conclusions. Any school boy could give the answer off hand.

HIS STEWARDSHIP.

Mayor Stone has received an invitation to talk before the members of the Wollaston Unitarian club, Sunday The mayor has declined to accept the invitation to appear before the club in the church on Sunday, but he has not refused to speak to the Wollaston Unitarian club and the citizens of Wollaston on campaign issues. In declining the invitation, Mayor Stone suggests that Sunday is not a good day to discuss politics and especially in a church which is dedicated to the work of God.

Many would jump to the conclusion that in declining this invitation the Mayor is dodging the issue and refuses to discuss politics or city affairs. In justice to the Mayor it must be admitted that he has no such intention. He has notified the committee, that his campaign committee would be gratified to hire a hall any week night where he would appear and "discuss the condition of the city and give an account of his stewardship." This seems a fair proposition The members of the club could find it convenient to attend this session and would be able to secure as much information from the Mayor as at the Sunday session. The Mayor thus gives, not only members of the club a chance to hear him, but the citizens of that section of the city at the same time.

GUARDING SCHOLARS HEALTH.

Guard the health of the school children by all means. They are the men and women of tomorrow and on their strength and stability the future of the country depends.

The Board of Health has taken steps to prevent the spread of any disease or sickness among the children even in the mildest forms. Many mild cases of the regular run of contagious diseases are hardly perceptible at first, and in no wise are those inexperienced in their forms or treatments able to decide upon their approach. With this understanding the Board of Health has taken steps to safeguard against incipient cases gaining a foothold and then becoming an epidemic. They have acquainted themselves with the early symptons of many of the diseases. A circular letter has been sent to every teacher containing instructions and advice in case any of those symptons develop. The teacher is told very plainly what to expect in certain cases. The minute those signs manifest themselves the teacher is instructed to send the child home for treatment and the pupil must not return until given a clean bill of health by a doctor. This seems a wise and reasonable regulation. It may happen that the child may not be afflicted or only mildly so, but in either case an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure and it is better that one scholar should lose a few hours than that a whole school should lose by reason of illness and quarantine.

SOME RESTRAINT NEEDED.

Some of the Boston cafes are not finding it such easy sailing, while violating the law without regard to form of decency. A few of them have had their licenses suspended for a period. Judging of the offences, the punishment hardly fits the crime. In one case however the place was not so much open to censure, as the person who aided the grammar school girls to secure intoxicants. According to the story an elderly person accompanied by two girls of grammar school age, after being refused drinks at several places finally reached a second floor cafe, and the girls drank several cocktails. The elderly person who accompanied those children was worse than the waiter who served them. He knew the place, its location and reputation. He also should have known that the children were of no age to drink intoxicating liquors, so that he should come in for a share of punishment. If he was parent or legal guardian of one or the other of the children, application should be made to put them in proper custody immediately.

NO PARTICULAR USE.

The vigorous and persistent efforts of that fire bug who desires the removal of that old house on Hancock street may some time be rewarded. It is not good form or according to law to incite, encourage or suggest, incendiaryism, but no one would be sorry, or consumed with regret if they woke up some fine morning and found that the building had been removed by natural means.

The fire department has been called out on numerous occasions to quench fires in this building. The structure does not appear to be of any particular use. It is old, dilapitated, and gone to wrack and ruin. No income is derived from it and it is hardly a taxable proposition. It is rather an objectionable feature to an otherwise nice street.

It costs money every time the fire department is called out. It is safe to assume that the calls for fires to the building have cost more than the value of the building. It has been suggested as a means of saving money in the fire department also removing an unsightly structure and an abode for undesirables that the city buy the building or rather the ruin and remove it forthwith.

CHURCH MAN READS LESSON

To the Critics of Sunday Political Discussions

Editor Daily Ledger:

I sincerely hope that the correspondent in your Thursday issue, who objects to the good government meetings being held in a local church is not one of those Christians who believes in stowing away his religion on the shelf six days in the week and taking it down to dust on Sunday.

Perhaps I may be able to correct an error into which he appears to have fallen in supposing the meetings to take the place of the morning service of worship. Such is not the case, the meetings in question following directly after the regular service.

Neither do "political prejudices" enter into the meetings. The meetings are held for civic reform and are well in line with advanced ecclesiastical minds who believe that not only does the duty of the church lie in "the worship of God" but also in "the service of man."

The "gospel pure and simple," in the abstract, occupies a prominent place in our life today but much good can come from a gathering of reputable men banded together with a sincere and definite purpose for bettering the conditions surrounding themselves and their fellow beings. Well may the church countenance any move that looks toward living, on the other days of the week, the gospel preached on Sunday.

—For deliberately starting a dangerous fire in a woodland, a Taunton minor has been fined $50. This item deserves wide publicity. Two things worth while will thereby be promoted. In the first place, the exemplary action of the court will carry a measure of warning. In the second place, it will serve as a rule and guide to action where other culprits are brought to book. Administering a reprimand, or placing the case on file, is the common rule where minors are concerned, but the effectiveness of this this policy is hardly to be compared with a shock to the pocket nerve. Meanwhile, starting woodland fires around Taunton, for the sake of seeing things burn, is not going to prove a pastime.—Salem News.

PRIMITIVE LIGHTING

In Order at Wollaston When Electricity Failed

OWING TO SHORT CIRCUIT

Residences and buildings lighted by electricity in Wollaston were plunged into darkness shortly after 8.30 Thursday evening by a short circuit of the trunk line feeding that locality. The accident was caused by a huge tree limb, loosened by the high wind, which fell across the wires on Beale street near Hancock putting out all Wollaston house lights.

The street lights being on another circuit were not affected. The police line running along Beale street was broken.

A quiet game of pool was being enjoyed at the winter quarters of the Wollaston Yacht club when out went the lights and the members were obliged to fall back on a small oil lamp.

A choir rehearsal was in progress at the Park and Downs church when the accident occurred and one of the faithful had to hunt up the janitor to have the gas turned on.

At the Wollaston Methodist church the weekly prayer service was being held but as gas is also installed there the service was but momentarily interrupted.

Residents of Wollaston as a whole were compelled to fall back on the old fashioned candle, the long forgotten lamps and the light of the fire place.

WOMAN'S CLUB BUYS THE LAND

Desirable Site Selected for the New Club House

BY SQUANTUM WOMEN

The Squantum Women's club held a very interesting meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Foster, Park avenue. The most important business settled by the club was to buy land for a clubhouse, the site selected being the land offered by J. R. Nelson on the corner of Richfield street and Huckins avenue. A finance committee of three was appointed to attend to this matter Mrs. Hiram Morse, chairman, Mrs. James Foster and Mrs. L. B. Titus.

The club has been incorporated and Mrs. L. B. Titus presented the charter framed to the club. A vote of thanks was extended to her.

During the months of December, January, February and March the evening meetings of the club will be omitted. The afternoon meeting on the first Wednesday in the month will be held as usual.

It was voted to extend a vote of thanks to M. P. Coleman for his kind generosity in giving the use of the Vacation house for the harvest party held Saturday night.

After the meeting adjourned Mrs. Foster served a dainty lunch, assisted by Mrs. John Mardon, Mrs. Chas. Bostwich and Mrs. Robert Bell.

Heavens Literally Spilled Water on Mother Earth

FLOODING STREETS

The air felt like rain and the sky looked like rain all day Thursday but it was not until late in the afternoon that Quincy got its ducking, although it was reported that it was raining hard in Boston. The rain storm set in shortly after 3.30 o'clock and half an hour later was coming down in good shape. There was a little wind at this time. As the evening drew on the rain increased in volume and the wind in velocity so that by 7.30 it was raining and blowing hard. At times the rain came down by the bucketfulls and the wind whistled round the corners threatening destruction to imbrellas that it caught just right. The rain and wind continued all night and it was not until daylight this morning that there were any signs of clearing weather.

It was a very disagreeable evening to be about and few outside of those whose business took them out of doors got very far away from their own fireside.

As far as reported the storm did but little damage other than to flood the streets and blow down some of the dead limbs on trees.

EMBARGO ON "GREENERY"

Order Affecting New England Becomes Effective Nov. 25

Washington, Nov. 8.—Uncle Sam has officially put the ban on the New England variety of Christmas tree. The holiday evergreens were included in the scope of a quarantine order by the department of agriculture which will affect all shipments of conifers, decorative plants, cordwood, railroad ties, poles, etc., from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The quarantine is because of the fact that the gypsy and brown-tail moths, forest insect pests which have caused great damage in these states, may be carried in shipments to other sections of the country.

The ban becomes effective Nov. 25 and will probably cut off a big Christmas tree supply section.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE IN BOSTON AND VICINITY

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

David Belasco's production of "The Concert," that exceedingly well acted and brilliant comedy that is now being presented at the Hollis Street Theatre, begins its second and last week Monday night. This return engagement of "The Concert" promises to be a memorable one. Mr. Belasco has made several changes in the cast from when it was seen here last year and these changes have been improvements. The most important one, of course, being the leading female role, which is now played by Isabel Irving.

The main character of "The Concert" is still played by Leo Ditrichstein. Mr. Ditrichstein, who adapted this play from a German one of the same name, adds to the gaiety of the day by his remarkable impersonation of a musical genius. It would be hard to name another actor on the stage today who could give such a finished performance as Ditrichstein does in this difficult role.

"The Concert" is an unusual comedy inasmuch as the majority of the characters are portrayed by women. There are only three male parts in the play. Because of this reason it makes a particularly strong appeal to women playgoers. There will be a matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

BOSTON THEATRE.

Clifton Crawford, foremost among the singing comedians of the day, has at last achieved steller honors and under the management of Henry B. Harris will come to the Boston Theatre for a limited engagement in his new play, "My Best Girl," beginning Monday evening, November 11. There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and a special matinee on Thanksgiving Day.

The story of "My Best Girl" has to do with Dickie Vanderfleet (played by Mr. Crawford). He finds himself one morning in a car in an automobile salesroom. He had started the night before for the Mauretania and has been returned to the salesroom with the car. The car contains another passenger, a little girl who has crawled among the cushions to get warm. Upon discovering the girl Vanderfleet begins a romance which ends in his betrothal to "my best girl." This consummation, however, is not reached without startling events. With the musical show it is not the story that is of the greatest importance but the charm of the music and ensembles. In "My Best Girl," it is said charming musical numbers succeed each other ranging from the softly sentimental to the dashing military, and with that sort of variety which is the spice of musical comedy, as of life in general. Mr. Crawford scores legitimately from his very first number, a song entitled "If the Morning After Were the Night Before," which will readily convey an impression of its subject matter, and to those who have seen Mr. Crawford's nimble toes in action, "Come Dance With Me" will be sure to prove delightful.

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

An opperetta is a comedy with appropriate, indigenous, musical accompaniment. It is distinguished from musical comedy because the latter is generally a dramatic and musical crazy quilt. Now we know all about it, and therefore we know more than the average American author or composer or that rare affair, one who is called on the program a librettist.

This may be a vigorous, intolerant position to assume; but the announcement that "The Merry Widow," the queen of the Viennese operettas, will be offered by Henry W. Savage at the Majestic, Boston, for a limited engagement of two weeks, beginning Monday night, puts a lot of musical stiffening into one's spine, and causes the reflection that after all the American composer has had his lesson and either won't or is unable to benefit by it, most probably the latter.

So, Welcome "The Merry Widow," again. She has done us a world of good. She has driven the "professor of the pianoforte" back to work. Of course, in her train came many so called Viennese operettas. That was sure to happen. Every regimental band leader in Europe had stuff in his trunk which he unloaded on the American managers. Yet one has yet to come from the foreigners which can even equal Mr. Savage's masterpiece, "The Merry Widow."

Mr. Savage promises a complete, new and magnificent production for this season's version of the work. He has always kept faith with his public, it therefore goes without saying that he will not permit this standard of all the light opera standards to diminish in its glorious perfections.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Madame X" has been played everywhere with astounding success. It comes to the Castle Square on Monday evening assured of a cordial reception, for it tells a strongly dramatic story, and is filled with many thrilling emotional scenes. "Madam X" is an English version of a French play by Alexandre Bisson. Its central idea, and the basis of its great third act, is that the counsel for the defense of a prisoner charged with murder should all unknowingly be pleading for the life of his own mother. And there is no straining for effect, either. It all comes to pass reasonably and logicaly. Jacqueline Fleuriot is the heroine of the play, and it is only by an untoward force of circumstances that she is brought to trial for her life. The play shows especially the very interesting modes of legal procedure in the law courts of France. The role of Jacqueline Fleuriot, the Madame X of the play's title, will be acted by Mary Young, and she will bring all her strong emotional powers to bear upon the character. Mr. Craig will appear in the powerful role of Laroque. Wilson Melrose will play the husband, and others in the cast will be Donald Meek, Carney Christie, Al Roberts, Walter Walker, Mabel Colcord and Laurett Browne.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

Seven remarkable all-star features, everyone of them new to Boston audiences, are included in the bill announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. With Nina Payne and company in G. Molasso's spectacular Parisian pantomime, "La Sonambule" Albert Von Tilzer, the song writer; Ray Cox; Graham Moffatt's Players in "The Concealed Bed;" the Great Fulgora; Tom Dingle and the Esmeralda Sisters; and Harvey Devora Trio among the principal features, the program abounds in novelty and fun. "LaSonambule" is by far the most startlingly sensational dancing act Mr. Molasso has ever produced. Mile. Payne is not only a skilful pantomimist, but a woman of striking beauty, and she is supported by a large company of French artists; Albert Von Tilzer, the composer of many catchy popular song hits, will sing some of his latest compositions; while Ray Cox brings a new act that is in itself a striking novelty. Miss Cox appears in a big aeroplane high above the stage, introducing some of her well-known character impersonations and songs Graham Moffatt, author of "Bunty Pulls The Strings," is responsible for "The Concealed Bed," presented by a troupe of bona-fide Scottish comedians; while Tom Dingle, the famous eccentric dancer, and the Esmeralda Sisters are another pair of newcomers. The Act Beautiful is the story of a hunting trip reproduced in marble statuary, while the Harvey Devora Trio is a lively dancing turn. Other features yet unannounced, will complete the bill.

SHOOT THE DANCE ORDER

Gym Girls Give Party and Bouquet is Technical

The Quincy Gym. Girls, who have attained a state wide reputation because of their basket ball team held their annual dance at Alpha hall, Thursday evening and there was a large attendance. Florence Black, four years of ago, distributed the dance orders to the guests as they entered the hall. She was dressed in pink and was the centre of an admiring group during the entire evening.

The order represented a game, and was divided into first and second half. The first dance was marked "shoot" and the last dance was "we score." Punch was served during the evening by Miss Edith Mullen of the team.

The Quincy Gym. Girls have been organized two years and have met and defeated the best girls team in the state. They do all their practicing without a gymnasium, although they commenced playing the game at the Woodward Institute and Quincy High school. The games are played at St. Mary's hall and it is planned to open the season on Dec. 4 when the Needham Gym Girls will come to Quincy.

KIND NEIGHBOR BROUGHT LIGHT

To Relieve the Darkness at the School Entertainment

LECTURE INTERRUPTED

Charles W. Johnson was scheduled to give his illustrative lecture on Washington, the great American at the Parents and teachers association of the Massachusetts Fields' school Thursday evening, but an accident to the wires put the stereopticon out of commission early and the program was neccessarily shortened. When the lights went out a couple of discarded oil lamps were secured for service.

The program opened with a stirring solo, "The last of the old guard"" by A. H. Charles Bishop with Miss Henrietta C. Gram as accompanist. As a prelude to the lecture "Marching through Georgia" was sung by a sextette of girls from the eigth grade, who were present as guests, the remainder of the grade joining in the chorus. The salute to the flag was also given. The six girls were: Eleanor Stuart, Lillian Jones, Velma Haskins, Ruth Decker, Lucy Shay and Isabelle Eaton. During the song war pictures were thrown on the screen.

A picture of Washington and a view of his birthplace had been displayed when the light trouble occurred.

During the wait which followed two solos "Storyland" and "Let me dream" were sung by Mr. Bishop. The meeting closed with the singing of "America,"

Toward the close of the meeting, one of the neighbors, thinking the school must be in complete darkness, entered with a lighted lamp and received a hearty round of applause.

PEPYS' LITTLE FEAST.

At Which the Diarist Fared Better Than He Did on Washday.

Mr. Samuel Pepys, of the famous "Diary," had rather more than his share of human weaknesses and frailties, but had he been a better man it is certain that his "Diary" would have been a duller book.

It is, for example, an undoubted fact that Mr. Pepys was something of a gormand—was rather fonder of the table and of the delights thereof than a really wise man ought to have been. It is to this trait in his character and to his curious habit of jotting down rough notes of what he had had for dinner that we owe a thousand little details regarding the table of well to do Englishmen in the reign of his majesty King Charles II., of hilarious memory.

What will be thought of the following for a nice, dainty little meal? It is the menu of a little "feast," as he calls it, which the diarist gave every year in commemoration of his being operated on successfully for a dangerous disease. He proudly chronicles that the dishes on this occasion included "a fricassee of rabbits and chickens, a leg of mutton boiled, three carps in a dish, a great dish of a side of lamb, a dish of roasted pigeons, a dish of four lobsters, three tarts, a lamprey pie"—a most rare pie—"a dish of anchovies and good wine of several sorts. And all things mighty and noble and to my great content," he adds complacently.

The number of guests on this occasion is not given, but at another time, with six guests, he has "after oysters a hash of rabbits and lamb and a rare chine of beef; next a great dish of roasted fowl—cost me about 30 shillings—and a tart, and then fruit and cheese."

About 10 o'clock at night he sends his guests away "after a good sack possett and cold meat." The whole will cost him, he observes, about £5—say £20 of present day English money.

These are what the diarist calls "feasts." On ordinary occasions the fare is, of course, much more modest—for instance:

"Dined at home with my wife. It being washing day, we had a good pie baked of a leg of mutton."

No doubt the poor man was thankful enough to get that, for one gathers from the "Diary" that he generally had cold meat on washing days. In those days, look you, washing day was—washing day. Mrs. Pepys and her "people"—two or three maids and a cook maid—did it themselves—no washerwomen, and the good lady and her helpers were generally up at 4 o'clock in the morning in summer.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER CAUSE

Women Progressives Planning Active Operations

FINANCED OWN CAMPAIGN

The women Progressives, like the men Progressives, are even more enthusiastic over their cause than they were prior to election. Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the women Progressives from all over the State will meet in Kingsley Hall, Ashburton Place, and form a permanent organization.

Miss Alice Carpenter or Miss Frances Kellar, will address the gathering. It is expected that this meeting will be a large one, and all enrolled women Progressives are invited to be present.

The Massachusetts women Progressives are proud of their part in the campaign in Massachusetts. They financed their own campaign, ran their own meetings, and not only helped the men to run their meetings, but helped finance the regular party campaign.

The women Progressives expect to do big things in the future, and it is to outline the future policies and lay plans for the broadening out of their organization that Tuesday's meeting is to be held.

ABELE RALLY

the best things he had ever done in the council.

He also spoke of the water department and the great leakage as reported by Commissioner Bainbridge and said if elected he would see that the leakage was stopped and that water was not sold for less than cost to any party. He would look into the matter of utilizing the water in the old reservoir which he believed could be utilized for manufacturing purposes by the granite men at South Quincy and manufacturing plants in the Point district. In this way the amount paid the state for water would be cut down.

Councilman Murray spoke of the work of the City Council and the alleged clique. That vague charges had been made against this so called clique but up to the present time Mayor Stone or none of his friends had come out in public and stated who they were or measures he had favored for the benefit of the city that the alleged clique had opposed.

He supposed that the clique referred to Councilmen Bailey, Abele, Murray, Cunningham and President Hobbs. The alleged clique supported the measure for an advisory board but did oppose the order for $1,000 for July Fourth celebration. He did not believe under the present conditions the city could afford to let that amount of money go up in smoke. He also said that the Mayor had personally lobbied the City Council to secure the passage of this order.

That when the order was under consideration the Council Chamber was packed but that after the order was passed Mayor Stone and the audience left the Council Chamber and he held a reception outside. The Mayor told the members of the Council they must vote for it as he had promised before election that the money would be appropriated.

He also spoke of the work of the special committee on Financial investigation. This committee had found that the Auditor was not an auditor in fact but that he only had the power to O K bills. That the special committee reported an ordinance giving him full power of a real auditor such as any business house would and that the Mayor had vetoed it. Before this order was reported it was referred to the state Bureau of Statistics and had ben approved by them. He also spoke of the fact that the sewer department had a deficiency of $100,000. That the Commissioner of Public Works had at the repuest of the committee raised the estimate and that the committee had reported an order changing the rates which were calculated to reduce the deficiency. Those were also vetoed and the order was still on the table. Both of these measures were supported by the so called clique.

WILSON TARGET

destroying property and the suffragettes of Quincy, have not yet reached the militant practices of their London sisters, unless it broke out yesterday. In the present campaign, the Ledger has endeavored to be fair to the Suffragettes who have been campaigning hereabouts, so that they would have no cause for doing the Londonesque act or performing like the late lamented Carrie Nations. So there you are. It is a tough proposition which ever way you look at it..

It is hardly reasonable to assume that any sensible person, threw a rock out of spite against the Ledger, or from pure cussedness because they disliked to see Wilson in the President's chair. That is really too small or petty to give any consideration. The incident cannot be blamed to boys with blow guns, because those weapons hardly have the power to send a ball with force enough to break a plate glass window. It might have been caused by an enthusiastic and careless youth with plain desires who had got possession of a small rifle.

A search outside the building and inside as well for bullets, dynamite, paving blocks, burglars jimmies and a few other things of like character failed to locate a single suspicious article. But hold, under the window, near the curb stone a small stone peacefully reposed. This appeared to be the only reasonable solution of the mystery. That stone did the trick. It flew up, from the street, or was hurled with malice aforethought with destructive idea and annihilating tendency. Any way to get down to plain English and forget the Choctaw, it is reasonable to suppose that a simple innocent little stone did the trick.

There is another way in which it could have been sent on its mission. It might have been reposing peacefully in the street, and snapped up by a passing automobile. The force of such method of sending projectiles, is something remarkable. This seems to be a reasonable solution of the mystery. At any rate, the plate glass window is a wreck. Uncle Sam and Wilson came out of the conflict unscathed. No one was hurt fortunately, and it is believed that the City Square squad will be sufficient to guard picture and window without calling on the secret service for a special detail for the purpose.

Men Who Walked on All Fours.

In the kingdom of Poland there was formerly a law according to which any person found guilty of slander was compelled to walk on all fours through the streets of the town where he lived accompanied by the headle, as a sign that he was disgraced and unworthy of the name of man. At the next public festival the delinquent was forced to appear crawling upon hands and knees underneath the banqueting table and barking like a dog. Every guest was at liberty to give him as many kicks as he chose, and he who had been slandered must toward the end of the banquet throw a picked bone at the culprit, who, picking it up with his mouth, would leave the room on all fours.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

The Thursday Evening Club will hold a public whist party for the members and their wives on Nov. 14. During the entertainment which will follow the whist, "Buck" O'Brien and Harry Lyons of the Red Sox quartette will appear in a specialty, and Le Roy Nevin will demonstrate how black art works. The committee in charge is Sam Wood, George Arnold, Albert Wood, Dr. A. Poalucci and Walter McGuire.

The discharge of two veterans from the public works of the town have resulted in the circulation of a petition for a special town meeting to take action on a recent law, which if accepted by the voters will pension the veterans. Deep interest has been aroused and those who are circulating the petitions say that they hope to have the act accepted.

Jacob A. Turner, a member of the Thursday Evening Club entertained the members Oct. 31 and proved an ideal host.

The recent political contest which resulted in the defeat of candidate Aldrich for representative by John J. Gallagher was of more than passing moment to the East Milton residents. Mr. Gallagher has been of much assistance to the voters during town meetings. He has fought their fights and although he won by only nine votes no fear is expressed that the recount which has been called for will make any changes.

A dance in aid of the football team will be held at the gym, Nov. 20 Manager Joseph Rein and Stanley Hearn are in charge of the event.

Mrs. George Choate, age about 65 years, fell while leaving the late train Wednesday night at the East Milton station and sutsained cuts and abrasions about the head and an injured ankle. She was removed to her home on Martin Terrace and was unconscious until 9 o'clock Thursday morning. She is now doing well. Mrs. Choate was one of a party of East Milton residents who were returning from Revere where they witnessed the marriage ceremony of her son Frederick Choate.

Roland Freithy is at his home, Granite avenue, where he is recovering from a shock and injuries received by falling from a tree on Canton avenue on Wednesday. Mr. Freithy is employed by the town for the extermination of moths and was on duty when the accident occurred. He is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sheldon have started on a three weeks' trip and will return about Dec. 1.

The following executive committee of the Church of Our Saviour were elected Tuesday evening; S. C. Lord of Centre street, George Arnold, John Ford, James Gibbs, Clerk H. F. Briley and Treasurer Robert Sweeney. The election was held at the church rooms and Rev. Ernest Marriett, the pastor presided.

Wednesday evening the Girls Friendly Society of East Milton gave a concert at the parish house of the church and Rev. W. D. Roberts, a former pastor and Rev. Ernest Marriett were given a reception. A supper was served during the evening and among those present were Frank Dunlop, Elmer Richardson, Leonard Elms, Daniel A. Hart, Miss Ethel Elms, Miss Eleanor Dwight, Mrs. Edward Richardson, Miss Bessie Elms and Miss Laura Richardson.

The athletic association of the Milton high school has chosen Kingsley Barnes as president. Other officers are secretary, Sigreid Kenseth; treasurer, Irving Carson; vice president, Edwin Melvin. Joseph Pool was temporary president.

Nov. 13, at Ellsworth hall there will be an entertainment under the auspices of the J. W. Allstork club for the benefit of the Rush. A. M. E. Zion church of Cambridge. The Baker quartette is one of many program numbers. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Coffey are the committee in charge.

VALUABLE BIRD BOOK

It is a finely bound, elegantly printed and fully illustrated volume of over six hundred pages of such a character that it stands apart from all other bird books ever published in this country. It is unique in that it gives a narrative of the former abundance of the birds of Eastern North America that are hunted for food or sport, a history of their decrease and the causes therefor, and points clearly to the remedy. No volume has ever treated this subject so fully as a question of economics.

The introduction shows how the United States was formerly the greatest game bird country in the world, and describes graphically the abundance of these birds in early times.

In part I, practically all the game birds, wild fowl and shore birds of the United States are described in "language understanded of the people" and the common names by which gunners know each bird are printed as well as the scientific names. A history is given of the rise and fall of each species, together with its habits, migration, notes and something of its food.

Part II, sets forth the history of the birds hunted for food or sport that have disappeared from this region or become extinct since the settlement of the country. Here we learn how birds have been exterminated.

Part III, discusses the utility of game birds, the causes of their depletion and the means of protecting them and increasing their numbers.

Experience has shown that the entire first edition of a book by this author would be exhausted in a few days if free distribution were allowed. For this reason the Legislature has limited the free copies to public libraries in Massachusetts towns, certain schools in towns which have no libraries, public State and Territorial libraries and certain State officials. Under the law, the book may be sold to the public by the Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture at the State House, Boston, at not less than the cost of printing, binding and plates. The demand for the first edition is so great that other editions have been provided for by legislative act.

The decrease of the once abundant game of America has attracted wide attention throughout the civilized world and this book coming as it does, when Americans are beginning the attempt to conserve game, is a timely contribution to an interesting and important subject. It appeals to sportsmen, gunners, nature lovers, farmers and everyone who is interested in the outdoor world.

The work is a companion book to "Useful Birds and their Protection," a large, cloth-bound volume, which has already run through three editions.

BIG PLURALITY BREAKS RECORD

It Will Be In Excess of 2,500,000 For Wilson

ELECTORAL VOTE IS 439

Democratic Nominee Carries Illinois and Iowa, but Vote of "Cornfields" Swings Minnesota Into Roosevelt Column—Democrats Have Half Membership of Next Senate, With Marshall to Decide Tie

New York, Nov. 8.—Woodrow Wilson will have the unprecedented total of 4339 votes in the electoral college and has a good chance of adding the three votes of Wyoming, as it will require the official count there to determine whether Taft or Wilson won.

Theodore Roosevelt will be second, with the electoral votes of Pennsylvania, Michigan, South Dakota, Washington and Minnesota, a total of 77. President Taft is third. He surely has the states of Idaho, Vermont and Utah and the chance of getting Wyoming when the count is completed.

This was made certain when the revised figures became available. Roosevelt lost Kansas and Illinois, which he had steadily claimed from the earliest report. But he gained Minnesota when the vote of the "cornfields" began to come in. The farmers stood by Roosevelt and it is certain that he will receive the electoral votes that Democratic National Committeeman Lynch so often assured Wilson were for him.

The switch in Illinois and Kansas was unexpected and in both instances was entirely due to the farming vote. The rural districts swung in behind Wilson so effectively that the big Roosevelt vote of the cities was overcome.

Wilson did not receive a majority vote but his plurality will be in excess of 2,500,000 and is record-breaking. The exact figures will not be available for several days. In fact, the reports show that the count in many states has not been reported to the various county clerks in hundreds of instances and it seems likely that it will be the middle of next week, at least, before authentic semi-official totals will be obtainable.

Socialist Gains

It is certain, however, that the Socialists, although they lost their national congressman, Victor Berger, made great gains in the popular vote. In Illinois they elected three members of the legislature, and owing to the very peculiar complexion of that body, where the Democrats lack twelve votes of a majority and the Republicans lack twenty, with the Bull Moose holding twenty-eight members, the Socialists may be able to make trades that will help the party materially.

The Socialist leaders are claiming they cast upwards of 800,000 votes and there is no doubt that they made a good showing.

Wilson got Iowa by 15,000, he got Illinois by a few thousand, and it appears he will not have less than 10,000 in Kansas, although Roosevelt had expected 50,000 from the Sunflower State. One effect of the loss in that state is the defeat of Governor Stubbs, one of the original governors whose importunity forced the throwing of the Roosevelt hat into the ring.

Bull Moose In Second Place

Roosevelt seems to have run second in many of the important states and this will give him and his followers control of the election machinery as the second party, an advantage that will prove important in organization work.

Control of the senate in the Sixty-third congress is now practically assured to the Democrats. Conceding to the Republicans the legislatures of all states still in the doubtful column, the Democrats will have a vote of forty-eight, or just one-half of the entire membership of the senate, with a Democratic vice president in the chair to cast the deciding ballot in case of a tie.

Seven states are yet to be heard from definitely.

A senator from one of these would give the Democrats a clear majority, and it is possible their strength will be even further increased by winning in several.

Votes For Women

As a result of Tuesday's election women now possess suffrage upon equal terms with men in all elections in ten states out of the forty-eight in the union, four states having been added this year.

The four new states in which the fight of the women won are Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona. The majorities in Oregon, Arizona and Kansas were of substantial character.

Previous to this election women could vote and hold office in the following states: Wyoming, established in 1869; Colorado, in 1893; Utah in 1896; Idaho, in 1896; Washington in 1910, and California, earlier this year.

School suffrage for women in some form prevails in thirty states.

DOUBT DISPELLED

Complete Returns on State Officers In Masaschusetts

Boston, Nov. 8.—The returns of last night, which are practically complete, settle beyond all doubt the election of the balance of the state ticket.

During the day the figures showed so slight a lead for Treasurer Stevens, Auditor White and Attorney General Swift that their election seemed much in doubt.

But later returns from thirty-three cities and all but a few of the towns show the following pluralities:

Donahue, 8434.
Stevens, 2473.
White, 5396.

The vote of the missing towns for governor Tuesday showed a Republican plurality of 1983.

State Ticket Elected

Governor—Eugene N. Foss, Democrat.

Lieutenant Governor—David I. Walsh, Democrat.

Secretary of State—Frank J. Donahue, Democrat.

State Treasurer—Elmer A. Stevens, Republican.

State Auditor—John E. White, Republican.

Attorney General — James M. Swift, Republican.

Wilson carried Boston by just 21,530 votes, while Foss carried it by just 29,757 votes, according to the official returns, which were tabulated at the office of the election commissioners yesterday.

The press returns gave Wilson a plurality of 21,158 votes and Foss 29,560.

In the official returns Taft gained 250 votes, while Roosevelt lost fifteen from the press returns. This cut down Roosevelt's lead in the city to 106 votes.

Foss gained 386 votes on the official figures, while Bird gained 194 votes. Walker's vote remains the same as given in the press returns. Bird thus actually beat Walker in Boston 1615 votes.

The total number of votes cast was 91,738, or not by nearly 4000 as many as cast at the last mayoralty election.

There were 4740 who voted for other candidates but who did not vote for governor.

Republicans will control the legislature of 1913 by fifty-four on a joint ballot. The complexion of that body and a comparison with 1912 shows:

Senate

	1913	1912
Republicans	27	26
Democrats	13	14
Republican plurality	14	12

House

Republicans	135	145
Democrats	95	94
Socialists	1	1
Progressives	6	0
Independents	2	0
Tied	1	0
Republican plurality	40	51

On Joint Ballot

Republicans	162	171
Democrats	108	108
Socialists	1	1
Progressives	6	0
Independents	2	0
Republican plurality	54	63

Of the forty members elected to the senate of 1913, eighteen are serving in the present senate and twenty-two are new.

Of the 240 members elected to the house of representatives of 1913, there are 114 who are members of the present house.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S VOTE

Republicans Will Have Majority of Sixteen In Legislature

Concord, N. H., Nov. 8.—The Republicans will have a majority of sixteen in the legislature on joint ballot, according to the returns.

The complexion of the legislature has been regarded as of unusual importance, as that body will be called upon to elect a governor and a United States senator.

Complete returns show the election of 209 Republicans and 195 Democrats to the house of representatives.

Four senatorial districts and one representative district have failed to elect, no candidate having received a majority.

WILSON GAINS IN ILLINOIS

Progressives Will Hold Balance of Power In Legislature

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Roosevelt's lead in Chicago, which early returns gave him, has been reduced by later figures to less than 5000 over Wilson and Democratic National Committeeman Boeschenstein claims that complete returns will give Wilson a plurality of 15,000 in the state.

On a joint ballot in the Illinois legislature the Democrats will be fourteen votes short of a majority, according to latest figures. The Republicans will lack twenty votes to control.

The Progressives, with twenty-eight members, will hold the balance of power in the election of two United States senators. The Socialists will have three members in the house.

G. O. P. "OFFICIALLY DEAD"

Fate of the Republican Organization In North Carolina

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 8.—Because of its failure to poll 50,000 votes in Tuesday's gubernatorial election the Republican party in North Carolina is "officially dead," according to local lawyers, who state that a law of the state bars from recognition any political party which did not poll 50,000 votes in the previous election.

Thomas Settle, Republican candidate for governor, received less than 25,000 votes, and it is doubtful if Iredell Mears, Progressive nominee, polled 50,000.

IN ROOSEVELT COLUMN

State First Credited to Wilson Has Drifted Away From Him

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—Roosevelt, in all probability, has carried Minnesota by a plurality of 15,000 to 20,000, the indications showing that the state has swung from Wilson to Roosevelt.

The indications are that Taft's vote will not greatly exceed 75,000. Governor Eberhardt has been re-elected

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

LUSCIOUS APPLE DESSERTS.

APPLES supply an economical way of providing fall and winter deserts. The more we use apples the more we appreciate their possibilities. They may be made up as the simplest of viands or they may be the ingredients in desserts as elaborate and attractive as anything that may be served.

Simple, Yet Attractive.

Sugared Apples.—Take seven or eight apples, core, peel and cut in halves and set in a baking pan cored side up. Pour over them one and one-half cupfuls of cold water and three small cupfuls of sugar, cover closely and let boil gently for half an hour. Remove cover, set in oven and bake brown. Serve cold.

Apple Custard.—Beat the whites of two eggs until dry, then add a cupful of sweetened apple sauce and mix. From the yolks of the eggs make a custard by putting the milk in top of double boiler, beating the yolks with two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt and adding to the boiling milk. When cold pour into a glass dish and add the apple and white of egg.

Elaborate Desserts.

Apple Pralines.—Take six apples. Pour four ounces of granulated sugar and a pint and a half of water in a saucepan and as soon as it boils add the fruit and cook it for fifteen miutes very gently, so that the apples will not break. Turn with a skimmer occasionally, so that they will cook evenly on all sides. On removing them drain upon a cloth and let them cool off. Blanch two ounces of almonds. Drain, peel and mince them and put them into a earthenware bowl with three ounces of granulated sugar, half a gill of water and a teaspoonful of vanilla essence. Stir the mixture with a wooden spoon for half a minute. Place it on a brisk fire and stir until it is a golden color, then take from the fire. Lay the apples on a deep plate, fill their cavities with currant jelly and spread the almond preparation over them, then serve.

Apple Gateau.—Take a pound and a half granulated sugar and boil it in a half pint of water. Then put into the sirup two pounds of cooking apples. Boil together until the mixture is tolerably stiff. Before removing from the fire grate in the rind of a lemon. Press into molds that have been previously dipped in cold water, but not wiped. When the same is turned out on a dish it can be ornamented with blanched almonds. Serve with cream or a thin custard.

OYSTERS COOKED IN THE OVEN.

AMONG the various ways of preparing oysters one that recommends itself to most cooks on account of the savory results and also because of its convenience is to bake them in the oven.

It is best not to salt oysters until after they are cooked. This prevents their shriveling or becoming hard.

Well Flavored Viands.

Deviled Oysters.—Chop up about two dozen firm, fat oysters, add to the oysters a cupful of cream, a half cupful of cracker crumbs, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a dash of salt. Butter some individual baking dishes of empty oyster shells and fill them with the combination. Bake in the oven for twenty minutes.

Oysters In Blankets.—Take twelve slices of nice thin bacon and twelve large oysters. Place an oyster on each slice of bacon and roll the bacon around the oyster. Then transfix with a skewer. Arrange the rolls on a wire rack and put in the oven until the bacon is browned. Serve very hot.

Baked In Shells.

Oysters In the Shells.—Take large, nice looking shells or cook the oysters in small individual baking dishes. Clean the shells with a stiff brush, reserving the deepest for use. Roll each oyster in melted butter seasoned with minced parsley and pepper. Arrange in the shells, sprinkle with lemon juice and cover with grated bread crumbs. Place in rows in a baking pan and bake in a quick oven. Serve in the shells, season with salt just before sending to the table.

French Baked Oysters.—After trimming the oysters, put them back into the shells. Place in a saucepan a little butter, and when it is melted add a little parsley chopped very fine and some chopped shallots, a tablespoonful of white wine vinegar, the juice of a lemon, a pinch of salt and a little red pepper. Leave the saucepan on a slow fire until the vinegar is boiled down, and at this point add two small tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs fried in butter and a tablespoonful of butter. When the whole is well mixed pour it over the oysters, so that the shells are well filled. Place the dish containing the oysters in a hot oven and serve after a few minutes.

Litchfield Arraigned on Charges In Two Secret Indictments

Boston, Nov. 8.—Walter J. Litchfield was arrested in his apartments at the Hotel Navarre and arraigned in the Suffolk superior court on charges in two secret indictments. Litchfield was accused of immoral conduct. The indictments followed an investigation by the grand jury into the death by cyanide of potassium of Fred H. Whittier in Litchfield's rooms at the Navarre.

Litchfield pleaded not guilty. Judge Brown ordered him held in $1000 in one case and $4000 in the other.

Indicted For Attempted Murders

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 8.—Indicted by the Middlesex grand jury on the charge of attempting to murder her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Jordan of Lowell, and immediately arraigned in the superior criminal court, little Gladys St. Dennis showed no more concern than when she was first arrested by the Lowell authorities last September.

OBSTACLES IN WAY OF ALLIES

Secret Agreement to Secure Independence of Albania

POWERS STIRRED BY RUMOR

Italy, Austria and Germany Said to Favor Placing of Duke of Abruzzi on Throne as King—Would Take From Servia Fruits of Her Victory and Might Precipitate General War

London, Nov. 8.—A firebrand was thrown into the diplomatic offices of the powers by the assertion that Italy and Austria had formed an agreement to make Albania independent and to place the Duke of Abruzzi on the throne as king and that Germany had at last given her assent, making the triple alliance act as a unit.

Nothing could have caused more consternation in the different capitals, where every energy is being used to prevent a general war, and no other move could have done more to prevent the peaceful settlement of the war in the Balkans.

England, France and Russia are perfectly willing for the allies to have the fruits of their victories, and it was hoped that the triple alliance would place no obstacles in the way.

The possession of Albania, which is a part of the old Servia, was the main incentive which induced that nation to join with the other Balkan states. Formerly she had many thriving seaports on the Adriatic and she saw visions of growth and prosperity if she could regain them.

What the outcome of the decision of the triple alliance will be it is impossible to tell, but optimism has given way to the deepest gloom in London, Paris and St. Petersburg.

The desire of the allies is to partition European Turkey among themselves, but they are perfectly willing to leave the fate of Constantinople to be decided by the powers; the intention is to divide Albania between Servia and Greece.

The past twenty-four hours have brought little news of importance from the seat of war. The report that Salonika has been evacuated is premature, and a similar report concerning Monastir still is unconfirmed.

There is no authentic news of the alleged defeat of the Turks before Tchatalja. On the contrary, a Constantinople dispatch sets forth the Turkish claim that there are no Bulgarians before Tchatalja, and that both armies are resting. The Turkish reports regarding the progress of the war, however, have been so consistently misleading as to have little value.

BOTTLES MISLABELLED

Heavy Shipment of Beer Dumped Into Boston Harbor

Boston, Nov. 8.—Waters in Boston harbor were swelled by 1532 bottles of beer, which were thrown overboard from a scow by United States Deputy Marshal Ruhl. The destruction of the beer was ordered by Judge Morton of the United States district court.

In behalf of the federal pure food authorities, a bill of information had been filed in the court alleging that the bottles containing the beer were mislabelled. The shipment was made from Brooklyn. The labels represented the beer to be of two well-known brands, which the government showed was not true.

Steamer Remains on Rocks

Quebec, Nov. 8.—A fierce northeasterly gale, accompanied by giant waves and torrential rains, prevented the removal of the 500 steerage passengers and crew of the steamer Royal George, which is still fast on the rocks off Point St. Lawrence. More than 400 passengers were taken off before the fury of the storm stopped the work.

Killed as He Rescues Baby

Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 8.—Michael Pegrosky, 14, was instantly killed while rescuing his 4-year-old brother on a railroad crossing here. Pegrosky succeeded in pushing the child from the tracks where he was standing, but was struck and instantly killed by a train.

Death of Miss Richardson

Alstead, N. H., Nov. 8.—Miss Mary Richardson, aged 76, who, with her brother, Martin L. Richardson, was shot by Frank Kidder, an insane man, died yesterday. Kidder committed suicide after wounding the two persons.

Probing Municipal Finance

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 8.—The special legislative committee has begun its investigation of municipal finance here and in the surrounding towns. Every detail of municipal accounting that can be taken up will be discussed.

Builder a Bankrupt

Boston, Nov. 8.—A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by Abraham Levine of Chelsea, a builder. His liabilities amount to $155,925.

ROOSEVELT IS THIRD

Late Figures From Buckeye State Increase Wilson's Lead

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—Election returns continue to increase the lead of Wilson over Taft and Roosevelt in Ohio. Estimates now available indicate the president-elect will have a plurality of nearly 135,000 over Taft and that Taft ran about 60,000 ahead of Roosevelt.

The estimated total vote in Ohio is: Wilson, 446,000; Taft, 312,000; Roosevelt, 253,000; Debs, 46,000.

UNCLE JOE BOWLED OVER

Good Mixer Beats Cannon In Illinois Congressional Contest

Danville, Ills., Nov. 8.—It was a "mixer" who beat "Uncle Joe" Cannon at his own game and took away from him even his seat in the national house. Frank T. O'Hair, the Democrat who did the trick, espoused no cause, as far as known, and made never a speech. But he shook pretty nearly every hand that could cast a ballot in the Eighteenth district.

It was for the first time since 1890 and the second time in forty years that anybody went into Cannon's district and beat him. O'Hair won by 500 votes.

NOT FOR SECOND PLACE

Hadley In Conference With the President at White House

Washington, Nov. 8.—No light was thrown on the question of who will have second place on the Republican presidential ticket by the visit of Governor Hadley of Missouri to Washington.

GOVERNOR HADLEY

The governor, who came on the train to which President Taft's car was attached, left last night for Chicago. On arriving he told a questioner he had not been asked to take second place on the ticket, and later said the subject was not discussed at an interview with President Taft during the day.

Kansas Goes to Wilson

Kansas City, Kas., Nov. 8.—At first Kansas was conceded to Roosevelt, but final counts show Wilson not only carried the state, but carried along with him Thompson, Democrat, for the United States senate, over Stubbs.

Roosevelt Leads In Pennsylvania

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—Roosevelt's lead in Pennsylvania is definitely settled at about 30,000. The vote as tabulated thus far is: Roosevelt, 284,284; Wilson, 365,411; Taft, 255,331.

Will Fight Prohibition

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Opponents of the constitutional amendment providing state-wide prohibition, carried by 70,000 at Tuesday's election and to become effective July 1, 1913, declared they will contest the constitutionality of the amendment.

BACK IN WHITE HOUSE

President Ready to Work on Matters Which Are Urgent

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Taft reached Washington yesterday, going immediately to the White House to commence the preparation of his annual message to congress and to attend to a number of other official duties which he has been forced to neglect somewhat during the past months.

Chief among these are the appointment of a successor to Dr. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, and the naming of an Indian commission.

Maine Farmers Raise Price of Milk

Bangor, Me., Nov. 8.—The farmers have advanced wholesale price of milk from 15 to 18 cents a gallon and organized. The retail dealers will advance the price from 7 to 8 cents a quart, it is expected.

Death at Age of 114

Dublin, Nov. 8.—Patrick Reynolds died last night in County Leitrim, aged 114. He was in full possession of his senses to the last.

WE SHOULD GIVE THANKS

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation Deals With National Prosperity

Washington, Nov. 8.—In accordance with the century-old custom, President Taft issued a proclamation setting aside the last Thursday of November as Thanksgiving day. The proclamation says, in part:

"The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamity that have afflicted other peoples; rich in harvests so abundant and industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers, the people of this country have abounding cause for contented gratitude."

WEDS A YOUNG MAN

Rich Widow of 57 Becomes Bride of Magazine Writer

New Haven, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Lilly A. Coe, who was left $1,000,000 several months ago by her husband, Edward T. Coe, treasurer of the American Brass company of Torrington, married Harold M. Sussman, a magazine writer of New York city.

She is 57 years old and her husband 29 years old. Sussman is a Christian Scientist and is understood to have prescribed for his bride for nervous troubles before their marriage.

They were married yesterday afternoon by Alderman McCann of New York. Mrs. Sussman has made her home in this city since the death of her husband, who two years before his death inherited his father's million-dollar fortune.

FEDERAL OFFICERS HUNTING JOHNSON

Champion Pugilist Indicted by Grand Jury as Slaver

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Jack Johnson, champion negro pugilist, was indicted by the federal grand jury, charged with violation of the Mann act against the transportation of women from one state to another for immoral purposes.

Johnson was indicted on four counts and his bail fixed at $30,000 by United States Judge Landis.

Federal officers were instructed to arrest Johnson, who could not be found last evening. The search for him extended to various quarters of the city.

New York's First Sidewalk.

The first sidewalk in New York was laid by a woman, Mrs. Samuel Provoost, about 1716. She was an importer and merchant and laid the sidewalk for the convenience of her customers. She had importuned the authorities to do it, but they refused, saying it was impossible. After her object lesson paving and curbing gradually came in, but for some time her sidewalk was so famous that people journeyed even from Philadelphia to see it.

The I. D. I. Girls hold their annual dance at Alpha hall this evening. The members are Miss Mary Joss, Miss Hannah Moynihan, Miss Mabel Huston Mis Catherine Clarkin, Miss S. Johnson and Miss Mary Geary.

Those interested in child welfare should attend the illustrated lecture tonight at the Y. M. C. A., when H. B. Drew of the New Bedford, Y. M. C. A., will speak on "Little men and women of the under world."

At the after-meeting of Granite Lodge, No. 193, O. S. S. G. to be held November 13, one of the members will give a description of what he saw at one of the most interesting places in England. All members are invited to attend. Meeting to commence at 7 P. M.

POSTPONED.

The Quincy Catholic Club postponed its whist party which was scheduled for Thursday evening to its next meeting night because of the storm.

DISTRICT COURT.

Andrew Murphy was fined $15, Michael Toraala $10 and George B. French $15 for drunkennes at Quincy

Joseph Sweeney was arraigned for larceny from Robert E. Foy at Quincy and was sentenced to two months in the house of correction. Sentence suspended until July 1913, restitution to be made in the meantime.

DIED IN SPRINGFIELD.

The body of Timothy O'Keefe, who died at Springfield, Wednesday arrived here Thursday afternoon. The funeral took place from the home of his sister, Mrs. Michael Reardon, off Crescent street, this afternoon. Prayers over the body were read in St. Mary's church by Rev. William J. Duffy. Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery. A requiem mass will be celebrated at the church Saturday morning at nine o'clock .

K. OF C. OFFICERS INSTALLATION

Retiring Grand Knight Barrett Given Diamond Ring

FESTIVE OCCASION

The installation of the newly elected and appointed officers of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus was held at Greenleaf hall, Thursday evening and the occasion was a happy and merry one. Among those present was State Deputy Louis A. Watson and State Warden John S. Quinn. During the evening the retiring Grand Knight Edward D. Barrett was presented with a diamond ring by Grand Knight-elect Michael T. Walsh. The presentation was made midst great applause.

A supper was served by Burleigh Martin and greatly enjoyed by visiting members from other councils. An entertainment provided for the amusement of those present was a fine success. Among those who took part were Frank Driscoll, John H. Lally of Boston, Fred McDonnell, Dennis Sweeney, Eugene F. O'Connor, Cornelius Reardon of James Hayes Council of Boston.

The installation was by District Deputy Joseph A. Foley and suite.

In making the presentation of the diamond ring to the retiring grand knight, Grand Knight Walsh said that it was with a feeling of pleasure that he was able to assist at such an occasion, that the expression of satisfactions of the members could testify to the friendship they had for Mr. Barrett and said that the ring was only the outward expression of a friendship which would probably never wane.

Grand Knight Barrett accepted the token and said that while he held the office he did not let any opportunity go by that would be of benefit to the society or to its members, that he had seen 42 new members added to the organization since he took office and that most of them were insurance members. He thanked his associates most heartily for the gift and said that his loyalty of the past would be as strong in the future and closed by congratulating Grand Knight Walsh on the successful start of his term and pledged his personal support at any and all times.

State Deputy Watson said that he had been watching the progress of the Quincy Council and urged a continuation of its success, and State Warden Quinn paid a high tribute to its membership.

Grand Knight—Michael T. Walsh.
Deputy Grand Knight—William A. Carey.
Chancelor—Marcus P. Mahon.
Financial Secretary—Richard A. Cole.
Recording Secretary—John T. Cain.
Treasurer—Michael T. Sullivan.
Warden—Thomas Griffin.
Advocate—John E. Lynch.
Inside Guard—James C. Grant.
Outside Guard—John J. Fallon, Jr.
Trustee for three years—John J. Harkins.
Delegate to Boston Chapter for 5 years—John W. Lynch.
Inquisitor—Frank J. Duffy.
Lecturer—Joseph H. Elcock.
Organist—T. Byron Brown.

REGISTRATION LIGHT.

The first registration for the municipal election was held Thursday evening at City Hall. The registrars however found but little to do owing doubtless to the heavy registration for the state election. But three names were added Thursday night. Of these Ward 2 contributed two names and Ward 3 one name.

Tombstone Inscriptions.

Three of the commonest tombstone inscriptions are "In the midst of life we are in death." "His end was peace," "He tempers the wind to the shorn lamb." The sentiment of each is comforting and consolatory, but none comes from the Bible.

SWEENEY SHORT IN ACCOUNTS

Promised Restitution But Failed to Make Good

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

Joseph Sweeney was arrested at Newton Thursday night by Inspector Goodhue on a warrant charging him with larceny from the store of Robert E. Foy. It appears that Sweeney obtained employment at Mr. Foy's store last June as a clerk. It was not long before Mr. Foy discovered that he was short in his accounts to the amount of $50. Sweeney agreed to make restitution and he was not prosecuted. Instead of making restitution however Sweeney skipped and went to New Hampshire where he got married.

Recently Inspector Goodhue heard that Sweeney was located in Newton and his arrest followed. When the case was called this morning the fact came out that in 1903 Sweeney had been arrested for the same kind of a job at the store of R. J. Barry, at Atlantic. In this case also he agreed to make restitution but instead of so doing he skipped. Both cases were therefor brought against him this morning.

In view of the seniority of the Barry warrant and of an agreement for restitution this complaint was placed on file. In the Foy case in view of a young wife and an agreement to make restitution the court imposed a sentence of two months in the house of correction and suspended the sentence until July 1913.

PIPER ASKS FOR RECOUNT

Rumor That Democrats will Ask For Recount of Entire Vote

Papers asking for a recount of the votes cast in the Fifth district for Representative, at Tuesday's election were filed by Walter E. Piper this morning. It was also rumored this morning that a recount of the entire ticket would be asked for by Democrats. If this is done the recount will not be held until next Wednesday. If, however, the recount of Mr. Piper's is the only one asked for the recount will be held Saturday evening. The time for filing petitions for a recount expires at 5 o'clock tonight.

DECLINE THE HONOR.

Daniel Fitzgerald and Patrick Tangney two of the West Quincy gentlemen for whom John Evans took out nomination papers Thursday of Independent Democratic candidates for Councilmen from Ward Four called the Ledger office this noon and denied emphatically that they were candidates. Mr. Fitzgerald further said that the use of his name had been without his authority and that under no condition would he become a candidate.

SPLENDID PROGRESS

Unequalled By Any Other Place in Industrial Schools

MADE IN QUINCY

According to Alvin E. Dodge, director of the North Bennett Street Industrial School of Boston, Quincy has made more progress in its work in the industrial school system during the past year than any other city in the state and that the report on vocational training which was prepared by the superintendent of schools and a committee of citizens was the best that had ever come to his notice." This announcement at the Thursday evening meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' Association of the Cranch school was followed by great applause. About 125 people were present and President Clarence Burgin presided.

Before Mr. Dodd spoke there was an entertainment, consisting of a dramatization of John Ruskins, "King of the Golden River," by the pupils of the sixth grade under the direction of Miss Elsie Turner. A piano duet by Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann and Miss Gertrude King was well received and William P. Thomson rendered a vocal solo.

The North Bennett Street School is an endowed institution and has been the experimental station of educators for a number of years. If ideas prove successful at this school the state board of education and other interested people take it up, and Mr. Dodd has been its director for a long time.

He further said that he congratulated the city on having made such a good start. He took up the reason of pupils leaving school and said that from 85 to 90 per cent. leave at about 14 years of age, and that educators were beginning to inquire why this was so. They had, he said, concluded that it was because there was no specific training offered the boys and that the children could not see what good the education was. He considered the only solution to this great decrease in school membership was industrial training.

Refreshments were served by Miss Mellie Marsh, assisted by a committee of parents.

CHECK FIRES BY ALL MEANS

SOME NEVERS

Tomorrow will mark the 40th anniversary of the big fire of Boston which destroyed a good part of the city and left thousands of people homeless. Veteran firemen of that period will meet and organize in Boston and firemen from surrounding towns who aided will also gather.

The anniversary has been seized upon as a good time to inaugurate what will be known as Fire Prevention Day.

Gov. Foss has issued a proclamation in which he says:

"To the end that we may lessen the serious destruction of property, and the risk and loss of many lives, now caused by preventible fires, I hereby designate and set apart Saturday, November 9, as Fire Prevention Day, that being the 40th anniversary of the great Boston fire, which, in 1872, destroyed a large part of the city of Boston and involved a loss of $80,000,000.

"I urge that on Fire Prevention day all property owners give particular heed to the inspection of their buildings and grounds. Defective chimneys and fires should be remedied; inflammable rubbish should be disposed of, and all needless fire risks removed.

"School authorities should redouble their efforts against the dangers of fire. Owners of stores, factories and mills should cause a special examination to be made of their premises.

"The annual property loss by fire in the United States is estimated to be over $200,000,000; and over $8,000,000 in this Commonwealth.

"Our fire losses per capita are stated to be eight time as great as the average in European countries, and fourteen times as great as the per capita fire loss in Germany. Moreover, our annual per capita loss is increasing in a very rapid ratio.

"During the past few days serious loss has been occasioned by many forest fires, due in large part to defective spark arresters and faulty fire construction on locomotives, and more effective legislation is needed to control these risks."

Eugene N. Foss.

The fire loss of the United States has averaged $25,000,000 for the last five or six years; this means Seven Million dollars per day.

KEEP FIRES FROM STARTING.

Keep your house, store or factory clean.

Never allow rubbish, such as paper, rags, cobwebs, old clothing, boxes, etc., to accumulate in closets and unused rooms.

Never keep gasoline or benzine about the premises.

Never run your stove pipes through a wooden partition or through the roof without proper protection.

Never allow your furnace, steam or hot water pipes to come in contact with wood.

Never put up gas or lamb brackets so they can be swung against the wooden window casings or against, or immediately under curtains.

Never put ashes in a wooden receptacle or in or about your premises.

Never keep matches in any but metal or earthern safes, and when you light one never throw it on the floor.

Never allow smoking in proximity to inflammable merchandise or other material.

An Easy Way to Stretch Shoes.

To ease a tight boot or shoe take a pair of shears—the longer the better—wrap the blades with cloth and insert the handles into the toe of the shoe, then spread apart the blades. That will, of course, spread the handles at the same time. If the shoe presses unduly in one particular spot place the round handle of the shears at the point of pressure; if it is desired to loosen the shoe equally from toe to instep turn the oval handle toward the side to be stretched. The stretching is made easier if the shoe is first moistened with alcohol. It does not injure the leather.—Youth's Companion.

The Snipe's Bill.

The bill of the snipe is provided with a nerve running down to the tip and then distributing itself over the end of the beak. This is the only instance of this kind among birds and is a singular case of the care of nature in providing for her creatures. The snipe seeks for his prey in mud and water, where he cannot see, and it is believed that the nerve advises him of the presence of food when his eyes give him no information.

MAGIC FIRE WRITING.

This recipe for "magic fire writing" is given by the Pathfinder: Dissolve saltpeter in water until the water will take up no more. Then take the "wrong" end of a penholder and, dipping it in the solution, draw in thick strokes some name or design on a piece of light paper, taking care not to break the continuity of the writing anywhere—that is, all words must be joined. When dry the writing will be invisible. Fold over or roll up half an inch of each end of such a paper after it has been allowed to get dry and stand it on something that will not burn. Light a match, then blow it out and apply the glowing tip to some spot touched by the design (you can make an ink mark before applying the saltpeter to serve as a guide), and a tiny glowworm of fire will travel all along the lines traced and end by leaving the device burned out of the paper, no other part of it being destroyed.

By the use of a little ingenuity all sorts of amusing designs for this purpose can be got up. For example, you can draw in pencil or ink on the paper a picture of one boy throwing a baseball to another and also trace an invisible curved line in the saltpeter from the hand of the thrower to that of the catcher. Then when you touch fire to the thrower's hand the fire will follow the saltpeter line right to the other's hand.

Those who see the thing and are not in the secret will be much mystified as to why the fire follows this line and does not burn the rest of the paper. Saltpeter enters into gunpowder, and wherever it has touched the paper it makes it burn.

Man Who Beheaded Charles I.

The mysterious masked man who beheaded Charles I. remains the British analogue for the Man With the Iron Mask. Lilly, the lying astrologer, denounced Cornet Joyce at the restoration, but Joyce on the fatal 30th of January was not in favor with Cromwell. The parish register of Whitechapel records the burial in 1649 of Richard Brandon, the common hangman, and opposite the entry a contemporary hand wrote that "he cut off the head of Charles the First." Brandon himself asserted that "they made him do it for £30," with which he drank himself to death.—Dundee Advertiser.

Good Nature May Be Costly.

"Don't look so glum, Pilkerton. Use cheery words. They cost nothing."

"Cost nothing! If I speak ten cheery words to my wife she asks me for some money."

Rivers In the Air

Did you know there are air-falls in the atmosphere just as real and apparent as are the waterfalls you have so often viewed with admiration and delight because of their natural beauty? In the famed Yosemite valley the most interesting feature is, to the scientist perhaps, its winds.

The winds there are seldom more than light zephyrs, moody and capricious to the ordinary tourist, but when rightly understood, one of the wonders of the valley. These interesting facts are told by Prof. F. E. Matthes of the United States geological survey in the Sierra Club Bulletin.

In no other place in the entire world, perhaps, are the air currents more systematic and regular than in the Yosemite valley, he says. In the first place, the sun naturally heats the ground more rapidly than it does the air. Thus every hillside basking in the sun becomes a heat radiator and gradually warms the air above it, so that the air, becoming lighter, begins to rise.

But under those conditions the air does not rise vertically because the air directly over it is still cool and is pressing downward. Therefore, up the sides of the warm slope the heated air makes its way. That is why the tourist making his way up the mountain slope with the sun on his back finds his own dust traveling upward with him in a choking cloud.

But on coming down the same trail when the face of the slope is in the shadow the dust ever descends with the traveler in the same irritating cloud. When the face of the mountain is in the shade the air is cooling from the face of the slope and is pressing its way down into the valley.

Just as soon as the sun leaves the slope of the mountain, the earth begins to lose its heat by radiation, and in a very short time is really cooler than the air. The layer of air next the face of the hillside chills by contact with the earth, and becoming heavier as it condenses, begins to press down along the slope. Thus there is, normally, the warm updraft on the sunny slope and the cold downdraft on the side in the shadow. In a windless region like the Yosomite, with its bold cliff topography, these upward and downward air currents are somewhat interrupted. On every sunny slope bold cliffs create shadows and consequently there are downward air currents of local breezes daily at regular hours, as the shadows come and go.

Glacier Point is one place in particular in which Professor Matthes says this shadowy effect on the air currents may readily be tested by casting small bits of paper into the air. As the afternoon wears on and the shadows in the valley gather, the cold draft in the hills pours downward, forming the valley like a great river, and flowing on to the plains below. Every side canyon and valley sends its reinforcements, like the tributaries of a great river, to this general air current flowing onward to the plain.

With the return of the morning sun, the earth at the tops of the hills is warmed and the downward current in the air is suspended. The updraft soon begins as the sun shines into the valleys. The air currents are so regular that they may almost be timed.

Few realize, says the author of the paper, that it is on these reversing air currents that one of the chief attractions of the Yosemite depends. Mirror lake, to be viewed at its best, must be seen in the early dawn, when the reflections are most perfect.

The lake is stillest and its surface most mirror-like when the cold night currents have ceased and the uprising day currents of air have not yet begun. Yet unless one is punctual he will miss the chief beauty of the place, for this perfect stillness is as brief as the turn of the tide.

In the evening and during the night, when the downdraft of air from the mountain sides is strong, the stream of cool air pressing down the slope plunges over cliffs just as water is seen to fall from similar heights. On either the Yosemite falls or the Nevada falls trails, this air-fall curiosity is readily encountered in the evening.

During the daytime, on the other hand, the air rises vertically along the cliffs and up into the hanging valleys, taking part of the spray from the falls along with it. A pretty example of the air carrying the spray from the fall upward may be seen at Bridal Veil falls, where two little combs of spray, one on each side of the stream, steadily curve upward over the brink.

As soon as the sun is off the cliff the spray combs cease to exist.

She Got the Money.

"What did the lady sue for?"

"She sued for $10,000."

"Did she win?"

"She sure did."

"Huh! I suppose her lawyer got most of it?"

"Her lawyer didn't get a cent, as far as I'm able to find out."

"Go on! If he was able to recover that big verdict, he was smart enough to get his."

"Was he? Well, he wasn't. She married him!"

The New Yorkers.

"Are they fond of their New York home?"

"Oh, awfully fond. They spend their winters in Florida, their springs in Lakewood, their summers at Newport and their autumns at Lenox, but they are simply devoted to their New York home!"—Chicago Mail.

STONE AND ABELE DO NOT AGREE ON WATER ORDER OR RESERVOIR

Nothing Like a Clique Exists In Quincy Declared the Mayor at Wollaston

Councilman Studley Appeared In the Role of Cross Examiner

At the citizens meeting held in Brasee hall, Friday evening, both candidates for the Republican mayoralty nomination spoke. Irving L. Shaw and Eugene F. DeNormandie were also speakers.

John Morgan, who presided, commended the letters of Mr. Shaw appearing in the Ledger. The chairman spoke in favor of a longer term for mayor, a reduction in the size of the council and of doing away with the ward system of representation. He declared the meeting to be nonpartisan, one in which all might take part.

Irving L. Shaw declared that the present charter gave the mayor so much power in the administration of the city's affairs that he could not dodge any responsibility.

Lack of equalization in tax assessments was declared by the speaker and the purchase of the Adams school lot at 6 cents a foot where it was only assessed for 2 cents was brought up.

The methods of doing the city's public work was another cause advanced by the speaker for the present condition. The handling of loans and collection of taxes was also criticised.

A $32,000 loan order for extension of water service with $17,000 in it "to keep the gang going the rest of the year" was charged by Mr. Shaw.

The Fore River water question was taken up, the speaker declaring the present rate was equivalent to a gift from the city to the Fore River company of $10 a day.

The present method of auditing and the system of handling sewer assessments also came in for criticism.

"The main trouble" said Mr. Shaw, "is that the city is not run by the people but is in the hands of a beautiful machine. It is a hard machine to beat and they are going to get the city again this year if they can. It doesn't seem to make any difference what party it is. They seem to be able to keep in office their own men or men they can come pretty near handling."

Mr. Shaw brought up the matter of $400 paid a certain Quincy lawyer for examining 16 titiles on Hancock street. Two supreme court decisions had found similar acts to be illegal, he declared.

Councilman Murray was referred to as one of the most honorable, honest and capable members of the city council, who had brought down upon his head the thunder of the machine

"The machine is out to lick Councilman Murray," said Mr. Shaw, "simply because they cannot run him. That is the kind of men to send to the council." Mr. Shaw also endorsed the candidacy of Councilman Abele for mayor, whom he declared was honor and integrity itself and would not cater to any class, ring, person or persons.

Ex-Councilman Eugene F. De Normandie had just started to speak when Mayor Stone entered the hall. After a pause Mr. De Normandie continued saying, "What is the matter with Quincy" may be answered by saying that Quincy is living beyond its means. The principal cause is the form of government.

"If the citizens see fit they can control affairs at all times but to have a comparatively small number of people in control is detrimental.

"This condition is due largely to what appears to be indifference and often times inability of the people to understand conditions."

He declared that for 12 or 13 years the city's affairs had been steered by a small number of people and at the present time some of those active in this line could be found in the administrative family of the mayor, some on the advisory board and others on the outside.

Lack of efficiency in city departments, unwise expenditure of money, lack of definite financial policy, and a one term mayor were among the things touched upon.

Mr. De Normandie declared that 75 per cent of the water received from the metropolitan board was wasted by leakage. He urged the election of men of sound judgement and sterling integrity who would serve the city disinterestedly and remedy present conditions.

Mayor Stone declared the present condition of the city was due to the rapid growth and the many improvements. He did not agree with the new citizens who are holding up to ridicule the finances of one of the grandest cities in the country. Give the city a little time and when the streets were filled up with houses Quincy would have plenty of money.

He could not be expected to change all these awful conditions in a few short months. He had asked for $32,000 to take care of leakages etc., in the water department but this had been cut down to $15,000 making less than was needed for making house connections.

The Mayor mentioned the reservoir and Fore River controversy. He was trying hard to find a way to use the water in the reservoir.

Mayor Stone ridiculed the idea of a political clique, "I don't think such a thing exists in Quincy," he said, "Certainly nothing is further from my mind. Quincy has always been free from anything of that kind.

"No one has handled me yet. I

BETTER CARS TO BE DEMANDED

Squantum Women After Street Railway Co. and, Well---

WAIT AND SEE

The Squantum Woman's club is going after the Bay State Street railway to see if a decent electric car cannot be provided for the Squantum run. The old, dilapidated car which is now in use has provoked the most bitter comment. At the last meeting of the Women's club, several members complained of having their clothes soiled by the filthy condition of the car. The present car is a single truck, teetering affair that should long ago have been sent to the junk heap. The impression has prevailed in railroad circles that "anything is good enough for Squantum," but with a live Improvement association and a woman's club an attempt is now being made to impress on the railroad officials that Squantum is a civilized community and should be given traveling facilities of modern kind.

EDWARD POWERS CELEBRATED

Friends Readily Attest to His Good Name and Character

Hibernian Hall was the scene of one of the happiest gatherings Friday evening that has taken place in Quincy for sometime. Edward Powers, one of the most popular granite cutters in the city, who has followed that trade for over forty-one years, and who lately became eligible for one of the honorary benefits connected with the Granite Cutter's International Association, conceived the idea that it would be a good plan to celebrate the occasion by inviting a number of his friends to help in the matter and the meeting was the result.

Mr. Powers has worked in different localities all over this country wherever granite cutting is done, he is esteemed by all who know him for his cheerful disposition, and the happy faculty of always looking on the bright side of things. In the language of the stone shed he is "As square as they make them."

His worth and ability are recognized, he has held trusted positions in a number of fraternal organizations and has also been a member of the Executive Council of the Granite Cutters' International Association.

From the feelings expressed it was shown that a good name and reputation is something to be prized.

Alex W. Russell of the Granite Cutters acted as toastmaster, and songs, stories and speeches were in order, and among those contributing to the evening's entertainment were: Daniel Scully, Patrick Ferguson, James Reid, Charles Osborne, Edward McGinty, Peter Josephine, Patrick O'Neil, John Byron, Alex. Ross, Edward Mannix, Daniel Donohue and several others.

The party broke up at a late hour everyone feeling that an enjoyable evening had been spent and that Edward Powers was well worthy of the good wishes of his fellow workmen and friends.

BASKET SOCIAL.

The Daughters of John Adams, L. O. L. held a well attended basket social at Electa hall Friday evening. Dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by William Wilson. The fun of the evening commenced when Andrew Stewart auctioned off the baskets. The committee in charge was Mr. William Bond, Mrs. Annie McKenzie, Mrs. Jessie McLeod, Mrs. David Johnson, Neil McDonald and A. J. Stewart.

CITY FAVORED IN TAX MATTER

Distribution of Corporation Levies Increase Over 1911

State House, Nov. 8, 1912.—There is good news to the people of Quincy in the announcement made by state tax commissioner's office today that the city's share in the distribution of the corporate franchise tax assessed upon the business corporations will be $7,084.14 instead of $5,673.47 which was paid last year.

This corporate franchise tax, perhaps better than any other, represents the true condition of business throughout the Commonwealth, and while the rate is slightly higher than for several years past, still the amount collected by the state shows an increase slightly greater in proportion, so it appears that, generally speaking, business conditions in Massachusetts were better on April 1, 1912, than on the corresponding date in 1911.

The average rate this year is $17.97, an increase of four cents over the previous year.

Below is shown each Quincy corporation and the amount which it must pay:—

Aroostook F. & L. Co.,	$22.51
Boston Buying Co.,	21.34
Crumb Quarry Co.,	39.00
Cyrus Patch & Son (Inc)	379.05
D. E. Wadsworth & Co.,	134.77
Forbes Craig Co.,	59.30
Granite Railway Co.,	171.16
Harroway-Dixon Co.,	62.89
J. A. Keating & Co.,	89.85
John Cashman & Sons Co.,	251.58
Johnson Lumber Co.,	201.71
Kavanagh Brothers Co.,	159.41
Meadow Brook Ice Co.,	46.72
Pellervo Co-operative Asso.,	15.00
Quincy Beef Co.,	28.53
Quincy Column Turning Co.,	64.69
Quincy E. L. & P. Co.,	2575.55
Quincy New System Wet Wash Co.	9.70
Sectional Rubber Tire Co.,	131.43
Storer & Gelotte Co.,	58.69
Turva Co-operative Store Co.,	59.57
W. Pence Mitchell Hat Co.,	16.64
Walsh Drug Co.,	150.94

The Bay State Railroad is assessed for $207,778.70, while the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad Co., is assessed $575,398.48. These taxes cover the public service corporation for the entire systems.

NELSON HAS A PIPE CINCH

On Ward Six Councillor Nomination, If They Stick

Squantum voters are waging an active campaign to land the nomination for councilman from Ward 6 for John R. Nelson. Squantum has never been directly represented in the Quincy City Council. This residential district which a few years ago was an abandoned farm now has $600,000 worth of taxable property and its residents take a keen interest in city affairs. Mr. Nelson has the united support of Squantum voters and the Squantum Improvement association. Mr. Nelson will be at home should he be elected to the City Council. He has served Quincy on three different occasions in the City Council and other ward of the city.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a larger pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

PETITIONS DID NOT MEET LAW

So There Will Be No Recount of Votes in Quincy

FOR STATE OFFICERS

Acting under instructions from the Chairman of the Democratic state committee the local Democratic committee filed a petition with the Registrars of Voters late Friday afternoon asking for a recount of the votes in all wards for Attorney General, Auditor and treasurer cast at the election Tuesday. The State Committee desired a recount of the vote for these candidates all over the state and sent instructions to all local committees to that end.

The petition filed in Quincy with the Registrars contained fourteen names, some of which could not be counted as they were not the same as appeared on the voting list. Then again the law requires that there should be ten names from each ward on the recount petitions. As the paper, or rather petition, therefore did not comply with the law it was thrown out and the recount denied.

It was a little after 4 o'clock when the petition was filed and the party filing it was told wherein the petition did not comply with the law but no effort was made to make the paper legal.

KNEW HOMEMADE LACE.

Chief Maurice Pierce of the Milton police demonstrated to Judge Avery in the district court this morning that he was a connoisseur as well as being an authority on automobile speeding for he found no difficulty in convincing Judge Avery that the lace offered for sale by a woman peddler was not of the home made kind. The woman in question gave her name as Mrs. Lillie Gha, and she had been arrested for peddling without a license. Chief Pierce said that he had warned the woman several times not to peddle in Milton but for all that she continued to come into the town.

The woman exhibited the laces and said that they were her own make. Chief Pierce said that he knew something about laces and that they were not of her own make. Furthermore the tags on the goods showed them to be foreign make. What the chief said went, for the court imposed a fine of $10.

Again this year, Quincy men came to the front at the flower and fruit show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. Among the awards announced are the following:

HOSPITAL FUND UP TO PAR AFTER STRENUOUS EFFORTS

Secured the $35,000 Desired. Public Generous In Its Response

Good Samaritan Came to Rescue With $5,000

The campaign is ended; the goal has been won. The $35,000 desired by the hospital has been raised through public subscription and everybody is perfectly satisfied and happy. The campaign with this end in view was started two weeks ago and closed last Monday night with something like $7500 lacking to make up the desired amount.

At that time while it was known that there was a sum equal to $5,000 available at any time, it was not made known to the general public. The committee however, was urged to continue their work and get in touch with the people with whom they had communicated and secure responses to the pledges that had been made.

In addition to that a further appeal was made to the public at large and the fact made known that $5,000 would be available Wednesday, November 6, if, in the meantime the general public contributed the balance.

The public was ready in accepting and responding to the generous offer with the result that the total amount of $35,000 which was the object of the start of campaign, has been raised and there is no cause for any further uneasiness so far as finances are concerned on the part of the trustees and well wishers of the hospital.

SEA STREET AND ELM AVENUE

May Come Up For Consideration by City Council

An adjourned meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening. The meeting was adjourned to this date in order that the vote at the state election might be officially declared. However any regular business may come up for action. There are several matters of importance in the calendar which may or may not come up for discussion. Two of these are orders for the widening of Sea street and the order for the changing of the grade of Elm avenue. These orders will come up for their second reading and unless the rules are suspended they will go over to the regular meeting Nov. 18 for their final action.

ANOTHER MAN AT QUINCY ADAMS

The following petition is being circulated this morning to be presented to the railroad officials.

"We, the undersigned citizens of Quincy, realizing the dangers to life and limb at the Quincy Adams railroad crossing on account of the extensive travel over it, earnestly believe that there should be additional man stationed there to more fully protect those who cross and pray the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad to grant our petition .

THE POWER OF ATTRACTION

An Interesting Subject Nicely Treated at Y. M. C. A.

E. P. Conlon, county secretary of the Y. M. C. A. talked to about 100 boys at the Y. M. C. A. gym. this morning. He took as his ubject "Magnets," explaining the power of attraction and the influence that can be brought to bear on boys. He was given marked attention and enthusiastic applause when he finished.

It was announced that a speaker had been secured for every Saturday morning for some time to come and that the next Saturday morning W. F. Spaulding would talk on "Jail Birds."

Registration
CITY OF QUINCY

For the purpose of correcting the Annual Register of Voters, and of receiving evidence of qualifications from persons claiming a right to vote at the coming City Election, The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session in the Council Chamber in the City Hall building on the evenings of THURSDAY, Nov. 7, and MONDAY, Nov. 11, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock, also on

from 12 M. to 10 o'clock P. M., which will be the final session before the City Election.

Every applicant for registration must appear in person before the Board. Every male applicant must present either a certificate from the Assessors, or a Tax bill or notice from the Collector of Taxes, showing that he has been assessed a Poll Tax as a resident of the city on the first day of April last, or a certificate from the Assessors that he became a resident of the city prior to June 3, 1912. If a naturalized citizen, he must produce for inspection his papers of naturalization.

Persons who have lived in the State one year and in the city six months previous to December 3, if qualified in other respects, can be registered.

No names can be added to the registers except the names of voters examined as to their qualifications between the thirtieth day of April last and the close of registration on Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 10 o'clock P. M. The Board of Assessors will be in session at their office during the same hours.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

For once the theatre managers appear to be slowing up. Nothing has been heard of the foot ball stars being engaged to perform a monologue stunt.

Another victim of indigestion has launched a panegyric on woman, by a conglomeration of words, which say nothing and mean less.

The gentlemen writing from London have fought the Balkan war over to their own satisfaction. We will wait until hostilities are over before getting some information on the subject.

New York has a debt bigger than that of the United States, but then New York, has Becker, Tammany hall, a graft ring and a few other accessories which the nation can easily dispense with.

After all the trouble, money expended and frow frow those indictments against the Boston Elevated railroad have been quashed.

It does not seem as if Taft or Roosevelt had a look in at the Eelectoral college gathering.

The stepless car has arrived. Now if some one would create a way to dispense with the jar and noise and flat wheels the public cup of happiness would be full to overflowing.

Gov. Wilson will have on abundance of advice as to the make up of his cabinet. Judging from his past acts he will probably use good judgment and discretion in the selection of his team mates.

The petition for a recount of votes where the difference was 50,000 votes should be relegated to the waste basket.

The participation of Turkey is still going on in the fertile brain pan of the solvers of other people's problems.

About every once in a while we now read where Dakota Dan "flared up." This contest is now border on the comedy.

While the Washington library directors were about it they might have thrown out many other productions besides youthful literature because of their lack of usefulness.

By all means let campaign fund contributions become public records.

No doubt but what history will give President Taft a better position than the people did at the polls.

No need to worry about the straw vote until four years hence.

Not a word from Col. Harvey. Has he nothing to offer at this particular moment which would be handed along to future generations.

It was significant that Col. Roosevelt's platform should fall on the last day of the campaign.

The vital flaw in the scheme to reduce the cost of living by eliminating "middleman" is that our poorhouses and asylums would be awfully clogged up with middlemen.

We'll lay a small bet that the learned astromer who has just found his twenty-seventh comet couldn't find the pocket in his wife's dress with a telescope 6 miles long.

A MINOR POSITION.

Commenting upon the make up of President Wilson's cabinet one Metropolitan paper announced that surely Mr. McCoombs, the campaign manager would receive recognition as it has been the practice the past few years. But this journal also goes further and says he will undoubtedly receive the minor appointment of Postmaster General. Rather a poor compliment to the postal department of this country. If Mr. McCoombs is big enough for a cabinet job, there is none that will require any more labor, executive ability, power, ingenuity, skill, industry and prove more trying. Of course the secretary of state job is somewhat more delicate, but we doubt if it is any more trying. With the example of Postmaster Hitchcock, who took a department which every year showed a deficit and landed it in a paying column, and the parcel posts delivery in its infancy, the man who takes up the reins of the postal department after Hitchcock has a stupendous task on his hands. It is not a minor position by any means. It is one of the biggest propositions in the country. It has not been self supporting, but Hitchcock changed that. His successor will have no easy task to maintain the standard, keep the department on a paying basis and work out the parcel posts problem all at the one time. And if he succeeds in doing that Mr. McCoombs if appointed will prove that he is a big man. If he does not frame up to the job it would be unwise to put the task up to him, because it will require a big man to run the post office department.

RECOUNTS.

It is only fair and just, on a close vote return of a candidate for office that the person defeated on the election returns should have a chance to show if any mistake has been made. In many instances election returns showing officials elected by small margins the results have been reversed by a recount. Everyone concedes that this is only fair and should be permitted, but when a recount is desired for any other purpose, which is apparent on the face of the returns, then it should receive the attention it deserves.

For example a candidate in Boston, who on the election returns was defeated by about 50,000 votes, has requested a recount. Can any one see any reason or justice in such an attempt to belittle a fine institution. No such mistake could be made, as to permit of such a return being made, from various words and precincts. It is not because the candidate believes he has the ghost of a show to be counted in, but it is a rather lame illustration of the oft tried system of getting a look at the ballots, to compare the votes of certain candidates on the ticket with those of the person requiring a recount. This means that some one has a curiosity to look over and inspect those ballots, at a rather severe cost to the community. No doubt the ballot commissioners will exercise common sense intelligence, which is fairly good law in this case and treat the petition in its proper manner.

SUNDAY BASE BALL.

The New England base ball league has pronounced in favor of Sunday base ball. That is understandable. It would mean an increase in the receipts. The association it is understood will enter into an aggressive campaign to bring about the result they desire. Probably the big league magnates may be drawn into the movement. Undoubtedly there is a large class of people who favor Sunday base ball. On the other hand there is an equally large, if not large class who are opposed to the movement. It is quite certain. that Sunday base ball will not be launched in Massachusetts without a strong sentiment opposing it.

It is all very well to advance the idea that the workman does not get a chance for recreation. That is a fine argument by those who have no more concern about the recreations of the workingmen, outside of the profit it may offer to those ardent advocates. At present there does not appear to be any great or general demand for Sunday base ball in Massachusetts.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED.

Perhaps you remember the story of the two cronies who met after a separation of some years. Of course there was enquiry about the neighbors at the old home, and this was part of the dialogue:

"And how is old Bill Jones?"

"Oh, he's dead."

"Indeed? What was the complaint?"

"Oh, there was no complaint. Everybody was satisfied."

Aside from the individual disappointments, the result of the election gives lots of satisfaction to many people. Democrats are not only satisfied but "dee-lighted." All over the country they are now grooming for all the opportunities from cabinet positions to postmasters.

Republicans are satisfied or gratified that something appears to be saved from the general wreck—that the U. S. Senate is yet Republican and that the Massachusetts legislature appears to be safe against a Democratic speaker.

Progressives are satisfied with the really wonderful results of only two months organization, which landed them second in the race. They know, from experience, that the pendulum swings back and believe that in four years they will be the natural successors.

Reproaches are worse than useless. Men should now set their faces to the future, and if they do so with wisdom the state and country should benefit.—Framingham News.

HALLOWE'EN FROLIC.

The Misses Hill of Newbury avenue entertained sixteen of their friends at a novel Hallowe'en party, Saturday evening. Although the event did not all on the auspicious date, the goblins and ghosts were as much in evidence as on the fateful night. Each guest was ushered into the house by a ghostly figure through a dark subterranean passage, alive with ghosts, witches and weird noises. Ghosts were also stationed in various parts of the house directing the guests by motion only, no words being spoken.

After all had assembled, the usual Hallowe'en frolics were enjoyed. One of the unique features of the evening was the luncheon hunt. The guests matched for partners by mottoes and then each couple was presented with directions and hints, written in poetry as to where to find their lunch. When they found the right spot, they were confronted by another poem, sending them elsewhere. All over the house and even out doors some were obliged to go before being awarded.

Finally all re-assembled and the lunch was eaten in picnic style before a big open grate fire. Other daintfes were also served. Everyone voted the evening a most enjoyable one.

PLAIN KITCHEN RANGE.

The modern idea in the work of the home as well as in business is economy of time and labor as well as economy of money, and for the up-to-date home, kitchen furniture must be wholly practical—free from useless features. Take for example the kitchen range.

Manufacturers for years vied with each other in covering their product with rosettes and filigree in the fancied belief that a showy range would please the housewife best.

But what a mistake! Ask any housekeeper today and she will say. "The kitchen is the chief work-room in our home; its fixtures should be neat, plain and sanitary. The cooking range should be in keeping with this idea—outside finish, smooth and plain. You know a smooth casting is always easy to clean."

To the makers of the Glenwood range should be given chief credit for the modern plain range. It is in their modeling departments and pattern shops that the graceful, pleasing lines of the present-day plain range have been carefully worked out.

In making a smooth range, it is attention to detail that counts. At the Glenwood foundry, the moulding sand is put through process after process until it is as fine and mellow as flour. The iron must be just right too. No one mine in the country can furnish the strong fine grained, lasting quality which the Glenwood formula demands and so the best irons from several mines are carefully proportioned and blended exactly right in the great melting furnaces at the Glenwood department, an army of skilled workmen is watching and caring for a thousand little details that are essential in producing a durable, plain range that is perfectly smooth.

BUFFALOES ON PEACE HUNT

Present Local Brothers with Golf Honor Emblems

Quincy Herd No. 1 Benevolent Order of Buffaloes at its regular meeting Thursday evening in Hibernian hall, had a visit from Supreme Chaplain Foley of Worcester and Supreme Trustee Currier of Lynn who, after the regular routine business of the evening had been carried through, gave an exemplification of initiatory work which was very pleasing to the large number of members present. They were assisted in their work by Supreme Secretary, Charles H. Finn and Marshall Lewis.

After those exercises, refreshments were served after which stirring addresses were made by the visiting supreme officers.

Another pleasing feature was the presentation by the visiting supreme officers of gold emblems to five members of the herd who had by their good work during the past few months, helped to place Buffaloism in Quincy solidly on its feet. The brothers thus honored were William Porter, Thomas Lewis, Thomas Cotter, Michael Lyons and A. I. Dixon. Quincy Herd held a successful smoke talk last September and is planning to hold another entertainment early in December when the Granite City Minstrels, will be the attraction.

SAMOSET CLUB IN NEW HOME

Quarters Formally Opened to Members and Friends

The "open house" which marked the informal opening of the new club rooms of the Samoset club, Friday evening was a huge success both from point of number and socialbility. During the evening the club was visited by many leading citizens in addition to crowds of young men of the community. Refreshments were dispensed with a lavish hand and many were the remarks in praise of the fittings of the club rooms.

The club has been instituted as an ideal young men's club and has the hearty moral and financial support of the older men of the neighborhood.

Since the acquisition of rooms the membership of the organization has grown rapidly and it is expected a strong and permanent society will result.

The entertainment committee in charge of Friday evening's affair was: Harry G. Campbell, Albert Healey, Charles H. Sayward Jr., and Max O. Pinkham.

MASSACHUSETTS SOMEWHAT SHY

In Attendance at Great Waterways Convention

SAYS COMMISSIONER CRANE

Commissioner of Water Front and Navigation Frank Fessenden Crane severely criticised the Chamber of Commerce and the people of Massachusetts in general for their backwardness to take part in the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, at the hearing given Friday by the Maritime Committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce to S. A. Thompson, secretary of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, in an effort to interest the committee on the work of the congress and secure a better representation of Massachusetts men at its meetings. Mr. Crane told the committee that at one congress of 2000 delegates only three were present from Massachusetts.

Secretary Thompson told of the work of the congress and said the motto of the congress was a policy and not a project. They did not interest themselves in any one project but were carrying on a campaign of education to awaken the public to the importance of a systematic development of waterways, railways and good roads.

Boston he said "cannot reach its ultimate development until all other parts of the country have reached theirs. Facilities creat commerce, rather than commerce creating facilities, and I confidently predict that the port of Boston in the next 30 years will spend near $99,000,000 on port development than the $9,000,000 already appropriated."

VISITING NURSE FUND.

During the past month there has been a quiet campaign going on in our city, which while it did not attract as much attention as the successful City Hospital campaign, yet was closely allied to that work, and apparently received the same cordial support of our people, if the substantial list of contributors can be accepted as evidence.

One of the most progressive and substantial institutions of our city is the Quincy Women's Club, and the work they undertake are projects that attain creditable proportions. The philantropic work of the club has always been to the front, and the particular branch of work developed by the visiting nurse committee is receiving favorable comment for its thoroughness and rapidly increasing effectiveness.

When, 8 years ago one nurse was employed, the field was extensive, but uncultivated. Although doubtless at that time there was as much need in this line as there is today, yet the instituting of such a work required time. Steady growth is shown by the addition last year of an assistant nurse, and this month another nurse has been added to care for obstetrical cases.

Number of visits 306; patients 49; doctors calling nurses 17; cases visited:colitis 4; asthma 1; abscess 3; tonsilitis 4; grippe 3; cancer 3; neuritis 2; tuberculosis 4; fractured hip 1; rheumatism 4; obstetrical 7; nephritis 3; burns 2; carbuncle 1; varicose ulcer 2; cordiae 4; pediculosis 1.

In addition to money contributions many have been generous with gifts of old linen. But such is the demand we make an appeal to the public for more. Packages may be sent to the clubhouse, or will be called for if the nurses are notified.

Donations for October were: box of old linen Mrs. John N. Sanborn; old linen, bed linen and clothing, Mrs. Thomas Bixby; old linen, Miss Julia E. Underwood; infants food, etc., Mrs. Hallowell.

The names of subscribers to the visiting nurse fund for September and October were:

Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, Mrs. Judge A. Williams, Mrs. E. F. Williams, Mrs. C. C. Rotchfoch, Mrs. C. B. Mollar, Mrs. A. A. Brown, Mrs. J. I. Mowbray, Mrs. Catherine Bythom, Mrs. W. S. Parsons, Mrs. W. BRIEFS

The entrance gates to the Harvard Aviation field have been torn down and carted away and it now looks as if the days of aviation at Squantum has passed.

Squantum boats escaped damage in the severe storm of Thursday night. Most of the fine sailing and motor boats of the Squantum fleet have been hauled out for the winter.

The many friends of Mayor Stone will be pleased to learn that the condition of his daughter Miss Edith Stone who has been seriously ill is much more comfortable today.

The new Chief car for Chief Litchfield was turned over to the city Friday, and is now in commission. The new auto chemical engine is expected in Quincy any day.

Beside the regular edition of the Ledger Monday night public spirited citizens distributed 2500 copies at the Quincy stations. There is an ever increasing demand for Quincy's "Home Daily," and its circulation is on the jump and will soon pass the 5000 per day mark.

The Rev. Herbert W. Boyd of East Bridgewater will exchange with the pastor for the Sunday morning service at Bethany church; at the pleasant Sunday evening service at 7.30 the pastor will speak on "The root of all evil" and the vested chorus of 24 young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Moore, will sing and lead the service.

CHILD WELFARE.

"Little Men and Women of the Under World" was the topic of H. B. Drew's lecture at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening to the Auxiliary. Mr. Drew is Immigrant Secretary of the Association at New Bedford and illustrated his lecture with stereopticon views. The address was of great interest because of the discussion of child welfare.

PROGRESSIVE CHURCHMAN

Makes Assertions Which He Should Know About

ON CHURCH ATTENDANCE

Editor Daily Ledger:

It is not my desire to prolong the discussion over politics or smoking in connection with the church. It is a question that can never end, or become old, until humanity becomes perfect and such a goal is not yet in sight.

My comment upon the supject is not based upon theory, but on actual knowledge. Men of today will not go anywhere unless you have a special attraction for them. When you have them where you want them then you must have something to please them or they will not stay. I care not who the man may be, you must tickle his particular fancy in order to keep him. They are very weak creatures, and must be carefully fed.

Now I have seen the spiritual fed man enter the church with such a glow of holiness upon his features that you could almost see a halo circle above his head. If you could meet or work with this same man through the week you would be convinced that there was such a place as Hades awaiting him. But when I talk about politics or smoking within the male organizations of the church I am not dealing with the Pharisees of the church, but the plain common man that has to work hard six days a week, the men that Christ loved to dwell among. These men must become interested in politics in order to better the community in which they live. This means cleanliness of thought, word, or deed, and by coming together within the church, striving to derive from discussion, the best attainment for good, you have unconsciously developed Godliness within them that will bear striking results. This effect will be felt in the home, city, state and nation and all will recognize the church as the sower of good seed.

Smoking is a pleasure to the same group of men. Wherever you see a number gathered together, discussing civic topics and smoking you will be surprised at the concentration of thought expressed upon the face of each. It is a sight well worth seeing. It is an inspiration to the broad minded man that loves mankind. It is not degrading. It is an elevating piece of work that the church is doing for humanity by recognizing their daily needs as well as their spiritual.

Let no man cry hypocrite to these men who do it in the open before all, when he himself indulges on the outside to such an extent, that during the service he must chew certain flavored gum in order to sweeten his tobacco breath before receiving the holy sacrament.

Yes it is a waste of time to listen, action is what is needed.

Progressive Churchman.

PARLEE ENDORSED TO ENTER RACE

Responds to Demand of Friends to Run For Council

Editor Daily Ledger:

Much has been heard of late about the wisdom of sending business men to the City Council. Such a man the voters of Ward Six have an opportunity to vote for at the caucuses next Tuesday. Among the candidates from that section of the city seeking nomination is ex-Councilman Edward E. Parlee who resides in the Montclair district. Mr. Parlee served his ward in the council of 1911, but was defeated for renomination through a misunderstanding. At the earnest solicitation of friends he allowed his name to be used this year at the caucuses.

During the year 1911 Councilman Parlee had a clean record for attendance both at meetings of the Council and of the Committees on Streets and Public Buildings and while naturally interested in matters relating to his own ward he always worked and voted for what he considered best for the city at large. He was a hard worker in the matter of a new school building for the Montclair district as well as for the rebuilding of West Squantum street both of which measures he advocated. A return of Mr. Parlee to the council means the addition of a business man of experience where such a man is needed.,

BRIEFS

Repairs on the Wollaston Methodist Episcopal church are nearing completion. With the fresh coat of paint on the outside and the retinting of the walls on the interior, the new carpet in the auditorium, hard wood floors throughout the vestries, a new ladies' parlor, hot water heat in the vestries and the furnaces moved to a furnace room and a new heating plant will add much to the beauty and convenience of the church for church work for the coming months.

The W. C. T. U. held its regular meeting in Protection hall, Thursday afternoon, the president, Mrs. James A. Matheson, presiding. Mrs. Matheson, who attended the recent convention in Boston as a delegate, gave a very interesting account of it. The outlook is very encouraging, enormous amounts of money having been raised to carry on the work every year.

Rev. Isaiah W. Sneath, Ph. D., will be installed as pastor of the Wollaston Congregational church on Tuesday evening, the service being held at 7.30 in the vestry of the church.

The Walther and Rand classes for men hold a joint meeting Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. Hon. B. B. Johnson of Waltham, will give an address on Temperance. All men invited.

NEEDLE WORK GUILD.

The annual collection and exhibition of garments of the Needle Work Guild will be held Wednesday, Nov. 13th at 2.30 P. M. at the home of its president, Miss Abigail B. Wood, 68 School street. Every one, interested in this charity is cordially invited to attend. Members are urgently requested to send in their garments by Tuesday of next week, that the directors may have their garment lists made out.

BRIEFS

The Women's Guild of Christ church is to hold its monthly business meeting Thursday afternoon at two o'clock in the parish house. Members are busily at work for the fair to be held in December.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Wollaston M. E. church hold their annual fair December 5, 6 and 7th. They are planning for one of the best they have ever held.

Unity Circle King's Daughters held its regular meeting in Bethany vestry Tuesday night with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Ernest Fitts. Reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and business discussed. The next meeting will be Nov. 19.

Members of the china table entertained those who took part in the two dramas "How the Story Grew," and "Pa's New Housekeeper," at the home of Mrs. Albert Hall, Faxon road, Monday evening. Miss Margaret Read rendered several piano solos. The rest of the evening was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served. The cast has been asked to repeat the plays in Quincy, for the benefit of the Universalist church.

Nixon Elmer of Greenleaf street, whose business keeps him in New York city for the present, came home to vote on Tuesday returning on the evening train.

Monday evening, Dec. 2, a supper and entertainment is to be held under the auspices of Dorothy Q. Lodge No. 55, Y. O. of I. O. L. in Odd Fellows hall, Wollaston. Mrs. Josie B. Gammons will be chairman of the supper committee and Miss Clara E. Bennett of the entertainment committee.

Mr. Goodwin of Dedham has bought and moved into the house on Holbrook road, Bellevue Park vacated by Martin Quail.

BLACKFACE AND COMEDY

High School Artists to Indulge in Both Soon

During the second week of December, the boys of the Quincy High will try their hand at amateur blackface theatricals and will work out a skit which has been written by Headmaster Ernest L. Collins and Frank Mansur of the schools. The coaching will be by the authors.

The following have been selected as ends in the minstrel show: Ralph Prout, Samuel Prout, Edward Bullock, Clifton Young, Richard Larkin and John Martin. The interlocutor will be Roland Estey.

"The booking Agency of a Local Firm" will precede the minstrel show. The situation is developed around the difficulty of securing a cast for a show about to start on a circuit. Out of a number of applicants, many of whom receive tryouts, the list is completed.

The characters will be taken as follows:

Sukey, a scrub woman, Edward Bullock
Dancing Charlie, Edward Brown
An Actress, Todd Elwell
A Manager, Roland Estey
Freddie, an office boy, S. Prout
Pop Tom, Leon Randall
Joe, Pop Tom's son, Willard Crocker

Local hits and comedy work will enliven the production and all signs point to a grand success.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP FORUM.

The Department of Education of the Wollaston Unitarian church is rendering this community a great service in holding Good Citizenship meetings Sundays at 12 o'clock, immediately after the morning service of worship. These meetings are open not only to the members of that parish, but to all men and women, irrespective of theological or political creed, that are interested in the welfare of our city. The general topic this month is "What is the matter with Quincy?" and the speaker tomorrow is Councilman Charles W. Bailey, Vice President of the Boylston National Bank, Boston.

LA FOLLETTE IS GIVEN THE JOB

Wisconsin Senator to Be the New Republican Leader

INSURGENTS IN THE SENATE

Divided During Presidential Contest, but Will Aid in Reorganizing Republican Party—Will Stand by Wilson Administration in Its Efforts to Revise Tariff Downward

Washington, Nov. 9.—After the fourth of March, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin will be the putative Republican leader of the senate. His friends look to him to point the way to a reorganization of the Republican party on a basis that will bring back to it most of the voters who went with the new party this year.

The Wisconsin senator remained regular through the political storm which started last spring and ended with the election on Tuesday. He refused to join the new party for two reasons. He believed that Theodore Roosevelt was not a Progressive at heart and he believed that the reforms for which he (La Follette) had been fighting for years could be brought about through the Republican party.

He still maintains that the Republican party can be made an instrument of great good and his great ambition now will be to bring about a reorganization of the party that will give it prestige in the congressional and state elections in 1914 and in the presidential election of 1916.

The so-called insurgent or progressive Republican strength in the senate will not show any decrease after the fourth of March. Senators Bourne of Oregon and Dixon of Montana will go out, but insurgent Republican recruits will come in. For instance, Representative Norris of Nebraska, who has been the leader of the insurgent Republicans in the house of representatives, will come to the senate from that state, and South Dakota will send Thomas Sterling, a Republican of the La Follette type.

The outlook now is that the insurgent or progressive Republican company in the senate will be composed of La Follette of Wisconsin, Cummins and Kenyon of Iowa, Norris of Nebraska, Clapp of Minnesota, Gronna of North Dakota, Bristow of Kansas, Crawford of South Dakota, Sterling of South Dakota, Borah of Idaho, Poindexter of Washington and Works of California.

These men did not pull together in the recent presidential election, some of them supporting Taft, some Wilson and some Roosevelt, but, with the possible exception of Clapp, they all now regard themselves as Republicans, and will co-operate with La Follette, their leader, not only in standing for legislation, but in whatever effort he may put forth to bring about a reorganization of the Republican party.

These progressive Republicans do not intend to fight the Wilson administration. Undoubtedly they will stand by the new administration in its effort to revise the tariff downward provided the revision proposed is not too radical. They will also support the administration in any other wise reforms it may undertake through legislation.

It is very generally believed here that most of the old line Republicans, after they have thought the matter over, will be willing to co-operate with La Follette in whatever effort he may undertake toward putting the Republican party into fighting trim again. Some of the leaders in the party who heretofore have not been willing to work with La Follettte are now indicating a willingness to co-operate with him.

CALIFORNIA IN DOUBT

Roosevelt's Plurality Reduced to 751 by the Latest Figures

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—With seventy-nine small precincts to hear from, the vote of California on president follows: Roosevelt, 281,369; Wilson, 280,618. Roosevelt's plurality, 751. The Democratic leaders declare they will challenge the count.

The totals were compiled from corrected official returns from the county seats. The seventy-nine precincts remaining unreported are all in remote regions.

Not all the Roosevelt electors may have won. The name of Lieutenant Governor Wallace, which headed the Roosevelt electoral ticket, was scratched by many voters, presumably because of his course in commuting the death sentences of murderers while acting governor.

REVISED RETURNS

Democrats Elect Dunne Governor of Illinois by 110,654

Washington, Nov. 9.—President-elect Wilson seems assured of 429 votes in the electoral college, Roosevelt of seventy-seven and Taft twelve. California's thirteen votes, if they go to Roosevelt, will increase his total to ninety, and if to Wilson, will give the latter 442.

Complete returns give Illinois to Wilson by a plurality of 13,855 over Roosevelt. Figures for the whole state give Roosevelt 389,561, Wilson 406,416 and Taft 255,095. Edward F. Dunne, Democratic candidate for governor, carried the state by 110,-651.

Idaho's complete unofficial vote on the presidency gives Taft a lead of 537.

Minnesota's vote on president follows: Roosevelt, 113,000; Wilson, 96,867; Taft, 53,722.

WILSON'S HEAVY MAIL

President-elect Receives Over a Thousand Letters a Day

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 9.—President-elect Wilson's mail these days amounts to considerably over 1000 letters a day. This is entirely aside from the thousands of telegrams that have been coming almost continuously.

The governor was asked if he had read Congressman Underwood's statement favoring an extra session of congress immediately after the inauguration.

"Yes," he said. "I noticed Mr. Underwood's statement. I have read several editorials also about immediate action."

He did not add anything that would seem to commit him to an extra session, however. The governor is concerned about the United States senate and reads all reports with deep interest.

GARDNER'S CHOICE

Thinks Guild Proper Man to Succeed Crane as Senator

Boston, Nov. 9.—In a statement issued last night, Congressman Gardner declared his sympathies were with Curtis Guild for United States senator to succeed Senator Crane.

Mr. Gardner declared it would be a mistake for the Republican party to elect Congressman Weeks, ex-Governor Draper or Congressman McCall, on the ground that the Republican party needed to be rebuilt along liberal lines and that none of these men would fill the bill.

Bryan Won't Be In Cabinet

New York, Nov. 9.—It is said by men close to Governor Wilson that unless there is a change in the president-elect's plans William J. Bryan will not be secretary of state or have any other cabinet portfolio.

FIVE JURORS DRAWN FOR GUNMEN'S TRIAL

One Talesman Ignorant of Rosenthal Murder

New York, Nov. 9.—Five of the twelve jurors for the trial of the four "gunmen" accused of the actual killing of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, had been chosen when the opening day's session of the trial was adjourned last evening.

The four prisoners, "Dago Frank," "Whitey" Lewis, "Leftie Louie" and "Gyp the Blood," were summoned before Justice Goff in extraordinary term of the superior court yesterday afternoon.

A man who never read of or discussed the Rosenthal murder was found in Joseph C. Hogue, wholesaler of wines.

"Take him," whispered "Dago Frank" to his lawyer, but the prosecutor employed a peremptory challenge.

In connection with the start of the trial there were renewed reports that the four prisoners had requested the district attorney to allow them to escape a possible death penalty by pleading to second degree murder.

Forty-One Counts Against Lord

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 9.—Edgar Lord, alleged defaulting treasurer of the Acushnet and New Bedford Cooperative banks of New Bedford, has been indicted in forty-one counts by the Bristol county grand jury.

Shawmut, Me., Nov. 9.—A locomotive of a passenger train was ditched here by a washout. Three coaches remained on the rails. The engineer and fireman escaped injury.

Earthquake In Italy

Rome, Nov. 9.—A slight earthquake was felt in Calabria. There was a panic in the interior, but so far as known the damage was not serious.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Back Bay Scandalized by Hebrew Junk Dealers Taking Honored New England Names—Movement for Genealogical Conservation—"Mother Instince" Again Rapped by Woman Philosopher, but Grandmotherly Instinct Still Gets By—Compulsory Education up to Age 18 is Now Proposed for Hubbite Youngsters.

The sacredness of old Boston and New England names is the basis of a crusade being carried on by a number of genealogists, historians and families of the good old colonial stock The custom, which is increasing in proportions, of immigrants to this country taking such names as Adams, Lowell, Endicott, Lawrence, Eliot, Peabody and several others of the distinctive American group for the purposes of junk dealing, liquor selling or fruit stand business, has become not only a serious sentimental question but a genuine menace from a practical standpoint. Conveyancers and genealogists find it increasingly difficult to trace the direct line of families whose names are history itself owing to the numerous cases of the foreign born who, bearing names which are not adapted to commercial life in this conutry, assume names which they discover to be valuable assets in the community. An incident of this nature was that of the petition of a Hebrew of Russian or Polish extraction to be allowed to take the name of Patrick Grant. It developed that he intended engaging in the liquor business and regarded the name as valuable. It happened that the petition came before Judge Robert Grant, son of Patrick Grant, a member of one of the old and distinguished New England families, and the request was denied.

The bird lovers of America foregather in Cambridge November 12 to 14 for their annual convention. The American Ornithologists' Union embraces practically all the eminent ornithologists of America as well as hundreds of others, and the congress promises to bring together many congressional birds of a feather. The bird men and women come from their travels in various parts of the world with lectures, pictures, lantern slides and many interesting stories of their adventures and their discoveries. Milliners may or may not be there also, to get pointers for their next season's line of plumage; their general sentiments toward the Audubon society are understood to be unfavorable. Among other features of entertainment for the assembled guests will be a trip to Lancaster to visit the splendid collection of birds owned by John E. Thayer, which has suffered no perceptible diminution even though Mr. Thayer generously donated a large number of rare and valuable species to the new zoo at Franklin Park.

The original and "startling contention" by Professor Ellon Key, the Swedish philosopher, as announced by a Boston magazine, to the effect that the mother instinct, untrained, may work for evil as well as good is undoubtedly true, but one questions its originality. There is indeed a tang of familiarity in the argument that almost convinces one that the subject has come up before in some obscure quarter or other. An equal amount of space devoted to the subject of grandmother instinct might throw light on some of the domestic problems of the day to an equally valuable end, and discourage the swaddlings, night walkings, day rockings and feeding-when-he-cries theories over which the well meaning old ladies of the present day scientists wage their interminable war. Professor Key paints a delightful picture of the millenium when "In that future of which I dream, there shall be neither men who are ill-paid and harassed family supporters, nor wives who are unswarded and worn out family slaves. Then Mother-care will be a well paid public service for which a thorough preparation is required. Then all home arrangements shall be as perfectly adjusted as they are now the reverse, and all home duties be transformed by new ways of work which shall be lighter, cheaper, quicker. Thus, women will actually be 'freed' in respect to the burdens of the home life from which she may be freed, freed so as to have the time to give an individual upbringing to her children."

Since the election is settled Bostonians turn once more to view with anxiety the results of St. Louis' slicking up plan. Hubbites who cannot depend upon being able to get even a sanitary drinking cup on trains and in public waiting rooms are interested to see how the proposition of supplying a cake of soap, two paper towels and a sanitary cardboard comb, all for one cent, is going to work out. These articles, wrapped in a cylindrical cardboard box and sold by means of slot machines operated by the city, seem to constitute a reasonably large cent's worth, although the city proposes to make a bit of profit through the machines taking the place of attendants. The idea ought to work well, it would seem, in a city like Boston, where the lodging accomodations of the Common and other open air hostelries do not include toilet appurtenances. Armed with soap, towels and comb, and the Frog Pond handy by, the Weary Willie should look second only to the band-box gentleman from the hotel suite.

Compulsory education for all under 18 years of age is the new campaign started by Boston's recently elected superintendent of schools, Dr. Franklin B. Dyer. Dr. Dyer's object is the conservation of the great army of young workers, two-thirds of whom drop out of the public schools before reaching the age of 14, and thereafter drift about doing the cheapest kind of work until they become of mature age, with the natural result that they are dissatisfied with industrial and social conditions and easily come under the influence of mob rule. His plan is to conduct part time schools which wage earners may attend certain hours of the day, and for which attendance all employers of labor must allow their employees time. Dr. Dyer has gained the support of the mayor, the school committees, teachers, the State Board of Education, the Boston Chamber of Commerce and organized labor, and plans to present a bill to the next legislature which will compel all employed between the ages of 14 to 18 to attend part time schools.

Pension List of $151,558,141

Washington, Nov. 9.—There are now on the government's pension roll 538,000 soldiers and sailors, 321,932 dependents and widows and 362 army nurses, according to the annual report of the pension bureau. To provide for all of them this year, $151,558,-141 has been appropriated, a decrease of $3,276,096 from last year.

MISS MINERVA IF YOU PLEASE

Tried Pleasing Every One With Usual Results

An entertainment, under the auspices of the Music Ten of Unity Circle of King's Daughters, was given in Colonial hall, Friday night. The drama, "Mishaps of Minerva" was presented with exceptional talent and merit; and was a decided success from start to finish.

The play, which was replete with droll and ludicrous incidents kept the audience in a perpetual state of merriment. Miss Minerva the heroine very anxious to please, was supported by a very competent and efficient following and all performed their respective parts excellently, and elicited hearty applause from the audience.

The cast was as follows:

Minerva Sterling	Edith Cary Page
Molly	Mrs. George Abele
Victor Brown	Wendell H. Luce
Belle Brantley	Mrs. Albert L. Hayden
Mrs. Wright	Mrs. S. I. Wood
Miss Palmer	Isabelle W. Sargent
Harry Stevenson	Arthur L. Thomas
Clara Sterling	Daisy B. Sampson
Barnes	Richard Wetherall
Mrs. Jennie Van Duesen Spuyker	Wendell H. Luce
Mike Shannon	Henry Hayward
Mrs. Lydia Sterling	Mrs. William Wilson
Mortimer J. Sterling	Thomas B. Pollard

The opening number on the program was a selection from Rigoletto, by Edith Carey Page, soprano; Ella Raymond Bates, alto; Arthur C. Peverley, tenor; James S. Whyte, bass. They responded to repeated applause, with "Old Madrid."

During intermission, Mr. Whyte sang, "Blow, blow, Winter Winds" and responded with "Loch Lomond," both songs being admirably suited to his fine voice. It was a musical treat to listen to him. Dr. W. Porter Pratt was the able accompanist. The musical talent was from the choir of First church, Braintree, and their selections were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis directed the play and Mrs. Albert L. Hayden leader the the Music Ten, was chairman of the committee, which carried out the details so skilfully.

The Music Ten is certainly to be congratulated as all present expressed appreciation of the very fine program presented.

The ushers were Mrs. Walter S. Rice, Mrs. Howard Spear, and Mrs. M. E. Barron and Mrs. Frank J. Moore took the tickets.

STONE AND ABELE

have handled my own business in the past and intend to do so in the future." He stated that he would not go into matters further but that the same hall had been engaged for Monday evening and at that time he would give a full and detailed account of his stewardship.

Councilman Abele disagreed with Mayor Stone on the $32,000 water order. He also declared Mayor Stone to be incorrectly informed, regarding the use of water in the Quincy reservoir.

In his remarks Mr. Abele stated some of the results accomplished by the finance committee and the special finance committee upon which he had served this year.

One of these was the uniform system of accounting that is shortly to be installed at city hall. This he declared would accomplish many needed reforms in the city finances.

He criticised Mayor Stone for vetoing the bills amending the sewer ordinance and extending the powers of the city auditor.

In concluding he declared that water from the Quincy reservoir could be used by many manufacturing plants if extensions were made from the pumping station.

At the close of his remarks Councilman Abele was treated to a stiff cross-examination by Councilman Studley of Ward Two who did not agree with the former's remarks concerning the matter of granting the Quincy reservoir water rights to the Fore River company.

Councilman Abele replied briefly but was unable to give figures off hand. Ex- Councilman Cherrington of Atlantic, Eugene F. De Normandie and Irving L. Shaw also spoke on the water question.

John H. Johnson inquired if the $150,000 refunding order was not to cover that amount of actually concealed liabilities. Mr. De Normandie, William E. Hingston and Councilman Murray also spoke on this subject.

BOSTON'S GREAT FIRE OF FORTY YEARS AGO

Brought to Mind by Special Observances In the Hub

Boston, Nov. 9.—Today is the fortieth anniversary of the great Boston fire of Nov. 9, 1872, which destroyed $60,000,000 worth of property, cost the lives of thirteen firemen and injuries to many more and was fought by 1700 firemen of Boston and surrounding places.

The anniversary will be observed by veterans who fought the flames. These, to the number of about 100, will meet at the American House this evening and dine at 6 o'clock, almost to the anniversary minute of that evening hour when the alarm came in from Box 52, corner of Summer and Kingston streets, forty years ago.

The Bostonian society will unveil a tablet on the site where the fire started.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

To the Citizens of Quincy

On January 1st, 1912, Mayor Stone assumed the duties of Chief Executive of our city. Since that date, although confronted by a combination of adverse financial and departmental conditions, and opposed by active political hostility, such as no Mayor of Quincy has in the past had to contend with, he has courageously and consistently discharged the duties of his position with honesty, conscientiousness and efficiency.

In appointing to office men solely on account of their ability and integrity, and administering the affairs of the city economically and wisely, he has justified the confidence the people placed in him one year ago.

We urge all voters, who deplore unjustifiable attempts to besmirch the fair name of our beloved city,

We urge all voters, who love fair play,

We urge all voters, who believe that an official should be retained in office, who, during his first term, under trying circumstances, has served the people faithfully and well,

To Work and Vote for the Re-nomination and Re-election of Hon. EUGENE R. STONE for Mayor of Quincy.

GOOD FOOTBALL BY QUINCY HIGH

Landed Victory Over the Confident Brocktons

CLOSE SCORE OF 7 TO 6

The football team of the Quincy High school, after nearly completing a season of erratic playing during which they were administered a severe defeat, came into their own yesterday by defeating the Brockton High school, 7 to 6. It was a renewed fighting spirit which brought the victory to the Quincy team. Brockton was lightly over confident which proved costly at times.

Quincy kicked to Brockton and Blackey carried the ball to the 20 yard line where they were held for downs. They punted and Quincy carried the ball from the 40 yard line for a gain and made first down. They were penalized 15 yards for holding, and kicked to Brockton on their 35 yard line.

Blackey, their star half back went around left end for 40 yards and his team was again held for downs. Quincy then made two first downs and the first quarter ended with Quincy having the ball on their 40 yard line. Quincy opened the second period by carrying the ball from 40 yard line down the field and on a tackle back Brown caried it over. Larkin kicked the goal.

Brockton kicked to Quincy in the third period and they made first down a number of times but were penalized for holding and offside playing. Blackey again carried the ball around left end for about 50 yards to Quincy's two yard line. No gain was made in three plays and on the fourth play the ball went over. The angle was so sharp that Brockton could not kick the goal.

Quincy received the kick in the fourth period and rushed it to the middle of the field. On a fake kick White made a substantial gain and Quincy punted when they could not see a first down. Blackey again carried the ball to Quincy's five yard line for a distance of about 40 yards and Brockton was held for downs. Quincy took the ball, made no gain, Brown punted outside at the 30 yard line. Brockton tried hard to recover their distance and a drop kick failed to go over the bar. Quincy took the ball on the 25 yard line, failed to gain and Brown kicked to Brockton and Larkin recovered the ball on their 30 yard line.

With but little time to play Quincy rushed the ball and threatened another score, with a fine chance to try a drop, the period ended.

Blackey played a star game for Brockton and aside from gaining about 150 yards in three long rushes he sent a ball across the line which just went under the bar.

Brown of Quincy played a good game and White made good at tackling. Sam Prout showed up well at quarter and stopped a few dangerous plays.

In the last period Capt. McGlincey of Brockton had his right hip injured and was carried from the field.

KEATING BOY'S ARM BROKEN

Knocked Down By Auto on His Way Home From School

MAYOR ACTS PROMPTLY

Joseph Keating, the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Keating was knocked down by an automobile while he was on his way home from the Parochial school Friday afternoon. The accident occured at Phipp and School streets. The machine was owned by Frank Hannigan of Brockton and was operated by his chaffeur, E. H. Morse.

The boy was taken to the home of Dr. J. F. Welch where it was found that his right arm had been broken in two places. Dr. David Scannell of Boston set the bones this morning.

Mayor Stone, upon learning of the accident, ordered signs to be placed on streets near school houses warning autoists of the dangers of fast driving.

FRED FRENCH'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Congenial Party of Friends to Celebrate the Event

Fred F. French the genial president of the Washington M. French Hose Association is passing another mile stone in his eventful life today, the 74th. For years Mr. French was identified with Uncle Sams railway mail service but owing to a serious illness was obliged to give up active work. Although he passed his nights when on the Boston end of his run in Boston he always retained Quincy as his residence and never failed to make his appearance at state and municipal elections to exercise his right of franchise. He was the first and only president that veteran firemen's association known as the Washington M. French Hose Association ever had and no gathering of these veterans is considered a success unless Fred's smiling face is among those present.

No resident of Quincy, for any number of years need be told that Fred is the son of the late Washington M. French for whom the old Hose reel was named, and his face is as familiar to these same old Quincy residents as the hands of the dial on the First church clock.

Since recovering from his late illness Fred has returned to Quincy to pass his remaining days and room 16 at the Hancock house is sure to contain a congenial party of friends tonight who call to pay their respects and wish him many happy returns of the day.

BOWLING

Friday evening matches in the Fore River Bowling League at the Coliseum alleys were fast and Porter of the Electricians hit the pins for a single string of 120. He was unable to secure a good break on the neat two strings and made less than 75.

All teams, with the exception of the Machinists Floor had high strings. A large gallery rooted during the entire match and it is thought that the excitment affected some of the bowlers.

The Shipfitters won four points form the Electricians, the Pipefitters took four points from the Machinist Floor, and the Yard beat the Hull men 3 to 1.

FRED FRENCH'S BIRTHDAY

74th Anniversary Observed By Gathering of Friends

OLD DAYS RECALLED

A goodly number of the members of the Washington M. French Hose Association gathered in Room 16 at the Hancock house Saturday evening to extend their congratulations to Fred H. French, on the passing of his 74th birthday anniversary. Fred is the first and only president the association has ever had, and he fills a warm place in the hearts of every member. Fred was feeling fine and in one of his happiest moods and not for a minute would one think him 74 unless told of it.

There was no set program, the affair being entirely informal. Those of his friends who called to extend congratulations, who could spare the time, joined in the informal talk of the good old days when they ran with the machine. Many and many are the changes that have taken place in Quincy since the palmy days of the old Hose company, whose quarters were situated on the corner of Washington and Canal streets, and while today the fire apparatus is of the most modern type, the work of the old hand tubs and hose reels is not to be forgotten. Although not equipped with horses to draw them to fires, they were supplied with runners fleet of foot and when an alarm sounded grass was never allowed to grow under their feet, for the old hose reel was always among the first of the fire fighting apparatus to arrive at the scene of action.

As the wreaths of blue cigar smoke rolled out of the window, the old boys fought over again many of the fires of years ago and as now and then the name of some member gone before was mentioned there was a brief silence as his memory was recalled and a silent toast given.

Fred's callers were not confined to Quincy alone for many former members of the old company now residing in other places heard the call and leaving their homes came to the scene of their youthful days to add their word of congratulation and well wishes for the future. Taking it all in all it was an enjoyable occasion.

DR. WELLINGTON RECORD KILLED BY RAILROAD TRAIN

Unfortunate Accident Happened When Victim Rushed to Board a Car

Wheels Passed Over His Legs, Crushing One, and An Arm

Dr. Wellington Record, one of Quincy's best known physicans, died at the City Hospital this morning, as a result of serious injuries sustained by being run over by a train at the Norfolk Downs depot at 7.15 o'clock Sunday evening. Dr. Record had been attending a patient at Norfolk Downs and arrived at the station to take the 7.15 train for Wollaston.

The train was just pulling out of the station as he arrived. He jumped for the steps of one of the cars but mised his hold and slipping fell to the roadbed the wheels of part of the train passing over him.

People standing on the platform saw him fall and their screams caused the engineer to bring his train to a stop within a few feet. As willing hands hastened to lift him from his perilous position he cried out "I am alive." He also told his rescurers his name and address. A hurry call was sent for physicians and Dr. Frederick A. Bartlett of Atlantic, was the first to arrive and he immediately applied a tourniquet and stopped flow of blood. A hurry call was sent for the police ambulance and Dr. Bartlett accompanied Dr. Record to the City Hospital.

Other physicians had been summoned and Dr. N. S. Hunting, Dr. F. Ramon Burke, Dr. Daniel B. Reardon and Dr. Edward H. Nichols, of Boston consulting surgeon at the hospital were soon on hand. They found that Dr. Record's arm and leg were badly crushed and it was necessary to amputate them in the hope to save the patient's life.

Dr. Record survived the operation but his condition was considered very serious, and his name was placed on the dangerous list, for in addition to having his right leg and right arm badly crushed he had also sustained a fracture of the pelvis bone.

Dr. Record has been established in Quincy for 25 years being the first physician to settle in Wollaston. He always took a deep interest in public affairs and was a member of the school committee upon which he has served for six years.

He was 59 years of age and resided at 357 Newport avenue.

Dr Record was born in Buckfield, Maine, 59 years ago. He came to Braintree when a young man with his parents and received his early education at the Braintree schools, graduating from Braintree High school. He received his college honors at Amherst college in the class of 1877. He then entered the Bellevue hospital in New York where he received his degree in medicine. He came to Quincy in 1886 and his since made his home in Wollaston, being the first physician to settle in this, then, new section of the city.

He has built up a large practice in Wollaston and his death is generally mourned by all.

He was a member of Wollaston Masonic lodge, having received his degrees in 1899. He leaves a widow.

He served for six years as a member of the School committee.

BOTH GAINED BY RECOUNT

But Sullivan's Was Greater Than That of Piper's

NO CHANGE IN RESULT

A recount of the votes for Representative from the Fifth Norfolk district was held by the Registrars of Voters, Saturday night in the Council chamber. Representatives of several of the candidates were present to watch the recount which was finished shortly after 9 o'clock.

There were but few changes. Representative Piper made a slight gain, but Michael T. Sullivan also made gains, the gains of Mr. Sullivan being greater than those of Mr. Piper, so that the result of the recount was that Mr. Sullivan made a net gain of three votes. This makes his plurality over Representative Piper 55 instead of 52.

PRIEST'S MOTHER DEAD.

Mrs. Catherine Geraldine Johnstone died at her home 736 East 2d street, South Boston, Saturday. She was the mother of Rev. Julian E. Johnstone, a former curate at St. John's church and a well-known poet and writer. Fr. Johnstone was relieved of parochial duties because of ill health, and since then has been devoting his care, love and attention to his mother.

A general feeling of sympathy prevailed among St. John's parishioners Sunday when they learned of the death of the highly regarded woman, and tonight a delegation from the Holy Name Society of the church will go to South Boston.

The news of Mrs. Johnstone's death recalled to the minds of many a favorite expression of Fr. Johnstone's, "I always have the love of my mother."

TONY POLARA POPULAR HERO

At Great Risk to Himself, He Stopped a Runaway Horse

ON CROWDED STREET

The third hero of a runaway inside of a month in Quincy is Antonio Polara who stopped a frightened horse on Water street Saturday evening. "Tony" was driving a wagon shortly after dark and heard the rumble of wheels and the rapid hoofbeats, followed by the chashing of a fence and the breaking of the shafts as the naimal turned from Quincy into Water.

"Tony" raced his horse up ahead of the runaway, left his team and as the snorting horse passed him he leaped and caught him around the neck. A steady pressure choked him after considerable distance had been made.

The street was crowded with children and the vicinity was in an uproar. The report spread that the boy hero had been injured but he returned and claimed his own horse. He was given a fine reception by the assembled neighbors and was very modest in his acknowledgement. The runaway is owned by George Schwartz of 299 Water street.

MARRIED 21 YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Russell of 37 Washington street, observed their 21st marriage anniversary Sunday. There was no formal celebration of the event, but during the day they received a number of freinds who called to extend congratulations. Several brought gifts of flowers and articles of more intrinsic value.

LIVELY CAMPAIGN PROMISED.

James H. Penniman, the Democratic candidate for Mayor is to meet the Democratic city committee at their headquarters tonight at which time the plan of the campaign will be laid out. The party is planning to make a lively campaign on live local issues.

DISTRICT COURT.

John Murphy was fined $5, Richard Young $3 costs, Costanio Dundell $4.10 costs, and John Brennan $10 for drunkenness at Quincy. Brennan was also ordered to reimburse the railroad 15 cents for one car fare which he was charged with evading.

James Donohue was sentenced to two months in the house of correction for drunkenness at Weymouth. Appealed and held in $100 for the grand jury.

Peter J. Brennan was fined $3 costs for drunkenness at Braintree.

Michael Egan was fined $3 costs for drunkenness and $15 for indecent exposure at Weymouth.

Buy Good Shoes

Many people try to economize on footwear which is a big mistake. Not only is the foot sensitive and aggravated to torture many times by poorly fitted, ill made shoes, but the grade of leather cannot stand wet weather and hard usage.

Our various lines will be found to be all we claim. They are good shoes throughout and will give each wearer satisfaction when well cared for. Buy good shoes and protect them in wet weather with good rubbers. You will find economy in this method.

COUNCILMAN BAILEY SCOUTS IDEA OF MUNICIPAL CRAFT

Actual Shortage This Year He Claims Will Be Quite $145,000

Advocates Publicity As a Means of Producing Refoi ms

Councilman Charles W. Bailey was the speaker on "What's the matter with Quincy" at the Good Citizenship Forum, Sunday noon, at the Wollaston Unitarian church. Mr. Bailey paid special attention to the present methods used in issuing temporary loans and analyzed the $150,000 refunding order.

"Quincy" said the speaker "has suffered from weakness rather than corruption. There has been no money stolen. The present conditions result from poor business policy, loose accounting and loose methods."

Fred M. Rollins who presided in place of the regular chairman referred to the criticism the church had subjected itself to and defended the objects of the meetings.

He said:

"Periodically there have been insinuations and inuendoes directed toward those who have administered our City's affairs. This feeling has become intensified so that today the chief topic of discussion in every ward in our city is—"What's the matter with Quincy?" In our endeavor to analize the situation three meetings have been held here—the purpose of which seem by some to have been misunderstood and we have been accused of "playing politics"—which is not only unjust but is also unfair. Every fair-minded citizen realizes that what ever the difficulty may be the responsibility for errors or mismanagement, should not be charged up to any one individual or any particular administration. The present condition is the culmination of trouble of long standing, and because of this fact we "should make haste slowly." Our best judgment free from party or sect should be employed in the solution of this problem, so that results may be obtained that will operate for the common good and best interests of every individual within the border of our city limits. Our committee believes that if we meet here, to deal with a principal and not personalities, if we come with charity for all and malice toward none, with a determination to raise the standard of civic virtue in our city government, then the endeavor becomes a righteous one and neither time nor place are inappropriate to hold these meetings. If the concerted effort resulting from these and similar meetings, shall result in putting time honored Quincy on a basis which will no longer subject her to reproach or ridicule of conditions can be brought about so that our representative and competent citizens shall consider it an honor to be identified with our city government then our labors shall not have been in vain and our efforts shall have been worth while."

Mr. Bailey in his remarks, by computations, demonstrated that while there was an apparent deficit of 40,000 the actual shortage was over $145,000.

"That is the legal point" said Mr. Bailey. "How about the business point of view? If a man says there is nothing the matter with Quincy he is either ignorant of the facts or has an optimism that is out of keeping with the facts."

"In considering the cause of the deficit the speaker declared that there had been a deficency in revenue for over 20 years. Where the shortage came he declared he did not know. He laid the blame to loose methods.

"One reason for shortage was that the tax abatements were in excess of

MAYOR STONE TOURED CITY

Saturday Night He Spoke to Large Number of Voters

GIVEN GOOD RECEPTION

Rallies in the interest of the renomination of Mayor Eugene R. Stone for Mayor were held Saturday evening at the Finnish hall on Arthur street. Doble's hall at South Quincy and at Houghs Neck. His Honor spoke at each of the rallies and defended his administration. He denied that the city was selling water to the Fore River for less than cost. He said that the city paid the Metropolitan commision 5 cents and sold to the Fore River for 8 cents. This showed that the city was making a profit.

Opposition to his renomination he said came largely from a certain few men who when he first assumed office had tried to dictate to him, but finding that they could not do so had been bitterly opposed to him ever since. He had persistantly refused to be dictated to by these men and should continue to be independent of them.

He also spoke of the meetings at the City Club in Boston and said that Mr. Miller deserved a great deal of credit for showing up these meetings of a few men who desired to run the city.

He also denied that Quincy was in a bad condition financially. The high tax rate was not due to his administration. He spoke on the conditions as he found them at City hall. He had promised to give the city an economical administration and claimed that he had done so.

Quincy was not only a beautiful city but was one of the most rapid growing communities in the state. There were certain improvements that the city demanded and needed to meet this growth.

Mayor Stone referred to the series of letters that had appeared in the Ledger. These letters belittled the city and criticised his administration. If they had been honest it would have been a different matter but they were not inspired by an honest purpose.

No one could accuse him or any of his department officials with graft. That was a thing Quincy had always been free from and to say otherwise was to place a stain, not only on the good name of the city but on the officials as well. Most of the men opposing him are men who have been residents of Quincy but a few years and pay but a small tax. He did not think that they were qualified to judge of his actions.

The Mayor also spoke of the steps that he had taken to check the waste of water and denied the claim of his opponents that hed done nothing to check the waste.

He had tried to equalize taxation in the city and believed that he had accomplished considerable in that line. No reform could be accomplished in any one year and he believed that the reform started by him would result in a decided reduction in the tax rate.

The Mayor was enthusiastically received at all of his rallies and made many converts by his straightforward statement of present conditions.

Tonight rallies will be held in several wards of the city the principal rally being at Wollaston in Brasee's hall.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

THE HOSPITAL FUND.

When the campaign which was started to raise the $35,000 for the Quincy City hospital closed, without reaching the goal, there was some little disappointment on the part of the part of the campaigners, over their failure, but there was no note of despair sounded. The cry was ever "onward" and optimism ruled the day. Every one felt sure that the amount could be raised. There was ample field for operations, and the campaign committee got busy and made it a point to see every one possible.

Then came the announcement, if the public made up about $2000, a citizen stood ready to contribute $5000 to make up the required $35,000. This was to be done by Wednesday night of last week. The response was prompt and generous. The entire amount was raised within the time specified and the total of $35,000 is now or at least will be at the disposal of the hospital trustees when needed. Every one is glad of this condition. It means that the annual movement in behalf of the hospital will not be necesary. It has placed the trustees in a position which they have not known before and every one is happy and satisfied over the result and no one but feels that the hospital is worthy the support which the public has given it.

PRIMARIES TOMORROW.

The municipal primaries will be held tomorow to nominate candidates for Mayor, Councilmen and School committeemen. There are several minor contests in the wards for councilmen, and eight candidates seek the five places of Councilmen at large. The Democrats do not appear to be very active in this campaign. James H. Penniman is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for mayor. Councilman George W. Abele is contesting the Republican nomination for mayor, with Mayor Eugene R. Stone and the campaign between those rival aspirants has been somewhat lively.

There should be a good attendance at the polls and every citizen should make it a point to express his preference in the matter of nomination as well as election.

Coming down to the election, John L. Miller will enter that contest, on nomination papers, so which ever candidate wins the Republican nomination there is full promise of a three cornered fight for mayor at the city election in December.

TAX DODGING.

Poor Andrew Carnegie, owns some property in New York, valued at $3,500,000, but he is so hard up that he owes much more than that, in fact according to his statement something like $5,000,000 more and cannot afford to pay taxes. Naturally his creditors must have a healthy idea that Mr. Carnegie is well able to meet that little bit of indebtedness or they would be chary about trusting him. But it seems too bad that at his age the poor man should find himself reduced to such short commons. The hero fund and library distribution goes on just the same, even if Mr. Carnegie is so hard up, which of course goes to show that he has some money somewhere. This seems to be a pretty stiff case of tax dodging. Such a course is not confined to Mr. Carnegie alone but is practiced by a great many rich men in all parts of the country. They reap the harvest with their wealth, and have everything, then turn around and dodge their just tax while the man of average income who may own a little house, finds it is taxed to the limit. If there is any way to prevent this tax dodging it should be put in operation immediately.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a larger pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

MR. SHEA NOT AT ANY CONFERENCE

Answers Mr. Shaw's Claim With Regard to Mayor Stone

WOULD CHANGE CITY CHARTER

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

I have been for some time a reader of Mr.Shaw's letters on "What is the Matter With Quincy," appearing in the Daily Ledger. After reading Mr. Shaw's letter of Monday, November 4th, I am led to inquire: "What's the Matter With Mr. Shaw?"

When the gentleman "by reliable report," places me as being present in the Mayor's office at a conference at which, he says: "Ex-Mayor Shea, City Solicitor McAnarney and two or three other well-known politicians persuaded Mayor Stone to change his mind and be a candidate for reelection," he states that which is not so, no matter how reliable his authority may have seemed to him.

In order that Mr. Shaw may be set aright, I want to tell him that I was not present at any conference in the Mayor's office or any other office or place with Mayor Stone, City Solicitor McAnarney and "two or three other politicians" while the candidacy of Mayor Stone for renomination or reelection was under discussion.

I was glad to see Mr. Shaw advocate certain changes in the City Charter for which I have been fighting for some time past. But Mr. Shaw and other well-known citizens who are now advocating these identical changes first suggested by me, were conspicuous either by their absence or by their determined opposition to the proposed changes when I was fighting at the State House for the past two years to give the people of Quincy a chance to vote on the question as to whether or not they desired a change in their City Charter. However, I hope their enthusiasm on the subject of changing the City Charter will last beyond the coming election and that they will be found supporting such a bill at the State House next year as I intend to again introduce the same petition which I have introduced during the past two years.

OLD RESIDENT BURIED.

Mrs. Mary A. Davis, a long time resident of West Quincy and known to all of the older residents as "Granny" was buried from her late home on 40 Cross street, Sunday afternoon. There was a large attendance of neighbors. Services were conducted by Dr. A. L. Hudson of the First Church and there were solos by Miss Olive Grant, Miss Margaret Shirley, Charles A. Goucher. Interment was in Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Mrs. Davis was in her 88th year and was the mother of Mrs. Walter H. Ripley. A few months ago she suffered a shock. Her sight failed and it was customary for her to take a short walk in company with Walter H. Ripley, Park officer James White, and a few other friends. She was always a very active woman and retained all of her mental faculties to a surprising degree. Her death came suddenly.

COMPLIANCE REQUESTED

With Provisions of Light Law on All Vehicles

The State Highway league has sent out the following circular letter which appears reasonable enough in its logic:

"Several newspaper editorials have lately called attention to the failure, on the part of horse-drawn vehicles, to comply with the light law. This point is well taken. Having recently through the press, criticised the automobilists for their violation of the law requiring adequate illumination of rear number plates, the Highway Safety League realizes the fairness and necessity of urging upon the owners of other vehicles an equal regard for the law. The league believes that violation in both cases is due largely to ignorance and to thoughtfulness. As one statute requires the rear number plate of an automobile to be illuminated at night so as to be plainly visible at a distance of sixty feet, so another statute provides that other vehicles shall carry a light or lights visible from the front and rear during the period from an hour after sunset to an hour before sunrise (with the exception of vehicles propelled by hand or carrying hay or straw, or when on a street lighted at intervals of 500 feet or less.)

Our investigations show that hardly one out of three automobiles complies with the rear number illumination law. We can easily believe that the other class of vehicles has even a worse record. The result is that, failing to carry a proper light, teams are constantly being run down at night and wrecked by automobiles whose rear number plates are so inadequately lighted that they are able to escape undetected.

The driver of a team can complain with better grace of an offending autoist if he himself does not contribute to the disaster, and if all vehicles carry lights at night, public opinion will induce, and a sense of fairness will doubtless impel, a large majority of autoists to see to it that they themselves are blameless on the light question.

BURIED FROM SAILORS' HOME.

Peter McGreezy was buried from the Sailors Snug Harbor Sunday afternoon where he died Thursday. He was an inmate for about 21 years and was 82 years of age. He leaves a sister whose address is unknown. Services were conducted by Rev. Samson Nichols of Atlantic and burial was in the cemetery connected with the home.

A FEW HINTS ON MARKETING

Very Desirable and Every Day Articles Obtainable

TWO WOMEN SHOPPERS

Hist! List to us. The problem of high cost living has been solved. This is no dream or idle fancy. Not a bit of it. Everything is on the plumb level or dead level which ever way you care to take it. No more high prices. No more bending the knee to the wantan controlled of the high-priced food products. Mag and Liz went marketing. Experience that did not count, they just went marketing, and like the old servant of Col. Carter, Cartersville forgot certain essentials. Celery, why of course that was the first thing which hooked their vision. Why not? The average consumer, the daily wage earner looks for this ordinary article upon his table every day. Cheap? Don't propound such an absurd query. It is given away, at cost ranging from 15 to 20 cents per bunch. It is nutritious, healthful, sustaining, and a family might live a week on it if they desired to emulate Dr. Tanner. To the average laborer, the man digging in the trench, it is a boon it is so filling. "I serve it in some form every day at this season" is the declaration of the average housewife of a laborer. "Then if there are any leaves left over, they go into a celery soup." The single bunch of celery served in an ordinary family of two will leave an immense quantity left over for the balance of the week and the soup. The economy of celery is established.

Shame on you average house wives not to have known that long ago. Some will promptly answer "of course we did." But did you? Seriously we doubt it. You should have been ashamed of yourselves squandering all those years when there was so much chance for saving. Think of the waste you have been accumulating month after month, year after year, I might add.

Well, there is a dissertation on celery leaves, those same leaves which have been carried along for a week from the same old bunch. But space and time forbids going too deeply into that at this time. They will keep. Remember that bunch is for the week's supply of one family. Maybe canary birds were meant at the time, but it was designated. Then, too, you recklessly extravagant housewives of laborers, there are delicious butter beans at 15 cents a quart. After they are cooked there might be enough left of one quart to hold an inquest over, but it is doubtful. But that has nothing to do with the case. This is a treatise on economical marketing by Marguerite and Elizabeth. Of course you want a bushel of butter beans. No! How wasteful and lacking in economic tendencies.

Then there is the egg plant. Every one has that on their table for breakfast. It is a common every day eatable, to the man of average income with a family of about, let us say six, the same who are going to exist on that bunch of celery and quart of butter beans. Th egg plant, oh they range from 10 to 25 cents, according to the size, "the largest furnishing enough for a large family." God save the mark.

For the benefit of the aforesaid large family it might be injected that the aforesaid delicacies have a combination oyster and mushroom taste and they are in season until Christmas. Then call Doc Wiley.

There is no doubt there will be such a mad rush on the part of the average housewife for this delicacy that the price will immediately soar skyward, so it is better to get on the ground floor and buy a barrel or two at once. A word to the wise is sufficient. Oyster plant is another every day dish in the every day home. Do you get it Steve? If you do you have the whole shooting match. This oyster plant stuff will be enough for a family of two for two weeks, if the family fortifies each member with a square meal of corn beef and cabbage and a few other things three times each day of the previously mentioned two weeks. And not the so-called New England type, but the real old Irish kind of boiled dinner at that. Lemons! Lemons!! Lemons!!! Where was that word invented? Oh, yes, now it comes to mind, Joe Cannon, Nick Longworth, T. Roosevelt, and a few other birds had the fruit handed out to them a few days ago. It cost them something to receive their crop. But here is something that shows they were way off in yaying the high price they did. Two or three years ago, dates do not matter much, an economical lady bought a dozen for 30 cents. Two days later she went back for another dozen and found the price had gone up. How foolish! Why didn't she stock up with a barrel or two. Lemons and "Sulzer" must apologize to the Governor-elect of New York, have been the staple article of diet, with other things during those two days the dozen lasted.

The rise in price was natural under such a demand. No market could stand such an unprecedented bulling and remain normal. Since that time the aforesaid buyer has been in futures. Futures, well futures means a stock ahead. The buyer means to lay in a store or stock for several seasons. Get busy you thrifty housewives and lay in a stock. You all need celery, oyster plant, egg plant and a whole lot of other daily eatables. But if the price should fall. Perish the thought: It is your duty to see that the price is kept up, so that you will not be cheated. The average consumer buys melons on the future. That is she is liable to follow the example of that thrifty person who bought a dozen and two days later after another dozen found the price advanced. Naturally the supply should be for a year, which at the rate of consumption referred to would mean 180 dozen lemons. Then there would be verse writing which would put "to the right and left of them" in the coolest temperature.

The average family of moderate circumstances, always consumes about that many lemons each year and buys in that manner. That is if they are crazy and have been left out of the sight of the keeper for that length of time. Yes and then again.

Meat! Oh yes, in all this jumble and turmoil of purchase, including a bunch of celery, lemons, egg plant and oyster plant, no wonder the meat was forgotten. But then there is no real need of it according to the expert shoppers above quoted. The above ingredients have provided a full fledged and healthy family, for a—well—for, think it over and figure it out how long it would last.

But Marguerite and Elizabeth at this point found something on which to demonstrate their economic plunge. Squash rather mushy it must be admitted, but the price will advance so strike while the iron is hot and put in a load of it.

Meat! Gracious they just thought of that. A fowl they bought. They cooked by the sign language according to the latest cooking school recipes, and if there was a vestige of the bird left for inspection after he or she had passed through the various processes then the animal was good enough for another couple of years in cold storage. Their ambitions having been satisfied, the average housewife is served up the stuff cold as an after dinner dish by the ambitious shoppers. The word ambitious is used advicedly because Marguerite and Elizabeth plainly showed several paragraphs back that they could not boil water without burning it.

But there was more to come. That bird was dissected, vive-sected, and many other ways sected, until it was decided that two pounds would do something or other to a whole family. probably poison them. But as to quenching hunger. Hardly. Unless the family was that of a canary bird or of one member who was trying to imitate Dr. Tanner.

The whole week's supply has been purchased. But the dear girls are going shopping next week, and the chances are in the meantime they will feed at a lunch counter or from the rear end of a dog wagon.

Advice to those two poor deluded females would be wasted, but to the average person it is settled that they have joined in league with the London and Dublin prison suffragettes in a battle of starvation by a no means slow process.

But why a poor misguided public should be man handled, tied to the stocks, and guillotined to the rehearsal of such an experience passeth understanding. Probably every body is thought to be busy at that Bible place battling for the Lord.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S CHURCH.

The calendar for the week is as follows:

Monday, 4.00 P. M., Junior Auxiliary in Parish rooms.

Wednesday, 2.30 P. M., Woman's Guild in Parish rooms. 7.30 P. M., choir rehearsal.

Thursday, 8.00 P. M., vestry meeting at the rectory.

Friday, 8.00 P. M., Girl's Friendly society in Parish rooms.

Thursday evening at eight o'clock the regular monthly meeting of the vestry will be held at the rectory. This meeting is important in several ways. Every vestryman is requested to make an effort to be present.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Woman's Guild will be held in the Parish rooms on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30. It is expected that an important matter will come up for discussion at this time. A full attendance therefore is much desired.

The fair added another to the already long list of good works to be put to the credit of the Woman's Guild. Both the rectory and the Parish rooms were pleasingly decorated. The tables were loaded with attractive things for sale.

The supper was everything that could reasonably be desired. Both at the supper and at the fair the members of the guild did their appointed parts loyally and well. The financial returns are not yet available, but enough has been reported to make it evident that the whole undertaking was financially profitable as well as socially pleasant.

The president of the Men's club has announced the committees as follows: entertainment, Messrs. Holland, Scherer, Briggs and Curran; hospitality, Messrs. T. Parker, Poch and Purdom. With these men in charge of the arrangements some pleasing programs can be confidently expected.

The travel talk which was given by Mrs. W. E. Hingston in the Parish rooms on the evening of October 8, netted $11.35. This amount has been duly added to the Parish house fund.

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. Isaiah W. Sneath will be installed as pastor of the Wollaston Congregational church Tuesday. The council of pastors and delegates from the churches of the Suffolk South Association will convene at 3.30 p. m. and the evening service will commence at 7.15. Both services will be held in the church auditorium and the public is cordially invited.

At the evening service the installation sermon will be preached by Professor E. Hershey Sneath of Yale college, a brother of Dr. Sneath. The charge to the pastor will be given by Rev. George L. Cady of Pilgrim church, Dorchester, the charge to the Church by Rev. Edward A. Chase, of the Washington street church, Beverly and the installation prayer by Rev. Edward Norton of Quincy.

Rev. R. W. Roundy, pastor of the Weathersfield avenue Congregational church, Hartford, Connecticut, occupied the pulpit Sunday morning. He used as his text for a very fine sermon, John 21st, 21 and 22(laying especial emphasis on that reply of Jesus to Peter, "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee?"

Using these two intricate associates of Jesus in his work, Peter, impulsive zealous, strenuous, and John, quiet, affectionate, ready, as symbols of the underlying principles of all life. Mr. Roundy showed how the spirit of activity and the spirit of waiting are each necessary parts of a successful whole, the one incomplete without the other. He asserted that this is true in all phases of life, in the home and in business, and especially in Religion and the Church; that while there are those who serve, there must be those who receive; that although we pray we must also wait, that while Peter was commanded to follow, he must be content in performing his own work, without comment upon what might be the mission assigned to John.

Sunday school met at 12.15 o'clock and was well attended. Christian Endeavor met at 6 p. m. under the leadership of Eugene G. Smith, subject: "Temperance Progress over the World."

Wednesday the Ladies Benevolent society will hold an all day meeting in the vestry beginning at 10 a. m. Hot coffee will be served.

Thursday evening in the vestry at 7.45 the usual midweek service will be conducted by Dr. Sneath; subject: "The value of the Church, and of this Church, to us."

CHRIST CHURCH.

A special meeting of the parish will be held in the parish house this evening at eight o'clock to elect a Clerk vice, Walter A. Deacon who having removed from the city has been obliged to resign.

The regular monthly meeting of the Vestry will immediately follow the special parish meeting.

Tuesday afternoon in the parish house there will be a cake and candy sale given by the members of the Junior Auxiliary. The parents and all parishioners will be very welcome.

The monthly business meeting will be held in the parish house Thursday afternoon at 2.00. It is very important that this meeting be well attended, especially by chairmen and committees of the fair, as it is the last regular business meeting before the Fair. At this time places for the various tables should be assigned, the plan for decoration decided upon, and complete arrangements made. The President, Mrs. C. E. Haskins, 76 Goffe street, would be glad to hear from persons who are working for the fair but are not assigned to any particular table, so that a full report of progress may be made at this meeting. The business meeting will be followed by a work meeting.

November 17-24 will be observed by all the churches all over the land as Home Mission Week. The motto of the week is "Our Country—God's Country."

"In general, Home Mission Week is an attempt to impress upon every man and woman of every church of every evangelical denomination in this country the supreme importance of saving America for the Kingdom of God through the established Agencies of the Church, and to convince them that they have a distinct personal responsibility in the performance of this stupendous task."

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH

In exchange with Rev. Carl G. Horst the pulpit was occupied by Rev. William R. Cole of Cohasset who took his text from Romans 7:15th verse: "For that which I do, I know not; for not what I would, that do I practise; but what I hate."

"In the harmonious working of will and conscience" said the preacher "are brought about the happiness and usefulness of the individual, and the larger and more lasting good of humankind."

In the words of the text we find voiced the lament which is silent in many parts, for in the heat and stress of daily life the vision, seen in the better moments of quiet, is ignored; and it is a universal experience to fail in reaching one's best and highest ideals.

Inherent in each human soul are certain qualities which go to make up its individuality, and in spite of all circumstances of environment those qualities express themselves for the help or hindrance of the individual and of humanity. "Man does not live by bread alone" and he must live and hope above his environment and so harness his conscience and his will that the one shall instantly and unquestioningly obey the command of the other. This beautiful balance of forces is what gave power to the lives of all those great human beings who have lived before us, and our better nature responds instinctively to the high call to service which they make upon us.

In the light of those great lives we see light, and know that their greatness and goodness but express what we long to express, in greater or less degrees as we are able, in our own generation. There is no deeper need today than to lay emphasis upon the duty of each individual to cultivate the religion of the Will, and the prompt obedience to its dictates.

Man's will allied to the will of God makes for that obedience which is the organ of all spiritual knowledge, and leads him to the sense of his responsibility in so living that his example shall prove a help and an inspiration to his brother man.

The Massachusetts Federation of of Churches will meet in King's Chapel, Boston, Tuesday at 2 and 7.45 p. m. The speakers in the evening are the Rev. Alexander Mann, D. D., Professor George Hodges, D. D., Rev. James E. Gregg of Lowell and Rev. Raymond Calkins of Cambridge.

At the annual meeting of the Norfolk Conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches Rev. Carl G. Horst was elected a director for three years.

The biennial church fair will be held December 4, 5. Much time and thought is being expended to make this fair the most successful one in our history.

The Alliance meeting on Wednesday promises to be a most interesting one. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock followed by the business meeting, music and an address by Mrs. Clara B. Beateley of Roxbury entitled "Our Boys and Girls in the Home." All women are invited.

The Earnest Workers Lend-a-Hand club will meet with Anna Weston, Tuesday at 3 o'clock.

The Wollaston Unitarian club meets Tuesday evening. Dinner at 6.30, speaker Hon. Joseph B. McCabe, subject: "The Olympic Games at Stockholm.

Rev. Carl G. Horst called Saturday on his parishioners in the Westboro Hospital.

The Junior-Lend-a-Hand club will meet with Helen DeNormandie, 283 Highland avenue at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

If a religion is good for anything it must find a place in our daily life; not one day in the week but seven days; not only in the Church but in our home, in business, in office and shop. The large attendance of men and women at our Good Citizenship meetings shows that they are interested in the welfare of our city and appreciate the opportunity which the department of education of our church furnishes, to consider public questions in a broad christian spirit.

The pastor's subject next Sunday morning's sermon will be "Why Smith should go to Church."

BETHANY CHURCH.

The Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott requested the Bethany congregation to advertise the Sunday evening services which he has ben conducting of late, with a view to securing a larger attendance, but he hasn't suggested any provision for seating the desired additional attendants. The church is already full, proving that "Jones will go to church when there is anything to go to church for," as Mr. Willmott himself recently put it. The singing was good, as usual, and so was the address. The text was, "The love of money is the root of all kinds of evil." Following are a few fragments from the discourse.

"The desire to obtain money may well be healthy and legitimate. Great is the good we can do with it. When I hear a man say he doesn't care about money, I know he isn't honest in his assertion. The Bible does not declare money to be the root of all evil, although it is often so misquoted. You will observe that a correct translation of the text into English makes it, "Love of money is the root of all kinds of evil," and not "Love of money is the root of all evil." There is quite a difference between the two expressions. We all know there are many kinds of evil, springing out of the lusts and evil desires of men, for which money is in no wise responsible. But love of money has many evil things to answer for.

Back of all our political corruption, you will find the dollar. It is the ultimate cause and motive for political wrong-doing. Remove the expectation of securing the dollar and most of the men who are now anxious to serve their country would disappear from public sight. It isn't for the mere sake of wrecking the bodies and souls of men that the saloonkeeper wants to license; it is for the dollar that he can get out of it. It is as illogical for us to give the liquor dealer a license as it would be to license a doctor who had the wherewithal to inoculate people with the germ of tuberculosis so that he might have patients. In each case the city might charge and obtain a large sum for the license and the licensee could get the money out of its victims. I contend the same reasoning applies to both cases.

The Becker trial revealed to us that forces are operating within the body politic which make for sorrow, suffering and the inevitable dissolution of any nation within which they may find lodgment; and those sinister influences were born of love of the dollar.

"Long after poor Andrew Carnegie has gotten rid of all his millions; long after John D. Rockefeller has been forgotten there will hange in the memories of our people the picture of a gaunt, sad-faced man who was not rich. He will be remembered because he more closely followed Christ than any other American statesman—Abraham Lincoln."

KIDNAPPED LITTLE BOYS

Two Women Indicted For Stealing Children at Boston

Boston, Nov. 11.—"Why women steal children," was gone into by the Suffolk grand jury, who returned indictments charging kidnapping against Mrs. May Tacy, who was arrested for stealing 3-year-old Louis Finkel of the West End, and Louise M. Roach of Portsmouth, N. H., who was charged with stealing Eddie Yates, also of the West End.

MonvdnoInwNMi charms'tds,,..

Mrs. Tacy had the Finkel child in bed with her when she was arrested. She said the little fellow looked much like her own child, who was away. She lured the Finkel boy away with a promise of taking him to a moving picture show.

Little Eddie Yates was found in the company of Miss Roach at Portsmouth, N. H.

MISS McDONALD DIED SUDDENLY

Body Found Lying in Parkway Beside a Bench

FROM WHICH SHE FELL

Returning to her home Sunday evening after visiting her brother, Miss Frances A. McDonald collapsed at Furnace Brook Parkway and Larry place, and died before medical assistance arrived. Dr. John H. Ash and Medical Examiner Fred E. Jones said that death was due to heart disease.

About 11.15 Thomas Connors and a party of men were surprised to see the body of Miss McDonald lying on the ground near a bench. He immediately ran to the house of a trained nurse, Miss Cassie McDonnell who lives nearby and telephoned for assistance. Miss McDonnell hurried to the spot and she said that there was very little fluttering of the heart when she arrived. A few small packages laying on the bench points out that she was probably sitting there and fell off.

Miss McDonald is well known in West Quincy and has made her home with her sister, Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale for a long time. She leaves a brother Joseph McDonald of this city several sisters, Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale, Mrs. Edward Maloney, Mrs. E. Crane, both of Boston and others in New York. She will be buried Wednesday. She was about 55 years old.

YOUNGSTERS HAVE GOOD TIME

Sunday School Children Entertained By Their Teacher

A group of over 50 Wollaston tots were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. J. A. Boone of Muirhead street, Saturday afternoon. The children were members of the infant class of the Park and Downs Sunday school of which Mrs. Boone is teacher. They met at the church at two o'clock and proceeded in a body to Mrs. Boone's residence under the direction of Miss Ruth Page, the assistant teacher. The youngsters nearly filled the house upon their arrival but all were kept amused with games and other juvenile pastimes. Refreshments were also enjoyed.

ROWELL—ROBERTS.

Miss Violet A. Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Roberts of East Braintree and Everett O. Rowell, son of Mrs. R. Rowell of East Braintree, were married Saturday evening, at the home of the brides parents, at 84 Front street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. C. Collister, pastor of the East Braintree M. E. church. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are well known residents of East Braintree and were showered with the best wishes of their many friends.

A BIG BANK VAULT

How Its Doors Were Opened by a Message From the Sea.

THE MAGIC OF AN AEROGRAM.

A Dilemma From Which a Great Financial Institution Extricated Itself In Double Quick Time by a Rapid Exchange of Wireless Dispatches.

To the ordinary layman, too busy or too indifferent to bother his head with scientific matters, wireless telegraphy is somewhat of a mystery. In a general way he knows that by it messages are flashed through the air over oceans and mountains, but he does not realize to what an extent and in what varied roles the aerial magic plays its parts in daily life. In "The Wireless Man" the author, Francis A. Collins, narrates an instance in which aerograms averted a possible financial mishap. He writes:

"A secret, even a very big one, may be intrusted to the wireless man and flung halfway across the Atlantic with complete safety. There was the case, for instance, of the president of a great New York bank who sailed for Europe without leaving the combination of the locks of the vaults. As a rule, the combination is a single word, and the secret is known only to two or three. In this case, by an oversight, there was no one left ashore who knew the key. The money and securities of the bank were very safely locked away, and hours of work would be required to force the locks of the safe deposit vaults.

"The bank president's steamer had sailed at 6 o'clock of a summer's morning to catch a favorable tide, and when the bank's officials tried to open the vaults at about 9 o'clock the steamer carrying the secret was upward of two hours at sea. A hasty examination showed that there was but one way to open the vaults, short of breaking into them, and that was by getting the code from the president, serenely unconscious of the troubles ashore. To delay opening the vaults would, of course, be a very serious matter. If the piles of money were not ready behind the barred windows promptly at 10, the fact would be known within a few minutes throughout the financial section. A serious run on a bank has been started for a less cause.

"In the old days, before the cable, the secret could not have been gained in less than two or three weeks at best, or until a message had reached the president by mail and returned across the Atlantic. The cable alone would have cut the delay in two by catching the traveler on his arrival on the other side. Meanwhile the bank officials, hastily summoned to a conference, had acted quickly. The wireless stations had been notified, and a message explaining the situation was flashed from the top of a high building in New York and from the Sea Gate and Nantucket stations. All this was the work of less than ten minutes.

"Now the combination word used to lock up these millions in gold, currency and securities is, of course, not a piece of information to be flashed broadcast along the Atlantic coast. It would be known to scores of people, even if the stations receiving guarded the secret with the utmost care. The officials therefore impressed upon the president the importance of sending his message in the private code used by the bank in its important cables. As the hour for opening the bank approached the officials waited with an impatience which may be imagined.

"The wireless message was handed to the bank president as he sat at breakfast well out to sea. It was now exactly 9:16. There was a sudden vacancy at that particular table. After one glance at the aerogram the president, realizing the situation to the last detail, rushed madly for his stateroom to search for his code book. A few moments later a dignified elderly gentleman rushed into the wireless booth, demanding at any cost that his message be given the right of way. He got it.

"An aerogram expressed in an unintelligible cipher was soon being flashed with the full power of the apparatus. The wireless stations along the coast had been ordered to expedite the message in every way and were waiting anxiously for it. It was read by two stations on the Long Island coast and repeated hurriedly to New York. A few minutes later the clerk at the telephone in the bank was carefully writing out the strange jumble of letters and translating them into intelligible English. The clock pointed to twenty minutes to 10, the bank's opening hour, when the great steel door swung noiselessly open on its hinges and the day was saved."

WOMEN OF FRANCE.

They Are the Bosses Even Though the Men Won't Admit It.

The women of France have been described as the backbone of the French nation. The remark applies more to the middle class than to the aristocracy. The bourgeoise, truly a helpmeet to her husband, is in fact more often a manager and as a rule efficient in that capacity. It is she who carries on the little shop, while her husband, perhaps nominally the head, runs errands at her bidding. Not that the Frenchman would admit that; nevertheless it is the truth. It may be, too, that he has business interests elsewhere as well. Thus he may work for the railway or for some other enterprise.

In Paris one enters an attractive little picture or jewelry shop on the Rue de Rivoli. A smiling Frenchwoman comes forward to cajole the tourist into buying all sorts of fascinating things he really does not want. It is the same at the shops where are sold kodak supplies and postcards—not a man to be seen except as a purchaser.

If one ferrets out a little hardware store and goes in to buy rope or nails or anything of that sort, there may be a man, the proprietor probably, to hunt for just what is desired, but even then his wife sits at the desk, guarding the money drawer and keeping a close watch over all that is happening.

Likewise at the butcher's madame sits in state at the receipt of cash. The case is the same at the grocer's, where she gives out change and keeps the accounts. No mere hireling is to be trusted with such weighty matters.

All customers should stop to greet the mistress of the shop as they enter and must on no account forget their "Bon jour, madame!" on departing. These little courtesies are among the essentials with the French, and if the foreigner forgets or neglects them he frequently fares badly.—London Spectator.

He Was Precise.

"The truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," is the motto of police witnesses at Ystrad.

"Did you see him coming through the door?" asked a socilitor in court.

"No, sir; through the doorway," answered the police precision in the box.—London Globe.

BUSINESS DIPLOMACY.

What "Sorry, but That Is the Rule," Cost One Bank.

"The making of rules for the carrying on of business is a good proposition, but ironclad rules sometimes injure as much as they help," a New York banker declared recently. "Here is an illustration:

"One of the depositors in my concern had saved many years. His bank book, tattered and yellow, was full to the last lines with entries that extended practically since his wedding day. And when the time came that he must take out a new book he asked to save the old one.

"'Sorry,' the teller said, 'but it's a rule of the company that when a new book is issued we must take up the old one.'

"'But you don't understand,' the depositor argued. 'That old book is nothing to you. It is worth a whole lot to me. Many's the night my wife and I have sat up with that, looking over the entries, planning for the future when all the additions we had planned would be made in it. We've seen our little account grow from $10 to $100, from $100 to $1,000.' His voice grew a bit husky. 'Why, that little book has been a sort of Bible to us. It has represented our every hope in life. We have planned by it, dreamed by it. May I not keep it?'

"'I cannot violate one of the ironclad rules of the establishment,' he answered, and the man turned away.

"A month went by, and then one day a check for the man's entire balance came into the bank. He had transferred his account to another institution. The matter came to my attention some way, and I heard the story of the torn and tattered bank book. That night, in the little bulletin which we send around our place, was a notice that was written by me:

"'Hereafter there shall not be an ironclad rule in this bank that is too strong or too heavy to resist breakage. Kindly consult the cashier on matters of diplomacy in the future.'"—New York World.

Art Is Long Distance.

In his hand was a satchel containing his paints and brushes and a change of socks.

At the gate he met a bright eyed, ragged little boy carrying a basket filled with scarlet strawberries, purple dewberries, crimson radishes, pale young onions, verdant spinach and glistening lettuce from a huckster's wagon near.

"Vegetables?" the boy asked. "Berries?"

"No," replied the artist, brushing past. "I am on my way to sunny Italy to paint water color studies of picturesque peasant children."

And he ran for the boat.—Newark News.

TURKS CRYING NO SURRENDER

Government's Move For Mediation Is Repudiated

FEELING IS AT FEVER PITCH

Experts Think Ottomans Sparring For Time to Muster 500,000 Troops From Asia—Bulgarians May Enter Capital Simultaneously With Defeated Enemy—Diplomats of Powers Have Knotty Problem to Solve

London, Nov. 11.—"No surrender" is the cry being taken up by the Turkish people as well as the military and the newspapers. All have repudiated the government's move for mediation and the committee of union and progress is everywhere giving evidence of renewed activity, while Turkish feeling, both national and religious, is being worked to fever pitch by the impassioned preaching in the mosques and the bitter and scathing comments of the press.

Although to many the government has seemed weak in first asking mediation and then seeming to hesitate in yielding to the demands of the people for the continuance of the war, it may be, say the experts, that she is simply trying to gain time enough to muster her 500,000 troops from Asia. Several high officials at Tchatalja have demanded in no uncertain language that the new troops from the Black sea and also the fomer army of Thrace be give a chance to fight.

In the meantime, the fighting at Tchatalja goes on unceasingly and information comes that the Bulgarians have taken a number of important positions, although as usual the Bulgars refuse to give any definite information as to their position. It is declared, however, they are working in between the Turks and Constantinople and will enter the city simultaneously with the defeated Turks, thus preventing any great disorder. It is also reported that Monastir has fallen to the Servians.

Reports come from Constantinople that cholera has broken out among the Turkish troops at Tchatalja, who are ill-fed and destitute of any sanitary or hospital arrangements, and also that the disease is making great headway in Constantinople, where thousands of wounded men are housed in huts and houses where they have little care or attention.

The diplomats of the great powers are meanwhile trying to solve the delicate question of territory and prevent the break which seems imminent if Austria insists upon her declaration that Servia shall not have Albania or a seaport on the Adriatic.

The Servian troops continue to march on Albania, and from Belgrade comes the statement that independence for Albania would mean unceasing trouble, as they have never been a free people, have no national feeling and not even a common language.

The official press of Russia reminds Germany and Italy to remember their own fights for liberty, but if they have forgotten that to remember Russia, France and Great Britain.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent says: "The decision has been reached that the sultan and the government shall remain in the capital even if the troops of the allies enter. The heir apparent and the other princes have expressed strong opinions that it would be shameful and exceedingly dangerous to abandon Constantinople and retreat to Brusa.

"The opinion is gaining ground that the differences of the powers may bring about a European war, by which Turkey would profit and might reestablish her position if she resists long enough to muster into line new levies from Asia, numbering 500,000 men, when the general conflagration breaks out. Several high officers at Tchatalja demand that the new troops from the Black sea and also the former army of Thrace be given a chance to fight."

The Standard's correspondent says some of the English and American residents are making entrenchments on the hill where the Robert college, an American institution, stands. They intend to take refuge there if necessary.

A Turkish squadron bombarded Ancantil, near Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, where the Bulgarians had planted a battery.

An Odessa dispatch says a Turkish commission has arrived there and is buying up huge quantities of foodstuffs for immediate shipment to the Bosphorus. The Odessa authorities at first demurred to purchases by a belligerent power, but accepted the commission's assurance that the commodities were not for the war commissariat but for public consumption in Constantinople, which was threatened by famine.

Since the fall of Saloniki, the Greek troops have been occupied in erecting camps for the 25,000 Turkish prisoners.

BUSINESS CAREER SHAPED

Fitzgerald Will Not Again Run For Mayor of Boston

Boston, Nov. 11.—"I can conceive of no condition that might arise that would cause me to become a candidate for mayor again," said Mayor Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald's announcement is a definite answer to the rumors that he would be a candidate to succeed himself, based on the fact that the mayor, disappointed in his hope of being the next United States senator from Massachusetts through the election of a Republican legislature, and not caring to run for governor next year against Lieutenant Governor-elect Walsh, had no other political course to pursue but to succeed himself.

The mayor has a definite business career shaped for himself after he leaves city hall. He does not propose to drop politics entirely, but he will not be the important personal factor in state and city politics that he has been in the past.

CHOKED MOTHER TO DEATH

Grand Jury Indicts Donahue In the Second Degree

Boston, Nov. 11.—For killing his mother, Mrs. Ellen Donahue, at their home, 1289 Washington street, on Oct. 29, Cornelius Donahue was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the second degree.

Donahue, who is 29 years old, had been drinking heavily for two weeks and when in an intoxicated condition strangled his mother in an effort to force her to give him his bankbood, in order that he might obtain money with which to buy more liquor.

He threw his mother, who was a cripple, across a couch, placed his knee on her chest and choked her for ten or fifteen minutes. He confessed to the deed.

BRIGGS CONDEMNS FEMININE FLIRTS

College Head Urges Girls to Keep Their Souls White

Boston, Nov. 11.—Lebaron R. Briggs, president of Radcliffe college, condemns the girl flirt in his latest book, characterizing flirting as "the deliberate, systematic and indiscriminate use of personal fascination, the use of power ofr the pleasure of exercising it and for no good end."

He admits "woman rules the world" and says: "If you have dishes to wash and want to read poetry, wash the dishes first.

"Whatever you do," he urges, "keep your souls white from the effort to fascinate men. It is ill for the nation that loses its poetic fervor. The seashore, when it is not private property, becomes a place for clambakes, looping the loop and unconcealed lovemaking."

WILL NOT ENTER BOSTON

Much Discussed Plans of Grand Trunk Road Are Abandoned

Boston, Nov. 11.—The Grand Trunk railroad has abandoned its plans to enter Boston. Rumors that an agreement with the New Haven had caused the Canadian road to quit its plans were current last night.

Thus the work of months on the part of Boston citizens who labored earnestly in behalf of the Grand Trunk has been swept away.

For several days men prominent in Boston's business affairs have felt a growing uncertainty as to the ultimate outcome of their efforts to induce the big Canadian line to enter this city.

HER FIRST TRAIN RIDE

Woman of 113 Visits Town With Her Youngest Son, Aged 89

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 11.—Mrs. H. Kleth, aged 113 years, and her youngest son, 89 years old, took their first ride on a railroad train yesterday. They came from their home, which is several miles from a railroad, in southern Arkansas.

"My, isn't this a big town!" she exclaimed, as she got her first glimpse of Joplin's busiest thoroughfares. Mrs. Keith has three sons older than the one who accompanied her.

YOUNG TEMPLE UPHELD

Schoolboy Need Not Swear Allegiance to American Flag

Newark, N. J., Nov. 11.—J. H. Betts, assistant state commissioner of education, upheld the refusal of Leofric Temple, formerly a pupil at the Cedar Grove public school, to swear allegiance to the American flag.

Young Temple is the son of a former officer in the British army. He said he was acting under his father's instructions in refusing to swear allegiance to the flag.

Alleged "Wire Tapper" Held

New York, Nov. 11.—William Hunter, aged 70, was held in $10,000 bail on a charge of complicity in the alleged wire tapping game in which Kirby S. Sidbury and J. W. Powers recently lost $25,000.

LIPS SILENCED BY MURDERERS

Companion of Genevieve Cavalieri Stabbed to Death

A VICTIM OF WHITE SLAVERS

Initials on Bed Spread Wrapped Around Body Show Connection With Girl Shot to Death at Stratford—Was In Hiding Until She Could Tell of Traffic In Women

Georgetown, Conn., Nov. 11.—Convinced that the young woman whose stabbed and mutilated body was found in a pond here Saturday was the companion of the young girl white slave informer who was shot to death, nearly a month ago fifteen miles away, the authorities are seeking the slayers on the theory that they decreed the woman must be slain to prevent her telling the police the history of the other girl's life.

The initials "G. C." found on a bed spread wound around the body of the woman indicate that she was a companion of the girl murdered by the white slave band a month ago at Stratford, Conn., because in the latter's effects were found many articles bearing the same initials. After the first murder the victim's companion dropped out of sight. The white slave emissaries are believed to have trailed this latest victim to a point near this city and to have killed her in the room in which she lived.

The first murder was committed Oct. 23 on a road opposite Putnam cemetery, when six bullets were fired into the body of the victim a minute after she had stepped from an automobile in which she had been riding with five men. They had trailed her to Bridgeport, Conn., from Chicago, where she had given the authorities a history of the white slave traffic.

When she left Chicago she was accompanied by another woman. The description of the woman found in the pond tallies in many respects with that of the companion. The authorities in this and other towns bordering on the pond are certain she is a stranger.

"That the initials 'G. C.' were found among the effects of the woman killed in Stratford and on the bed spread covering the body of this victim," said District Attorney Beers, "certainly indicates to us that there is a connection between the two cases. The woman slain in Stratford was known under many names, one of which was Genevieve Cavalieri. Undoubtedly her companion took some of her effects when she disappeared after the murder.

"We are inclined to think that this spread was among them. If we can find the room in which the murder was committed we will probably be able to establish definitely from other things there that she and the other girl were companions.

"Three of the five men alleged to have been involved in the slaying of the Stratford girl are under arrest. The other two have escaped. It is reasonable to assume for the purpose of our investigation that these two, fearing the slain girl's companion would understand the cause of the murder and realize who its perpetrators were and tell the authorities, decided to kill her also and silence forever the tongue that could do them the most harm. Also they had evidently been of the band delegated by the Chicago white slavers to kill not only the Cavalieri girl, but also her companion."

The body of the woman taken from the pond is in the morgue at Branchville. The residents of surrounding towns are appearing there to view the body at the request of the authorities, who are hoping that somebody will recognize it.

An autopsy yesterday revealed that the woman was dead when her body was thrown into the water. Extraordinary precautions had been taken to insure her death. Besides eight stab wounds with a stiletto, a child's apron was drawn around the victim's throat. There were also wounds in each temple. The blade in these had penetrated the brain. There were three wounds in the cheeks, two in the neck at the jugular vein and one under the arm.

Doctor Loses Leg and Arm

Boston, Nov. 11.—Dr. Wellington Record of Wollaston, aged 59, was run over last night by a train at Norfolk Downs, which he was running to board, and so seriously injured that amputation of the right leg and right arm was necessary.

Money Troubles Lead to Suicide

Boston, Nov. 11.—Alfred S. Hayes, formerly a member of the legislature and one of Boston's best known lawyers, committed suicide by shooting on his large farm at Ashland as the culmination of serious financial troubles.

Hoodlums Kill Policeman

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Charles Jones, a policeman, was shot and killed here in attempting to break up a gathering of West Side hoodlums. Eight arrests have been made.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

COOKING SCALLOPS.

NOW that fresh scallops may be obtained these recipes for cooking them may be of interest. In communities where the fresh scallops are unavailable the canned ones may be substituted for them.

The most popular way to cook scallops is to fry them. They are generally rolled alternately in cracker crumbs and beaten egg.

The Popular Way.

Fried Scallops.—Fresh or canned scallops may be used for this. Drain the liquor from the shell fish, soak them in milk, season with salt and pepper and roll in cracker crumbs so that they are thoroughly covered. Put them in a frying basket and plunge them into hot fat. Then fry them for about four minutes. Take off the fire, drain and lay on soft paper to remove all superfluous grease. Serve on a napkin on a hot platter and with thin slices of buttered toast.

Stewed Scallops.—Take a pint each of scallops and milk, a tablespoonful each of butter and flour, with salt and pepper to taste. Wash the scallops in clear, cold water and drain them. Put the milk on in a saucepan and bring it to the boil. Knead the butter into the flour and, when the milk is boiling, drop into the liquid. Then add the scallops and cook for five minutes, stirring all the time. Then put in salt and pepper and serve.

Nice Luncheon Dishes.

Scallops on the Shell.—Take the scallops, drain off the liquor and parboil them. Then cut them into cubes. Take a quarter of a cupful of butter, a half cupful of mushrooms peeled and cut into squares and a slice of onion and saute for five minutes. Stir in a quarter of a cupful of flour and, when it is combined with the butter, add a pint of the scallops cut into cubes and a half pint each of the scallop liquor and cream. Bring to the boil and let simmer six or eight minutes and then season with paprika and a teaspoonful of butter. Take buttered scallop shells, line these with cracker crumbs soaked in butter, add the boiled scallops and brown in the oven.

Scallop Salad.—The scallops should be first soaked in salt water and then placed in boiling water and allowed to simmer for five minutes. Take off the fire, drain in a sieve and let cool. Cut the scallops into slices and stir in French dressing. When it is time to serve the salad drain the slices of scallops and mix with chopped celery stalk. Shape into a mound or pyramid and dress with mayonnaise.

If you want a handsome effect mask with mayonnaise and mark patterns on the side with capers and fill the patterns in with chopped white of egg and patterns cut from slices of cold beet.

MINCED HAM RECIPES.

WHEN there is cold ham which is not presentable for the table it may be minced or chopped and made into various dainty viands. Recipes for some of these are given here.

Use For Cold Ham.

Ham Balls.—The pieces of cold ham must be chopped fine for this. Add half a cupful of milk to four tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs. Put the milk and bread crumbs on the range and boil until thick, then add the yolks of two eggs and stir well together before taking off the fire. Add a cupful of chopped ham, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Mix this. It may then be put away to cool. When ready to use shape into balls, dip into beaten white of egg, then into bread or cracker crumbs, and fry in hot fat. Serve hot with parsley.

Quickly Made.

Ham Croquettes.—Take one cupful of chopped cooked ham, one cupful of breadcrumbs, two cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, one large tablespoonful of butter, two eggs and a dash of cayenne. Beat the hame, butter, eggs and cayenne into the potatoes. Let cool and shape like croquettes. Roll in breadcrumbs, dip in beaten egg and again in crumbs, put in frying basket and plunge into boiling fat. Cook two minutes, drain and serve.

Ham Omelet.—Run the ham through the meat chopper and allow one tablespoonful of ham to each egg. For a large omelet beat three eggs, yolks and whites together. Add seasoning and three tablespoonfuls of cold water and beat well. Into an omelet pan put one teaspoonful of bacon fat or drippings and heat these. Pour in the omelet and reduce the heat at once, as the eggs must cook slowly. Keep the pan in motion constantly, lifting the edges so that the soft part will run underneath and still be moist. Add the chopped ham, which has been warmed. Double up the omelet.

Served With Sauce.

Ham Loaves.—Mince ham and season to taste, adding one-third as much breadcrumbs as ham. Use enough milk to moisten, fill well buttered molds and sprinkle lightly with breadcrumbs. Bake in a pan of hot water until they puff up. An egg may be dropped in a larger mold before the ham is added, or some chopped boiled egg or other garnish may be put in, so that it will decorate the center when contents of the mold are turned out.

FEARED TO EXPOSE DYNAMITE PLOTS

Men Who Paid McManigal "Had the Goods on Him"

Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—Conscience so overcame Ortie E. McManigal when he blew up a "job" at Mount Vernon, Ills., April 19, 1910, that he was on the verge of quitting and exposing the McNamara dynamite plots five months before the loss of twenty-one lives at Los Angeles.

McManigal, who today continued his testimony at the trial of the forty-five accused "dynamite plotters," says in a written confession that twice prowling about at night with bombs under his arm, he had to employ tact in saving the lives of night watchmen.

In several instances which he recited McManigal asserts he was tempted to quit dynamiting, but was cautioned by those who paid him that "they had the goods on him." He probably will be on the stand for a week.

CROOKS IN FEAR OF EACH OTHER

Gunmen's Reason For Dropping Demand For Separate Trials

THEY GET A NEW VIEWPOINT

Said to Be Ready to Plead Guilty to Second Degree Murder and Thus Escape Electric Chair—Rumors of Negotiations With District Attorney Being Opened Up

New York, Nov. 11.—Beneath their veneer of confidence in ultimate acquittal a new-born fear and respect for the law is actively at work in Harry Horowitz, Louis Rosenweig, Frank Cerofici and Frank Miller—the "Gip the Blood," "Lefty Louie," "Whitey Louis" and "Dago Frank," on trial before Justice Goff charged with the actual murder of Herman Rosenthal. Pointed rumors have followed the four men into court that, in terror of the electric chair, they are ready to enter pleas of murder in the second degree.

There have been rumors before that the gunmen were willing to compromise with justice. Long, reflective days in the Tomps, coupled with the lesson of Lieutenant Becker's conviction, have given them a new viewpoint on their relation to society. From inside sources there comes information that all is not going well with these four youths who have called in question the civilization of the twentieth century.

The crooks are falling out. They are losing their confidence in each other. Each one is fearful that the other will steal a march on him and pour a confession into the ear of District Attorney Whitman. This is the real reason why they dropped their demand for separate trials and elected to face fate together.

They made the plunge, and five jurors were selected before Justice Goff adjourned the trial until today. Midway in the jury selecting the twelve who had been trying Conroy for the murder of a lawyer entered the courtroom and the accused murderers of Rosenthal sat serious faced and silent while a verdict of guilty of second degree murder was recorded.

They whispered together after Conroy had been led away, and then once more the rumor spread that negotiations with Whitman had been opened up.

Whatever decision is reached, nothing will be done until a jury has been selected. Justice Goff will have to be re-consulted also as a matter of courtesy, though the district attorney, if he so elects, may accept any plea the defendants choose to make.

All of the bravado which characterized the defendants' brief appearance at the Becker trial has departed—there are no longer any sneers for the court, no scoffing, no smiles, no brazen stares.

"Gyp the Blood" is yet almost childlike in his appearance, "Lefty Louie" has the intelligent face and studious manner of any one of a hundred boys that might be picked out in a crowd of college freshmen. "Whitey Lewis" is more sophisticated, yet utterly devoid of any blood-thirsty traits, while "Dago Frank" is just the ordinary Italian type.

And the four of them stand accused of this: That, for $1000, paid to them in cash, they sought out a man against whom they had no grievance, went to where they knew he was sitting, in the heart of New York, in the midst of civilization, and shot him down in cold blood.

TO QUIT WASHINGTON

Ambassador Bryce Informs President of His Resignation

Washington, Nov. 11.—James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, has tendered his resignation and will return to England.

There has been no official announcement of the resignation and the embassy will make no statement, but it was learned on high authority that Bryce informed President Taft of his action at the White House.

"DEAD" MAN REVIVES

Runaway Prevents a Man Being Put Under the Sod Alive

Sullivan, Wis., Nov. 11.—Brought to life by a runaway after two days' residence in a coffin, Mike Scofield is "up and around" today.

Pronounced dead, Scofield's body was placed in a hearse for transportation to the potter's field. The horse ran away. Scofield revived.

Great Conflagration at Canton

Canton, Nov. 11.—A fierce fire broke out in this city and is still burning. A thousand houses, besides the general postoffice, wharves and the fire brigade station, have been destroyed.

Child Killed by Burns

Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 11.—Marion Bernard, 4 years old, died here as the result of burns. She was playing near a dump and her clothing caught fire.

MAINE VOTE COMPLETE

Wilson Has Plurality of 2528 In the Pine Tree State

Portland, Me., Nov. 11.—The tabulation of press returns of the presidential election in Maine was completed yesterday with the receipt of reports from two Knox county plantations, Criehaven and Matinicus. The two places gave the Republicans fourteen votes, Democrats fourteen and Progressives thirty-one. They brought the total vote of the state to the following:

Wilson 50,987, Roosevelt 49,459, Taft 36,538; plurality for Wilson 2528.

BULL MOOSE CAUSE MUCH IN EVIDENCE

Boston Followers Back Their Enthusiasm With Cash

Boston, Nov. 11.—"No compromise with any other political party—the Progressives are here to stay, and to win in 1916." This was the keynote of the Progressive rally in Tremont Temple Saturday night, which was sounded by all the speakers.

If Theodore Roosevelt had received 439 electoral votes, or Charles S. Bird were to take his seat in the state house on Jan. 1, no greater enthusiasm could have been unloosed by the 5000 Bull Moosers who filled Tremont Temple to the doors, and overflowed into Faneuil hall.

The enthusiasm was not confined to vocal exercise, however. Over $8000 was pledged to the support of the cause, and following the first collection, a second one, upon a request to raise $250 to pay for the rental of the hall, netted $364.

Resolutions defining the future stand of the Progressive party in its relations to other political parties were adopted, as well as resolutions upon the coming senatorial election and on the high price of coal.

GOING BACK TO FARM

Nebraskan Drops $60,000 In Chicago Saloon In Eight Months

Chicago, Nov. 11.—After having lost $60,000 in the saloon business in eight months in Chicago, Patrick Carrarher, 33 years old, appealed to the police for lodging last night. He was formerly a farmer in Nebraska and sold his property and came to Chicago last February to enter the saloon business.

"I am going back to Nebraska to begin life over again," he said. "I should never have left my farm."

BURNED IN EFFIGY

Uncle Joe Cannon Evidently Not Loved by Citizens of Sidell

Danville, Ills., Nov. 11.—To celebrate the defeat of "Uncle Joe" Cannon for congress more than 1000 persons gathered in the streets of Sidell, near here, and witnessed the burning in effigy of the ex-speaker.

The effigy was carried through the streets on a stretcher and later set on fire in the principal street of the town.

Woman Sells $10,000,000 Ranch

Clarendon, Tex., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Mary Adair has just sold her million-acre ranch near Clarenuon. The consideration is reported to be more than $10,000,000.

Tobin Is Re-elected

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 11.—John F. Tobin of Boston was re-elected president of the Union Label Trades branches of the American Federation of Labor.

BY INVOLUNTARY PETITION

Butler's Big Department Store Is Put Into Bankruptcy

Boston, Nov. 11.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against William S. Butler & Co., Inc., by three New York creditors.

Their petition, filed in the United States district court, declares the company should be adjudged bankrupt on the representations made in the bill of equity filed before Judge Colt of the United States circuit court last Thursday.

Judge Colt appointed C. F. Weed and Melroy H. Gibson receivers of William S. Butler & Co., Inc., and also of Gilchrist's and Everybody's stores. The last two joined in the receivership as a precaution. Weed succeeded William E. Butler as an officer of the Butler companies when Butler committed suicide.

According to the bill in equity the liabilities of William S. Butler & Co., Inc., are $700,000 and the assets $250,000.

'PHONE WORKERS' AWARDS

$10,000,000 Fund Set Apart For Pensions and Insurance

Boston, Nov. 11.—A $10,000,000 pension, benefit and insurance plan for the aid of its employes and those of its associated interests will be put into effect Jan. 1 by the Bell telephone system.

This plan, of which official announcement was made yesterday, will replace the pension system adopted in July of this year by the New England Telephone and Telegraph company and its allied companies. Of the 175,000 employes who will be benefited by the plan, 13,300 are in New England.

PRISON GUARDS DROPPED

Result of Investigation of an Escape From Deer Island

Boston, Nov. 11.—Commissioner Gore of the penal institutions department, as a result of an inquiry relative to the recently escaped prisoners from the house of correction on Deer island, dropped four guards from the service and caused a fifth to resign.

The investigation followed the escape of Harry Kelly, who swam the Gut and later returned to the island, it is alleged, to help William Baker, a New York pickpocket, out of the toils.

"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Ledger Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information.

If your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
If urinary troubles set in,
Perhaps your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Don't delay—use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is good evidence of their worth.

Mrs. S J. Mortimer, 9 Woodville St., Roxbury, Mass., says: "Kidney trouble made me miserable about six years ago. I had severe pains in my back and sometimes I could hardly move. It was next to impossible for me to do any housework. When I attempted to get up in the mornings, the pains were so bad that I had to roll out of bed on my hands and knees. If I moved quickly or brought a strain on my back, I would almost scream with the pain. Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended to me that I got a box and began using them. The first few doses helped me and in less than a week, the trouble was gone. Whenever a cold or strain brings on an attack of kidney complaint, Doan's Kidney Pills cure it."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GOOD SOCCER FOOTBALL GAME

Quincy Beat Charlestown on Robertson's Play

BY A SCORE OF 1 TO 0

Quincy beat Charlestown 1 to 0 at the ward three grounds, Saturday afternoon in one of the fastest games of soccer football ever seen in this city. R. Robertson scored for Quincy after rushing the ball around making several passes back and forth to his teammates and sending a stiff kick through the posts. The game was free from roughness.

BRIEFS

Adjourned meeting of the City Council tonight.

Mrs. Emily Ramsey of Hanover was the week end guest of her niece Mrs. Harry Hathorn.

The mass meeting of the Quincy Progressive party to select candidates for the City Council has been postponed to some time the latter part of the week.

Flagrant.

A senator was condemning a piece of political deception.

"The thing was as flagrant," he said, "as the railway case. Two men, one of them very short, were passing through a station toward the train gates, when the bigger one was heard to say:

"'I've took a half ticket fur ye, George. Yer so little ye'll pass all right.'

"'But,' protested George, 'how about my beard?' And he twiddled his chin beard nervously.

"'Oh,' rejoined the other, 'tell 'em it's a mole.'"—Washington Star.

The Human Voice.

One's surprise at the fact that no two persons' voices are perfectly alike ceases when one is informed by an authority on the subject that, though there are only nine perfect tones in the human voice, there is the astounding number of 17,592,186,044,415 different sounds. Of these fourteen direct muscles produce 16,383, and thirty indirect muscles produce 173,741,823, while all in co-operation produce the total given above.

MUNICIPAL PRIMARIES

Citizens Will Nominate Candidates for Office Tuesday

DEMOCRATS VERY QUIET

Tomorrow is the great battle of ballots in the Republican party to see who shall be the nominees of the party for the municipal officers to be voted for at the election Dec. 3. There are no contests on the Democratic ticket, but several on the Republican ticket. First and foremost is the contest for thenomination for Mayor. There are two candidates seeking the nomination, Mayor Stone and Councilman George W. Abele. During the past week a hot campaign has been waged by both candidates, which will continue through tonight as Mayor Stone is scheduled to speak at several rallies, principally at Wollaston where the boom for Councilman Abele is said to have started.

Mayor Stone has waged a lively campaign during the past week and while not attempting to deny that the tax rate this year is excessive, he has made it clear that his administration and in fact no one administration is responsible for it. It has been coming for several years and close students of city affairs were not a bit surprised when the rate was announced to find it high. Mayor Stone in his campaign speeches has endeavored to make it clear that there is nothing the matter with Quincy and that she is all right.

Aside from this contest there is also quite a lively contest for the nomination for Councilmen at Large, eight candidates seeking the nomination for the five places. Of this number four are members of the present Council, two members of previous councils and two who have never seen service in the council.

The next contest comes in ward three where the three present councilmen from this ward are seeking nomination and are being opposed by a fourth gentleman.

The most merry contest however is probably in ward six, the Atlantic ward. Here Councilmen Beeman and Cunningham, of the present council are seeking nomination. Then there are three former councilmen also seeking nomination. John R. Nelson represents Squantum and has a large following in that section. Edward F. Parlee represents the Montclair district and the third Charles A. Hadlock comes from the district near the Quincy school.

This is purely a local contest and friends of each are doing considerable hustling which means that the caucus will be largely attended and it is therefore hard to predict who will win out. Councilman Cunningham has come out openly and favored the nomination of Councilman Abele for Mayor which makes it pretty sure that he will receive the support of the Abele faction of the ward six voters. Squantum will support Mr. Nelson to a man and Montclair can be looked for to support Mr. Parlee. It is a merry contest and may the best man win.

BABIES UNDER THE SPOUT.

In Simla They Water the Youngsters to Keep Them Quiet.

The native mothers in the neighborhood of Simla, in India, have a curious practice of putting their babies' heads under a spout of water in order to send the youngsters to sleep and to keep them quiet. When a new cart road was made some years ago in the locality mentioned there was a halting place, where rows of such children might be seen in a grove close to the road.

The water of a hill spring was so adjusted as to furnish a series of little spouts, each about the thickness of one's little finger. Opposite each spout was a kind of earth pillow and a little trough to carry away the water. Each child was so laid that one of the water spouts played on the top of its head, and the water then ran off into the trough.

An English official testifies that the process was most successful. There never were such quiet and untroublesome babies as those under the spouts. The people were unanimous in asserting that the water did the children no harm, but that, on the contrary, it benefited and invigorated them. In fact, they seemed to think that a child not subjected to this process must grow up soft brained and of little account.—Harper's Weekly.

Conkling's Invective.

Roscoe Conkling, like John J. Ingalls, was a master of invective. Conkling it is said, once upon a time in summing up to a jury thus attempted to belittle the testimony of a rummy faced, knobby nosed witness for the opposition: "Methinks, gentlemen, I can see that witness now, his mouth stretching across the wide desolation of his face, a sepulcher of rum and a fountain of falsehood!"

MR. ABELE MAKES SOME PLEDGES

Certain Things He Will Do If Elected Mayor

TO BETTER CONDITIONS

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

The question as to what is the matter with Quincy has been thoroughly discussed during the last few weeks. The question now of vital importance is, what is to be done? As yet, I believe that I am the only candidate who has stated what he proposes to do and my platform appeared in the papers two weeks ago today.

Mayor Stone claims that the present condition is the result of the accumulation of years for which he is not responsible and that he has been unable to do anything in one year. That it is the accumulation of years is true, but is it equally true that he has done nothing during the past year to change those conditions and has actually vetoed measures calculated to put Quincy on a sound business basis. I believe that much can be done in one year for the betterment of conditions.

If elected Mayor, I shall take immediate steps to stop the leakage of water and thoroughly to overhaul the water department. I shall not allow water to be sold below cost. The mayor says that he has not had time enough to attend to this. If elected, I shall take the time and if I do nothing else during the year, I shall effectually cut out the leakage of water and money in this department.

If elected, I shall insist that the construction of new streets shall not cost more than if done by contract.

I believe that the auditor should have the real authority of an auditor, and if elected I should heartily approve an ordinance similar to the one vetoed by the mayor which ought to invest the auditor with such powers.

If elected mayor, I shall insist upon an honest tax rate, sufficient to pay all current expenses and make adequate allowance for abatement of taxes. This was not done during the past year, as is shown by the fact that the departments are overrunning their apropriations and that the allowance for abatements is grossly inadequate. This much could have been done this year and if elected I shall do it next year.

I am absolutely opposed to the expenditure of $100,000 for the purchase of the proposed location for the development of the water front, as I believe the price to be absolutely excessive.

If elected, I shall insist upon having the sewer assessment so changed as to comply with the law and prevent any further deficiency. Mayor Stone vetoed a proposed change in the ordinance recommended by the special committee and unanimously passed by the city council, which, if now in force, would effectually prevent further loss. I should approve such a change in the ordinance.

If elected mayor, I shall insist upon the prompt and impartial collection of taxes and fair and inpartial assessments.

There is no excuse for not conducting the affairs of the city on a strict business basis, free from extravagance, waste and incompetency, and that is what I pledge myself to do if elected.

DRAFTSMEN EASY VICTORS

Newton Team Unable to Score Against Strong Consistent Play

Saturday, the Fore River Draftsmen met Newton Upper Falls A. A. on the ground of the latter, before a good attendance. Laidlaw kicked off for the visitors at 3.30 o'clock. For the greater part of the first half the exchanges were even, when the Draftsmen scored through Laidlaw.

In the second half, the Draftsmen had the assistance of the wind and the bulk of the play, and Laidlaw put on three more goals; the final score being: Fore Rover Draftsmen 4 goals, Newton Upper Falls, 0.

The Shipbuilding eleven displayed good team work and it would be unfair to particularize among them, all displaying skill and vim.

This is the Draftsmen's third match and so far they have not had a goal scored against them.

The lineup was;

Preston, goal; A. P. Artis and B. G. Barnes, back; R. L. Hendry, G. V. Gregg and C. Bartlett, half-backs; R. S. Brother, R. Crawford, J. G. Laidlaw J. McLay and A. Campbell, forwards.

WHISTLER AT WORK.

The Eccentric Artist Had a Method That Was All His Own.

In "Memories of James McNeill Whistler," by Thomas R. Way, the author allows us a glance at the artist's methods during his residence at the white house in Tite street, built from the designs of his friend, E. W. Godwin, the architect:

"The studio was surprisingly different from the room he previously used in Lindsay row, and entirely unlike the studios usually occupied by other artists. I remember a long, not very lofty room, very light, with windows along one side; his canvas beside his model at one end and at the other, near the table which he used as a palette, an old Georgian looking glass, so arranged that he could readily see his canvas and model reflected in it. Those who used such a mirror (as he did constantly) will know that it is the most merciless of critics.

"I marveled then at his extraordinary activity, as he darted backward and forward to look at both painting and model from his point of view at the extreme end of the long studio. He always used brushes of large size with very long handles, three feet in length, and held them from the end with his arm stretched to its full extent. Each touch was laid on with great firmness, and his physical strength enabled him to do without the assistance of a maulstick, while the distance at which he stood from the canvas allowed him to have the whole of a large picture in sight and so judge the correct drawing of each touch."

Unconscious Sarcasm.

A Scotch visitor to the Carlyles, in Cheyne row, was much struck with the soundproof room which the sage had contrived for himself in the attic, lighted from the top, and where no sight or sound from outside could penetrate. "My certes, this is fine!" cried the old friend, with unconscious sarcasm. "Here ye may write and study all the rest of your life and no human being be one bit the wiser."

GRANITE MAN LONG TIME ILL

James L. Fennessey Passed Away Today Aged 50 Years

James L. Fennessey one of West Quincy's well known citizens died at his home on Rogers street this morning aged 50 years. Mr. Fennessey has been in poor health for some months but his death was unexpected. He was for many years connected with the granite trade being associated with the late T. F. Mannix. He was a charter member of St. Francis Court M. C. O. F. He leaves a widow and two children.

COUNCILMAN BAILEY

the overlay. The only place these show are in the temporary loans and these had been crawling up.

"For six consecutive years" said Mr. Bailey, "the mayor has not put into the tax levy provision for the maturing sewer bonds. These are supposed to be met in part by the sewer assessment but the difference must be put in the tax levy.

"This condition alone has caused a shortage of $52,000 and the only place it shows is in the temporary borrowing account. What is the remedy?

"Some think the mayor ought to have nerve enough to tell the people the facts and to put $150,000 or $200,000 in the tax levy.

"I don't blame the mayor for not doing it. It would hardly be fair to make up this year the debts of the last 20 years. Suppose $50,000 were put in this year and next year's mayor says "No!" to any further action in this line. We have then taken one bite but have cleaned the matter up.

"The refunding order will increase the tax rate 40 or 50 cents, but it is getting at the root of things and putting it on a business basis beyond the whim of any mayor."

The speaker declared he would not champion this measure if something had not been done to stop the leaks, and practices of the past. This he declared the new system of accounting would do. It would also check the juggling of the tax rate.

"Another thing we need is more publicity. There is no sense in the statement that if 'Quincy's affairs got into the papers it would hurt the credit of the city.'

"Do you suppose the bankers that take our bonds don't know what our condidtion is? All they care about is where the money is coming from to meet the bonds when they fall due.

"The stand taken is a dodge of the politicians to keep under cover. It is assuming that you don't know enough or have nerve enough to hear the truth or would be panic stricken if you did. It is not a sensible attitude to take."

Mr. Bailey declared that present system of ward representation to be responsible for a good deal. The councilman's record is made up in what he gets for his ward. Think of 18 men going down to City Hall and getting things! It is easier to get things than to say "No!" We will not get ahead until we realize that councilmen go down there to represent us and the best interests of the city instead of going down there to get things."

In closing Mr. Bailey stated that the tax rate wonld be higher next year. He did not consider this "knocking" because the matter onght to be looked squarely in the face. "We have made a start this year, and gotten to the bottom of some of our troubles."

Mr. Anthony inquired concerning the responsibility of the tax collector in collection of taxes.

Eugene H. Sprague said "The men who had done most to bring improvements about were marked for slaughter."

Horace W. Richmond spoke in favor of a high valuation and low tax rate. In agreeing with him Councilman Bailey declared that for a long time the assesors and tax collectors departmennt had been the weakest spots in Quincy's government. Politics he charged, were played extensively in these two departments.

Edward J. Cummings and Lucien H. Thayer also spoke. In answer to the latter Mr. Bailey declared himself in favor of a longer term for mayor and a smaller council.

MAYOR STONE AT WOLLASTON

Defended His Administration and Favored Charter Idea

PARTNER A SPEAKER

Before a large number of Wollaston citizens in Brasee hall, Monday evening, Mayor Eugene R. Stone defended his administration and told what he considered to be the matter with Quincy.

He was frequently applauded. Ex-Councilman Cherrington, who presided and Mr. Underhill of Brookline, business associate of the Mayor in the firm of the Stone & Underhill company testified to his partners ability and business integrity.

Councilman Cherrington declared himself against charter revision as at present proposed but favored revision by a commission of experts. He took a hopeful view of Quincy's finances and declared that while Quincy had doubled her assets and got something for her money, Lawrence had not. If he was elected and there was still a borrowing capacity he would vote to spend money if there semed to be economy in so doing.

The Mayor said 6 39-100 miles of water mains had been built, 410 new services installed and 325 metres set. He had saved $15,000 on supplies in the water department as against the same amount of stock last year. There had been 3 35-100 miles of new sewers built and 320 house sewers. But $7500 had been spent for streets this year.

JOHN BLAINE DEAD IN WEST

Word Received Here of Demise at La Salle, Ill.

SOME DOUBT FELT

A telegram reading that a man known at John Blaine, supposed to be a resident of Quincy was dead at LaSalle, Ill., was received by Mrs. John Blaine of Morton street, West Quincy, Monday. She wired a full description of her husband who was on his way to California and if the body answers the description it will be shipped here for burial. Mr. Blaine is a well known Quincy stone cutter and of late years has been travelling about the country in connection with his work. The family said they had no positive assurance of the death of their father but believe that he stopped at LaSalle on his way west.

On the receipt of the description from Quincy the body was positively identified and is now on the way here. It is expected in Boston Thursday morning where it will be taken in charge by Edward D. Barrett.

JANITOR WHITE DEAD IN BALCONY AS FIRE SWEPT ALPHA HALL

Deceased Had Purchased Kerosene Which Was Distributed Around the Building Just Before Blaze Was Discovered

Revolver Found Beside the Body. Col. Kincaide Thought Firemen Showed Lack of Training in Their Work

Despondent and believed to be suffering from melancholia, L. Merton White, janitor of the Alpha hall block on Cottage avenue saturated the stagging and other parts of the hall with kerosene, applied a match to it and then going to the balcony shot himself through the head with his revolver. This in brief is the tragedy that took place shortly before 8 o'clock this morning.

Mr. White who resided at 140 Glendale road has been the janitor of Alpha hall ever since it was opened to the public three years ago.

This morning about 7.30 he reported at the building and went immediately to Mr. Kincaides store where he turned over to one of the clerks the amount collected for the rent of the hall Monday evening.

A few minutes later he entered the public market situated on the ground floor of the building with an eight quart milk can and had it filled with kerosene oil.

Five minutes of eight John Bass, one of the employees at Kincaide's store discovered a wreath of smoke coming from the hall. He immediately ran to Box 23 and sounded an alarm. Then rushing back into the store he seized a hand chemical and with John W. Walsh rushed back to the building and opening the front door the two entered. They were immediately met with a volume of thick smoke and discovered that the heavy door mats were burning. This incipient fire they were able to extinguish but when they mounted the stairs and looked into the hall they saw that the entire front of the stage was a mass of flame.

By this time the fire department had arrived and two lines of chemical hose were carried up a ladder into one of the windows. One of these lines was from the auto chemical and the other from Hose 1. At that time the fire was blazing fiercely although the main hall was rather free from smoke as what smoke there was seemed to be near the ceiling. As soon as a chemical stream struck the fire however the smoke became so thick that it immediately drove those in the front part of the hall down stairs.

By this time a line of hose had been carried through oue of the windows and although thick black smoke continued to pour from the crevices of the roof the fire had not spread beyond the stage.

It was necessary however to tear away the finish about the stage so that the stage platform is a wreck. About this time a small fire was discovered on the Hancock street end of the building and a line of hose was carried up a ladder on the Cottage avenue side and a stream thrown onto this fire which was soon extinguished.

Among the early arrivals at the fire was District Chief Frank C. Packard, he started up the iron fire escape on the rear of the building and from this roof mounted the stairs leading to the balcony door intending to open it in order to let out the smoke. As he opened the door he was shocked to find Mr. White seated on the chair next to the door leaning forward apparently lifeless. Thinking at first that he had become overcome by smoke Chief Packard drew the body onto the fire escape and called for help to take the body to the flat roof.

Once out in the air blood was noticed on his right temple. A hurry call was sent for a physician and Dr. Cornelius J. Lynch was soon on the spot. He immediately pronounced Mr. White dead. There was a pool of blood on the floor under the seat where he had been seated and his cap and reolver were on the floor.

It was thought at first that he had become so excited on finding the building on fire and fearing that his carelessness would be blamed for it, that he had taken his own life. It was not long after, before an eight quart milk can was found on the roof of the building. On being examined this was found to contain a small quantity of kerosene oil and near where the can was found there was an oil stain on an adjoining building.

It was then learned that fifteen minutes before the fire Mr. White had gone to the market on the street floor and purchased some oil. Chief Litchfield came to the conclusion that Mr. White had started the fire himself. That he had then taken his own life hoping that he would be cremated in the fire. The theory also is that after starting the fire on the stage that he had saturated the large door mats at the entrance and set fire to them. Then going to the balcony he had opened the fire escape door, thrown out the empty can, then closed the door, and ended his life.

This theory was also advanced by Medical Examiner Fred E. Jones who viewed the body and ordered its removal to Hall's undertaking rooms.

During the latter part of the fire Fred Bent attached to the Wollaston station was overcome by smoke while at work over the balcony. A rope was secured and his apparently lifeless body was lowered to the ground. The police ambulance was on the spot and the fireman was placed in the vehicle and hurried to the City Hospital. Half an hour later it was said at the Hospital that he was coming out of it all right.

The whole upper floor of the building was occupied by Alpha hall. On the street floor were a number of stores. These were occupied by Orlando Pace as a tailor shop, R. F. Leighton, electrician, Public Market, J. K. Morrison, dry goods, First church of Christ Science reading room and a barber shop. In the rear of these is Union hall.

The store of Orlando Pace is situated directly beneath the stage end of Alpha hall and while some of his goods were removed he suffered considerable loss by water which came through the floor. The other stores also were somewhat damaged by water but not to any great extent.

The building was owned by Henry L. Kincaide & Co., and was built about three years ago. The two public halls are almost in constant use and bookings for their use have been made for several months ahead. While the hall will be immediately repaired those who desired its use in the immediate future will be obliged to seek halls elsewhere.

After the fire Col. Kincaide said that he knew of no reason why Mr. White should have fired the building and taken his own life unless it was because he was demented. He said that for some time Mr. White had been acting queerly and that frequently he would find him talking to himself and acting somewhat strangely. Mr. White realized that he was losing his mind and had been heard to say that he was afraid that he would have to give up his work with which he was very much in love.

During his early days, Mr. White had charge of the Pope building in Boston and came to Quincy some years ago and was given employment in Col. Kincaide's second hand store. When the Alpha hall building was completed he was placed in charge as janitor and had been a faithful and honest employee.

Col. Kincaide further said that this was the busy season of the year at the hall and that the interruption of business would mean quite a loss. That he had notified the insurance people and that work would be immediately commenced making repairs. He did not want to criticize the department but he thought there was a lack of proper training of the men. The men were ready and willing but had no systematic training, such as given departments in many cities.

COST OF WATER IN QUESTION

Councilman Abele Points Out Figures Bearing on Same

CRITICISES MAYOR

Editor Quincy Daily Ledger:

The Mayor has at the eleventh hour seen fit for the first time to answer my charge that the city is selling water below cost to the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., when it sells at 8 cents per 1000 gallons. His answer is that the cost is only 5 cents per 1000 gallons.

If that is true, why does the city charge the general consumer the exorbitantly high rate of 30 cents per 1000 gallons, or six times what it costs?

As a matter of fact the cost of the water to the city is not only what we pay the Metropolitan Water Commission but also the cost of maintenance and administration which brings the cost up to 12 cents per 1000 gallons and my statement is therefore true that we are selling below cost to the For River Shipbuilding Co.

If the Mayor had been sincere in his answer, he would not have waited until the last minute to make it, when there is little opportunity to correct him.

LIGHT VOTE AT CAUCUSES

Little Excitement at Primaries In Progress Today

CANDIDATES BUSY

The battle of ballots to see who will be the Republican and Democratic candidates for Mayor, Councilmen at Large, Councilmen from the wards, and school committee is on, the polls in the several wards having opened at 12 o'clock noon and will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight. But little interest seems to be taken in the caucuses and a light vote is predicted.

CHAIRMAN RESIGNED

Alfred J. LaCroix Relinquishes Reins of Committee

BOWDITCH HONORED

An enthusiastic meeting of the Democratic city committee was held in the Johnson building Monday evening. James H. Penniman candidate for mayor was present. Plans for the coming campaign were talked over and the committee intends starting the ball rolling Wednesday night.

Galen Vinton Bowditch, who for the past 54 years has been accepted as the only Jeffersonian Democrat in this city was made an honorary member. It was a loyal tribute to the grand old man who is rounding out his 75 years of life and is the time in the history of the city that an honor of this kind was ever conferred.

Alfred J. LaCroix who has been the energetic chairman of the committee presented his resignation. After Mr. LaCroix explained that his business called for more time than ever and that it would be impossible for him to devote the proper time to the office the resignation was accepted.

Ex-councilman Edward Histen was made chairman pro tem.

☞The business of the new lumber yard of the Rhines Company is on the increase. A large plant has been established off Field street, near the power plant of the Quincy Electric Light and Power Co. and is well stocked. Most of the lumber is received by water which permits it to be sold at right prices.

NO LICENSE MEN ORGANIZE

William F. Cummings Elected President of Local Body

MANY RALLIES PLANNED

A meeting of the Citizens No-License League was held Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the next year and formulating plans for the campaign. It was with considerable regret that the members learned that George Sidelinger who has been the president for the past four years, would not stand for reelection. Mr. Sidelinger however assured the members that he would still retain his interest and would serve in an advisory capacity during the present campaign. William F. Cummings who has been the vice president of the League for many years was chosen president. Quincy has no person who has been more deeply interested in the cause of no-license than Mr. Cummings. For many years he has had charge of the rallies which have been held in Ward 6 and no doubt under his leadership the League will maintain Quincy's grand record for No-License.

Melville Hayward of Ward 1 was chosen vice-president, and the other officers re-elected were treasurer John F. Hunt, secretary Joseph A. Sedgwick, members of executive committee, Delevare King, Dr. C. T. Sherman and Thomas B. Pollard. Committees were appointed to look after the different wards and to arrange rallies in the various districts. It was also voted that a large rally would be held in Music Hall the same as was held three and four years ago.

GEORGE E. DREW 56 YEARS OLD

Event Marked By a Family Gathering at His Home

The centre of an admiring family, George E. Drew celebrated his 56th birthday at his home on 33 South Central avenue Monday evening. He was assisted in receiving by his wife, Mrs. Drew. During the evening a birthday cake was cut. Mr. Drew received many gifts.

James Barbour, the two year old grandson of Mr. Drew was his rival and received fully as much attention as his grandpa. He is the son of Mrs. Bessie Barbour who is the wife of Rev. Harris Barbour of Providence, R. I. The others present were Nathan, George K. and Samuel T. all children of Mr. Drew.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

In times of peace prepare for war. England followed out idea and so was in a position to checkmate the little game which had been planned to divide Eastern Europe.

That is some big pension fund, $10,000,000 which the Telephone Company is to provide for the help.

Assessment expert says that Boston has the best laid out streets in the country, although the Back Bay because of its straight lines is somewhat monotonous.

It may be that Ambassador Guild will be the next Senator from Massachusetts after all.

Secretary Langtry may try again next year. Both he and his successful opponent Mr. Donahoe said some very nice things about each other.

The French dancer only brought over $325,000 worth of jewels. Some of them it is said cost the Portugal ruler his crown.

Young Astor will come into the control of a modest $75,000,000 this week. The young man seems to be well balanced enough to use discretion in handling this large sum.

It will be the green against the red when Dartmouth meets Harvard Saturday. There is no need of asking where some people's sympathy would be if it was only a question of color.

It is to be hoped that Boston will not get stung as bad on those steamship lines as she did on the railroad line.

Events are happening so fast in the Balkans that the correspondents have hard work to get their stuff consored and pushed through in time for good service.

There is much promise of there being a good three or four cornered mayoralty contest.

John Whittier, 99 years old, is still husking away on his farm. He believes a man will rust out quicker than he will wear out, an opinion shared by many others.

This calamity howling at the result of an election is not so prevalent as it was a few years ago.

Prosperity is stalking along all right, yet there are a good many people who cannot find employment in the big cities.

The department says a herring is a herring. Well most every one thought that but now there can be no doubt when it has received official approval.

The Word has gone forth that the Republican party is not dead. It certainly got an awful walloping though and it remains to prove whether it can bear under adversity the way the Democrats have.

There is a note of regret going the rounds that there are very few uncles in the 63rd congress. There are uncles and uncles.

THE COMMUNITY SORROWS.

The tragic death of Dr. Wellington Record, is sincerely deplored by every one who knew him. It was a distressingly shocking accident which snuffed out his strong and useful life. Yet it is one of those which are wholly unaccountable. One of those tragedies, which creep into a community every little while and saddens some home and leaves cause for regret to a great many.

Dr. Record was well and favorably known to a large circle of people in Quincy. Every one who knew him speaks well of him and on every hand sincere expressions of regret are heard on every hand. His popularity was of the bright clean sort that appeals strongly to men and women. In his passing the community has lost a useful and upright man, a desirable citizen. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to his widow in her period of heavy loss and trial.

RATHER DISAPPOINTING.

The announcement that the work on the extension of the Southern New England railroad that off shoot of the Grand Trunk System, has been the cause of some more than mere perturbation in Boston. The public had been led to believe that the work was to be pushed right along with great rapidity and the entrance of the road to Boston accomplished dispatch. And now comes the disquieting intelligence that the work has been stopped and that Boston will be given the go by so far as this company is concerned. Great things were looked for in Boston from this new railroad into Boston. Now it looks as though the whole thing was a huge dream. Stringency of the money market is one of the causes assigned. Another rumor which is being circulated with considerable force is that the hold up of operations, is the result of an understanding with Mr. Charles S. Mellen. Mr. Mellen only smiled and volunteered the information that it might have been the weather.

This move throws 2,000 men out of employment besides all the shattered hopes that have been blasted.

THOSE WAR CLOUDS.

While not agreeing in whole or in part with the pressage of war which Gen. Wood in his recent address before the students at Harvard university, announced it is only fair to assume that the military gentleman is in closer touch with the world's military affairs than the idealist and dreamer who from his pleasant camp of retrospect would with the lack of knowledge of military endeavor or effort pronounce the war cloud not upon the present day horizon.

Quoting from the record's of the World's chamber of commerce meeting in Boston, recently, that the the world's commercial growth must be accompanied by a supplanting of militarism one gentleman points to this as an evidence of world wide peace.

Yet within a few weeks of this delightfully optimistic and frothy effusion, there is a death grapple going on in Turkey which threatens to involve not only the entire continent of Europe, but a part of Asia as well and with delightful intentions, the powers are endeavoring to drag the United States into the imbrogilo.

Talks such as those quoted from the commerce meeting are mere empty vaporings. There is not a bit of depth or sincerity to them. The delegates must say something and the prettier the words, the better it sounds all around.

The prophet of this universal peace has failed to recognize the historical fact that within the past 20 years, at least, the world has witnessed an unprecedented harvest of warfare, within any previously parallel period, excepting of course the 30 years war and the Napoleon Era.

Gen. Wood knews from information not obtainable by the average layman that there is danger.

People of this nation should realize that the United States has the greatest expanse of exposed coast of any country in the world.

The expressions at the International chamber of commerce were merely surface utterings. Those bodies have little bearing upon international differences until they are really settled. Accept them at their real worth. The actual conditions are what count in the long run.

The nation which is best prepared for war is the nation best equipped to prevent war. Turkey if fully prepared on a substantial rather than a paper basis would have prevented the war now in progress.

The Balkans watched and waited for the opportune moment to strike. The nation which for centuries has fooled Europe is in the dust of defeat and distress; and due in large measure to a state of unpreparedness to meet the conflict when it arrived.

HIS LAST WORD ON THE SUBJECT

Declares Mr. Bamford on the Use of Church For Politics

BUT HE MAY SPEAK AGAIN

Editor Daily Ledger:

If nothing new develops, this will be my last communication relative to church desecration.

My opponents, "Progressive Churchman"" and "Church Member" "evidently haven't enough faith in their views to sign their names to their letters, therefore I am done with them. To make my position clear, let me re-state it: I do not contend that the church is any more sacred than the mountain side, but the fact that we have dedicated the church to the worship of the Eternal One makes it incumbent on us to keep it set apart for that purpose and not desecrate it by using it for secular purposes. By the same token, we should prohibit the discussion of secular subjects in the church; not upon the theory that the Lord is in His holy temple any more truly than He is everywhere else, but upon the ground and for the reason that a proper degree of respect for Him requires us to treat His sanctuary as a holy place. What the Church needs today, Mr. Editor, is not tobacco and politics, but men in the pulpits who will have regard for the solemn charge of the great Apostle to "Preach the Word" and nothing else. Let me commend to our clergy, especially those of feeble knees, the parting injunction of Paul to Timothy; also the words of Hezekiah to the Levites, as recorded in the second book of Chronicles, the 29th chapter and fifth verse.

John A. Bamford.

MAYOR AT WOLLASTON.

This the Mayor considered false economy. The Mayor defended his attitude on the July 4th appropriation of $1000. This cost each citizen less than 3 cents apiece and the money spent this way was worth more to the child than to the tax payer.

He stated that he had been working on the water question the entire year and within a short time changes would be effected reducing the number of gallons and lowering the rate in Quincy.

"I am not slighting anything," said the Mayor. "It is not my way." He denounced the posters placed around the city in favor of his opponent. He exhibited one declaring they were not fit to put in any man's window and that they gave an unfair interpretation of matters. His opponent had voted in favor of 95 per cent of the appropriations this year, absent on 2 per cent and voted against 3 per cent. Was it fitting he should talk economy?

"They have even said," continued the Mayor, "that we have spent the $80,000 appropriation already. Such is not the case. It was borrowed last August at 4 per cent while 5 1-2 or 6 per cent would have been charged if not taken then. The money is there for every special appropriation and thousands of dollars more. You can come down tomorrow morning, and I will show you that it is."

Mayor Stone spoke of Quincy's large area and declared present conditions resulted from appropriations made to keep up with its rapid growth. Another was the borrowing on short term loans which, he declared had choked the city.

He mentioned the refunding order and the new system of accounting, both of which he had worked for to put the city on a better basis.

He had done his level best in Quincy and tried to save money in every department. He declared himself able to manage any business put in his hands without the help of the councilmen or the state.

Four years ago he had advocated changes in the city charter. He was in favor of a smaller council without ward lines. These with a few minor details changed and the charter would be found to be all right.

It was hard work to read in the papers the things said against the city and keep still. He must remember he was Mayor however and wait until he could explain the situation to the voters.

Mr. Underhill, the Mayor's partner, declared he had known him for 20 years and had found him courageous, a man who will not let go but sticks to the finish. He had a marked business ability and tries to do his best. He considered him the man to serve the city in a good business way.

DR. GIFFORD INTERESTING

In His Talk on Points of Contact at School Meeting

At the monthly meeting of the Wollaston Parents' and Teachers' association in the school assembly hall Monday evening, Dr. O. P. Gifford, pastor of the Baptist church, Brookline, delivered a scholarly and brilliant address on "Points of contact."

Dr. Gifford quoted the maxims of a prominent man "Be sure you're right and then seek points of contact."

"We should regulate our own home," said the speaker "We should first fight our troubles and the source of our troubles at home, then seek righteousness outside. We should study points of contact and apply them. We should have enough confidence in morality to try."

Dr. Gifford spoke of the peoples of the East and of the great devotion with which they read the Koran. "If we read the Bible with the same devotion, there would be no need of jails, police and the like."

Hon. Eugene H. Sprague presided and Mrs. A. N. Barstow the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. William E. Rowe gave a report of the State Congress of Mothers held at Greenfield, to which she was sent as a delegate.

Notice was given of the school operetta to be held on Friday and Saturday of next week.

Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Carroll E. Bates, Mrs. Louis E. Crosscup, Mrs. David H. Goodspeed, Mrs. Percy L. Davidson, Mrs. John Burke, Mrs. Alfred Richards, Mrs. George Perry, Mrs. Roy Turner, Mrs. Chester J. Hogue, Mrs. Wyman H. Streeter, Mrs. H. C. Seymour, Mrs. Wilson Blake, Mrs. Harry Osgood and Mrs. Charles E. Barker.

DISTRICT DEPUTY ACTED AS JUDGE

At the Masquerade Party of Loyal Pride of Granite Lodge

Unusual costumes and a good time marked the Masquerade Ball of the Loyal Pride of Granite Lodge, I. O. O. L. M. U. at Alpha hall, Monday evening. District Deputy, Mrs. M. J. Bourne of Boston was present, acted as one of the judges and awarded the prizes.

Councilmen Charles A. Ross and John R. Richards were the other two judges.

Miss Mary Smith as "Night" was picked as the winner of the ladies' prize and received an inlaid comb. Miss Jennie Boutelier, dressed in a costume of pink paper was given a set of combs as the second ladies prize.

Robert King as a "Chinaman" was awarded a smoking set for the first gents prize and Vester Nichols as a "Policeman" was given a bill fold as second gents prize.

After the unmasking and the usual surprise attending it, all joined in the dancing until ten o'clock. Music was furnished by Wilson's orchestra and refreshments were served in Union hall.

Mrs. Grace Ordway was floor directress and Miss Mabel Favreau was her assistant. The aids were Miss Katherine Favreau and Miss M. Williams.

The entertainment committee consisted of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Spargo, Mrs. Jane Lillie, Mrs. Margaret Stronach, Mrs. Katherine Mischler, Mrs. Katherine Cotter, Mrs. Mary L. Thomas, Miss Lillian Smith, Mrs. Grace Ordway, Mrs. Jennie Boutilier, Mrs. Rose Carron, Mrs. Annie Denton, Mrs. Jennie Morrison.

CITY COUNCIL

der was referred to the Committee on Fire Department.

The Mayor forwarded a communication inclosing a communication from Joseph L. Whiton, chairman of the Progressive party, asking for the use of the Council chamber for Thursday evening, for a meeting of the party to decide if it should enter the municipal campaign and if so to nominate candidates for the several municipal offices.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Studley offered an order granting the use of the Council Chamber as requested which was adopted.

The Mayor forwarded a communication stating that he had investigated the claim of I. W. Hayden for refund of $26.53 for overcharges for garbage and found that he was entitled to the refund. As there were no funds in the Mayor's Miscellaneous appropriation he recommended that the Council provide for it. Referred to Finance Committee.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Craig offered an order refunding the amount stated to Mr. Hayden. Referred to the Finance Committee.

Several applications for minor licenses were received and referred.

The Committee of Elections and Returns reported the result of the election of Nov. 5, which was practically the same as published in the Ledger. The election returns were declared to have been as read.

The Committee on Finance reported on the communication from the Mayor asking for an appropriation for Gypsy Moth asking for further time that the committee might learn as to the amount of bills that are unpaid in the department. Report accepted.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass on the amendment of Councilman Richards, to the order taking the land at the junction of Washington and Coddington street. The amendment of Councilman Richards increased the amount from $1,700 to $2,000 and added the borrowing clause. The report was accepted, the order read and ordered to a second reading.

The orders granting the Q. E. L. & P. Co., a location for poles, Granting the Citizens Gas Light Co., a location for mains on Fenno street and appropriating $900 for the completion of the hall in the Quincy school building took their second reading and were passed under suspension of the rules.

The orders widening and building a part of Sea street and changing the grade of Elm avenue took their second reading and were laid on the table.

Adjourned at 8.10.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH.

The Epworth League and evening service at the Hall Place M. E. church were omitted Sunday as the church accepted the invitation from the Wollaston church to unite with them in the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of their church.

The pastor took three passages of the scripture as a text. 1st. Matthew 26-39, "O my Father, if it be possible let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." 2nd John 16-7 "It is expedient for you that I go way; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you." 3rd Phil. 1-23, "For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better: Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you."

BISHOP HAMILTON VISITS QUINCY

An anxious and overcrowded house greeted Bishop John W. Hamilton, D. D., of Boston, the bishop of New England at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Wollaston, Sunday evening. By 7 o'clock the church was completely filled so that chairs were brought in and every available space was filled People from all the different churches were present besides the people and pastors from the Methodist churches of West Quincy and Atlantic. The pastor conducted the service. Rev. T. C. Martin of West Quincy, read the scriptures and offered prayer. Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook sang a solo, entitled "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

The Bishop gave a masterly sermon taking for his subject, "Salvation is of the Jew." He took his text from John 4-22. He held the closest attention for nearly an hour. He said in part:

"The Jews were never in large numbers. Why there are more people in London and New York than there are Jews in the whole world. We hold the Jew in great contempt. We won't sell the Jew a foot of land next to ours. And yet here is that wonderful statement that salvation is of the Jew.

I. If the salvation of God is from the Jew then the salvation of God is from one man to another man.

II. The salvation of God is to be given by the privileged to the unprivileged class.

III. There is no salvation except of the Jews.

The salvation of God is commanded by God to be given to man by men and by no other way.

The christians were called so at Antioch in contempt. The Lutherans were called Protestants in contempt. The Wesleyans were called Methodist in contempt. Yet what great names they have become in the world God could have sent salvation to men by Spirit or by angels yet he provided for man to work out his own salvation with fear and trembling.

We are responsible for the salvation of our neighbor. The responsibility is individual as well as collective, none are too old to shirk their responsibility, nor too young to acquire the privilege. Sincerity and unconscious influence are the greatest factors in the salvation of the world.

It was a wonderful thing to be a Jew in Christ's time and I'm not sure but what it is a great thing to be a Jew today. Who knows but what they are to be made use of in some way or other in the salvation of the world. To think that the Jew should be selected from all the countries of the world to give the greatest heritage of the world.

It was a wonderful thing to be the mother of Jesus. But it is a greater thing today to be a disciple of Jesus. I could not approach my Christ with making Him out to be less than He is.

POPULAR REPRESENTATIVE

Wedded to Brookline Young Lady in Church Today

WILL LIVE IN QUINCY

William J. Leslie, a member of the house of representatives and a former councilman of this city was married this afternoon to Miss Ceita Rena Marie Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Ada E. Johnson of Boston. The ceremony was performed at the Trinity Church, Boston by Rev. Ruben Kidner.

The bride was attended by Miss Marie Wilhelmine Kroger of New York and Charles N. Brown of Attleboro was the best man.

REP. WILLIAM J. LESLIE,
Joins Ranks of Benedicts.

Following the ceremony there was a luncheon at the home of the bride's mother, 50 St. Stephens street, Boston. After a short trip through the south Mr. and Mrs. Leslie will reside at 195 Highland avenue, Wollaston.

Representative Leslie is one of Quincy's popular young men. He is connected with a Boston clothing firm and his home has always been here. After a fine record in the house he was returned with a handsome majority over two opponents at the last state election.

MOTION PICTURE STORY.

"Hope" is the title and the leading note in a new motion picture film which will be released for exhibition Nov. 16, by Thomas A. Edison, working in co-operation with The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The scenario of the picture was written especially for the anti-tuberculosis campaign by James Oppenheim, and the film will be used during the next six weeks as a special feature of the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale.

The story, as portrayed by Mr. Oppenheim, tells of a young banker in a little New York town by the name of John Harvey and of his bookkeeper Wells, with whose daughter Edith the banker is in love. A few weeks before the holiday season, Harvey one day receives a letter and some literature from The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, asking him to engage in a tuberculosis campaign in his district, to form a committee to sell Red Cross Christmas Seals, and to work for the erection of a local sanatorium. He shows the material to his old bookkeeper and both the men laugh at the idea that a country district need engage in such a fight. Tuberculosis, they believe, is a thing only of the city slums. Careless and unthinking, however, Wells puts some of the pamphlets in his pocket and forgets the incident.

Meanwhile Edith is trying hard to conceal from her father and lover the annoying cough which she has developed and also the knowledge given her privately by the old family physian that she has tuberculosis. She struggles hard against her love for Harvey and her father, especially when the banker shows her the new home which he is building for them. She is about resolved not to yield to the doctor's advice recommending that she go to a sanatorium, when one evening she accidently discovers the tuberculosis literature in her father's pocket. As she reads of the dangers to which she is exposing those whom she loves, and of the hope of a cure that may be hers if she, will go to a sanatorium, she finally conquers her immediate desire and resolves to live for health and a cure. She writes a note to her father and to Harvey releasing him from their engagement and leaves home secretly for New York to see what chance she has of being cured, for there is no sanatorium nearer to her home than a day's journey.

It is the bitter realization of the truth that tuberculosis lurks everywhere, even in their own homes, that spurs Harvey and Wells to arouse their townsfolk to the need of preventing this disease and erecting a sanatorium. And all the while they are searching for Edith, until one day by chance they find her name on the Bellevue Hospital Tuberculosis Clinic. They trace her to the ferryboat day camp at that institution and finally to her own miserable hall bedroom. It is not a difficult task to persuade Edith to go home and take the cure in the new sanatorium on the outskirts of the town. Here she completely recovers her health and as an indication of her future mode of life on entering her new home for the first time, a happy bride, she throws the windows wide open to let in the fresh air.

PLEA OF GUILTY IS ENTERED BY LORD

Banker Gets Twelve to Fifteen Years In Prison

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 12.—Edgar Lord, the defaulting treasurer of the New Bedford and Acushnet co-operative banks, pleaded guilty to forty-one counts of larceny and forgery, in the Bristol county superior court. He was sentenced to from twelve to fifteen years in the house of correction at hard labor.

District Attorney Kenney said the amount taken was around $60,000, but that some of the investments yielded an income which would bring the amount somewhat below that figure.

Lord was arrested on Aug. 26. His peculations are said to have covered a period of nine years.

Lord's salary as treasurer of both co-operative banks was $2000, and he also earned $1200 a year as organist of the Cavalry Baptist church at Providence.

LOUIS CYR IS DEAD

He Held Belt as Champion Strong Man of the World

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Louis Cyr, the the world's champion strong man, is dead. Grief over his sickness caused his mother-in-law, Mrs. Odile Desrochers, to drop dead at his bedside.

In the little village of St. Jean De Matha, a few miles from this city, Cyr had been ill for many years. The village was Cyr's old home, and there he was surrounded by his relatives.

For some years Cyr suffered from dropsy, and latterly he was unable to lie down. He sat all day and all night in a chair.

Cyr won the world's belt for heavy lifting in London against strong men of all the world. He was, when a young man, apoliceman in Montreal, and later ran a circus in the province.

Suit of Independent Concern In New Hampshire Is Dismissed

Washington, Nov. 12.—The supreme court of the United States dismissed for want of jurisdiction the suit of the National Telephone Manufacturing company of New Hampshire for $500,000 damages for alleged malicious prosecution by the American Bell Telephone company of Massachusetts.

No damages were recovered in the court below, the United States circuit court of Massachusetts.

Chemical Changes.

By taking some limewater and blowing one's breath into it a fine white powder will be formed in the water.

By adding some common salt to a solution of nitrate of silver a thick white powder is produced which, if placed in the sunlight, will turn brown.

Pour the juice of a red cabbage into a test tube or thin glass bottle, drop in very gradually a solution of washing soda, shaking the bottle every time you put the washing soda in, and you will see the red solution gradually turning blue. Go on adding the soda solution, and the blue color will give way to green.

Paint of Our Forefathers.

A white lead and oil paint, the finish of our forefathers, is easily and economically mixed from the raw materials as it is needed for use. With each 100 pounds of white lead mix five gallons linseed oil, one pint turpentine and one pint drier. An allowance of 50 cents for the labor of mixing gives eight gallons of white paint for about $13.15, or $1.64 a gallon. Two coats of this, or better three, after coating knots and pitchy, sappy places with orange shellac, provide a good finish either outdoors or in.—Country Life In America.

CABINET LOSES ITS PRESTIGE

Asquith Meets With Defeat on Home Rule Question

COMMONS GREATLY EXCITED

Liberals' Estimate of $30,000,000 For Ireland Opposed by Conservatives, Who Think $12,500,000 Enough—Ultimate Resignation of Cabinet Is Looked For London, Nov. 12.—The administration was defeated in the house of commons by a vote of 228 to 206 on the financial clause of the Irish home rule bill.

If the usual course is followed the administration will resign and a general election will follow. Unless it results in a victory for the Liberals, who are now in power, home rule will be lost.

In any event, if the administration resigns, an entirely fresh start will have to be made on the measures in the new parliament. The commons adjourned in wild excitement.

The question on which the vote was taken was an amendment to the home rule bill offered by Sir Frederick Banboy, a Conservative, providing that in case Ireland proved unable to support itself by local taxation and had to call on the imperial government for assistance the amount be limited to $12,500,000. Premier Asquith said this was too little and that $30,000,000 might be needed.

The Conservatives leaped to their benches when the result of the vote was announced, screaming "Resign! Resign!"

Intrinsically the amendment was not considered important, but from the government's standpoint it was vital.

After a hurriedly called cabinet meeting following the commons' adjournment, the leaders of the Liberals, who with the Irish and Labor members support the bill, announced that the administration would not resign. They contended that the vote was not truly representative of the commons, but a "snap division" engineered by the anti-home rulers.

The consensus of political opinion, however, is that the cabinet's loss of prestige will prove fatal and that its resignation cannot be avoided as soon as the European international situation is a little less strained.

BRAKEMAN IS BLAMED

Nineteen Persons Killed In Crash of Trains In Louisiana

New Orleans, Nov. 12.—Nineteen persons were killed and fifty-four injured when an excursion train was wrecked near Montz in a collision with a freight train. The freight plowed through several cars of the excursion train, which was returning with pleasure seekers who had spent Sunday in New Orleans.

The excursion train slowed down on approaching a sharp curve near Montz and the freight train crashed into the rear coaches. Many of the victims were so badly mangled as to make identification impossible.

An official statement issued by the railroad company placed the blame for the wreck on a brakeman named Sunningham, who was charged with failure to have signalled the freight train.

TO LEAVE CLEAN SLATE

Bryce Will Clear up Pending Business Before Leaving Washington

London, Nov. 12.—The British ambassador to the United States, James Bryce, will remain at Washington until all pending negotiations have been cleared up. These include, it is understood, the question of the Panama canal.

The British foreign office is not yet prepared to issue any statement in regard to Bryce's retirement or as to the appointment of his successor, who will, however, undoubtedly be Sir Cecil A. Spring-Rice.

It was stated at the foreign office that Bryce will endeavor to leave a clean slate for the new ambassador.

QUITS POST IN JAPAN

Bryan the First of Taft's Corps of Diplomats to Resign

Washington, Nov. 12.—Charles P. Bryan, United States ambassador to Japan, tendered his resignation to President Taft, who reluctantly accepted it.

Bryan gave ill-health, brought on by a carriage accident in Japan, as the reason for his resignation.

Although a general change in the personnel of the ambassadors of the United States was expected as a sequence to the recent election, Bryan is the first of the diplomatic corps formally to tender his resignation to President Taft.

Madrid, Nov. 12.—It is reported here that King Alfonso's knee was dislocated during the recent army maneuvers. The king had been reported ill with influenza for several days.

PLUMBERS HAD BENEFIT

For a Sick Member and Goodly Sum was Realized

A well attended benefit for a sick member, Monday evening, was held at Electa hall by the Plumbers and Steam fitters local.

Adam Portes, John Stratton and John Johnson sang popular airs and there was dancing by Coughlin Bros., William Looney and songs and stories by Joseph McCanley.

The committee was John M. Donnes chairman; President A. J. Kehoe, Thomas McCarthy, Joseph Lynch, Robert Kenerburgh, James Cunningham, John Walker and Alexander Hamilton.

TWENTY-THREE INJURED

Express Bumps Into Freight Train Near Switchman's Tower

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 12.—Twenty-three were injured and a score severely shaken up last evening when a Marlboro express sideswiped a freight train at West Cambridge Junction, within 100 feet of the switchman's tower.

One flat car, one box car and one coal car were smashed to splinters. The engine of the passenger toppled over, with the tender resting on top, with one of its corners in the baggage room of the combination car.

The officials of the road, although not stating positively the cause of the wreck, intimated that the engineer of the pasesnger train disregarded a signal set against him.

W. T. Ray, general superintendent of the Boston and Maine, said an investigation would be made today by road officials, when members of the train crew of both the express and freight, switchmen and towermen will be summoned before them.

NAMES UNION LEADERS

McManigal Continues His Story of Dynamite and Nitro-Glycerin Plots

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—From that part of his career when he had discarded dynamite and was resorting to the use of nitro-glycerin, which he carried on passenger trains by the dozens of quarts, Ortie E. McManigal related at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial how he had caused explosions at Cleveland, Jersey City, Pittsburg, Omaha, and Superior, Wis.

He named Peter J. Smith, Cleveland; George "Nipper" Anderson, Cleveland; Charles Wachtmeister, Detroit; Hiram Cline, Indianapolis; William E. Reddin, Milwaukee; Fred Mooney, Duluth; Minn., and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, all labor union officials, besides those he previously had mentioned as being among the forty-five defendants who he knew were employed by the Iron Workers' union to blow up work under construction by "open shop" contractors.

ALPHA HALL FIRE

Col. Kincaide said that he could not state just what his loss was, but he estimated it at $10,000 and that he was fully covered by insurance. Chief Litchfield estimates the loss on the building at $3,000.

All the stores on the street floor were damaged by water. The grocery and provision stock of John Latour was slightly damaged. Orlando Pace, a tailor, states his loss is about $800 and R. J. Leighton who conducts an electrical business placed his loss at $200. J. Morrison said that his stock of dry goods had been damaged about $500 and J. Eiulovitch suffered slight damage in his barber shop. A reading room carried on by the Christian Science congregation was damaged and the loss is about $400.

Mr. White was about 65 years of age. He came to Quincy from Boston about five years ago and entered the employ of Col. Kincaide in his second hand furniture store. When Alpha hall was opened he was placed in charge as janitor, and the only theory for his rash act is that it was that of an insane man. He was married about a year ago and resided on 140 Glendale road.

He was a life member of Joseph Warren Masonic lodge of Boston, and several other masonic bodies, being a 32 degree Mason. He was also a Past Commander of Boston Commandery. He was frequently selected to lead parades of Masonic bodies as Marshal the last event of this kind at which he served being the dedication of the Pilgrim monument at Plymouth.

Previous to coming to Quincy he was employed for many years as janitor of the Pope building in Boston. He is an uncle of Hartley L. White of Braintree who can only account for the rash act by his having become insane, possibly from overwork. It had been noticed that he had been acting queerly at times of late.

A six shooter, 32 calibre revolver was found lying on the floor of the balcony. One chamber was empty and there were five slugs in the barrel. The weapon was apparently new although it is not known that he had recently purchased it.

Mr. White is survived by a wife whom he has been married about one year. The body was removed to his home and the funeral arrangements will be made later.

In speaking of the fire, Mr. Kincaide today stated there was no truth in the report which was circulated that Mr. White had been discharged.

NEWMAN TRAVEL TALKS.

At Symphony hall Boston, Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, Nov. 15 and 16, E. M. Newman will begin his new series of travel talks with "Holland— the Venice of the North." Mr. Newman's treatment of the country of dykes, of art, of sturdy fishermen, of liquid streets, of the homes of the first settlers of New Amsterdam, of the world's peace tribunal and of Edam cheese will be found very fascinating, it is promised. The journey will start on the west coast among the Zeelanders, and a comprehensive series of views will show the people and their industries, the curious headdress and the quaint landscapes of that section. Thence onward through the canals to Rotterdam and Delftshaven and through The Hague and its art galleries, showing photographs of pictures hung by Rembrandt and other masters. Then will come a trip through the seed and bulb districts, with motion pictures of flowers in natural colors. Views of Holland's windmills, the wharves, Amsterdam and its diamond cutting industry will be shown. The journey will be completed with a trip to the north and east of Holland to where Volendam and Marken—which resembles scenes from Toyland.

TELEPHONE CO PENSION PLAN

Enormous Amount to Be Set Aside to Help Employees

A fund of $10,000,000 for Pensions, Sick and Accident Benefits and Life Insurance will be available on January 1, 1913, for the 175,000 employees of the Bell Telephone system and associated interests, and their families and dependants.

This $10,000,000 fund will be made good from year to year by annual appropriations on the part of the American Telephone and Telegraph Companies, and its associated companies, and the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company.

In the territory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and its associated companies there are about 13,000 employees affected by this new proposition.

The terms by which provision is made for the needs of age, illness, accidents and death, may be summarized as follows:

Pensions—Male employees who have reached the age of sixty years and who have been twenty years in service, may retire on pensions. They may be retired at the option of the the company when they have reached the age of fifty-five years and have been twenty-five years in service. The pension age of female employees is in each case five years younger than that of male employees. Any employee who has been thirty years in service, regardless of age, may be pensioned, on the approval of the President of the company.

The amount of the pension is automatically based on the years of service and the amount of pay, and will be 1 per cent of the average annual pay for ten years multiplied by the number of years of service. Therefore, a man who had been thirty years in service would get 30 per cent of the average salary which he had been receiving during his last ten years of service. No pension will be less than $20 a month.

In the case of accidents occurring in and due to the performance of work for the company, the employee will receive for total disability, full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for the remainder of disability, up to six years.

Employees who are disabled by sickness, or by accident outside of the regular course of duty after ten years in service, will receive full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for thirty nine weeks.

In case of death resulting from accident in and due to performance of work for the company, an insurance amounting to three years' pay will be paid to the dependants of the employee, the maximum payment being $5,000.

In the case of death resulting from sickness or from accident outside the business, the payment will be one year's pay for employees who have been ten years in service, and one-half of one year's pay for employees who have been from five to ten years in service, the maximum payment being $2,000.

ALLIES' ARMIES FIGHTING ON

Attack on Advanced Positions Has Evidently Begun

FURTHER DEFEAT FOR TURKS

Indicated by Large Number of Wounded Arriving In Constantinople—Question of Mediation Makes Another Step Forward—Danger to European Peace Recognized by Powers—Porte Inquires About Armistice

London, Nov. 12.—Keen students of the Balkan situation declare here that in all probability the last great battle of the war is now being fought along the Tchatalja lines, and judging from all precedents the news is but the herald of another Turkish defeat.

The admission of the arrival of so many wounded soldiers at Constantinople is thought to be in preparation for further disappointment, for to all appearances the Turkish forces are already beaten beyond any possible chance of recovery.

Correspondents describe the condition of the Turkish troops as most pitiable, the men being without proper clothes, food, guns, ammunition, or even proper officers. They declare the scenes marking the retreat of the defeated army are beyond description.

Basing their opinions on these facts the experts declare that in all probability the present conflict will be the final battle of one of the bloodiest and fastest wars in history.

There are indications that Bulgaria may, after all, forego triumphal entry into Constantinople. According to some reports, Bulgaria will be content with finding suitable winter quarters for her army while the peace negotiations are going on and subsequent settlements are being arranged.

The question of mediation has made another step forward in the announcement from Paris that the Austrian government has agreed to join with the other powers in transmitting Turkey's request for mediation to the allies, and inquiring on what terms the allies are disposed to accept mediation.

The revelation of the danger to European peace lying in the antagonistic interests of Austria and Servia appears to have quickened the sense of the powers, and probably of the Balkan states also, to the imperative need of working in amicable co-operation to secure a settlement of the Balkan problems acceptable to all the parties concerned.

Another factor making for the speedy cessation of the war is the approach of severe winter conditions, which would give to the campaign an exceedingly arduous character.

Meanwhile diplomacy is active in all the European capitals. It is understood that after his important mission at Buda Pest is concluded President Daneff of the Bulgarian chamber of deputies will go to the other European courts to explain the views of the allies. The Servian premier, M. Pachitch, after an important cabinet meeting, left Belgrade last night for Uskup to consult with King Peter on the situation.

The reported mobilization of the Austro-Hungarian forces is denied at Buda Pest. Roumania, however, is taking certain military measures with a view to being prepared for eventualities. The war minister has issued an order to all the army corps to the effect that half the contingent which was to have been dismissed Nov. 14 is to be retained with the colors until further orders.

No late news of importance has been received from Adrianople, Scutari or other points where the armies of the allies have the Turkish troops in close quarters.

Fighting at Tchatalja

Constantinople, Nov. 12.—The Bulgarians began an attack on the Turkish advanced positions along the Tchatalja line Monday afternoon. The fighting continued throughout yesterday.

Judging from the number of wounded arriving in Constantinople the Turkish troops are offering fierce resistance.

The porte last night sent a note by telegraph to the Turkish representatives abroad, inquiring what progress had been made with respect to obtaining the conditions of the Balkan states in the matter of an armistice. The porte is still without a reply to its recent appeal to the powers.

Joins With Other Filipinos In Asking Immediate Independence

Manila, Nov. 12.—An immense demonstration was held yesterday in celebration of the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency of the United States. Ten thousand Filipinos paraded and 20,000 gathered at a mass meeting on the sea boulevard Luneta. Those participating in the parade carried banners bearing the words, "Immediate Independence."

Emilio Aguinaldo, the former insurgent leader, made his first public appearance since the insurrection. He made a brief speech indorsing the views expressed by Manuel Quenson and Sergio Osmena, the former of whom is delegate to congress and the latter speaker of the Philippine assembly.

Queson and Osmena expressed their faith in the Democratic promises of immediate independence for the Philippines.

RECORD SEIZURE OF CANNED GOODS

Inspectors Nab 47,232 Cans of Salmon at Boston

Boston, Nov. 12.—The largest seizure of canned goods ever made in Boston for violation of the pure food law occurred when Deputy United States Marshal Cameron confiscated 47,232 cans of salmon at an Atlantic avenue wharf. The seizure was made following information secured by the pure food bureau that the salmon was unfit for human consumption.

The salmon had come from the Fidalgo Island Packing company of Alaska and the shipment had been made at Seattle. A hearing concerning the matter will be held Nov. 26. The shipment was valued at $4000.

MIND ALMOST A BLANK

Worry Brings Sunny "Big Tim" Sullivan to Death's Door

New York, Nov. 12.—"Big Tim" Sullivan, Tammany leader, congressman-elect and a man whose sunny optimism endeared him to the East Side, is slowly dying as the result of worry.

At the age of 49, the old-time leader, who is credited with having fathered more bills favoring wage earners than any half dozen legislators, and who could lose a $25,000 bet without a quiver, is monotonously repeating the prayers of his childhood, his mind almost a blank.

Sullivan was brought low through a succession of family and business troubles. He became wealthy after he had been in politics a few years, acquiring large racing interests and saloons, and controlled several theatrical ventures.

Cheap Mincemeats.

Vegetarian Mincemeat. — Take one peck green tomatoes, chopped fine. Drain juice and throw it away. Pour on three pints of hot water and cook five minutes. Drain off all juice. Do this three times. Add two and one-half pounds medium brown sugar, two pounds seeded raisins, one-half pound chopped citron, one teacupful of cider vinegar, two level tablespoonfuls of ground cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful each of ground cloves, allspice and nutmeg, one tablespoonful of salt.

Mincemeat With Cider.—Boil two pounds of beef. That from the neck may be used. When cold enough to handle mince finely. To every pint of meat add two pints of chopped apples, a cupful of raisins, one cupful of currants and a quarter pound of citron. Put all fruit through a meat grinder. Add salt, sugar and spice to taste; also a glass of currant or grape jelly. Mix and moisten well with good, sweet cider. Boil thoroughly and it will keep all winter.

Elaborate Pie Fillings.

Rich Mincemeat.—Take three pints of cooked meat, beef and pork, six pints of apples, one pint of molasses, one pint of vinegar, one pint of boiled cider, one pint of suet, two pints of raisins (chopped), five pints of brown sugar, one and one-half pounds of citron, cinnamon, nutmeg, ground cloves, two tablespoonfuls each of salt and black pepper. Grate the rind and squeeze the juice of one lemon. Boil until the raisins are tender.

Mincemeat de Luxe.—Take half a pounds of raw beef, one pound of suet and one pound tart apples. Chop each finely and separately. Take half a pound of currants well mashed and dried, half a pound of raisins, seeded, half a pound citron cut into small bits, half a pound of brown sugar, half a pint of New Orleans molasses, one ounce of salt, half ounce of mixed cinnamon, cloves and allspice, one-fourth ounce white pepper, one-half grated nutmeg, juice of some lemon, half a pint of cider. Mix meat, suet, salt and spices. Add apples, then fruit, then cider and last of all the sugar.

ASPARAGUS COMBINATIONS.

WHEN asparagus is not in season and canned asparagus is used the cook will find it convenient to economize by combining the asparagus with other vegetables. Many delicious and tempting dishes may be prepared in this way.

In Vegetable Cups.

Asparagus With Carrots.—Unless the asparagus is very tender it should be boiled in salted water and drained. Then put several pieces in a ring that you have cut out of cooked carrot. Lay it on a dish. Sprinkle it with a few green peas and with French dressing.

Asparagus and Cucumbers. — Cook the asparagus tips, and while they are on the fire hollow little cups from cucumbers. When the asparagus is done and cold fill the cups and set them on the ice until ready to serve, then cover them with mayonnaise.

Dainty Salads.

Asparagus and Watercress Salad.—Watercress and asparagus tips may be combined in making an attractive salad. Wash the cress and break it into bits, rejecting the coarser leaves. When ready to serve mix it with French dressing. Heap it in the center of a dish and surround it with iced green and white asparagus tips.

Asparagus and Turnip Salad.—Boil turnips in salted water until tender. Drain and cut out the centers, form in cups and when cold sprinkle with oil and lemon juice. Let stand for half an hour and just before serving arrange the cups on lettuce leaves and fill them with cooked and chilled asparagus tips that have been mixed with French dressing.

Asparagus and Potatoes.—Steam a quart of nice small potatoes and two bundles of the tender stalks of the asparagus. Mash the potatoes, turn out on a hot platter and place the asparagus tips around them. Make a dressing of the yolks of three hard boiled eggs rubbed smooth with half a cupful of melted butter, the juice of a lemon, a saltspoonful of salt and a dash of cayenne. Mix over boiling water and pour over the vegetables just before serving.

Crowell Held For West's Death

Ellsworth, Me., Nov. 12.—John Crowell, a fisherman, was held for the April grand jury on a charge of manslaughter, in having caused the death of Joseph West, who was shot during a quarrel between the two men at Manset on Nov. 3. Crowell claims self-defense. He was committed to jail in default of bail.

GETTING BACK INTO THE FOLD

Progressive Republicans In Favor of Reorganization

AGAINST BULL MOOSE PARTY

Wide Exchange of Communications Relative to Future of G. O. P.—Roosevelt Ambitions Not to Be Considered—Extensive Desertion of His Party Expected

Washington, Nov. 12.—Immediate reorganization of the Republican party wherever possible is planned by a group of Progressive Republicans, including several senators, Governor Hadley of Missouri, Governor Stubbs of Kansas and several other men prominent in public life who have within recent years been classified as Progressive Republicans.

Since the election, Progressive Republicans throughout the country have been exchanging communications with respect to the future of the Republican party. These exchanges of ideas have brought out the fact that the prevailing sentiment among the Progressives favors the reorganization of the Republican party rather than the offer of any encouragement to the new party which former President Roosevelt backed in the recent campaign.

It is noteworthy that a large number of influential men who supported Roosevelt in the campaign that is just ended are not willing to go any further with the movement. Senator Cummins of Iowa is in this class and so is Governor Stubbs of Kansas.

The preliminary outlook is for a general desertion of the Roosevelt party provided the reorganization of the Republican party as a genuine progressive party can be brought about. While the plans for the reorganization are at this time in a nebulous stage, the probability is that within the next sixty days there will be held a conference to which representative Republicans from all sections of the country will be invited.

It is well understood that those progressive Republicans who have taken the initiative in this effort to reorganize or re-establish the Republican party are anxious to have the cooperation of those representatives of the party who for some years and through the recent campaign were classified as regulars or stand-patters. It may be said that some of the most influential so-called "regulars" are heartily in sympathy with the proposed reorganization plans so far as they have been outlined.

President Taft will do what he can to assist in the proposed reorganization. Some of the politicians say it is significant that Governor Hadley of Missouri, after a trip here and a conference with the president, went immediately to Des Moines, where he conferred with Senators Cummins and Kenyon with respect to the nation-wide reorganization movement.

The reorganization plans are not taking into consideration any possible ambitions former President Roosevelt may have. It is proposed to eliminate him as a factor in the reorganization. Some of his most ardent supporters in the recent campaign realize this is necessary if the Republican party is to be re-established.

HAS COME TO STAY

Roosevelt Says Battle of Progressive Party Has but Just Begun

New York, Nov. 12.—Theodore Roosevelt made a formal statement last night bearing on the election and the future of the Progressive party. In line with previous expressions of his own and of his colleagues, he reiterates that "the Progressive party has come to stay," and "so far from being over, the battle has just begun."

He regards the party's showing in polling over 4,000,000 votes in the face of numerous obstacles naturally in the path of a new movement as "literally unparalleled in the history of free government."

AS TO EXTRA SESSION

Democratic Senators and Representatives Do Not Agree

Washington, Nov. 12.—Division of opinion exists among Democratic senators and representatives as to the wisdom of an extra session of congress immediately following the inauguration of President-elect Wilson.

In the main members of the house favor such a session, but some senators advocate a more conservative course. Two of the comparatively small number of Democratic senators now in the city take a position in favor of a fall instead of a spring session, but they decline to be quoted, on the ground that they do not wish to embarrass Wilson.

REPLY TO FITZGERALD

Foss Says Voters Did Not Want Mayor to Become Senator

Boston, Nov. 12.—Governor Foss is of the opinion that the election of a Republican majority in the legislature was a direct rebuke to the candidacy of Mayor Fitzgerald for the United States senate.

He takes the stand that the election was, in effect, a direct primary for United States senator, and that the results showed that the people of the state were opposed to Fitzgerald for United States senator.

The governor dictated a sharp reply yesterday to Fitzgerald's arraignment of him for his declaration in favor of William B. Plunkett of Adams, whom he described as a "liberal Republican," for United States senator.

GUILD OUT FOR SENATE

Ambassador to Russia Will Resign Post to Make the Fight

Boston, Nov. 12.—Former Governor Guild will resign his post as United States ambassador to Russia, to take effect March 4 of next year, and return to Boston to take personal charge of his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed Senator Crane.

This was the report circulated through political circles by close friends of Guild, who made arrangements to open campaign headquarters and set his senatorial boom in active operation.

The Association of Progressive Republicans, Guild's Boston supporters, is making a quiet canvass of the Republican members of the legislature in support of Guild's candidacy.

A. F. OF L. IN SESSION

Gompers Has Something to Say About "Derelicts of Unionism"

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Declarations that union labor is making giant strides toward its ideals and bright predictions for its future were contained in the reports of the officers of the American Federation of Labor at the opening of its thirty-second annual convention here.

President Gompers twice referred to the McNamara case, once in his annual report when he reviewed the Los Angeles situation and urged a movement for the general improvement of the condition of the iron workers, and again, indirectly, in his opening remarks when he protested against the holding up of the "derelicts of unionism" as examples for what the union movement stands for.

JURORS ARE CHOSEN IN GUNMEN'S TRIAL

Jack Rose Likely to Be Among First Witnesses Called

New York, Nov. 12.—The last of the twelve jurors needed to decide the fate of the four gunmen indicted as the actual slayers of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was chosen when Justice Goff adjourned the second day of the trial last evening. All of the jurors are middle-aged men and married.

The four prisoners all took a hand in directing their counsel, Attorney Wahle, as to the selection of the jurors.

It is likely that Jack Rose, who testified against Charles Becker, who has been convicted of instigating the murder, will be among the first witness called today.

MARIANO ON TRIAL

Fourteen-Year-Old Boy Accused of Murdering His Playmate

Providence, Nov. 12.—The trial of 14-year-old Antonio Mariano for the murder of William Mathers, Jr., the 12-year-old son of William Mathers of North Providence, whose body was found on Moses Angell hill last April, opened here. After the examination of about thirty talesmen a jury was secured.

The story of the murder of Mathers stirred all New England. Men and boys hunted for weeks for scraps of evidence which would lead to the arrest of the murderer. Antonio and his older brother were arrested on suspicion, and after having the "third degree" applied to him for several hours, Antonio confessed that he had killed his playmate by accident.

Child Killed by Motor Car

Barre, Vt., Nov. 12.—Florence Milne, 6 years old, was killed while at play when an automobile driven by H. B. Partridge struck the child and knocked her down. Partridge was absolved from blame by witnesses and the police took no action.

Death of Actor Penley

London, Nov. 12.—William S. Penley, the famous English comedian, died here, aged 60. Penley won his biggest hit in "Charley's Aunt," a comedy which he made famous. He amassed a great fortune on the British stage.

Gout Keeps Taft Indoors

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Taft, still suffering from a slight attack of gout, spent yesterday in his library, receiving no callers except Secretary of State Knox.

Sir Reginald Lister Dead

Tangier, Nov. 12.—Sir Reginald Lister, British minister to Morocco since 1908, is dead.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
LAND COURT.

To the Bethel Beach R. E. Trust, Samuel Engler, Oscar V. Rosquist and the Sailors Snug Harbor, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Henry M. Hollis of Braintree, in said County of Norfolk; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Sarah F. Castor, of said Quincy, to register and confirm her title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of marsh land situate in said Quincy, containing three acres, more or less, bounded on the south and west by land of said petitioner; on the south also by land of the Sailors Snug Harbor, on the north and east by land of the Bethel Beach Real Estate Trust, of Samuel Engler, of Oscar Rosquist and of Henry M. Hollis.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed in case No. 2324 on the files of said Court, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the ninth day of December A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of November in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.
(Seal.)
CLARENCE C. SMITH, Recorder.
12-3t 12, 19, 26

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law and all other persons interested in the estate of Lodoiski H. Jocelyn Winne late of Albany, N. Y., having estate in said County, deceased:

Whereas, Lincoln A. Cook Executor of the will of said deceased, has presented to said Court his petition for license to sell at public auction the whole of a parcel of the real estate of said deceased for the payment of debts, legacies and charges of administration, and for other reasons set forth in said petition.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County, on the twenty-seventh day of November A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is ordered to serve this citation by delivering a copy thereof to each person interested in the estate fourteen days at least before said Court, or by publishing the same once in each week for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

Registration
CITY OF QUINCY

For the purpose of correcting the Annual Register of Voters, and of receiving evidence of qualifications from persons claiming a right to vote at the coming City Election, The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session in the Council Chamber in the City Hall building on the evenings of THURSDAY, Nov. 7, and MONDAY, Nov. 11, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock, also on

from 12 M. to 10 o'clock P. M., which will be the final session before the City Election.

Every applicant for registration must appear in person before the Board. Every male applicant must present either a certificate from the Assessors, or a Tax bill or notice from the Collector of Taxes, showing that he has been assessed a Poll Tax as a resident of the city on the first day of April last, or a certificate from the Assessors that he became a resident of the city prior to June 3, 1912. If a naturalized citizen, he must produce for inspection his papers of naturalization.

Persons who have lived in the State one year and in the city six months previous to December 3, if qualified in other respects, can be registered.

No names can be added to the registers except the names of voters examined as to their qualifications between the thirtieth day of April last and the close of registration on Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 10 o'clock P. M. The Board of Assessors will be in session at their office during the same hours.

YEAR ROUNDERS THE VICTORS

Riley's Canaries Unable to Cope with Marden's Sparrows

Squantum Bowlers and lovers of the pastime had rare sport at the Malta Temple alleys, Saturday night, when Marden's winter team, known as the Year Rounders took three out of four points from Riley's warm weather birds otherwise known as the canaries.

The score is as follows:

QUAKERS WON FROM SOMERSETS

Latter Team Not in the Running For a Minute

On the Adams Academy grounds on Saturday there was an interesting but one sided game of football, when the Quaker A. C. defeated the Somersets 14—0. The forward passes by Swain netted good gains every time. Mulaney excelled for the Somersets. The touchdowns were made by Byron and DeLenso, and a touchback by McIntyre. The Quaker team included Hayden, McIntyre, Capenci, Robertson, Kelchier, Wren, Gulfford, Swain, McCullock, DeLenso and Byron.

VIEWED THE BODY.

A delegation of members of the Holy Name society of St. Johns church viewed the body of Mrs. Catherine, mother of Rev. Julian E. Johnstone at his home at 736 East 2d street, South Boston. A floral offering from many Quincy friends was placed on the casket by President Edward Lennon.

WILL REPEAT THE SHOW.

The two plays, "How the story grew," and "Pa's new housekeeper" given a few weeks ago, two nights in succession by the Atlantic Memorial church young people is to be repeated Thursday evening at the Universalist vestry, Washington street.

CHURCH SOCIAL.

The monthly social at the Wollaston Baptist church to have been held Wednesday evening has been postponed.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS

Hold General Discussion on Society Problems

The Cabinet meeting of the East Norfolk Christian Endeavor Union was held in the Wollaston Baptist church, Monday evening. An appetizing supper was served by members of the entertaining society after which the business of the evening was taken up. The roll call showed an attendance of 44 out of a possible 50 delegates. Miss Madeline Morse of the Wollaston Congregational society was chosen superintendent of Junior societies. The presidents of the various societies represented led a discussion of "Society problems." Preliminary announcements of the annual Union social were made by Miss Fisher, president of the Bethany society.

LAST CHANCE TO REGISTER

Registration for the city election closes Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock at the council chamber, city hall. It is expected that an extra effort will be made to place a large number on the list. All the candidates are interesting themselves in the younger voter and it would be surprising to see all records smashed. Under a recent law a man whose name is dropped from the list is advised by postal that he cannot vote here without registering again. This new law has worked out well and many men who were supposed to have been out of town by the assessors received cards.

BRIEFS

Joseph L. Whiton denies the story that he has severed his connection with the Progressive party.

The registrars of voters met at City Hall, Monday evening and added eighteen names to the voting lists.

The business places of Wollaston will close Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 3, during the funeral services of Dr. Wellington Record.

About 20 members of Quincy Chapter O. E. S. visited the Abetha Chapter, Dorchester, Monday evening, where they spent a pleasant evening.

Miss Cora Barnicoat will entertain the St. Margarets Guild at her home on Washington street, Friday evening. The evening will be devoted to work.

BURNS EAGER TO WRESTLE

Will Take On Any 145 Man At Catch Holds

"Kid" Burns, one of Quincy's few wrestlers and well known throughout New England as a game boy is out for a match with any 145 pound man in the business. Burns is a Swede by birth and has been in Quincy for a couple of years. He is a carpenter by trade.

KID BURNS,
Who Wants to Wrestle.

He particularly wants to meet Fritz Hanson of Worcester. Hanson formerly lived here and made a good name for himself as a wrestler.

Burns has appeared in exhibition matches at many local clubs. He says he can work well at any style and does not bar the toe hold.

THE FRIENDLESS SPIDER.

He's a Pretty Good Insect In Spite of His Looks and His Webs.

Aside from snakes, there is probably no living thing which can look to mankind for friendship with so little hope as the spider, yet when the spider is fairly brought to trial it is rather hard to prove anything against him except his appearance and a few cobwebs.

Apart from furnishing an example of industry and patience from which we might well profit, the spider feeds exclusively upon freshly killed insects, all of them being of the kind denounced by sanitary authorities, the housefly being its favorite quarry.

As the actual destruction of a few hundred houseflies means that several hundred thousand that would otherwise have spent gay lives in transmitting typhoid and other diseases will not come into existence and as almost any spider should be able to account for as many as 300 in the course of a summer, to say nothing of stray mosquitoes and black gnats, we surely owe him something more than a flap with a slipper when we happen to catch him out of his hole.

A spider can bite, of course, but he seldom does except in self defense and even then the bite is not much worse than would have been received from any one of the several hundred mosquitoes he has probably dined upon or will, if let alone. In the light of present scientific knowledge the story of the spider and the fly that was invited into the pretty parlor does not cause such a surge of sympathy for the fly as it once did.—Harper's Weekly.

BATTLEFIELD BRAVERY.

An Instance of Cool Courage In Face of Imminent Danger.

Perhaps few stories of battles so thoroughly illustrate cool bravery in the face of real danger as the little incident at a reconnoissance before the battle of Ulundi, of which Lord William Beresford was the hero.

The British were almost led into a terrible trap and discovered the danger only just in time. They turned to retreat, and the Zulus poured in a volley which brought down the gray horse of a mounted infantryman. His rider fell headforemost. The rest thought both man and horse were killed at first, but the former soon struggled to his feet, with his face covered with blood and dazed with his fall.

Lord William Beresford, seeing what had happened, pulled up and, in the face of advancing hosts of yelling savages within easy range, quietly trotted back and told the man to mount behind him.

With a cool courage scarcely second to Lord William's, the man refused, noble fellow that he was, preferring the certain sacrifice of his own life to the probability of destroying his preserver.

The reply was admirable, terse and telling. The savages swarmed closer and closer; bullets rattled around them. The two who lingered were almost within reach of the assagais, and Lord William said:

"Get up or I'll punch your head!"

The man obeyed, and rescuer and rescued escaped.—Pearson's Weekly.

Consistent.

"That big fellow certainly does act in a very silly way."

"Perhaps, being stout, he thinks to match it his conduct ought to be fatuous."—Baltimore American.

WHEN FACING DEATH.

Pain or Fright, It Would Appear, Is Rarely Present.

A distinguished British physician who has been at some pains to collect data on the subject asserts that few persons about to die have really any fear of dissolution. There is cited the case of the African explorer who was partially devoured by a lion. He declared that he felt no pain or fear and that his only sensation was one of intense curiosity as to what portion of his body the lion would take next.

Rustem Pasha, Turkish ambassador at London, used to tell of an attack made upon him by a bear during a hunt in the east. The beast tore off a bit of the Turk's hand, a part of his arm and a portion of his shoulder. Rustem solemnly averred that he suffered neither pain nor fear, but that he felt the greatest indignation because the bear grunted with so much satisfaction while munching him.

Grant Allen, whose scientific habit of thought gave weight to his words, says that in his boyhood he had a narrow escape from drowning.

While skating he fell through thin ice over a place whence several blocks had the day before been removed. He was carried under the thicker ice beyond and when he came to the surface tried to break through by butting his head against it. The result was that he was stunned, then numbed by the cold and so waterlogged that artificial respiration had to be employed to restore him. These are the impressions as recorded by him with reference to the pain he suffered:

"The knowledge that I have thus experienced death in my own person has had a great deal to do with my utter physical indifference to it. I know how it feels. I had only a sense of cold, damp and breathlessness, a short struggle, and then all was over.

"I had been momentarily uncomfortable, but it was not half so bad as breaking an arm or having a tooth drawn. In fact, dying is as painless as falling asleep. It is only the previous struggle, the sense of its approach, that is at all uncomfortable. Even this is less unpleasant than I should have expected. There was a total absence of any craven shrinking. The sensation was merely the physical one of gasping for breath.—Harper's Weekly.

THE AGE OF MAN.

Science Places It Between 400,000 and 3,000,000 Years.

It is quite possible, said Professor A. Keith in a lecture to the British association at Dundee, that man as we know him now took on his human characteristics somewhere near the beginning of the pliocene period, and while the exact date is simply a guess the best estimates available indicate 1,498,000 B. C. as not far from the truth. If the evidence of the flint collectors is accepted as authentic, pliocene man is a possibility.

Professor Keith was sure we had traced ourselves back to the middle of the pleistocene, when we were accompanied by another form of man almost as distinct from us as the gorilla is from the chimpanzee. At the beginning of the pleistocene there were at least two varieties of man—the pre-neanderthaloid of Heidelberg and the small brained man of Java—but the "representative of modern man at that early period" has not as yet been found.

If the claims of M. Rutot are accepted, the antiquity of man is at least 3,000,000 years. According to Professor Keith, the orthodox (by which presumably he meant scientifically orthodox) opinion is that "the dawn of the very earliest form of humanity lies 400,000 years behind us." From all of which it is plain that the beginnings of the age of man are still shrouded in mystery.

"The idea I wish to leave in your minds is," said Professor Keith in conclusion, "that in the distant past there was not one kind, but a number of very different kinds of men in existence, all of which have become extinct except that branch which has given origin to modern man."—New York Post.

Has His Own Death Certificate.

You never know when a man is really dead. Not even if you are a doctor. I know a man who walks about cheerfully now and occasionally pulls out from his pocketbook his death certificate, duly signed by the doctor some years ago. Just to amuse you. The doctor said he was dead. He disagreed. And his protest is the humorous presentation of the death certificate when you ask for his card.—London Chronicle.

Thackeray and Roast Mutton.

Thackeray often dropped in to dinner, sometimes announcing himself in verse. The following is one of his epistles:

A nice leg of mutton, my Lucie,
I pray thee have ready for me;
Have it smoking and tender and juicy,
For no better meat can there be.
—Recollections of Janet Ross.

Wise Child.

"You may give three important illustrations of the power of the press," says the teacher to the class.

The pupil who has not hitherto distinguished himself is first to reply:

"Cider, courtship and politics."—Judge.

Still Looking.

ROUGH HOUSE IN EVIDENCE

By the Pontiacs in the Contest With Quincy A. A.

TIED SCORE 6 TO 6

The Quincy A. A. and the Pontiac A. C. played a tie game at Merrymount Park Saturday afternoon. The closing minutes were very dark, due to the delay during the periods. A wrangle at the finish nearly resulted in a free-for-all fight, but the coolness of Officer Thomas Malone and of the club officials convinced the players that peace was better than war. The visitors scored on a recovered fumble and Quincy lost many chances.

Quincy was without the services of Hunter which necessitated a change of lineup. Harkins was shifted from centre to left tackle and his place was filled by Moberg.

In the first period Quincy by constant plunging brought the ball down the field and were within 15 yards of the line when they fumbled. The game see-sawed during this period and with the ball about on the centre of the field when time was called.

In the second period the forward pass was used by both teams and but for fumbles on the part of Quincy a big score could have been made against the Pontiacs. This was especially true of Wood and Dennehy, the former at one time being on the 10 yard line when he missed a perfect forward from McDonald. The play was not allowed and the ball was brought back to the 20 yard line and by a couple of centre rushes by Wood and end runs by Cummings and Boyle, the latter around right for the first touch down, Quincy showed signs of life. The goal was not kicked.

In the fourth period it looked as though the visitors would score. By forward passes they were able to advance the ball and then lost it on a fumble. While Quincy was working well they again fumbled and Connolly secured the ball and scored what appeared to be a questionable touchdown. They also failed to kick the goal.

Towards the last of the game it was getting dark and on the kickoff to Quincy the ball was carried to the Pontiacs 20 yard line when it was again lost on a fumble.

Connolly got the ball, and the crowd having swarmed on the field, he started to circle the right end but was not fast enough for McDonald and Boyle.

Pontiacs came to Quincy flushed with their victories of the season and under-rating the ability of the Quincy A. A. From the start they showed an unfriendly attitude, particularly towards the referee whose decision they questioned.

All players seemed to usurp the captain or managers privileges and the arguing was frequent. It looked a number of times as though trouble was brewing due to the fact that it was said that some of the visitors intended to try to get Boyle, McDonald and Wood. When the local boys learned of this feeling they ruffled their fur and started breathing deep.

The visitirs were informed by an onlooker that Quincy A. A., players were well versed in the manly art of self defence or aggressive attack and they soon realized that it was a rather sad undertaking. Officer Malone did well in handling the crowd, especially during the threatened melee and serious trouble was averted through his judgment and that of the officials.

FORE RIVER CONTRACTS FOR TWO FLOATS--THREE TRAWLERS

Constructed Several of Same Type of Crafts For Railroad and Fish Company

Company's Yard a Pretty Busy Place About This Time

Business at the Fore River shipyard is brisk for in addition to the large amount of work the company had on hand including a large battleship for the United States it has received orders during the past few days for five more vessels. The first of these contracts was booked Saturday and was for two steel car floats for the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad making seventeen in all that the company will have built for this railroad. These car floats are 330 feet long 38 feet beam and 11 feet deep.

Tuesday the company received the contract for three more steel steam beam trawlers of the Spray, Foam, and Ripple type for the Bay State Fishing Co. The Fore River Co., has already built six of these trawlers for the Fishing Co., and they have proved a source of great profit for the fishing company. So successful have these vessels been that three more are to be added to the fleet.

The three for which a contract has just been received will be 120 feet long, 22-6 feet beam and 12-6 depth.

STONE HANDSOMELY ENDORSED BY HIS FELLOW CITIZENS

Carried Every Ward In the City Sweeping the Opposition Completely Off Their Feet In the Rush

Candidate Abele Did Not Make Such a Heavy Showing---Councilman Murray Failed to Get Nomination-At-Large

Considering the interest, that is was naturally supposed that the recent communications and letters on municipal affairs had awakened, the caucuses on Tuesday were rather slimly attended, the total vote cast at the caucus being but 1990 which is rather small for a registered vote of over 6000.

There were also some surprises in the vote of the Republican ticket for in the very wards where it was looked that Mayor Stone would fall behind he boomed ahead. The Mayor carried the city by a majority of 625 over Councilman Abele. The general sentiment about the city Tuesday was that Mayor Stone would have no difficulty in carrying the city it only being a question of how large his majority would be.

The first ward, to be unofficially heard from was Ward One. It was 25 minutes after the polls closed that one of the election officers walked into the City Clerk's office and announced that the vote for Mayor had been Abele 141 and Stone 249. This is Candidate Abele's home ward and he was looked to poll a large vote here. The next surprise came when Ward Five was unofficially heard from. It was in this ward that the great fight was made against the present administration. Up to a week ago it looked bad for the Mayor in Ward Five but his visit to that section Monday night turned the tide and set the votes rolling his way so that he was able to carry the ward by 90 votes.

That the tide had turned was shown also in the vote for Councilmen at Large. Councilman Murray, one of the leaders in the opposition while polling the largest vote of any of the candidates in his own ward did

MAYOR EUGENE R. STONE,
Handsomely Endorsed By Republican Voters.

EDWARD J. SANDBERG,
Councilman at Large.

not succeed in getting the nomination as he was beaten by Arthur C. Beal by 24 votes.

In Ward Six the home ward of President Hobbs of the City Council and Councilman Cunningham, both of whom came out against Mayor Stone, His Honor was again victorious carrying the ward by 75 votes. Thus it was all along the line Mayor Stone carried every ward of the city, Ward Two his home ward giving him a majority of 130 and Ward Three a majority of 143. In Ward Four his majority was 79.

The contest for nominations for Councilmen at Large was a merry one as eight candidates sought the five nominations to be made. As usual those candidates who were fortunate to have their names appear first on the ballot were the ones to get the largest vote while the unfortunate ones at the bottom of the list fared the worst, although Frank A. Tirrell the bottom name on the list received a larger vote than did Councilman Sodergren who was seeking re-election.

Of those nominated Councilman Richards led the van with 1061 with Councilman Sandberg a good second with 987. John B. Bass, a new man was third with 917, Ex-Councilman Cherrington with 837 fourth and Ex-Councilman Arthur C. Beal fifth, with 784.

The only contests for Ward Councilmen was in Wards Three and Six. In Ward Three there were four candidates seeking the three places to be filled and the result was that Councilman Craig was defeated for the nomination by William Farquharson who was second high man among the three nominated.

The real contest however was in Ward Six where there were five candidates seeking the three positions. Here again the first three names on the list received the nomination, namely Councilman Beeman and Cunningham and ex-Councilman Charles A. Hadlock.

Ex-Councilman John R. Nelson, Squantum's favorite son, and ex-Councilman Edward F. Parlee from the Montclair district were both defeated.

Ward Four had no candidates for Ward Councilmen but names written on the ballot if they are correct will give the nomination to Stephen O'Connor, Michael Lyons and Merton A. Turner.

There was no contest for member of the School Committee at Large or member of the School Committee

GOOD WORK AT HEALTH CAMP

All Bills For Year Paid, Balance in Treasury

OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Anti Tuberculosis society was held Tuesday evening at the office of the president, Henry M. Faxon on Granite street.

The report of the treasurer showed that the cost per patient per day at the Mt. Pleasant camp was $1.38, and the approximate expense of the camp for the year had been $3,800.

Dr. N. S. Hunting reported that the camp had been full all the year and that during the summer time a tent had also been in use. This had been replaced by a schack given by William Deacon which was fully occupied. Dr. Hunting also spoke of the need of a larger and improved schack for women and girls for which $200 had already been subscribed.

In all 23 different patients had been cared for during the year, making 44 since the camp had ben opened a little over two years ago.

During the year four patients had been transferred to other sanitariums, Six had gone home, 14 had improved, three not improved. That there had been but two deaths during the year as against six for the year 1911.

All bills had been paid and there was a small balance in the treasury. It was voted however to continue the sale of the Red Cross stamps this year and it was announced that bills for membership dues would be called for soon.

It was pointed out during the meeting that under the law the city must take care of its tuberculosis patients and the question of taking over the camp by the city is being seriously considered.

The secretary reported the following donations during the year: Two bath robes, Mrs. C. C. Hearn, groceries, Herbert Otis, schack, William Deacon, magazines and fruit, Mrs. Joseph A. Dasha, preserves and jellies, Mrs. R. R. Freeman, year's subscription to five magazines, fruit and jellies, Unity circle, King's Daughters, pillow slips and games, Charitable Ten Circle, King's Daughters, Thanksgiving dinner, turkey roasted, vegetables prepared, fruit, nuts, candy, flowers and vases, Mrs. H. G. Smith, oil heater Mrs. Richard Gordon, books and magazines, Mrs. H. M. Faxon, dozen sheets Mrs H. L. Rice, night shirts, Mrs. H. NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Irish Home Rule has received a slight check but its supporters still believe it is in sight.

The Boston judge who discharged the Chinamen charged with being present where gaming implements were used, knew something about the game of dominos. Only 21 were seized but it takes 35 to play the American game. But perhaps the judge does not know as much about the Chinese rules of the game.

According to the statement of the coal operators the shortage is not so serious as many claim, but what the people would like to see is a shortage declared on the price.

Wellesley girls have taken up, sausages, black bread and cider for evening feeds. Have they discarded the pickles and crackers

The Filipinos see visions of freedom in the election of Gov. Wilson to the Presidency. They are now enjoying more freedom and prosperity than ever in the history of the islands. They should learn a lesson from Cuba.

Gov. Foss and Mayor Fitzgerald, are having their usual battle in the newspapers but when together they seem to forget about it. The Mayor asked the Governor if he saw his first plunge this week, and the Governor replied that he had and it was "lovely, lovely, lovely." They they droped the subject to resume it later in the papers.

Now what becomes of that charter granted to the Grand Trunk. By all the signs, it ought to die automatically if the road is not built, but will it?

The Ledger's prediction some months ago that Curtis Guild would be a senatorial candidate is being borne out by existing conditions.

The Grand Trunk did not quit work on account of the weather. The company got cold feet from some other reason.

All the steamboat lines of the world it would seem were trying to get into Boston right away quick. The Grand Trunk also sought admission.

That was rather a mean customs house official who slashed the value of Gaby's jewels so mercilessly, but think of the free advertising she obtained by the bluff.

One enthusiast shouts that Roosevelt would be the logical king of the world. What would the other fellows do and where would the capital be located?

If open cars are used in winter, there will be no doubt that people will use them. Still it seems something that the company can adjust, without going to all this fuss of public meetings. There are many other subjects of greater moment which well might occupy the public attention.

The witty writers are getting busy planning weddings at the White house for the next four years.

Habakkuk was not such a big gun as many people believed, after looking up his family tree.

WANT THEIR FREEDOM.

From across the water comes the glad hail of Aguinaldo that in the election of Woodrow Wilson, the Filipinos can spell the word freedom. It has not been generally handed around that Gov. Wilson had pledged himself to granting immediate freedom to the Phillippine Islanders. At present the country is in a formative process, that is the United States is cultivating it and bringing it up to the proper standard. For centuries the people of those islands have been enslaved and treated little less than animals. Their condition today is better than it ever was. They enjoy freedom, schools, and all the other privileges of the people of the United States. And having all those things they are discontented and want something more. They really want something they do not understand. They have all that any people could desire, but of course there are a few who want power which is not within their grasp under present conditions. Those are the shouters for freedom. If there can be any further improvement of their condition it would be all very well and natural. If they were harassed or treated with cruelty the people of this country would be the first to raise the cry in their behalf, but none of those conditions exist. Before rushing headlong into the freedom and independent State, the people of the Phillippines should pause and take a little lesson from Cuba. Then they should remember that as independent they would be more at the mercy of the buccanneer powers of the world than they are under the United States guardianship.

GOOD BIG LEMON.

The events of the past few days might well lead to the belief that in the matter of the Grand Trunk, Boston, Massachusetts and other sections of New England interested were treated to a good sized lemon. Some officials now assert that they knew of the proposed agreement or understanding some months ago. Rather a lame official to permit that choice bit of information to get stale. President Mellen has shown himself a mighty bright and clever man. There are few difficulties which he has not been able to meet and overcome, and all of it is done in a nice quiet way, and nothing is known of it until it is done to a turn.

The big pier for which his road has been paying the state a $70,000 rental, has been turned over to the state, the lease being cancelled.

New Boston is going to get a lot of steamship lines Immense sums are to be expended in pier construction and dock systems. As yet no definite pledges have been given or agreements entered into. It is up to the Port Directors to move with care in this matter, and secure some agreements, before immense sums are expended without adequate returns in sight even by the use of a telescope. In other words they should be watchful of any more yellow fruit being passed around in this direction.

NOT BUSINESS MANAGER.

Nov. 13, 1912.

Editor Daily Ledger:

Your issue of yesterday contained an item to the effect that I was business manager for Mayor Stone in his campaign for re-election. The story is absolutely without foundation. There is an evidence of a motive in the publication of the item on the day of the primaries especially when I was a candidate for nomination for the City Council. If such an item was received for publication in the Telegram I would see that it was verified by the proper parties before using it. The item was unfair to the Mayor, to myself and the Telegram. Hoping that you will publish this denial in your issue of today, I am

Respectfully yours,

INTERRUPTED WILSON

Suffragette Malone Is Found Guilty of Disorderly Conduct

New York, Nov. 13.—Maude Malone, suffragette, was found guilty in the Brooklyn court of special sessions of disorderly conduct for interrupting a speech by President-elect Wilson in the Brooklyn academy of music on Oct. 30. Sentence was suspended.

Her counsel announced he would make an appeal, and Justice Collins offered to lend him assistance in this by fining Miss Malone $5, but the lawyer said he did not want sentence changed.

Miss Malone had issued an open invitation to suffragettes to come to the trial but very few "votes for women" advocates were in court.

FORE RIVER CO. HELP TO CITY

Mr. Claflin Suggests Broad View of Some Things

NOW UNDER DISCUSSION

Editor Daily Ledger:

It has been a source of some amusement to me to observe the critical frame of mind that many of our good citizens have been in concerning the undue advantages that the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. have gained in their dealings with our City officials.

When I consider the establishment in the past of various public bodies, Merchants' Associations, Business Men's Clubs, Boards of Trade, all having for their prime object the consideration of ways and means by which new industries could be obtained to increase the prosperity and civic betterment of our City, the many attempts made to attract the wary manufacturer to our city, and consider also how largely futile have been the efforts, the present condition of exacerbation toward the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. seems to me unwarranted. The aforesaid Company established itself with us of its own volition. It has added much to our taxable property and has distributed annually within the confines of our city from one to two million dollars. When it is considered what that means to our city, it seems exceedingly fatuous to cavil at small losses occasioned by some indiscreet, petty contracts.

If these same worthy citizens would think for a moment of the mighty loss to our city in revenue, direct and indirect, if the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., were not with us, they would perhaps qualify the criticisms that are so freely made.

In saying these words in support of the beneficient influence of this Company, I am disposed to simply call attention to the big, solid facts of the magnitude of its worth to the City of Quincy. What I have written is inspired solely by a desire that my friends shall take a broad view of the situation and realize that whatever concessions have been made to this Company, they are trivial in comparison with the very large returns that the Company has given. As to the conduct of its business, or the value of its work, am not at this moment concerned, and am not in any measure seeking to support any man or party, excepting as an appreciation of these truths may prove an aid.

Royal Baking Powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

PROGRESSIVE CHURCHMAN

Has a Few More Spasms On Politics in Church

Editor Quincy Ledger:

It is a very easy thing for one to criticise any church for taking part, or encouraging her people to become active in things that are of vital importance to the community in which she is located. If she must not try to keep clean the things that are worldly then we must do away with her. If she is useless why do we support her? But she is not useless, neither is she going to lay idle and see injustice inflicted upon them that are supporting her to carry on the spiritual work within her jurisdiction. If politics cannot be discussed there then we will have to keep still and take no active part against license in our city this coming election. If we do then we are inconsistant as regards to secular matters.

The critic that puts the church upon such a high plane that it cannot be reached only on Sundays is mentally deranged. They have never seen the workings of an organization of the church, that has been trying to put into effect the highest ideals of civic rightousness. They have never come in contact with such a body of men, who like their Master, are glad to go anywhere at anytime, in order to render service to the community and mankind. Or they have been present with them and after indulging in their hospitality, have gone away with their appetities well fed to pray for such good men and call down fire and brimstone upon their noble work.

The church is secred, so is mankind, so is the maid that has fallen, so is the community, the city and all things that the creator has made. To confine ourselves to one building and one discussion would be an injustice to our Maker. The teachings of Christianity are fine and so are the teachings of confucious, Budda and the Jews, yet ninty-nine per cent of the Christians today look upon them with scorn instead of love. We, like the critics on civic topics in the church have no admiration for them. The Agnostic has more and shows more true brotherly feeling towards them than the church or the critic. So let him not set her upon a spiritual foundation only. She was not built for that. We cannot learn to love that which we have not seen, as we can that which we have seen. Everything that we see is a manifestation of God, and He has given us a spirit that calls for a pure and beautiful city, state and country, through the church and christianity. Therefore in order to carry out the filthiness of holy places, which the critic refers to, you must clean them out of all places, because they are all holy in his sight. We must not hide our light under a bushel, neither must we fail to use our talents. This is what we have been doing but intend to do so no longer. The younger generation will do things different than the older, so lets help and encourage them, not hinder them. If they are not successful, and fall by the wayside, it will be no more than their forefathers did, and the same good Samaritan will take good care of each one, by leading him to the pearly gates of heaven where he will be rewarded for his interests in the church mankind and community.

DR. SNEATH INSTALLED

At the close of his paper Dr. Sneath was questioned on a wide range of subjects by the ministers and delegates present after which the council went into private session.

At six o'clock a banquet was served in the vestry to visiting ministers and delegates by a committee headed by Mrs. A. A. Lincoln.

The services of installation opened at 7.15 with an organ voluntary "March in B flat" by Walter C. Rogers the church organist.

Peter Carr, the scribe, announced the findings of the council and an anthem "Prepare ye the way of the Lord," was sung by the church quartette, Mrs. Clyde B. Long, Miss Ruth Hardy, Roy A. Spooner and Mr. Everett.

The invocation was offered by Rev. George H. Flint of Dorchester and "John XIV" was read as the scripture selection by Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott of Quincy.

A congregational hymn "O Master, let me walk with Thee" was followed by the sermon of installation by Professor E. Hershey Sneath of Yale, brother of the pastor.

"Some encouragements in Christian work" was the subject taken by Professor Sneath and his sermon was one of inspiration and hope.

A solo "Judge me, O God" by Buck was sung by Mr. Everett. Rev. Edward Norton of Quincy offered a sincere and heartful prayer of installation.

In his charge to the pastor, Rev. George L. Cady of Dorchester urged upon Dr. Sneath the character of Elijah, the relentless rebuker of sin; that of Jeremiah the comforter and of John the Baptist the seer.

"The world," he said, "is filled with parrots but prophets never glutted the markets of the world." He further urged the pastor to be a doer of things even though mistakes were made. "The man who never makes mistakes," said Dr. Cady, "is keeping books for the man who does."

In extending the right hand of fellowship Rev. Thomas W. Davison, of Atlantic referred to Dr. Sneath as the successor of a line of able and scholarly pastors. He tendered the new pastor a delicate compliment in a couple of humorous anecdotes related.

A duet was charmingly sung by Miss Hardy and Mrs. Long.

Rev. Edward Abbott Chase of Beverly former pastor of the church in his charge to the people urged upon his audience three things.

First to stay by Jesus Christ through thick and thin. Then to stay by one another and lastly to remember that Jesus Christ would stand by them. His words were of deep Christian earnestness and made a deep impression on the congregation.

Following a hymn, "We bid thee welcome in the name of Jesus" the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Sneath and an organ postlude played by Mr. Rogers.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

An attractive program brought out a large atttendance Tuesday afternoon at the clubhouse. Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard president was in the chair and conducted the routine business and welcomed the members. She said "The coming year seems full of promise for our club, much good being planned by the various committees. All seem very much in earnest. We know that the club's influence for good is felt in many parts of our city and we are anxious to be even more helpful. An eminent educator said recently When the history of the last two hundred years comes to be written, out of that whole period of two hundred years that which will be the most significant, the most far reaching will be the movement known as the Woman's Club Movement.'

"If this be true we are making history fast these days and may we continue to do our best as the days go by.

The usual reports were given by the club officers and chairmen of committees.

Mrs. Chandler W. Smith of the Philanthropic committee announced that at the meeting of the Philanthropic committee to be held at the clubhouse Nov. 19 at 3 o'clock there will be several ten minute addresses and a discussion. Mr. deBruyn of the Milton Social Service League will speak of the work being done by the Mattapan Boys club. Cornelius Parker, president of the Mattapan Conference of the Associated Charities will tell what a recent survey of the Dorchester district revealed and remedies suggested. The Quincy Y. M. C. A. will send a representative to speak of their work and Miss Elwell, director of the West Quincy playground has been invited to come. All intersted persons in the community are invited to attend this meeting and take part in the discussion.

Among the announcements was a meeting of the Education department of the State Federation of a meeting to be held in the Central church of Newburyport Nov. 20 and of the Art department of an all day conference, Dec. 5, at the Art Museum, Boston. Mrs. Kitson and Mrs. Eugene Atwood will represent the club at the art conference. A communication was read from the Board of Trade and a committee appointed to assist in the work undertaken.

Mrs. A. E. Avery who was prevented by illness from giving her eport of the convention at Templeton at an earlier meeting gave a most interesting account of the doings at the meetings.

It was voted to meet at 2 o'clock at the next regular meeting, November 26, to discuss the change of by-laws.

The afternoon program was in charge of the joint committees—Education and Home Economics and opened with a violin solo by little Miss Beatrice Griffin of Randolph who was accompanied at the piano by her mother. She gave a most remarkable performance for one so young, playing with a swing and appreciation of one who loves music. The applause was hearty.

Miss Frances Nevin who came most favorably heralded came fully up to expectations in her fine interpretation of Marks, "The Piper." It was artistic, sympathetic and the characters admirably differentiated, which combined with a charming personality made it an hour of pleasure to her listeners.

During the social hour and tea, club members inspected the fine exhibit of baskets made by one of Quincy's blind residents, whose fine workmanship met with appreciation and ready sale. The women's exchange was also well patronized and the arts and crafts exhibit.

Mrs. Barker chairman of the hospitality was ably assisted in serving tea, the pourers being Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Frederick Barnicoat.

The program committee has charge of the next meeting and presents John Orth in a lecture recital.

The civic committee has the arrangements for the annual assembly at Music hall on Friday evening, November 29 well in hand. Mrs. Theophilus King, Mrs. Charles R. Safford and Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard will be the matrons. Among the assisting patronesses are: Mrs. H. S. Barker, Mrs. W. S. Pinkham, Mrs. J. O. Short, Mrs. E. H. Sprague, Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mrs. H. A. Stevens, Mrs. E. B. Bird, Mrs. C. M. Bryant, Mrs. A. P. Homer. Mrs. F. A. Page, Mrs. Marjery Rideout, Mrs. J. H. Stetson, Miss E. Wilde, Mrs. W. O. Wellington, Mrs. A. N. Murray, Mrs. C. R. Safford, Mrs. P. R. Blackmur, Mrs. G. H. Brown, Mrs. Wallace Davis, Mrs. E. E. Davis, Mrs. J. L. Edwards, Mrs. F. L. Jones, Mrs. H. M. Faxon, Mrs. H. L. Kincaide, Miss G. C. Lane, Miss Maud Macfarland, Miss A. L. Prescott, Miss Minnie Packard, Mrs. A. M. Parker, Mrs. H. W. Porter, Mrs. R. A. Sears, Mrs. L. H. Sturtevant, Mrs. Carl Sheppard, Mrs. J. R. Richards, Mrs. G. E. Pfaffmann, Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth.

Q. Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY.

The meeting of the Women's Auxiliary was held in association hall, Friday evening Nov. 8. There was quite a large attendance to hear H. B. Drew, lecture on "Little Men and Women of the Underworld."

Mr. Drew is immigrant secretary from the Y. M. C. A. of New Bedford and illustrated his address with stereopticon views, taken personally among the foreign children of his city. The pictures brought forcibly to the hearts of those present the great care and helpful means needed to develop the "Little Men and Women of the Underworld" into Christian men and women and honest upright citizens for the future of our nation.

ABIGAIL PHILLIPS CHAPTER.

The November meeting of the Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter, D. A. R., of Wollaston, was held at the home of Mrs. Kimball. The regent, Mrs. E. E. Jameson presided. There was little business to come before the chapter. Arrangements were perfected for the event of Friday evening of this week, when the chapter receives its charter from the hands of Mrs. Dunning, the state regent. Mrs. Damon called attention to the sale of handkerchiefs and neck wear to be held Dec. 6.

Alternates were chosen for the conference to be held in King's Chapel, Boston, Nov. 22 and 23. Those appointed were Mesdames S. Chilton Crocker, A. S. Paige, W. S. Sayward and T. C. Martin.

The chapter was glad to welcome Mrs. Wood, a visitor from the chapter in Machias, Maine, who told of her experiences in becoming a D. A. R.

The paper of the afternoon, "Items of Milton History," was by Mrs. Broughton. She spoke of the four governors whose homes were in Milton, Gov. Belcher, Gov. Hutchihson, Gos. Hancock and Gov. Wolcott. We learned that Milton was the site of the first grist mill, the first powder mill, and the first paper mill. Here in 1675, the first chocolate was manufactured. In Milton were made the first bass viol and the first piano. Here also was made the first wooden leg and here was built the first railroad. The paper was a mine of interest and information.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Kimball and her daughter. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. Chilton Crocker.

UNIVERSALIST MISSIONARY SO.

The missionary society connected with the Universalist church held its regular meeting Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Robert J. Reed, 93 South Central avenue, Wollaston, with a large attendance. Mrs. Thomas A. Addison, president presided. At the roll call each member responded with a quotation or poem on Charity, which was very interesting. Rev. Fannie Austin, pastor, gave an instructive talk on the Misionary Work of the Universalist church, in the South.

After discussing various matters of business a social informal hour was enjoyed during which the hostess served refreshments, her daughter, Miss Catherine Read, presiding at the coffee urn.

The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Thomas A. Addison, 603 Washington street, the second Monday in December.

WANT A CLUBHOUSE.

Somerville club women are again discussing the building of a clubhouse The advantage says the Somerville Journal of having the women of Somerville associated in a common object and in a common centre are obvious both for the women themselves and for the city at large. The clubs would thrive beyond anything they have yet known, and the success they have already achieved has made Somerville famous.

A building specially constructed to meet the needs of the women's clubs would also be extremely desirable for other organizations and for many social occasions. A remunerative rent would thus be assured from the very start.

Perhaps the building will be erected as an investment by some individual or association which will appreciate the opportunity, or perhaps the women themselves will form a stock company and do the work and reap the benefit. Club life has brought to the front a number of talented women who are amply able to manage even so large a business proposition as the erection of a clubhouse. Action will be taken only after due deliberation, and the people of Somerville are eagerly awaiting the outcome.

HALLS READY FOR SERVICE

As will be noticed by an advertisement in another column there will be but little interruption in the use of Alpha and Union halls on account of the fire Monday morning. Temporary repairs that the hall may be used have already been started. Alpha hall will be used for the first time since the fire, Friday evening.

Many expressions of regret were heard on the sad tragedy which resulted in the death of L. M. White the janitor and the attempt to burn the building. That the affair was the act of an insane man there can be no doubt. It is reported that there has been insanity in the dead man's family and that doubtless it was hereditary.

Col. Kincaide in speaking of the affair Monday said that he had frequently told Mr. White not to work too hard at the building and for him to get any assistance he thought best. In fact Mr. White had full authority to hire any assistance he desired. He was a very conscientious man however and much preferred to do all the work himself. Col. Kincaide denied emphatically that Mr. White had been discharged.

Friends of the unfortunate man have remarked of late that he acted queerly. He has been seen walking along the street talking to himself in an incoherent manner, and it was not unfrequent for persons visiting Alpha hall to find him hard at work and at the same time talking to himself.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUSES.

Contests among the Democrats were few and far between. In fact the only contest was for Ward Councilmen from Ward Two where there were four candidates seeking the three places. The result was that there was a tie vote for third position between John F. Bruton and John J. Feeley each of whom received 42 votes.

The lack of contest was the main reason why the Democratic vote of the city was very small the total for Mayor being but 242. There was no opposition to James H. Penniman for the nomination and he had a walkover receiving 213 votes to 29 for blanks.

In several of the wards practically no nominations were made for any office and as usual in such cases the would be wit got in his work, many of the well known people and characters about the city getting a vote. For instance ex-Mayor Shea received votes in several wards for Ward Councilman Randolph Bainbridge, a former Commissioner of Public Works also received one vote. Then there were votes for Jack, and other nick names, which will of course have to be thrown out. If however any of the names written on the ballot are in proper form why then that man becomes a candidate, and unless he desires to remain a candidate he will be put to considerable trouble to get his name off of the official ballot.

In Ward One, the name of Edward M. Faircloth appeared on two ballots and he may possibly become a candidate for member of the School Board. Also in Ward One there were several names written in for Ward Councilman but whether they are correct or not can not be determined until they are gone over by the Registrars of Voters.

HALLORAN'S HELMET LOST

State Wide Search to Be Made For the Bonnet

The police of surrounding cities and towns, including the Burns Detective Agency and secret service have been notified of the theft of the black helmet of night wagon officer John Haloran. The loss was discovered shortly after roll call Tuesday night. A number of officers were searched but nothing of an incriminating nature was found.

Hard thinking on the part of the men who were at the house all day Tuesday resulted in Officer Whelan recalling the hasty exit of a visitor. His memory was aided by Sergent Bishop who was present part of the afternoon.

Both officers corroborated each other, and Officer Haloran wants them held as witnesses.

The Helmet was black, was similar to all helments, and the figure nine was attached to the crown.

A reward may be offered for evidence that will lead to the arrest or conviction of the guilty party.

ORIENT CLUB FIRST DANCE

Fire Caused Postponement to Next Week

The first annual dance of the Orient A. A. will be held in Alpha hall, next Tuesday night. As this is to be the initial venture of the club in the social realm, the committee in charge have done their utmost to make it a success. The floor will be in charge of Frederick M. Dolan, President of the club, assisted by Timothy M. Cremins. John J. Donahue will be chief of aids and as his assistants will be Thomas Curtin, William Mattson, John Mattson, Charles Predario, William Small and Daniel Sullivan.

The Orients club is one of the best known organizations in the city and have taken an active interest in athletics since being organized. The base ball nine which represented them on the diamond this past year established a record that ranks with the best of amateur teams throughout Greater Boston.

Because of the fire the dance cannot be held Friday evening as planned, but Col. Kincaide assured the members that they could open their social season on Tuesday as repairs are now being made and will be advanced enough to permit of the use of the hall on the latter date.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

QUINCY ALLIANCE.

Quincy Alliance met Monday afternoon, the president, Mrs. George G. Saville, presiding. There was a large attendance. In the absence of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, Mrs. Saville read communications from three different societies soliciting articles for their coming fairs, also a letter from Miss Emma C Low of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has for many years held prominent positions in the National Alliance. Miss Low feels that she must resign and it is with deep regret her friends accept her resignation.

Mrs. Edith Cary Page rendered a group of songs "Oh, that we two were Maying" "Recompense" and "I hear you calling me," which were much enjoyed. Mrs. Charles Sampson accompanied with her accustomed ability.

The speaker of the afternoon Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott of Bethany church spoke on "An Englishman's View of George Washington and the American Revolution." Mr. Willmott said in part: "It gives me great pleasure to be with you this afternoon. By the goodness of God, I was born an Englishman, by the providence of God I am an American citizen, and I married a D. A. R. so I feel that we are relations.

"Today there is no question among liberal Englishmen as to the merits of the revolutionary war, and the estimate placed upon George Washington is aptly expressed by James Bryce, 'Washington stands alone and unapproachable, like a snow peak, rising above its fellows into the clear air of morning, with the dignity, constancy and purity which have made him an ideal type of civic purity to succeeding generations.'

"When a boy at school, I was about thirteen years old, I wrote a composition on the "Life of Washington" and to read it you would think it was written by an American boy. A study of history in the English public schools teaches us to frankly admit the greatness of Washington and that the colonists were fighting for their rights as Britons.

"To Englishmen, Washington always will be a great son of their race, a great leader of men. They are taught to think of him not as a miracle, but one whose antecedents in part explain the man; and the views of English and American people are almost indentical concerning Washington.

"The immediate ancestor of George Washington in England is Lawrence Washington, brother of Sir William Washington of Packington and Sir John Washington of Thrapstone. This Lawrence Washington was great, great grandfather of our George Washington. From such a stock came George Washington and he inherited the love of out door life, that desire of adventure which has driven the English yeoman from the seclusion of the British Isle, that stern sense of public duty, which was ever a marked characteristic of Washington. God was training this great son of the English race for the task which was to be his England loves him because of his calm, serene faith, because of his persistency in clinging to the cause in the face of difficulties which seemed almost superhuman.

"It is well expressed by Landor. 'I would like to see a statue of Washington in Hyde Park among other noted and distinguished men. No man ever encountered such difficulties in politics and war. No man ever adapted one to the other with such skill; in justice and equanimity, no man ever excelled him. His name, his manners, his nature, his sentiments, his soul were English. England lost Washington, but he was ours and death gives him back.'

FEDERATION MEETING.

The Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs held its autumn meeting, by invitation of the Tuesday Club, at the Congregational church at Warren, on Monday. Mrs. Jennie Keyes Bowen, president of the hostess club, extended a cordial welcome to the guests, to which Mrs. Henry C. Mulligan, president of the Federation, most graciously responded. Interesting addresses on the "Problem of the Child" were given by George C. Minard and Mrs. Jessie H. Hodder. Miss Ann Taft spoke on "Social Service Work in Rural Communities."

The afternoon session, was devoted entirely to a most helpful and inspiring address on "Women's Responsibility for the Health of the Community" by Dr. Woods Hutchinson.

Quincy was well represented at her meeting five ladies attending.

HOUSING PROBLEMS.

At a meeting last week at the Boston Public Library of the class in civil service reform of the State Federation E. T. Hartmann spoke on "The Housing Problem in Massachusetts. He said:

"No civil service can avail against a bad city government. If there were good government in Massachusetts there would be other good things. Mere information and study will do no good and individual clubs must really work in their own locality if results are desired. Discussions and resolutions are absolutely no good if they are all that is accomplished. Women must vitally manifest themselves and work with any one who has any influence whatever. Charities, hospitals, dispensaries, jails and other methods of dealing with human rubbish, are not the real work of a community. This should be constructive and preventive instead of palliative. Churches should be opened as long as the saloons. Those which are closed six days in the week are not out for business or they would do as the business men do. An enormous amount of capital is wasted while we are trying to find out how to do it. The home is the cornerstone; if that is no good, nothing else avails. The home is not a house, but an ideal; it is up to the occupants to make or mar it, but the house is the setting and the relationship of the reality to the ideal is very close. Houses may produce or encourage sickness and immorality; tuberculosis is a house disease, and through these two the inmates are brought to poverty.

"We recognize the problem, but we fail to see the real essence of it," said Mr. Hartmann. "Every town thinks it is all right. It has no problem. In one town which said so I found a father, mother and daughter in a seven-room house with twenty-seven lodgers, and there are plenty of other examples. We have no building laws worth mentioning. Before 1907 a man could build anything he pleased, and today you can build a house a mile high and a mile long without a window. It is the duty of the whole community to see that every member has a chance to live in something decent. Controlled houses are objected to, but the solution of the housing problem is in the direction of control, and constant control of every house. Why not get to work before conditions are desperate? Communities fail to understand the real essence of this problem. They howl for more people, but where to put them? Five thousand more people are the worst thing that ever happened to a community unless the housing conditions are controlled.

We have boards of health to care for conditions, but there should be a lay sanitary expert in every community. We cannot right these things within the security of our own homes. Our legislatures are inactive and uninterested. We must have public opinion. In 1906 one of the best laws ever put on the statutes was passed, the law relating to the control of the parents of delinquent children, and not one judge in twenty knows what it is about. The main impediment today in Massachusetts is the courts. An ignorant legislature can undo all work unless the people care. We must wake up to the constructive possibilities and see that our honorable courts know what the law is.

"If we can't convert our beliefs into results we might as well stop. High thinking at home avails nothing unless the public know about it. Petitions to legislators are absolutely no good, but personal letters may avail. The Massachusetts Civic League tries to get the people to work this way.

MESSAGE TO WOMEN.

Mrs. Harriman who is an ardent worker in social service a prominent club woman and student of the suffrage question, has recently issued an appeal to the women in this country, taking as the subject the resolutions passed at the biennial in San Francisco last June. Mrs. Harriman stated that no subject is more vital to women than health in the home. No function is so essentially the woman's function, as the protection of the food supply; the protection of sanitary and hygienic working conditions and the general conservation of human life. The pure food resolutions, which form the topic of her message, follows:

Whereas, the food and drug act of 1906 was obtained after a long struggle, in which the influence of the General Federation of Women's clubs was a potent force, and

Whereas, the administration of the department of agriculture has been and is such that at present the law is prostituted for the benefit of the special interests and the welfare of the people, be it therefore

Resolved, that we call upon the president to so organize the department that the food and drug act shall in future be honestly administered in the interests of the consumers of the nation.

"The time has come when women are to put up to the men reforms which they have learned to know the need of, because women are becoming more intelligent about matters of government.

"The time has come when women will discuss among themselves minor topics. Almost every woman today is interested in big things and surely there is nothing bigger than making the town, the city, the nation a cleaner, safer, saner place to live in."

BUSY SEASON FOR Y.M.C.A.

Many Interesting Events are Planned For Season.

OPENING WITH BANQUET

The first big event of the many planned at the Y. M. C. A. is the Business Men's banquet ton ght in the gymnasium. President Murlin of Boston University will be the principal speaker. Music will be furnished by Estes' orchestra. Over 100 men have accepted the invitation to attend.

The Sunday school basketball league will begin its schedule the first week in December. The first practice will be riday from 2 to 5 and Saturday from 3.30 to 5. Six teams have signed up for membership in the league, two Wollaston churches, Bethany, Union chapel, Houghs Neck, First Presbyterian and Christ church. The schedule will be tabulated within a few days. It is expected that great interest will be aroused in the games after the season opens. All games will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gym.

The Saturday morning meeting this week will be addressed by W. F. Spaulding of Boston upon the subject of "Jailbirds."

The tags required for admission to the Gym. will be out on Thursday.

The big feature of the year in the Boys department will be the Father and Son Banquet, Friday, Dec. 13th. H. W. Gibson, state secretary for boys will be the principal speaker. No boy will be admitted without his father. A "bang-up feed" and a royal good time is promised to all who attend. This is the big annual treat of the Boys department and the idea of having the fathers share in the good times with the boys is a good one.

The younger boys of Ward Three are invited to the Association Thursday afternoon from 3.45 to 5.00 for fun in the game rooms, gymnasium and swimming pool. Admission is by ticket only. These may be obtained of Mr. Blanchard at the boy's department desk, at any time up to the hour mentioned, Thursday at 3.45. The entire city is being covered in this way. The boys of Ward One have already enjoyed the hospitality of the association.

Candidates for the basketball teams and the indoor track team are getting into shape for the opening events. Mr. LaRose looks for the best season in the history of the association this year.

The shop meetings at Fore River and the Gear Works start up again next week. These met with great success last spring under the direction of Mr. Bromley, the general secretary.

Bible Study classes for juniors, employed boys and students will start up the first of December. Able leaders have been secured for the different groups.

A meeting is called for Thursday evening from 7 to 7.30 to begin preparations for giving a play. Erastus Osgood will meet with the fellows to assist them in getting things under way.

PREMIER CANALEJAS

Catholics of Spain Blame Him For Most of Their Troubles

PREMIER SLAIN BY ANARCHIST

Canalejas Shot When About to Attend Ministry Meeting

ASSAILANT KILLS HIMSELF

Authorities Have Impression That General Outbreak Was Scheduled to Follow and Pandemonium Reigns—Many Anarchists and Republicans Locked Up In Madrid

Madrid, Nov. 13.—The Spanish premier, Jose Canalejas, was shot dead here while entering the ministry of the interior to attend a cabinet meeting. His assailant, Manuel Pardinas Serrato Martin, an anarchist, aged 28, was arrested and then committed suicide by turning his revolver upon himself.

The shooting occurred in the Puerto del Sol, or Gate of the Sun, a big quarter in the centre of Madrid, the busiest spot in the city.

Stepping up behind and slightly to the right of his victim, the assassin pointed a pistol pointblank at the premier's head and discharged it twice in rapid succession.

The big square at one side of which the premier was killed was packed at the time of the shooting.

Senor Canalejas had just left his carriage when he was killed. He was crossing the sidewalk toward the entrance to the ministry of the interior, where he was to have attended a cabinet meeting.

The assassin had forced himself into the front ranks of the throng, and had no difficulty in getting close to his victim before anyone realized his object. Then he acted so quickly that it was impossible to stop him.

The premier did not turn his head, cry out or throw up his hands when shot, but collapsed instantly. The assassin was a native of northern Spain and an open enemy of government.

Mad confusion followed the crack of the pistol. Policemen came running from every direction, drawing their revolvers or cutlasses. Dozens of civil guards, a kind of military police, poured out from the ministry of the interior, fixing their bayonets or slipping clips of cartridges into their rifles as they came.

Among the authorities it was evidently the impression that a general outbreak was scheduled to follow, and an attempt to clear the square was begun immediately.

The crowd was so great that this was not an easy matter. Throngs stampeded for the streets leading out of the puerto. Other throngs rushed forward to learn what was the matter. Trolley cars clanged furiously for the right of way through the crowd. Scores of loaded mules, which are continually passing through the square, tied together in tandems of five or six, took fright and bit and kicked viciously. Cafes which line the puerto emptied out struggling mobs of customers.

The pandemonium continued for many minutes before the police and civiles, re-enforced by a detachment of cavalry, succeeded in scattering the crowd and restoring at least temporary order.

Many arrests were made following the assassination. Practically every well known anarchist in Madrid as well as many republicans had been locked up within two or three hours.

Jose Canalejas was 52 years old, and was called a radical at the time of his elevation to the office of premier.

He was first brought into the public eye in 1910, when he became premier at the time of the crisis in Spain between the government and the Vatican.

TEACHER'S REGISTRATION

Arranged For By Board of Education

By act of the Legislature of 1911, the State Board of Education is required to establish a Teachers' Registration bureau, the object of the bureau being to assist Superintendents in finding the right teachers, and teachers in finding the right place.

It is hoped that this bureau may become of value in promoting educational interests of the State. The work of this Bureau as planned fits in with the Certificate requirements for teachers in State-Aided High Schools.

While the Registration Bureau will not be limited to High School teachers, the law requiring certification of State Aided High Schools naturally brings to the office of the Board of Education considerable material regarding the work of such teachers. The two services should supplement one another.

During the last year the Board of Education has been conducting investigations to find out the need for instruction in "Practical Arts" in evening continuation schools.

It is now possible to gather into classes girls in any branch of employment, and give them the instruction in "Practical Arts" they need. Such instruction will be given on the basis of the home need rather than the commercial need.

It is possible to establish classes in laundry work, millinery, home nursing, etc. The method of establishing such courses is the same as provided for establishing Industrial day schools or evening trade schools.

A community finds a need for continuation in instruction. The trustees for industrial education arrange for forming the classes, frequently consulting the agents of the State Board as to methods and teachers. If the instruction offered in these classes is approved by the agents of the Board, the town or city is re-imbursed for half the expense of the instruction.

Such courses have been established in Lowell, New Bedford, Watertown, Wakefield, Methuen, Quincy, Cambridge, Somerville and Natick.

LAND COURT.

To the Electric Light and Power Company of Abington and Rockland, of Abington, Catherine Hunt of Scituate, Bert Irving Richardson, Earl Smith Richardson and Emma J. Turner of Norwell, Martha A. Seymour and Harriet L. Soule of Hingham, in the County of Plymouth and said Commonwealth; Samuel E. Pratt of Cohasset in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Ira N. Pratt, Herbert W. Apts, Aaron Pratt, William H. Nelson, Sanford L. Damon, Joseph Whitcomb, Herbert L. Whitcomb, Rebecca N. Litchfield and Eliza J. Litchfield of said Cohasset; George H. Hardwick of Quincy, Mary F. Litchfield of Braintree, in said County of Norfolk; Carrie Hardwick of Foxboro, in said County of Norfolk; Lucy E. Nichols of Dartmouth, in the County of Bristol and said Commonwealth; Martha J. Nichols and Harriet J. Nichols, of Lancaster, in the County of Worcester, and said Commonwealth; Mrs. H. B. McTier, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York; David R. Damon, of Peterboro, in the State of New Hampshire; any heirs, devisees or legal representatives of Ruth L. Sylvester formerly of said Scituate, deceased, not above named; and to all whom it may concern;

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Benjamin S. Atwood, of Whitman, in said County of Plymouth, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land situate in said Cohasset, bounded and described as follows: Commencing at the southeasterly corner of said parcel at a stake on Beechwood Street, thence running northerly on a wall and land of Samuel E. Pratt to a stake; thence easterly on land of Samuel E. Pratt; Ira N. Pratt and Herbert W. Apts to a wall and land of Aaron Pratt; thence northerly on a wall and land of Aaron Pratt to a stake and stones; thence westerly still by said land of Aaron Pratt to an old stake and stones; thence northerly still by said land of Aaron Pratt to a beech tree and stones; thence westerly on land formerly of Joseph Cushing (now believed to be of the estate of Charles W. Seymour and of Richardson Bros.) to a bound; thence southerly by land of the estate of Horace J. Damon to a bound; thence westerly by the same to a bound; thence southerly by land now or formerly of the estate of A. Bradford Litchfield (said to have been recently sold to William Nelson) and of Samuel E. Pratt to a bound; thence easterly by land of Samuel E. Pratt to an old stake and stones; thence southerly by a stone wall and land of Samuel E. Pratt and land late of the estate of Mary F. Damon, now of Sanford L. Damon, to Beechwood Street; thence on land of Sanford L. Damon and said Beechwood Street to the point of beginning.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the second day of December A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of November in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

GETTING IN THE RETURNS.

The official returns were received at City Hall in fairly good season Tuesday night and it was not long after midnight before all wards had been heard from officially and the City Clerk was able to shut up shop and go home.

As usual there was quite a crowd in the City Clerks office to receive the returns but after all the wards had been heard from unofficially on the Mayoralty question the crowd rapidly thinned out so that midnight outside of the City Clerk reporters and City Messenger Tirrell and a few others, the office was deserted.

Mayor Stone received his returns at his headquarters in the Hancock building where he was surrounded by a large crowd of friends. The Mayor early in the campaign said that he did not believe that City Hall was the proper place for him to have his campaign headquarters and he hired a room in the Hancock building as noted above. Here Tuesday night he was surrounded by a large crowd of friends and good fellowship and jollity reigned supreme. As ward after ward was received each showing that the Mayor was carrying everything in sight there was frequent cheering and His Honor was repeatedly congratulated.

The first returns to be received at City Hall were from Ward One which arrived at 10.40 and the last to be received were from Ward Six which arrived at 11.53.

The time at which each ward arrived at City Hall and the total vote of each ward was as follows:

	Total Vote	Time Received
Ward One	415	10.40
Ward Two	293	11.50
Ward Three	404	11.42
Ward Four	230	10.45

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Keene are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Apollonio of Botolph street.

Miss Cora Harding of Botolph street spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Coyle S. Allen of Worcester.

The Young People's Religious Union of First church is to hold a dancing party in Colonial hall on Friday evening.

Mrs. William J. Tilley, is to make her home in Providence, R. I. this winter. She will be missed in G. A. R. circles, being an active worker in the W. R. C.

The local in Tuesday's Ledger stating that Alfred LaBrecque was business manager for Mayor Stone in his campaign for re-election seems to be without foundation.

The many friends of John Whitney Hall of Hancock street, will be pained and grieved to learn that he has not rallied from a shock which occurred last week, and his condition is very serious. He lies unconscious at his home on Hancock street caused by a clot on the brain.

COFFIN A CANDIDATE.

Albert G. Coffin, Jr., one of Quincy's youngest attorneys has taken out papers for the council from Ward two. When Mr. Coffins, candidacy was announced a number of Progressive Party supporters publicly endorsed him.

THREE ALARMS--LITTLE DAMAGE

Fire Department Make Quick Jumps and Do Good Work

The Wollaston station apparatus was called out on a still alarm at 5.31 Tuesday evening for a slight fire in the house of Edward Preston at 33 Park street. The fire was caused by some one stepping on a snap match, that had been accidently dropped on the floor. This flew up and set fire to some clothing on a couch. The damage was slight.

At about 5.11 Tuesday afternoon the Central Station auto chemical was called to a brush fire near the head of Winter street. There was no loss.

The alarm from 155 at 8.45 this morning for a fire on the roof of the C. F. Bates soap factory on Old Colony avenue, Wollaston. The fire was caused by a spark from the chimney alighting on exactly the same spot where there was a similar fire a few days ago. There was no loss.

WEDDED AT WOLLASTON.

Charles Everett Brown and Harriet Gertrude Thurston, both of Rockport were united in marriage at the Wollaston Methodist parsonage, Tuesday afternoon, by Rev. Wesley Wiggin.

The young people come from a former pastorate of Mr. Wiggin. The groom is a farmer and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Rockport. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi W. Thurston also of that place.

SAFFORD ACTED IN GOOD FAITH

The Council Ruled on Petition to Revoke

J. P. COMMISSION

State house, Boston, Nov. 13.—The Governor's Council this morning heard a petition brought in by Attorney Thomas J. Barry of Boston acting for Yee Wah, a Chinese merchant, asking for the revocation of the commission of Charles R. Safford of Quincy as a Justice of the Peace. The petition charged that Safford issued search warrants contrary to the law.

Attorney Barry presented affidavits showing that on various dates during August, September and October, Mr. Safford issued warants which were served by a customs inspector named Sleep and that in the process of the search merchandise, including a large opium smoking outfit were seized.

Articles of furniture and doors and windows were also broken according to the papers and the persons whose property was thereby injured have been unable to find any court with jurisdiction to order the reparation of this property.

Mr. Safford was represented by Assistant United States District Attorney Shea who claimed that Safford acted in entirely good faith in issuing the search warrants, and this belief was reinforced by the fact that he was furnished with blank warrants which came from the United State Treasury Department, and bore the words "Any Justice of the Peace."

After considering the matter the members decided that Mr. Safford had acted in good faith and that he had felt he had a perfect right under the Federal statutes to do all that he did. It was voted to unanimously to dismiss the petition. Mr. Safford is a clerk in the Custom Department and lives here in Quincy.

MISHAPS OF MINERVA.

The two act drama "Mishaps of Minerva" which was so successfully given in Colonial hall, Quincy, on Friday evening, Nov. 8, by the Music Ten of Unity Circle of Kings Daughters of Bethany church was repeated in Cochato hall, Braintree, Tuesday evening. It was given under the auspices of the First Congregationad church choir in aid of the building fund for the new church. There was a large attendance and Quincy was well represented in the audience. The drama was presented with exceptional talent and merit; and was a decided success from start to finish.

The play, which was replete with droll and ludicrous incidents kept the audience in a perpetual state of merriment. Miss Minerva the heroine very anxious to please, was supported by a very competent and efficient following and all performed their respective parts excellently, and elicited hearty applause from the audience.

The cast was as follows:

Minerva Sterling	Edith Cary Page
Molly	Mrs. George Abele
Victor Brown	Wendell H. Luce
Belle Brantley	Mrs. Albert L. Hayden
Mrs. Wright	Mrs. S. I. Wood
Miss Palmer	Isabelle W. Sargent
Harry Stevenson	Arthur L. Thomas
Clara Sterling	Daisy B. Sampson
Barnes	Richard Wetherall
Mrs. Jennie Van Duesen Spuyker	Wendell H. Luce
Mike Shannon	Henry Hayward
Mrs. Lydia Sterling	Mrs. William Wilson
Mortimer J. Sterling	Thomas B. Pollard

The opening number on the program was a selection from Rigoletto, by Edith Carey Page, soprano; Ella Raymond Bates, alto; Arthur C. Peverley, tenor; James S. Whyte, bass. They responded to repeated applause, with "Old Madrid."

"Romanza" and "Rolling Down to Rio," was sung by Mr. Whyte both songs being admirably suited to his fine voice. It was a musical treat to listen to him. Dr. W. Porter Pratt was the able accompanist. The musical talent was from the choir of First church, Braintree, and their selections were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis directed the play and Mrs. Albert L. Hayden leader the the Music Ten, was chairman of the committee, which carried out the details so skilfully.

MATINEE WHIST.

The winners at the matinee whist of Mrs. Rose Reed at Protection hall, Tuesday were Mrs. David Phelan, Mrs. E. F. Wales, Mrs. W. R. Thomas, Mrs. Mary Thomas and Mrs. Sarah Williams. Seven tables were in play.

ANNUAL FAIR STARTED WELL

Wollaston Church Lavishly Decorated For Event

LIBERAL PATRONAGE

The annual fair of Memorial church opened Tuesday evening. The church was very prettily decorated with pink chrysanthemums, in green baskets, hung on the wall. Chrysanthemums were prominent everywhere and the attendants at the tables wore pink ones in their hair. Even the tickets were pink with the same flower printed on them and the words, "At the sign of the chrysanthemums." There was a large sign decorated with pink chrysanthemums, painted by Miss Elsie Whall.

The fancy table was in charge of Mrs. Charles R. Safford, assisted by Mrs. David Hamilton, Mrs. John Fuller, Mrs. Josiah Fuller and the following members of the vacation club: Jordine Davison, Clara Von Emden, Pheobe Buckley, Helen Cherrington, Gertrude Buckley, Edna Hanson, Clara Lester, Dorothy Buckley, Laura Pratt, Augusta Mac Mahon, Bertha Fuller, Viola Jackson, Marion Gurney and Rejina La Tour.

Mrs. Harvey Holt was chairman of the doll table. On this table were: Mrs. William G. Hersey, Mrs. John Lilly, Miss Maud Read, Miss Beulah Reed, Miss Mabel Reed, Mrs. Alva Beede, Miss Jean Arthur. Miss Eleanor Nelson and Miss Gladys Willey. This was a very attractive table. There were a great many beautiful dolls handsomely dressed.

Mrs. B. Frank Thomas was chairman of the apron table, assisted by Mrs. Harry W. Read, Mrs. L. J. Hayford, Mrs. Robert B. Hardng, Mrs. Sarah C. Butler, Mrs. John A. Welch, Mrs. Frank Boman, Mrs. Elijah Hall, Mrs. Wilson G. Hammond, and Mrs. Fred G. Osgood.

Mrs. T. W. Davison was chairman of the china committee, aided by Mrs. Albert H. Hall, Mrs. Walterf Blake, Mrs. C. F. Letteney, Mrs. H. B. Wells, Mrs E. E. Willey, Mrs George Height, Miss Ada Harding and Miss Carrie Heerrman Most of the china on this table was hand-painted.

The chairman of the useful committee was Mrs. M. F. Baker, assisted by Mrs. Spencer Apollonio, Mrs. Gorham Damon, Mrs. Lyndon Gurney, Mrs. Annie Turner, Mrs. Julia Rogers, Mrs. John La Tour and Mrs. Cecil Marble. This table had many handsome and useful articles.

Mrs. Charles Cherrington was chairman of the ice cream table and the aids were Miss May Young, Mrs. Peirce, Miss Ruth Bugel, Miss Colina Brown and Frank Damon.

Mrs. Walter Hill was chairman of the linen table, her assistants were: Mrs. Burton Pray, Mrs. W. I. Hartley, Mrs. Percy Rogers, Mrs. O. O. Smith, Mrs. S. C. Philbrook, Mrs. G Cook and Mrs. G. F. Falkins. This table had received a picture of the White house from Mrs. William H. Taft and a handkerchief embroidered by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Also some embroidered articles from Mrs. Eugene Foss. The picture of the White-house is to be presented to the Ladies' Benevolent Society for their parlor.

Miss Ruth Buckdey and Miss Inez Waterhouse had charge of the lemonade table.

Mrs. T. J. Smith and Mrs. I. S. Smith had charge of the cafeteria. On the committee were Mrs. John Ward, Mrs. James Geekie and Mrs. C. E. Hadlock.

The chairman of the candy table was Mrs. Henry P. Mallock. Those on the committee were the Misses Doris Cummings, Margaret Reed, Marjorie Young, Marion Newcomb, Winnifred Cole, Nellie Buckley and Alice Waterhouse.

Mrs. Welcome Young and Mrs. Winfred Ware had charge of the chinese laundry and were assisted by the Misses Tina Phillips and Hilda Johnson. This table was just like a grab table. The bundles were all done up in pink paper, and each had a laundry check on top. The girls wore middy suits with their hair braided and hanging.

Mrs. Lucretia Fuller was chairman of the delicatessen table. Miss Cora Harding and Mrs. Henry Von Emden were on the committee.

Mr. Thorton Reed and Mr. David Hamilton had charge of the tickets.

This fair is always the largest affair of the year. Last year over $12-00 was made, and it is hoped that as much will be realized this year.

The fair continues this afternoon and evening.

Buy Good Shoes

Many people try to economize on footwear which is a big mistake. Not only is the foot sensitive and aggravated to torture many times by poorly fitted, ill made shoes, but the grade of leather cannot stand wet weather and hard usage.

Our various lines will be found to be all we claim. They are good shoes throughout and will give each wearer satisfaction when well cared for. Buy good shoes and protect them in wet weather with good rubbers. You will find economy in this method.

COURT FORBIDS MAN EARNING HIS LIVING

Strange Order Issued at Request of Moulder's Wife

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Joseph Girsch has begun in earnest the job of being Mrs. Joseph Girsch's husband. That is the only job he can hold until Municipal Judge Newcomer permits him to resume his trade as a moulder. The strange court order was issued forbidding him to work, at the request of his wife.

"He beats me up every pay day," Mrs. Girsch told the court. "If you order him not to work he will have no pay day, and he will be nice. I have money enough of my own for us both to live on."

"It's a little unusual," said Newcomer, "but I'll issue the order. Joe, you go home with your wife, and if I hear of your working you'll go to the Bridewell."

HENRY D. FLINT DIED TODAY

Sick Ten Days. Lived in Roxbury Many Years

Henry D. Flint o former well known South Quincy boy, died at his home in Roxbury early this morning after an illness of ten days duration. Mr. Flint was taken ill Nov. 2, and has been unconscious most of the time since that time. He was a son of Henry E. and Ann M. Hardwick Flint and was born in Quincy, Sept. 28, 1861. He received his education in the public schools of Quincy and for a number of years was engaged as a shoe salesman for different Boston firms. He has made his home in Roxbury for a number of years. He was prominent in the Masonic fraternity in Roxbury being a member of the Royal Arch Chapter and Commandery. He was also identified with the Odd Fellows.

SWEDISH FAIR.

The Swedish Methodist church fair will be held in Union hall, Thursday, Friday and Saturday night. The fire in Alpha hall has not hurt this hall at all. The hall is nice and clean and in good shape. The fair begins at seven o'clock every night. The usual articles will be on sale and an entertainment will be in order.

Registration

CITY OF QUINCY

For the purpose of correcting the Annual Register of Voters, and of receiving evidence of qualifications from persons claiming a right to vote at the coming City Election, The Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session in the Council Chamber in the City Hall building on the evenings of THURSDAY, Nov. 7, and MONDAY, Nov. 11, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock, also on

WEDNESDAY, November 13

from 12 M. to 10 o'clock P. M., which will be the final session before the City Election.

Every applicant for registration must appear in person before the Board. Every male applicant must present either a certificate from the Assessors, or a Tax bill or notice from the Collector of Taxes, showing that he has been assessed a Poll Tax as a resident of the city on the first day of April last, or a certificate from the Assessors that he became a resident of the city prior to June 3, 1912. If a naturalized citizen, he must produce for inspection his papers of naturalization.

Persons who have lived in the State one year and in the city six months previous to December 3, if qualified in other respects, can be registered.

No names can be added to the registers except the names of voters examined as to their qualifications between the thirtieth day of April last and the close of registration on Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 10 o'clock P. M. The Board of Assessors will be in session at their office during the same hours.

MOURNERS FILLED CHURCH

Wollaston People Paid Splendid Tribute to Dr. Record

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES

The funeral of the dearly beloved Dr. Wellington Record, dean of Wollaston physicians, was held from the Wollaston Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon. A gathering of sincere mourners filled the auditorium and many were obliged to stand through the services.

Prominent men of the community, city and school officials, local clergymen, were all numbered among the gathering and a delegation of over 15 physicians from the Medical Association of which the deceased was a member were present, as were representatives from the Masonic orders, the Odd Fellows and the A. O. U. W.

The floral tributes were remarkable for their profusion and beauty and filled the front of the church. Noticeable among them was a large spray of deep red roses from the class of 1877 of Amherst, of which he was a member.

During the funeral services all of the stores in Wollaston were closed as a mark of respect.

The exercises opened with an organ prelude by Miss Knox of Cambridge, after which "Eternal goodness" was sung by the Wollaston quartet, E. E. Bullock, E. F. Webber, H. Y. Follett and G. E. McGowan.

The pastor read comforting scriptural selections from the Psalms and the quartette sang "Sometime we'll understand."

Rev. Joseph Walther took his text from Job XXIII, 10 and 11: "But He knoweth the way I take; When He hath tried me I shall come forth as gold. My foot hath held His steps, His way have I kept and not declined."

Concerning Dr. Record the pastor said:

"His departure is sincerely and universally mourned. In my four years of residence here no death has so stirred the entire community. This is not because of its sudden nature, not because of its tragic features, not altogether because he was an able physician and the longest settled in this section of the town. All these things are true but they do not fully account for his popularity. He is deeply and sincerely mourned because of his life and character.

"Doctor Record was more than a physician to a great many, he was an

FEW MODEST REQUESTS

Made By Houghs Neck Associates at Regular Session

MAYOR STONE A GUEST

Mayor Stone was the guest Wednesday evening of the Houghs Neck Associates at their regular meeting. The affair was in no sense a political one although Mayor Stone in his remarks spoke at length of the Financial condition of the city, his remarks being a resume of what he said at the different rallies during the recent primary campaign.

The members of the association were mild in their requests. First several residents of Rock Island spoke of the necessity of a street of some kind to Rock Island, not only that children might go to school without danger to themselves, also that in case of a fire that the apparatus could reach the island without travelling over a long out of the way route. They also urged the pasage of the order for the widening and building of Sea street, that is now pending before the City Council. The only other thing they requested was a few more street lights.

Before the meeting closed Capt. O. G. Fosdick, representing the merchants along the lower part of Sea street spoke briefly in extending the thanks of the merchants for having the street oiled with dust preventative during the past season. Several others in the audience voiced the same sentiment.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Joseph L. Whiton who is one of the most active Bull Moosers in Quincy stated positively Tuesday evening that he was not a candidate for mayor on the Progressive Party ticket. A large number of men who are enrolled have been favorably advancing the qualities of Mr. Whiton.

Mr. Whiton served in city council and because of his straight-forward position on all matters gained a large following.

VISITATION.

Members of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows have accepted an invitation to visit Massassoit lodge at Brockton this evening. They will leave by special electric at 7.20, and invite all resident Odd Fellows to join the party .

WHIST PARTY.

The Franco-American Society had a whist party at A. O. H. hall, West Quincy, Wednesday night. The high scorers were Miss Mary Joyce, Miss Jane Travis, Patrick Caine and John Walsh.

AUTO CHEMICAL IS LOCATED

Arrived at Boston Store Rooms of Company

WELL APPOINTED MACHINE

According to latest reports the new Kissle auto chemical has arrived from the factory and is now at the salesrooms of the company in Boston waiting for a pleasant day when it will be run over the road to Quincy. Chief Litchfield made a trip to Boston Wednesday in his Kissle fire chief's car and took a look at the new piece of apparatus. According to the chief it is a dandy. A self-lighter, automatic starter and various other modern appliances. If Faxon Billings proves as good a driver of the auto chemical as he is of the three spirited horses that draw Combination No. 2, Atlantic and Squantum can be sure of always getting help in short order in case of a fire.

HIGH LIFE COST DUE TO WASTE

This With the Tarriff and Woman's Flippancy

AMONG CONTRIBUTORS

Rev. Mr. Durkie of the Congregational church of Brockton spoke at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Bethany Brotherhood. He spoke on the "High Cost of Living, and the Cost of High Living."

He said the former was probably due to the high tariff, the raise in wages and the decrease in the value of a dollar. Our methods of living and the constant waste, he said was a factor in this problem.

Mr. Durkie emphasized the fact that the earnings of two days a week were applied to the cost of our government maintenance. He believed that city governments in general as a rule were not conducted along good business lines, and that this wasteful method eventunally increased our taxes.

He further said that the way women were living and the wasting of their time in flippancy had a lot to do with the cost of high living.

Mr. Durkie could not finish his talk because he had to return to Brockton early.

The Brotherhood membership is increasing and over 50 are now enrolled. Refreshments were served by William G. Shaw, Robert Cantley and William Sidelinger.

PROBLEM THE OPPORTUNITY CONFRONTS CHRISTIAN WORKERS

Business Organization to the Success of the Christian Movement

Mr. Murlin at Business Men's Banquet at Y. M. C. A.

The winter campaign of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. festivities and profitable gatherings was successfully launched Wednesday night, by the annual business men's dinner, which was attended by about 80 of the solid men of the city, who were all highly pleased at the fine entertainment provided and listened to an able address by President L. H. Murlin of the Boston University likewise a brief resume of Y. M. C. A. work and effort in America by the President, Richard D. Chase. Col. Edward Anderson was toastmaster of the evening and brought to that position all his vast experiences as a soldier and preacher of the gospel and his stories to punctuate the various points he made were of a character to keep every one in good humor. That the gathering was a success and a step towards development of similar affairs is foreshadowed by the enthusiasm and gratification of every one who attended.

Prior to the banquet which was held in gymnasium, there was a reception in the parlor, and a glad handed demonstration in the coridor and other apartments which offered every one an opportunity to get better acquainted and completed an atmosphere of social fellowship which was a strong feature of the affair.

On repairing to the banquet hall, a brief prayer was offered by Rev. Paul Hallin and then for quite an hour undivided attention was paid to the fine repast which had been provided by the ladies. Of this very important department, Mrs. A. H. Gilson was chairman of the committee, comprising Mrs. N. B. McFadyen, Mrs. W. F. Hodgkinson, Mrs. F. C. Gilbert, Mrs. Joseph A. Sedgwick, Mrs. Sidney S. Baker, Mrs. E. E. Smith, Mrs. C. A. Gragg, Mrs. S. B Wiley, Mrs. Alexander Clark, Mrs. A. F Bromley, Mrs. F. E. Rice. Mrs. J. F Roache, Mrs L. F. LaRose, Mrs. E. I. Beale, Miss Sadie Wiley, and Miss Avah Kilson and they were assisted in serving by Misses Marion Tirrell, Elizabeth Sconler, Esther Bickford and Ethel Beal.

When the wants of the inner man were satisfied, Edward Southward called the assembly to order, and presented Col. Edward Anderson as toastmaster.

The first speaker was Richard D. Chase, president of the association, who among other things said this gathering reminded him of one seven years ago, in 1905 on the occasion of the opening of this building. For many years, the association had been enjoying the fruits of the workers, and under the guidance of Mr. Bromley and his able and vigorous assistants it was continuing along its successful journey. The object was always success. It was not always of the first kind, but the aim was never lost sight of. There are 41,000 associations in America, with investments representing $67,000,000. There were seven or eight new buildings dedicated in 1912, which represented several millions of dollars invested. The Y. M. C. A. advocated and taught a spirit of patriotism and righteousness.

President L. H. Murlin of Boston University was then introduced and delivered a most interesting address. He said in part: "I am very much indebted to the Y. M. C. A. and always sounding its praises. It is the social in the religious life. We are all working together. In a sense all classes are public servants because we all need each other. My idea is that the outlook is hopeful that the christian spirit is the dominant note of christianity and the outlook was never brighter for ideal christianity than it is at the present time.

1900 years ago a man came forth and preached his word. He was deserted and crucified. That was the lowly and humble beginning of the christian period.

See the mighty influence that came out of his teachings, when so many are willing to call him Lord and Master.

After this start, came the business feature of the religious movement. It is essential to have a business arganization in a religious movement. The doctrines were worked out. The creed also, but every man has his own creed, which is the experience in the soul of the life of God.

There is an immense value invested in the churches, but the original capital in the christian enterprise was invested by our fathers. We think we have problems to consider in the church work of the present day. It is not a problem it is opportunity. Take for example the question of immigration. The fathers had to go out to the different countries of the world to spread the light. We have them come right into our midst from all parts of the world and have the opportunity to meet them right here in our midst. The city problem is another opportunity. My father travelled all

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

President Taft working on his message to congress will probably agree with every one that it might have been different.

Mr. Bird probably had lots of fun, spending that money to get no better than third place in the race.

The new secretary of state got out of it easy. His election cost him just $5.20 cents. It must have all been handed out to the pay-as-you enter cars.

In some places it looks as though there was a post season of base ball on the boards, as a runner up for the world's series.

All this talk about the Boston sky line can well be sidetracked until the more important matter of railroad and steamboat lines has been settled.

President-elect Wilson says his mind is open which might mean, he is already in a receptive mood on the second term, despite Mr. Bryan's advocacy of the single term.

The Greeks have not found it so slippery sliding into Turkey the past few days.

If a freight car moves only two hours a day, how long will it take to make another advance in the price of coal.

Although Andrew Carnegie said he owed more than he possessed in New York, he is going to hand out a $750,000 library to San Francisco. It is a wonder his creditors do not get nervous.

Jack Johnson, appears to have plenty of cash, but the authorities prefer the custody of the big black's person.

The "Bunny Letters" will afford McFarland, acquitted of the charge of wife murder, but sentenced for counterfeiting so shortly on his discharge from the more serious offence.

Denver Women want women in the cabinet. There is a popular belief that four well-balanced women have already an appointment in the official family of the president elect.

With the discovery of a new cure for appendicitis there will be less need for the use of the knife.

Labor leaders in Wales whose salaries were reduced owing to a failure to settle the miner's strike have entered a counter strike on their own behalf.

The war cloud still hangs dark and ominous over the whole of Europe. The Turks has been able to maintain that conditions for many years despite the rapid decline of the empire.

The railroad officials are pretty busy with explanations, which do not clear the situation materially. What New England would prefer is action and plenty of it.

Prof. Patten's daily routine for women if strictly adhered to would leave them little time for suffrage activities. The average housewife if attending to her duties has enough and to spare to fill up the day, even omitting one half of the professor's suggestions.

MAYOR STONE.

The handsome endorsement which Mayor Stone received at the Republican caucuses should be gratifying to his Honor and a matter of congratulation to his friends. For some time it was felt the mayor would be nominated by his party and the chances are very much in favor of his being his own successor.

It was unfortunate of course that the tax rate should be rather high this year, during his first term of service, but this was a condition towards which the city was gradually drifting, not caused by any one administration but working up to that state, because of all administrations up to the present time. The mayor courageously took the bull by the horns and instead of endeavoring to provide some loop hole of escape from this very high rate, accepted the situation and the high tax rate followed.

That Mayor Stone has been honest in his administration of affairs, no one will contradict. That he, as other mayors and other officials have, made mistakes is equally likely, and of course they naturally get the criticism from every angle.

But the mayor's probity is unquestioned. Undoubtedly profiting by the experiences of one year, he will be able to give the city better and more efficient service if, which seems likely at this time, he is returned to office.

RATHER STRONG CRITICISM.

After years of coddling themselves that they had the best school system in the world, the people of the United States have been informed by a professor of Princeton University that it is "Inefficient," "Uneconomical" and "Rotten." The language is somewhat strong, bordering even upon the intemperate, and if uttered by an ordinary person no notice would be taken of it. But coming from a college professor, and a teacher at that, it attracts something more than common ordinary attention.

It is almost on a par with the statement of another big man a short time ago, who announced that William Haywood should be given a professorship at Harvard. The worst feature of those senseless and trashy utterances are the publicity they are given. If such trash, coming from any one, high or low, rich or poor, were consigned to the oblivion of forgetfulness which they merit there would be less indulgence in this successful search for notoriety. If an inebriate or a crazy man used such language, it would be charged to the indulgence on the one hand and to the poor weak condition of the mind on the other. But coming from a college professor it has to be blazoned over the country. Absurd utterances by such people are just as little worth digesting as if coming from others, not so well off educationally. If this was done in every case of this kind there would be less of this ranting around, for the effect it produces, without logic, arguement or conditions, warranting the assertions.

FAIR OPENED AUSPICIOUSLY

Big Attendance---Many Attractions---At Park and Downs Church

The two days fair of the Ladies Missionary society opened auspiciously in the vestry of the Park and Downs Congregational church, Wednesday afternoon. Several novel features added to the interest of the fair which was well attended. Chief among the attractions was Aladdin's wonderful lamp. This was in a stately enclosure of red and in the lamp of ancient design incense was burning. The children had but to pay their fee, rub the lamp and a beautiful fairy in resplendent costume would bring them a gift.

In a charming Japanese costume Miss Fanny Fraser circulated among the guests bearing a Japanese tea yoke whose baskets were filled with pop corn and peanuts.

A turkey supper, was served by a committee of the ladies.

The candy booth was a veritable bower of cherry blossoms and here the committee was assisted by the young ladies of Miss Robinson's class, clad in attractive Japanese costume.

Crepe paper, autumn leaves, trellises and other articles formed the decoration of the various tables and booths.

The booths and committees were as follows:

Ice Cream—Mrs. Artemus Dingwell, Mrs. Victor Harrie, Mrs. Charles Tanner.

Aprons—Mrs. W. A. Thompson, Madame Knowlton, Mrs. L. I. Mosman, Mrs. J. A. Zwicker.

Home Made Foods—Mrs. Louis A. Shay, Mrs. Baxter.

Aladdin's Lamp—Miss Mabel Dorring as the fairy, Mrs. C. A. Richardson, Mrs. Helen Boynton.

Bag Booth—Mrs. Charles F. Bryant, Mrs. F. R. Bussler, Mrs. Arthur F. Capen.

Children's Table—Mrs. Alonzo Bissett, Miss Louise Steffens, Miss Stella Cummings, Mrs. George W. Sallander, Mrs. E. S. Lyons.

Candy Table—Miss Catherine Robinson, Mrs. T. H. Irving, Miss Fannie Fraser.

Japanese Girls—Misses Natalie Scott, Edith Gardiner, Ethel Axberg, Mabel Stuart, Alma Kilpatrick, Gertrude Pletsch, Clara Coombs, Ethel Nelson, Freda Klingenhagen.

Supper Committee—Mrs. W. K. Brown, Mrs. E. S. Lyons. Mrs. James D. Willson, Miss Marion Brown, Mrs. F. C. Haynes, Mrs. Alonzo Bissett, Miss Ruth Page.

TOM'S CHOWDER
IRRESISTIBLE

Served at Weekly Whist of Granite City Club

There was a good attendance Wednesday evening at the weekly whist tournament at the Granite City Club rooms. The usual twenty-five hands were played after which the entertainment committee served one of Tom Smith's famous chowders. The two best scores of the evening were made by W. O. Wellington and Dr. Fred E. Jones.

STRUCK BY A TRUCK.

As William Gillen of 38 Tyler street dropped from a wagon on which he had been riding and stepped across Washington street, Tuesday he was struck by a delivery truck of McGreenery and Manning, operated by Thomas Dolan.

The accident occurred opposite the home of Dr. E. H. Bushnell at about 11.25 o'clock. The young man was taken into the doctors office for treatment and is now at his home, but not seriously injured.

FORE RIVER CO. TIME EXTENDED

For the Operation of Grade Tracks at Quincy Avenue

NO OBJECTION OFFERED

(Special to the Ledger)

State House, Nov. 14, 1912.—The Board of Railroad Commissioners today granted the petition of the Fore River Ship Building Company wherein that company asked for an extension of time for the maintenance of its private railroad tracks across Quincy Avenue at the grade crossing, to Dec. 1, 1914.

This is the sixth time the Fore River Company has asked for an extension of the time, and each time granted. Under an order of the Railroad commission in 1903, the company was authorized to have their private freight tracks for a period of time expiring on September 1, 1905. Despite opposition, the company has been able, with the aid of the Railroad Commission, to keep those tracks in operation and at the grade crossing. At the outset the Bay State Street railway objected, but it is understood that there is now an amicable agreement between that company and the Fore River Co., concerning the operation of street cars across the grade crossing at Quincy avenue.

THE NEW PACIFIC.

The two most popular books of the season, of substantial and permanent value are unquestionably Retrospection and the New Pacific by Hubert Howe Bancroft.

They are popular because of the deep sincerity of the author, his truthfulness, his hatred of cant and hypocrisy, his fearlessness, and his fascinating style, which critics never cease to praise.

They will live because they are the epitome of the author's half-century study of Western America and the countries around the Pacific, as Humboldt's "Cosmos" is an epitome of his life work.

Further, these books are of special interest at this time because of the Panama Canal and the San Francisco Exposition, which attract the interest of all the world, and will constitute a leading topic among all intelligent classes until long after the time when ships are first seen sailing through the American Continent, and the event celebrated by opening at the Golden Gate the greatest of World's Expositions.

EXEMPLIFYING BUSINESS.

Practical education is about to be exemplified at the Boston Y. M. C. Union, in a series of demonstrations of actual business-doing and salesmanship, under the direction of Nathaniel C. Fowler, Jr., its originator, with the co-operation of the Mass. Commissioners of Education, the Boston School Committee, and more than 200 prominent business men and their associates, educators, and public-spirited women, who will appear upon the stage as buyers sellers and applicants for positions.

☞An ever welcome visitor arrived this week at the Ledger office,—the Old Farmer's Almanac for 1913. No busy editor's desk is complete without this little book which for nearly 125 years has been referred to for weather, tides, the changes of the sun and moon as well as other new useful and entertaining matter. Published by William Ware & Co., Boston and sold by booksellers throughout New England.

BOYS AND GIRLS IN THE HOME

Subject of Talk By Mrs. Beatley Before the Alliance

The first of a series of four monthly luncheons was enjoyed Wednesday noon, before the regular meeting of the Ladies Aid Alliance in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry.

The menu was taken from recipes in the Alliance Cook Book recently published by the branch and needless to say it was most appetizing. It was served by a committee consisting of: Mrs. Chandler W. Smith, chairman, Mrs. W. F. Atwood, Mrs. Charles T. Baker, Mrs. Clifton Baker, Mrs. Chas. E. Barker, Mrs. William M. Burrell, Mrs. G. Ernest Carr, Mrs. George B. Damon, Mrs. Harold Green, Mrs. Carl G. Horst, Mrs. Thomas Lacey, Mrs. Ralph W. Oldham, Mrs. Charles A. Jameson, Mrs. Frank A. Page, Mrs. Harry Davis, Mrs. William M. Chase, Mrs. Edmund Taylor, Mrs. Edward J. Cummings and Mrs. L. S. Emery.

At the business meeting Mrs. Harry A. Stevens, second vice president, presided and an appeal was received from Mrs. Frank Wright Pratt, of Calgary, Alberta, a former pastors wife, for articles to be sold at a fair there. It was voted to contribute.

Miss Katharine Kimball played selections on the piano and a group of young ladies from the Wollaston school, to the accompaniment of Mrs. F. A. Page, sang songs. The music was in charge of Mrs. Royal Turner.

Mrs. Clara Bancroft Beatley of Boston delivered an interesting talk on "Our boys and girls in the home."

FIREMEN'S ANNUAL BALL

All eyes will be turned toward Music hall Friday evening, where the twenty-first annual concert and ball of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association will be held. That the affair will be a success is assured for the advance sale of tickets warrants saying that this year's affair will be the most successful of any similar affairs held by the association. Every regular man who can be spared will be in attendance to look after the wants of the large number of visiting firemen expected from neighboring cities and towns.

In order that the firemen may be apprised, in case an alarm of fire should sound during the progress of the ball, a large gong will be placed in the hall and the grand march will be started by three blows, the Chief's call, struck on all of the fire alarm bells of the city. The grand march which is always a feature of these annual affairs will be started at 9 o'clock and from then on until 2 A. M. there will not be a dull moment.

As the proceeds of these affairs are used to replenish the relief fund and the object is therefore a most worthy one, the firemen deserve the support of all citizens.

intimate friend and counsellor. He was friendly, kind, sympathetic and interested in every good thing.

"He had a passion for his work. He regarded his calling as sacred. As the minister relieves the spirit so he felt called to the ministry of humanity and the relief of suffering.

"He believed in social and benevolent orders and was a member of several. He believed in church and Sunday school and attended and assisted in every way possible. He was a member of several clubs whose object was the improvement of the mind. His place will be difficult, and with many imposible, to fill. He will be missed in his home, missed at his office, missed on the streets, missed in the homes of the people and in the church and men's bible class of which he was a member.

His influence will be abiding. 'We live in deeds not years, in thoughts not breaths, in feelings not in figures on a dial. We should count time by heart throbs. He most lives who thinks the most, feels the noblest and acts the best.'

"On this basis Doctor Record lived well, for his deeds thoughts and feelings were of the noblest.

"In the Koran this statement is made, when a man dies, they who survive him ask 'What property has he left behind him?' The angel who bends over the dying man asks 'What good deeds has he sent before him?' It is true of Doctor Record that he has sent on before many good deeds.

"The Scripture tells us 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord for they rest from their labors and their works do follow them.' Among those blessed is our lamented friend and brother.

"Horace in one of his odes says this: 'I have executed a monument more lasting than brass, more sublime than the regal elevation of the pyramide, which neither the wasting shower, the unavailing north wind nor the innumerable succession of years and the flight of seasons shall be able to demolish.

A prayer was offered by the pastor. "Abide with me" was sung by the quartette and the benediction followed. An organ postlude was played while the remains were viewed.

The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery. No service was held at the grave. Preceding the exercises at the church a short prayer service was held at the former home of the deceased on Newport avenue, attended by the family and immediate relatives.

THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

High School — Public Schools
Woodward Institute — Parochial School

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

The evening trade classes were visited last week by Frederica W. Turner, the special agent of the state board of education, who expressed himself as much pleased with the plan of organization, subject matter, attendance and general interest. All the evening classes are doing very efficient work and the regularity of attendance upon them is of itself an indication of the appreciation with which they have been received.

Four more boys have recently been admitted to the day industrial school and the school is now co-operating with the Boston Gear Works, as well as with the Fore River Company. It is hoped by the beginning of next year that the school will be working with boys from every large mechanical establishment in the city with the addition of two more trades to the scope of the schools work. The attendance of the school should go to nearly 80. The school department is preparing application blanks for preliminary registration for the next year any any boy who is eligible and who has a mechanical bent will be given an opportunity to register. It is expected that there will be a considerable registration from outside towns and cities as there are boys already in the school from Braintree, Weymouth, Cohasset, and Boston, for whose tuition the City of Quincy will receive $75 each per year.

Almost 20 of the men in the evening trade classes also come from outside towns for whose tuition the city will also be paid at a rate to be fixed by the state board of education.

At the last meeting of the school committee the superintendent of schools called attention to the crowded condition of the high school and suggested the ways in which the old Adams building might be utilized after the grades have been transferred to the new school soon to be erected on another site. It would appear that there will be call almost immediately for overflow quarters for the industrial school and possibly some classes in the high school.

It might easily be possible to put the old building to very efficient use for some years to come as a home for the industrial school, some of the prevocational classes, overflow classes from the high school, evening trade classes and the evening school for foreigners which is now attended in large numbers and which would hardly be so successful in the new building at a greater distance. In that way the old building would serve a very valuable purpose and prevent the congestion at the high school building which seems sure to come.

QUINCY SCHOOL.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Parents' and Teachers' association of Quincy School was held Monday evening and the season's work discussed. No meetings have been held this fall because of the condition of the building but it is hoped the hall will be ready before Christmas. It is planned to have the first meeting as a celebration for the opening of the hall.

NEIGHBORHOOD MEETINGS.

The Parents' and Teachers' association of the Adams school hold a meeting of their organization at the building this evening of more than usual interest as the architect of the building is to be present and give some information regarding the new building which will prove of interest.

The Parents association of the Washington school has arranged the next meeting for Tuesday, Dec. 3 when Charles H. Johnson, will give his lecture on "Washington, the Great American." Tonight the parents of the Williard school children have been invited to meet the teachers and inspect the equipment which is being used for the instruction of the two prevocational classes at that district. The superintendent of schools will give a talk during the evening, on "The Boy and the Job."

TUITION RATE AT THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

Superintendent Barbour, received a communication this morning from the State Board of Education by which the school committee is empowered to collect as tuition fee of $3.50 per month for all out of town pupils in the evening classes.

WOLLASTON SCHOOL.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association was held on Monday evening. Rev. O. P. Gifford of Brookline, gave a most able address, subject, "Points of Contact." Vocal Duets were rendered by Mrs. Frank Page and Miss Ernestine Litchfield. Punch and cake were served, by a committee of Ladies, during the social hour. Over 350 were present.

The Operetta, "Cinderella in Flowerland" will be given by the children of the school on Friday evening, Nov. 22nd at 7.30 o'clock and on Saturday afternoon the 23rd, at 2.30. Because of the large demand for tickets for Friday evening, it is hoped that as many as can conveniently, will go on Saturday afternoon. Admission Friday 35 cents, Saturday 25, the proceeds to purchase pictures. The committee hope to realize a large sum. Dress-rehearsal Thursday afternoon, free to the children of the school.

The new piano, purchased with the money from the recent concert, was delivered on Monday and placed in Miss Thayer's room.

MASSACHUSETTS FIELDS.

The storm on Thursday evening prevented a large number from attending the stereopticon lecture "Washington, the Great American" by Mr. Charles H. Johnson. Trouble later in the evening with the electric wires, the electricity being shut off in the district, made it impossible for Mr. Johnson scarcely to begin. The Parent-Teachers' Association will endeavor to have the speaker again and hope for better weather. The executive committee of the association will meet tonight with the President Sidney Smith, Royal street.

RIVERSIDERS AMBITIOUS

Plan to Own Home of Their Own in Near Future

MANY THINGS PLANNED

The tenth regular business meeting of the Quincy Women's Riverside Club was held on Wednesday at the Club House with a large delegation of the members of the club present. The general business having been disposed of, reports of special committees presented, accepted and a large amount of money turned over to the treasurer This club is very enthusiastic in its work; many new ideas were presented and committees appointed to perfect plans formulated at this business meeting. Classes in dressmaking and Fancy Work are being formed, parliamentary law is considered and they invite all interested in these arts to join the classes now organizing.

Mrs. T. L. Williams, chairman of the executive board gave a very interesting paper on "Current Events" which was very instructive and thoroughly enjoyed. The Club sets aside Wednesday afternoons of each week as their Club Day and while one is devoted exclusively to business, the other Wednesday's of the month are given to sociability of different natures. Wednesday, Nov. 20 will be given to whist, Nov. 27 will be omitted on account of the Thanksgiving Holiday. The committee in charge of Dec. 4, are planning a very fine program which will be announced at a later date. The Club though young in years is making rapid strides into the social and financial world of Club life, and the ladies are most enthusiastic in their efforts, and are expecting in the near future to erect a Club House owned and occupied by themselves.

MRS. JOHNSTONE'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine G. Johnstone, mother of Rev. Julian E. Johnstone and of George Johnstone, an employee of the South Boston Postoffice, was held from her residence, 736 East 2d street, South Boston, Wednesday morning.

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated at the Gate of Heaven Church at 10 and was attended by nearly a score of priests of the archdiocese. There was special by the regular choir.

The pallbearers were Charles P. Mooney, Dr. P. J. Timmins, John C. Murphy and William Carey. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

AMONG THE LODGES.

The installation of the newly elected officers of Ave Maria Council, Knights of Columbus, will take place tonight.

A regular meeting of Paul Revere Post, G. A. R. will take place at their hall this evening.

REASONABLE KICKING GOOD

Sure Sign of Healthy Growth and Development

SAYS FREDERICK FISH

The November meeting of the Men's club of all Souls' church, Braintree, was held in the parish hall, Wednesday evening, with a capacity attendance. The open fire rendered the temperature genial and the chrysanthemums completed the homelike touch. All did ample justice to the bountiful menu of hot roast beef with brown gravy, mashed potato, squash, cabbage salad, coffee, rolls and lastly your choice of mince or pumpkin pie with cheese.

After the repast, cigars were lighted and the club's president Alva Morrison introduced as the speaker of the evening, Frederick P. Fish, the well known Boston lawyer and chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

Mr. Fish held the undivided attention of the entire audience by his interesting, terse and very instructive talk on the" principle and practice of representation in popular government." The speaker said that this country must have political parties in order to get the best results in government and that because of the great strides in all lines of business in the country in the past 35 years that there was bound to be dissatisfaction with some of the existing conditions. He considers this to be a sign of healthy growth and development if the dissatisfaction be of the reasonable, sane and intelligent kind.

He thinks the solution of many of these problems is by the machinery of legislation rather than by Government interference which is not always good. Mr. Fish considers the representative form of government to be the best yet devised and finds that its evils are due to the fault of the people in not choosing capable, competent men to represent them in the halls of legislation.

He scored the initiative and referendum and also the primaries as being of no value because they were on the wrong basis and imposed upon the people burdens which could not be handled. Among the points of the talk were these:

The initiative and referendum is a failure because a small minority of ignorant voters can relegate a representative to a position devoid of power or responsibiliity.

The scheme is open to fraud of the most barefaced kind for the reason that for a small sum per capita it is entirely easy to get the required number of signatures for any question at issue.

There are numbers of good men everywhere who will not volunteer but yet will gladly accept political offices. We should hunt these men up and honor them with nominations. Many elected representatives know nothing of the bills before them.

Constituents should assemble several times yearly in meetings and should summon their representatives to appear before them, discuss the questions at issue and determine if possiblue whether or not the representative is doing his duty as he pledged himself to do.

The primaries are worse than the old "boss" system. In the primary every man nominates himself. This is far worse than the old convention system and befogs the public mind. We shall again return to a position of peace and confidence and the representative system of government will be stronger than ever before.

The remarks of Mr. Fish were received with loud and prolonged applause and all conceded that he had presented his subjcet in a remarkably clear and concise way. There was a report of the entertainment committee by the chairman, Mr. W. P. Battles and after the singing of Home Sweet Home, the meeting was adjourned at 8.45 o'clock.

POSSIBLE ENLIGHTENMENT.

At the meeting of the Adams School Parents' and Teachers' Association tonight, Chairman John L. Miller of the School Committee and Albert H. Wright, the architect of the new Adams school will be the speakers.

BODY SENT HOME.

The body of John Blaine was sent from La Salle, Ill., and is expected at Boston today. Undertaker Barrett will take charge of the remains. Mr. Blaine died there Monday and his home is on Morton street.

SUICIDE VICTIM BURIED TODAY

Organizations and Friends Pay High Tribute to His Memory

The funeral of L. Merton White, janitor of Alpha and Union halls, who committed suicide Tuesday morning, took place this afternoon from his late residence on Glendale road, and was simple and private at the wish of the widow and relatives. Many beautiful floral tributes attested to the high regard which the Masons, Knights Templar, and other organizations and friends felt for Mr. White. The Rev. Paul Sperry of the New Jerusalem church at Brockton was the officiating clergyman.

The tragedy of Tuesday was a great shock to his friends who say the act was entirely foreign to his life. He was clean in character, faithful to all his duties, and insanity alone was responsible. The members of the First church of Christ, Scientist, feel that a friend has passed away, and speak highly of the way in which he performed his duties at their hall and reading room. The strain was undoubtedly too great, for his advancing years, as he could not slight his work, and he declined an assistant.

INDICTMENT NOL PROSSED

No Action to Be Taken Against Frauenfelder

Acting on advice from Atty-Gen. Wickersham, U. S. Dist-Atty. French of Boston has non prossed the indictment charging Joseph L. Barraja Frauenfelder of Quincy with disclosing national defence secrets, thus ending a case which had aroused wide interest.

Frauenfelder was employed at the Fore River Shipbuilding Company's yards and is alleged to have attempted to sell an article on the construction of submarines which contained secrets of national defence.

When the indictment was returned the navy department decided that a trial would result in publicity far more injurious to the national defence because of disclosures that would necessarily be made public than resulted from the effort of the defendant to sell his alleged article. So the navy department asked the department of justice to drop the case.

APPOINTED TEACHER.

The teachers appointment of Miss Katherine Hussey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hussey of the Parkway was confirmed by the Cambridge school committee Friday evening and she will be assigned to the Willard school of that city. Miss Hussey is a graduate of the Quincy High school. She also graduated from the Fisher School of Boston and the Wellington Training School of Cambridge.

through the circuit he was located in, holding services, and talking to a handful of people every day. I talked last winter 115 times and addressed more people than my father would have spoken to in 20 years. It is easy enough to meet the situation, if we use common sense, and exercise a simple straight-forward way.

I remember my experience at college. I was met at the depot and taken in hand by four young men. They treated me splendidly. They were members of a college frat that a friend of mine was in while at college. He wanted me to join that frat and wrote about me to those young men. We all should have that frat spirit in our meeting with people to bring them into the church.

When I arrived in Boston, I dreaded going to church that first Sunday. Now if some neighbor had come along and invited us to go to church with them it would be easier. And it is just this timidness that loses a great many country people to the church when they go to live in the city.

I favor a complete church census. Then we could know if the people attended church and we could co-operate with one another. I do not mean to draw people from their own churches. The politician knows every man in his district and if he does not he will take means to find out about him. The church people should know every one in the community. We must not leave everything to prayer. Prayer is good, but the work of the heart joined with prayer will accomplish more. There is no greater work in this world than that of the Y. M. C. A.

At the close of Mr. Murlin's address Col. Anderson told a few good stories of army life and then many adjourned to the bowling alley, where a lively hour was passed.

The affair was a complete success and those who attended are looking forward with eagerness to a repetition.

The committee in charge was Edward Southworth, Frank W. Crane, John L. Payson, Frank Burgess, Albert N. Murray.

UNITARIAN CLUB OF WOLLASTON

Listened to Interesting Talk on Olympic Games

PAID TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Hon. Joseph B. McCabe, a member of the American commission at the Olympic games, was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian club, Tuesday evening.

Resolutions were offered on the death of Dr. Wellington Record, and Frank F. O'Reilly, two members who have died.

Mr. McCabe prefaced his remarks with a tribute to the late Charles H. Brigham, an ex-president of the club, who was a warm friend.

The subject "The Olympic Games at Stockholm" and his vivid description the events were all that could be desired. The picture of himself at the King's banquet eating off a gold plate and conversing with a Russian duchess while his colleague was seated beside a Grecian princess fairly sparkling with gems was a novelty.

"Imagine," said Mr. McCabe, an East Boston newspaper man who earns his living by the sweat of his thumb and forefinger eating off a gold plate in such surroundings.

The Swedes are ideal hosts and as good sportsmen as they were warm hearted hosts. Since 1896, he said, the American team never received better treatment than it did at Stockholm.

"Sweden was amply prepared for the games this year. For years like Germany she has been building up the strength of her young people. When the Swedes and Germans get at the games as do the Americans we will not have the clean boards we have held since 1896."

Mr. McCabe remarked upon the fact that the Finn's although only having four men competing came in second to the Americans. This was due to the fact that the Finn's have been building their bodies for years.

"I hope the time will come, when every town and hamlet will have a prescribed course in physical culture not only in the schools but for the working boy and working girl. Every town should also have its athletic field as well as its exercises."

"From these great contests of strength the old timer hopes for a greater feeling of greater friendship between the nations. It will not do so much for peace in this direction as it will to act as a great balance wheel against war. From the Olympic games the nations gain information of inestimable value."

The American contingent was described and the speaker told of the fine showing they made and the great attention they attracted.

"At the opening of the Games a sermon was preached and prayer offered. Imagine opening a Pilgrim A. A. function with prayer. This desirable precedent introduced by the Swedes would probably be continued at the Olympic Games in the future. On the whole the affair was a dignity. That was the key note. It was a solemn occasion and was not lowered by every man and woman uncovering and paying tribute to the Great King."

Mr. McCabe in his talk described many events and contestants and his familiar style of treating the subject proved most interesting.

The usual roast beef supper was served by the young men of the church to a goodly attendance.

KITCHEN SHOWER TO MISS DUNHAM

Young People Had a Very Pleasant Gathering

Miss Mildred Dunham was delightfully surpirsed at her home on Farrington street, Tuesday evening when she was tendered a kitchen shower by a large group of young people.

Much fun was enjoyed by the opening of the various articles. A variety of games were played and refreshments were served.

Among those present were; Storer Wiggin, Ruby Walter, Helen Cobb, Mary Cobb, Clarence Cassidy, Raymond Cassidy, May Critchley, Arthur Dewsnap, Alfreda Dewsnap, Beulah Collett, Ethel Clifford, Marion Nevers, Nettie Crittenden, Ruth Pease, Fred Sutermeister, Walter Sutermeister, Myrtle Starbird, Florence Bennett, Chester Cleveland, Nelson Merrill.

LOWER TARIFF ON ITALIAN FOODS

Under the direction of Representative Vincent Brogna, the legislative committee of the Italian-American Citizens' Progressive League, has drafted bills for the better regulation of housing conditions, the Italian banks and the padrone system for presentation to the Legislature.

Congress will be asked by the national branch of the league to reduce the tariff on Italian wines, macaroni, oil and other products.

Delegates of the league throughout the country have decided to parade and attend the inauguration of President Wilson. The Massachusetts branch will be represented by Carmine Carofalo of Weymouth, A. Brogi and Joseph Vesce of Revere.

BURIED WITH A MASS.

The funeral of Miss Frances A. McDonald whod ied Sunday night shortly after she was discovered in an unconscious state on the Furnace Brook Parkway, took place Wednesday morning from the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale on the Parkway.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's church by Rev. William J. Duffy and interment was at the Holyhood cemetery.

POVERTY PARTY.

A poverty party was held at the Wollaston Yacht club Tuesday evening, a large number taking part. All sorts of costumes were in evidence and the hall looked like a rag bag come to life. Dancing to the music of Cuff's orchestra was enjoyed.

At intermission A. N. Potterton, chairman of the entertainment committee awarded prizes for the worst costumes.

George Giguere in a rig that would have done credit to "Gyp the blood" was the winner for the men. Miss Marie Lavery was attired in a dress that looked like a crazy quilt and received first honors for the ladies.

Among novel costumes were the burlap twins, two of the young ladies wearing dresses of that material.

DALY—DOLAN.

Miss Mary Agnes Dolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dolan of 56 Hancock street, Atlantic and Thomas William Daly of Boston were married Tuesday evening by Rev. J. P. Cuffe at the Sacred Heart church.

COAL PRICES NOT ADVANCED

Big Operators Sticking to Their Circular Figures

COMMITTEE'S STATEMENT

The following statement was issued by the committee of anthracite operators:

"In view of the uneasiness about the supply of anthracite and the fact that some consumers are complaining that an abnormally high price is asked for coal at this time, the operators desire to make a positive statement as to their course of action in the present situation.

"The larger mining companies are holding absolutely to their circular prices. They have not advanced these to the dealers to whom they sell and have no intention of doing so. By far the greater part of the total anthracite output is being sold by the original producers at the circular prices.

"Some of the 'independent' operators are selling their output at a premium—that is, at a price above the circular. The retail dealers who advance the price to their customers do so, in many cases, because they are paying a premium to such operators for some part of the coal they handle. But for whatever reason the retail price may be advanced to consumers it is not due to any increase of prices on the part of the larger operators.

"It is true, unqestionably, that there has been a relative scarcity of coal. The severe weather of last Winter and Spring exhausted the reserve, and the suspension in April and May caused a loss of ten or twelve million tons in production. By full-time operation of the mines, however, the operators have made up some of the loss, and the shipments from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31 of this year, instead of being ten or twelve million tons less, show a decrease of only 6,145,018 tons from the shipments in the corresponding ten months of 1911.

"The operators are shipping the output of the mines to market with the utmost possible despatch. The lack of railroad cars on outside or connecting roads has caused some trouble, but the proportion of the coal output that could not be moved to market has been small. The product has been distributed to the different sections with absolute fairness, and upon principles settled by long experience in meeting the needs of a widely-distributed market. With the approaching close of Lake navigation, delivery will naturally be concentrated upon the nearer markets, and the supply should be ample for all demands or emergencies.

"Strikes declared because part of the employes decline to continue payment of union dues and wear union buttons—strikes in plain violation of the agreement between the mine workers and the operators—have caused a serious loss in production. A number of companies have suffered from these strikes. This last week, for example, collieries with a combined daily capacity of from 5,000 to 8,000 tons a day were idle. Holidays celebrated by the mine workers—not only regular legal holidays but special holidays which they observe of their own accord—have had the effect of still further reducing the output. By full-time operation the operators have scored heavy tonnages but the quantity of coal available for the market would have been much larger but for these interruptions.

"The operators are convinced that, though this year's production is behind last year's, consumers will not suffer for want of coal if they will content themselves with moderate purchases for the time, and not attempt to lay in a large store in advance and thus create an artificial scarcity. In the ordinary course of business, that is, in the absence of strikes or other abnormal happenings, there will be no lack of coal to meet the demands of every market."

THE CALIFORNIA VOTE

Late Returns Show That the State Has Gone For Wilson

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Wilson has taken the lead over Roosevelt in California with a plurality of forty-seven votes. With thirty-six counties officially reported out of fifty-eight and five precincts missing, four of them in Wilson territory, the grand total stood: Wilson, 283,195; Roosevelt, 283,148.

These figures did not include a further gain for Wilson of sixty-four votes, resulting from the official canvass of the vote in Los Angeles county. The canvass there is about three-fourths completed.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

LEFTOVER TURKEY.

THE remains of the Thanksgiving turkey, should any be left from the feast, may be used in various ways. An appetizing method of serving up the fragments is to make a scallop of them. Turkey may be scalloped in several ways, as follows:

Plain Scallop.—Cut the meat cleanly from the bones of the turkey. Butter a pudding dish and put in a layer of breadcrumbs unless there is enough of the stuffing left for this. Moisten with a little milk. Over this place a thick layer of the meat, sprinkling with salt and pepper and bits of butter; then more crumbs, more meat, and so on, until the dish is finished, covering with the crumbs. Before these go on pour in slowly the gravy, or, if this was all used up, a gravy made from the bones and well seasoned. Put plenty of butter on the top layer of crumbs, bake covered for half an hour, then uncover and brown.

A Dainty Use of Fragments.

Scalloped With White Sauce.—Make a pint of white sauce, cooking together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour until they bubble and pouring on them a pint of milk. Stir until the sauce is smooth. Season with celery salt and a half teaspoonful of onion juice and mix into it small pieces of cold turkey. Turn into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle crumbs over the top, dot with bits of butter, bake covered half an hour. Uncover and brown.

Scalloped With Oysters.—Prepare the cold turkey as for either scallop for which the directions have been given, using oysters with it at discretion. A dozen to a pint of oysters may be used, according to your liking or supply of turkey. Moisten with the oyster liquor instead of with milk. Bake for fifteen minutes only in a steady oven.

Toothsome Fare.

Scalloped With Sausage.—If the supply of cold turkey is limited supplement it with cooked sausage, placing this and the turkey in the buttered pudding dish in alternate layers, covering the top with crumbs, moistening all with gravy and baking as you would another scallop.

Scalloped With Stock.—Add to well seasoned stock an egg for every cupful of cold turkey you have, cutting the meat into small pieces. Turn this into a well buttered pudding dish, cover with crumbs, salt and pepper and stick bits of butter over the top. Bake and brown.

THE PUMPKIN PIE.

THE autumn feast would not be complete without the golden pumpkin pie.

When preparing the pumpkin for pies cut it into strips, taking out the central pith and the seeds. Pare the strips, cut into pieces and run through the meat chopper, using the coarse cutter.

Put into a saucepan with boiling water, using one-fourth as much water as pumpkin. Cover the saucepan and boil for ten minutes. Then let the vessel simmer slowly on the back of the fire for three or four hours. This is a simple method of preparing the pumpkin for the pie filling. The other ingredients may be added when the pie is to be made.

Simple Pastry.

Eggless Pumpkin Pie.—When eggs are high and you wish to economize the following recipe is worth trying: Use a tablespoonful of cornstarch for each egg called for. Do not spice the pumpkin until the pies are ready for the oven, then dust thickly with powdered cinnamon and dot with bits of butter.

Economical Pumpkin Pie.—Take five tablespoonfuls of the cooked pumpkin, mash it fine, add one egg, a tablespoonful of flour, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, one-half teaspoonful ginger, one-quarter teaspoonful cinnamon or allspice and enough milk to fill one pie. Bake with lower crust only and brown slightly on top.

When Eggs Are Plentiful.

Rich Pumpkin Pie.—Take five tablespoonfuls of the cooked pumpkin, three eggs, one cupful of sugar, one pint of rich milk, a pinch of salt, a small piece of butter. Season with nutmeg and cinnamon. This is enough for two pies. For the crust use one cupful of lard to two cupfuls of flour and a pinch of salt. Mix with a fork, stirring in as little water as possible.

Pumpkin Custard Pies.—Pare and cut into small pieces enough pumpkin to fill a pint measure, place in a saucepan, cover with half a cupful of water and steam until tender. Then lift off the lid and let the water evaporate. Drain in a colander. Beat four eggs together, add to them two cupfuls of rich milk and then the pumpkin, a scant cup of sugar, a teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a spoonful of ginger. Mix and pour into individual baking dishes lined with puff paste. Bake in the oven and serve at once.

OPEN DOOR AT AT WHITE HOUSE

Will Be the Rule During the Wilson Administration

PRACTICED IN NEW JERSEY

President-Elect Has Demonstrated That Transacting Public Business In Secret Is Not Satisfactory—Open Meetings of Conference Committees May Be the Rule

Washington, Nov. 14.—The national capital is greatly interested in the announcement made by President-elect Wilson that he will so far as possible observe the "open door" policy at the White House. As governor of New Jersey Wilson has been able to open his offices in the state house at Trenton to all comers. He is the first public man in the United States to adopt this policy. It has been a success.

Even during the sessions of the New Jersey legislature Wilson occupied a desk in the centre of a large room, the door of which always stood open during office hours. He absolutely refused to discuss public questions in private. If his associates in office in the state or anyone else talked with him about any public matter the conversation took place in this public room, where any citizen of the state was privileged to enter, and, if he desired, listen to what was being said.

It was largely this policy of doing the public's business in public that enabled Wilson to get desired legislation from two unwilling legislatures. The old-time politicians held up their hands in horror when the new policy was inaugurated, but eventually even they came to like it.

Clearly, it would be impossible for a president to carry this "open door" policy as far as Wilson has followed it in New Jersey. Should the doors of the executive offices be thrown open to the public without any restrictions a president would at all hours of the day find himself pressed by such a crowd of curiosity seekers as to make it impossible for him to transact business. It is also true that a president must be protected from cranks, many of whom visit the national capital in the course of a year.

There are opportunities for the introduction of reforms at the White House and the new president will doubtless be able to make many important changes in the method of transacting business, without inviting the public to come and go as it pleases. Undoubtedly what the president-elect has in mind is, that so far as possible there shall be no secrecy about the public business while he is president. He has throughout his term as governor of New Jersey held to the view that the people had a right to know what the officials were doing and he will, no doubt, enforce this policy as president.

This idea that there is no good reason for transacting the public's business behind closed doors has been taking root very rapidly during the last two years. Apparently the day of the secret committee meetings in congress is over.

A few of the old-timers still insist that when a committee meets the doors should be closed and locked, but the great majority of congressmen, and this includes both senators and representatives, are now in favor of doing business in the open. The house of representatives will accept a rule providing that even the party caucuses shall be open.

ROW STARTED BY UNIONISTS

Object Is to Force Government Party to Resign

WILD SCENE IN PARLIAMENT

Speaker Forced to Extremely Rare Necessity of Adjourning Session—Premier's Proposal to Rescind Monday's Action on Home Rule Amendment Starts Serious Riot

London, Nov. 14.—The house of commons, the popular house of the "Mother of Parliaments," was the scene last night of a riot over Premier Asquith's proposal to rescind the action of Monday, when the Unionists carried by a majority of 22 Sir Frederick Banbury's amendment, defeating the most important financial feature of the home rule bill.

The Unionists refused to permit the debate, and the speaker was forced to adjourn the session on account of the disorder. This is an extremely rare necessity and the situation is considered a critical one.

The Unionists almost unanimously threaten they will continue to make business in the house impossible unless the prime minister accepts the amendment or drops the home rule bill. They declare his action is unprecedented and will be obstructed by unprecedented measures. Their object is to force the government to resign.

The uproar far exceeded that which stifled Asquith's speech when he introduced the home rule bill, and has not been equalled since the free fight over Gladstone's first home rule measure.

The ministers were taunted with epithets like "traitors," "apes." Sir William Bull, Unionist for Hammersmith, was ordered from the floor for repeatedly calling Asquith "traitor."

As the government ministers left the house the rank and file of the opposition swarmed across the chamber floor shouting taunts and some throwing screws and balls of paper at them. The Liberals gathered around Asquith to protect him, as they feared violence. The minister was hit by one document.

Fierce imprecations were exchanged by individual Unionists and Liberals, the eyes of many on both sides blazing with passion as they screamed at one another. It was a scene worthy of the Hungarian parliament.

Suddenly a Unionist member snatched from a table a small volume of parliamentary procedure, from which the speaker had quoted. The Unionist hurled the volume and it struck Winston Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, on the left cheek.

The first lord instantly faced about, pale with anger, and his eyes swept the ranks of the taunters to see who threw the book. He then made a hasty dash forward as if to attack his assailant. Two government supporters, who were nearest to Churchill, laid hold of the minister, and other Liberals joined them, attempting to persuade the first lord from going further.

Churchill yielded, evidently having quickly realized how the dignity of his position would suffer by scrapping like a schoolboy with an ill-mannered assailant, and he passed out of the lobby.

The evidence in connection with the assault, including the small book, was collected by the officials of the house some time after the incident and it will be submitted to the speaker, who is not likely to treat the offender lightly.

John Esmonde and Matthew Keating, both Irish Nationalists, who were near the scene, say that the man who threw the book was Ronald McNeill, a member of the opposition.

When the session began there were packed benches. The premier's followers gave him a great cheer on his entrance and demonstrated that they were present in force by defeating a motion to adjourn early in the proceedings by a vote of 327 to 218.

The substance of Asquith's motion was that the Banbury amendment be rescinded, "notwithstanding anything in any standing order of this house," and that the order of the house in respect to the home rule bill take effect as though Monday's proceedings had not taken place.

The effect of this would be practically to begin again the consideration of the bill at the clause where the Banbury amendment was offered.

116 WORDS A MINUTE

New York Girl Smashes All Previous Typewriting Records

New York, Nov. 14.—Miss Florence E. Wilson of this city eclipsed all fast typewriting records by writing at the rate of 116 words a minute for one hour. The best previous record was 112 words a minute.

In an amateur contest, Miss Margaret D. Owen also surpassed all former records with an average speed of 116 words a minute. Both contests were conducted under the auspices of the National Business show.

Ambassador Bryce and Cecil A. Spring-Rice

REMAINED BY REQUEST

Bryce Some Time Ago Asked to Be Relieved From His Post

London, Nov. 14.—The resignation of James Bryce as British ambassador to the United States and the appointment of Sir Cecil Spring-Rice as his successor are officially announced.

The foreign office, in announcing the changes, says Bryce some time ago intimated his wish to retire but prolonged his stay at Washington at the request of the British government.

SANITY OF ST. DENIS GIRL IS QUESTIONED

Pleads Guilty of Attempt to Poison Aunt and Uncle

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 14.—After five jurors of the panel which was to hear her trial had been chosen, 16-year-old Gladys St. Denis of Lowell, charged with an attempt to poison her aunt and uncle, caused a sensation by pleading guilty of the charge, at the advice of her counsel. It is alleged that she put rat poison in the coffee of her relatives.

Believing that there is a question as to the girl's sanity, Judge Chase, after a conference at the bench with parties connected with the case, appointed Dr. Henry C. Baldwin of Boston and Dr. Butler of the Waverly institution to examine her at the Cambridge jail.

"IFS" ARE CLEARED AWAY

New Haven-Grand Trunk Twenty-Five-Year Agreement Likely

Boston, Nov. 14.—All the "ifs" in the Grand Trunk-New Haven controversy were practically dispelled yesterday, when President Mellen of the New Haven road made a statement that if President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk wanted and asked for a twenty-five-year trackage agreement the New Haven would grant it.

In the afternoon Chamberlin from Montreal issued a statement in which he said the only thing the Grand Trunk would accept by way of agreement would be a twenty-five-year trackage agreement.

$11,000 FOR WIDOW

Boston and Maine Must Pay That Sum For Death of Husband

Boston, Nov. 14.—Ella F. Cotton of Portland, Me., widow of Woodbury E. Cotton, a freight conductor on the Boston and Maine railroad, was awarded a verdict for $11,000 by a jury in the United States district court here.

Mrs. Cotton sued the road for the sufferings and death of her husband, who was struck by a locomotive in the freight yards at Clinton on Jan. 7, 1910, and died later of his injuries.

Couple Killed by Gas

Haverhill, Mass., Nov. 14.—With gas flowing into the room they were occupying in a lodging house here the bodies of Frank Chapin and Mollie Leary were found dead. A gas heater in the room had been turned off, but the gas cock of the main pipe was still open.

Woman's Ravings Reveal Crime

Richmond, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Hattie T. Merriam, dying, raved of the murder of her baby by her husband. Officers found the child's body and arrested the husband. He confessed.

NOMINATIONS BY FOSS

Three Important Positions Filled by Governor of Bay State

Boston, Nov. 14.—Norman H. White of Brookline, to be chairman of the commission on economy and efficiency for the commonwealth.

Francis X. Terrell of Chelsea, to be a member of the same commission.

The auditor of the commonwealth, John E. White of Tisbury, is made the remaining member of the commission under the act creating it.

Dr. L. V. Briggs of Boston, to be chairman of the state board of insanity, vice Herbert B. Howard of Boston, whose term expires this year.

These were the most important nominations sent to the executive council by Governor Foss yesterday afternoon.

COUNSEL OUTLINES GUNMEN'S DEFENSE

Says Webber, Vallon and Stranger Killed Rosenthal

New York, Nov. 14.—The state rested its case last night in the trial of the four gangsters accused of murdering Herman Rosenthal, at the instigation of Charles Becker, and counsel for the gunmen opened for the defense, declaring he would show none of the four took part in the shooting or were in any way connected with the plot to kill the gambler.

He declared he would show the quartet was lured to the scene on a pretext and the shooting in front of the Metropole, where Rosenthal was laid low, was done by Bridgie Webber, Harry Vallon and a mysterious stranger, who was thus brought into the case for the first time.

ACCIDENT, SAYS PREACHER

Charged With Murder by Choking Wife With Her False Teeth

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 14.—W. L. Beers, a preacher of Wukarusa, near here, is under arrest pending investigation of the death of his wife. It is charged that in a quarrel with her at a hotel here he choked her to death by pushing her false teeth down her throat.

Beers said the death of his wife was entirely accidental. He said he put his fingers in her mouth to prevent her from attracting the attention of other guests at the hotel by loud talking. In the struggle that followed, he said, her false teeth were forced down her throat. A charge of murder was placed against Beers before he was placed in jail.

French Cruiser a Derelict

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health Is Worth Saving, and Some Quincy People Know How to Save It.

Many Quincy people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers.

Richard Smith, S. Central Ave., Wollaston, Mass., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for a long time. My back was so lame and painful that I could hardly get around in the morning. All through the day I had a dull heavy ache across my loins. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up alright. I now have no trouble from my back."

TWO MORE GAMES FOR QUINCY HIGH

Expect to Duplicate Last Victory at Brockton

With but two scheduled games to play, the Quincy High School football team is closing a most unusual season. Quincy scored 68 points against 160 for their opponents. The first game with Cambridge High and Latin School was scoreless.

The season has been unusual because of the workout of the schedule. Quincy did not play teams which were of their calibre. On one day they would easily beat a slower team and in the following game would suffer defeat, sometimes inglorious, by meeting a faster and more aggressive eleven.

Medford rolled up a 54 to 0 score and Headmaster Howlett who went there from Quincy quietly smiled at his former pupils discomfiture.

Everett, by a score of 74 to 0 reached one of the highest totals of the season. It was a fine victory for them sentimentaly because Headmaster Collins of Quincy was at Everett last year.

The outlook at the start of the season was promising with 52 candidates in the field. Many lost their aspirations however and the squad material decreased as the season waned. Teacher Frank Mansur did the coaching and he was relieved of the pressure of athletic duties when Charles Sisson, the 1910 All American Brown centre agreed to come to Quincy. He commenced an aggressive line but due to the workout of the schedule, the development was not persistent.

Capt. Leon White who played the line position was changed to full back and Richard Crane played nearly all the positions with credit.

Edward Brown however easily outshone the other members of the team through his consistant playing. Richard Larkin, one of the fastest ends in interscholastic circles came into his own at end and half and his brother Paul performed in fine fashion at right end in his first season.

Sam Prout at quarter performed in a manner which gained the good will of all and the rest of the team did what they could with a willing spirit and indidcate a fast eleven next year.

Saturday the Quincy team will play the Rindge Manual Training School at Merrymount park and the boys feel that they can repeat last Friday's 7 to 6 victory which was against Brockton. Waltham looks like a win on Nov. 25, but it is very doubtful that Quincy will roll up enough points in the last two games to equal their opponents tally.

The probable lineup for Saturday will be P. Larkin, left end; Hamlin, left tackle; Crane, left guard; Young, centre; Martin and Foy, right guard; Atkins, right tackle; Schenkleberger, right end; Sam Prout, quarter; Richard Larkin, left half; Capt. White, full back and Brown, right end.

Quincy have been defeated by Haverhill, Medford, Everett and have beaten Weymouth, Hingham, South Boston and Brockton.

CONTROVERSY AVERTED

No Clash Because of Two Games at Park Field

Merrymount Park lower ,eld will be the battleground of four elevens Saturday afternoon. Quincy High will play Rindge and the Quincy A. A. will play Fort Banks.

An interesting controversey was averted in regard to the field in that day. During October the Quincy A. A. team was granted the use of the field Saturday afternoon. The high school management recently received the permit for the Rindge game.

The question of who was going to use the field was decided through Commissioner George E. Pfaffmann who aranged to have the high school game start at two o'clock sharp.

The Quincy A. A. and Fort Banks game will be fast and a comparison of the two local teams will be interesting.

BASKET BALL.

Richard Larkin, Quincy High school all round athlete was chosen captain of the basket ball team for this season. With Findlay, Holmes and P. Chapman out of school, a fine chance is offered candidates to make good. A schedule is being arranged and the first game will be played within three weeks.

REA SUCCEEDS M'CREA

Head of Pennsylvania Railroad Retires After Long Service

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania railroad President James McCrea resigned, to take effect Jan. 1. Vice President Samuel Rea was appointed to succeed him.

McCrea was elected president of the road in January, 1907, following the death of President Cassatt. At the time he was first vice president of the lines west of Pittsburg, and had a reputation of being one of the most experienced railroad men in the country.

McCrea in his letter of resignation says that he is approaching the age of 65 years and feels that he needs a rest. He adds that forty-six years of his life has been spent in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Goodhue Kept Tabs on Eastman's Wanderings

LOCATED IN KEENE, N. H.

Inspector Goodhue received word Wednesday that Harold L. Eastman, alias George W. Thompson for whom he has been looking for several weeks is now in jail at Keene, N. H., awaiting the action of the grand jury which comes in April 1913. According to Inspector Goodhue, Thompson, as he then called himself, came to Quincy last September and secured employment at the store of R. E. Foy, having presented the best of recommendations. He worked one day and then skipped, taking with him the sum of $55 which he had collected.

Searching his room Insepctor Goodhue found several letters from which he learned that the fellow lived in Keene, N. H. Since that time Inspector Goodhue has traced the fellow from the United States to South Hampton, England, Alexandria, Egypt, China and back again to America, at San Francisco where he had a sweetheart employed in a hippodrome in that city.

At Keene, N. H., it was learned that his name was Harold L. Eastman. That he was about 24 years of age, and came from an excellent family, but that he had been crooked everywhere he went. That he was wanted in Winchester, N. H., for the embezzlement of $1100 from the American Express Co. From the San Francisco police it was learned that the fellow's sweetheart had left the city and come east and it was supposed that Eastman had joined her. Wednesday Inspector Goodhue learned that Eastman had been arrested for the Winchester N. H. case at Lewiston, Me., and had been held for the grand jury at Keene, N. H.

As the grand jury at Keene, N. H., does not come until April 1913, Inspector Goodhue will have to wait until that time for his man unless extradition papers are taken out and the fellow brought to Quincy for trial.

NOYES GIVEN THREE MONTHS

WILL NOT BACK SERVIAN CLAIMS

Russian Support of Balkan League Fails to Materialize

GERMANY MIXES THINGS UP

Believed to Have Been Responsible For Reversal of Attitude—Servian Army Continues March Toward Adriatic Coast—Turkey Now In Better Position For Armistice

London, Nov. 14.—What argument or compensation the German envoy offered to the Russian foreign minister in order to induce him to make the formal announcement that Russia would not go to war to enforce Servia's demand for the port on the Adriatic which her arms have won is not known but must have been strong. Russian public opinion is strongly pro-Balkan and will resent this boltface by the government.

Germany apparently is back on her old job of mixing things up. Loss of Russian support even in this single case will be disheartening to the Balkan league. If Austria is triumphant in her effort to keep Servia from the sea, she compasses that country's economic and political subjection. Under an "independent" rule Albania could be annexed just as were Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The Balkan nations could not accept the stifling of Servia without breaking up their alliance, a result which would be not unwelcome to Servia. With an independent Servia, Austria on the other hand fears that her Servian subjects will want to join their co-nationalists. In the meantime the Albanian chiefs at a meeting at the seaport of Avlona have proclaimed the autonomy of their country.

It may be that the German ambassador to Russia gave assurances that Servia's demands would receive consideration, and that if they could not be granted in full she would be awarded something in return for the sacrifices she has made.

A dispatch from Berlin says Germany regards the Albanian situation with entire confidence. She thinks it would be better that Servian troops should not enter Durazzo, as such an act might provoke an Austro-Italian naval demonstration. Even that, however, is contemplated by Germany without anxiety.

It is understood that Count Von Berchthold, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, has proposed to give extensive privileges to Servia in connection with the projected Adriatic-Danube railway. Vienna appears to be even more optimistic than Berlin and The Zeit goes so far as to say that the crisis is over.

In the Austrian capital; it is said Dr. Daneff, the president of the Bulgarian chamber of deputies, proposed that Austria should allow Servia to go to some port on the Adriatic without obtaining the territory back of it, or the right to fortify the port, which would be connected with Servian territory by a railway. Servia, however, has not yet replied to the Austro-Hungarian suggestions and a Servian army continues its march toward the Adriatic coast and in one report from Belgrade is said actually to have reached Durazzo.

Turkey is once more reported to have made a direct appeal to the Balkan allies for mediation and Constantinople also hears that the European powers have submitted to the Balkan nations Turkey's request for an armistice pending negotiations for peace.

Turkey is now in a better position to ask for an armistice, as it is understood strong reinforcements of fresh Turkish troops have reached Tchatalja, and might hold out there for days, if not weeks. The absence of news from that quarter is explained by a dispatch which says their inadequate transport delayed the Bulgarian army in the attack on the Turkish fortifications.

Forte Asks For Armistice

London, Nov. 14.—The porte, on the advice of Russia, has instructed Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, to apply to the Bulgarian commander, General Saroff, for an eight days' armistice, with a view to opening direct negotiations for peace.

This decision seems to show that Turkey has little hope of being able to hold the Tchatalja lines against the Bulgarian advance. There is no news yet as to how the Bulgarian commander met the Turkish request, however.

Decapitated and Mangled by Train

Bridgewater, Mass., Nov. 14.—With his head cut completely off and his body badly mangled by a train, Walter E. Eddy, main gate-keeper at the state farm, was found dead on the railroad tracks near here.

Strikers Reduce Leaders' Salaries

Cardiff, Wales, Nov. 14.—Angered by its failure to win the recent coal strike in South Wales, the Miners' Federation adopted a resolution to cut the federation officials' salaries 50 percent.

ARMED MEN ON GUARD

Trouble at Rubber Plant Where I. W. W. Strike Is In Progress

Watertown, Mass., Nov. 14.—Two hundred armed men last night guarded the Hood Rubber company plant from possible attacks from outside, and at daylight this morning special details of Cambridge and Watertown police were sent to the factory to prevent a recurrence of the trouble of yesterday.

Two men will appear in the Waltham district court charged with throwing stones, as a result of the trouble yesterday, when several hundred former employes attempted to prevent some of the workmen from going to their work in the plant.

According to a statement issued by Superintendent Glidden there have been no demands made upon the company by the accepted leaders of those who have organized. The statement declares the plant has been closed only because of some extensive repairs.

OWED FIFTY CENTS

Debtor Who Failed to Produce Money Is Shot by Creditor

Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 14.—Mike Archette shot and fatally wounded Salvatore DiAngelo, aged 30 years, during an argument on Common street last evening.

Archette, who has recently been released from jail, called DiAngelo out of a restaurant on Common street and said: "Where is that 50 cents you owe me?"

DiAngelo answered that he did not have the money, but would have it today. According to the dying statement of DiAngelo, Archette then fired without removing his hand from his coat pocket. The bullet pierced DiAngelo's right lung.

REVOLTED AGAINST AWFUL CONDITIONS

Grace Carbone Had to Pay Penalty With Her Life

Georgetown, Conn., Nov. 14.—The woman whose knife-pierced body was taken from a mill pond here Saturday, was Grace Carbone of New Haven, who had been missing since Oct. 24 from her home in that city.

Positive identification of the victim was made by a woman who came from New Haven, but whose identity is withheld.

Having established her identity the police are now looking for Andrew Carbone, her husband; "Big Andrew" Capone and Fred Cusanno of New Haven, and James Lewis of Hartford, who, they say, compelled the woman to participate in the "white slave" traffic.

The police believe the woman was slain when she revolted against the conditions under which she was compelled to live. They say she was an intimate friend of Jennie Cavaglieri, who was shot to death at Stratford recently.

ETTOR'S ARGUMENT

Laws, Courts, Police ,and Soldiers Belong to Capitalists

Salem, Mass., Nov. 14.—That he told foreign strikers of Lawrence the constitution, the laws, the courts, the police and soldiers belonged to the capitalists was testified by Joseph J. Ettor in his trial here as an accessory to the Anna Lopizzo murder in a riot last winter.

Ettor was under cross-examination by District Attorney Atwill. He testified that he told foreigners the constitution and laws belonged to capitalism because of his own knowledge of conditions in this country.

"I was making them familiar with the institutions of this country when I told them that," Ettor asserted in his testimony, emphasizing his statement.

M'FARLAND GOES TO PRISON

Man Aqcuitted of Wife Murder Found Guilty of Countefeiting

New York, Nov. 14.—Allison McFarland, recently acquitted of the murder of his wife in Newark, was sentenced to a year and a half's imprisonment in the federal prison at Atlanta for counterfeiting.

McFarland admitted making imitations of half dollars in his cell in New Jersey while awaiting trial for wife murder, but declared he intended to use the suprious coins as hatpin ornaments. He denied that he intended attempting to pass them.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Goes to the Washington School Boys After Great Game

The grammar school soccer football season closed Tuesday afternoon when the Washington school beat the Adams school at Merrymount Park, 3 to 0. Both teams were the leaders of two divisions and the winners are entitled to the championship of the city.

A large crowd of school children followed the game from the sidelines and the enthusiasm manifested was hardly ever before equaled at a grammar school game. The players who scored were Greenhalgh, McDonald and Zirlstein. Principal Sampson of the Quincy school refereed the contest and had the players well in hand at all times.

Dr. Smith, director of athletics, who has been the guiding hand in the league was well pleased with the season's success. He has satisfactorily carried out various athletic plans since coming here.

The players on the winning team were Sheriff, g; Gilcoine, rhb; Raleigh, lfl; John Gilcoine, rhb; Reardon, chb; Thayer, lhb; Chisholm, orf; Greenhalgh, irf; McDonald, c; Devaney, ilf; Zirlstein, osl.

McGILVRAY GIVEN WATCH

On His Retirement From Head of K. C. Council

OFFICERS INSTALLED

The installation of the officers of Ave Maria Council, Knights of Columbus took place at St. Mary's hall, Thursday evening. District Deputy, John A. Foley, accompanied by a suite, performed the work.

Arrangements had been made to have the state officers present, but a letter of regret explained their absence.

Retiring Grand Knight Charles J. Mc Gilvray was presented with a gold watch by District Deputy Foley, who also made an address. He complimented the council on its growth and said he was gratified to find the Knights of Columbus spirit in Quincy.

Rev. H. T. Grady was presented to the assemblage and received fine applause. Other speakers were Rev. William J. Duffy, G. K., Michael T. Walsh of Quincy council, P. G. K., Edward D. Barrett of Quincy.

Retiring Grand Knight McGilvray spoke feelingly of his interest in the council and extended his heartfelt appreciation for the token of their esteem.

An entertainment and supper followed the formalities. Songs were rendered by Joseph Ecker of Dorchester, Fred McDonnell, and James Grant. A comic recitation by Stephen Connors was enjoyable and the feature of the program was Thomas Connors epic, "Duke McLevitts last campaign."

The supper consisted of chicken salad, assorted sandwiches, fancy ices, coffee rolls and cigars.

The following were installed:

Grand Knight—Bernard M. O'Neil.

Deputy Grand Knight—Dr. John H. Ash.

Recording Secretary—George A. McDonnell.

Financial Secretary—Leo A. Garrity.

Treasurer—Henry M. Hughes.

Chancellor—James E. Geary.

Miller Criticises Action on Adams School Building

MUCH TIME ALSO LOST

A division of sentiment on the new Adams school was evident at a meeting of the Parents' and Teachers' Association Thursday evening and Chairman John L. Miller of the school committee was grilled with questions. A warmer meeting was expected but weather conditions affected the attendance.

Albert H. Wright, the architect of the building was present and did very little talking. Robert E. Foy opened the meeting and there were solos by Mrs. Lawrence Pratt. Refreshments were served.

Mr. Miller told of nine years fighting and the appropriation for a building to be a duplicate of the Wollaston school. He said that despite this the executive had ordered changes in the building and had exceeded his authority.

"The mayor accepted Mr. Wright as the architect under pressure. On August first the Joseph Locatelli Co. submitted the lowest bid and after a delay of over two weeks they asked the mayor to award the contract because of the advancing price of material. No action resulted and on their withdrawal and C. S. Cunningham & Sons were given the contract at a greater figure.

"A local paper reported that "through the eminent business ability of the mayor he had delayed until he found the correct price," and the city is out $3500.

"I, for one, shall feel the city has lost time, and adverse weather conditions I am sure will damage the quality of the work.

Mr. Miller said that changes followed the plans approved by the committee and acceptance by the council and that the only reason why the radical changes were made was because anything was good enough for ward three.

He explained the site purchase and said he favored a rolling bank in front of the building. With regard to the erection of double row of walls he said, "speaking as an individual I can see no necessity of putting up that fortification other than to keep city employees busy."

A general discussion showing a dissatisfaction with the plan changes, followed.

Refreshments were served by Miss Ruth Kemp, assisted by Mrs. Nelson Spencer, Mrs. Alfred Goodhue and Mrs. Ralph Lapsley.

REBEKAH LODGE HOLDING FAIR

Supper Last Night---Entertainment Tonight

The first day of the George L. Gill Rebekah Lodge fair opened at Odd Fellows Hall, Adams Building, Thursday with a good attendance. The fair will close this evening, with an entertainment.

A supper was served by following committee: Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Addie Dewhurst, Mrs. Annie Pushee and Mrs. Charles Hayden.

The general committee is in charge of Mrs. James S. Baker. Tables were set in the corners of the hall and were prettily decorated. They were in charge of the following people..

Candy—Mrs. Walter Walker, Miss Marion Baker and Miss Ethel Jones.

Grab Bag—Mrs. Arthur H. Dunstan.

Ice Cream—Mrs. George Ela.

Fancy Work—Mrs. Walter Hill.

SEVERAL RECOUNTS

Of Votes Cast at the Caucuses Requested

John R. Nelson who was defeated for the nomination for Councilman from Ward Six at the caucuses by Charles A. Hadlock by five votes has petitioned for a recount.

The Democratic committee has also petitioned for a recount in Ward Two where there was a tie for the third nominee between John F. Bruton and John J. Feeley.

The Registrars will hold the recounts Saturday evening.

BARN AND SHED DESTROYED

Rain Storm Removed All Danger of Other Buildings

The alarm from box 134 at 7.40 o'clock, Thursday evening was for a fire which destroyed the barn and an adjoining shed on the estate of the late Sumner Hollis on Common street Braintree. There were no live stock in the building which was used for storing hay, and this together with farming implements were a total loss. R. Allen Gage was the owner of the hay and farming tools. The neighboring buildings were not endangered by sparks because of the rain which was falling heavily at the time. The all out was sounded at 11 P. M.

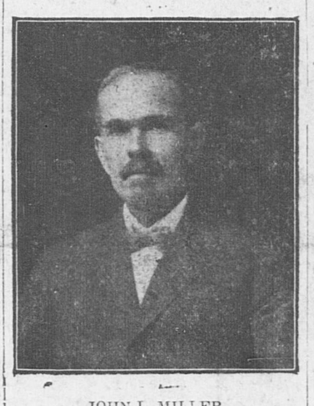
MILLER PROGRESSIVE CHOICE IN MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN

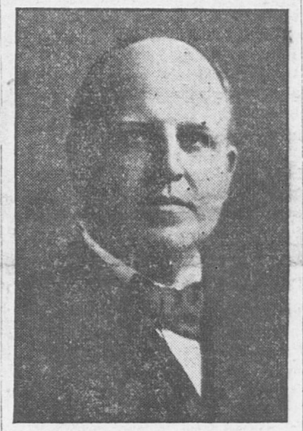
Mayor Stone and Mr. DeNormandie Had Many Warm Supporters at the Caucus of the Organization

Candidates For City Council Endorsed---The Hustle Now to Get Their Nomination Papers In On Time

The good old town meeting days with their wisdom corners were recalled vividly to mind Thursday evening at the caucus or mass meeting in the Council Chamber, City Hall of the Progressive, sometimes called the Bull Moose party. The highest number to vote on any one ballot was 79 but there were scores of others present however, who had evidently not been enrolled, but who had come to see what took place. A large sign in front of the speakers desk gave the information that none but enrolled members of the party could vote.



JOHN L. MILLER
Nominated for Mayor.



JOSEPH L. WHITON.
Councilman at Large and who presided at caucus.

MAYOR EUGENE R. STONE.
Who failed of endorsement.

While the second ballot for Mayor was in progress and insinuations of a frame up, had been made, one man raised the point that it was understood that a man was to be stationed at the door and that none who had not enrolled were to be allowed present. Chairman Whiton however said that the call invited everybody in sympathy with the movement to attend and the motion was ruled out of order.

Joseph L. Whiton presided and he proved the right man in the right place for his rulings were impartial and by his good judgement he frequently prevented a rough house. Motions came thick and fast and it was difficult to decide between what was in order and what was not.

The meeting was called to order a few minutes past 8 o'clock and the first business was to listen to the report of the committee on the platform. John H. Johnson of the state committe reported the following:

"Believing that good government is best obtained in cities, as well as in state and nation, through permanent organizations, held accountable for the character of their candidates, rather than through unconcerted and spasmodic individual effort, which usually is not strongly enough organized to combat successfully with corrupt political machines strongly organized and unscrupulous in methods; and believing further that while a strong permanent organization is made necessary for such purposes, that nevertheless in order to accomplish any permanent benefit to any community it must be kept well within the hands of all its members and not be permitted to be controlled by any clique, ring or boss.

"We the Progressive party of Quincy hereby make the following declaration as our contract with the citizens of Quincy and hereby bind our candidates for municipal offices to the maintenance of the following principles, purposes and pledges.

"We believe in a change in our City Charter, giving a longer term for Mayor and Councilmen and a Council to consist of seven members, all to be elected at large, with representation from each ward, and the recall for unfaithful officials.

"We believe that the appointive positions in the hands of the Mayor should be made strictly on the basis of merit and that neither race, religion nor politics should have any consideration in making such appointments.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

If the day of war had passed as well as the day of the war correspondent, things would be much brighter in this world.

The directors of the Philadelphia railroad took the Mc out of McRea.

Tomorrow the Crimson and Green will clash at Cambridge and the Eli's and tigers at New Haven.

The New England officials were sent around like so many messenger boys chasing after the railroad men on that Grand Trunk subject.

A Boston fire alarm box was sounded the other night and policeman who stood opposite the box declares it was not rung in by hands. The spooks must have found their way to Copley square, or some copper is living up to that old time tradition.

Early shopping is all very well to be suggested by those who have the price but how is the fellow without the money to do his Christmas shopping, if he has to wait for his per?

Now there is a controversy as to who invented the latest curl. The hair dresser or wig maker probably had more to do with it than any one else.

Gov. Foss appears to be breaking away from all party traditions, and recommending or appointing Republicans to office. But the Governor in one or two instances have by this course put some of his political opponents in the hole.

President Taft will always hold a good place in the heart of the average Bay Stater, even if he ceases to be a summer resident at Beverly.

One man in Lawrence held life pretty cheap as he killed the fellow who failed to promptly return a loan of 50 cents.

November is half gone and if the balance is no worse, there will be little cause to complain.

Judge Bruce of Melrose gave the parents good advice about their boys who were charged with throwing stones when he suggested that their idle moments be occupied in chopping wood, cleaning the yard and other little odd jobs.

Harvey N. Shepard in his arraignment of conditions in Boston, financial and otherwise which unfortunately are only too true.

Another man who juggled with some one else's money is now repentant that he is in jail and would like to get out right away, because of failing health.

A sailing master for 40 years, the Master of a British steamer enjoyed his first period of seasickness on the voyage just ended He prebably now sympathizes with those chronically affected that way.

By the way has any one seen any obituary notice of Charles W. Morse, within the past few weeks?

The place hunters will soon be perching on the White house steps.

There is no question but what Norman White would frame up well to the board of economy and efficiency but what have the Democratic office seekers to say on the job?

Another person with a professorship attached to his name has gone floundering into unknown depths. This particular person has the temerity to offer a daily regime for the average housewife. The hours and duties are all nicely fixed. After getting breakfast, the lady must get the children ready for school, then hike off to work at 9 o'clock, returning at 5 and get the dinner, clear away the dishes, etc., do a little mending and retire at 9.30 to be ready for the next day's routine. A delightful program, but no provision is made to get the noon day meal for the children or the man of the house. Nothing is said about who is to keep the fire in the kitchen stove going, or where the lady is to get a bite to eat at luncheon time.

Of course if there is half a dozen children in the family, the mending, washing, assorting, and planning of clothes for that little army is of no consideration. Those are minor details, which the professor has undoubtedly, intentionally omitted as having no bearing upon the case at point. Let that man put on an apron and a mop cap, because he certainly manifests signs of needing the latter very much, and start out some day to perform the tasks he has outlined, or else follow along some thrifty housewife who is careful of her home and family and looking out for the brightness of both and the comfort and welfare of the latter and when the day is ended he may find out a thing or two which would be not only interesting to him, but instructive as well. Outside of his suggestions, which appear not only unsought but entirely uncalled for he would do better to stick close to his professorship and leave unknown matters entirely alone.

HOME RULE.

While the reports bearing upon the Irish Home Rule bill have all along been favorable, it must be conceded that the recent action of the House of Commons has not made all plain sailing to that end. Premier Asquith and his ministry is placed in an unenviable position. The opponents of the bill seized a time when they were in the majority, and rushed through an amendment defeating the most important financial feature of the bill. Under all precedent, the ministry thus defeated should resign, and go before the people. But Mr. Asquith and his fellow members decline to act in accordance with this established rule. They claim that they have a majority and the vote on which they were beaten was taken at a time when their working majority was absent. On the face of the returns, the Liberals have the majority they claim. That they were caught napping is only the fortune of war and politics and brings again to the front that truism, "In times of peace prepare for war." The Unionists had evidently been watching their chance, and in the language of the day "put one over" on the government party, from the effects of which the latter will find it difficult to extricate itself. The scenes following an attempt to rescind the amendment, shows that all the battling is not confined to the Eastern part of Europe, but of course the House of Common's battle was not so sanguinery as the Balkin conflict. Still it is a serious matter, one involving the Home Rule of a section of the United Kingdom and recalls the contentions of the American regarding "taxation without representation."

THE GRAND TRUNK.

The officials of the Grand Trunk feel aggrieved that Boston people should treat with credulity their claim that the line will build its tracks right into Boston. If anything the Boston should be the aggrieved ones. Here only a few months ago every one was up in arms over the situation. There was said to be a determined fight by other lines to keep the Grand Trunk out of Boston. Pressure was brought on the legislature to protect the people's rights, by franchising a rival so that lower rates and quicker transportation would result. And now the track building has stopped.

Mr. Mellen was approached and was frank, he said that negotiations were pending between the Grand Trunk and the New Haven. Was Mr. Chamberlain equally frank? On the face of it it hardly seems that he was yet. He flatly denied any agreement, any attempt at agreement and asserted his road would build. Yet it was only a few hours later that he announced a conference with Mr. Mellen in New York, but was so pressed for time that he could not stop over at Providence or Boston to discuss the situation with those interested. If negotiations are satisfactorily entered into, it will be interesting to note if rates will be lowered or service improved. It is hardly within the line of human possibility that the New Haven will go so far out of its way to hasten the traffic of the other road moving on its tracks, so can lay claims to better, quicker and cheaper service than the New Haven.

TATTERS AND RAGS.

The millionaire Hobo, is confident that he will be at the head of his Hobo College this winter and some people without any hesitation assert that the establishment of such an institution is a good thing. Any institution thate ncourages idleness sponging on the world or on others, wandering and uncleanliness, all characteristics which appear essentials of the average hobo, should not be even encouraged by the amen of "A good thing." Such an institution can be of no particular service. It cannot encourage industry, thrift, cleanliness or the like and the conventional A .B. granted to a graduate will stand for Able Bum. On that ground it should receive its proper title, Bum college and as such should be frowned upon rather than encouraged.

THE WATERTOWN INCIDENT.

The Watertown incident brings more forcibly to mind the fact that lawlessness among certain classes has not been extinguished in Massachusetts, and that it is liable to crop out any where and at any time. These disturbances are not creditable to the state. They reflect no credit upon the participants and they give to the outside world an idea of inability to handle affairs in our Bay State cities. Encouragement from one quarter or another only leads this class to the belief that they are immune from punishment and can pursue their tactics at will. A little different method of dealing with some of the offenders would not make others so eager to indulge in such practice and certainly of escaping the penalty of their violations of the law.

OPPOSED $12 TAX LIMIT

Ex-Mayor Hall, Thought People Could Be Depended Upon TO KEEP TAX RATE DOWN

(Special to the Ledger)

State House, Nov. 1912. Claiming that one feature of the city charter of Quincy provided the best way for municipalities to make their appropriations and loans, ex-Mayor John O. Hall, of Quincy, told the special committee of the legislature, which is making an investigation of the financial problems of the cities and town of the Commonwealth, that in his opinion it would be well for the State to make a State-wide law based on that feature of Quincy's charter, or at least to incorporate some such feature in any bill which the committee may recommend to the coming legislature.

Mr. Hall was the chief speaker at the afternoon session. He dwelt at length on that feature of Quincy's charter which allows the mayor to determine from estimates made by the city departmental heads the amounts of the city's appropriation. This feature, Mr. Hall said is a most excellent one and one that would work out well in all cities. One good part is that which allows the city council to reduce, but not to increase, the mayor's figures for the appropriations. Based on his personal experiences, Mr. Hall said that his suggestion for future laws governing municipal finances is that the $12. tax limit be abolished and allow the city governments to make their own limits. The tax payers could be relied on to see that the limit does not go too high. Just as long as there is a limit placed on the statutes, just so long will city governments have the chance to boost the taxes to the limit set and then borrow outside that limit, with permission of the legislature.

Mr. Hall urged the establishment of a compulsory system of uniform accounting for Municipalities. He thought it would be well to make a penalty to be imposed upon those cities which did not employ such uniformity in their own city accounting. Mr. Hall's suggestions were well received by the committee and he came in for personal thanks from the chairman.

REGRETS USE OF HOLY CHURCH

For Political Gatherings and Political Criticisms

Editor of Ledger:

The vote received in Wollaston by Mayor Stone at the recent caucus shows very plainly the feeling of the men of Wollaston in regard to citizens assembling in the sanctuary on Sunday to discuss the present administration of Mayor Stone and throw rocks (without mention of the name) at the past administrations of Ex-Mayor Shea.

I woud ask those citizens who seem to favor political meetings in churches to read the vivid account in Holy Writ of our Master and Teacher as he entered the sanctuary and found it occupied by worldly men for worldly purposes.

Again, I regret the use of the church for such purposes because of the influence upon the young. It has been my great privilege to work for a number of years along the line of religious instruction with young people and I have always endeavored to have them stand for and revere the church and appreciate its peculiar place in this bustling world as a spot dedicated to the worship and service of God. If mature men are willing to throw aside the above interpretation of the church then do not blame the young people if they appear indifferent and irreverent.

I do not sign my name to this article for the purpose of attracting attention, but I feel that I should be a coward to write an article on the church without my name affixed to the same.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE IN

BOSTON AND VICINITY

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

The repertory for the first week of grand opera at the Boston Opera House, has been made out by Director Russell. Five performances will be given—on the evenings of Monday, November 25, Wednesday, November 27, Friday, November 29, and Saturday, November 30, and the afternoon of Saturday November 30. The works selected for presentation are Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann," (French) Monday evening and Saturday afternoon: "La Boheme" (Italian) Wednesday evening; "Madame Butterfly" (Italian) Friday evening; and "Il Trovatore" (Italian) Saturday evening.

In the "Tales of Hoffmann" which is to be mounted with especial attention to artistic detail and which will disclose for the first time here Mr. Urban's new method of stage production, there will be a cast of exceptional excellence. Mr. Clement will be the Hoffmann, a role which he has not yet sung in public; Mr. Marcoux will have the four roles of Lindorf, Coppelius, Dapertutto, and Dr. Miracio which are the successive embodiments of the opposing force Hoffmann meets in his adventures; Miss Fisher will be the Olympia; Miss Amaden, the Giulietta, and Mme. Edvina will accomplish her Boston debut as Antonia.

In "La Boheme" Wednesday evening Lucrezie Bori, the new Italian soprano will be heard by Bostonians for the first time. She will sing Mimi Miss Dorcyne being the Musetta; Mr. Laffitto, the new tenor whose success in Montreal this week has been so pronounced, will be Rodolfo.

"Mme. Butterfly" Friday evening will be cast with Mme. Destinn as Cio-Cio-San; Miss Leveroni as Suzuki; Mr. Laffitte as Pinkerton and Mr. Polese as Sharpless.

For "Il Trovatore" Saturday evening, Gertude Rennyson has been chosen to be Leonora, Miss Leveroni, the Azucena, Mr. Blanchart the Luna and Mr. Aresoni the Manrico.

PARK THEATRE.

Rose Stahl in Charles Klein's department store comedy continues as the one big hit of the season in Boston, where it has been attracting large audiences since Labor Day. There are matinees on Wednesday and Saturday and an extra matinee on Thanksgiving Day. The engagement at the Park Theatre will be the only one which Miss Stahl will play in New England, and that is limited as contracts already made cannot be postponed. So out-of-town playgoers should witness the play at the earliest possible moment. Miss Stahl has scored a success in Boston which equals that registered in other large cities and there has been no play produced either in New York of Chicago this season which excels her in the length of the present engagement.

"Maggie Pepper" is the story of a girl of the stores; it is full of the spirit of life and its main delight is the comedy which sparkles throughout the performance. The audience is kept in constant laughter from the beginning of the play until its end. But underneath the comedy there is a most appealing story of a woman's struggle for success; for her endeavor to protect a loved child from bad influences; for the abilty of woman kind to make a success where men, living under the archais conditions of another day had failed. It is an inspiring play for the young and the old alike. Miss Stahl has never done finer work than as "Maggie Pepper; and, in fact, her interpretation of the girl of the stores places her among our foremost players for all time. There is no moment when the audience does not feel she is the character she represents and she wins and holds the sympathy and attention from first to last.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.

One of the undoubted successes of the past season in New York was the C. Haddon Chambers' comedy "Passers-By" which Charles Frohman produced at the Criterion Theatre early in September and which delighted metropolitan theatregoers for full four months. This season Mr. Frohman is presenting this play with Charles Cherry as the star and it is also among the big successes of the present theatrical year. "Passers-By" unquestionably owes a great deal of its popularity to its saneness and to its humanity. The comedy is sane in that it is almost a page "torn out of life itself" in the opinion of those who have sat in criticism and at the same time it is human. It is stated that there is more real humanity in the four acts of "Passers-By" than in any play the stage has seen in years; its people are real men and women and the types which the author of "The Tyranny of Tears" and "Captain Swift" has introduced have been limned with the greatest skill. Before "Passers-By" was produced in New York, it was the big success of its year in London. If Peter Waverton's valet had not been interested in the passers-by on the street below, Peter Waverton would most probably have not worked out his life's story in the manner he did. In the role of Peter Waverton, Mr. Cherry is said to be very happily cast and to have a part which fits him in every particular. Mr. Frohman presents Charles Cherry in "Passers-By" at the Hollis Street Theatre for a limited engagement which will open on Monday evening. The regular matinees on Wednesday and on Saturday will be given an additional matinee on Thanksgiving Day.

B. F. KEITH'S.

Without question the most notable novelty ever brought to this country by Mr. B. F. Keith for his vaudeville circuit will be seen at B. F. Keith's Theatre in Boston this week, in "Don," the marvelous talking dog from Germany. Unlike the other so-called "talking" animals previously seen upon the stage, "Don" actually speaks words like a human being. He is without a doubt the canine phenomenon of the twentieth century. "Don" is a German hunting dog, the property of one of the game keepers in the Imperial Forests at Berlin. He is about eight years old and rather corpulent for his age. Before coming to this country he was the talk of all Germany and Russia, where he broke box office records in every music hall where he appeared. Another big feature of the week will be the Great Fillis Family, Europe's most finished trope of equestrians, who appear in a startling novelty introducing several beautiful blooded horses. Sherman, Van and Hyman are a trio of young men who introduce what they call "Fifteen minutes of musical foolishness," and another big feature will be McIntyre and Groves, in their ludicrous sidewalk chat, "On Father's Train." Emerson and Baldwin are a pair of expert ball and club jugglers, and many other brilliant features, yet to be announced will complete a great bill.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

The success of "Madame X" at the Castle Square during the past week has been unprecedented, and in response to the great demand for seats Mr. Craig has decided to continue that play through another and a second week, beginning on Monday. Mary Young will continue to give her remarkable impersonation of the title character, and in every way the play has one of the most effective casts ever seen in it in this city.

VIOLET CLUB ENTERTAINERS

Home of Miss Taylor Scene of Their Festivities

The Violet Club entertained 35 guests at the home of Miss Jennie Taylor, Washington street, Thursday evening. During the evening there were games, dancing and refreshments. The committee was President, Miss Catherine Yule, Vice President, Miss Jennie Taylor, Miss Sadie Wilson, Miss Sadie Mellen and Miss Mary McGregor.

VICTORIAN CLUB SESSION.

The regular meeting of the Victorian Club of Boston, was held at the Hotel Westminster, Thursday evening. A reception from 6.30 to 7 o'clock was followed by the dinner. James McDonald, consulting naval architect gave an address on "The Safety of Life at Sea."

After Mr. McDonald's paper, brief comments were made by the following gentlemen, well known to Quincy. C. Skentlebury Maine, Supt. for the New England Coal Co., Stewart Murphy, Lloyd Surveyor, E. C. Bennett, Naval architect at the local shipyard and George Simpson, Naval architect of New York, who is superintending the building of the S. S. Frieda, recently launched at the local shipyard.

LADIES AID SOCIAL.

A social by the Ladies Aid Society of the Swedish Lutheran church was held at the pastors home, 50 Revere road, Thursday evening. Rev. Leander Hokenson was of great assistance in the sale of aritcles left over from their recent fair. The committee was Mrs. Andrew Anderson Mrs. Gustan Nelson, Mrs. Leander Hokenson.

PROGRESSIVE CAUCUS

"We believe that the retention and selection of all city employers should be based upon their abilty, integrity and fidelity to the interests of the City of Quincy; and not because of, nor as a reward for political work nor political connection; nor because of their race or religious belief.

"Realizing the discontent which is rife in Quincy because of its high tax rate and the certainty of a still higher tax rate next year because of its enormous debt as a result of the handling of the city business by previous administrations and for which a new adminstration cannot be held responsible; we pledge our candidates to rigid economy in every municipal department; to the gradual reduction of the permanent debt; to the equitable assessment and the prompt collection of all taxes, in accordance with the law and without fear or favor both in assessment and collection; to the insistence that every city employe shall do his or her full duty; that no unnecessary nor incapable employe shall be retained for any reason; to the strict and impartial enforcement of every law and ordinance especially those relating to the sale and transportation of intoxicating liquor; to honestly and well built, well kept and well lighted streets, adequate educational facilities, an efficient and active police and fire department, scientific sanitary and medical regulations co-operation looking toward the locating in our city of new advantageous industries and to any and every measure which will benefit all our people, as far as is commensurate with the gradual reduction of our city debt and tax rate.

"We realize that if there is any corrupt element or organization in our city it will be arrayed against our candidates and our party and we therefore invite all good citizens of this city to join us in our non-partison effort to make Quincy a City of Progress."

The platform was adopted without discussion.

COUNCILMEN AT LARGE.

The committee on Councilmen at Large was then called upon for its report. Before they had an opportunity to report however John Evans arose and declared that he wanted it understood that any man nominated will accept, and if not to let us know, "We want no withdrawal."

William E. Hingston for the committee then reported the following list of names:

Joseph L. Whiton
Horace W. Richmond.
Charles M. Bryant.
John H. Johnson.
Charles L. Griswold.

To this list Thomas J. Lamb of West Quincy added the name of Benjamin F. Earle.

The question of a candidate for Mayor then came up and a suggestion that the caucus endorse Mayor Stone raised a cry of protest and his administration was attacked

This brought John. H. Johnson to his feet who warmly defended the administration of Mayor Stone. The Progressives were the dominant party. A copy of the platform had been submitted to Mayor Stone, and he read his reply which stated that he was in full sympathy with it and if elected he would give his best efforts to carry it out. Continuing Mr. Johnson stated that Mayor Stone was on the level and all he asked was justice.

John Evans asked if Mayor Stone had enrolled in the Progressive party and Mr. Johnson replied that he did not know, but he did not think he had. The Progressive party stood for something bigger than municipal politics. If we want to endorse a man who has been assailed why should we not do so? He believed in a square deal. It was time to set the public welfare in the first place. Do we believe that to the victor belongs the spoils? The City Council should be composed of Progressives. There has not been a thing proved against Mayor Stone as to his honesty or integrity. If we do not endorse him we say he is dishonest.

John Evans placed the name of John L. Miller in nomination for the same office, both of which motions were seconded.

Eugene H. Sprague of Wollaston arose and walking to the front of the Chairman's desk said that he desired to place a man in nomination. Before doing so however he also criticised the administration of Mayor Stone. He had not a word against the honesty or integrity of Mayor Stone but he put this question, "if you had a milk farm that produced 100 quarts of milk a day and seven-eigths of it was wasted and no attempt made to stop it would you keep the man who was in charge?" The debt this year has been increased more than any other year. We want to get our moneys worth. We want a man who knows. The man I would nominate is Eugene F. DeNormandie.

You will never regret it if he is nominated. He is a man who has done large things and has made a study of city affairs.

The name of Mr. DeNormandie was seconded by Alfred R. Richards.

William E. Hingston the well known handwriting expert, arose from his seat and in his well known mild voice, which was quite a contrast from the loud tone used by Mr. Sprague said he desired to place the name of Eugene R. Stone in nomination.

EUGENE H. SPRAGUE.
Who nominated Mr. DeNormandie

CHARLES M. BRYANT.
Councilman at Large

JOHN D. MACKAY.
Endorsed for School Committee.

Chairman Whiton said that he wanted to be fair to all parties, but under the vote passed earlier in the evening the motion was out of order.

Mr. Sprague moved that the vote passed earlier in the evening that none but enrolled progressives be endorsed be reconsidered.

The motion was put and declared carried. The vote was doubted however but on a rising vote of 30 yes and 25 not the motion was carried in favor of reconsideration.

Mr. Johnson moved that any one nominated should agree to abide by the decision of this caucus. Chairman Whiton however said that no man could be bound by such a vote.

Mr. Johnson then arose and withdrew his name as a candidate for Mayor. He had no desire to be Mayor. He had rather be square than be Mayor. It was not a square deal that was being given Mayor Stone.

Someone in the rear of the hall raised his voice in protest that Mayor Stone was not enrolled as a progressive.

This brought Mr. Johnson to his feet again with a motion that the sense of this meeting be that "Mayor Stone has been absolutely and unqualifiedly honest."

Chairman Whiton ruled the motion out of order as the question before the meeting was the nomination of a candidate for Mayor.

At this point Mr. Hingston again presented the name of Mayor Stone for consideration.

Someone raised the point of order that Mayor Stone's name could not be placed in nomination as he was not enrolled.

The Chairman however ruled against the point of order.

William E. Hingston, John Connor and Tupper Miller were then appointed a committee to receive and count votes.

It was then voted that the Australian ballot be used and that a majority vote rule.

While the vote was being counted it was voted to proceed to the nomination of Councilmen at Large.

Chairman Whiton then resigned the chair for a minute and addressed the meeting. He said that there had been a lot of unjust criticism about the different Mayors but the real cause was the people and not the Mayors. It was not any one administration and the criticism of this year's administration was unjust. It was not all meant for this administration by the men who had only been in the city a short time and soon were out of the city again.

JOHN EVANS.
Miller Supporter.

While he had been in the council he had seen public hearings on street orders where the residents on those street were unanimous for their acceptance or repair.

The Executives haves aid it is the people's wish that these things should be done. An order for $50,000 will run through the council slick but the council will stay in session until 1 o'clock in the morning debating a junk license. He had always been opposed to voting money for street repair which was a current expense. You can not blame the Mayor when the people demand these things. As soon as we get a City Council that will live up to the Charter the quicker you will get a just tax rate.

John Evans replied that the Mayor and City Council had been extravagant by raising salaries.

THE FIRST BALLOT.

At this point the vote for Mayor was announced as follows:

Whole number of votes 74.
Necessary for choice 38.
John H. Johnson had 1
Eugene R. Stone had 21
E. F. DeNormandie had 25
John L. Miller had 27

There was no choice.

John Evans moved to make the vote unanimous which raised a laugh.

A motion that the three names be written on slips and pased out by the tellers was voted down.

It was then voted that blank slips be passed by the tellers and the names be written on.

While the second ballot was being taken Chairman Whiton went down

NELSON READY FOR OWNERS

Big Molasses Tank Steamer to Be Turned Over Saturday

The Nelson, the new tank steamer which was built at the Fore River yards for the Cuba company of New York and Havana will probably be ready for delivery on Saturday. It is also rumored in New York commercial circles that another steamer along the same lines will be built in Quincy.

The owners carry on a distilling business and molasses will be her principal cargo. On the builders trial trip, with H. S. Rubens, president of the company as a guest, she made 12 knots an hour for four hours with no load. It is estimated that she will make 10 knots with a full cargo.

The Nelson is 386 feet long, 52 feet beam and has a draft of 23 feet, triple expansion, with engines which develop a maximum of 2200 horsepower. A complete wireless system is included in her equipment. She was launched, Monday, August 12.

The Nelson will ply between Havana, New York and Boston and will carry about 1,300,000 gallons of molasses.

WAR STORIES.

Stories of the Civil War narrated by Gen. Edward Anderson will compose the program of a "Children's Hour" at the Old South Meeting house, Boston at 10.30 Saturday morning. There will be music by the Lowell School Orchestra, led by W. Lester Bates.

CANDIDATES TO SPEAK.

The regular meeting of the Wollaston Park Improvement Association will be held in the hall of the Wollaston Yacht club, Tuesday evening. Quincy's mayoralty candidates have been invited to be present and speak. It is expected this feature will attract an extra large attendance.

SAMOSET GAINING.

The Samoset club of Wollaston held its regular business meeting at the club rooms, Thursday evening with president Nichols presiding. Several new members were admitted and various improvements to the quarters were discussed, followed by a social hour.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

"Its Rapid Advance Here"—Subject of Lecture

BY SUPT. BARBOUR

In spite of the inclement weather, more than 150 people attended the meeting of the parents and teachers at the Willard School, Thursday evening. The lower corridor was transformed into an assembly hall, the stage being tastily decorated with evergreens.

Superintendent Barbour gave a clear, concise and practical talk on "The Child and His Job." He prefaced his remarks by citing the work accomplished at the Willard School in the pre-vocational classes. The work in printing, painting and carpentry, he believes, may give the child a hint of his taste for future work, enabling him to choose a trade or occupation for which he has a liking, and in which he may become efficient. He said that the part-time school, started this fall, and co-operating with the Boston Gear Works and the Fore River Company, had met with ready response, showing the need for such an institution. In fact the steps taken by Quincy in industrial lines had aroused much attention and curiosity, not only in Massachusetts, but throughout the United States. At the present time lantern slides are being made of the pupils at work to be used in educational lectures, all over the country for the purpose of giving an idea of rapid growth of industrial educational.

Taking up the topic of the evening, Mr. Barbour said that what the child's job is going to be is a difficult thing to find out. It needs the intelligent and sympathetic co-operaion of parent, child and teacher. The advantages and disadvantages of the various vocations should be pointed out, and then the child should determine for himself what job he will choose. A boy, while in school, is laying up capital, brain power and the ability to use his hands, which increase in worth every day he is in school. He is also accumulating manhood.

One occupation, he said, is as honorable as another. Honor does not come from outward show. Honor comes from within. Honor comes from efficiency, from doing work well. The man who digs in the ditch is just as honorable as the governor of the state, if he does his work honestly and well. A man who can use his hands has an available asset. A man with a trade, if thrown on his own resources in a strange place, stands a better chance than a business or a professional man, because he can do the things that the world wants done.

In searching for a job, the speaker said that the child requires the help of the school and the home to enable him to steer clear of the "blind alleys," those jobs in which there is no advancement, which require no skill; consequently, lead no where. In order to help the child to find the right job, an employment agency at the High School that the pupils of the school may be guided into suitable and profitable occupations. The purpose of the school is to teach, to serve and to be a friend to the boys and girls.

At the conclusion of the Superintendent's address, refreshments were served, after which those present went to the third floor to inspect the work done by the pre-vocational classes.

BRIEFS

Mrs. Benjamin A. Willmott, of Goffe street, is in Andover passing the week with friends.

The society connected with the United Presbyterian church, will give a turkey supper in the vestry, the 20th of November, from six to eight. A social time will be enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green, of Roxbury, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fahey this week, at their home on Washington street. Mr. Green occupies a prominent position with the New England Telephone Co.

Mrs. Alfred C. Bean, of Upland road, entertained the visiting ten of Unity circle, King's Daughters at her residence Wednesday night. In spite of the rain a good number was present and Mrs. Bean proved herself a very charming hostess.

The public at large is much pleased that the fire the first of the week did not put Alpha hall out of commission as hardly a night passes that this convenient and attractive hall is not in use for entertainments or dancing parties. The bookings by the management are to be carried out as usual, a dance being scheduled for tonight.

Express Clerk Arrested After Reporting Robbery of $25,000

Lake Charles, La., Nov. 15.—The Wells-Fargo Express company's office here was robbed of a package of currency that is said to have contained $25,000. J. E. Chavis, night express clerk, who reported the robbery, has been arrested.

According to Chevis' statement, he left the office in the Southern Pacific depot to meet the eastbound midnight train. He locked the safe and the front office door. When he returned ten minutes later, he said, he discovered that a door on the west side of the building, against which a number of express packages had been piled, was ajar. He found the safe still locked, but a package of money which he had placed there was missing.

NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

Strike at Hood Rubber Plant May Extend to Other Factories

Boston, Nov. 15.—The leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World may declare a general strike in all the rubber factories of Greater Boston within a few days if the officials of the Hood Rubber company at Watertown show discrimination in the reinstatement of employes at their plant.

No settlement is in view and yesterday was featured by further rioting at the Watertown factory, one young woman being arrested for throwing a stone. The situation became so alarming that the Watertown police force, comprising about a dozen men, were compelled to call upon aid from Cambridge and Newton.

M'CLUNG GIVES UP TREASURER'S JOB

Old Rumors Likely to Be Revived In Washington

Washington, Nov. 15.—Lee McClung, treasurer of the United States since 1909, has placed his resignation in the hands of President Taft. It is understood here that Carmi A. Thompson of Ohio, secretary to the president, will be apointed treasurer in McClung's place and that Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, will return to his old desk as secretary to the president.

McClung has assigned no specific reason for resigning. Coming as it does, the resignation inevitably will revive the rumors concerning the relations of McClung and his immediate superior, which were given such wide circulation in the letters to Secretary MacVeagh and to President Taft by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrew, in which Andrew tendered his own resignation last July. In those letters Andrew cited McClung by name as one of several treasury officials who had found difficulty in transacting business with the secretary.

VOTE IS HELD UP

Ballots In California Said to Have Been Tampered With

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—Alleging that ballots cast in several precincts of Los Angeles city and county had been tampered with, and that return sheets had been abstracted, Mary Foy, a Democratic presidential elector, obtained from the district court of appeals a writ of mandamus to compel the county board of supervisors to give "a fair and honest count of the ballots cast in the election of Nov. 5."

The writ was made returnable next Monday and will delay until after that date the announcement of the result of the presidential vote canvass by the board of supervisors.

LONGWORTH DEFEATED

Roosevelt's Son-In-Law Is Beaten In Ohio by Ninety-Seven Votes

Cincinnati, Nov. 15.—The official count of Hamilton county has just been made public by the board of elections.

It shows that Congressman Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Theodore Roosevelt, was defeated for congress in the First Ohio district by Stanley Bowdle, Democrat, by ninety-seven votes.

Auto Truck Kills Boy

Newton, Mass., Nov. 15.—Ernest Fremault, 8 years old, was run over and killed on Dalby street, a short distance from his home, by an automobile truck upon which he was stealing a ride. The operator of the truck was held blameless by the police.

Auto Bandits Get $4000

Merit, Tex., Nov. 15.—Three bandits stole $4000 from the First National bank of Merit, then escaped in an automobile. They got into the bank's vaults by use of nitro-glycerin.

Morocco Treaty Signed

Madrid, Nov. 15.—The Franco-Spanish treaty relating to Morocco was signed here by the Spanish minister of foreign affairs and the French ambassador to Spain.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE THANKSGIVING BIRD.

GOOD turkeys have plump breasts, white flesh and black legs. Hen turkeys are generally the best. A young gobbler has small spurs.

Fifteen minutes to the pound is the time allowed for roasting a young turkey. An older turkey takes more time. It should be roasted slowly and basted often.

After the turkey is trussed its skin should be wet, and it should be well dredged with flour and sprinkled with salt and pepper.

Two Savory Roasts.

Turkey With Chestnut Dressing.—Take an eight pound turkey, bake two and one-half hours. After the turkey has been washed and singed prepare the dressing as follows: Remove the shell from a pint of chestnuts. Cook in slightly salted water until tender. Then drain, skin and chop. Add to the nuts a half loaf of stale bread put through the food chopper, one-quarter of a pound of butter, salt and pepper to taste and one egg. Mix all together, adding a little warm water if it seems too dry. Garnish with link sausage fried a light brown. For the gravy—as usual, just before dishing up add one pint of oysters. Simmer until the edges curl.

Turkey a la Creole. — The creoles have a unique method of roasting their fowl. They cover it with a thick paste of flour and water, and about twenty minutes before serving they remove the crust and cover the fowl with slices of bacon. The fowl is deliciously juicy.

A Foreign Process.

Turkey German Style.—Singe and draw the turkey. Wash it in cold water and wipe with a clean towel. Season inside with half a teaspoonful of salt. Make the dressing and fill the crop and inside of the body with it.

Sew the turkey up, twist the wings over its back and run a skewer through the thighs into the body. Pass a string across the back of the bird, crossing it below the breast; then catch it over the point of the skewer, cross the string again and tie it on the back.

Rub one tablespoonful salt all over the turkey and lay in a roasting pan. Spread two ounces butter over the breast, then place the pan in a medium hot oven to roast. Turn often and baste freely with its own gravy till the bird is light brown on all sides. Add one cupful boiling water; continue to roast, basting frequently till done, which will take about two and a half hours, or you may allow fifteen minutes to a pound.

Serve with giblet sauce.

SOME THANKSGIVING SALADS.

GRAPES, oranges, apples, grapefruit and winter pears may all be used as the basis for the Thanksgiving salads. Nuts may be combined with these.

At this time a fruit salad is, of course, the most appropriate one, and several excellent salads of this kind are mentioned here.

Several fruits may be combined in making up a salad. Apples combine with almost any fruits, and English walnut meats make a nice decoration as well as give an agreeable flavor to an otherwise flat and insipid dish.

Fruit Combinations.

Green Grape Salad.—Take one pound of green grapes and remove the skins and seeds. Mix with thin slices of apple. Put in a cold place till time to serve. Serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing made by combining two tablespoonfuls of olive oil with one of lemon juice.

Orange and Grape Salad.—Take a half pound of green grapes, two large, ripe oranges and two bananas. Pare the oranges and remove the pulp without any skin. Wash the grapes, cut in half and remove the seeds. Skin, scrape and slice the bananas. Mix all together and serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing or mayonnaise. This must be served ice cold.

Nice to See and Eat.

Grape and Walnut Salad.—Take two oranges, remove the skin and divide into sections. Peel three bananas and cut in one-fourth inch slices. Remove the seeds and skins from one-half a pound of malaga grapes. Break into pieces the meats of a dozen English walnuts. Mix all together and serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

Mixed Fruit Salad.—Take half a box of gelatin, soak it in a pint of water, add the juice of two lemons and two cupfuls of sugar. Bring to a boil and strain. When cool pour over two sliced oranges, two bananas, half a cupful of English walnut meats as nearly whole as possible. Stand on the ice till it sets. Serve with whipped cream.

Are You Bilious?

Biliousness is ever ready to take from any woman her cheerfulness, her chances of success, her happiness, her good looks.

The headaches, the backaches, the lassitude, the extreme nervousness and sense of misery women suffer from at times show that their systems need just the help to be found in the reliable effective vegetable remedy—approved by countless women the world over—

Beecham's Pills

Every woman ought to know that the organs in the human body depend upon one another; if one is wrong others fail to work naturally and properly. Let Beecham's Pills tone the stomach, help the liver and kidneys, regulate the bowels—then there won't be much wrong anywhere. All bodily functions will be performed in the way Nature intended—without undue suffering.

Soothed nerves, better digestion, freedom from pain, brighter eyes and a clearer complexion follow an early trial of this matchless remedy. Beecham's Pills prevent suffering because they

IMPLICATES RYAN

Dynamiter Declares Head of Union Knew About "Blow-Ups"

Indianapolis, Nov. 15.—Direct charges that Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, had full knowledge of explosions and that he even advised the dynamiters to disguise themselves, were made by Ortie E. McManigal in his confession at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

"I had blown up the Kansas City job," he testified, "and when I returned to the Iron Workers' headquarters in Indianapolis I saw President Ryan. I told Ryan about the Kansas City explosion and showed him a newspaper account of it.

"Ryan said: 'I want you fellows to stop coming around this office so openly, and you don't change you appearance enough. When anyone gets a good look at you they will be sure to know you next time.'"

Olaf A. Tveitmoe and Eugene L. Clancy, San Francisco labor leaders, McManigal testified, were named by McNamara as having made arrangements for the Los Angeles explosion. Tveitmoe and Clancy are among the forty-five defendants now on trial.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL BATHTUB

Police Investigating Tragic Fate of a Boston Girl

POLICE HOLD HER EMPLOYER

Had Registered as Man and Wife on Afternoon Previous to His Stenographer's Death, Which Police Think May Have Been Due to Heart Trouble or Accidental Drowning

Boston, Nov. 15.—Miss Marjorie G. Powers, 26, a stenographer, living with her parents at 63 West Canton street, South End, was found dead in a bath attached to a suite on the second floor of the Revere House, Bowdoin square.

The police arrested, shortly after, Arthur T. Cumings, president of the A. T. Cumings company, incorporated, produce merchants, and locked him up, pending the investigation of the young woman's death.

Miss Powers had been employed by Cumings for six years as a stenographer.

After several hours' investigation the police decided to hold Cumings without bail until Medical Examiner Magrath had performed an autopsy on the body of the girl and make a report of his findings as to the cause of death.

The investigation conducted by the police showed that Cumings admitted he had been taking the young woman out to dinner frequently during the last three years that she had worked for him. He is also said to have admitted that he went to the hotel Tuesday at 2 o'clock and registered as B. F. Davis and wife of Lynn, and that he remained in the company of Miss Powers until 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Nothing more was heard or seen of the young woman until yesterday morning, when the hotel employes became aroused at the repeated telephone calls for Mrs. Davis. They went each time to the room on the second floor, but repeated pounding on the door brought no response.

Finally Captain Harrison, proprietor of the hotel, was called and was told by the man on the other end that he was Cumings and that he had registered as Davis with a young woman at the hotel Tuesday afternoon and that he was greatly worried because she had not answered his calls.

Cumings then went to the hotel, according to his statement to the police, and went out on the roof of an adjoining wing of the hotel and peered through a window and saw, with others, the body of his stenographer in the bathtub.

He broke down and told Harrison that he was going to his home at Winthrop, and that if the police wanted him they would find him there.

Harrison then called Patrolman Hurley, who had the door forced and found Miss Powers lying on her right side in eleven inches of water in the bathtub. He notified Captain Peabody of the Joy street station, and Sergeant Mulligan was sent to the hotel. Upon learning of the identity of Cumings, he went to the Faneuil hall store and placed him under arrest.

Medical Examiner Magrath was notified. He made a thorough investigation of the room and found there had been mustard placed in the water for a hot bath and that a glass half full of gin was on the table near the bathtub. Hot water bottles and the clothing of the girl were found in the room.

Dr. Magrath stated that he had heard evidence that Miss Powers had been a sufferer from fainting spells and that she might have had one while taking the hot bath and, being overcome, slid down into the water, being suffocated.

He said the investigation showed that the young woman's head was submerged about six inches.

The prevailing belief among many of the police officials connected with the case is that the medical examiner's report will show death was due to heart trouble or accidental drowning.

GLARE OF HEADLIGHT

Greets Passengers When Engine Plunges Into Sleeping Car

New Orleans, Nov. 15.—Passengers in the rear of a Texas and Pacific passenger train were awakened by a terrific crash near Rosedale, and when they peered from their berths they were startled by the headlight of an intruding locomotive that glared down the car's aisle.

The engine had catapulted through the Pullman's smoking compartment, losing its force only a few feet from the first berth. None of the passengers was hurt, but the engine's fireman was killed.

Through the Japanese embassy it was learned that Anderson would be satisfactory to the Japanese government.

STRANGER FIGURES IN MURDER PLOT

Helped Webber and Vallon Kill Rosenthal, Say Gunmen

New York, Nov. 15.—In the picturesque language of the Bowery, three of the gunmen on trial as the actual murderers of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, gave on the witness stand their version of the slaying which they hope will win them acquittal.

The three were "Gyp the Blood," "Whitey" Lewis and "Lefty Louie." All were nattily dressed.

In stories which fitted together perfectly and in some parts proved almost literal translation, the three gunmen accused Bridgie Webber, Harry Vallon and a mysterious "strange man" of firing the shots that killed the gambler; themselves they pictured as innocent by-standers, lured by "Bald" Jack Rose.

"Dago Frank," the fourth gunman, they all testified, was not on the scene at all.

Who the mysterious stranger was they did not know. They all agreed that he was about five feet nine inches in height, weighed 160 or 170 pounds, had a black mustache and wore a slouch hat.

TO SUCCEED CANALEJAS

Alfonso Names Romanones, a Liberal, as Premier of Spain

Madrid, Nov. 15.—Count Romanones was appointed premier of Spain, succeeding the late Jose Canalejas, assassinated Tuesday. The count is a Liberal who has never been very prominent in political life.

The Spanish monarchy's difficulty for a long time, it is said, has been to provide an administration which was not so reactionary as to precipitate a revolution, without turning directly to the revolutionists. In this Canalejas succeeded.

QUARREL OVER POOL

Unknown Italian Shootss and Kills a Man After Beating Him

Westfield, Mass., Nov. 15.—After beating Stephen Richards over the head with a pool cue, following an argument, an unknown Italian fired at him twice from a revolver at a local hotel, and Richards died soon after.

The police are looking for the man, whose identity they are not certain of. Richards was 28 years old and a wood worker. The quarrel which led to his death developed during a game of pool.

GOES DIRECTLY TO BULGARIA

Turkey Asks For Treaty Terms For Mediation of Powers

ALSO REQUESTS AN ARMISTICE

Wants Fighting to Cease at Tchatalja, the Last Defense of Ottoman Capital—What Has Proved Terribly Inglorious War For Moslems May Soon Be Brought to an End

Sofia, Nov. 15.—The Turkish request for mediation was presented to the Bulgarian premier yesterday afternoon by the ministers of the great powers.

Premier Guetchoff promised to submit it at headquarters immediately and also to confer on the matter with the cabinets of the allied Balkan nations. The text of the note follows:

"The Ottoman government having approached the great powers of Europe to ask their mediation, we are charged to inquire of your excellency if Bulgaria is disposed to accept this mediation, and, if so, to what conditions her acceptance will be subject."

Armistice Asked For

London, Nov. 15.—With the Turkish armies beaten in every battle during the month's war, and now behind the fortifications at Tchatalja, defending the capital of the empire, the Ottoman government has appealed to Bulgaria for an armistice pending the opening of negotiations for peace, according to an official dispatch received from Constantinople.

What terms, if any, Turkey has proposed have not been disclosed. They must, however, in the opinion of diplomats, be unlimited if they are to prove acceptable to Bulgaria. With the last defense of Constantinople almost in her hands, she is unlikely to consent to any armistice except on conditions giving her full military advantage.

Turkey will have the support of the European powers in her request for a cessation of hostilities. The representatives of the various nations at Sofia have now received full instructions regarding the proposal of mediation.

The armistice asked for by Turkey will only affect the fighting at the Tchatalja fortifications, while the step of the European powers have taken has the object of putting an end to the war in all parts of the Balkan peninsula.

Until the powers succeed in influencing the allies in the direction of peace the fighting at Adrianople, Monastir, Scutari and in other portions of Turkey's once vast European dominion will continue, no matter how Bulgaria regards the appeal made by Kiamil Pasha.

While, therefore, Turkey's recognition of the realities has smoothed the path of diplomacy, as it will result if Bulgaria holds her hand, and will result in Constantinople, the Dardanelles and perhaps some other parts of her European possessions being left to her and preventing a scramble for them by the powers, there are some serious questions still to be dealt with, notably the position of Albania and of the Servian ambition to have a port on the Adriatic sea.

The Albanians are taking steps to make their country independent, and besides publishing a proclamation of autonomy, the Albanian Nationalist organization has issued a protest against any attempt to interfere with the freedom and integrity of the country. The organization also charges that the Servians have secretly murdered all the Albanian prisoners of war.

As to the Adriatic sea, which, according to a report from Alessio, the Servians have not yet reached, there is no official change either in the Austro-Italian or the Servian attitude.

The tendencies of the powers to realize each other's interests make the outlook even more hopeful, however, especially in view of Russia's determination not to go to war about the matter. It is thought that a European conference will find a way out of the difficulties.

A dispatch from Alessio confirms the previous reports that the Montenegrin army was unable to take the town owing to the Mirdite tribesmen joining forces with the Turks. The Montenegrins were driven back as far as the Boyana river.

Four Years For Absconder

Winnipeg, Nov. 15.—Robert G. Larimer, society man, president of the Larimer Automobile company and manager of the Detroit Electric company in Winnipeg, who absconded with $50,000 five weeks ago, and who was arrested in Boston, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

Killed by His Own Gun

CHRIST AND LINCOLN ARE ETTOR'S GUIDE

He Went to Lawrence With One Definite Purpose

Salem, Mass., Nov. 15.—Joseph J. Ettor, on trial here with Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso for are Anna Lopizzo murder during the Lawrence textile strike, declared on the witness stand that Jesus Christ and Abraham Lincoln were sources of inspiration to him as a labor leader.

Attorney Moore read to the jury the call for the first convention of the Industrial Workers of the World, and asked Ettor his purpose when he went to Lawrence.

"I went there with one definite purpose," said Ettor, "to see that the textile workers got better conditions. To get them, I realized that they must completely tie up the mills, keep them tied up, and be able to keep the strikers out of the mills long enough to show the employers that they could not make cloth without them."

COMMONERS COOL OFF

Warring Factions Agree to Adjourn Sittings Until Monday

London, Nov. 15.—The house of commons yesterday afternoon adjourned till Monday, acting on a suggestion which is believed to have emanated from King George himself.

The proposal was made by the speaker, who intimated that it would be advisable "for the house to take a further time to consider the points at issue" between the two factions in regard to the home rule measure.

A graceful apology from Donald McNeill, the Unionist member who hurled a book at Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, during the disturbance, helped to cool the atmosphere.

A BOY'S CONFESSION

Admits Killing Aged Hermit Who Had Attacked His Father

Lawrenceburg, Ky., Nov. 15.—Earl Murrell, 10 years of age, confessed that he shot and killed Daniel Miller, an 80-year-old hermit, in Anderson county.

William Murrell, the boy's father, and two of his brothers were arrested, charged with the crime, when the boy admitted to Sheriff Johnson that Miller attacked his father and that then he had shot him.

PLENTY OF HELP FOR MR. WHITE

Could Exercise His Judgment as to Number of Aids

Editor Daily Ledger:

I desire to rectify the report which has been published in the last two issues of your paper in reference to the late respected janitor of Alpha Hall having no assistant.

During the months of June, July, August and September he had no assistant, the hall being used on an average of twice a week only, and for a few hours at each time. Beginning the middle of September this year his assistant Mrs. Lane commenced her customary work helping, and was at his disposal for any and all assistance required. In addition to Mrs. Lane, the late janitor had when required each week the further assistance of Mrs. Tingley and Mr. Galligan. The matter of his assistants was entirely in his hands and he sent for them whenever he desired them. He also had the services for the asking of the movers from our furniture store to assist at any time in removing the seats and doing such work as taking up the hall floor canvas, etc. His principal duty was care taker of the building and in his work I desire to pay special tribute to his sterling character, his faithfulness and honesty, and while in health, the care of the hall seemed to be a part of his life. He undoubtedly realized his inability to continue in the work on account of his failing condition.

INQUEST ON CHILDS' DEATH.

An inquest was held before Judge Avery this morning on the death of the infant child of Mary McCall which it is alleged was strangled to death at Quincy, Oct. 28. The young woman is under treatment at the City hospital.

RUSH FOR PAPERS.

The City Clerks office was beseiged this morning by parties seeking nomination papers. In addition to several taken out by the Progressives there were some others. These included Albert N. Murray for Councilman at Large, Robert B. Craig and Walter F. Ferguson as Councilmen from Ward Three.

INSURANCE FOR OLD AGE

Urged by Col. Kincaide at the Progressives' Celebration

The Progressives turned out in large numbers at Brockton. Wednesday night to celebrate the birth of the new party. Colonel Henry L. Kincaide of Quincy, one of the speakers likened the progressive party to a ship with the keel being laid in Chicago, building up and being launched, with "Progress" and "Progressive" on the bow and "Equal Rights For All Men" on the sails. He said the ship had been given its trial trip and had come up to the specifications called for in the contract.

Col. Kincaide also made an earnest plea for old-age insurance, citing a case that had come right home to him Monday, when an aged employee of his, feeling that there was nothing in the future for him, set fire to a building of which he was janitor and commited suicide.

"Ever since that incident," added the colonel, "I have been talking old-age insurance and I am going to continue to talk it, so that old men will have something to look forward to in the future, when they have worked themselves beyond the age of real usefulness."

CARD OF THANKS.

Editor Daily Ledger:

During the sad days which have passed since the terrible accident of last Sunday evening, I have been the recipient of so much heart-felt sympathy and practical aid, that I feel I should be selfish to wait for strength to express personally, the deep gratitude which I feel toward those who have helped me.

First, I wish that every one of my friends should know of the great kindness shown me during my stay at the Quincy City Hospital. I cannot say too much in acknowledgment of the courtesy and prompt aid rendered by the members of the staff and the consulting surgeons summoned, or of the later services rendered by Dr. Hunting. The sympathetic reception by the matron, and the gentle and efficient ministrations of the nurses, can never be forgotten.

Fearing that the card of some donor might have been overlooked or lost, owing to the weath of beautiful flowers sent to the church on Wednesday, I take this opportunity of thanking one and all for their tributes of love.

Herbert N. Davis and Mrs. Jessie Chessman Married in Holbrook

Thursday afternoon Herbert Nelson Davis, son of Mr. Charles F. Davis of North Middleboro and Mrs. Jennie Goodwin Chessman were united in matrimony at the home of Rev. E. E. Evans, pastor of the Holbrook Congregational church. The couple were attended by the bride's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Benham of 10 May avenue, Braintree. The bride was attractively gowned in a travelling dress of brown diaganal serge and wore a becoming picture hat. Mrs. Benham wore a gown of green voile. After the ceremony the party came by automobile to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Benham on May avenue where a number of friends and relatives had gathered to surprise the newly wedded couple.

Refreshmments of ice cream, cake and fancy crackers were served and the hours passed quickly until train time when Mr. and Mrs. Davis boarded the 5.02 train from Braintree for Boston, covered with quantities of confetti. They took the boat train for New York, where they intend to spend their honey-moon. They will be at home after December first at the Glenwood, 71 Newbury street, Brockton. Mr. Davis is a member of the firm and general manager of the Tremaine Electric company of Brockton. He is also a member of the Brockton Commercial club and of the Brockton chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Davis will be remembered by many of her schoolmate friends who knew her better perhaps as Jessie Benham, and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. Benham.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis received many beautiful presents, among which were noticed a check of generous dimensions from a fellow member of the firm of the Tremaine Electric company a leather covered Morris chair and smoking set from clerks in the office of the same company, a cut glass pitcher, one dozen glasses and mirror from clerks in the Frazer Dry Goods company and many other beautiful gifts. Mrs. Davis has been associated with the above mentioned firm for the past five years but resigned her position last Saturday. Their many friends in Braintree wish the couple many years of happiness and prosperity.

WASHINGTON IS TAKING NOTICE

Much Interested In Railroad Turmoil In New England

INVESTIGATION UNDER WAY

Congressional Investigation Will Be Asked If Satisfactory Explanation Is Not Forthcoming—New Haven and Grand Trunk Heads Hit Hard by Providence Newspaper

Washington, Nov. 15.—The interstate commerce commission feels that so far as it is concerned it is a question of "hands off" in the present Grand Trunk-New Haven turmoil.

The commission is following unofficially the statements of President Mellen and others relative to the sensational abandonment of the construction on the Vermont Central extension, but the organic act under which the commission operates gives it no powers other than those which it is accustomed to exercise in the matter of rates and transportation practices of completed railroads.

There is much interest in Washington over the troubles which New England is now undergoing. What action, if any, the federal government will take will be by the department of justice.

Federal Inquiry Under Way

Providence, Nov. 15.—Attorney General Wickersham has started an investigation at Washington of the suspension of construction work on the Southern New England railroad. Congressman O'Shaunessy received a letter from the attorney general notifying him that the department had taken the matter up and was now investigating it.

Congressman O'Shaunessy, who is a member of the house committee on railways and canals, declares that if a satisfactory explanation is not forthcoming he will ask a congressional investigation.

No criticism so far printed on the Grand Trunk-New Haven situation is so sharp as the following editorial in the Providence Journal of yesterday:

Advised and led by his "boyhood friend," Charles S. Mellen, Mr. Chamberlin at last comes out and gives the first intimation of the truth concerning the hard and fast agreement that has been entered into between the New Haven road and the Grand Trunk.

After deliberately falsifying the situation and attempting to becloud the issue in every possible way he has now got to the point where he confesses that "certain agreements" have been made, but not "concluded."

When he finds it impossible to deny any longer the facts as originally stated in The Journal he will probably proceed to tell the entire truth. Meantime the charge as originally printed still stands as the accurate story of this shameless deal:

(1) That E. J. Chamberlin and Charles S. Mellen have conspired to stop the building of the Southern New England road.

(2) That within the past few months they have held many conferences discussing the terms of this proposition and the amount that was to be paid by the New Haven to the Grand Trunk for its outlay in Rhode Island.

(3) That whatever traffic or freight agreements have been entered into have been based on the one proposition that the Grand Trunk shall absolutely cease any attempt to compete over its own rails with the New Haven road in Rhode Island.

The first declaration of both Mellen and Chamberlin was that no traffic agreement had been reached or even discussed. This was followed within forty-eight hours by a confession from Mellen that a traffic agreement had been reached, but until yesterday afternoon Chamberlin stubbornly gave the lie to that fact. He now acknowledges, as Mellen does, that the charge in this particular was true. We await with interest the next confession, which, if either man dares to tell the facts, will be a statement that a hard and fast proposition has been made to buy off the Grand Trunk and that the amount has been stated in dollars and cents.

Report of Boston Delegates

Boston, Nov. 15.—David O. Ives and Charles J. Hubbard, the two traffic experts sent by the Chamber of Commerce to Montreal to confer with President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk, reported yesterday that they believed the Grand Trunk could receive no concessions from the New Haven road which would benefit Boston.

The report of the two emissaries was made to the chamber's executive committee.

In parts it contains caustic comment. Its features are the flat assertions that the delegates do not believe that financial conditions alone caused the suspension of the work on the Southern New England railroad, and their assertion that the Grand Trunk has abandoned the idea of building or acquiring trackage into Boston.

PROGRESSIVE CAUCUS

the back stairway a minute to get a breath of fresh air. Hardly had he gone however before there were loud cries "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chairman, Mr. Chairman" and Chairman Whiton came running up the back stairs hat in hand.

Mr. Sprague in a loud voice addressing the meeting said that he protested the method being used of enrolling men while the voting was in progress. It was a shame and a disgrace.

John Connors cried out that any man could enroll any time.

Chairman Whiton said that there were no strings as to when a person could enroll. He desired to be fair to all. He would entertain any motion.

Mr. Sprague said that it was not fair to go out onto the highways and byways and bring in men and enroll them that they might carry out their scheme.

John L. Miller who had entered the hall a few minutes before said that he undertsood that none but enrolled Progressives were entitled to vote. To allow anyone who comes in to vote looks like a frame up to break up the party.

Charles H. Hardwick moved and it was voted that only those enrolled before the voting commenced be allowed to vote.

The vote was doubted but declared carried on a rising vote.

John Connor believed in a square deal there was but two who had just enrolled and but one had voted.

Mr. Hingston—You are making all of this talk about one vote.

SECOND BALLOT.

The voting then proceeded and the result was announced a few minutes later as follows:

Whole number of votes	79
Necessary for choice	40
John H. Johnson had	2
E. F. DeNormandie had	20
Eugene R. Stone had	21
John L. Miller had	36

No choice.

A motion was made to drop the lowest name.

James P. Roberts moved that the vote be taken on the two highest names on the list.

Mr. Sprague—No man had a right to withdraw the name of Mr. DeNormandie until I do.

THIRD BALLOT.

The third ballot was then taken with the following result:

Whole number of votes	74
Necessary for choice	38
John H. Johnson had	1
E. F. DeNormandie had	17
Eugene R. Stone had	19
John L. Miller had	37

No choice.

MILLER NOMINATED.

At this point Mr. Sprague withdrew the name of Mr. DeNormandie. The fourth and last ballot resulted as follows:

Whole number of votes	72
Necessary for choice	37
Eugene R. Stone had	18
John L. Miller had	53
Blanks	1

Mr. Miller was declared the nominee.

On motion of John Evans the vote was made unanimous.

Mr. Miller in accepting the nomination said that it was very gratifying to him. If elected he would try to do the busines of the city as he believed busines should be done. Not to spend two hours a day to the busines of the city but all day. He would arrive at conclusions before he jumped. He believed that business of the city should be done as any business house would conduct private business.

COUNCILMEN AT LARGE.

It was then voted to proceed to the election or rather nomination of Councilmen at Large and it was also voted that the five receiving the highest vote be declared nominated.

The result of the ballot was as follows:

Charles L. Griswold had	51
Joseph L. Whiton had	47
Horace W. Richmond had	44
Benjamin F. Earle had	41
Charles M. Bryant had	37
John H. Johnson had	33

Messrs Griswold, Whiton, Richmond, Earle and Bryant were declared nominated.

The chairman announced that nomination papers were ready and he hoped that everybody would sign before they left.

On motion it was voted to endorse the name of Dr. E. H. Bushnell for School Committee at Large and John D. Mackay for School Committee from Ward One.

At 10.55 the caucus adjourned and a half hour was spent in signing nomination papers.

WARD COUNCILMEN.

The matter of ward councilmen is in the hands of the several ward committees who select their own candidates. Up to the present time the candidates for Ward Councilmen decided upon is as follows:

Ward One—Charles A. Ericson, Robert A. Hardwick, Joseph W. Johnson.

Ward Two—Albert G. Coffin, Jr., William Prime.

Ward Four—Stephen B. Little, John Vogel.

Ward Five—Charles L. Gilliatt, Russell T. Anthony, Charles W. Bailey.

QUINCY BOYS IN BIG RUN

Will Participate in the Interscholastic Event

The Cross Country team of the Quincy High school is to run in the Interscholastic cross country run at Technology course, Brookline, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

It is a matter of regret that Arthur Williams is out of it as he was counted a sure place winner for the team but by Dr. Smith's order he will be unable to run for some time to come. Negotiations have been started to get a cross country run with Weymouth High and it is expected that the teams will run over the Quincy course, Friday the 22nd.

JOHN HANCOCK BUST.

If there is a public building in this country, says the Boston Transcript, that should contain a bust of John Hancock, it is the State House in Boston. Besides writing his name on the Declaration of Independence so large that John Bull could see it without putting on his spectacles, Hancock has many other claims to public remembrance. A statue of him stands in the Capitol at Washington. From this statue a cast is to be taken for a bust which, accompanied by a memorial tablet, is to be presented to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts by the Sons of the Revolution.

The bust will be placed in Doric Hall. Hancock has been rather neglected in the memorial honors of this State, considering that he was not only one of the great leaders of American freedom, but the first governor of the Commonwealth under the Constitution, serving in all eleven years in that office, and leaving a reputation which far transcended our borders. He may have had characteristics which prevented him during his life from receiving the full appreciation of his patriotic services, but time has cast oblivion over his shortcomings, and the world recognizes him as one of those daring pioneers of American freedom who literally took their lives in their hands when they defied the might of Great Britain.

DISTRICT COURT.

Richard P. Holbrook was fined $5, Thomas Cain $5, and Daniel Kenney $5 for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Henry Brogioli who was in court Thursday and fined $10 for drunkenness and had his case continued on probation until Dec. 31, was caught again that same afternoon under the influence of liquor and was brought in again this morning. His suspension was revoked and an additional fine of $15 imposed making $25 in all. Not having this amount Henry will work for the county for the next fifty days.

ABOLISH TAX RATE LIMIT SUGGESTS JOSEPH WALKER

Tax Payers Notice Increase in Tax Rate But Not Increase in Debt

State Should Forbid Borrowing For Current Expenses

That the limit upon the tax rate should be abolished, that a debt limit should be established outside of which the Legislature should not authorize the borrowing of money except after investigation and report, and that supervisio of municipalities be given to the bureau of statistics are among the recommendations offered by Joseph Walker in his report on municipal finance Thursday before the special joint committee of the Legislature. This was the first general public hearing and about 50 persons attended.

"If the annual expenditures increase faster than the increase in valuation warrants, such increase should be shown in the tax rate and not in the debt," said Mr. Walker. "Every tax payer has notice of an increase in the tax rate but generally is not aware of an increase in debt.

"There exists a constant temptation for a city or town administration to accede to demands for the expenditure of money and then to hide excessive expenditures by borrowing instead of increasing the tax rate. Thus the existing administration gets credit for improvements and escapes criticism for extravagance. This situation demands state control of municipal debt."

He said further that the state ought to forbid the borrowing of money for current expenses and designate the objects for which money may be borrowed by law.

He said money should never be borrowed for annual expenditures but only for such large and extraordinary expenditures as would cause an unreasonable increase in the tax rate for a particular year, that if a city or

Big Gathering of N. E. O. P. Members Last Night

FINE SUPPER SERVED

The 25th anniversary of the N. E. O. P. and the 17th aniversary of the Quincy Lodge was happily celebrated Friday evening by a large gathering of members at Electa and Protection halls.

W. H. T. Reed of Boston, who is on the committee on credentials for the Grand Lodge graced the occasion with his presence.

A supper was served by the ladies and Dexter Remick was highly complimented on the surpasing quality of his culinary accomplishments.

The evening closed with whist, the winners being A. J. Williams, Mrs. M. G. Franzl, Mrs. Fox, Miss Rose Williams, Miss Jennie McCarthy and Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield.

The committee was Mrs. E. C. Sawin, E. C. Sawin, Mrs. M. McNeil, Mrs. Abbie McCormack, Mrs. Mary E. Avery, Edward H. Geddess, Mr. and Mrs. Chester D. Brown.

NO NAVAL SECRETS REVEALED BY FRAUENFELDER ARTICLES

Naval Experts Examined Writings Before They Were Put in Print

Judge-Advocate General's Opinion Clears Atmosphere

That no secrets were revealed by the magazine article which J. Barraja-Frauenfelder wrote appear to be established by the fact that the complaints against him have been nol prossed and a statement bearing upon the case by his counsel Eldridge R. Anderson, and likewise an editorial in the columns of the shipping illustrated. Mr. Anderson in his statement bearing upon the case said:

"The Judge Advocate-General, had decided that no secrets were revealed by the article which Frauenfelder sold, and the navy department requested the attorney-general to quash the indictment. It has been published that the action was taken because the federal authorities feared that trial of the case would reveal secrets."

Mr. Anderson says that the article written by his client on submarines and describing the ideal submarine boat was submitted before publication to the navy department by a Massachusetts congressman, and then to the judge advocate-general and naval experts and they evidently found nothing over which to feel alarm.

The last issue of the "Shipping" illustrated, under the caption, "Observations From the Bridge," says editorially upon this subject:

"In March last year, an Act of Congress was passed making it a penal offense to disclose information affecting the interests of national defense.

NEW CHEMICAL IN COMMISSION

Big Red Auto Will Be Located at Atlantic

CAUSES OTHER SHIFTS

Mayor Stone this morning made an official inspection of the new Kissel auto chemical at the plant of S. Scammell & Sons and later accepted the new piece of apparatus in behalf of the city. The car is somewhat larger than the LaFrance car now at the central fire station. It is equipped with automatic lighting and starting apparatus and is a handsome and efficient piece of fire fighting apparatus.

No time was lost in putting the new car into commission for it went right on the job at the Atlantic station today.

Richard Williams, Chief Litchfield's chauffeur will run the car until Faxon Billings, the driver at the Atlantic station is broken in. In the mean time James Dillon will run the Chief's car and the central station atuo will be run by William Lahey and William Carroll.

Combination No. 2 which has been located at the Atlantic station has been changed over to a two horse hitch and will be placed in commission at the station of Hose 4 at Quincy Point. Such a piece of apparatus is badly needed in this district which covers the Fore River district with its many boarding houses.

It was intended to place the combination in commission at the house of Hose 3 at West Quincy but it is understood that the house will not accommodate it. As the wagon of Hose 4 is in better condition than that stationed at West Quincy it is more than probable that Hose 4 wagon will be placed in commission at West Quincy and Hose 3 wagon held as a reserve piece of apparatus.

Atlantic residents are planning for a public reception of the new piece of apparatus in the near future.

MAY NOT GET ON THE BALLOT

Objection to Word Party on Progressive Papers

LEGAL QUESTION RAISED

A fine point of law is likely to be brought up for the Registrars of voters to decide upon when they come to pass on the acceptance of the nomination papers now being circulated by the Progressives. The papers now being circulated it is understood read "Progressive party." The question is if it is legal to have the word "party" appear on the ballot. It is said it would be perfectly legal to have it read "Independent Progressive" or simply "Progressive" but there is grave doubts about adding the word "party."

It is currently reported on the street that papers so marked are to be protested if any such are filed.

The only additional new papers taken out today was a paper taken out by ex-Councilman Edward P. Histen which is said to fill vacancies on the Democratic ticket.

ALL OUT FOR PLEASANT TIME SOUNDED BY FIRE ALARM GONG

At Annual Ball of Firemen's Relief Association and the Order Was Obeyed

Unqualified Success of the Usual Fire Boys' Party

The twenty-first annual concert and ball of the Quincy Firemen's Relief association was held Friday evening at Music hall, and was an unqualified success in every way. The attendance was equal to that of other years although the number to participate in the grand march, which opened the dancing was not as large as in some years. These marches are always long and one who intends to actively participate in the festivities of the evening cannot be much blamed if they refuse a march of a mile or more about the hall.

During the mareh the balcony was packed with spectators, while about the head of the hall there was gathered another large crowd. Over fifty couples however appeared in the grand march which was a distinctive feature of the evening.

From 8 to 9 o'clock there was a promenade concert by Wilson's orchestra the following program being rendered:

March, "Commander" Hall
Overture, "Morning, Noon and Night" Suppe
Concert Waltz, "Vienna Life" Strauss
Xylophone Solo Selected
Mr. Edward Schell.
Selection, "Mutt and Jeff" Webster
Finale, "Friendship" Ganne

During this time the participants in the affair were constantly arriving and their wants were carefully looked after by the officers of the association and the most efficient reception committee who included Chief Amos L. Litchfield, Vice President, Richard J. Colbert, District Chief and President of the Association, Daniel J. Nyhan, District Chief Frank C. Packard, Wire Chief Michael P. Barry, Treasurer, Edmund G. Hayden, Clerk, James C. Gallagher, Samuel P. Hanson, Fred L. Bent, and Arthur G. Pinel.

The decorations of the hall were confined to the platform across the front of which was a bank of potted plants in blossom and ferns. Behind this bank was the orchestra.

At the left of the stage was a large fire gong which had been cut into the fire alarm circuit. This served to start the ball in motion as well as to warn the firemen in case of an alarm that their services were needed. Fortunately however there was no alarm of fire during the night.

AMOS L. LITCHFIELD,
Chief Engineer.

Chief Litchfield's car was in Emerson's yard across the street from the hall and his driver was at the head of the hall so that in case of an alarm there would be no delay, but there

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

It would be a queer coincidence if Quincy at its municipal election in December should duplicate the national election in electing a democrat to its highest office. With a republican mayor up for renomination; a candidate by the new party the progressives and a democratic candidate in the field it promises to be a lively and interesting contest.

It cost Democratic candidate Gilmore, $25 to be elected to congress, while Candidate Bird paid out $30,000 to be third in the race for governor.

Mayor Doyle after 16 years holding down the chair at Newport, R. I., must have some faint idea of how that mayor's job should be run.

A few more prophecies about world wide peace being continuous and there will be a jingling on spurs. Every time this prediction is sounded by some wiseacre it is followed by a clash of arms.

Did Boston and Providence get buncoed? That is not all the process is going on daily in Boston from other sources.

Only another week of this hairraising, heart aching, nerve wracking session of football. And then—well basket ball.

Gov. Stubbs of Kansas must have stumbled over a rabbit hole, and seen stars when he sent that telegram about the praries being on fire for Roosevelt.

Wise King George, he advocated an adjournment so that his belligerent commons could have time to gather up their scattered senses.

We thank "Democrat" for his suggestions and will not deviate from the course we have laid out. However let him come out from under cover.

An Iowa woman has sued a senator-elect for calling her a liar. He was no gentleman any way. He might have framed his language more diplomatically.

Prof. Patten should immediately apply for the "first aid to the injured" in some departments of science.

Gov. Foss should have delayed his Thanksgiving proclamation and he would have been able to stick into it something about the Grand Trunk and the dinner this year costing $1 more than last for the same articles.

Only a few days back and every one was told about the great era of prosperity and now the Grand Trunk says there is no money in Canada or England.

The carving of Turkey will be all right in order by Thanksgiving, and by Christmas she will be hanging on the Christmas trees of the several powers.

From reading that manifold story of the gunmen it might be that there is plenty of rehearsal galleries in the New York jail.

The dancers who are paying big prices to learn the latest crazy movements only add another notch to the High living score.

The New York fellow who had his finger grafter to his face in place of a nose will find it convenient.

What is the sense of all this letter writing, exchange of meaningless regrets and other balderdash. The Grand Trunk does not intend to build and that settles it. Let those who have authority take steps to remedy whatever evil may exists and see that the state and capital of the state and the people of the state are not again made the football of certain interests.

The New England postmasters were happy even if on the brink of the precipice that leads to their removal.

The bill granting that Grand Trunk charter or franchise would not be missed if it was "expunged" from the records.

THE MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN.

The municipal campaign may well be said to be on its way, in fact the contestants are practically on the home stretch as only a few days over two weeks intervene between now and the time the people will make their choice. There is plenty of good material from which to choose. The voters have a varied choice to select from. They know the men, know what they represent, know what they stand for. As has been repeatedly stated, it is up to the people. If they want certain people elected all they have to do is go to the polls and perform their duty. This staying away from the polls with a grouch because certain things were not done to suit individual inclinations, is not profitable. Out of men running, even if some may not come up to each individual ideal, each voter must have a choice and preference, and it is the duty of every voter to manifest that choice or preference. No one has any patience with the stay at home. The stay at home is a greater evil to a community than the worst band of ward heelers imaginable. The ward heeler is in the political game for what he can get out of it. It is the absentee from the polls, the man with the grouch who has made his vocation, not only possible but probable. So it behooves every voter to get out and perform his duty in the light in which he sees it. Every one of the voters have all the necessary intelligence. They do not need advice. If they exercise their judgment they will not be far wrong and the community will be the better for a strong sentiment in public affairs, which may have been reawakened after napping for a few odd years.

THE FRAT SPIRIT.

President Murlin, of Boston University delivered a delightful heart to heart talk to the Business men of Quincy, Wednesday evening in which he emphasized the "Frat Spirit." This is nothing more or less, than a movement to make people feel at home, that they are welcome, that you are glad they have come among you. It is quite noticeable among politicians. In fact the "Frat spirit," is an art with them, cultivated to a science. In the Y. M. C. A. it is also noticeable, extended in a fine breezy spirit, which makes one feel its sincerity. But as a community asset is it so pronounced. Do people in large cities, bother their heads about their next door neighbors. Is it not a lamentable fact that in large cities particularly, people may live in the same building, same hotel, almost room on the same floor and hardly have a speaking acquaintance with each other. It is a funny spirit. Some accept it as independence. Others say it is indifference. Others contend it is downright selfishness. Call it what you may but the cordiality in some communities is about as warm, soothing, and delightful as a Titanic iceberg. But the "frat spirit" is one that is appealing to most people. It certainly is pleasant, and borders upon the fellowship and brotherhood of man which so many flippantly preach about and have as much idea of putting into execution, as a hungry wolf on the war path.

OPPOSED TO GOMPERS

Socialist Delegates to Federation of Labor Planning His Defeat

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 16.—A fight against the administration of President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor is to be taken up next week by Socialist delegates to the convention in this city.

The delegates of the radical wing number eighty-four. This group constitutes less than one-fourth of the delegates, but Socialists claim that many will come under their banner when the fight opens.

REHEARSAL OF PARCELS POST

New Departure Will Have Trial at Christmas

The new parcels post system will be put into practical use during the coming holiday rush season, according to a statement by Postmaster-General Frank H. Hitchcock.

"We are going to give it a dress rehearsal, so to speak," he said. "It is due to the suggestion of your Boston postmaster, Edward C. Mansfield, that this trial will be made. Mr. Mansfield suggested this experiment at a recent conference of the postal authorities at Washington. In the Christmas and New Year's rush of packages the parcels post will go into operation the same as it would otherwise have done on Jan. 1, 1913, all over the United States."

NO SECRETS REVEALED

The Act was a mere copy of the English legislation on the subject and was passed at the instance of the army and navy authorities in order to deal with spies, as no law of any kind previously existed in this country to prevent spying. It was not thought at the time that this Act could be used as an instrument of oppression for private purposes. However, this is the only inference which can be drawn from the experiences of Mr. J. Barraja Frauenfelder of Quincy, Mass., a civilian naval constructor, who has just been absolved by the Navy Department of the charge of publishing secret information relating to the design of U. S. submarine boats. In August last year, Mr. Frauenfelder, then employed as a draftsman by the Electric Boat Co., wrote an authoritative article on submarine boats which he submitted to the American publishers of Cassier's Magazine. The article was paid for and submitted to one of the officials of the Electric Boat Co. Mr. Frauenfelder was then secretly indicted by the Federal Grand Jury, arrested and placed under $3,000 bail on the charge of having betrayed government secrets. There was absolutely nothing in Mr. Frauenfelder's article which affected secrets of national defense and, as a matter of act, a paper on submarines giving all possible data available on U. S. submarine boats of their construction, was subsequently published by the builders of these boats, the Electric Boat Co., in London Engineering. However, the case dragged on until a couple of weeks ago, when the Judge Advocate-General of the Navy gave an opinion that the article by Mr. Frauenfelder in no way came within the scope of the Act of March 3, 1911, and recommended that the indictment against him be dismissed. Certainly the treatment meted out to Mr. Frauenfelder is not re-assuring to ambitious engineers and constructors able to write authoritatively on scientific topics. Had the incident taken place in Russia, no doubt American papers would have come out with long articles holding up to opprobrium the Russian Government's contempt for personal liberty. This instance of party tyrany, however, took place in the land which we glory in calling that of the "free" and engineers throughout the country cordially wish Mr. Frauenfelder success in the attempt which he certainly will make to obtain compensation from his persecutors for false arrest and defamation of character."

Those things seem to show pretty clearly that Mr. Barraja-Frauenfelder was not violating any law in his articles or giving away any state or national secrets.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

President Says New Year Has Been Favorable

President Taft issued the time honored and customary Thanksgiving proclamation, shortly after the election. He says in part:

"A God-fearing nation, like ours, owes it to its inborn and sincere sense of moral duty to testify its devout gratitude to the All Giver for the countless benefits it has enjoyed. For many years it has been customary at the close of the year for the national executive to call upon his fellow-countrymen to offer praise and thanks to God for the manifold blessings vouchsafed to them in the past and to unite in the earnest suppliance for their continuance.

"The year now drawing to a close has been notably favorable to our fortunate land. At peace within and without, free from the perturbations and calamity that have afflicted other peoples; rich in harvests so abundant and industries so productive that the overflow of our prosperity has advantaged the whole world, strong in the steadfast conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers and firm in the resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired, but rather improved by good use, to our children and our children's children, for all time to come, the people of this country have abounding cause for contented gratitude."

THANKSGIVING DINNERS.

The Associated Charities is making an effort to prevent duplication in the giving of Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. They have sent to heads of various organizations, whose names have been suggested to the secretary, a copy of the following letter which explains itself:—

"We understand that there has been in previous years, in Quincy, at the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons, considerable duplication in relief, some families receiving more than they should, and some, in consequence not receiving any. This year we hope to avoid this, and if you will help, we think that we can do so. We ask you to send us a list of those families you expect to remember at these seasons, especially at Thanksgiving, and we will compare with our other lists and tell you how many are being looked after by someone else; doing nothing further, unless you request us to. You will readily see the advantage of this plan. And, also, if you have names of families suggested to you for aid at these times, whom you do not know well, or whom, for any reason, you would like a call made, to determine whether it is wise or desirable to aid we will be glad to have the call made and report to you without delay."

Any individual, societies, or others interested are cordially invited to use the Associated Charities office in the way suggested. The secretary will be in her office daily 11 to 1 P. M. and can be reached by telephone Quincy 1180, or inquiry may be made by letter to 148 Goffe street, all information required will be promptly forwarded and considered strictly confidential.

D.A.R. CHAPTER GETS CHARTER

Interesting Ceremonial at Home of Mrs. W. F. Jones

THE FIRST REGENT

Mrs. Walter F. Jones of Wollaston, Founder and Ex-Regent of the Abigail Phillips Quincy Chapter, D. A. R., opened her home, Friday evening, to the Chapter, for the formal presentation of its charter. The house was tastefully decorated in the national colors.

After singing America, prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Mrs. Martin. The Regent, Mrs. E. E. Jameson, then spoke a few words of welcome. Letters or regret were read by the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Pinkham; among these being letters from Mrs. Bond, Mass. Vice. Pres. General; Mrs. Masury, Hon. State Regent; and Mrs. Chick, State Vice-Regent. Mrs. Jameson then introduced Mrs. Dunning, the State Regent, who was to present the charter, and called upon Mrs. Walter F. Jones as Founder of the Chapter to receive it.

Mrs. Dunning spoke of her pleasure at visiting this Chapter, which she called one of her babies. She told in a very familiar, interesting way of the founding of the D. A. R. Society, of Memorial Continental Hall, and the Mass. contributions toward it, and called attention to the field of opportunity for patriotic work right at our doors—that if instilling in the mind of the newly arrived immigrants especially the children, the love of this country, its flag, and its government. She then presented to Mrs. Jones the charter of the Chapter. Mrs. Jones accepted it in the name of the Chapter, and, in turn, gave it to the custody of Mrs. Jameson, the present Regent. As a souvenir of the occasion, Mrs. Jameson, in behalf of the Chapter, presented to Mrs. Dunning, a spoon suitably inscribed to add to the collection Mrs. Dunning is making.

Recitations by Miss Grace Wells of Medford followed and songs by Miss Martin of W. Quincy, Miss Sayward, accompanist enlivened the occasion.

During the evening, Mrs. Rand, Founder of Old Blake House Chapter of Dorchester, gave to the Chapter two books, one on the history of Dorchester, the other, on its places of historical interest.

An opportunity followed to personally meet Mrs. Dunning, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Waterhouse, Vice Regent, assisting the Regent in receiving.

An adjournment to the dining room followed, where daughters of the members assisted in serving.

The lecture in the course by Mrs. Gurney under the auspices of the Chapter, which was to be given Dec. 5, is postponed to Jan. 16. The next lecture, therefore, will be Dec. 19.

DORCAS SOCIETY ENTERTAINMENT

Proved Delightful Affair to Good Sized Audience

Though a stormy night Thursday, a fair sized audience assembled in the vestry of the Universalist church to listen to the entertainment given under the auspices of the Dorcas society of the church. Through the efforts of its president, Mrs. George F. Spooner, the young people of the Atlantic Memorial church kindly consented to repeat the entertainment which they gave in Atlantic a few weeks ago. The plays presented were "How the Story Grew" and "Pa's New Housekeeper." In the first play eight women, neighbors certainly did make talk out of nothing and the way the story grew was startling. In the second part the following took part, Percival Hall, Miss Hazel Davison, Miss Eleanor Nelson, Arthur Hall and Frank Doring. All took their parts to perfection and Frank Doring who masqueraded as Pa's new housekeeper was especially fine. There was not a dull minute in the whole play, the audience being convulsed with laughter the greater part of the time.

Between the two plays there were vocal solos by Miss Irene Howes, who sang very sweetly.

HARRIS GOT BY PRETTY EASY

Cost Not a Cent or Promise to Run For Congress

COST KINCAIDE $526

(Special to the Ledger)

State House, Nov. 16. It cost Col. Henry L. Kincaide of Quincy, $526.67 in his campaign as Progressive candidate for Congress in the 14th district according to the statement filed. Nearly all this was expended for printing, postage, clerical hire and advertising. Edward Gilmore, of Brockton, Colonel Kincaide's successful rival spent $308.50, which was distributed in small amounts to his campaign comittees. Judge Robert O. Harris of East Bridgewater, the present congressman, who ran third in the contest, filed a statement saying that he had neither paid nor promised anything in his attempt to represent this district at Washington. The statement of expenses from senatorial and representative candidates are coming in slowly but should all be in by Monday.

SOME ACTION PROMISED

At the Monday Night Session of City Council

An interesting meeting of the City Council is looked for Monday evening as the orders for widening and building a part of Sea street and changing the grade of Elm avenue are almost sure to come up for their final passage. It is also possible that the Mayor's veto of the new City Auditors ordinance may come up. The only question is on passing notwithstanding the objection of the Mayor as under the law the ordinance can not be amended in any manner at this stage.

PRESENTED WITH CHAIN

Mrs. Mary Smith Received Gift at Rebekah Fair

Good nature prevailed among the many that attended the second evening of the fair of the George L. Gill Rebekah Lodge at I. O. O. F. hall, Friday evening.

Nole Grand, Mrs. Mary Smith, was presented with a chain by George Ela who said it was in appreciation of her work. Mrs. Smith accepted the gift in a neat little speech.

Fancy articles and tables were in charge of the committee of the first evening and a snug sum realized.

"How the story grew," was again successful and fancy dancing by Miss Ramah Baker was finely applauded. Supper was also served.

A TRIBUTE.

In the passing of L. Merton White, a citizen of worth, who left home early going out into the world to make his way, having always done his duty as he saw it, we sincerely pay our tribute. A courteous gentleman of the old school; a lover of flowers as attested by his lovely flower garden; a lover of the best in music, some of his oldest friends being among musicians; thoughtful of animals and pets as shown by his care in giving Dicky his canary, his breakfast before departing without being able to eat his own on that sad morning; one who served in high and honored positions in Masonry; whose friendships were lasting as attested by a letter just received from one who said their friendship began over fifty years ago and had been kept up through frequent meetings through the summer; all indicate what manner of man has passed on, freed from the care and worry of hard and strenuous times. He sacrificed his life to duty as he saw it.

Alpha hall has stood for respectability, immaculate cleanliness, willing and courteous service. We turned to it for our functions and those of our children due in most part to this faithful service.

A Friend.

CITY'S WELFARE CONSIDERED

Forum Meetings at Wollaston Church Not Political

The Good Citizenship Forum meeting at the Wollaston Unitarian church Sunday at 12 o'clock will be addressed by Walter S. Pinkham, Esq. All men and women interested in the welfare of the community are cordially invited to attend. These meetings, as the name implies are in the interest of good citizenship. They are not "political meetings" and they are not for or against any candidate in the coming municipal election. They furnish an opportunity for christian men and women to come together and consider in a broad and Christ-like spirit what is for the highest welfare of our city.

A PLAY FOR CHILDREN.

"The Naughty Little Princess"—a German fairy play for children—the Women's Educational and Industrial Union announce is to be presented for the first time in English on Nov. 29, the Friday after Thanksgiving at Shubert theatre, Boston. The actors are a group of young men and women chosen from the leading members of the dramatic clubs of Boston and vicinity and are known as "The Children's Players."

The plot of "The Naughty Little Princess" is such a one as you will find if you will take down your batered Grimm and let it open at the place where as a child you read it most, that enthralling kind if fairy tale. The beautiful little Princess Yorinda is the central figure and the play opens in her bed chamber in the royal palace. She is banished from her father's palace to an enchanted forest. A prince in disguise appears at just the right moment. There are, of course, an ogre, hobgoblins and absorbing adventures in the enchanted wood, beginning in the era known as "once upon a time" and ending happily.

The part of the princess is to be taken by Miss Margaret Hatfield, of the Lend-a-Hand Dramatic club and the West Newton Players. The prince will be played by J. R. Osgood Perkins of the West Newton dramatic club, "The Players", Miss Amy Beal will play the Frau-Governess; Robert D. Whittemore, the Cook; Richard K. Conant, the Professor; Irving Pichel, the Dancing Master; Miss Esther Sidelinger of Quincy, Leilinda, the Princess' favorite playmate; Percival Reniers, the King; Miss Elizabeth Upham, the Queen; Miss Ruth Evans, the Witch; Miss Louise Burleigh and Miss Dorothy Streeter, the Hobgoblins; Zwickel and Nickel; Mr. Irving Locke, the Ogre; Miss Claire Stephenson, the voice of the mysterious Blue Bird.

It is interesting to know that in New York special attempts are being made to provide plays for children. "Little Women" is now being played, matinees of "Snow White" are announced and a theatre for children is to be built on the roof of the Century Theatre. The children's Players in staging this fairy story are offering the children of Boston and vicinity a play made to their measure which bids fair to entertain and to charm. The Union will continue to present The Childrens Players with the aim of providing wholesome dramatic entertainment for children.

The executive committee for the Children's Players is as follows:—Miss Bertha E. Mahony, chairman; Munroe Rhodes Pevear, stage manager; Miss Emilie Everett, assistant stage manager; Richard K. Conant, business manager; Miss Eleanor West costumer; Mrs. Renton Whidden, Miss Florence Lincoln, Miss Harriet Teal. Miss Caroline Freeman is directing the play; Miss Alice B. Diaz has arranged the dancing; and Charles B. Roepper, the music.

Tickets may be had at C. C. Hearns drug store, to be exchanged at the Shubert theatre box office on or after Nov. 18. Mrs. Wilson Marsh, Irving place, Mrs. Theophilus King, Adams street, or Miss Esther Sidelinger, Presidents hill, will be glad to furnish any further information.

FIREMEN'S BALL

were no alarms to take the Chief away or interfere with the pleasures of the occasion.

The guests of the evening included the City Officials, members of the Committee on Fire Department matters of the City Council, ex-Chief Engineers, the local Representatives and Senator elect, President Bowles of the Fore River Co., and the Chiefs of departments in neighboring cities and towns.

Among those present were Mayor Stone, Councilmen C. A. Ross, George Gauthier, John J. Mahoney, John R. Richards, Robert Craig, John R. S. Ross, Edward J. Sandberg, ex-Councilman C. E. Cherrington, Benjamin King, veteran of the Boston department, Representative Walter E. Piper and Representative-elect Michael T. Sullivan, Chief Frank E. Burrell of the Police department, Capt. Daniel R. McKay, and Inspector Fred Goodhue and Fred F. French, president of the Washington M. French Hose association.

It was but a few minutes past the hour of 9 when three bells, the Chief's call was sounded. This was the signal for the grand march to start. The march was a very pretty affair and was executed under the direction of Leo J. McMaster.

The march was led by President Daniel J. Nyhan and Miss Nyhan followed by Chief Litchfield and daughter Miss Hannah Litchfield. Then came Mayor Eugene R. Stone and Mrs. Edward J. Sandberg, Vice President Richard J. Colbert and Mrs. Colbert, Clerk John C. Gallagher and Miss Isabelle Haley daughter of Chief Haley of Canton, Treasurer Edmund G. Hayden and Mrs. Hayden, Chief of Aids Murdock A. McDonald and daughter Miss Ardell McDonald, Wire Chief Michael P. Barry and daughter Miss Alice Barry.

As the line came down the hall, sixteen front with perfect allignment, there was a spontaneous outburst of applause from the spectators.

The march over the dance order of twenty numbers was inaugurated with a waltz, dedicated to His Honor the Mayor. Other numbers on program were dedicated to Chief Litchfield, the Council Fire Committee, the President of the association, Flying squadron and others. At midnight there was a brief intermission during which refreshments were served in the annex.

The floor officers were Marshal—Chief Amos L. Litchfield, Assistant Marshal—Assistant Chief D. J. Nyhan, Floor Director—Vice-President Richard J. Colbert, Assistant Floor Director, Assistant Chief Frank C. Packard, Chief of Aids—M. A. McDonald. Aids—Lieut. J. Faircloth, H. M. Hughes, H. Griffin, J. P. Bent, J. C. Gallagher, E. G. Hayden, J. F. BRIEFS

The annual fair in Memorial church this week had the usual success which the ladies of that church generally have. The proceeds netted over 650 and a few tables expected to turn in considerable more at the ladies' meeting next week. On account of the storm Wednesday the ladies are to have a sale in December to dispose of the things left over, and also add to their fund.

The Walther men's class meets Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. Rev. Joseph Walther will lead in the discussion. All men not in similar classes invited.

Rev. Richard E. Armstrong of Christ church and Rev. Frederick H. Steenstra of St. Chrysostom's are to exchange at the 10.30 A. M. service on Sunday.

The Hastings M. Moles of Dorchester have bought the estate at 115 Standish avenue and are now occupying their new home.

Some Atlantic people have been taken in recently by magazine and book peddlers who claimed they were representatives of Memorial church and that the proceeds of their goods would go for the benefit of the church.

The Cranch school is one of the largest and most attractive in the city being almost a little park in itself. A great many evergreen trees and bushes have been set out to supplement the large trees already on the lot and the lawn is still green and attractive.

The fortieth anniversary of Methodist preaching in Wollaston will be observed at the Methodist church, Nov. 17th to the 24th with appropriate services.

There is to be a meeting at the Quincy Women's club house, Nov. 19, at 3 P. M. when Mr. deBruyn of the Mattapan Boys' Club; Mr. Cornelius Parker, Dorchester Associated Charities; a representative of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. and Miss Elwell of the Quincy Playground committee will speak on Preventive Work for Boys. Time will be allowed for a discussion at the close. It is expected that there will be a full and free expression of opinion. All interested will be cordially welcome.

The next meeting of the Whatsoever Circle of King's Daughters will be held with Mrs. George Thompson, 170 Arlington street, Monday, Nov. 18.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP FORUM.

Walter S. Pinkham, Esq., will lead the Good Citizenship meeting in the Wollaston Unitarian church on Sunday at 12 o'clock. All men and women interested in the welfare of Quincy are cordially invited to attend.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

WILSON TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

Congress Will Convene In April to Revise the Tariff

SAYS PUBLIC MEN FAVOR IT

Democratic Leaders Know How to Proceed About the Matter—President-Elect Makes Announcement on Eve of His Departure For Month's Vacation In Bermuda

New York, Nov. 16.—Governor Wilson anonunced last night that immediately after his inauguration as President of the United States he would call an extraordinary session of congress, to convene not later than April 15, for the purpose of revising the tariff.

The president-elect will sail for Bermuda at 2 o'clock this afternoon for a vacation, and will return on Dec. 16.

To set at rest in the meantime speculation as to what he would do with regard to tariff revision, he issued the following statement:

"I shall call congress together in extraordinary session not later than April 15. I shall do thi not only because I think that the pledges of the party ought to be redeemed as promptly as possible, but also because I know it to be in the interest of business that all uncertainty as to what the particular items of tariff revision are to be should be removed as soon as possible."

Beyond this brief announcement the governor said he had nothing further to say. Most of the opinions he had received from public men seemed to be in favor of an extra session, he declared.

The governor did not intend to express himself about an extra session so soon after his election. Although he has favored the idea of an extra session because the present arrangement would not bring the new congress into session until thirteen months after its election, he had expected to spend more time in collecting public opinion. With the time to be consumed in discussion, the governor felt that if an extra session were not called the benefits of tariff revision would be postponed for practically two years.

Throughout his campaign speeches he reiterated that he desired an immediate revision of the tariff and that the Democratic leaders knew perfectly well how to proceed about it. The governor was impressed by the argument, also, that with an early announcement as to an extra session the Democratic leaders in congress could begin to take counsel at an early date so that much of the preliminary detail could be worked out before congress convened on April 15.

The governor was prompted incidentally in making his early announcement by the fact that many members of congress were desirous of arranging for accommodations in Washington for the one extra session, if there was to be one.

Immediately upon his election, the governor made up his mind to wait until after he returned from his vacation on Dec. 16, before making known his attitude, but upon finding, as he said, that opinion in favor of a special session was practically unanimous, he felt no hesitation about making public his conclusion.

Though the president-elect intends to rest while in Bermuda, he really expects to give a good deal of time to quiet thought about the problems that face him. He will sketch his annual message to the New Jersey legislature and will do some extensive reading of data on the tariff, the monopoly question, banking and currency reforms and other issues.

The governor came to New York last night to attend the dinner in his honor by his classmates, Princeton '79. He expects to have no political conferences while in the metropolis, and seemed fully confident that he would not be disturbed by any political callers while resting in Bermuda.

TWENTY-FIVE POISONED

Turkey or Coffee Served at Church Supper Thought Responsible

Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 16.—Twenty-five men and women, including Rev. Denton J. Neily, pastor of the First Baptist church, are ill of ptomaine poisoning, caused by food eaten at a church banquet.

The blame for the poisoning has not been settled. It is the belief of some of the victims that it is due to the turkey served; others blame it on the coffee, which they assert had a peculiar taste.

Burglars' Bold Work

Tarrytown, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Driving the family to bed, where they lay in terror for an hour, burglars ransacked the home of Maitland F. Grigg of Ardsley-on-Hudson and escaped with $5000 in jewels.

Servian Crown Prince Ill

Belgrade, Nov. 16.—The Servian crown prince has been suffering from grip since the battle of Kumanova, where he was soaked with rain.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Thursday, Nov. 28, Is Designated by Governor of Massachusetts

Boston, Nov. 16.—Governor Foss has designated Thursday, Nov. 8, as Thanksgiving day. In his proclamation the governor says:

"Our commonwealth is blessed with prosperity and plenty, and we have great cause for thanksgiving, in that temporal blessings have been so richly bestowed upon us. It behooves every one, in thankfulness for these gifts, to share them with others; giving, as we have received.

"The foundations of the republic were laid in the conviction that divine guidance was essential to its permanence and the fiulfilment of its high destiny. We reaffirm this truth; and our people, now strong in the possession of self-government, may well return thanks to Almighty Gor for all that citizenship means in individual responsibility and collective power.

"Thanksgiving day may also most fittingly be observed by renewing our individual efforts toward higher ideals of personal and civic responsibility, and by rendering thanks that there is a quickened public conscience as to our responsibility for the dependent, the defective and the so-called criminal classes."

VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

Medical Examiner's Finding In the Case of Marjorie Powers

Boston, Nov. 16.—Natural causes were responsible for the death of Miss Marjorie G. Powers, whose body was found in a bathtub at the Revere House, and as a result of whose death Arthur T. Cumings, former head of the Boston Fruit and Produce exchange, by whom she was employed, was held pending an investigation.

Medical Examiner Magrath made his report to District Attorney Pelletier yesterday afternoon, showing that Miss Powers died from heart disease.

Cumings, who had protested innocence of any connection with the young woman's death, was released from custody.

JACK JOHNSON IS RELEASED FROM JAIL

Bonds of $30,000 Furnished After Week Behind the Bars

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist, accused of violation of the Mann white slave act, was released from Cook county jail yesterday, before Judge Carpenter, in the United States district court, in bonds of $30,000.

The sureties accepted were the pugilist's mother, Mrs. Tiny Johnson, and Matthews Baldwin, real estate dealer.

Jonnson was taken to the county jail a week ago yesterday, and since had made many efforts to regain his freedom.

BLEW UP WORK ON BRIDGE

Clark Says Officers of Union Induced Him to Do Dynamiting

Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—Edward F. Clark, an ironworker, testifying at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial, told of personally blowing up work on a railroad bridge across the Miami river at Dayton on May 3, 1908, and of leaving behind an umbrella which bore his initials.

Clark asserted officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers induced him to do dynamiting.

Clark, an official of a local union in Cincinnati, pleaded guilty at the beginning of the trial.

DEFENSE OF GUNMEN

Claim That Informers Killed Rosenthal Is Backed by Witnesses

New York, Nov. 16.—The case for the defense in the trial of the four gunmen accused of killing the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, was completed yesterday.

Nearly a dozen witnesses gave testimony in support of the gunmen's claim, that the informers, Harry Vallon and "Bridgie" Webber, and an unidentified stranger, had fired the fatal shots at the gambler.

It is expected the case will be in the hands of the jury by Tuesday. The lawyers indicated they would spend all day Monday in summing up.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Learn Chinese is Counseled to Hubbites by British Savant—It's a Better Universal Lingo than Esperanto, Says Ramsay—Don't Beat Germ Laden Rugs in Back Bay Alleys is Advised by Civic Federation, Which also Considers Women Policemen—New England Suffragists Admit the Westward Outlook is Bright—Hello Girls Get a Life Time of Prepaid Insurance Premiums.

Still another disease menace is under attack. Abolition of rug beating in the Back Bay alleys was proposed at the first public meeting of the new Civic Federation of Boston. It was claimed by the secretary of the New England Women's Club in a speech made on this occasion, that the rug beating nuisance of Back Bay alleys was a distinct menace to health, and that the alleys themselves in many cases were in worse condition than those of the North and West Ends—and this not to mention the stray cats turned out of house and home, when the residences are closed for the summer, to assault the ears of a suffering populace with their midnight protests. Another interesting proposal was one for women police, made by Mrs. Eleanor H. Wood, president of the South End Women's Club, who said: "It takes a woman to help girls who may do things that could be misconstrued and to help certain girls to find honest employment. We need street matrons such as they have in California, and much might be done by getting the authority for women privately paid as an intermediate step to getting them on the city staff." Numerous other suggestions for civic betterment furnished an amount of material for the new Civic Federation to ponder over for some time.

Hubbites were somewhat startled, at a recent convocation of students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, by Sir William Ramsay's argument for the adoption of Chinese as a universal language in place of Esperanto, which he thinks could never be permanent. Sir William would limit the use of the new universal language to writing, to be translated by every reader into his own ideas and idioms. Some necessary improvements are admittedly necessary, such as building up and adapting the language characters to the fundamental ideas in communication, rather than stringing them together as occasion requires according to present Chinese custom. The majority of the audience were apparently too staggered by the proposition to form any immediate opinion on the subject, but considerable controversy is on among the linguists of the modern Athens.

The thousands of telephone employees in Boston and every New England city and village are rejoicing over the vast pension plan to be put into effect by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for the benefit of all the subsidiary companies. This plan will supplant a system adopted this year by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, and will go into effect January 1, 1913. The system is non-contributory, so far as the employees are concerned, and provides not only for old age pensions but for sickness, death and accident benefits. The size of the allied organization makes the undertaking an enormous one, entailing the maintenance of a ten million dollar fund. Thirteen thousand of the 175,000 employees of the company who will be benefited by the plan are employed in the various New England organizations.

At a time when suffragists throughout the nation are rejoicing over the addition of four more stars to the suffrage flag, those of Arizona, Kansas, Michigan and Oregon, Boston suffragists are preparing energetically for the annual national convention to be held this year at Philadelphia, Nov. 21-26. Among the speakers who will address the monster meeting to be held in Independence Square, where six platforms will be erected for their purposes, are Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, and Miss Margaret Foley, two of the Hub's most popular suffrage speakers. The mornings and afternoons are to be devoted to business but the evenings will be of especial interest to the public, as they will be addressed by people of national reputation, as the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, Miss Jane Addams, Baroness von Suttner of Austria, and others. The Boston headquarters are busy with preparations for departure of the representatives of Boston's suffragist league, and the promise is good for a lively time at Philadelphia. Such activity has been spurred on by the fact that ten states of the Union now place women on equal terms with men at the ballot box, with a resultant influence of 70 electoral votes. In humiliation many New Englanders noting that of these ten states nine are west of the Mississippi and the remaining one is too close to it to be called an eastern state, are giving a new significance to the favorite quotation:

"Not by Eastern windows only,
When daylight comes, comes in the light,
In front the sun climbs slow, how slowly,
But westward, look, the land is bright!"

MOSLEM MUST LEAVE EUROPE

Turkey Trot at the Point of Christian Bayonets

BULGARS ON THE BOSPHORUS

Within Few Miles of Constantinople, While Tchataija Forts Are Also Being Pierced—Application For Armistice Supersedes Proffer of Powers to Mediate

London, Nov. 16.—After five hundred years of barbarous misrule the Moslem is about to be driven from Europe by the armies of the Christian populations which he has butchered and robbed. Today a nation which has sprung into being within a few years after its escape frm Turkish tyranny has brought its guns almost in range of Constantinople.

From the Moslem capital itself comes the news that the Bulgars have reached the Bosphorus at Kilios, within a few miles of the city.

This news lifts a corner of the veil which has been baffling observers for some days regarding the movements of the victorious invaders in front of the Ottoman capital. Their appearance at Kilios shows that they have managed to creep round behind what is known as the forest of Belgrade on the outskirts of Constantinople and are now in close proximity to Therapia, the summer resort of the residents of the capital. From Therapia a good road leads to within a few miles of Kilios.

Nothing yet has come to hand to show whether the Bulgarians at Kilios are in strong force or merely a detachment of cavalry scouts blazing a new route of approach to the chief city of the Turks. There is a strongly defended fort at Kilios, but this was constructed to defend the place from attack by sea and may be open to assault on the land side.

The dash of the Bulgarian troops seems to demonstrate that General Savoff, the Bulgarian commander-in-chief, is not wholly depending on a frontal attack on the line of fortifications at Tchatalja. If a strong Bulgarian force is already at Kilios on the flank of the Turkish army the fate of the Ottoman troops cannot remain long in doubt, if the Bulgarian troops decide to enter Constantinople before a definite armistice is agreed to.

For the moment the action of Turkey in applying direct to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria for an armistice has superseded the proffers of the powers to mediate. No official news has yet leaked out as to the course the negotiations are taking. If the announcement made in Berlin be true that Osman Nizami Pasha, the Ottoman ambassador there, has been appointed first Turkish delegate to a Bulgarian-Turkish peace conference, it would appear that the negotiations are making good progress.

That an early peace is assured is accepted as a foregone conclusion, but whether it will be brought about before or after the surrender of Constantinople is probably known only to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria and his advisers.

The differences between Austria-Hungary an dServia seem to be less acute, but Montenegro, which jumped into the war ahead of its allies, seems loath to relinquish any of the spoils gained by the fighting. The peremptory rejection by King Nicholas of Montenegro of Austrian and Italian intervention is causing some concern to the European powers, who are anxious for an immediate cessation of hostilities, and now comes a furtner report that King Nicholas has informed the Bulgarian government that he will not agree to an armistice until the Turkish troops evacuate the fortress of Scutari.

The ministers of the European powers communicated to the Greek government at Athens the porte's request for mediation. The Greek foreign minister expressed his thanks and gave the same reply that his Bulgarian colleague had given; namely, that a final response would be forthcoming after an agreement had been reached by the Balkan allies.

With regard to other points, an improvement in the weather has permitted the resumption of the Montenegrin attacks against the Turkish positions around Scutari, with some success. A battle is imminent at Monastir. Should an attack on Monastir be made, the Turks are not expected to offer serious resistance to the combined Servian and Greek armies and the fate of Monastir is likely to follow that of Salonica.

The Greeks continue their advance toward Janina. They have captured Metsovo, a few miles to the northeast.

A report through Bucharest places the Bulgarian losses in the war at a far greater figure than has yet been estimated. According to this report the killed and wounded number between 60,000 and 80,000, out of a total of 320,000 men, and, it is pointed out, after allowance is made for holding the line of communication, only 160,000 effective men are left for fighting.

GEORGE R. LUNN

Socialist Mayor Who Prefers Jail to Payment of a Fine

WILL SERVE JAIL TERM

Mayor Lunn of Schenectady Refuses to Pay Fine of $50

Little Falls, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Mayor George Lunn of Schenectady was sentenced to serve fifty days in jail or pay a fine of $50 in recorder's court here in connection with his arrest three weeks ago on the charge of violating a city ordinance in adressing a gathering of strikers at Clinton park in this city.

Lunn declared he would not pay the fine and chose to begin serving the alternative sentence of fifty days in jail pending the perfecting of an appeal in his case.

The mayor left for the county jail at Herkimer last night in custody of Chief Long, who handed him over to Sheriff Moon.

LOST $2,000,000 IN POOR INVESTMENTS

"Blind Banker of Paris" a Confessed Embezzler

Paris, Nov. 16.—Augustin Max, a man known throughout France as the "Blind Banker of Paris," has created a mild sensation in financial circles here by surrendering himself to the police and confessing that he has misappropriated $2,000,000 of his clients' money which he lost in poor investments.

Max, who enjoyed the highest reputation in banking circles here, declares he had decided to commit suicide, but was persuaded by his family to give himself up to the police.

THE WESTPORT DISASTER

Coroner Files His Report on Wreck of the Springfield Express

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 16.—Coroner Phelan, in his finding on the wreck of the Springfield express on the New Haven railroad in Westport on Oct. 3 in which seven persons were killed, finds the dead engineer, George Clark, criminally responsible for the death of Jessie H. Ransom, one of the passengers killed.

The coroner finds concurring responsibility on the part of the New Haven railroad for allowing an unsafe crossover at that point. He makes a number of recommendations for improving the service and insuring greater safety to the traveling public. He finds that the fire extinguishers were in working order, but insufficient to quench such a fire as was caused by the hot coals from the engine box.

He further finds that the train crew was insufficient; that the track equipment was worse than on any railroad he examined, but was not responsible for the wreck.

ESCAPES PRISON CELL

Slayer Must Pay $3 a Week to Widow of Man He Killed

New York, Nov. 16.—Joseph Bush, who killed James McNamara in a fight in Brooklyn, Sept. 29, was sentenced to pay the widow $3 a week for one year in lieu of spending a year in jail.

Bush thankfully agreed to carry out the decree, which was issued by Justice Crane in the supreme court, but Mrs. McNamara declared she wouldn't take a cent from her husband's slayer.

MAN RESTORED FROM DEATH

Life Renewed In Young Doctor Who Was "Dead" Many Hours

MELTZER SYSTEM IS APPLIED

Victim of Morphine Poisoning Revived After Twelve Hours of Unremitting Work With New Device For Producing Artificial Respiration—How Surgeon Made Man a New Nose

New York, Nov. 16.—New marvels in medical progress about which the general public never hears under normal circumstances, are coming to light daily as a result of the congress of surgeons now in session here.

It has become known that through the system of pharyngeal insufflation devised by Dr. Samuel J. Meltzer of the Rockefeller institute for medical research, a young man considered by his physicians dead, in the ordinary acceptance of the term, was brought back to life some months ago, after the new method of resuscitation had been applied for many hours.

In his preliminary report, Dr. Meltzer announced that he had succeeded in restoring life and he told of having put two animals to death and of having subsequently resuscitated them. It had not been announced until now, though, that a human patient who was dead to all intents and purposes, had been revived as the result of Meltzer's discovery.

It was said that a young physician who was serving on the staff of a hospital in this city took an overdose of morphine, whether by accident or design was not known. The dose was so large that he fell into a deep coma, and in the institution to which he was attached it was not believed that he could be revived. Some one recalling Meltzer's announcement that he had succeeded in bringing the dead to life, suggested that it might be worth while to take the body of this man, who was already dead to all intents and purposes, to the Rockefeller institute to see if the application of Meltzer's apparatus would prove of any value in such a case.

The body was carried to the institute in an ambulance, and for twelve hours the surgeons worked over the physician, employing the pharyngeal method of artificial respiration. For hours there was nothing to show that a spark of life remained in the body, but after twelve hours spent in unremitting work with the Meltzer apparatus the patient was restored.

From a layman's point of view, one of the most interesting operations performed was the manufacture of a perfectly good nose from a man's ring finger, performed at the Presbyterian hospital by Dr. Clarence A. McWilliams. The patient had lost his nose in an accident, and as the result of his deformity was unable to find employment.

Dr. McWilliams removed the nail from the ring finger of the patient's left hand. He then had him place the finger, pointing upward, over the place reserved for the nose. He cut the finger open underneath and fastened it to the face. A plaster cast supported the patient's arm in this position for twenty-one days, after which the surgeon amputated the finger from the hand, adding some finishing touches yesterday.

At the Metropolitan hospital, in Brooklyn, Dr. G. S. Harrington drove an iron nail through the joint of a fractured hip bone to save the limb. Dr. McWilliams, at the rresbyterian hospital in Manhattan, transplanted a section of the fibula, or small leg bone, to the tibia, or large leg bone, to remedy a defect in the latter.

TO SETTLE FAMILY ROWS

Domestic Relation Session In Boston Municipal Court

Boston, Nov. 16.—Chief Justice Bolster of the municipal police court announced that a domestic relation session of his court would be established at once.

In the new court all cases of non-support, stubborn children, assault and battery cases between husband and wife and certain cases of young children, where the offense is punishable only by a fine, will be heard and disposed of by a justice who will be assigned.

Hereafter, all cases of family quarrels which come into court to be settled, will be assigned to the domestic relation session.

SALE AGAIN POSTPONED

Sheriff Gives Sickles' Wife Another Chance to Pay Judgment

New York, Nov. 16.—Sheriff Harburger yesterday postponed until Nov. 26 the sale of the bric-a-brac of General Daniel E. Sickles, to satisfy a $5000 judgment obtained by the Bank of the Metropolis.

The sheriff is postponing the sale in order to give Mrs. Sickles a chance to pay the judgment, but work on inventorying the property will be commenced in the near future. This is the last postponement the sheriff will be able to make.

ENDS OLD CONTROVERSY

Fisheries Treaty Ratified by Secretary Knox and Ambassador Bryce

Washington, Nov. 16.—Secretary Knox and Ambassador Bryce yesterday exchanged ratifications of the treaty signed July 7 last, providing for an adjustment between Great Britain and the United States of the North Atlantic fisheries controversy.

The convention already has been approved by the senate. In substance it prescribes the boundary waters, and provides a commission to pass upon the reasonableness of local Canadian and Newfoundland fisheries regulations.

One of the points settled by the fisheries treaty is that neither Great Britain nor its colonies may impose regulations on American fishermen, exercising their treaty rights in the territorial waters of Newfoundland or Canada, unless such regulations are held to be reasonable by an impartial tribunal. In case of dispute neither Great Britain nor the United States can be sole judge of the regulations.

PLEIADES CLUB FINE PROGRAM

A pleasing entertainment was held Friday evening in the auditorium of the Wollaston Methodist church by the Pleiades club and was witnessed by a large and appreciative audience.

The program opened with a piano solo by Miss Lydia Keyes, followed by a whistling solo by Mrs. Edith Burbank Fish. Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook was the accompanist of the evening.

Readings by Miss M. Elizabeth Neahr were enjoyed and a soprano solo "The night has a thousand eyes," was sung by Miss Evelyn Nellie Cheney, Wiliam Roache contributed a violin solo and Miss Holbrook a piano solo.

Miss Neahr favored with another reading and a piano duet was played by Miss Holbrook and Miss Eldeine Young. "I hear you call," a soprano solo was sung by Miss Cheney and instrumental selections were rendered by Miss Keyes.

A whistling solo by Mrs. Fish was followed by a reading "Teddy's Thanksgiving day" by Miss Neahr. A piano duet by Miss Young and Miss Holbrook preceded the closing number, a song, "Welcome pretty primrose" by the members of the Pleiades club.

The Pleiades club is composed of the seven young ladies of Miss Holbrook's Sunday school class. They are Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook, Misses Beulah Collett, Marion Clifford, Lydia Keyes, Evelyn Hirtle, Ethel Brown, Jeanie Keith and Lucy Palmer. A large sum was netted from the entertainment.

ELIMINATE PARTY LINES

Recommendation From Progressive State Headquarters

AID CITIZENS TICKETS

That Progressives should eliminate party lines in local politics and work in aid of Citizens' tickets was advocated by the Progressive party State Committee.

"The advice of the State Committee in regard to the attitude which local Progressive organizations should take in city and town elections has been asked so frequently that we have decided to make general recommendations," said a statement issued by Chairman Hale. "Final determination of all these questions must rest with the local organizations themselves," said the statement.

Five "recommendations" were offered, as follows:

"1. National party lines should not be drawn in local politics.

"2. Progressives should do all in their power to eliminate National party lines from local politics.

"3 Progressives should in their own localities call upon citizens of all parties, including the Progressive party, to unite in the placing in the field of a Citizen's ticket.

"4. If such an effort is unsuccessful for the moment, we consider it the wisest course under existing political conditions to run a complete Progressive party ticket.

"5. Above all, Progressives should not allow themselves to be made use of by the old party machines.

"Matthew Hale, chairman."

Thomas F. Smith was sentenced to the state farm for drunkenness at Quincy. Appealed.

WILL MEET IN BOSTON.

At a meeting of the Catholic Church Extension society of the United States in Chicago, it was voted to hold the second missionary congress of the church in the United States at Boston in May. Cardinal William H. O'Connell will preside. Prelates from all overt he United States were present at the meeting.

BRAINTREE

Mr. F. A. Bower of Elm street is spending a few days in New York.

The E. Z. Club met with Mrs. H. W. Woodworth of Mt. Vernon avenue, Thursday afternoon.

The Local Club held its monthly dinner with Mrs. Albert Joyce, of Sherbrooke avenue, Friday.

Mrs. G. W. Wheeler and daughter Grace of Charles street left Thursday for Woodstock, Vt., to speed the winter with relatives.

Mrs. Grace Daly has returned to New York after a weeks' stay with her brother Mr. William Wood and family of Liberty street.

Dr. A. R. Gould of Monatiquot avenue, the popular dentist, tenor soloist and citizen returned Thursday from a short visit in New York city, Poughkeepsie and Millerton, New York.

Mrs. Arthur H. Hastings, of Hollis avenue entertained last Saturday, Miss Marion Smeallie, of Amsterdam, New York, and Miss Dora Smith of Brookline. Both classmates of Mrs. Hastings at Perry Normal School.

Friday evening, a whist party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Burrell of Porter avenue. There were four tables in play. Those receiving the prizes were Herbert F. Barrett, Alfred G. Jones, Jeremiah Levangie, Mrs. Edward Hughes, Mrs. E. A. Hollis and Mrs. James D. Fox. The party was given under the auspices of the Good of the Order of Camp 32 Sons of Veterans. Next Friday evening Miss Bertelle Bennett of Pond street will entertain.

ABOLISH TAX RATE LIMIT

town really cannot afford an improvement it should go without it, just as an individual would.

Drawing distinction between productive investments and non-productive expenditures. Mr. Walker asserted that money expended for a park may be well expended, but it tends to increase the tax rate. On the other hand, money invested in a water supply does not fall on the general tax payers and does not affect the tax rate. It is met by water users. The same is true of a subway which produces income enough to carry itself.

Cities and towns neglect to make proper contributions to sinking funds or otherwise to provide for the payment of debt at maturity. Mr. Walker said, and municipalities should be forbidden to issue loans extending over a number of years in any form except that of serial bonds or notes, and no renewal or refunding should be permitted easily.

He declared his belief that the state should inspect annually its municipal corporations and audit their books in the interest of taxpayers as it inspects savings banks in the interest of depositors.

Bearing upon this important subject, Hon. Charles M. Bryant had forwarded a letter to this office, a clipping of Mr. Walker's report. The Ledger had already noticed the report and its significance, but it will be of public interest to note what Mr. Bryant has to say upon the subject as conveyed by his letter which is as follows:

Editor Ledger:—

I am enclosing clipping in reference to the financing of the municipalities. It looks as if the legislature would finally come around to allow the city to raise money for current expenses beyond the $12 limit, which is absolutely the proper financial way for a city to be run; in other words, it allows the people this year to be taxed with what they have this year and not borrow money for what might be called a technical, legal proposition. It seems to me that you should advise in the paper that the Council petition the legislature to be allowed to increase their limitation of $12 to meet the current expenses and that the borrowing capacity perhaps would be lowered so as to keep the debt down as close as possible.

I have refrained from making any comments on the various articles which have appeared in your paper, not because I did not desire to correct some very erroneous statements but the simple reason was I did not care to get into a controversy in the newspapers because some of the people who have been writing have much more time to write up articles than they have had common sense.

Yours very truly,
C. M. Bryant.

MISS DEXTER BURIED.

The funeral of Miss May Dexter will take place Sunday afternoon from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Dexter, Atlantic street. Services will be at the Atlantic Memorial church at two o'clock. Miss Dexter was 14 years of age, and a pupil in the eighth grade of the Quincy school. She died Thursday evening.

BRIEFS

Everett Walton of Cambridge spent the week end the guest of Capt. George A. Wardwell.

Daniel F. Shea of West Quincy will be a Progressive candidate for councilman from Ward Four.

The new Kissell automobile looks to be all right. May her service prove as good as the looks warrant.

Miss Leola Goding of Topsham, Me., is spending a week with her sister Mrs. George A. Wardwell of North Central avenue.

The firemen looked all to the merry last night in their uniforms and badges. But if a fire had broken out they would have been right on the job despite their dancing decorations.

An ideal day for football. The players will have movement enough to keep them warm and the spectators will have wraps and other things to get up a circulation.

John T. Tate, Progressive candidate for congress in the 19th New York district has the record, next of course to Congressman Harris. Tate spent 77 cents. Both he and the Massachusetts congressman should give Candidate Bird a leaf from their books.

—The Democrats as they look at their own vote and the vote for the progressive candidates, must realize what is expected of them. If they don't realize it and don't obey the demands of the people they will deserve the utter and absolute failure that in due course comes to them.—Brockton Enterprise.

SOUTH BRAINTREE

Miss M. Alice Johnson of Bridgewater Normal school, is training with Miss Dean at the Franklin school, Holbrook.

Mrs. Mary L. Stone of Frederick road has been spending a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Stone of Egypt.

Mrs. Sarah R. Heath of Hobart avenue has been the guest the past week of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Adams of South Hampton.

Gen. Sylvanus Thayer Relief of Corps No. 94 will be inspected at its regular meeting Monday evening by Mrs. Mary A. Langdon, department inspector.

Mrs. Sarah E. Wales, who has been the guest the past three weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Sanborn of Crescent avenue, has returned to her home in Dorchester.

Mr. and Mrs. John Emery, and Misses Helen and Elsie Emery, left their summer home, Lovett farm, last week, and returned to Brockton for the winter. The farm will be carried on during the winter under the care of Edward Sands of Division street.

The annual inspection of Post 87 G. A. R. was held in their hall last evening. The inspecting officer was Commander George Phillips of Post 88 Quincy. There was a large attendance of comrades of the local post and also from Randolph, Quincy and Weymouth.

Monday evening, Mrs. George E. Snow of Hancock street entertained the ladies of the Matrons' whist club. The souvenirs were secured by Mrs. George W. Stevens, Mrs. A. A. Palmer, and Mrs. M. C. Gillette. Next Monday evening the members plan to see Henry Miller in the "Rainbow" at the Tremont theatre, Boston.

Auxiliary 16 to Antietam Camp 32, S. or V. held their annual inspection on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Minnie Glover of Quincy was inspecting officer. Except for the officers attendance the auxiliary would have had a perfect mark. The president, Stella B. Fox, was the only officer who had attended every meeting since last inspection. Guests were present from Post 87, Camp 32 and Aux. 31 of East Weymouth. Ice cream and cake were served at the close of the inspection.

A pretty little dance was held last evening in the White Gymnasium Thayer Academy, the hours being from 8 to 11. There were upwards of 35 couples present and music was furnished by Abell's orchestra. Those of the faculty in attendance were the headmaster Dr. William Gallagher, Miss Phoebe Hosmer and Messrs. John M. Townsend and David G. Pottinger. Delicious ices were served at intermission. The floor was in charge of Miss Edith Kimball assisted by the candidates for the girls' basket ball team.

The regular monthly meeting of the Neighborhood Club was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Edith Waters. After the transaction of business, a continuation of the program of the last meeting, the subject of which was "China" was given. This consisted of the examination of a large number of articles from China, among them some beautiful embroideries, and many interesting pictures, and the reading of several letters written by Chinese University students. The material was loaned by Hugh Hubbard, who spent two years as a teacher of athletics in Imperial Universities in China.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. H. Willie Simonds of Tremont street, South Braintree, observed the fortieth anniversary of their marriage. There were about thirty guests and relatives present and the evening proved to be a most pleasant one. There were readings given in a most finished manner by Edward Arnold of Braintree, and music was an important part of the evening's program. Games were played and refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were prepared and served. An attractive electric light dome for the dining room was appropriately presented by Harry A. Simonds. Mr. A. Willie Simonds expressed the appreciation of his wife and himself in reply. There were several other gifts which included a purse of money. There were guests present from Dighton, Braintree, Quincy and Boston. It was a delightful evening and the guests hope Mr. and Mrs. Simonds will enjoy forty more years of happiness.

UNIFORM STATE TAX RATE WOULD CHECK THE DODGERS

Walter S. Pinkham Makes Some Telling Points on Causes of Poor Government

Legislature Put Premium on Dodging Paying Current Expenses

Ex-Councilman Walter S. Pinkham was the principal speaker, Sunday noon, at the Good Citizenship Forum at the Wollaston Unitarian church. He criticised certain municipal laws and suggested changes in the city's affairs. Among the other speakers were Ex-Mayor Charles M. Bryant, Wendell H. Hull, Eugene H. Sprague and Rev. Carl G. Horst. Fred M. Rollins presided.

A motion made by Mr. Hull, and spoken for by Mr. Sprague , to instruct the representative and senator of this district to further certain legislation was ruled out by the chair. Rev. Mr. Horst in explaining the stand taken made it clear that the Forum was simply a clearing house for civic matters and not the place to take action upon them.

Mr. Pinkham in his address admitted there was a so called evil in Quincy. Quincy was not alone in this and the state was largely responsible.

"One of the many disadvantages is the question of school appropriations. If the state compels certain expenditure for this it should see where the money is to come from. The total expenditure should be divided over the state.

"There are many more children in Quincy per square mile than in Milton. This is one reason for unequal taxation and accounts in part for the low rate of Milton, Nahant and Dover. School appropriations might well be controlled by a state commission. This would at least do away with the bidding for teachers.

"The money might well come from the taxation on personal property. If the tax rate throughout the state was made equal on personal property there would be no inducement to move to escape it. This would be a benefit to Quincy and all centres of population. I don't think there ought to be any city of refuge.

"Another disadvantage is the $12 limit on taxation. The Legislature has put a premium on dodging the payment of current expenses. The limit is too low anyway and I think it should be abolished. Quincy has been no better than any other place. Quincy has refused to pay current expenses. The mayors have dodged this and been induced to by the state itself. We should have everything we could pay for provided we are willing to pay for it. But if we are going to have them we ought to pay for them as we go along.

"The present condition is not the fault of any individual man. It is not the fault of any particular set of men. I have been acquainted with every mayor of the city of Quincy for a long term of years. I believe every mayor has been absolutely honest and has done the best he could for the welfare of the city of Quincy. The situation is against him however. The people demand certain things and when it comes to paying for them there is a hue and cry all over the city.

"This meeting here today, I believe, is not because of poor streets and the like but because our tax rate is 22 instead of 20. The tax rate will be higher next year and ought to be higher today. Changes in the city charter should be made. A board of 23 members cannot do justice to themselves or the city. The council should be materially reduced. O should say at least as low as 9.

"The rules of the council should be changed. The present methods result in a collection of speeches that influence no votes except that of the man who makes the speech.

"In six years I have never seen a vote changed by remarks on the floor of the council. The members simply make remarks to put themselves right. The votes are made outside by influence on the sidewalk, in the committee room, but not on the floor of the council chamber.

"If we keep the council as now, we will not get the best results, we will not get the best opinions of the members. The fault of the council lies not in the personnel but in the way the board is made up.

"I believe there should be a longer term for mayor for several reasons. At the beginning of the year he must either make up his mind to do right and take his chances on not being re-elected or else cater to the votes of the second and third year. If he takes the first he is limited to one year. If the second his reforms are limited. He can't do both.

"Another source of detriment is the way we lay out our streets and public improvements. It rests with the finance committee to weed out, not certain streets but a certain amount of money.

"We can spend so much. We want to treat all parts of the city fairly. We apportion so much money to each ward and then say to Mr. Smith, Mr. Brown, or whoever it may be, 'What

LIVELY FIGHT IN WARD THREE

With Eight Candidates Running For the Council

MERRY WAR AHEAD

There is a merry fight on in Ward Three for councilmen from the ward for up to the present time there are eight candidates seeking three positions. The eight are the three regular Republican caucus nominees George Gauthier, C. A. Ross and William Farquharson, three whose names were written on the Democratic ballot at the caucuses, Robert B. Craig, William J. Sullivan and David M. Warner and two Progressives William H. Ferguson and August Johnson, Robert B. Craig is also circulating nomination papers as an Independant Republican candidate.

The registrars have completed their work going over the ballots at the Democratic caucus in relation to the names written on the ballot and as a result it is announced that for Democratic Councilmen at Large the candidates are William T. Shea and James Forde of West Quincy, Charles W. Guy of Ward One, James W. Wall of Houghs Neck and Rednor P. Coombs of Ward Six.

M. J. L. Kennedy also becomes the Democratic candidate for School Committee at large for the same reason.

In Ward One Thomas J. McGrath becomes a candidate for Ward Councilman. Joseph W. Dennen and John J. Galvin whose names were also written in have withdrawn.

In Ward Six Councilman Cunningham also gets the Democratic nomination in addition to the regular Republican nomination.

In Ward Four Stephen O'Connor and Michael Lyons get the regular Republican nomination for ward councilman their names having been written on the ballot. It is understood however that they are to withdraw.

DISTRICT COURT.

Albert Sjostron and Arthur Tranquist were fined $15 each for violation of the fish and game law at Quincy.

Thomas Kilfoy was sent to the state farm for drunkenness at Weymouth.

Peter Lehto, Alek Gesmer and Stephen Delory were brought in on default warrants and ordered to pay the fines imposed at the time their cases were continued. Gesmer was in court for crap shooting and the other two men for drunkenness.

Chester J. Laporte was fined $15 for assault on Catherine McDonnall at Quincy.

Michael Biblis was fined $25 for assault on his wife at Quincy. Biblie was in court Oct. 22 for assaulting his wife with a bread knife and placed on probation.

—It is urged by a friend of working girls that laws be passed to prevent them from being tempted by goods on the instalment plan, but how much wholesomer for the girls to teach them the lesson of self deliverance from temptation, a lesson that most of us need. Not more laws imposed from without, but a sounder self control from within, is the crying need of this time, as it has been of all times.—Boston Transcript.

MISS FURNALD YOUNG BRIDE

Married to William E. Warmington. Will Live in Albany

Miss Elizabeth W. Furnald, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Furnald of 38 Newcomb street, and William E. Warmington of Albany, N. Y. were married Sunday afternoon by Rev. Richard E. Armstrong at the Christ Episcopal church. The service was attended only by the parents and immediate relatives of the young couple.

Miss Furnald is one of the youngest brides of the year. She is the only grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Furnald who celebrated their 62nd year of married life a few months ago.

After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Many beautiful and costly presents attested to the esteem in which the young lady is held.

Miss Furnald attended Woodward Institute and is an accomplished musician. The groom is a former resident of Quincy. He is an optician and lives at Albany, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Warmington left for Albany, N. Y. where they will make their home.

WILL RESIDE IN DORCHESTER

West Quincy Man Wedded to Member of St. Peter's Parish

Miss Elizabeth Magee of Dorchester and Charles J. Morrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morrill of Grove street, West Quincy were married at St. Peter's church, Dorchester, Sunday evening by Rev. Father Derby.

The bridesmaid was Miss Sadie Magee, a sister of the bride and John L. McLaughlin of this city was the groom's attendant.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 418 Bowdoin street. Mr. and Mrs. Morrill left on a honeymoon trip and on their return will reside at Dorchester.

Mr. Morrill is a well known West Quincy young man. He has taken an active part in Athletics and was a member of the St. Mary's basket ball team which gained a reputation throughout the country because they were defeated by few teams, among which were the Buffalo Germans who won the national championship at the Pan American exposition. The latter team was able to snatch victory in the closing minutes of play after Morrill was obliged to retire from the game because of being hit in the head.

Mrs. Morrill is a popular member of the St. Peters parish and has many friends in the city.

THREE ALARMS TWO FALSE

New Piece of Apparatus Given Good Tryout

NO. 2 CALLED OUT

It is not surprising that Atlantic should have had a false alarm Sunday considering that the new piece of fire apparatus for that section of the city was placed in commission Saturday. The only surprising thing is that there was not a false alarm Saturday night. It was not until 9.46 Sunday night that the new auto chemical was given its first run in response to an alarm.

This was in answer to Box 614 located on the corner of Glover and Newbury avenues, a little over a half mile from the Atlantic station and almost a straight run.

Before the first round of the alarm had ended "Dick" Williams, who is breaking in Faxon Billings as chauffeur, had his engine started, the lights on the apparatus burning and was in his seat with the doors open ready to start.

As soon as the first round of the alarm was done sounding he was out of the station and going down Newbury avenue like a streak of lightning. The box was reached before the four rounds had been completed.

The Central station auto chemical also responded and was near Merrymount park before the alarm was through sounding.

The alarm from Box 723 at 8.49 gave Combination No.2 which is now located at Quincy Point, as a two horse hitch, its first run from its new station.

"Al" Mead handled the ribbons and he made unusual good time in reaching the box. The fire was in a lot of rubbish in the cellar of a house on Carter's hill, and created very little damage other than to make a lot of smoke. The house is owned by Charles L. Shea and occupied by Fiyrian Fayard.

Shortly before 9.30 Sunday night the Central station auto chemical was called for a still alarm to Adams Shore. What fire there was however must have been extinguished because the firemen could find no blaze when they arrived.

All day Sunday there was a crowd of visitors at the Atlantic station to see the new piece of apparatus and everybody was more than pleased with it. Sunday afternoon it was given a try out on hill climbing. With 21 men on the apparatus it was taken to Wollaston and tried out on the hills, which have the reputation of being the steepest of any city within miles. The machine with its heavy load climbed Highland avenue at good speed. It came down the hill onto Beale street where a turn was made and without any start in which to get up speed, the machine took the hill with apparent ease. It is said that Atlantic citizens are planning for a little celebration in a few days.

"Tim" was at court this morning learning the ropes and says that if any of his newspaper friends should happen to come before him this week he will use them kindly.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY SET UP

In the Industrial School For Benefit of Pupils

An employment agency has been established in the Part Time Industrial School to meet many requests of the boys of this city and the surrounding towns, who wish to be placed in the trades where they will be allowed to attend the part time school.

This agency will co-operate with the various mechanical shops and it is hoped that within a short time all boys who wish to enter any of the mechanical trades as an apprentice will be selected by the employer through this agency.

At present there are three openings for machinist apprentices in two of the best shops in Quincy, and this agency will be pleased to direct any fourteen-year-old boy in Massachusetts, who is adapted to the work and can give reasonable promise of successful full information relative to the work, pay, etc.

It will be necessary for those wishing for these positions to call as soon as possible at the Industrial School (Room 5 in High School Building) or they will be filled and the remaining applicants placed on a waiting list.

WATERWAYS CONVENTION

Three Days' Gathering in Washington in Two Weeks

NO LACK OF ACTIVITY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18. The Ninth Annual Convention of the National Rivers and Harbor Congress which meets in this city on Dec. 4, to continue in session three days, gives abundant promise of being the most largely attended convention this association has had since its reorganization at the old Arlington a decade ago.

President Taft will deliver the opening address and is expected to still further emphasize his position looking to a broad and statesman-like policy by the national government, in the treatment of the waterways of the country to the end that all streams susceptible of navigation may be made navigable.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Now is an admirable time to do your Christmas shopping. Before you decide to go out of town to buy, look over the stocks of our local merchants. They may have just what you want, and if they haven't got it we know it will be a pleasure for them to order it for you. By adopting that plan you will be saving yourself considerable worry and some expense and you will have shopped at home, an act that deserves the consideration of all.

It will now be Harvard and Yale and then the end of the season.

It is about time the false alarm was stopped.

COSTLY CHANGES.

The resignation of the treasurer of the United States, at this time, when the administration has only a few more months to run, brings more forcibly to mind the claim, some time during the summer by A. Piatt Andrew one of the assistants of the department that all was not harmony in the office of the treasury department. Secretary McVeagh was accused of being out of sympathy with the men in his department, and failure to grasp up-to-date methods. President Taft stood by his secretary. McClung was one of the men whom Andrew said was not in harmony with McVeagh. Whether McClung's resignation was brought about at this time by the friction between himself and the secretary, as a matter of fact the incident will cost the people of this country something like $10,000 or $20,000. The retiring treasurer must turn over the money and get a receipt for it, and to this every penny has to be counted. Shortly after when the Democratic administration comes in the same process will be required on turning the money over to the Democratic treasurer. Rather costly proceedings. In the future it would seen to be a cheaper and more satisfactory process to let the secretary resign, when there is friction in departments than to have sterling officials ousted when it means a heavy expense to the government.

THE TAX PROBLEM.

The solution of the tax problem offered by Hon. Joseph Walker, seems a reasonable one and would prevent much of this tax juggling, which has existed for some time and enable communities to be more conversant with the real conditions. The $12 tax limit law, was never effective. It was never lived up to. It only created a means of covering up real issues, real conditions and the real state of affairs.

The average voter pays little or no attention to the loans that are created, but he knows and feels the rise in the tax rate. It is all very well to expend money on every demand, but to do so means that it has got to come from somewhere. To levy it immediately upon the taxable property raises a howl of protest and the City Councils quick to see that, shifted it to loans. This meant that for years after, cities were paying for current expenses of the years which had preceded. Interest was going on year after and the expenditure in this department is enormous. With the system of creating loans, then creating other loans to meet those loans, when they became due and the constant repetition year after year, meant that tax payers were paying three or four times and possibly many more in the form of interest account than the amount actually needed or extended. A change in the law, with a state supervision of finances might tend to improve conditions. The sooner an improvement comes, the better it will be appreciated, but in reaching this change the people must be satisfied that the reduction in taxes cannot come immediately. It is an intricate problem and will require time and trouble to solve.

CARRYING FIREARMS.

The recent deplorable accident, by which a young lady shot and killed her mother whom she mistook for a burglar emphasizes once more what we have repeatedly called attention to in the way of carrying firearms. The young lady is facing the life long horror of realizing that she was the innocent cause of her mother's death. She was on a long journey to buy wedding gifts. On the journey she carried a large bag of jewels. There could hardly have been any occasion for carrying jewels on a shopping trip. But the fact remains that she did. She had been in the habit of having a revolver under her pillow. And thereby hangs the thread of a most unfortunate tragedy. A nation wide movement against the indiscriminate possession of fire arms. There should be some enactment to make it more difficult to purchase firearms and after they are purchased, which would of course would be known to the authorities, under such an act, measures should be taken to see that they were only in the hands of proper persons. There is too common a practice in this country to carry firearms. Some regulation would lessen the probability of such tragedies as the recent one referred to.

VAST CHINESE TRADE.

B. Atwood Robinson, of Boston, speaking at the Clark University Conference in Worcester, brought the message, that the resources of China are almost undeveloped, her vast mineral deposits have been untouched and there is a coal supply for the world for a 1000 years. It is to be hoped that the development will be entered upon immediately, especially on the coal end and then we may see some hope of reduction in this commodity.

But aside from this, it must be admitted that in the past few months, since its peaceful launching into the Republican form of government, China has shown that she possesses men of power and ability who are alive to the resources of their country and will labor long and earnestly to give it a place in the nations of the world which its age, traditions and resources deserve. Just at present, it has been handicapped by the effort of the six powers to pinch hard on the big loan proposition, but the Chinese have manifested their usual astuteness in this. Again Russia has attempted to encroach upon Manchuria. In view of the immense commercial rainbow opened upon the open port in China, this country should set its stamp of disapproval upon any money or land grabbing, which would handicap the infant Republican at this time. It is a duty which the United States owes to civilization, just as much as she did in the splendid work of freeing Cuba and giving to the Filipinos a condition of life which they never dreamed of their wildest fancies.

MEN'S CLUB FEDERATION

An Effort Made to Bring About Such Result

Arrangements for a union meeting early in January of the men's clubs and improvement associations in Wollaston and immediate vicinity were made at a joint meeting of delegates from the various organizations.

A meeting place large enough to accomodate all the members of those organizations attending will be provided. Plans are being made to secure a speaker of national prominence and an attempt is being made to secure the best musical talent available.

In addition to the organizations mentioned, two representatives from each of the other men's clubs and improvement associations in Quincy will be invited. At the meeting the question of federation will be discussed.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX.

The Legislatures of thirty-four States have ratified the proposed income tax amendment of the Federal Constitution. If two more states join them the three-fourths requisite to ratification will have been achieved. The subject has been before the country for more than three years and there has been some backing and filling among the States owing to the fear that a Federal income tax will cut off one of the existing sources of revenue and will compel them to adopt a scheme to make good the deficiency that will provoke unpopularity.

Massachusetts has an income tax and has had for many years. If to this is added a Federal imposition of the same nature the lot of the tax payer will not be a happy one. It may be added, to clarify the situation, that the ratification by thirty-six States of the amendment will not of itself bring about the establishment of a Federal income tax. The amendment simply authorizes Congress to levy an income tax. It remains for Congress to decide whether incomes shall be taxed or not. Its last experiment along that line was far from successful. The income tax which it enacted in 1894 was set aside by the Supreme Court as unconstitutional, because while it was a direct tax it was not apportioned among the States according to population. To clear the road of briars for the income tax is the purpose of the amendment now before the country.—Boston Transcript.

THANKSGIVING.

Abbie F. Judd.

The grain is garnered in,
The apples ripe are stored,
The yellow pumpkins gleam among,
The farmer's treasured hoard.

The earth is brown and bare,
That once was green and gay;
Where regal Autumn charmed the eye
Dead leaves bestrew the way.

Though clouds be dark o'erhead,
With wind and unshed rain,
The good that once has crowned the earth,
Will make it bloom again.

Then let us thank our God
For spring-time soft and fair—
For April rain and May-day sun
And June's delicious air.

For July showers and heat,
For dreamy August haze.
For cool September's purple fields,
For glad October's days.

For dull November skies,
And barns with harvest filled,
We thank Thee, Lord, who richly blessed
The land Thy servants tilled.

The year to come is Thine,
Thou knowest what will be;
And rain and dew, and wind and sun,
As seemeth best to Thee.

GIVEN FREEDOM ON BAIL

But Lunn Says He Will Not Pay $50 Fine Imposed Upon Him

Little Falls, N. Y., Nov. 18.—George R. Lunn, Socialist mayor of Schenectady, after a night spent in a cell in the Herkimer county jail, where he was taken following his conviction of violating a local ordinance, was in a defiant mood as he prepared plans to appeal his case and secure his release on bail.

The mayor was released on bail. He said as a matter of principle he would never pay the $50 fine, and if necessary he would serve his sentence.

NO CHANGE BY RECOUNT

Democratic Committee to Fill in, in Ward Two

The recount held Saturday night of the caucus votes for Democratic councilmen in Ward Two and of the Republican councilmen in Ward Six did not change the result as reported by the election officers.

In Ward Two there was a tie vote between John F. Brutin and John J. Feeley each having received 42 votes. The recount by the registrars produced the same result and the vacancy will have to be filled by the Democratic City committee.

In Ward Six the recount was held on a petition of John R. Nelson who was defeated by Charles A. Hadlock by five votes.

The result of the recount was that James H. Cunningham lost one vote and Edward F. Parlee gained one vote. This however does not change the result of the caucus as reported by the caucus officers.

GOVERNOR'S THANKSGIVING DAY PROCLAMATION.

By his Excellency, Eugene N. Foss, A Proclamation for a Day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise.

By and with the advice and consent of the Council, I appoint Thursday, the 28th of November, as a Day of Thanksgiving and Praise.

Our Commonwealth is blessed with prosperity and plenty, and we have great cause for thanksgiving in that temporal blessings have been so richly bestowed upon us. It therefore behooves every one, in thankfulness for these gifts, to share them with others; giving, as we have received.

The foundations of the Republic were laid in the conviction that Divine guidance was essential to its permanence and the fulfillment of its high destiny. We reaffirm this truth; and our people, now strong in the possession of self-government, may well return thanks to Almighty God for all that citizenship means in individual responsibility and collective power.

Thanksgiving Day, which is set apart for public and private praise, may also most fittingly be observed by renewing our individual efforts toward higher ideals of personal and civic responsibility, and by rendering thanks that there is a quickened public conscience as to our responsibility for the dependent, the defective and the so-called criminal classes.

Therefore, upon this day, let us meet in our accustomed places of worship reverently giving thanks to God, and seeking, in humility and faith, the pathway of duty.

Given at the Council Chamber, this sixth day of November in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

Eugene N. Foss.

Albert P. Langtry, Secretary.

God Save the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Geographies to Blame.

Ask any hundred English men, women or children what is the name of the capital of Russia and every one of them will reply, "St. Petersburg." It may be a small matter, but in point of fact the proper name is "Petersburg." The English are the only folk who insist upon the "Saint." The city was founded by Peter the Great and is named after him. It is quite true that Peter was one of the most extraordinary men that ever filled a throne, but no one would have been more astounded than himself at being dubbed a saint. He neither lived nor died in the odor of sanctity, and it is hard to find out how it became the English fashion to miscall the splendid town he founded.—London Mail.

Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

WITH MONEY IN HER GRASP

Aged Woman, Violently Insane, Leaps From Window to Death

FIGHTS WITH HER ATTENDANTS

Lamp Is Overturned In Struggle and Three Women Flee From House With Clothing Burned From Their Bodies After Having Been Badly Beaten In Savage Attack

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 18.—While suffering from the hallucination that she was being pursued by burglars, Mrs. Lizzie Fee, 66 years old, desperately attacked and seriously injured three women in her house. An overturned kerosene lamp set the house on fire and then Mrs. Fee jumped to death from a window on the top story, at 1612 Cambridge street.

Mrs. Fee had been a widow many years, and was reported to be wealthy, and owned the house in which she lived, a two and a half story cottage in the vicinity of Harvard college.

For weeks the aged woman had shown evidences of insanity, and last Tuesday Dr. L. A. Thompson was called in to attend her. He placed her in charge of Miss Margaret A. Brown, a professional nurse, who was assisted by Mrs. Annie Dixon and her young daughter, who occupy a part of the Fee cottage.

The aged woman had been desperately violent and seemed to develop superhuman strength since Tuesday. Opiates were constantly administered to quiet her. She refused to respond to the powerful drugs administered to her Saturday night, and early Sunday she got out of bed, tore off her clothing and attacked the three women. She fought them savagely. In the battle Mrs. Dixon, Miss Dixon and Miss Brown received cuts on their heads and faces, their eyes were discolored and closed and they were otherwise disfigured.

In the battle in the little room on the top floor a kerosene lamp was overturned and it exploded, setting fire to the furnishings of the room and the clothing of the four women. Thoroughly terrified, the three women fled from the flame lit chamber and tore from their bodies the flaming clothing. Mrs. Fee ripped the last shred of the burning gown from her body and, clutching some money, she plunged head foremost through the window into the street.

Police Lieutenant Gordon discovered the old woman dying on the sidewalk in front of her home. He called the police ambulance and hurried her to a hospital, where she soon died. Her head was crushed and early every bone in her body was broken.

When the dying woman reached the hospital the surgeons found $380 in the death grasp of her two hands. Believing she was being attacked by burglars, the unfortunate woman had seized all the money she found concealed in her bed and leaped from the window in the effort to escape with it.

Lieutenant Gordon made an immediate investigation of the case, and after a physician had attended the injuries of Miss Brown, Miss Dixon and Mrs. Dixon they related to him the story of their terrible battle with the insane woman. She has relatives in Providence, they said, who had arranged to come to Cambridge Sunday to take charge of Mrs. Fee and remove her to an asylum.

BUSY DAY FOR CUPID

Three Sisters Marry Three Brothers at the Same Time

Owingsville, Ky., Nov. 18.—Cupid had his day in Owingsville and last night six of his "victims" were receiving congratulations, while a minister's purse was fat for having officiated at a triple wedding—three sisters to three brothers.

The principals in the triple wedding were Misses Olive, Sarah and Katherine Story, and Leonard, John and Graham Perkins.

The brides are the only daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Story, 15, 18 and 20 years old, respectively.

SCHOOLGIRLS LOSE BRAIDS

"Jack the Snipper" Has Made His Appearance In Lynn

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 18.—A "Jack the Snipper," who has proved himself every bit as daring as the one who created great fear in the hearts of parents of the schoolgirls of Boston about a year ago, has begun his operations in Lynn.

The snipper first made his appearance in the business section of the city when the streets were thronged with thousands of shoppers, and with great deftness clipped the braided hair of two schoolgirls. He succeeded in making his escape unnoticed.

TAFT'S SWAN SONG

It Ends With a Tribute to Democrat Who Will Succeed Him

New York, Nov. 18.—President Taft, as the guest of the Lotos club, responded to the toast "The President" and sang his "Swan Song" as chief executive of the nation.

He laughed at the outcome of the election; smiled when he spoke of some of the plans of President-elect Wilson and touched with gentle sarcasm William J. Bryan.

In his serious moments the president earnestly advocated the admission to the halls of congress of members of a president's cabinet; declared that a six-year term in the presidency was enough for any man; advocated strongly the placing in the civil service of practically every officer in the government service and hinted broadly that congress should provide for ex-presidents so that they need not lower the dignity of the position they have held when they enter into private life.

His chief regret, the president said, was that he had been unable to influence the United States senate to ratify the arbitration treaty with France and Great Britain.

The president closed his speech with a toast to his successor. "Health and success to the able, distinguished and patriotic gentleman who is to be"—and here he raised his glass while his hearers rose to their feet—"the next President of the United States."

STANDPIPE COLLAPSES

Biggest of Its Kind In Country Damaged to Extent of $5000

Brunswick, Me., Nov. 18.—The top of the biggest concrete standpipe in this country, which is being built here for the Brunswick and Topsham water district, collapsed, causing damage estimated at $5000.

A watchman, making his rounds, had just stepped off the staging when the roof fell in. He was drenched by the water thrown over the top of the standpipe when the 378-ton roof dropped. The standpipe is forty-seven feet high, ninety-seven feet in diameter and holds 2,000,000 gallons of water.

The roof was finished only Saturday. A defect in the false-work below is believed to have caused the collapse.

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL.

"Our Country—God's Country" the topic assigned by the Home Missionary Association for the opening of Home Mission week to be observed by all the Protestant churches in the United States was made very interesting by Dr. Sneath in an able sermon from Acts 1-8—"And ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and all Judea and in Samaria and unto the uttermost part of the earth."

Dr. Sneath spoke of the love which all good Americans have for their country, this land of liberty and enlightment. After we have toured through foreign lands how thankful we are to be home again and how frequently we hear the returning traveller exclaim—"Say what you will there is no country on the face of the earth like this our own. It is God's Country!

"We say its 'Gods' Country' because the people rule and most assuredly they do rule sooner or later, but my friends it is not 'Gods' Country' in the fullest sense until God rules. In the making of 'Our Country Gods Country the church has many serious problems to solves"

Dr. Sneath instanced several of them under the following heads:—The Negro in the United State, Illiteracy in Hawaii, Philipines, Cuba and Porto Rico. The Immigrant, The Liquor Problem. Socialism. All these problems can be solved through two agencies namely Education and the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is a serious menace to this country that so many of its people especially the immigrants of recent years are both illiterate and have no church affiliation whatsoever The church is doing most of the charity work of this country today; a large majority of the setlement workers are church members. Infidelity sings no songs and runs no charities.

But education and social uplift are not alone sufficient. It is for us to obey the command of the Master to "carry the Gospel to every creature and to the uttermost parts of the earth."

Inspiring selections were rendered by the quartette. Anthem TeDeum Katzschnar. Anthem "Lovely Appear" from the "Redemption" Gounod Tenor solo, "Abide with Me" Mr. Spooner.

Wednesday evening of this week occurs the church sociable. All invited. Supper at 6.30.

Thursday, midweek service conducted by Dr. Sneath. Paper by Mrs. Frank E. Perkins. Topic, "The Work of the A. M. A.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN.

An unusually large congregation gathered in the Wollaston Unitarian church, Sunday morning and Rev. Carl G. Horst preached a stirring and able sermon on the topic: Why Smith Should go to Church, taking his text from a part of the 16th verse of Luke 4: "And Jesus Went, as his custom was, into the synagogue on the Sabbath day."

Briefly outlining in the beginning, the treatment of the subject in recent numbers of the Atlantic magazine, the pastor made Smith the representative of a certain type of man found today,—shrewd, practical, kind and generous in his home, seeking his personal advancement in every new phase of science and turning every thought to temporal and tangible gain. So large is the egotism of such a man that he fails to recognize the fact that were everyone of his way of thinking there would be no churches, and none of the high and finer civilization which make possible the many advantages enjoyed by him and his circle of pleasure-loving friends.

Intuitively feeling, as must a man of Smith's ability, that one of his standing and influence should be an attendant at so large an institution as the Church, he unconsciously falls into the habit of seeing many objections to the details of worship. The music falls below his standard of excellence,— or the service fails to minister to his special needs, or the message from the pulpit is too radical or too lacking in spirit,—these and many other reasons, Smith finds to excuse his non-attendance. Another type of man, happily, also, representative of our generation, sees in the Church the fountain head of reverence and of these virtues which lend stability and earnestness of purpose to life. In the Church are nurtured those brave men and women who go out into the world doing deeds of charity and love and whose sympathy and vision enlarge the lives of all whom they meet and help.

These great patient souls have looked back, over the centuries and have seen that the human heart and its deepest needs are the same in the 20th century as in the days when Abraham wept for Sarah, and Jesus went to the synagogue on the Sabbath day.

In all the great crises of life man turns instinctively to the Church for sympathy, be it in experience of joy or of sorrow, and from him who has grown into its sacred associations the Church never turns away.

The rendering of two beautiful solos by Mrs. R. T. Turner greatly enriched the service and the responsive reading for the day including the 90th Psalm, was a fitting prelude to a fine sermon.

The Unitarian Sunday School Union meets this evening at the Church of the Disciples, Jersey and Peterboro streets, Boston; supper at six, meeting at seven.

Women's Alliance will meet Wednesday, at one o'clock. At 2 o'clock there will be a meeting of the executive board and at 3 o'clock Mrs. Carl G. Horst will read a paper on "German Customs."

This month's church supper and social hour will be held Thursday. The entertainment is in charge of a competent committee of which Mrs. Roy Baker is chairman. The Wollaston Alliance fair will be held two days, Dec. 4 and 5 in the church vestry. Each afternoon and evening there will be an entertainment and each performance will be different. Committees of ten have been organized and are hard at work. The following ladies are chairmen of the several committees: Mrs. William E. Rowe, entertainment, tickets and advertising; Mrs. A. C. Armstrong, delicatessen; Miss Helen Foster, candy; Mrs. Harold Green, children's Mrs. J. I. Litchfield, neckwear and handkerchiefs; Mrs. Harrison Loud, Japanese tea room; Mrs. Frank A. Page, grabs; Mrs. Chandler Smith, household; Mrs. W. M. Southworth, bags and sundries. Mrs. William H. Boynton, ice cream.

The Social Service Committee has sent to all members of the Parish cards containing a list of local institutions, namely City Hospital, Tuberculosis Camp, Day Nursery, Associated Charities, No-License League, Playgrounds, King's Daughters, Wollaston Kindergarten, with the request that they mark the societies in which they are specially interested and to which they contribute. All these cards properly filled out are to be returned to Mrs. Chandler Smith, secretary of Social Service Committee of our Church.

There was a large attendance at the Good Citizenship meeting at noon yesterday and a good address by Walter S. Pinkham, Esq.

The Rev. Elmer S. Forbes, secretary of the Department of Social and public Service of the American Unitarian Association will address the congregation Sunday morning, Nov. 24. The aim of this department is to promote in our churches the study of social problems and to encourage them to undertake positive and definite works which will contribute to their solution. It serves as a bureau of information on social subjects.

The annual collection for the Unitarian Sunday School Society will be received Sunday, Nov. 24.

HALL PLACE M. E.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. T. C. Martin of the Hall Place M. E. church, secretary Bromley of the Quincy Y. M. C. A. conducted the morning service, assisted by A. C. Estes, General Secretary of the Naval Y. M. C. A. at Charlestown.

Mr. Estes gave a splendid address on that great work the Y. M. C. A. is doing among the sailors, showing by his enthusiastic words how deeply inspiring the work is and the earnest consecration of the men who are giving their time and talents to this greatly needed work and proving by the concrete cases cited the vital worth of thus spreading the saving influence of the Christ among the sailors.

Sunday school session was held at 12 M., at which time Mr. Estes addressed the school.

The Junior League met at 2.30 P. M. and Miss Maud Nichols lead the Epworth League meeting at 6.15.

The pastor preached at the evening service.

The Teachers Training Class will meet this evening at 7.30 in the vestry.

Tuesday evening the second in the series of lectures will be given. This is to be a witty stereopticon lecture on "Our Sunny South," by Rev. L. W. Adams.

Thursday evening the prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trottman, Town Hill street, after which there will be a christening.

The regular business meeting of the League which should have occurred tonight has been postponed to Tuesday evening, Nov. 26th.

Sunday, Dec. 1st, Miss Ayres will present the work of Morgan Memorial to the Epworth League.

BETHANY CHURCH.

"The Man who cannot be Lost," was the subject of the Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott Sunday evening, when he preached to an audience which taxed the seating capacity of the church, fully one half of the attendance being men. He said in part: "It is recorded of our Lord that as he went about disregarding sacerdotalism, that travesty on religion, but doing so constantly and effectively that the cross on which he died has been an emblem of triumph and victory down through the centuries, that "he could not be hid." It is just so with his attributes. It is so with mere ordinary goodness, which does not herald itself but is ever evident just the same It is so with the man who is truly good. Such a man cannot be lost.

"The Anglo-Saxon is stiff backed, as well as stiff necked and is not easily interested; but there is one thing that will always challenge his attention and receive his homage, and that is goodness. We all respect the good man and the good woman. We admire the good act. Being good does not require wealth or station. There are men and women hungering for the good that we can all do day by day. Let the good words that we may utter and the good deeds that we may do be said and done now, for life is very brief and we shall not pass this way again."

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S.

The choir of St. Chrysostom's church, under the direction of Mrs. George B. Curran, will sing Gounod's cantata Gallia, next Sunday evening.

The Men's Club of St. Chrysostom's church will meet this evening and will listen to an address by John L. Miller.

NEW CHAPEL DEDICATED

Edifice at Braintree Cost $3500, All Paid For

IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES

The new chapel of South Congregational church of Braintree was dedicated Sunday afternoon, the exercises consisting of recitations and songs by members of the Sunday school, an address by the pastor Rev. Tyler E. Gale and by Robert E. Whitman, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Work on the new chapel was begun in June, but subscriptions for it have been collected since 1904, when the first entertainment was held in the Town Hall under the direction of Mrs. Abbie R. Gillette. That entertainment netted $60.

The chapel cost $3500 and it was announced that all but $35 had been paid. This amount, B. F. Dyer, the church treasurer, said had been pledged and would be accounted for at the meeting of the Men's Club Wednesday evening.

The committee in charge of the building consisted of Rev. Tyler E. Gale, Robert E. Whitman and Orville M. Rodgers. The chapel is 55 by 22 feet and on the main floor there is a fully equipped stage. This room can be used for Sunday School classes and banquets. In the basement are banquet halls, a kitchen, library for the smaller Sunday School children and committee rooms. The exercises were in charge of the Umo Club, composed of the larger girls of the Sunday School.

JUDGMENT AGAINST DANBURY HATTERS

Men Who Sued Union Will Get More Than $250,000

Hartford, Nov. 18.—Judgment in the famous Danbury Hatters' case was entered in the United States district court for D. E. Loewe and Martin Fuchs to recover from Martin Lawler and 189 other members of the Danbury Hatters' union the sum of $240,000 damages, $5000 for attorneys' fees and $7,130.90 costs.

The action charged a conspiracy to boycott Loewe's non-union hats in 1902.

Pretty Outfits That Harmonize With the Wearer and Occasion.

Some one who knows has said that any woman can be well dressed for all occasions if she possesses "A smart street suit, a good evening dress and a pretty tea gown."" Add to this a long coat of the order that covers the dress and will do for day or evening wear and most women could get along nicely with this outfit provided all the pieces harmonized and the smaller belongings, hats, footwear, gloves and blouses corresponded.

THE ENSEMBLE COATS.

It's the effect made as a whole that counts, for harmony makes for distinction in dress. Everyone knows how surprisingly improved in appearance many people are when they put on mourning, though sable dress is itself trying to any but a blooming complexion. People who are not sure of their dress instinct would do well to stick to a one-color scheme therefore choosing the quiet tone that is most becoming and varying this with little accessories, in some pretty and fashionable contrasting color which relieves the monotony. Just now pretty contrasting linings are faddish, especially for the long coats of cloth or fur that are a necessity if one is to be well turned out for any occasion—in fact, with the right sort of coat the suit may be dispensed with, and a tailored style of street dress substituted at less cost, since the latter can be easily made by a home dressmaker.

Velveteen dresses after simple models, those of nice corduroy, last well and go almost anywhere, and dresses of satin or serge can be made after the right styles, equally dressy. French designers show great preference for navy blue serge with black satin sashes, collars and buttons and add just a little striking embroidery to the four-inch sash end, giving distinction to the whole garment. Such embroideries can be had at most shops, or are surely to be found where Oriental goods are carried.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

THE LATEST HATS.

While the small hat is the leading favorite, large shapes are not by any means out. In fact, if a woman can not find the right hat this year it must be because she is impossible to suit. Puffy styles in velvet are almost sure to be becoming especially in black and a bit of color can be added in the trimming to harmonize hat and dress, or to increase becomingness. Puffed tam crowns with plainly covered narraw brims are exceedingly popular and the favorite garniture is a bit of paradise feather in its natural yellow tone, or dyed black. A pretty girlish hat of black velvet seen the other day had the crown surrounded by a narrow band of white ostrich that was apparently tied together at the side by a bow of inch-wide white picot-edged ribbon. This ribbon with the looped edge, also all the wider flowered ribbons are decidedly faddish just now, both for hat trimmings and for the flat sashes that every one is wearing.

A TOUCH OF FUR.

A touch of fur is both pretty and exceedingly modish, and when a great variety of pelts are used, almost any one can possess either a pretty fur set or the cosy long coat that every woman would like to own. Skins are now dressed to soft suppleness and linings are so pretty that there is nothing clumsy about such a garment C. C. Shayne are showing many exclusive styles in all sorts of fur garments, and among the special furs for automobile wear designed for style and service one can often secure exceptionally good looking garments at figures that appeal to clever dressers, and still be sure of quality and unexcelled finish. Marmot, which means dyed squirrel, comes this year in some entirely new effects, one closely resembling chinchilla, and combinations are in greatest vogue not only for furs, but all along the line.

NEW FOOTWEAR.

Both slipers and boots emphasize the combination idea. Colored uppers with matching buttons and black foxings are the rule for dress boots. Evening shoes and slippers of black satin are the choice of conservative woman, though slippers to match the dress are especially modish.

UNIFORM STATE TAX RATE

does your ward need most?' Then we put in the order as that man on the finance committee says.

"I believe the sole initiative for streets, sidewalks, sewer, water and other improvements should come from a small body. I should suggest a board of public works of 3 men, one to be elected each year. Give the board sole initiative and have the citizens petition this board for streets. Let these three men make recommendations to the council. In this way we would get better service for the money expended than at present.

"Another thing is the water department. The city is being metered. It ought to be entirely and at once. As soon as the city is metered the minimum water rate ought to be materially reduced.

"A $16 minimum water rate is altogether too high. It should come down to $5 or $6 There should be some amount fixed that families can use without feeling they are increasing their expenses. We should be given a low minimum rate and then let all other takers pay for what they use. The city service should be metered also and a careful account kept of the amount used. Whether this should be charged to the different departments or not is simply a matter of bookkeeping."

In conclusion Mr. Pinkham said that underneath all were things not peculiar alone to Quincy but to all cities in the state. Certain state laws should be changed.

He declared that a flat rate for taxing personal property should be in force so that people would not move to avoid paying taxes. The state as a whole should pay for the schools. The limit on the tax should be done away with and our borrowing capacity be decreased.

Wendell H. Hull offered a motion that the meeting instruct its representatives and senator to do their best to further action regarding the matter of schools favored by Mr. Pinkham. The speaker had been in sympathy with this for some time. Rev. Carl G. Horst inquired how far the state assisted now.

Ex-Mayor Bryant declared the point of raising the limit on taxes was absolutely right. The rules of the council should be changed. The council was to large, it should be 9.

One from each ward is necessary as the wards will never allow going without representation. Three should be elected at large, one each year. The mayor should have a two year term. He hoped the council this year would take some tagible action in this line and also in regard to increasing the limit on taxation.

Ex-Mayor Bryant contrasted the present method of operating city finances to the favorable pay-as-you-go policy of town governments. He also showed the definite reasons for the tax rate increase this year.

The Ex-Mayor declared that certain pernicious legislation regarding cities and towns should be changed. Our borrowing capacity should be decreased and the people either be obliged to go without or to pay as they go.

Eugene H. Sprague quoted Theodore Roosevelt who said "If thinking about a thing until it is too late to do it is being conservative, then I am not conservative." He hoped some action would be taken on Mr. Hull's motion.

Rev. Mr. Horst explained that the object of the forum was to act as a clearing house and a place to talk things over. This was not the place to take action of this kind.

John O'Reilly, Who Died in Quincy, Buried at Ashfield, Ont.

The funeral of John O'Reilly took place Sunday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Michael C. Minihan, 497 South street, Quincy Point. The body was sent to Ashfield, Ontario, where burial will be Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Mr. O'Reilly was 90 years of age and his death leaves but one of the original band of emigrants who settled in Ashfield in 1843. He lived there until he came to Quincy a year ago on a visit.

He was born in County Kerry, Ireland, and came to America in 1843. Mr. O'Reilly leaves 10 children, 14 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren. One son and five daughters accompanied the body to Ontario.

INTERNATIONAL MAP OF WORLD

First Sheets of United States Part Show New England

The first sheet of the United States portion of the international map of the world has just been issued by the United States Geological Survey, and includes Rhode Island and portions of New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and Nova Scotia.

This world map, recently undertaken by agreement with the leading Nations, is being prepared on a scale of nearly 16 miles to the inch. The entire map is to consist of about 1500 sheets, covering all the land areas of th world, each sheet representing four degrees of latitude and six of longitude.

The sheets will be numbered according to a scheme covering the whole world, and the symbols indicating the natural features and the works of man will be uniform on all the sheets. It has long been the dream of geographers to have an international map scientifically constructed on a uniform scale and the work is now well under way.

The maps now available, printed on all sorts of scales, in geographies and atlases, where important areas are given the greatest space, lead to misconceptions as to the relative size of different countries.

Thus it is not often realized that the area of Ireland and Scotland is less than either of our five largest States; that Texas is larger than France, that New Mexico and Arizona are each larger than the area of Bulgaria and Roumania, Servia and Montenegro combined, or that Argentina is three times the size of our 13 original States

With an international map on a uniform scale the study of comparative geography will be far more fascinating and instructive.

The sheet just issued, which is numbered "North K 19," and known as the Boston sheet, is printed in six colors and shows all the principal cites and towns, railroads, main wagon roads and other works of man the rivers, lakes and other water features, the different depths of the ocean and the altitudes of the land surface. This sheet is 24 by 25 inches. The entire United States portion will be about 16 feet in width.

The sheets of the completed map of the world, if combined, would cover an area of 150 feet, by 75 feet or a globe 40 feet in diameter.

At the present rate of progress the United States portion of the international map should be finished within eight or 10 years, and the Geological Survey says "it will be by far the best map of the country in existence." There is, in fact, no very accurate map of the United States as a whole, although the survey publishes a base map about seven feet in width, and the general land office has issued a similar one.

The Geological Survey has topographically mapped more than one-third of the United States, but these maps are mostly on a scale of one inch or two inches per mile and are too large for ordinary comparative purposes."

As a preliminary to the issuance of the completed color sections, the Survey is printing, in black and white, maps on the scale of 1 to 500,000—four times as large as the world's map of the same area. Such maps have been printed for Vermont, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Mississippi and Georgia, and a dozen others are in process of publication. These are sold at prices varying with the size.

FLOATING LIFE SAVING STATION.

After completing its 12th year of service the City Point South Boston floating station of the U. S. L. S. S. that has done excellent work in saving of lives and property to the yachtsmen of South Boston and Dorchester, is out of commission for the season. She will be towed to Quincy. That a new station will take the place of the old one when the summer season opens next March is the belief of many. Senator Lodge has been interested in the matter, as has Congressman Curley, in the securing of more adequate service in this, the busiest of summer district stations.

GREAT STAMPEDE FOR FEDERAL JOBS

Wilson Will Have $30,000,000 In Patronage to Give Out

Washington, Nov. 18.—The great rush for government jobs under the Wilson administration has begun. Democrats from the four corners of the United States and even from abroad are already starting their run towards the pie counter, which has been closed tight against them sixteen years.

It is difficult to give an accurate statement of the exact money value in salaries that will be at the disposition of President Wilson after March 4, but it has been estimated generally that the total will not fall far short of $30,000,000 a year.

If Wilson should yield to the demands that will surely be made upon him for the revocation of the executive order putting the fourth class postmasters under the civil or classified service, this immense sum will be increased.

He directed that the five alienists who are examining into Schrank's mental condition continue their observations till such time as they are convinced there is no possibility for an error in their judgment.

The insinuations referred to were published in a local paper, and contained several letters and messages received by the public prosecutor.

DELAYS REPLY TO CONDITIONS

Turkey Hesitates and Bulgarians Renew Their Attack

BOMBARDING MILES OF FORTS

Dardanelles May Be Attacked to Relieve Army Before Constantinople—Terror of Population In Capital Increasing—Allies Triumphing In Other Parts of Turkey

London, Nov. 18.—While the sublime porte appears to have let the twenty-four hour period go by without replying to the allies' statement of armistice conditions, the Bulgarian army before Constantinople is attacking the Turkish fortifications along a twenty-mile front and small parties which have crept around the Turkish right flank as far as Kilios are probably attempting a turning movement.

It is also reported the allies will make an assault on the Dardanelles, with the purpose of avoiding unnecessary loss of life in front of Constantinople by delivering attacks upon the two outlets of the Sea or Marmora at the same time.

Although the general opinion continues to be that the Turks in the Tchatalja trenches are in poor condition, and cholera is ravaging their ranks, a few correspondents describe the Ottomans as well fed and preparing to put up the most desperate resistance of the war. It is said that the government has 60,000 men on the way from Asia Minor.

Although the dispatches do not indicate a reply to the allies in the twenty-four-hour period which the allies named as their limit, the negotiations will go on simultaneously with hostilities.

While the combatants are now treating directly, less is heard of the Austro-Servian difficulty. The powers seem to be satisfied with the allies' demand for the internationalization of Constantinople, a condition desired by commercial interests in every European capital.

A new danger has arisen, however, in the action of Roumania in massing her troops on the Bulgarian frontier. The cause is obscure, but it is said Roumania does not wish the most harsh demands of the allies to be complied with. Russia, on the other hand, appears to be encouraging the allies.

The conditions in the city of Constantinople have taken a turn for the worse. Convoked by the foreign minister, the international sanitary board met Sunday for the purpose of adopting measures to combat the cholera.

The terror of the population is increased by the thunder of big guns, which can be heard distinctly and continuously, as the Bulgarians attempt to batter to pieces the forts supposed, until this campaign, to be impregnable.

In other parts the arms of the allies are triumphing. The Greeks are in a fever of rejoicing over the capture of Mount Athos, in Chalcidice.

King Nicholas of Montenegro, attempting to go near Scutari aboard a steamer on Lake Scutari, was fired upon. The Montenegrins are fighting sanguinary engagements with the Turks daily, but there seems to be little that is decisive about these encounters. The Servians are completing their subjugation of Albania.

The Greeks are on their way to the important city of Janina, which is held by a large force of Turks.

Great Struggle Raging

Constantinople, Nov. 18.—The great battle between the Bulgarians and Turks is on all along the line of the Tchatalja fortifications. Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, sent the following dispatch last night:

"The battle which commenced this morning with an attack by the Bulgarian infantry lasted until one hour after sunset. The enemy, who advanced chiefly facing our right wing and our centre, was repulsed by our infantry and artillery fire. Three Bulgarian batteries were destroyed."

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SOME THANKSGIVING ICES.

BETTER than the creams sold in the shops is a nice ice prepared at home and served firm and fresh at the feast.

Many fruits are out of season, and, while a fruit ice is delicious, it is not always available.

Fruit Ices.

Pineapple Frappe.—Pare and grate up a ripe firm pineapple. Place two cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water on the fire in an enameled saucepan.

Boil three minutes, then cool and mix with the grated pineapple. Add one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Put into a freezer, which has been packed with ice and salt, and churn ten to fifteen minutes.

The freezer should be packed with two parts ice and one part salt. After it has been frozen pack with ice and salt until ready to serve.

Lemon Sherbet.—Take a quart of water and boil with two and a half cupfuls of sugar until reduced to a sirup. Remove and set aside to cool. Then add the juice of four large lemons and one large orange. Strain and put this mixture into a freezer. Freeze till it begins to thicken and then add the beaten whites of two eggs. Continue to freeze for a few minutes longer and then serve in glasses.

Delectable Creams.

Maple Mousse.—Take the yolks of six eggs, a pint of whipped cream and a cupful and a half of maple sirup.

Beat the yolks of the eggs until light, add the maple sirup, beat one minute and then put into the top part of a double boiler and stir until it thickens. Do not let it boil or it will curdle. Set aside to cool. Whip the cream until stiff and light, then add the cooled egg and sirup, mix well, fill into a melon mold that has been rinsed in cold water, cover the mold and pack in ice and salt two hours. Turn out on a dish, garnish with macaroons and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Bisque Ice Cream.—Take two cupfuls of scalded milk, two quarts of thin cream, a cupful of sugar, an egg, a tablespoonful of flour, an eighth of a teaspoonful of salt and three tablespoonfuls of vanilla.

Mix flour, sugar and salt, add the egg slightly beaten and the milk and cook over hot water twenty minutes, stirring constantly at first. Should the custard have a curdled appearance it will disappear in freezing. When cool add cream and flavoring and then finely chopped hickory or English walnuts and freeze.

PUDDINGS FOR THANKSGIVING.

HERE are some recipes for puddings. They range from the simplest fruit combinations to elaborate plum puddings suitable for the most sumptuous board.

The puddings may form part of the ordinary bill of fare or may be a feature of the Thanksgiving feast, as best suits the taste or convenience of the housewife.

Steamed and Baked Puddings.

Nut and Fruit Pudding.—Take one-half pound of suet, one cupful of sugar, one nutmeg, half a cupful of milk, eighteen maraschino cherries, four eggs beaten together, four cupfuls of stale breadcrumbs, half a pound of raisins, one tablespoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of salt, half a pound of English walnuts.

Chop suet and nuts fine and mix all ingredients thoroughly. Fill a covered mold three-quarters full and steam three hours. Serve with sauce.

Quick Plum Pudding.—Take five large apples chopped fine, a cupful of seeded, washed raisins, half a cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, another of sweet milk, five eggs, a cupful of flour and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat well, bake one hour and eat with hard or brandy sauce.

Two Novel Desserts.

Grandmother's Pudding.—Take one pint of milk, one pint of molasses; beat these and stir well together. Beat the whites of four eggs and the yolks of five separately until light and stir into the milk and molasses. Add three-quarters of a pound of finely chopped suet and stir in enough Indian meal to make a thick batter; add a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a little grated nutmeg, half a pound of seeded raisins. Beat the mixture together thoroughly. Steam six hours. Serve hot with melted maple sugar and butter beaten together.

Cracker Plum Pudding.—Take one and a half pounds of soda crackers, buttered and soaked in sweet milk. Mash, add four beaten eggs, one and one-half pounds of seeded raisins, a cupful of good molasses, one half-teaspoonful of ground cinnamon, half a nutmeg grated, one-eighth teaspoonful of ground cloves. Put a layer of the batter in the bottom of a baking dish, then a layer of raisins, sprinkled with flour, and continue until all material is used, with a layer of batter on the top. Bake two and a half or three hours in a rather slow oven.

Sauce may be made as follows: One cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, beaten till light, then add four teaspoonfuls of thick, sweet cream. Flavor with vanilla.

HAS MANIA FOR SLAYING BOYS

Suspect Arrested as Much Sought For Murderer

ADMITS BEING BOSTON MAN

Postal Cards Mailed In Hub to Buffalo Police Say That Writer Had Irresistible Impulse to Commit Crime—Little Fellow With "Sterns" When Little Fellow With "Stearns" When

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 18.—"George H. Sterns," under arrest here and suspected of being the murderer of small boys, who has admitted three murders and a dozen other attempts, last night confessed to the police that he is a Boston man and that about a year ago he was in Buffalo.

His measurements and general description, the police assert, coincide almost perfectly with those of the man who was seen with Joseph Josephs, murdered in Lackawanna, near Buffalo, a year ago, and whose mutilated body was found in a cesspool Saturday following instructions mailed on a postal card by the confessed murderer.

While Stearns strenuously denies any connection whatever with the Josephs murder, his actions indicate, the police declare, that he has some knowledge of the fact that a murder occurred, while his actions here make the charge against him look more firmly grounded.

Chief of Police Quigley and Captain of Detectives Whaley of this city gave the following version of his apprehension here:

"Stearns was arrested in a saloon in company with Wesley Meyers, 12 years old, who, through the offer of a bag of candy and a handful of pennies, he had induced to accompany him to his room, where the child had passed the previous night. On his way to the room Stearns stopped to get a drink in a nearby saloon and it was the fact that he allowed the boy to accompany him into the barroom that led to his capture.

"The youth of the lad attracted the attention of some of the patrons of the place, who informed the police. Keyed up by the news from Lackawanna and noting what they believed to be a similar procedure in the two cases, the officers decided to take both man and boy to the station. There, after being put through a rigid examination, in which his answers failed to satisfy the officers, Stearns was locked up as a suspect."

The Josephs Murder

Buffalo, Nov. 18.—Confession of at least three murders, and admission that there are still more, is contained in postal cards dated from Boston by the murderer of 6-year-old Joseph Josephs, received by the police and made public here.

The murder of the boy, whose body in decomposed fragments has just been found in a cesspool near his home in Lackawanna after a search for over a year, is believed by the police to be but one of a long series of similar crimes throughout the country. The man, according to his own confessions, has an irresistible mania for killing boys. The discovery of Josephs' body was made by following the minute directions contained in the cards.

The police and federal authorities in Boston and New York have been asked to help the local officials to find the murderer.

MISTAKEN FOR A DEER

Maine Guide Is Shot and Killed by an Indiana Man

Skowhegan, Me., Nov. 18.—Sheriff Moores received the report of a coroner's jury that Warren Holden of Jackson was shot and killed at Sandy Bay by William Wilding of Indianapolis.

Holden, was was a guide for Wilding on a hunting trip, was mistaken for a deer. He signed an explanation before he died absolving Wilding from blame for the shooting. Deputy Sheriff Foss will leave here for Jackman today to serve a warrant on Wilding.

Dartmouth Again Defeated

Cambridge, Mass,. Nov. 18.—Three points made on a drop-kick by Brickley gave Harvard a 3 to 0 victory over Dartmouth and sent the Green team back to Hanover defeated for the fifth year in succession. It was a hard-fought contest.

Story Writer Sued

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 18.—Camille Fairchild, a short story writer of Lexington, has been attached for $10,000 in an action of tort, by a writ filed here by counsel for Catherine A. Burgess of Boston. Libel and slander are alleged.

Morse In London

London, Nov. 18.—Charles W. Morse, the ex-banker, has arrived in London, accompanied by his wife. He will spend a few days here before going to the continent to take "the cure."

PASTOR RUSSELL IS CHALLENGED

A Complete Answer to the Query, "Who Ordained Him?"

The Whole Subject Clarified For the Public Benefit—Clergy and Laity Unscriptural Terms.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 17.—As always, Pastor Russell got the crowds today. We report his discourse on Ministerial Ordination and Titles. Very evidently it is a reply to an attack recently made upon him by a Mr. W. T. Ellis, field editor of The Continent, and alias, the "Religious Rambler." Ellis claims that Pastor Russell's ordination as Pastor is fraudulent. The address shows that Pastor Russell fully understands the situation. He fully justified his position before his vast audience and showed up the "Rambler" editor in the unenviable light of either being ignorant of the subjects discussed, or attempting to deceive the public. His text was, "Not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised Him from the dead" (Gal. i. 1). He said:—

The time has come for telling the people what the Bible teaches respecting ordination to teach and preach. The doctrine of Apostolic Succession started in the second century A. D. The bishops claimed that they had the same authority that Jesus gave to the twelve Apostles. Upon this claim they ordained the inferior clergy.

This principle is wholly unscriptural. According to the Bible, the Church of Christ is not composed of two parts, clergy and laity. Jesus declared, "All ye are brethren; One is your Master, Christ." St. Paul shows that in the early Church the ministers were the servants of the flock. They were of the people, chosen by them by the stretching forth of the hand.

Many of the reformers coveted the titles accorded the Catholic clergy. They did not care to tell the congregation that its word was supreme, and that its ministers were merely its servants. Others, realizing that these titles were unscriptural, declined to use them; preferring to be called pastor. My Bible Student associates, knowing my objection to the title "Reverend," address me as Pastor. I am the elected Pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle congregation, and also of the London Tabernacle congregation, and I fail to see ground for criticism in this respect, nor do I attack Christian brethren who accept other and unscriptural titles.

Must Pastors Be Ordained?

Ordination is necessary to the office of pastor. The question is, What constitutes an ordination to preach amongst the people of God?

This question has received various answers. The Roman, Anglican and Greek Churches, claiming Apostolic Succession, declare that authorization to preach must come through their apostle-bishops, and have not allowed Protestant ministers to enter their pulpits—until the Episcopalians, about a year ago granted this concession. Of course, if their proposition were correct, I am just as much unordained as all other Protestant ministers—and no more so.

Each denomination at its beginning was opposed by all others; yet each taught that the clergy were separate from the laity. Only since the organization of the Evangelical Alliance (1846) have the different sects of Christendom acknowledged each other's ordinations. Each denomination makes use of such ceremonies as it deems proper. If, therefore, the congregation of Christian believers in Brooklyn and London ordain or appoint me as their pastor, it is their own choice what ceremonies, if any, shall accompany that ordination. Who can dispute this? No Protestant denomination, surely; for their own ordinations are on this very basis.

The subject of ordination seems to have fallen into confusion during the Dark Ages. St. Paul particularly emphasizes the fact that he did not receive his commission as preacher and Apostle of Christ from his brother Apostles, but by Divine authorization. This is the Scriptural principle underlying Divine Ordination to the ministry of Christ.

No denomination claims that the ordination of its ministers either made or kept them perfect. All admit that there have been sad failures amongst their ordained ministers. Neither would they claim that ordination has given their ministers superior discernment of Divine Truths. On the contrary, it has injured the clergy by making many of them domineering and lordly, contrary to the spirit and teachings of Christ and the Apostles; and the laity by leading them to conclude that merely secular matters should engage their attention.

The True Ordination.

Finally the Pastor showed the true ordination to be the impartation of the Holy Spirit. Whoever receives this has God's authority to be His ambassador and mouthpiece. Such show the work of the Holy Spirit regenerating their minds and hearts, giving them insight into the Scriptures, and enabling them to be God's mouthpieces, ministers of His Truth.

BATTLE IN CHURCH

Haverhill Greeks Go at It Hot and Heavy Until Police Arrive

Haverhill, Mass., Nov. 18.—A squad of policemen were called to the Greek Orthodox church yesterday afternoon to quell a fight among the 500 men of the congregation, who were belaboring each other with long strips of flooring in the heat of religious discussion.

The appearance of the officers had a quieting effect on the combatants. They dropped their weapons and retired to opposite sides of the church, each faction carrying its wounded.

There were found to be a number of broken heads and bleeding faces among the congregation, but after receiving a promise of future peace the policemen withdrew without making any arrests.

It is said the trouble started over the election of a committee to control the affairs of the church. There are two factions in the congregation, it is understood, one supporting the priest and the other opposed to him.

ENEMY SEEKS VENGEANCE

Denver Man Says He Has Been Pursued For Several Years

Denver, Nov. 18.—M. A. Root, a member of a Denver tobacco firm, was shot and seriously wounded at his home by a man he says he recognized as a boyhood enemy at Ripon, Wis.

Root said he trouble started in Iowa, shortly after he left school in Wisconsin, when his home was robbed. He said he recognized the burglar as James Divinney. He had Divinney arrested and he was sentenced to prison. At that time, Root declares, Divinney swore vengeance.

Several times in the last fifteen years since he has resided in Denver, Root has been attacked, shot and once locked in his safe and nearly suffocated. On each occasion Root declares he recognized his assailant as Divinney.

MERCHANTS' LIMITED LEAVES THE RAILS

Two More Serious Smashups on the New Haven Road

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 18.—With one person near to death and eighteen others nursing serious injuries the victims of the "cross over" wreck of the Merchants' Limited on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad eight miles from this city, are congratulating themselves that they were not instantly crushed to death.

This, the third of a series of similar accidents, occurred Saturday evening, when the flier, bound for New York, was speeding along at fifty miles an hour. As the locomotive took the "cross over" the three cars immediately following it swerved, wrenched, twisted and finally left the rails, bumping along over cross ties, until they overturned.

An examination of the tracks immediately after the accident showed that two of the four sets of rails were ripped up for a distance of more than a hundred feet. A thirty foot length of rail was found curled upward from the bed of the track and bent across the paralleling track.

Still Another Smashup

Putnam, Conn., Nov. 18.—One man was killed and another severely injured Sunday morning in a rear-end collision between two freight trains on the New York, New Haven and Hartford road a mile north of this place.

Train 412 crashed into train 410, which was standing on the track while repairs were being ade on the engine. Henry E. Brooks, head brakeman of 412, was thrown between the cars and killed instantly. Eighteen cars were demolished.

KEEPS GOVERNOR'S JOB

Hawley Drops Purpose to Resign For United States Senatorship

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 18.—Governor Hawley has decided not to resign his office to accept the United States senatorship at the hands of Lieutenant Governor Sweetser and has appointed Judge Perkey of Boise to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Heyburn.

Governor Hawley in a statement said the acceptance of the senatorship from Sweetser practically would be appointing himself and that he would not take the office under that condition.

Bay State to Lead Progressives

Boston, Nov. 18. — Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter to the Progressive committee of Massachusetts, declares Massachusetts is to take the lead in the Progressive fight. He says one of the striking features of the campaign is that the defeat did not bring discouragement with it.

—A million and a quarter of pupils are going to High schools in this country, says one authority, and the number of such schools and pupils has doubled in 12 years. In various lines the nation has been going with much speed since 1900, but in this direction the speed can truly be said to show a condition that speaks well for the country at large.—Brockton Enterprise.

NEWTON SCORED ON DRAFTSMAN

Visitors First Ones to Do the Trick This Season

The association football match between the Fore River Draftsmen and Newton Upper Falls, A. A. was played Saturday, on the Ward Two playground, Quincy Point, the home ground of the Fore River Draftsmen and resulted in a win for that eleven by 3 goals to 1.

The game was well contested throughout, and free from objectionable features, but a fairly strong wind militated against really accurate work. In the first half the Draftsmen, having the advantage of the wind, kept up a strong pressure, and scored three times through Laidlaw two, and Campbell one.

From the change of ends, however, matters were reversed, and the Newton men came strong. For some time their efforts were unsuccessful, but finally they caught the defence napping, and scored the first goal that has been registered against the shipbuilders this year.

The home team was unfortunate not to score again, missing some good chances.

The line up of Fore River Draftsmen is as follows:—E. Altstein, goal; A. P. Artis, and B. G. Barnes, backs; J. W. Hendry, G. V. Gregg and C. Bartlett, half-backs; R. S. Brother, J. McLay, J. G. Laidlaw, H. M. Giffen and A. C. Campbell, forwards.

BRIEFS

George L. Gill Rebekah Lodge will initiate candidates Thursday evening.

Maple Lodge, K. and L. of H. will held a whist party in Electa Hall, Wednesday evening.

The sale of the arts and crafts committee at the Quincy Women's club house has been postponed until Nov. 26.

Miss Marion Cummings of 22 Franklin street, has accepted a position as stenographer with R. H. Comely of Boston.

The annual fair of the ladies of Bethany church will be held tomorrow, and includes a supper and entertainment.

The second meeting of the First church Men's club will be held Tuesday evening. Supper will be served at 6.30 o'clock sharp.

An all day meeting of the Fragment society of First church is to be held Wednesday to sew for the fair to be held early in December.

Mrs. Merton Seller of South street and Mrs. Daniel Scouler, Jr., of Washington street have returned from Stockbridge, where they were suddenly called by the illness of their youngest sister, Mrs. Hugh L. Barnes. Mrs. Barnes underwent an operation for acute appendicitis at the House of Mercy hospital in Pittsfield over two weeks ago and her many friends in this city will be glad to learn that she is well on the way to recovery.

And after the present administration is ended progressive citizens in all the states will look to a democratic administration to carry on the work of river, harbor and canal improvement now under way on the ground that the platform of the democrats is even stronger than the platforms of other parties with respect to this very vital question.

The result of the general election, while it does not affect the advancement of sentiment for waterway improvement in harmony with the doctrines of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, has in a number of instances changed the personnel of the committees of both houses having to deal with river and harbor appropriations.

The Senate Committee on Commerce which consists of seventeen numbers, lost two—Messrs. Bourne of Oregon. Republican, and Percy of Mississippi, Democrat—while the House Committee on rivers and harbors, consisting of twenty-one members, lost eight—three Democrats, Messrs. Ransdell of Louisana, Ellerbe of South Carolina and Boehne of Indiana; Lawrence of Massachusetts, Davidson of Wisconsin, Young of Michigan, Rodenberg of Illinois and Kennedy of Iowa, Republicans.

The only member of the House Committee who will continue in Congress is Mr. Ransdell, who has been elected to the Senate. His distinguished service not only in the House but as President, since its reorganization of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, should in the very nature of things place him upon the Commerce Committee of the Senate.

The hold-over Senators on the Commerce Committee are Messrs. Nelson of Minnesota, Perkins of California, Smith of Michigan, Stephenson of Wisconsin, Burton of Ohio, Burnham of New Hampshire,, Crawford of South Dakota and Oliver of Pennsylvania, Republicans; Martin of Virginia, Simmons of North Carolina, Newlands of Nevada, Bankhead of Alabama, Fletcher of Florida and Reed of Missouri, Democrats.

Now that the Democrats are practically assured of control of the Senate, Mr. Nelson will be retired from the chairmanship of the Commerce Committee for a Democrat, the membership of the committee being increased by the addition of four to make up the ten, the apportionment accorded to the majority party. There are nine Republican members of the committee holding over, two of whom would have to be eliminated, and six hold-over Democrats.

As the election did not change the party complexion of the House, the apportionment of the Rivers and Harbors Committee will remain the same, with Mr. Sparkman, of Florida, as chairman. The new members, assuming the present members reelected will be reappointed, there will be three Democrats and five Republicans

Besides the chairman, the reelected Democrats are Burgess of Texas, Humphreys of Mississippi, Taylor of Alabama, Edwards of Georgia, Small of North Carolina, Booher of Missouri, Gallagher of Illinois, Driscoll of New York, Donohoe of Pennsylvania and Scully of New Jersey, Democrats; Humphreys of Washington and Barchfeld of Pennsylvania, Republicans.

HARDWICK MUCH IN EVIDENCE

In the Harvard-Dartmouth Football Scrimmage

WORK COMMENDED

Huntington R. Hardwick the Harvard left half back, is making a name for himself on the football gridiron. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Theodore Hardwick of 50 Chestnut street, in this city. Here is the Boston Globe comment on his playing in the game Saturday against Dartmouth:

"Hardwick attempted a forward pass, which hit the ground and Felton punted over the goal line. Putting the ball in play from his 20-line line. Llewellyn, who had come back into the game and relieved Ghee, essayed a forward pass, but was caught back of the line by Dana and lost five yards.

In the second half the Crimson opened up a bit and tried a very few fakes. They also tried end runs, some of which were good. Dana, however, is not a fast funner and that play takes speed. Hardwick was the best at it and made one very pretty run of 29 yards to the center of the field on a fake forward pass.

Hardwick, who played at end when Felton dropped back to kick or to pull off a trick play, gave the best exhibition of end playing of any man on the field. He was down under the wicks ahead of O'Brien and his tackling was sure and hard. He was not much used to carry the ball, and in comparison with the gains made by Brickley and Wendell his were not important.

Hardwick is Harvard's strong man. He studied in the Quincy schools when a boy and prepared for Harvard college at Groton.

BRIEFS

Mrs. Robert Harding, of Botolph street, is spending the week with her daughter Mrs. Coyle S. Allan of Worcester.

The time for filing nomination papers of candidates to be voted for at the municipal election expires Wednesday at 5 o'clock.

Rt. Wor. Walter S. Pinkham, district deputy of the 26th Masonic district and suite will make an official visitation to Wollaston lodge tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Richardson of Gay street, have returned from a two weeks' visit to Mr. Richardson's sster in Hartford, Conn., the first time in 30 years.

The City Council Committee on Licenses wil give a hearing Thursday evening, on the application of Hayman Socket for a slaughter house license at South Quincy.

The Board of Trade holds a public hearing in the Council Chamber, City Hall Tuesday evening to protest on the present train service between Quincy and Boston.

It is reported that the three candidates for Mayor will speak at the meeting of the Park and Downs Improvement association at the Wollaston Yacht club house Tuesday evening.

FUNERAL SERVICE.

The funeral service of Miss May Dexster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dexster of Atlantic street took place at the Memorial church on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. A quartett composed of Miss Jordine Davison, Miss Maud Read, W. Norton Stetson and Kenneth Blake, sang "Some Blessed Day," and "My Heavenly Home."

Miss Dexster was fourteen years old, She was a member of the eighth grade of the Quincy school.

REVISION OF TARIFF

Democratic Senators and Representatives Differ as to Form

Washington, Nov. 18.—The form that tariff revision is to take before the special session of congress next spring has become a matter of strong individual opinion among Democratic senators and congressmen now here.

Many members now favor a general bill, covering many or all schedules of the tariff law, to be framed as a partial or complete substitute for the Payne-Aldrich law. Those who advance this plan claim it would be the speediest way of fulfilling tariff pledges.

Others favor combining in a single bill those measures passed during the last two years, but vetoed by President Taft, and the preparation of other single schedule bills to follow this measure.

QUINCY LACKS DASH AND SPIRIT

In Game Against Rindge, Showed Weakness in Defense

SNAPPY WORK OF VISITORS

Quincy High football team lost to Rindge at Merrymount Park Saturday afternoon, 13 to 0. During the first period. Quincy was out classed but they came back and played an even game in the second period. Their offensive work in the last half was of good quality but they were very poor on the defensive.

A lack of the fighting spirit and dash which defeated Brockton was noticeable, particularly the ragged line on most plays. Forward passes which would have netted a gain resulted in fumbling the ball and a disregard of signals was apparent at different times.

Rindge scored in the first five minutes of play and had things their own way in that period. Quincy was near the line a couple of times but could not rush the ball over.

The best play Quincy made was a perfect drop kick from the 30 yard line by Sam Prout. The line held, the ball sailed over the bar, but the referee said that "Kip" Young, the centre, moved the ball six inches before passing it and on the sceond try the play fizzled.

Prout maintained that no rule had been broken and that if the ball had been moved it was in play and Rindge should have tackled Young. The referee would not admit the argument.

Quincy winds up its season Nov. 25, when they play Waltham.

SHAW EASILY STAR PERFORMER

Fall River Eliminated From the America Cup Series

FORE RIVER WON HANDILY

Shaw, the center forward of the Fore River soccer team, kicked five of the six goals scored against Fall River at the Ward Three grounds Saturday. Harrison, another star player, made the other goal.

It was the second time the local lads defeated the Fall Rivers and the winners eliminated the visitors from further playing in the American cup series.

ALMOST LOST HIS THUMB

Peculiar Accident to Alfred N. LaBrecque

Alfred N. LaBreque nearly had the thumb of his left hand severed Sunday by its coming in contcat with a safety razor blade. It seems that the blade was on a shelf and in putting his hand up to the shelf he ran his hand along the shelf and in doing so ran it along the blade. One of the cords of the thumb was cut and the thumb nearly severed.

HARVARD SOCCER TEAM

May Play Fore River Team Wednesday In Ward Two

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

If the arrangements of B. G. Barnes of the Fore River Draftsmen can be completed, that team will play the Harvard soccer team on the Ward Two playgrounds Wednesday afternoon.

The local team organized early in the season and has perfected an effective lineup.

If the Harvard team agrees to play it will be the first time a university has recognized Quincy as a soccer football center, although it has been the home of the best teams in America.

It is within the memory of residents when Harvard varsity football and baseball teams appeared here in an annual game, and in the early days of Adams Academy many of its students attained national fame in athletics after entering Harvard college.

The men of the Fore River yard are taking an added interest in the proposed game and feel pleased at the progress of negotiations. If the game with Harvard is secured there will be without a doubt one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a local game on hand.

—This dispatch is sent from Los Angeles to the New York Tribune: "According to the Tautomu Funamoto, an official of Japan, who is here, the Japanese government is encouraging the large importation and consumption of American beef as a means of increasing the stature of the average Japanese." And yet the run of Japanese are supposed to be poor. Must get their American beef cheaper than we do.—Brockton Enterprise.

OUTCLASSED AT BASKET BALL

SCORE 46 TO 4

The local basket-ball season was opened Saturday night when the Association Employed Boys defeated the Melrose Five, by the overwhelming score of 46 to 4. The visitors had already won four games and were confident of taking Quincy into camp, but the game had not been going more than three minutes, before it was shown that the victory was coming Quincy's way. Scores came in such rapid succession that the score keeper had difficulty in keeping his figures up to time. Thomas led the local boys in scoring with Price a close second. The score could have been much larger, but the players devoted the greater part of the second half to passing the ball, and the way it was sent around the floor was a treat to the spectators. Several of the boys on this team are fighting for places on the first and second teams, and if their good work is kept up, they should certainly qualify.

The summary:

SOLDIERS DID NOT SHOW UP

No Explanation of Their Unsportsmanlike Conduct

Great dissatisfaction was expressed at Merrymount Park, Saturday afternoon because the Fort Banks football team sidestepped its game with the Quincy A. A.. According to newspaper reports soldiers played the Chelsea Y. M. C. A. and received a beating.

Manager William H. Flynn extensively advertised the game and because Qiuncy High and Rindge played earlier in the afternoon there was a large crowd on hand to see a double-header.

About ten o'clock Saturday morning Manager Flynn was apprised of the change. He has had a similar experience with the Hilton A. C. of Norwood and the Millstream A. C. of Chelsea.

Fort Banks bas been playing good football and it was with great surprise that Quincy rooters received the news of their unsportsmenlike stand.

Manager Flynn states that the only way to avoid this unpleasantness is to organize a league and deposit a guarantee at the beginning of the season. He says the reputation of the Quincy A. A. boys has taken the heart out of many teams who refuse to play them, and that no excuse can be accepted from the Fort Banks crowd for quitting in the last hours.

CAPTAIN OF THE BASKET TEAM

Unusual Honor to Quincy Boy First Year in College

To be chosen captain of the basket ball team in his freshman year is the unusual honor recorded Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., of this city who is studying lay at the University of Maine.

He is the son of Attorney Frank A. Tirrell and is a graduate of the Quincy High school, class of 1910. He was captain of the basket ball team in that year and brought the playing up to a high standard. He afterward played on the Makaria and Y. M. C. A. teams.

THE QUINCY DAILY LEDGER

LARGEST GUARANTEED CIRCULATION IN THE CITY

Vol. 27 No. 271 | QUINCY, MASS., TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 19, 1912 | PRICE TWO CENTS

REMOVAL OF $12 TAX LIMIT FAVORED BY CITY COUNCIL

Final Action on Purchase of Fire Insurance Property to Widen Coddington Street

Tyler Street Residents Object to Betterment Assessment

Although Monday night's meeting of the City Council was hardly more than half an hours' duration considerable important business was transacted. The most important final action, perhaps was on the order widening Coddington street at its junction with Washington street by taking the property of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Two years ago the City Council passed an order appropriating $4,500 to purchase this land and building. The Insurance Company however refused to accept the amount and the money has been laying idle in the City Treasury ever since.

This year the order provides for the widening of Coddington street and appropriating $2,000 in addition to the amount of $4,500 already appropriated. The order was referred to the next City Council once but later recalled, and amended and Monday night the order passed.

The other important matters were the two resolves introduced by Councilman Cunningham. One of these requested the Mayor to petition the legislature of 1913 that the City of Quincy be relieved from the $12 tax limit and the second requested the Mayor to petition the legislature of 1913 to build a bath house on the Quincy Shore Reservation. Both of these orders were referred to the Special committee on Financial Investigation.

The absent members were Councilmen Boyd, Carruthers and Studley.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Board of Health asking for an appropriation of $927.40 for collection of garbage. Referred to Finance committee. Later in the evening Councilman Craig offered an order authorizing the City Auditor to approve pay rolls for garbage until an appropriation was made.

The Mayor in a communication asked for an appropriation of $1,500 to meet claims and awards against the city. Referred to the Finance committee.

A communication from the Mayor appointing Jackson Marvin, a special constable at Alpha hall. Confirmed.

From the Mayor recommending an appropriation of $100 for the purpose of cleaning natural courses emptying into the marsh near Quincy Shore Reservation. Referred to Finance committee.

Petitions of the Bay State Street Railway and of the Telephone company for attachments were granted.

Councilman Cunningham presented a petition of the residents of Tyler street which set forth that the betterments assessed for the building this street were excessive. That labor and material not used had been charged for and asking that the City Council to view the property and revise the betterments.

In presenting the petition Councilman Cunningham said that the street had not been built under the present administration and that the petition had been signed by every resident of the street. The petition was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Committee on Licenses reported orders granting a common victuallers license to William Flaherty and transferring the Sunday Fruit license of Mrs. H. R. Morton to Mrs. Elizabeth P. Ranagan. Adopted.

The Committee on Licenses reported leave to withdraw on the applications of E. P. Powers and F. P. Anderson for pool table licenses. Adopted.

The Committee on Fire Department reported an amendment to the order making transfer of $400 from the appropriation for Horses and Harnesses to Repairs, making the amount $375. Amendment adopted and order adopted.

The Finance Committee reported ought to pass on the order refunding I. W. Hayden $26.50 for over charge for garbage. Order adopted.

Councilman Cunningham at this point offered the two resolves referred to above, which as noted were referred to the Special Financial Investigation Committee

Councilman Richards offered an order transferring the sum of $35 from the Excess and deficiency Fund to the appropriation for Miscellaneous City Council. Adopted.

In the calendar the order widening Coddington street took its second reading and was passed.

A recess was taken at this point until 8 o'clock at which time a public hearing was held on petitions of the Telephone and Electric Light companies for a location for poles. There was no opposition and the orders were recommitted.

Councilman Devaney offered an order that the Commissioner of Public Works take steps to prevent the ice from buildings falling into the street at the corner of East Howard street and Desmoines road. Adopted.

President Hobbs announced the following as a special Committee to act with a committee of citizens appointed by the Mayor to look into the site for a public dock. President Hobbs, Councilmen Gauthier, Bailey, Thompson and Murray.

MILLER WILLING TO WORK 16 HOURS A DAY IF ELECTED

Offers Himself on the Altar of Public Service For Benefit of the City

Gives Some Sidelights on Local Political Game

John L. Miller, Progressive candidate for mayor, spoke on city affairs at the meeting of the Men's club of St. Chrysostom's parish Monday night.

He said among other things:

"We are all interested in the city and in the city's welfare." The city is a combinatiion of voters just as a corporatioin is a combination of stockholders. As stockholders we are looking for the greatest good to the greatest number. The city is at present conducted for the greatest good of the smallest possible number. This should not be.

"People as a whole have been lax in their duty. They have not taken an interest in the public welfare as they should. Certain parties have bound cords around us and made the city government their private property.

"I am a 24 hour a day man in Quincy and I know a good deal of what's going on. We are all interested in the taxes and this year have been dealt a staggering blow that has set everybody thinking. It could not have been remedied entirely this year. It is the inheritance of past administrations to a certain extent. It is an issue that should be looked squarely in the face however.

"In his private affairs if he ran behind I don't think a business man would go and buy automobiles, burn up thousands of dollars on the "Fourth" and sacrifice $3500 for nothing. He would begin and think where the money was coming from.

"Extravagance has been the rule in Quincy for many years.

"This year I thought things would be different but one young man, who is a political "heeler" and will do any job for any man that will pay for it, was working for the opposing candidate in Ward Three.

"He turned over and worked for another candidate and as a recompense for his services was sent down to the new Wollaston school to clean up the building, he found three others cleaning it up too.

"He claims the other three sat round while he did the work. Anyway on the fifth day the boss came 'round and said there wasn't any more work to be done.

"The man said he had been promised a job and so he went down to City Hall and was sent to the poor farm to clean the gravel out of the tip carts when they came in at noon and night.

"This is going on all over the city and the people don't know it. They are happy in their ignorance.

"The water department is crowded full of men and is costing the city double what it should.

He described the repairing of a leak in front of his office.

"Two men came to dig the hole and before they had gone down six inches three other men who were pipe-fitters came along. These had to wait eight hours before they could do their work.

Mr. Miller declared things were wrong with the water supply, the water mains and the water system. It is an easy matter to find out at what price to sell to derive a profit, and I would sell no water below cost. If elected that will be one of the first things I will attempt to remedy.

Mr. Miller declared the city was paying too much for laying out streets and other work. He instanced the grading of two school lots that cost the city $7000 and $5000. He secured a bona fide offer to do these by contract of $3350 and $2275 respectively.

"There's the way the money is going. Is it any wonder taxes are high. The time has come when the people should demand better service.

"Five, I think, or four surely out of the recent mayors spent only a few hours in the office daily. The clerks do the rest. That was all well enough when the mayors got $1,000 a year. Now the mayor gets $2500 and the voters expect more than two or three hours a day service.

Mr. Miller declared that one of the present councilmen had the contract for the basement of the Adams school.

This was contrary to the wording of the city charter, which says no councilman or member of a board shall take any contract or furnish the city with any material.

"That is the way things are regulated at City Hall. The people have come to feel there should be a change and that they should have some say at City Hall. There was never a better chance to take the reins of city government than this year.

CONTRACT FOR DESTROYER

Secured by Fore River Company at $854,500

OTHER BIDDERS FIGURES

The Fore River Company was awarded the contract to build one of the six torpedo boat destroyers desired by the government. The contracts will be divided among several firms. No company offered to build all of the destroyers.

The Cramp company of Philadelphia made the lowest bid, $846,900 each for three vessels and also submitted the lowest bid for two boats, $855,000 each. The Fore River Shipbuilding Company submitted the lowest for a single contract under department plans, $854,500. The Bath Iron Works offered to build a single vessel for $810,000 on the plans of two destroyers now under construction at its plant, but asked $862,000 for one on the department's designs.

Other bids were as follows:

Union Iron Works, San Francisco. $881,500 each for two vessels; New York Shipbuilding Company, $870,000 for one vessel; Newport News Shipbuilding Company, $881,500 each for two vessels, $894,000 for one; Seattle Construction & Dry Dock Company, $938,000 each for two vessels and the Cramp Company, $870,000 for one vessel.

FOUR CANDIDATES.

Initiatory work on four candidates for the Quincy Chapter, Order of Eastern Star was performed by Worthy Matron, Mrs. Edith R. Higgins at the Monday evening meeting at Electa hall. Mrs. Clara Catarius rendered the solos connected with the initiation. Refreshments were served.

The Dramatic Club will hold a whist and dancing party at the New Colonial hall on November 22. The members expect to give an amateur theatrical performance in January, under the direction of Mrs. A. Isabella Davis.

The committee is Mrs. Clara Catarius, Miss Annie Rose, Miss Bessie Roberts, Miss Mildred Crowley and Miss Cora Call.

DISTRICT COURT.

The continued case of Arcangelo Remi for selling leased property at Quincy was called and the case placed on file on payment of $6.40 costs.

William B. Walsh was arraigned for the larceny of more than $100 from F. H. Crane & Sons at Quincy. Case continued until Nov. 25.

NEW FREIGHT TERMINAL TO ACCOMMODATE GRANITE MEN

Superintendent Hobbs of Railroad Promised It to the Manufacturers

Structure Off Centre Street, and Will Soon Be Ready

An important meeting of the Granite Manufacturers Association was held Monday evening at which F. S. Hobbs superintendent of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad was present.

Some time ago the Granite Manufacturers association, thoroughly disgusted with the facilities for handling freight at South Quincy petitioned the Railroad Commissioners for relief. The Railroad Commissioners gave a hearing at which it was suggested that the Manufacturers association and railroad officials get together to see if some agreement could not be reached.

President Diack of the association who was present at the hearing acted promptly on the suggestion and invited Supt. Hobbs to attend the next meeting of the association, which he promised to do. He was therefore present Monday evening and stated that the railroad was ready and willing to do anything possible to relieve the situation at South Quincy.

It has frequently been suggested that a site off Centre street along the line of the Granite branch would be an ideal location for a granite freight terminal, and Supt. Hobbs stated at the meeting that the railroad considered this an ideal spot as all the land necessary could readily be secured and that the railroad was ready and willing to build a freight terminal at this point at any time that the Granite Manufacturers association should make the request.

Not to be caught napping the association immediately passed a vote requesting the railroad to establish a freight terminal at a point on the Granite branch near Centre street.

Supt. Hobbs promised that it should be done. During the early part of the evening during the discussion he stated that about sixty days would be required to build and equip the freight terminal but later did not think that would be sufficient time.

At any rate the railroad has promised to build a freight terminal at the place mentioned and it will probably be ready for use early in the year.

There is much vacant land in this vicinity that can be occupied by granite men to much better advantage than some of the locations at South Quincy where the land is more valuable for other purposes. It is also directly on the line of the Granite branch railroad which connects at West Quincy with most of the large quarries so that taking it all in all it is the most desirable location for a granite freight yard.

DID NOT FILL VACANCY.

It was expected that the Ward Two Democratic Committee would fill the vacancy existing in Ward Councilmen at a meeting held Monday evening, but as one of the parties at interest is out of town it was decided to wait until he returned. It is understood that Ward Committees have several days yet in which to fill vacancies.

ADVISORY BOARD REPORT.

The Advisory Board held a meeting Monday night and prepared its report to the Mayor which will be given in full as soon as it has been put in shape to publish. Many surprises are looked for when the report is published.

An Ice House Set Ablaze by Boys

MATTRESS FIRE $10

The auto chemical was called on a still alarm at 2.45 Monday afternoon for a fire in a small building at the National Sailors Home used as an ice house. The building had been set on fire by some boys. The loss was slight.

The alarm from Box 171 at 7.59 this morning was for a fire in the Whicher factory block on the corner of Union and Main streets, occupied by Mrs. Michael Biblis. The fire started from some unknown cause in a mattress which was thrown out of the window. The loss will not exceed $10.

BURIED IN MT. WOLLASTON.

The funeral of Mrs. Dora R. Hammond took place Monday afternoon from the home of her husband, Wilson G. Hammond of 161 Billings street. Services at the house were conducted by Rev. Thomas W. Davison of the Atlantic Memorial church. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Public Hearing

The Committee on Licenses of the City Council will give a hearing to all parties interested in the granting a license for a slaughter house to Hayman Sochat, to be located on the westerly side of Liberty street extension, on land of Peter T. Fallon in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Thursday evening, November 21, 1912 at 7.30 o'clock.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The man who held his grudge 42 years and then executed it possessed patience and energy worthy of a better cause.

By all means let us have a national budget. The Nations business should be conducted along business lines if it is to be carried on at all.

The parents of the 10 year old southern girl who sanctioned her marriage, acted as though they really needed guardians.

Watertown has added its tragedy to the labor situation of the day.

Gov. Wilson had a smooth sea to Bermuda. Wonder will he find the conditions so smooth on the Potomac.

Saturday will hand out the foot ball of John Harvard or Eli Yale for 1912.

While the revision of the tariff is necessary, it is to be hoped that the performance will be accomplished with care and judgment. That the change will not be so radical that it will check or cripple business.

There will be no need of a bulk head to keep cars from running off the track at the end of the Grand Trunk line in Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

That bride blowing conspiracy was extensive in its aims and operations.

The Bath tub trust must bust, but that does not mean that bathing will be any cheaper.

The hair snipper is around again which affords the average young girl an excuse for doing her back hair into a pug.

Those concrete seats on Boston common cannot be any too warm about this time.

And while all this fuss and worry on the part of thousands of writers is going on daily and people are becoming all haired up over the coming cabinet, President elect Wilson is having a nice calm trip to Bermuda and despite all the gratituitous advice he is receiving will probably select a cabinet without any aid from those highly well intentioned advisers.

The New York woman who sold a $50 hat for 25 cents at a rummage sale probably did not feel so charitably disposed when she discovered her loss.

It is all very well to have the state buy the Boston & Maine railroad and set off hand to just what the profits would be devoted, but would there be any profits is the first question?

TREATED BY THE MILE.

The doctors of Northampton have decided upon a plan whereby they will receive adequate compensation for their services and at the same time add another notch to the upward cost of living to the people of that city. Hereafter they will charge for medical attendance by the mile. A flat rate of $2 per visit to patients within a mile and a half will be charged and beyond that the fee will be at the rate of 50 cents for each additional mile. Of course the patients or prospective patients have no voice in this arrangement. All they will have to do is be sick and the doctors will do the rest. There does not appear to be any known section of the Sherman law which would cope with this situation. It has its good features though, looking at it from a logical view point. It may tend to bring the people of that city into closer communion, that is they may live closer together, to save on the doctor's bill and then again with a prospective increase in the price of attendance, people may be less eager to be sick and sending for the doctor. It may likewise lead to more home doctoring than has been in operation in that city.

MAKING GOOD.

Quincy young men are doing their share to keep Quincy on the map. When any of them have gone far afield, they have usually made good. In all the athletic departments young men from this city, have been well to the fore. In base ball last summer, a group of Quincy boys were very much in evidence in Canadian base ball. This year, Huntington Hardwick, a Quincy boy is distinguishing himself upon the football field, with the Harvard Varsity eleven. Frank Tirrell, Jr., was elected captain of his basket ball team, his first year in the University of Maine. Those are only a few samples of the atheletic development of youth in Quincy. May the present standard always be maintained if not passed so that in the future as in the past and present Quincy contestants must always be reckoned with when they enter the lists.

CASE FOR PROBATION.

After leading a blameless life for 16 years a Lawrence man fell by the wayside and committed larceny. He had once before violated the law, and served his sentence and when released turned over a new leaf and conducted himself in an exemplary manner. But a few days ago, while under the influence of liquor the stealing mania again seized him and he could not resist the temptation. The value of the goods he took was light. He was sentenced to six months in the house of correction. It does seem as if this might have been a case where probation would be more effective than a sentence. The man regretted his rash act. He had conducted himself as a good citizen for 16 years. If given a chance probably the lesson would be constantly before him and he would continue to keep within the law. At any rate little real harm could come of affording him an opportunity to continue in the path he had travelled for 16 years and the ends of justice would be adequately met.

THE EX'S.

The suggestion of William J. Bryan to provide places with right to debate, in the houses of congress, for Ex-Presidents and Ex-Vice Presidents does not appear to meet with a tremendous outburst of public approval. In fact the citizens at large are not tumbling over each other to demand a change in the constitution which would bring such a condition about. In fact there seems to be more objection than approval of the plan. It is difficult to determine of what benefit such a proceeding would prove. They are not to exercise the right to vote, but merely to debate. They could go on filling up page after page of Congressional record, already overburdened, but when it came to the actual performance they might just as well not have been there. Eloquence and oratory of the present day, has little influence on legislators. So that all this fine oratory which might come from the ex-officials would on the whole be a useless expenditure of talent and time.

There is another suggestion that cabinet officers should hold seats in congress. This plan will probably meet the same fate as the Bryan suggestion so far as the public is concerned. There often arises occasions when it would seem that the presence of a cabinet officer in either house of congress would be of great convenience, but as to making them members of congress ex-officio, without any powers it seems rather a far fetched proposition and not considered with public favor.

EIGHT HOUR LAW.

The Maine Journal has the following comment upon the eight hour law:

"Doubtless believing that it will be but a short time before the States as well as the nation will force an eight-hour day law on the employers of labor, the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, anticipating such conditions has decided to make the reduction at once and thereby save a vast amount of trouble and much controversy, also perhaps friction in carrying out the U. S. Government's recently passed eight-hour day act. Taking into consideration the lean years in the immediate past that shipbuilding has undergone, from the time this great plant was established, it is a safe guess to make that its dividends, if any, have been very small, consequently labor has been the beneficiary of the immense amount of money it has taken to keep this plant going, and for which it is doubtful if the most devout of its employes have ever offered up a prayer of thankfulness for the benefits received which have included an increase of wages to a more or less degree from year to year.

"As these thoughts occur to us, we call to mind the fact that the labor organizations, who at their frequent meetings have taken action that has caused candidates for the State and nations legislatures to force this eight-hour law upon employers whether they can afford to continue business under it or not, have never to our knowledge passed a resolution of thanks for their employers' frequent liberality, evidently considering it not worth while in consequence of the fact that capital cannot do without labor, and labor evidently feels itself under no obligations to the former.

Those engaged in the shipbuilding industry as well as a great many others have taken contract after contract at a loss to keep their men employed with the hope of a change for the better in the near future. Have those who were benefited thereby ever made any concession on their part? On the contrary, in most industries where large concerns have been obliged to reduce wages to keep going without loss, such act has in many cases been met by a strike in which both sides have suffered very materially.

"As a rule, labor does not think seriously enough of the questions arising between itself and capital to ask why men of wealth interested in large corporations do not turn their investment into cash and retire, thereby avoiding all labor troubles; and to be frank about it, the Marine Journal had had those same thoughts and wondered why, and is still wondering, without being able to frame a satisfactory answer.—Maine Journal.

YIELDS TO PRESIDENT

Asquith's Action Sends Home Rule Bill Again on Its Way

London, Nov. 19.—An amicable arrangement of the home rule quarrel in the house of commons was brought about when the dispute as to the government method of procedure which led to such disorder last week was settled.

The government announced its intention of reaching the end it desired by a more roundabout means and the Unionists, having made good their demand for the observance of precedent, raised no objection. Premier Asquith attributed his change of mind "partly to repugnance at a possible recurrence of disorder and partly to a desire not to ignore the appeal of the chair."

The house of commons then, on motion of the premier, negatived its original financial resolution, the amendment of which by Sir Frederick Banbury in committee led to the trouble. Another resolution will be substituted for it. The net result of the squabble will be to delay the progress of the home rule bill for ten days.

BARBARA ARNOLD IS SANE

Alienists' Report on Girl Who Set St. Louis Hotel on Fire

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Barbara G. Arnold, who says she caused the Berlin hotel fire, in which three persons lost their lives, is sane, according to the report of alienists who have had the girl under observation.

The report was forwarded to the circuit court attorney with a suggestion that the girl be discharged from a hospital and be placed under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.

STILL SUFFERS FROM BURNS

Miss Fay Had Narrow Escape From Being Burned to Death

Miss Rose E. Fay will live, although she is painfully burnt about the lower part of the body, according to Dr. W. J. Middleton, who is treating her at her home 475 South street. Dr. Middleton said that Miss Fay narrowly escaped being burned alive.

Miss Fay's skirt took fire Saturday morning from a gas stove while she was in her store, 398 Washington street and her screams summoned the employees of J. Peterson & Co. who extinguished the fire and called a doctor in time to save her life.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C. Nov. 18, 1912.

The Democrats are now beginning to have their troubles and divisions which have been so disastrous to the Republicans in the past and the recent campaign. It is now certain that the Democrats will not only have the presidency and the House but the Senate as well. They stand pledged to progressive legislation and when they reorganize the Senate, Senator Simmons who is the ranking member on the committee of Finance for the chairmanship which is the important committee in the Senate and will control the tariff legislation, is a "stand-patter" and reactionary. How the Democrats can make that committee a progressive with Simmons chairman is the problem now confronting them.

Mr. Bryan is anxious to have Senator Gore, of Okla., made chairman of that Committee as he is in hearty accord with the views of Mr. Bryan and President-elect Wilson. It is not thought however that Senatorial courtesy will permit Gore to take precedence in this matter notwithstanding the wishes of Bryan, Wilson or anyone else. It is very evident however from utterances of Wilson that he does not intend to have the tariff so radically revised as to cause a hitch or depression in business which now looks very promising.

DEMOCRATIC LUCK.

The Democrats have certainly been enjoying most unusually good luck during the past few years. They now come into power with the biggest crop which this country has ever produced and which the Department of Agricultural estimates is worth more than ten billions of dollars. At least one tenth of this crop will be shipped abroad which will bring into this country one billion of dollars in "cold cash" which will be a great stimulation to all business and industries and which insures prosperity of the country for at least a year and a half.

REPUBLICAN OUTLOOK.

Now that the returns are all in and have been carefully analyzed the feat stands out that if the Republicans had but one candidate a progressive they would have swept the country as the combined republican vote which was given to Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft was far greater than that received by Mr. Wilson. So the simple fact remains that when the republican party gets together on common grounds they will be invincible as heretofore.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE.

The British Ambassador Hon. James Bryce has just resigned his post much to the regret of the American people. Mr. Bryce has been the most popular Ambassador that Great Britain has ever sent to this country. His book "The American Commonwealth" which enjoys wide popularity in this country as well as in England, is the only work ever written by a foreigner which shows proper appreciation of the American people, American Institutions and our form of Government. Ambassador Bryce is considered a pretty good American himself, and his departure from this country will be sincerely regretted.

SHOOTS SEVEN AND HIMSELF

Three Detectives, Hotel Proprietor and Waiter Among His Victims—Kills Woman Companion and Commits Suicide as Raiders Who Had Run Him Down Burst Into His Room

New York, Nov. 19.—Two persons are dead and five men, including two private detectives and a city detective, are shot so badly that they will die, as a result of a raid made by the detectives last night in connection with a diamond robbery at the Elsmere hotel, One Hundred and Sixty-first street and Courtland avenue, the Bronx.

The man who did the shooting, one the police were after, killed his girl companion and committed suicide.

The dead: "Lottie," known only by that name, shot in the temple and left breast; Henry Vogel, 48 years old, shot himself in the temple and right breast after shooting all the others.

The wounded, all of whom will die, according to the estimate of the surgeons, are: John N. Allen, 54 years old, a detective employed by the National Surety company, shot in the right side of the head, sustaining a fractured skull; William Butler, a waiter, shot in the abdomen; Martin Fay, stationed at the West One Hundredth street station, shot in the abdomen; Louis Gerard, a private detective employed by the National Surety company, shot several times in the lower part of the body and the legs; Louis Moudschein, 38 years old, proprietor of the hotel, shot in the abdomen.

The shooting occurred as the result of an effort of the National Surety company detectives to discover the burglars who have made several down town hauls lately. Several days ago Sophie Brinkerhoff was arrested, charged with being a dishonest servant.

She was held for the grand jury, and yesterday she was indicted. It is said that after her indictment she made a confession to having been responsible for several robberies, and said that Vogel had been implicated in them.

The National Security company stood to lose by these robberies, and the company has been very anxious to break up the gang that has caused them.

Allen and Gerardi were given the job of running Vogel down. Yesterday they picked up the trail of Vogel and they followed him down to Twenty-third street and the East river. By this time he picked up Lottie, his girl friend, and used a taxicab for the journey.

On the taxicab he piled two steamer trunks and carried two heavy suitcases. The detectives thought that he was going to leave town, so as they passed in a taxicab through Harlem they saw Fay and invited him to get in on the arrest.

Vogel went direct to the Elmsmere hotel, and registered. He and Lottie were asigned to a room on the third floor.

When the detectives got to the Elmsmere they talked to the proprietor, Mondschein, about the guests that had registered. They asked Mondschein to send a waiter up to show them the room and Mondschein sent Butler up with them. The proprietor followed the party of four.

Butler knocked at Vogel's door. Vogel, lightly clad, opened the door a few inches and asked who wanted him. Butler said some detectives wanted to talk to him and Vogel reached into the room, then he slammed the door open, and, overlooking Butler, who stood back, he hit Allen over the head with a blackjack and made a pass at Butler.

Vogel then jumped back into the room, and reached his hand under the pillow on the bed. It reappeared with a vicious magazine revolver clasped in it, and Vogel opened fire.

His first shot hit Allen, who was ling on the floor, unconscious from the blackjack wound. He then fired on Gerardi, and his next bullet struck Fay. Butler had started down the hall by this time, but Vogel stepped into the hallway and fired after him and Mondschein, hitting both.

Lottie was trying to get out of the window while the shooting was in progress and Vogel turned in time to see her. He turned his magazine gun at her, shot twice swiftly, and then turned the gun against himself. The first bullet, entering his breast, did not kill him, but the second, entering his temple, did.

Captain Price found two steamer trunks and three valises in the room taken by Vogel, which he ordered sent to the Morrisiana police station.

He found a large diamond in the dead man's pocket, which he confiscated.

The bodies of Vogel and the woman were taken from the hotel to the Fordham morgue.

BATHTUB TRUST SMASHED

Lower Court Order For Dissolution Upheld by Supreme Court

Washington, Nov. 19.—In a highly important decision under the anti-trust and patent laws, the supreme court of the United States sustained the contentions of the department of justice in what is commonly known as the 'bathtub trust" case.

The effect of the decision is to smash the trust, affirm the decision of the district court for the district of Maryland, which ordered dissolution of the trust, and broaden it so as to include the Colwell Lead company.

The "bathtub trust" suit was brought by the government to end an unlawful combination in restraint of trade in sanitary enameled ironware, bathtubs, washtubs and the like. It was started in 1910 at Baltimore. There were sixteen corporations involved and thirty-four individual defendants.

Guilty of Smoke Nuisance

New York, Nov. 19.—The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company, through counsel, pleaded guilty in the court of special sessions to violation of the smoke nuisance ordinance within the city of New York. Sentence was deferred until Jan. 24.

PRICE OF HAIR CUTS MAY RISE

Local Barbers Have Not Taken Move as Yet, But May

PUBLIC ANXIOUS

The Union barbers of Lynn and Brockton have decided to raise the price of hair cuts to 35 cents instead of the usual 25 cents. There is some talk of advancing the price of shaves. They claim that the high cost of living has made it necessary. What the high cost of living has got to do with it no one seems to know. The proprietors of the barber shops are the only ones who will benefit by the raise, unless the journeymen are granted a raise in pay, but even at that the raise when compared with the increase in the cost of a hair cut may be on the same proportion, as in the coal strike. The miners received three cents a ton extra money. The coal men advanced the price 25 cents. No definite reason was given for this great advance and it was not given out just what would be done with the immense amount which it would turn into the coffers of the coal operators. So far as can be learned no movement looking towards an increase in the price of hair cuts has been made in Quincy.

The several barbers of the city, when seen stated that nothing had been done as yet—but—well they did not commit themselves further but it was evident that a movement towards advancing the price list would not be any surprise to them.

During the past week several razor salesmen have been going the rounds and calling on bewhiskered men who regularly subject themselves to barbers treatment. It is not thought that their reappearance, after an absence of months has anything to do with the threatened boost.

In the meantime the public is curious, while the barbers are looking wise.

MILLER WILLING TO WORK

Mr. Miller said he disliked to blow about himself, but thought the people entitled to know something of his record, which he proceeded to give.

"I am no infant in transacting business, if elected mayor I will adhere to the one strict end giving the people value for their money—there will be no playing politics at City Hall. I shall give time for my best thought and best endeavor if it takes 16 hours out of 24 to do it.

"All I have known is work and I am ready to do it yet, you are looking for a man to do some work. I offer myself if you want to hire me. If not, I have got a little business of my own up at the other end of the city where I shall go right along sawing wood as before."

Mr. Miller was asked several questions after which the meeting adjourned for refreshments. A short business meeting followed. President Edward F. Parlee presiding.

CAESERIAN OPERATION.

Mrs. Alfred M. Varney of 72 Edison Park has just returned home from the Elm Hill private hospital in Dorchester, with a fine baby girl, having undergone a Caeserian Section.

The operation was performed, Oct. 31 by Dr. W. J. Middleton of this city. The mother and child were removed to their home Nov. 16 and are doing well.

During the past 13 months Dr. Middleton has successfully performed three Ceaserian sections and all his patients were residents of Quincy Point.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Charnock Observe Silver Event

By way of celebrating their silver wedding, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Charnock of 109 Tremont street, South Braintree, entertained a number of friends at their home last Saturday evening from eight until eleven o'clock. A buffet lunch was served and there was a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music.

There were about twenty guests present from Wollaston, Atlantic, Savin Hill, Holliston and Everett and they brought with them many handsome gifts which they presented to Mr. and Mrs. Charnock in remembrance of the occasion.

Mr. Charnock was married to Miss Alice G. King of South Boston, November 16, 1887, the marriage taking place in that city. Their union was blessed by four children, Arthur F., Ralph, Hazel E., now Mrs. Ernest F. Margeson of Newark, N. J., and Raymond.

Mr. Charnock holds a responsible position with the Hersey Manufacturing Company of Boston as an erector of machinery and with his wife and family has lived in South Braintree for about five years. On their departure the guests were unanimous in wishing the "happy couple" many more years of wedded life.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR DEATH OF WIFE

Boston Man Suspected of Kicking Woman to Death

Boston, Nov. 19.—Angus Steele, 40 years old, was arraigned in the East Boston district court, charged with the murder of his wife, Jennie, last Friday night. The case was continued until Nov. 26, and he was held without bail.

About 11 o'clock last Saturday morning Steele reported to the police that he had found his wife dead in bed at her home. Upon investigating, the medical examiner discovered the woman had met a violent death, having a broken rib, a ruptured liver and evidence of an internal hemorrhage, injuries which could have been caused by a kick.

THEY SMOKED IN BED

Two Men Who Roomed Together Are Burned to Death

Salem, Mass., Nov. 19.—The bodies of two men, burned almost beyond recognition, were found in an attic bedroom of a four-story building at Boston and Watson streets last night.

A half-burned cigar was clenched between the teeth of one. In the charred hand of the other, which rested on the straw floor matting, was the stub of a cigaret. The flames had spread from this spot to the bedclothes.

The men were Daniel Crowley and Samuel Fadogan. Both were about 35 years of age and were employed as leather workers in a factory conducted by Peter Flynn of this city.

Fadogan is said to have been married. Crowley was unmarried. The men were said to have been drinking when last seen alive.

COUNTY BRIDGES TO BE LIGHTED

Government Decides That Channel Lights Must Be Used

VIOLATION $100 A DAY

By an order received from United States government the county commissioners are obliged to proceed forthwith to equip all bridges in their control over navigable waters with colored channel lights arranged according to specifications furnished and to show red and green at certain heights and ranges. Each bridge must be equipped with from 6 to 11 of these lights, according to the type of bridge and where the bridge is lighted by electricity oil lights are prohibited, and, probably owing to the location of some of the lights at the top of a mast and at various heights, the matter of care of them would make the use of electricity cheaper wherever it is possible to employ it, as this would obviate the necessity of the tender climbing up to the light to light and extinguish them as well as to clean. These lights must be lighted at sunset and extinguished at sunrise, and the penalty for failing to comply with the order is a fine not exceeding $100 a day. Undoubtedly the order for the enforcement of this law grows out of the activity of the government in enforcing the regulations as to motor boats.

PRESIDENT TO DECIDE

Just What Comes in Free For Ships Under Recent Law

President Taft will be the final arbiter in construing the law passed at the last session of Congress admitting shipbuilding material, machinery and equipment to the United States free of duty.

Although the law was enacted for the benefit of the shipbuilding interests of the United States, Assistant Secretary Curtis of the Treasury department, at a hearing, received vigorous protests from representatives of shipbuilding companies against a liberal interpretation of the new statute. It had been understood that the department contemplated placing a broad construction on the law, admitting engines and other machinery, as a whole, free of duty. Most of the ship building companies build their own machinery and they contend that Congress meant only the free admission of materials for the construction of machinery.

Ship builders of the country are in conference with President Taft on the subject today.

FIVE HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Suspected by Police of Having Killed Worker In Rubber Mill

Waltham, Mass., Nov. 19.—Five men, whom the Watertown police charge murdered Frank Cirillo of Watertown, during a street fight Sunday night, were held without bail by Judge Luce in the district court here for a continued hearing Nov. 25. The five are also charged with assault with intent to kill on Frank Falvo of Watertown.

The men gave their names as Gabriele Lapore, Luigi Legaro, Francesco Garrli, Tommaso Titante and Vincenso Ristaglio, all of Watertown.

The police allege that these men are members of the I. W. W. and committed the crime because Cirillo and Falvo had declared that they would return to work at the Hood rubber factory, where the I. W. W. officially declared a strike early last week.

OHIO SOLONS GUILTY

Senators Charged With Accepting Bribes In State Legislature

Columbus, O., Nov. 19.—The circuit court of Cuyahoga county by a unanimous decision rendered a verdict of guilty in the cases of State Senators Isaac E. Huffman of Oxford and Laforrest Andrew of Ironton, charged with accepting bribes at the last session of the Ohio legislature.

Huffman had been previously sentenced to three years in the penitentiary and Andrews to nine months. Attorneys for the accused senators declare that they will take the case to the supreme court.

PROGRESS OF METHODISM

Able Sermon By Pastor Wiggin at Wollaston Church

The people of the Wollaston Methodist church are celebrating the 40th anniversary of the First Methodist preaching in Wollaston. The observance commenced Sunday when the pastor Rev. Wesley Wiggin, preached from the Text, "What Hath God Wrought," and his subject was "Methodism, Its past, present and future."

Mr. Wiggin spoke in part as follows:

"What hath God wrought" Numbers 23:23.

"This was the first message sent over the wire after the completion of the Atlantic Cable. Communication had been established between the Old and the New World. A new era had just begun.

"These words have a peculiar meaning for the thought before us as we consider Methodism, its past, present and future.

"Methodism has ben a fact in the world for more than 170 years. When we review the past and note the progress of Methodism well might we say What Hath God Wrought.

"Methodism has a history peculiar to itself, and a mission as wide as the world. It is adapted to the needs of men in every age and in every rank and station in life.

"Born amidst opposition in an age of superstition and sinful indulgencies it sought to elevate thought, correct error and raise the standard of morals.

"While to Wesley we look as the founder of Methodism. To his mother Susannah Wesley credit also belongs. It was her life and influence woven into the life and character of her son that made him the great leader and efficient worker that he was. Through her God wrought indirectly for the accomplishment of His divine purposes.

"Wesley's home life and early education contributed to his success in life.

"His father, a man of of practical wisdom and keen sense of duty and deeply interested in the welfare of his children, sought to utilize every opportunity for their highest intellectual benefit.

"His mother, Susannah Wesley, a woman of virtue and strong christian principles and convictions, logical and methodical in her manner of life and work possessed superior qualifications for the training of her children for virtuous and noble lives.

"These striking qualities made a deep impression upon the minds of the children and became imbedded in their every thought and act in life. These early influences and faithful instructions did not fail to meet with their appropriate reward.

"At the age of eleven John Wesley being placed under an eminent teacher Dr. Walker, made marked progress in his studies, won the reputation of great proficiency in the classics and became distinguished as a theologian.

"In 1729 as a result of the Methodical manner of study of the Bible on the part of John and Charles Wesley together with two of their fellow companions they were called Methodists.

"The birth of Methodism marked a new era in the history of christianity.

"That such an awakening was needed will be seen when we consider the condition of the church and the world at the time when Wesley first went forth proclaiming justification by faith.

"It was a time of spiritual barrenness. The church had failed in its larger work to uproot ungodliness. England, Scotland and Ireland were destitute of the zeal and power of truth so much needed to put down wrong and to uphold the right.

"The breaking away of Henry VIII from Rome was followed by a period of constant struggle. Protestant and Romanist had contended for power and mastery.

"Methodism supplied the want of the age. New life became visible. Christianity received new impetus and the great religious awakening begun its mission in spreading truth and scriptural holiness throughout the world. Methodism proved herself equal to the task in helping to stem the tide of opposition to correct error and proclaim truth.

"From the conference held in London June 25, 1744, consisting of six persons Methodism advanced to 132 annual conferences with 29 mission conferences, each composed of 100 to 300 members with a general conference of 800 members. There has been a steady progress from the first. One hundred years ago we had 184,568 members with 688 travelling preachers, today there are 3,518,099 with 20,569 travelling preachers: while American Methodism numbers more than 6,000,000 members. A hundred years ago no Sunday schools were enrolled today there are 36,486 Sunday schools with 387,968 officers and teachers and 3,562,968 scholars.

"At 7 o'clock Rev. L. J. Birney, D.D. Dean of the Theological school of Boston University preached an able sermon taking for his subject "The Method of Power."

BUSY SESSION PROMISED

Acting Probationer Will Have His Hands Full Tomorrow

T. J. Collins, who is acting as Probation Officer during the absence of Probation Officer Fahey was right on his job bright and early this morning but there was but little doing in the criminal line at court today. Wednesday however is to be a busy day for there is a very large list of continued cases, mostly for drunkenness, that come up Wednesday morning. If the parties do not pay up default warrants will probably be issued for the delinquients. Tim made an official call at the Police station at Midnight Monday but found little to demand his attention.

MR AND MRS DYER GIVEN A PURSE

Surprised By Friends on Their 25th Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Dyer, 237 Pond street, South Braintree was invaded by a large party of friends last Saturday evening who came to help the aforesaid gentleman and his good wife celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Dyer were completely surprised but rose gallantly to the occasion and bade the guests a most hearty welcome. In behalf of the assembled company, Miss Bertelle Bennett presented Mr. and Mrs. Dyer with a purse of money accompanying the gift with a neat little speech and the recipients responded briefly but feelingly. Another gift was a large and artistic wedding cake from Peter McGibbon of Porter avenue.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in generous quantities. Pleasing recitations and also vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Massie, there were piano solos by Mrs. Guy E. Wood and Miss Bertelle Bennett and a most enjoyable feature was the dancing, Mrs. Wood, presiding at the piano.

There were between 40 and 50 guests present and all had a merry time. They reluctantly departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Dyer many more happy years.

Millard F. Dyer and Miss Annie Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hollis of Randolph were married in Randolph, November 16, 1887 by Rev. J. Codman Labarre, pastor of the First Congregational church of that town. They have resided in Braintree ever since their marriage and for the past twenty-four years have occupied their present home on Pond street. They have five children, Blanche H., 20 years of age, Herbert M. 19, Elsie L. 17, Carleton H. 13 and Winifred E. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer are well known South Braintree people and esteemed by a wide circle of friends. The silver wedding and surprise party combined was a great success and much credit is due Mrs. Moses T. Dyer who arranged the whole affair.

FORESTERS' WHIST PARTY.

A successful whist party was given by the members of St. Ambrose Court, M. C. O. F., at Hibernian hall, Monday evening.

The highest scores were made by Mrs. Theresa Barry, Miss Elizabeth J. McNeil, Edward Martell and Florence McAuliffe.

The committee in charge was Chief Ranger, Mrs. Alice T. Ash, Vice Chief Ranger, Mrs. Catherine O'Brien, Treasurer, Mrs. Annie Watson and Mrs. Georgiana O'Brien.

The election of officers will take place at the annual meeting on December 16.

ARGUMENTS ENDED IN GUNMEN'S TRIAL

Case Expected to Go to the Jury This Afternoon

New York, Nov. 19.—The last word for and against the four gunmen on their trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was said yesterday when counsel made their apepals to the jury for conviction and acquittal.

Their fate will be delivered into the hands of the jury, probably in the afternoon today.

The four defendants heard themselves characterized by District Attorney Moss as "the hands which held the instruments of death—the hands of the body of which Rose, Webber and Vallon were the brains and Charles Becker the will."

He referred to them as "that battery of gunmen" and declared that the witnesses who identified them showed "the courage of soldiers marching to the cannon's mouth."

By their attorney, Charles G. F. Wahle, the defendants were pictured as men who had been criminal, but who were innocent of this crime—the victims of the testimony of "the men who really killed Rosenthal—Rose, Vallon and Schepps."

CAUGHT AS SNIPPERS

Police Think They Have Men Who Have Shorn Girls of Tresses

Boston, Nov. 19.—Two "Jack the Snipper" suspects were arrested last evening in Greater Boston. Karl C. Mann, an electrician, was taken into custody in the business section of Lynn, charged with having clipped the braids of three young girls in Lynn.

John B. Batchelder, a Lynn barber, was arrested on Tremont row, Boston, charged with an attempt to cut the hair of Miss Annie Wyman, 18 years old, in the same vicinity two hours earlier. Miss Wyman later identified Batchelder as her assailant.

15,000 MILES OF NATIONAL ROAD

Great Network Extending From Ocean to Ocean

MORE IN PROGRESS

Fitzhugh, B. C., Nov. 11th—In the race to complete the gigantic construction work of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad from the Rockies to the Pacific Ocean during 1913 a winter's campaign will be made with 6,000 men in the construction army. Vice President Morely Donaldson has announced that 4,600 men are on the work at the western end and 1,700 on that part which is eastward from Hazelton. Next June, Mr. Donaldson says, he will be able to tell whether the final link can be furnished before Jan. 1, 1914.

The plans for 50 towns along the route are completed, with generous provision for public parks and buildings and with compact business centres and attractive resident sections. These soon will be filed at Victoria, the capital of the province, and already the vanguard of the coming horde of bankers, merchants, barbers and professional men has arrived. The purchasing power of this vanguard is high as proven by the fact that the entire site of the town of Willow River was sold in one week. Like Edson, where in two years a town of one tar paper house gained a population of over 1,200 people who built nearly half a million dollars worth of stores, homes and factories, growth in these new towns will be rapid. Notwithstanding that the supplies, tools and materials must go hundreds of miles by pack horse and river raft and steamer, the first train over the railroad will find the towns under way. With the opening of the road the horde that is awaiting better and cheaper transportation will swarm in.

The engineers for the railroad company found that, although the region was primeval, with its wealth of timber, minerals and waterpower and agricultural lands comparatively untouched, yet at several points merchants were doing a big business.

Construction work has begun also on the Pacific Great Eastern Railroad which will connect the Vancouver territory with the new region opened east and west by the Grand Trunk Pacific. With 4,000 men at work on this road and 6,000 on the final link of the main line, the solitudes along the Nechaco, Fraser, Bulkley and Skenna rivers are getting a rude awakening. Prices for the produce from the pioneer farms have gone as high for eggs as $3.00 a dozen in winter and 85 cents in summer. Milk has been at 15c a quart and butter at $1.25 a pound.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

A competitive examination will be held on Dec. 11, to fill the position of veterinarian under the State Board of Health, at a salary of $1,500 per year, and similar positions as vacancies may occur. The examination will consist of a sworn statement of training and experience and of questions on dairy inspection, on slaughtering inspection, and on cold storage. To be eligible for this examination, an applicant must be a graduate of a veterinary school recognized by the State Board of Registration in veterinary medicine. He must also be certified by said Board of Registration to practice veterinary medicine in Massachusetts. He must be not over 40 years old. The limitation of age does not apply to veterans, as defined by section 20 of chapter 19 of the Revised Laws.

Men who desire to take this examination may secure application blanks by applying in person, or by letter, at the office of the Civil Service Commission, Room 152, State House, Boston, Mass.

TURKISH RULE IN MACEDONIA

Is Brought to an End by the Fall of Monastir

NOW IN HANDS OF SERVIANS

Greatest Individual Success of War Achieved When Fifty Thousand Turks Lay Down Their Arms—Must Have Great Moral Effect on Future Course of War—Bulgarians Continue Atack on Defenses of Constantinople—Montenegrins and the Greeks Are Making Progress

London, Nov. 19.—Any idea that the Turkish government may have had of benefiting by continued resistance must be shattered by the news of the fall of Monastir.

In the capture of that important town the Servians took three pashas, including the commander-in-chief, Zekki Pasha, 50,000 men and forty-seven guns, thus achieving the greatest individual success of the war.

Monastir was the second city of importance in European Turkey. It was Turkey's stronghold in Macedonia, and by its downfall Macedonia passes completely out of Turkish hands.

The Servians naturally will be elated at this victory, which outshines the capture of Salonica, and must have a great moral effect on the future course of the war.

Another of the strange silences which have been characteristic of this war appears to have fallen over Constantinople, from which city only brief dispatches have been received telling of the resumption of the Tchatalja battle and that the sultan has made a fresh personal appeal to the European sovereigns to intervene for the termination of the war. Quite as little may be expected to come of this appeal as of the previous attempt at mediation by the powers.

The Tchatalja Battle

At last the great battle on the Tchatalja line is under way. Constantinople reports Turkish successes. These reports must be accepted with caution, but if true the first Bulgarian attack on the fortifications defending Constantinople may have failed.

The whole of the Bulgarian army was engaged. Every available man was moved to the front from the Bulgarian forces investing Adrianople and these were relieved by Servian troops. The Bulgarians, with all their artillery, began their advance on Tchatalja fortifications on Saturday and continued the bombardment of the works throughout Sunday. They evidently, however, have found the Turkish positions strong.

That the capture of the Tchatalja lines is likely to prove a task of great difficulty is altogether likely. The days the Bulgarian troops were compelled to use for the bringing up of guns, ammunition and reinforcements were taken advantage of by the Turks to dig themselves into intrenchments and to place their guns in positions giving them a distinct advantage over the attackers.

Object of Bulgars

The Bulgarian troops made their main attack to the east of Tchatalja, their object being to break through at the point where the railway to Constantinople makes a loop. The strong forts, the marshes and the guns of the Turkish warships protect either flank of the Turkish position.

Should the Bulgarians be successful in their effort to break through the Turkish left centre Nazim Pasha's Ottoman army will be pushed back to the northeast and its retirement upon Constantinople cut off.

The Turks seem to have no hope of rolling back the Bulgarian forces, but if they succeed in holding the lines of Tchatalja, both the military and diplomatic situation will undergo a marked change, for a long defense of the front will probably compel the Bulgarians to enter into negotiations without capturing the Turkish capital.

What Other Allies Are Doing

At Scutari the Montenegrins are at last making some headway. They have succeeded in driving the Turkish troops from one of their mountain positions, but the Turkish commander has not given up hope of making a long defense. The invested fortress of Adrianople also, according to independent correspondents, is still liable to withstand a siege of several months.

The Greek army is on its way to Janina, the fortress in the southwestern portion of European Turkey, and the Greek fleet continues busy in the Ægean sea. It has occupied the island of Icaria.

Austria Backing Down

The Austria-Servian question is less disquieting except for the attitude of the press on either side and for the action of the Servians in intercepting the reports of the Austrian consuls in Albania and even preventing them from returning home. Acting on the recommendation of her ally, Italy, Austria is said to have modified her demands and no longer objects to the construction of a railway from the Danube to the Adriatic sea. She has also abandoned her scheme of a customs union with Servia.

On the other hand Great Britain, Russia and France are giving counsels of moderation and conciliation to Servia. The latter still talks of taking one or more ports on the Adriatic.

At Constantinople everything is quiet, although the landing of larger detachments of marines and bluejackets than usual has caused some perturbation among the Turks. The most comprehensive measures have been taken for the protection of Pera, the foreign quarter, and on a signal which will be given in case of the outbreak of disorder the foreign marines and bluejackets will co-operate with the Turkihs military police, which enjoys the confidence of the foreign embassies. The warships of the foreign fleets have been assigned to positions from which they can command the outlying parts of the city.

CRANE DETERMINED NOT TO RUN AGAIN

Even a Deadlock Will Not Change Senator's Resolve

Boston, Nov. 19.—That Senator Crane will under no circumstances seek re-election, even in case of a deadlock, was the positive statement made by a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination who is a close friend of Crane.

"Senator Crane," said this candidate, "will under no conditions be a candidate for another term in the upper branch of congress. Before I entered this contest I held a conference with the junior senator, at which he told me he had been advised by his physicians that his physical condition could not stand six more years of activity in the public service."

VANDERBILT SILVER FOUND

Teamster Unexpectedly Comes Across Valuable Stolen Property

Bar Harbor, Me., Nov. 19.—A large amount of solid silver tableware, stolen from George W. Vanderbilt's summer residence here nearly eighteen years ago, was found yesterday hidden in the rocks at the base of a cliff on Eden street by Simon Violette, a teamster in the employ of a local contractor.

Violette went to the base of the cliff for a load of rock and in handling it over came upon the silverware, which was covered by rock, earth and underbrush.

Altogether there was a gunny sack full, amounting to some forty or fifty pounds in all. Each piece is marked with the Vanderbilt initials "G. W. V." There is probably more than $1000 worth. The silver is in a good state of preservation.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

DELICIOUS DOUGHNUTS.

WHEN it is time to think of the Thanksgiving turkey and the Thanksgiving mince pie the mind naturally turns to thoughts of doughnuts. Good doughnuts fresh from the pan and sprinkled with sugar would tempt an anchorite.

One secret of making good doughnuts is to have fat enough in the frying pan to cover them and to have this boiling hot. The doughnuts must be taken from the pan the instant they are done or they will become grease soaked. After they are cooked they should be drained on paper or a soft cloth.

Easy to Digest.

Batter Doughnuts.—Take one-half cupful of sugar, two eggs, one cupful of sour milk, six level teaspoonfuls of melted lard and one-half teaspoonful of soda. Stir as stiff as possible with flour. Drop from a teaspoon in a frying pan of hot fat and fry brown. Dip the spoon in fat after each time and the batter will not stick to the spoon.

Spiced Doughnuts.—Take a cupful of sugar, one cupful of warm mashed potatoes, a pint and a half of flour, one-half cupful of milk, one egg, one teaspoonful of butter, one-fourth teaspoonful of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of ginger and one teaspoonful of nutmeg. Roll rather thin, cut, fry, then dust with powdered sugar.

These Will Be Relished.

Rich Doughnuts.—Take three eggs and beat them until light. Add one and a half cupfuls of sugar. Beat again. Sift one level teaspoonful of baking soda into a cupful of sour cream, add to the sugar and eggs, then add one small taspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon and half a grated nutmeg. Mix with sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Roll about half an inch thick. Cut out and fry in hot lard.

Raised Doughnuts.—Take one pint of lukewarm milk, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half yeast cake, one-quarter cupful of lukewarm water and flour. Heat the milk lukewarm and add to it the salt, the sugar, the yeast dissolved in the water and flour enough to make a dough that can be handled. It should be as soft as possible. Knead well and let it rise all night. In the morning place it on a well floured board, handling it lightly. Roll and cut it in strips and then join the ends to form rings. Fry in plenty of hot fat until a golden brown color. Serve at once while hot and crisp.

TURKEY DRESSING.

THE dressing for the Thanksgiving turkey is an important matter If tired of the plain bread stuffing you will find many others whose flavor and richness appeal to jaded appetites.

Among them are the following:

Asparagus Dressing.—Take a large can of asparagus tips, an equal quantity of boiled chopped celery, two large cupfuls grated rye bread, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, one chopped hard boiled egg, one small minced Bermuda onion. Drain the asparagus tips carefully and mix the chopped celery with them, then add the other ingredients in the order mentioned, adding a dash of white pepper, a dash of horseradish and salt to taste. Blend carefully, moistening if too dry with a very little rich milk, and stuff into the turkey before the dressing is quite cold.

A Nut Dressing.

Chestnut Dressing.—Take one quart chestnuts, one cupful cold boiled rice (dry), one teaspoonful peanut butter, two powdered soda crackers, one tablespoonful melted butter, one saltspoonful paprika, one-quarter teaspoonful ground cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful salt, a pinch of celery salt. Boil the chestnuts in slightly salted water and after shelling pound to a paste, moistening with a little sweet cream and adding gradually the rice and other ingredients. Mix well and set to cool until it can be formed with the hands. Stuff the turkey about twelve hours before it is to be roasted.

A Timely Flavored Stuffing.

Celery Dressing.—Take two tablespoonfuls melted butter, one pint canned mushrooms, one-half cupful chopped celery, one teaspoonful minced parsley. Cut the crust from a loaf of stale bread, moisten slightly in cold milk and crumble with the hands; then stir in the above ingredients in the order named, adding salt and pepper to taste, a pinch of sage and half a scraped onion. Mix thoroughly and just before using dust in a pinch of ground mace.

Giblet Dressing.—Take cooked giblets chopped fine. Split sixteen common crackers and spread with butter, allowing one-fourth of a tablespoonful to each half. Pour over two and three-fourths of a cup of stock in which giblets were cooked. When the crackers have taken up stock add chopped giblets and season with salt and pepper.

A DOUBLE CONFESSION

The Singular Case of a Pair of Lovers

By JOHN R. OGELVIE

One of the questions as to what is and what is not allowable in the legal profession that laymen are not apt to understand is whether it is honorable for a lawyer to defend a client who has confessed himself guilty of the crime with which he is charged. One of the reasons why this is not only allowable for an attorney, but is his duty, is that the confession may be false. Many persons have labored under a hallucination that they have committed a crime of which they are entirely innocent.

I had a very singular case of this kind when I was practicing, before I went on the bench. A young man was accused of forging his uncle's will. He was heir-at-law to the property involved by reason of relationship to the testator. But several years before the will was drawn one was executed leaving the property to a woman who was his housekeeper. It was this housekeeper, Anna Blake, who accused the beneficiary under the second will with having forged his uncle's name to it.

Arnold Jefferson, my client, when I came to confer with him about his case, asked me whether I would defend a person who confessed himself guilty. I said that I would, whereupon he told me that in order to prevent his uncle's property from going out of the family and secure it for himself he had forged his uncle's name to the second will.

I was somewhat staggered at this, for if I proved him innocent I would divert the property from the channel in which the testator intended it to go and deprive the real owner of it that it might go to a criminal. I plied the young man with questions as to how he had come to perpetrate such a crime, and he told me that he was in love with a girl whom he would like to marry and did not consider himself able to do so without this property. Besides, he believed that his uncle was intending to leave it to him at the time of his death.

If I declined to take the case and he could get no other lawyer to do so the judge would assign him counsel. Therefore I proceeded with it, though reluctantly, for it is not pleasant for a conscientious lawyer to defend a man who has admitted his guilt. I would content myself with trying to get my client off with as light a sentence as possible.

There was a chance for the young man in this—experts in chirography would be called who would compare the signature to the will with Jefferson's handwriting. These experts are apt to differ in such matters. The plaintiff called the most prominent one of the lot, who declared that my client must have written the signature to the will. I employed another expert, who testified that he could not have written it. But unfortunately of the five experts called four testified that there were certain strokes in the signature that were to be found in Jefferson's writing.

There were two signatures of witnesses to the will Jefferson was charged with forging. One of these persons, Edward Bronson, was dead; the other, Silas Ormsby, was not to be found. They were supposed to be myths, and the plaintiff's attorneys, though they had no proof that the defendant had written their names, threw out a broad hint that he had done so.

The case looked so desperate that I advised my client to produce his confession and throw himself on the mercy of the court. By this means he might secure a light sentence, whereas if he persisted in denying his guilt in the face of such conclusive evidence he would very likely get a heavy one.

He said that he would think the matter over. This was after court adjourned on Saturday, and I feared I could not keep the trial in progress more than a day or two longer. And as the case stood Jefferson was sure to be convicted. Sunday evening I received a call from a young lady, Miss Dora Wentworth, who turned all my expectations awry. She told me that it was she, and not Arnold Jefferson, who had committed the forgery.

I felt it incumbent upon me to subject her to a searching examination to get at the truth. She said that she was the person whom Jefferson was engaged to marry. He had been all a lover should be until about the time his uncle had died and no will was found leaving the property to him. Then she told him that a will would be found if she had to write one herself. This, she added, she had done.

I asked Miss Wentworth if she would sign a written confession to this effect, and she said she would. So I asked her to write it. Before she could again see Jefferson I went to the jail and, showing him her confession, asked him why he had made a false one himself. He seemed a good deal agitated at seeing the matter laid down in black and white. Then he burst out passionately:

"I didn't believe when she threatened to do this thing that she would be so desperate. Nevertheless when the second will was found I feared she had written and signed it. Preferring to suffer myself rather than that she should suffer for her crime, I have stood in the breach. And I propose before the court and the world to continue to stand in the breach. I still claim what I have claimed—that I concocted the will, signed my uncle's name to it and put in the names of witnesses who had no existence."

Here was a mixed up affair, and no mistake. A pair of lovers were each claiming to be guilty, and solely guilty, of a crime. Which was the innocent, which the guilty one? I had nothing by which to decide. I thought of the experts. Should I submit this new feature of the case to them? What would it avail? A preponderance of their evidence had proved Jefferson guilty. They could not be expected to go back on their former evidence by declaring that Miss Wentworth committed the forgery. I could get other experts who had not yet been brought into the case, but if they declared that Miss Wentworth had done the writing it would only prove expert testimony to be worthless.

Here I paused in my cogitations, for I was struck with an idea. I might produce Miss Wentworth's confession in court. It would probably be regarded a ruse to save her lover. But suppose I could get experts to testify that her handwriting had in it the characteristics of the forged signature. I could at least save my client. The same evening I acted on this thought, and, though I had difficulty in finding even one expert who had not been called in the case, he had as good repute for skill in his profession as any of the others. To my surprise, he told me there was no doubt that Miss Wentworth was the guilty party.

That settled my course for the future. The next day when the court opened I produced the second confession and the affidavit of the expert in chirography that in his opinion the confessors had forged the signature to the will in question.

There was a great deal of confusion in what followed in court. The legal aspect of the case had entirely changed. Two different persons had confessed to have written a signature that could only have been written by one. After consultation with their client the plaintiff's lawyers took the ground that the second will was invalid because there was a confession on the part of the beneficiary under it that he had forged it. Therefore, the property going to Anna Blake under the former will, she had no interest in further criminal prosecution. They asked for an adjournment of the court and proposed to me that if my client would sign away all claim to his uncle's property they would drop the prosecution against him and so far as they were concerned would not prosecute Miss Wentworth.

I declined the proposition on the ground that it was impossible to prove either of the lovers guilty. But they, feeling confident that the chancery court would give their client the property under the earlier will, dropped the matter, and Jefferson went forth a free man.

My own solution of the problem involved in the two confessions was that Jefferson, being disappointed in inheriting the property, signified that the marriage could not take place. This threw in the way of Miss Wentworth a temptation that she could not resist. She concocted a later will, but her lover in order to save her from the consequences of her crime when criminal proceedings were commenced confessed himself guilty. Nevertheless I was not certain as to this or anything concerning the parties or the affair in which they were concerned. That either one or the other or both were guilty I did not doubt, but this opinion was rather based on the evidence than on the bearing or appearance of either of them. I could not throw off an impression that Jefferson was a fine fellow and Miss Wentworth was a lovely girl. And had not each attempted to relieve the other of the burden by a confession?

The matter of the inheritance was still in the chancery court when one day I received a letter from a man in Australia. I had that day received an invitation to the wedding of Arnold Jefferson and Dora Wentworth. I put the letter in my pocket and said nothing about it till I attended the wedding, which took place in a little church with no attendants except myself. Indeed, it had not been expected that even I would accept. When the clergyman who performed the ceremony came to the words "With all my worldly goods I thee endow" and the groom had repeated them I called a halt and produced the letter I had received from Australia. It read as follows:

Have seen in an American newspaper reference to the case against Arnold Jefferson. I was an intimate friend of the late William Jefferson and was one of the witnesses to a will he made a few weeks before his death. I return to America soon on business and will call upon you not long after you receive this.

SILAS ORMSBY.

Never shall I forget the look that passed between the bride and groom. Each had believed the other guilty of the forgery, but each had forgiven the other on account of the sacrifice involved in the act. A few rapidly spoken words passed between them, there was a quick embrace, and the ceremony proceeded. But they were both too much affected to make the responses intelligently.

The same day I stopped all proceedings in the chancery court as to the Jefferson will pending the arrival of the Australian. In due time the confessed forger inherited the property, enjoying it with his confessed forger wife.

If before handling this case I had qualms of conscience in defending a criminal who I had every reason to believe to be guilty I certainly never had afterward. Our system of jurisprudence is based on hundreds of years' experience and should be followed unflinchingly.

CANNOT LONG EVADE ARREST

Police of Many Cities Know Slayer of Joseph Josephs

HAS LONG BEEN IN BOSTON

Letters Confessing Crimes and Exhibiting Mental Anguish on Part of Writer Were Mailed in Hub—Prominent Citizen of Buffalo Will Be Subjected to Close Questioning

Boston, Nov. 19.—Dispatches from Buffalo say the slayer of little Joseph Josephs is known to the police of Buffalo, Lackawanna and Boston. It is no vague identification. The man's name, address, business connections and social standing—are known to the officers of the law, officials there declare.

It is understood that up to Sunday a week ago he was in Boston, but at the first hint of the discovery of the body of the boy he left for parts unknown.

The Rochester, N. Y., police, who arrested an individual giving the name of George H. Stearns as the possible murderer of Josephs, have concluded Stearns probably had nothing to do with the tragedy, as the man was in Rochester at the time the postal cards were mailed from Boston. Stearns is held on a charge of corrupting a lad. Suspects are being watched in Buffalo and Lackawanna, N. Y., and in Boston.

Chief Gilson of the Lackawanna police says he intends to force one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Buffalo to account for his time during the month of October, 1911, when the Josephs boy was slain. Gibson told the newspapermen he did not have the necessary evidence to ask for a warrant for the suspect as yet, but that in the event of his refusal to answer questions which will be later put to him by the police he will be arrested as a "suspicious person."

Every business house and school in Lackawanna closed yesterday in silent tribute to the little victim, whose funeral exercises were held in St. Charles' church. Four of the murdered boy's schoolmates acted as pall bearers and the chuch was not big enough to accommodate the crowd.

There has been a murder in Buffalo which paralleled this one, but in that case the victim was a girl, 6-year-old Marion Murphy, who was decoyed from her home nearly eleven years ago. She was taken to Delaware park, attacked and then choked to death, as was the Josephs boy. The police believe there may have been a connection between the two murders.

New York police are inclined to doubt whether Herbert Dennison, the "mad actor," really killed Robert Lomas and Arthur Shipley in Highbridge park on Jan. 15, 1910. The two boys were sleigh riding in Washington Heights park when they were shot and killed. Dennison was arrested for the murder. A pistol which was alleged to belong to him was found and the police decided he had killed the two 6-year-old boys.

It soon developed that he was insane, however, and without being brought before a jury on the murder charge he was arraigned on one of insanity and sent to Matteawan asylum, where he now is. There never was any real proof against him for killing the two boys. There is a growing belief that he may have been unjustly accused and that the slayer of the Josephs and Kruck boys was also guilty of the other two crimes.

Thirteen cards, many of them containing stories of an unprintable nature, some revealing terrible mental torture and remorse, other indicating that the murderer was about to give himself up, have been written and mailed in Boston since Sept. 11 of this year.

Serious attention was first given the writer of these missives when the New York police received a postcard from Boston telling in detail the murder of Michael Kruck in Central park, New York, the night of Dec. 19, 1902. Looking over the records the New York police found that the boy had been murdered by strangulation.

WARDEN M'CUSKER DEAD

Head of Rhode Island State Prison Had Been Asked to Resign

Providence, Nov. 19.—Warden James F. McCusker of the Rhode Island state prison at Cranston died yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital in this city of nervous breakdown and Bright's disease.

It was claimed that the breakdown was the result of demands recently made that Warden McCusker resign his position, following convict labor exposures at the state prison.

The Aliens Must Die

Richmond, Nov. 19.—Floyd Allen and his son, Claude, under sentence of death for the murder of the officials of the Carroll county court in Hillsville, were denied writs of error by the Virginia supreme court of appeals. They are sentenced to die in the chair Friday.

NOVEL WAY TO RAISE MONEY

It Costs Money to Be Fat in This French Town

A small French town in the Pyrences district has struck a novel way to increase revenue from taxation. The ordinary channels not bringing enough to carry out certain projected improvements, the Municipal Council decided to place a tax on the physical weight of the citizens, arranging the following scheme:

Below 135 pounds, no tax; from 135 pounds to 200 pounds, $3 annually is demanded; from 200 pounds to 270 pounds, $4.50; for all weights above this figure the tax increases at the rate of $6 for each 20 pounds.

Trouble came when the local authorities tried to collect the tribute. Most of the fat people formed a committee to appeal to the prefect, who represents the Federal authority in the district. Thus a stay was gained. But it appears probable that the town could put into execution the new law if it should fight the case in the courts.

Most of the opposition came from the women, who held meetings and torchlight processions to signify their opposition to the measure, which struck them harder than their husbands.—Stray Stories.

CLANCY RECEIVED A SHOCK

Fainted When He Saw Informer In District Attorney's Office

Indianapolis, Nov. 19.—How Eugene A. Clancy, a labor union official of San Francisco, fainted and remained unconscious when, after making admissions in the district attorney's office in Los Angeles, he looked through the crack of a door and saw standing in another room Ortie E. McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, was related at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

Oscar Lawler, special assistant to the attorney general, and Arthur L. Veitch, who gathered evidence in the dynamiting cases in California, said Clancy collapsed in December, 1911, after admitting in their presence that he knew James B. McNamara was on the coast to blow up non-union jobs.

TIME SHORT FOR FILING

Candidates Should Get Busy to Avoid the Rush

The time for filing nomination papers for candidates to be voted for at the Municipal election expires Wednesday at 5 o'clock. There are many nomination papers in circulation and the Registrars are looking for a land slide. The papers should be filed before that hour however that the Registrars may have an opportunity to examine the signatures to see if the papers have the required number and are in proper form.

THEIR ANNUAL PARTY.

The annual ball of the Pride of Quincy Lodge, Independent Order of Brith Abraham, will be held at Music hall this evening and as this is one of the most important Jewish events of the year a large atendance is expected.

The committee of arrangements is in charge of Joespeh Szathmary.

The floor will be in charge of I. Sussman, and his assistant will be Louis Stone. The chief marshall will be Henry Litchman and the assistant will be Samuel Castleman. Mr. Szathamry will be assisted by Joseph Halter, vice president; Samuel Kadets, secretary and Harry Grabowsky, treasurer. The chief of aids will be A. S. Berkovitz.

—There will be bread enough at all events this year and next. According to the statistics of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome the total wheat production of the principal producing countries is 3,257,000,000 bushels, an increase of 7.2 per cent over last year; of barley 1,257,000,000 an increase of 5.2 per cent; of oats 4,084,000,000, an increase of 20.7 per cent; and of corn 3,620,000,000 an increase of 16.4 per cent. There will be bread enough. Now let's see prices fall and the bakers put more bread in the loaf.—Taunton Herald.

PEEPING TOM ON THE JOB

Several Sections of the City Visited by Offender

POLICE KNOW THE MAN

Over two weeks ago a man created an uproar in the families on Chestnut street by peeking in the windows at a late hour and within the past two nights the residents of Old Colony avenue have had a similar experience. The police have been notified and are conducting an investigation.

Only a meagre description of the offender has been furnished the police. His method has been to attempt to pry a window open if the curtain was drawn or to hold on to the framework. Up to now he has been confining his attentions to the street floor.

In the opinion of members of the police department the man who is doing the peeking is elderly and suffers at times from a mental weakness. While not quite ready to make an arrest, they have practically secured enough evidence to warrant a conviction if the offender is brought into court.

Up to now no specific charge can be brought against the person since he cannot be definitely identified.

ANNIVERSARY AND ROLL CALL

St. Kevin Court Had Large Turnout of Members

The first anniversary, identification and roll call of St. Kevin Court, M. C. O. F., took place at Poland hall, Monday evening at 93 per cent. of the membership responded to their names. This Court is the youngest in the city, having been organized through the efforts of P. H. C. R., Cornelius M. Duggan and younger members of the Sacred Heart Parish.

The guest of the evening was Chaplain Rev. John P. Cuffe who spoke on the good attending the work of the Catholic Order of Foresters. Other speakers were P. H. C. R., C. M. Duggan and Deputy High Chief Ranger Michael Milan.

An entertainment was given consisting of a violin solo by Miss Beatrice Costello, accompanied by Miss Louise Costello, followed by songs by Miss Katherine Dolan. Remi Langelier gave several piano selections and John Herne and Mrs. Margaret Channing sang popular airs.

Dancing was enjoyed, music being furnished by Remi Langelier, Miss Beatrice Costello and Mrs. Joseph W. McClure. Refreshments were served.

The committee was Ted Keohane, High Chief Ranger John Hayes, Miss Marie Duggan, Mrs. Nora Aulbach, and Raymond Morrill.

ONLY SHAFT BROKEN.

The horse of Mrs. H. H. Kitson ran away in City Square this morning, but the only damage done was to break one of the shafts of the carriage. The horse started from near the office of Dr. F. R. Burke and ran across the street toward Kittredge's store. Here the animal went up onto the sidewalk and the carriage striking the corner of the building snapped a shaft, and the animal was secured before he could proceed further.

QUINCY MAN LOSES CONTRACT

Boston City Council Action Knocks Out Some Plans

The Boston City Council Monday unanimously rejected the order of Mayor Fitzgerald appropriating $75,000 additional for building the City Hall annex, which means that the annex will be built of limestone and not of granite. The original building is of Quincy granite and had the extra amount asked for by Mayor Fitzgerald passed the granite would have been quarried in Quincy. In other words it means that Quincy granite men lose a contract for about $75,000.

ATTENDED INSTALLATION.

A party of members of the Ave Maria Council, Knights of Columbus, attended the installation of the officers of Seville Council at Brockton Monday evening.

Among those from Quincy who spoke at the installation were Grand Knight Bernard M. O'Neil, Past Deputy Grand Knight, John J. Mahoney and Warden Edward Reinhalter. Fred McDonnell rendered several songs and told stories which were well received.

The trip was made by automobile, the party returning at a late hour.

DECEMBER MAGAZINES.

THE WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION—The December issue contains a remarkable account of the birth of Christ, written by Washington Gladden. It is a simple, straight narrative—interesting and full of an extraordinary sense of wonder. Reading it is like reading about Lincoln or any other great real figure in history.

In the same number there is an intimate personal account of the little Princess Mary, who is the only daughter of the King and Queen of England. Princess Mary is fifteen years old and has five brothers. The photographs that accompany the article make an unusual feature.

The magaziine contains six or eight special contributions that have to do with Christmas—particularly articles showing how to make various kinds of Christmas presents. The fiction is especially adapted to a Christmas number, and a special point is made of the art features. Many of the illustrations are in color.

TECHNICAL WORLD—Among the leading articles in the December Technical World are: The Menace of Mexico by Judson P. Welliver; To Prevent Collisions at Sea by P. H. Middleton; Germ of Cancer Discovered by Dr. L. K. Hiirshberg; Unknown Heroes of Industry by Hugh C. Wier; The Terrors of the Typhoon by Monroe Wooley; Swapping Rivers With Canada by J. C. Blanchard; To Stop a $500,000,000 Loss by Henry M. Hyde; Arresting Vagrant Electricity by Benjamin Brooks; Cutting Out the Middleman by C. M. Morrison; Nine Mile Bridge for San Francisco by C. L. Edholm; Ten Thousand a Year from Alfalfa by H. D. Smith, and Great New College in Texas by L. B. Colby.

AMERICAN MAGAZINE.—The December number marks an important epoch in the history of periodical making. With this number The American goes to a new size—8 1-2 inches by 12. This permits of three columns of reading matter to the page much larger and more beautiful illustrations, a book practically as thick as the old standard sized magazine and a greatly improved physical appearance all around. Of the ninety-two illustrations in the number, twenty-four are in color.

David Grayson, F. P. Dunne, Helen Keller, Ida M. Tarbell, Ed. Howe, James Montgomery Flagg, Emerson Hough, and Oliver Herford are among the notable contributors of articles to the first number of the new sized magazine. On the side of fiction, Arnold Bennett leads the way with the first chapter of a new serial entitled "The Regent"—a theatrical story, lively and stirring. Other stories are by Harris Merton Lyon, Frank Barkley Copley, Henry Oyen, Welford Beaton, Mary Brecht Pulver and Ralph Straus.

A FRIEND IN NEED

Just a Bit of Life as It Cropped Out on a Railway Train.

A TOUCH OF REAL HUMANITY.

The Rough Looking Man Who Proved That His Heart Was Big and In the Right Place and the Shabby but Grateful Foreigner He Befriended.

"Whenever I hear anything nowadays about 'man's inhumanity to man,'" said a Providence citizen the other day, "I am reminded of a little incident. I was coming back from Boston with a friend on the midnight train, and, getting on board at the Back Bay station, we found a seat near the rear end of the car.

"Soon after the train pulled out I happened to look around and saw the conductor apparently expostulating with a rather shabby looking specimen of humanity who was sitting in the last seat. At first I thought the man was drunk, but as I watched I saw that he was a foreigner who couldn't understand English. He was holding out a crumpled one dollar bill to the conductor and saying 'New York' over and over again.

"Finally the conductor shook his head, said something I couldn't catch and went on. The foreigner, a rather decent looking young fellow, gazed at him despairingly, then buried his face in his hands and began to cry. With the usual callous indifference of the traveling public to the troubles of any one else, I paid no more attention to the man and prepared to take a nap.

"I was just beginning to doze when I became aware that a man was standing beside me in the aisle, speaking to me. I sat up and looked at him. He was a rough appearing man, far from prepossessing, clean shaven, with a sort of bulldog face.

"'Say, gents,' he began, 'I want to know if you wouldn't like to help a feller out.'

"I stiffened instinctively, determined to refuse to let him make a 'touch.'

"'There's a poor young foreigner back there,' he went on with a jerk of his thumb toward the alien, still sitting with bowed head, 'and he's up against it for fair. He can't speak a word of English, and he wants to go to New York, where he has friends.

"'He got the idea somehow he could do it for a dollar, all he's got; but, of course, he can't, and they're going to put him off the train when we get to Providence. It's mighty hard on a feller like him, and there ain't any telling what'll happen to him getting put off in a strange city at 1 o'clock in the morning. I thought maybe you'd be willing to give a little to help him along.'

"He stopped, looked us straight in the eye and smiled sheepishly as if he were ashamed of what he was doing. We gave him a dollar, and he went on through the car, and there were few of the passengers who didn't respond to the appeal. He came back counting the money, and as he got to our seat I heard him say:

"'There's a dollar more needed—I'll make it up myself!' and he pulled out a couple of fifty cent pieces and added them to the amount.

"The conductor and the brakeman were standing at the door of the car near the foreigner's seat.

"'Here,' said the man who had collected the money to the alien; 'give me your dollar.'

"Dumbly, but trustingly, the young fellow handed it over, and, giving it to the conductor with the rest, the bulldog man said gruffly:

"'There's his fare.'

"It slowly dawned on the alien what had been done for him, and as the conductor punched the rebate check and handed it to him the gratitude in his face was indescribable. He couldn't speak, but he took his cap off and bowed again and again to the official, but the latter pointed to the passenger who was sitting in his seat across the aisle and told the youth that he was the one to thank.

"The foreigner crossed the aisle till he stood squarely in front of his benefactor, took off his cap and, with tears of gratitude in his eyes, bowed again and again. It was evident enough that the benefactor was embarrassed by this unexpected outburst. At first he waved his hand around the car to indicate that everybody had had a hand in it. But he couldn't make the foreigner understand. The latter kept on bowing, whereupon the uncomfortable individual in the seat grunted and turned to look out of the window.

"I have never seen," concluded the man who was telling the story, "a kindlier—if I were a girl I should say a sweeter—act of charity in my life. Sitting across the aisle, this hard faced man had heard the story of the foreigner, helpless, alone and frightened, and out of pure goodness of heart, without any necessity for doing it, he had taken upon himself the ungrateful task of soliciting money from the rest of the people in that car to help out a man he'd never seen before and would probably never see again."—Providence Journal.

The New Star.

"How did you become an actor? I suppose you studied Shakespeare and other masters for many weary hours."

"Not exactly," responded the prominent star. "I became an actor by making a three base hit in a pinch."—Pittsburgh Post.

GOOD BOWLING BY PIPE MEN

Foundry Makes Its Debut in the Fore River League

SHIPFITTERS LEADING

Good bowling in the Fore River matches at the Coliseum alleys Monday night furnished enough excitement for the spectators.

The appearance of a team from the Foundry was the signal for an outburst of applause and the usual good natured jollying followed. They will fill in the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of the Engine Draftsmen who were licked to a frazzle.

The Foundry celebrated their entrance by losing four points to the yard. The Pipefitters took four points from the Hull Draftsmen and the Machinist Floor beat the Government Draftsmen, 4 to 0.

Bliss of the Pipefiters rolled 122 and his teammate Keaton reached a total of 301.

—It has been the fashion to laugh at the idea of teaching journalism in a school. The old-time physician laughed at the medical college, and the old-time lawyer thought his office all the school a student needed. Both the law office and the doctor's office are still invaluable for practical training. The professional school only fits a man to make the best use of them. So the school of journalism may be expected to fit students to make the best use for themselves and their employers of the chances which come to them in actual newspaper making. They will still be "cubs" when they enter the editorial rooms—woe for them if they dare to think otherwise! But they should be "cubs" with a capacity for more than ordinary development in one of the most difficult and trying of professions and one for which no strength of character and no breadth of training can be too great.—New York Tribune.

THREE CANDIDATES SPEAK FROM SAME PLATFORM AT WOLLASTON

Penniman's Claim to Be Oldest Punctured By Miller's 60 Summers

Other Speakers Did Not Blame Mayor Stone For Conditions

The three candidates for Mayor, several prospective councilmen and others spoke at the meeting of the Wollaston Park Improvement Association held at the Wollaston Yacht club, Tuesday evening.

Among the speakers were: John L. Miller, Progressive Mayoralty candidate, James H. Penniman, Democratic nominee, Mayor Eugene R. Stone, John H. Johnson, Ex-Councilman Joseph L. Whiton, Councilman Chas. L. Gilliatt and Russell T. Anthony.

The hall was well filled and those present showed enthusiasm over the remarks of the various candidates. President Edward O. Woodward presided.

At the business meeting the building committee reported in favor of cooperating with the "community house" committee of Wollaston in its larger project than to continue in planning a separate building.

A nominating committee consisting of Frank Coe, B. F. Chase, Joseph K. Barber, M. B. Capron, Frank C. Blake, William H. Spooner and Charles R. Hendrie was elected. Reports of several committees and officers were received.

President Woodward announced that each mayoralty candidate would be limited to 20 minutes and would be taken in the order his name appeared on the ballot.

John L. Miller was the first and declared the city to be a corporation of which Mayor Stone was the responsible head, and the present year was the most extravagant and the most mismanaged since Quincy became a city. He criticised the minimum water rate of $16.00, the highest in the state. "A storekeeper would not sell molasses or vinegar and compel you to take 5 or 10 gallons when you only wanted one." If elected, he promised that one of the first things he would do would be to equalize the water rate. He promised every man from the Neponset River to Braintree line a square deal if elected. He denounced the stories being circulated regarding his family and defied their authors to back them up. He was in Quincy 24 hours, 20 days in the month. He would see the duties of the office were attended to if it took half the night.

"If you send me to City Hall," said Mr. Miller, "I will see that every man gets a square deal. I am determined no man shall get away with what he should reasonably pay into the city."

James H. Penniman, Democratic nominee declared he felt like the meat in a church sandwich between the oratory of the last speaker and of the speaker to follow.

Mr. Penniman declared he had the advantage of the other candidates in point of age and "age," he said "begets wisdom,"

He was a Quincy boy—born and educated in this city. Where your birthplace is, you will fight harder and work harder than any place on God's footstool.

He respected Mr. Miller and honored and liked Mr. Stone very much. He hoped those present would not reckon his ability for Mayor with his ability as a speech maker.

Mr. Miller objected to the speaker's statement that he was oldest of the candidates.

"How old are you?" said Mr. Penniman.

"Sixty," said Mr. Miller.

"I take it back then" said Mr. Penniman.

Mayor Eugene R. Stone bespoke his pleasure in coming to Wollaston and spoke of the needs of the district. The first of the year he had favored Elm avenue, Muirhead and Stanton streets and had done all in his power to bring about improvements. One of the reasons was his auto being stuck in the mud of Elm avenue last year. Where people build as good and as taxable property as on that street they should get some returns.

He would work for a new state bath house at Wollaston Beach, better trolley service on the Downs line and the extension of the present dead end of the boulevard to Hancock street.

Time forbade then, but before the end of the campaign he would meet the citizens as a whole and meet the charges made against him.

The speaker went into the city's finances and showed by a chart into what expenditures a dollar of the taxes was divided.

The city was not bankrupt, the present financial trouble came from borrowing on short time loans. There was not one iota of truth in the charge that he spent but a few hours a day at city hall. Twelve hours a day was a nearer figure. Sometimes he did not leave until midnight.

In closing he said: "I have done the best I could, and will do the same if I go back, I can't do more. If elected I will do the best I can. If not I will try and help the man you do elect."

John H. Johnson said he found him-

WHITE SHIELD NOVEL FORM OF INTRODUCTION AND FELLOWSHIP

City Planning the Prime Object of Men's Clubs Over the Country

Said Victor Loring at First Parish Club Dinner

The second meeting of the First Parish club was held Tuesday evening and brought out a large attendance of members and guests. The members began to gather shortly after 6 o'clock and as they entered the door they were met by Delcevare King of the Hospitality committee who presented each with a white shield, upon which he was requested to write his name, and pin the shield on the lapel of his coat. The idea was that in this way everyone might readily know everyone else, the shield being a form of introduction as well as serving to promote that feeling of good fellowship, one of the cardinal principals of the club.

After an informal half hour, dinner was announced at 6.30 and but little time was lost in occupying the table in the chapel. The head table was laid across the front of the platform. Those seated at this table were Dr. A. L. Hudson, President of the club, Rupert F. Claflin, Rev. Carl G. Horst of the Wollaston Unitarian church, Paul R. Blackmur, Hon. Victor J. Loring of Boston, the speaker of the evening, ex-Representative Louis F. R. Langelier, President of the Wollaston Unitarian club, Henry W. Porter, secretary of the First Parish club, Albert L. Barbour, Superintendent of Schools and Horace W. Rice, Master of the Woodward Institute.

After an invocation by Rev. Carl G. Horst, no time was lost in partaking of the excellent roast beef supper that was served, the boys of the junior laymen's club officiating as waiters.

Supper over Secretary Porter made a brief report of the first meeting after which the president, Dr. Hudson, in introducing the speakers said, one great problem is getting the club under way. The idea is that men ought to enjoy themselves and have a good time but it should have some relation to the moral ideals of Quincy. In looking about to see what should be done the officers visited some of the other clubs to see how they did things. He felt that Wollaston was nearly the parent club and he would therefore introduce the man who represented that club.

Louis F. R. Langelier, president of the Wollaston Unitarian club in responding said that he was really pleased to see such a thriving child, and if Wollaston was the parent club it should be a proud parent. He congratulated the club on its success upon such a good showing at its second meeting.

The speaker then said that there had been a small start made in Wol-

BETHANY FAIR GREAT SUCCESS

Plenty of Novelty and Variety to Satisfy All

The annual fair under the auspices of the sewing circle of Bethany church opened Tuesday afternoon under most auspicious circumstances. The weather was fine and the different tables were bountifully laden with beautiful articles of all discriptions. Mrs. Everett Crane, president of the circle, was ably assisted by the following ladies who presided at the various tables.

Junior King's Daughters table—Mrs. Frank S. Moore, chairman, Misses Esther Beckford, Hortense Andrews, Gladys G. Hunt, Dorothy England, Marion Miller, Laurice Penniman, Helen Bishop, Grace Miller. Among the many dainty things at this table was a very handsome quilt embroidered by the young ladies.

At the children's table, the articles consisted of wearing apparel, Mrs. Maria McPhail, chairman assisted by Mrs. Charles England.

Fancy table, Mrs. Frank F. Prescott, chairman; Mrs. George L. Badger, Mrs. Edward Tucker, Mrs. J. Percival Sears, Mrs. Charles Barron, Mrs. John F. Welch, Mrs. Abbott Melcher, Mrs. F. B. Horton, Mrs. Samuel Ames, Mrs. William Sidelinger.

Fancy aprons, Mrs. Frances Dunbar, chairman; Mrs. J. Gilbert Miller, Mrs. W. G. Shaw.

Domestic, Mrs. George Macfarlane, chairman; Miss Frace Fisher, Mrs. C. L. Badger.

Candy, Miss Addie J. Park, chairman; Mrs. Benjamin Willmott, Mrs. Ernest Collins, Mrs. Curtis Pierce, Mrs. John Bell, Misses Emma Spaulding, Margaret Stewart, Agnes Fisher, Lou Lewis.

One corner of the vestry was devoted to "Ye Mystery Mill, see what it grinds." This mill was very elaborate and proved a great attraction to young and old, who placed their money in one receptacle only to have some valuable article awaiting them at the next opening. Mrs. John F. Hunt was chairman of this very novel and unique arrangement, assisted by her son Sturgis H. Hunt. Mr. Hunt also proved himself a very efficient and accomplished salesman in the starch business and sold enough starch to set up a large number of people in the laundry business.

DEPUTY VISITS HOME LODGE

Wollaston Masons Receive Bro Pinkham With Due Honors

BANQUET FOLLOWED

Rt. Wor. Walter S. Pinkham, District Deputy Grand Master of the 26th Masonic district paid an official visitation to Wollaston lodge Tuesday evening. As Wollaston lodge is the home lodge of the Deputy Grand Master there was a very large attendance of members present to extend him their greeting. In addition to the members of Wollaston lodge there were many visitors, Orphans Hope lodge of East Weymouth being represented by its Master, several of its Past Masters and a large delegation of its members.

The lodge room was hardly large enough to accommodate those present and in order to provide more room the large doors separating the banquet room from the lodge room proper were thrown open. Even then there was scarcely room enough and it was the general sentiment that the time is near at hand when Wollaston lodge must seek larger apartments.

The Grand Master and suite were received with due honors by Wor. Charles E. Monroe, the officers and members of Wollaston lodge. Grand Master Pinkham was accompanied by Wor. Joseph P. Prout of Rural lodge as Grand Marshal, Wor. Frank A. Reed of Rural lodge as Grand Senior Warden, Wor. Charles W. Dunbar of Orphans Hope lodge, East Weymouth as Grand Junior Warden, Wor. Charles G. Jordan of Delta lodge, Braintree as Grand Treasurer and Wor. Leroy C. Holbrook of Norfolk Union lodge Randolph as Grand Secretary.

Others on his suite included Wor. E. T. J. Dexter of Norfolk Union lodge Randolph, Wor. E. F. Sterling, Wor. E. M. Wight of Delta lodge, Braintree, Wor. Frank H. Torrey, Wor. Gardner R. P. Barker and Wor. Leavitt W. Bates of Orphans Hope lodge, East Weymouth, Wor. W. E. Gutterson of Delta lodge, Braintree, Wor. Samuel F. Howard of Paul Revere lodge, Brockton, Wor. William Pierce, of John Cutler lodge, Abington, Grand Pursuivant of the Grand lodge, Wor. George W. Hyde and Wor. P. E. Curtis of John Cutler lodge Abington, Wor. M. L. Harris of Golden Rule lodge Wakefield, Wor. Charles Sampson and Wor. Albert M. Parker of Rural lodge, Quincy. Bro. George F. Farrer, Senior Warden and Bro. Stanley T. Torrey, Junior Warden of Orphans Hope lodge East Weymouth.

The work of the evening was the third degree which was exemplified in a manner that called for many words of commendation from the Grand master and visiting brothers.

The Grand Master brought the greetings of the Grand lodge and extended his congratulations upon the hapid growth and the excellent work of its officers.

After the meeting an adjournment was made to Brasee's hall where a banquet was served.

BUSY WITH CANDIDATES.

The Daughters of John Adams, L. L. O. L. acted on 14 applications at a regular meeting at Wilson's hall Tuesday evening. A new record was established and the candidates will be initiated on December 3. Worthy Mistress Mrs. Annie Lamont will initiate The members are working for the busiest season since their organization.

REWARDED HER ATTENTIONS.

As an appreciation of his granddaughters many delightful attentions to him, Napoleon B. Furnald tendered her a check for a substantial amount when she became Mrs. William Warmington on Sunday afternoon. She was Miss Elizabeth Furnald before the marriage ceremony and lived with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Furnald on Newcomb street. Mr. Furnald, senior and his wife celebrated their 62nd anniversary a short time ago.

COMMITTEE LOTH TO APPEAL TO RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS

New Haven Flatly Refused a Midnight Train From Boston and Other Things

Morning Train About 7.50 Among Quincy Adams Needs

Representatives of improvement associations in Quincy and citizens in general attended the hearing of the Board of Trade, at the council chamber Tuesday evening, to discuss better train service. After about two hours informal discussion it was voted to refer the matter back to the Board of Trade for further investigation.

The question of fare reduction came up on a motion and was argued at length. It was also referred to the organizations.

President Charles C. Hearn presided and 35 persons attended.

William H. Teasdale reported that his committee had made no progress with the road officials and said that a number of demands were flatly refused, particularly a train leaving Boston at midnight.

Councilman Richards reported that Supt. Hobbs of the road had appeared before the Granite Manufacturers Association Monday evening and said that more trains were operated on this line than on any two track system in the world.

During the general discussion there seemed to be an unwillingness on the part of the commuters to present their claim to the railroad commissioners, the majority preferring a further conference with the road officials as a mark of courtesy.

The unsanitary condition of the Quincy station and poor police protection in the station was commented on by Councilman Studley. He advocated the installation of lights beyond the platform so that a person leaving a long train could see where to walk with safety. His remarks were heartily endorsed.

Old fashioned, hard-riding cars were given their bumps by the speakers and each presented an individual opinion as to how their needs would be remedied.

It was brought out that many Quincy Adams patrons felt the need of a train at 7.50 A. M., and that many are obliged to go to Quincy for the 7.57 A. M. The complaint was made by Leo Elcock and Daniel Driscoll.

Among those who appeared were William H. Deacon of the Laymen's Club of Christ Church, Rev. A. M. Thompson of the Minister's Association, Delcevare King, Mrs. Wilson Marsh of the Quincy Woman's Club, Councilman H. T. Cunningham, Francis M. Curtis, Edward F. Parlee of the Montclair Improvement Association, Henry French and J. Curran of the Houghs Neck Associates, Harry Gallagher, Rev. Richard E. Armstrong, Peter T. Fallon and Albert Whitman.

ORIENT CLUB FIRST PARTY

Proved a Great Attraction and Enjoyable Affair

The Orient A. A. who are practically the amateur base ball champions of the city held their first dancing party in Alpha hall Tuesday evening. Because of the fire they were obliged to postpone from their original date and there was a large attendance.

During the evening a number of candidates for city honors dropped in and wished the boys a successful year.

The floor was in charge of Frederick M. Dolan and Timothy M. Cremins was the assistant. John J. Donahue was chief of aids and he was assisted by Thomas D. Curtin, John E. Mattson, Willam L. Mattson, Charles Predario, William W. Small and Daniel P. Sullivan.

Nearly all of the clubs were represented and there were delegations of the fair sex from the Y. F. K. Girls, I. D. I. Girls, Utopean Girls, Jolly Eight Girls, Glenetha Girls, S. O. Q. B. Girls, Violet Girls and the Hello Girls.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

There is more blanketing of automobiles than horses these days.

The hair snippers will probably have time enough now to think upon the error of their ways.

It is a terrible calamity when innocent children are exposed to the unaccountable mania of some light minded degenerate people.

The traditional whirlwind rush of the Turks forward has developed into a Turkey trot to the rear.

In the meantime Austria is credited with sitting on her hind legs, and waiting to benefit from the fruits of the heroic efforts of the Balkan states.

It is almost time that some of those people who are having night sweats over the senatorial matter learned that the people of the state settled the question as how the next senator should be elected, at the polls, the first of the month. All this nonsensical prattle about a caucus and other things at this time is only a mere waste of time. Of course it affords some spell binders and politicians to air an opinion now and then that is hardly worth considering and affords them a chance to keep in the glare of the lime light, but on the whole, as the people have settled the question, it would be well to let the people have their way in this matter.

A woman was shot in a railroad train and a man on the platform rushed to her side and "being a Virginian" did all he could to relieve her distress. Whether Virginians are alone capable of performing such service is not the point, but the fact remains that any man would have made the attempt under the circumstances.

That New York diamond robber made every shot count, and the truest aim he reserved for his companion and himself.

It is certainly none to early for Loyal New Englanders to get on the band wagon for that 1920 observance or celebration.

Candidate Miller is willing to devote 16 hours a day to the mayoralty job. A good many work fully as much as that quite often and do not get $2500 a year for it.

Very few congressmen will be found unwise enough to vote for cutting the tariff, just for the sake of using the pruning knife. What the people want is a revision that will mean something in the way of meeting the serious problem by which they are confronted, the high cost of living. This can only be done by careful investigation. Haphazard revision will mean a worse state of affairs than before and the Democrats would have to suffer the penalty which their majority would demand.

Quincy people cannot agree that the Boston City Council was right, in not changing the city hall annex from limestone to granite.

That bubble in the City Square fountain is not always reliable.

A hard blow for the circus, the peanut crop is reported as very poor.

THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving is only a week away. There are many things which people should be thankful for, but it is doubtless true that many of those who have the most grounds for thankfulness are the most dissatisfied and fault finding. Many who outwardly have all that is desirable to make life one rosey sunset find many things against which they rail in the most unreasonable manner. If they had half the burdens of some other fellow they would conclude that life was not worth the living.

The person who has health and strength, and the taste for and the power to provide three square meals a day has much to be grateful for. At this time, in the gratefulness and thanksgiving which should come from those who are abundantly provided for they should not forget that there is another class not quite so fortunate. The Salvation army is taking steps to alleviate the wants of this latter class at this Thanksgiving time. While some may differ on the means employed, there are none who can find an objection to the object. There it is quite well for the ones who have a little to think of those who have nothing and aid the Salvation Army in performing the Master's work according to their lights.

THE $12 TAX LIMIT.

For years there has been a continuous and growing objection to this forcial measure known as the $12 tax limit. It has led to more humbugging than anything else and has afforded a means of officials hiding from the people actual conditions and lulling them into the absurd belief that they were living along on a $12 tax limit, when as a matter of fact there are few cities or towns of the state, except those who have many wealthy residents, whose tax rate is even as low as that. Still the thing has gone along year after year, up to the present time, and it now looks as though there would be a successful movement to have this alleged tax limit law revoked and something that will more meet present day demands take its place. That there is reason for a change every one admits. The nature of that change and its effects are difficult to determine, but it is to be hoped that every avenue will be exhausted in a search for experiences that will tend to offer some solution of the problem but it is to be hoped that the thing will be so finely handled that something which will produce good results will evolve from the taxation chaos into which the cities of the state are at present plunged.

Quincy has taken a stand against the new law and no one will have any regrets when it is wiped off the statute book.

SHIP MACHINERY.

The Aldrich-Payne tariff bill, had its little joker, but the strange part is that this little card was tucked away in the schedule relating to ship machinery. This affords ample illustration of the laxity which must have permitted this bill to pass both houses of congress and no doubt the eagle eye of many persons directly interested in its passage, with a clause in which at this time, needs interpretation to decide whether American shipping interests will suffer or not. The tariff provides for the free admission of ship material. What an absurdedly broad way of covering a most important subject. The president is called upon to interpret the meaning of that clause which is evidence that the treasury department has some doubts upon it. If the present should interpret the wording literally it would mean that the machinery of vessels could come into this country free of duty. Many of the ship building concerns make their own engines and ship machinery. It is up to the president to at this time, give as his opinion the intention of congress upon the disputed point. It is rather a difficult and delicate matter which he has in hand. However much will depend upon the decision, as it will undoubtedly establish a precedent in such matters. One thing certain, this situation only goes to show how careful congress should be in its handling of the tariff.

TO SUCCEED M'CLUNG

President Will Appoint Thompson as United States Treasurer

Washington, Nov. 20.—Carmi A. Thompson, secretary to President Taft, will be appointed treasurer of the United States within the next few days, to succeed Lee McClung, who resigned from the position last week.

It was understood that Thompson would be named to the place and take the oath of office yesterday, but Charles D. Hilles, who will return to the position of secretary to President Taft, will take a few days' vacation before resuming the task which he held before he became Republican national chairman.

FIRST PARISH CLUB

laston along the line of a federation of men's clubs, which included the improvement associations of Norfolk Downs and the Park and Downs. Later on it was thought that all clubs of the city would be included. The idea had been started by the President of the Congregational club and the first meeting would be held early in January, at that meeting two representatives from each club will be present.

Clubs of this section have two objects. Those like the Wollaston Unitarian club followed the ethical and cultural line. The other is on the line of civic improvement. We have to be careful which side we take in the federation, as we are apt to get too near the ballot box. In the federation are some clubs whose whole purpose is to take the practical side of public improvements. The other is a club that criticises principals, not criticising persons.

Dr. Hudson said that the one idea is to secure efficiency in all lines. Civilization has reached a degree of industrial and financial efficiency such as no other country in the world has. The moral effort has not kept pace with the industrial and financial efficiency. There is something about a club that stimulates moral efficiency and moral ideas. Dr. Hudson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. Victor J. Loring, ex-President of the American Federation of Men's clubs who spoke on the "Spirit of the Age."

In opening his talk the speaker said that at noon he had asked the president of the federation what was the prime object of men's clubs and he had replied City Planning. If it is left to the business interests to plan a city of the future you will have an efficient city.

We are looking to the church clubs to come into this city planning and furnish the moral support. For generations mankind looked at man with his relation to God. With the coming of the present century it is man's relation with man. Fifty years ago we fought a great war, but if the christian men of the country had been united there would have been no such war.

It is difficult to advise what phase should be adopted tonight. The speaker told of his visit to the St. Lawrence and the inspiration that came to him was that it furnished a solution of the question of man's relation to man. "I wish you could go up there with me and see if we can not get something of this inspiration, he said.

The speaker also referred to the great battle of capital and labor and urged that when we consider labor and capital we remember the Christ form of law to the woman of Nazareth. "I realize that war is spreading over the country and no man can stop it. One way is by the formation of men's clubs in the churches."

He then spoke of the history of men's clubs from the formation of the first brotherhood of St. Andrew in 1886 up to the present time and said that society was being reconstructed along the lines of brotherhood. The world is not yet awake but is awakening. In our own country all sorts of industries are organizing. The christian men of the country are organizing today. They believe that no stain should blight the kingdom of man. They believe in civic righteousness and in fraternity. It is but another phase of that federation that is spreading over the country. The principal has not changed but simply changed its name.

Has not the church been trying to teach the God on earth rather than the God of hereafter. So have the great organizations been striving to carry out that vision of the early Hebrews and early christians. Today the christian church of Quincy and America is challenged to transform its vision of heavenly life to a vision of earthly life. Fraternity is the cardinal principal of the christian church and as they preserve it so will be their future prosperity. This is no new element to discuss the problems of the day but an application of the first law taught by Him on the sea of Gallilee. It teaches us the sentiment for common humanity and the human race and binds us together in a great bond. We are planning for an organization of individuality. An organization of fraternity where all men unite for the uplift of mankind. The spirit of the times is in our midst to unify mankind and make them a living force.

Dr Hudson then announced that the speaker would be glad to answer any questions and several took advantage of the opportunity. Lysander Richards asked what was the largest denomination club and was informed that it was the Episcopal. Mr. Richards also asked of what advantage it was to have men's clubs rather than men and women's clubs? The speaker replied that it was because the men's clubs were more successful. He could not tell why but men would come to a meeting like this in greater numbers than if there were women present. He did not think smoking the cause.

R. F. Claflin spoke of the great war in the east now going on and asked if it was not advisable to establish a universal peace. This seemed as vital as any question that can arise at the present time when the United States and other countries are expending millions of dollars. Today he said there were many dead and wounded on European battlefields. It is because of the lack of universal peace and we ought to pay some attention to universal arbitration. When he thought of the great nations that could preserve peace among themselves it seems af if they could preserve peace among the smaller nations.

In replying the speaker said that we can realize that one can not cover everything. Back of this wreck and ruin there is this get together of the people. Sometimes we can not get a bad thing out of our system without taking rank medicine.

Mr. Langelier said that there were divisions of opinions as to how near clubs should get to the ballot box. Mr. Loring replied that the American Federation furnished plans and had experts who could be had to study your locality and advise. It was difficult to speak from a local condition. Many believe the trouble with politics is because christian men have so little to do with it. How are you to have clean politics if christian men do not take a hand in it?

S. T. MacQuarrie asked how the federation was formed and what it did in the way of advice.

The speaker replied that it was made up of representatives of different clubs. That the federation had a corps of experts who may be consulted.

Dr. Hudson replying to the question asked earlier in the evening about men and men and women's clubs said that for one thing the essence of men's clubs was its democracy. Our women have their place in the development of a higher civilization but here men come in business suits and make it a social gathering. If women were present it would be more of a social affair.

Before the meeting adjourned a rising vote of thanks was extended to the speaker of the evening. A half hour was then spent in a social manner.

LARGE PARTY AT THE DANCE

Of the Jewish Young Men's Association in Music Hall

The sixth annual ball of the Pride of Quincy Lodge, Independant Order of Brith Abraham at Music hall Tuesday evening proved ont of the most successful Jewish affairs of the year. A concert by Wilson's orchestra closed at nine o'clock and the guests took their places in the grand march which was directed by Leo J. McMaster.

Ex- President and Mrs. Joseph Szathmary were the first couple and they were followed by President and Mrs. A. Hurwitz, Councilman and Mrs. Edward J. Sandberg, Dr. and Mrs. John H. Ash, and fifty couples.

Among the invited guests were State Deputy Sol Levy and suite of Boston, Hon. Eugene R. Stone, Representative-elect, Michael T. Sullivan and Councilman John R. Richards.

Guests were present from Boston, Brockton, Roxbury, Dorchester and Revere.

The officers of the ball were J. Szathmary, chairman; J. Walter, vice-chairman; S. Kadets, secretary; H. Grabowsky, treasurer; H. Litchman, chief Marshal; I. Castleman, assistant marshal, T. Sussman, floor director; L. Stone and Joseph B. Grossman, assistant floor directors.

A. S. Berkowitz was the chief of aids and he was assisted by A. Kaufman, George Schwartz, H. Edelstein, N. Newman, S. Katcher, B. Rappaport, B. Julius, H. Berman, and H. Katz.

The committee of arrangements was B. Julius, I. Shangold, L. Smith, M. Zirlstein and M. Levy.

COUNTY TUBERCULOUS HOSPITAL

In 1909 a law was passed in New York state authorizing the establishment and maintenance in each county, by its board of supervisors, of its own hospital for the tuberculous. The New York State Department of Health, in conjunction with the State Charities Association of that commonwealth, has since been striving to make this law effective, with gratifying results. Twenty-one counties have decided to build such institutions, some of which, indeed, are in operation; and it is hoped that by the end of the present year thirty will be projected, representing action by more than half of the counties in the state.

The representatives of the department of health and of the association, have had to do considerable educating; especially has this been so in the rural districts, where there seems to be a false sense of security regarding tuberçulosis. In planning the county hospitals the number of beds are computed as two-thirds the average of tuberculosis deaths in the county, the cost of construction about $500 per bed, and the maintenance about $1.25 per day for a patient. The expenditures (which are to be met by the taxpayers of the respective counties) would be insignificant in comparison with the sums the public pay for good roads and the erection and maintenance of armories, orphan asylums, jails and prisons. Besides, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, money put into the county tuberculosis hospital will help to close up many an almshouse and many an orphan asylum; for this disease (the most deadly in the most productive period of human existence) is one of the greatest causes of pauperism, and probably the greatest single cause of orphanage.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

John Orth's lecture-recital on "Personal Reminiscenes of Liszt at Weimar," will be given before the Quincy Women's club at its next meeting, Nov. 26. Mr. Orth spent two years in the Liszt circle at Weimar, and had abundant opportunity to appreciate and understand the wonderful qualities of Liszt's great genius. Mr. Orth enlivens his spoken word with many delightful anecdotes, besides interpreting the piano compositions with a rare poetic charm.

An early meeting of the club is called for Tuesday afternoon to discuss changing the by-laws, the hour being two o'clock, a half hour earlier than usual. Several important changes will be submitted by the committee, one on enlarging the membership, another relating to nominations and date of annual meeting. The by-laws are important and a subject that should interest every member of the club therefore there should be a large attendance on Tuesday at two o'clock.

The Arts and Crafts Committee is to have an exhibition and sale at the next meeting of the club Nov. 26. The Woman's Exchange will also have their usual sale.

The next social function in which the club is interested is the annual assembly at Music hall on Friday evening Nov. 29 under the auspices of the Civic committee. The matrons will be Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, president of the club, Mrs. Theophilus King and Mrs. Charles R. Safford, assisted by a long list of patronesses and corps of ushers. Among those receiving subscriptions for the dance are: Mrs. O. A. Blaisdell, chairman of the committee, Mrs. N. S. Hunting, Mrs. Ralph Hobbs, Miss Marjery Rideout, Miss Annie L. Prescott, Mrs. Theophilus king, Mrs. W. F. Cummings, Mrs. John R. Richards, Mrs. W. G. Shaw and Mrs. E. H. Bushnell.

In compliance with a request from several club members not at the last meeting, arrangements have been made to have a few of Mr. James Hamilton's baskets on exhibition and for orders at next meeting.

A WOMAN SHIPBUILDER.

Work That Wins Her Praise and Custom.

Ahoy, mariners! Make way for a woman shipbuilder. She is Mrs. Edith DeWitt Vreeland, president and managing director of the Keyport Marine Railway, a shipyard at Raritan Bay, on the Jersey coast, near Sandy Hook. Though a yachts-woman and familiar with navigation of small craft, Mrs. Vreeland knew nothing of shipyards and had no knowledge of marine construction when the death a year ago of her husband, A. J. Vreeland, left this property to her. The inheritance at first appeared to her like a "white elephant" and a difficult if not a hopeless business proposition, for she soon discovered that many sailors and masters had a deep-sea prejudice against a woman building ships or even repairing them. One ungallant skipper considered the widow's efforts to carry on the business a joke, and announced loudly: "No feminine carpenters for me." Many were the craft that sheered off the Keyport shipyard because their owners or comamnders were opposed to patronizing a woman in such matters, and the widow saw prospective business, and some of that which her husband had so laboriously built up, slip away day by day to the yards of masculine rivals.

But she refused to be discouraged and set about mastering the practical features of management and the chief details of the work. One day a large fishing smack was drawn up on the marine railway for a general overhauling. The captain and owner, on being told that the place was in charge of the wife of the former proprietor, immediately ordered his vessel put back into the water.

"What is the trouble?" asked Mrs. Vreeland, stepping out of her office.

"I cannot trust my boat to the inexperience of a woman. It is all I have in the world," explained the captain.

"Well, this property is all I have in the world, too," Mrs. Vreeland explained. "I am willing to back it against your boat that the work will be done to your satisfaction. If not, you need not pay a cent."

The challenge appealed to the doubting captain. In the end he was well pleased with the workmanship in the rebuilding of his vessel, paid his bill without question, and thereafter recommended the yard so highly to owners of other craft that much new business resulted. After this it was not so hard to convince the sceptical.

Many of those who had work done at the Keyport yard were surprised afterward to learn that the manager was a woman. This was the case with a number of yachtsmen, including Commodore Soper of the National Yacht Club, and Commodore Henry C. Roome, of the Greenpoint Club, and other yachtsmen, quick to appreciate good work, a fine harbor, and plenty of dockage facilities, which could not always be found in the old and more crowded yards nearer the city, sent their work to Keyport. Gradually business improved. Now the "Widow's Shipyard," as it is sometimes called, gets patrons from points along the Atlantic coast from the Florida Keys to Cape Cod.

Mrs. Vreeland works from 5 A. M. many days until late at night, watching every detail of construction or repair. And often during storms at night she led her men in person to the docks or to make vessels safe for weathering the gales or to prevent their coming into collision with other anchored craft.

In a well-kept little office near the works she directs the affairs of the plant, issues orders to her employees, keeps books, and, with a telephone at her side, is constantly in touch with every part of the establishment, which includes three docks and two blocks of water front.

"It was amusing to me at first to be called the boss," said Mrs. Vreeland. "And the remarks and surprise of the sailors and officers of vessels were even more amusing when they'd ask for the 'boss,' and my men would point to me. Then my employees got the habit of replying to me as 'No, sir.' or 'Yes, sir,' and one of the shipowners hearing this, sought to reprove the men. "That's all right,' I told him, for, you see, I am doing a man's work.'"

But there was nothing masculine about this slim little woman shipbuilder, who does not appear to have arrived yet at her fortieth birthday, and who, when not busy with her big enterprise, may be found at the domestic task of embroidering some article for her home. She goes back and forth two or three times a week between Keyport and New York, attending to the business of her shipyard, and whether travelling with friends or alone, by rail or by boat, she passes the time in the only recreation she permits herself or has time to do—fancy embroidery. She has one young son, who is learning the business under her guidance with the intention of later relieving her of some of the work.—New York Times.

SUNNY SOUTH SHOWN ON 'SLIDE

Interesting Lecture on Prolific Topic by Rev. Mr. Adams

"Our Sunny South" was well described and fittingly illustrated by Rev. L. W. Adams of Winchester, in his stereopticon lecture at the Hall Place M. E. church Tuesday evening. Rev. Mr. Adams showed a fine collection of beautiful pictures, some taken during the war, some before and some after, and some showing the spirit of peace and love which has come to unite the North with the South, the South with the North.

The lecture opened with the landing of the Pilgrims. A stirring tribute was paid the martyred Lincoln. As his picture was thrown upon the screen, the audience, as one pesron, signified their high regard in a solid round of applause.

A picture of deep significance, prophetic of the progress and welfare of our country and indications of its future prosperity was the one of an American soldier, his uniform standing on the merits of its significance, holding in his left hand the cross and in his right the Stars and Stripes. Religion and Patriotism united and upheld by the men of the country. Mr. Adams said that to his mind that was one of the greatest signs of success and prosperity.

From Washington with its beautiful capitol and pleasant sights through all the land of the South, through the scenes of great struggle that threatened to divide the nation, the beautiful valleys and hills, the historic buildings, the lecturer took his audience, thrilling them with his vivid descriptions and again touching tender spots with saddened memories of the days of 61—65.

One picture of touching sadness was that of the Union soldier who had come in tired out with the hard days of work and had thrown himself before the camp fire and gone to sleep; and as he slept he dreamed of the loved ones awaiting his return, the aged mother and father, the loving wife and little child and the welcome they would give him when he again returned home; but, as he slept the dream faded and the White Angel came through the cloud where but a few moments before his loved ones stood to welcome him, and touched him and took him Home. His loved ones looked in vain for his return for as he slept he passed away.

A silent tribute was paid to the memory of Washington when as his picture was thrown upon the screen, not a sound was heard, everything was hushed.

The Negro came in for his share of attention and the great work that has been and is being done for this great mass of people who by that act of President Lincoln were freed from the terrible bondage of slavery. The humorous side of the life of these people, was as vividly portrayed as the more serious.

The surrender of Lee to General Grant, the close of the War, the assassination of President Lincoln were all fully described and pictured.

In every way Mr. Adams pleased his audience. His ready wit, keen sense of humor and thorough knowledge of his subject both geographically and historically combined to make this brilliant lecture a success.

Canday and pop corn was sold by the Ladies' Aid before and after the lecture.

CHURCH HEIR TO SOCIAL CLUB

Wollaston Social Society Disbanded After Four Years

With an appropriate burial service all that remained of the Wollaston Social society was carefully laid away in the archives of history, at a meeting Tuesday evening in the Wollaston Unitarian vestry.

After an active life of four years in which many good times had been enjoyed, slackened interest and inability to find officers led to a belief the society had outlived its usefulness.

Treasurer Charles E. Barker presided and after a discussion pro and con it was formally voted to disband. Following this action a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served. The money in the treasury and the punch bowl and other effects were bequeathed to the Wollaston Unitarian church.

BETHANY FAIR

vegetables and fruits of the very highest standard and excellence, were sold and which attracted a large number of customers, was in charge of Henry P. Hayward, chairman, Charles A. Gragg and Herbert Pratt. The booth was very fantastically trimmed with straw. The decorations throughout the vestry were very tastefully arranged, the flower scheme being poppies.

The supper was the culmination of the skill and experience of the ladies in charge. Everything, pertaining to the culinary art, was placed at the disposal of the guests about 250 in number. Coffee hot biscuits, salads of various kinds, cold meats, all kinds of pies and dainty cake. Many compliments were bestowed upon the ladies in charge, Mrs. A. L. Gilson, chairman; Mrs. A. F. Bromley, Mrs. C. T. Sherman, Mrs. G. B. Bates, Mrs. John Swingle, Mrs. Herbert Pratt, Mrs. Mary Roberts, Mrs. Kate Keast, Mrs. Ernest Branch, Mrs. L. F. LaRose, Mrs. Edwin Beal, Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Mrs. Richard Bishop, Mrs. Walter L. Rice, Mrs. F. L. Carleton.

In the evening, a farce in two acts, "When Women Vote" was presented by the following young ladies, Miss Esther Sidelinger, chairman; Misses Esther Beckford, Esther Wetherell, Florence Sabean, Marjorie Welch. The cast of characters was Mrs. Jamison, an apostle of suffrage, Miss Esther Beckford.

Helen Jamison, her daughter, sentimental seventee, Miss Esther Sidelinger.

Mrs. Delana, a wealthy lady, homeless from choice, Miss Esther Wetherell.

Mrs. Brownell, the mother of six, Miss Florence Sabean.

Hannah "Old fashioned Help" Miss Marjorie Welch.

Act I, was laid in the living room of the Jamison residence, time, the present.

Act II, after an interval of one month, scene the same.

The play was replete with pathetic incidents and ludicrous situations. The young ladies did splendidly and portrayed the different parts true to life. The audience manifested its approval by prolonged and vigorus applause.

The president, Mrs. Crane and the ladies who so ably assisted in carrying out all the details of the fair, are to be congratulated on their very decided success.

COL. HOUGHTON 91 YEARS OLD

Will Be Member of Weymouth Police As Long As He Lives

CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Members of Reynolds post 58, G. A. R., Reynolds Woman's Relief corps, Gen. James L. Bates camp, S. of V., and the Sons of Veterans, ladies' auxiliary of East Weymouth, called upon Col. Oliver Houghton at his home, 1066 Commercial street, East Weymouth Tuesday evening, in honor of his 91st birthday.

Mr. Houghton, besides being the oldest member of Reynolds post, enjoys the distinction of being the oldest member of the staff of the commanders of the national and state departments of the G. A. R. He is also a member of the local police department, having served since 1865. He was chief from 1882 to 1902. The town authorities say that he will continue a member of the department as long as he lives.

Mr. Houghton is a native of New York. In 1856 he started an express route between Weymouth and Boston, which he ran until 1864, when he enlisted in the 16th Massachusetts infantry.

Mr. Houghton was married Nov. 7, 1844, to Miss Adelizer Fairbanks. She died in 1904.

CHANCE TO HELP A GOOD CAUSE

"We will be very glad indeed to sell the Red Cross Christmas Seals again this year. From the proceeds of last year's sale we were able to help a number of sufferers from tuberculosis and their destitute families." Thus wrote one of the Anti-Tuberculosis Societies in Massachusetts that sold the Seals.

This year the Seals will be placed on sale all over the United States, Friday, Nov. the 29th and the Anti-Tuberculosis societies will have the hearty co-operation in selling them of department, drug and stationery stores, motion picture theatres, street railways, bill posters and newstands, all of whom will contribute their time and energy without charge.

In eastern Massachusetts the National Association has again appointed the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis, 4 Joy street, Boston as their representative and this Association has opened Red Cross Christmas Seal Headquarters at 62 Pemberton Square.

Last year in this same territory over 1,100,000 Seals were sold and it is hoped more Seals will be sold this year. Stands for the sale of the seals will be located in the main and Back Bay Post Offices, Boston.

The Association is anxious to have as many agencies selling Seals as possible and will be glad to hear from stores willing to help in the campaign in this way.

SCHUMANN—HEINK CONCERT.

All reports to the contrary not withstanding, the only concert appearance of Madame Ernestine Schumann Heink will have in Boston this year will be in Symphony hall, Sunday afternoon at half past three when she will give a song recital with the assistance of Edward Collins, pianist, and Mrs. Katharine Hoffmann, accompanist. As Madame Schumann Heink is not to sing with the Boston Symphony orchestra this year this will be the only opportunity her thousands of riends and admirers will have to hear her on the concert platform. Her song recital has come to be an annual event in Boston—one of the most enjoyed concerts of the year—and this season for the first time she will sing on a Sunday afternoon owing to the numerous requests that have come in from music lovers who are not able to attend her recitals on a week day afternoon. Schumann Heink is the greatest contralto in the world and is one of the greatest interpreters of songs. No woman has so won the affections of the American public and her speedy response to this has been her naturalization as an American citizen, making her permanent home in the United States.

Her programme is one of extraordinary attraction. It comprises five songs by Beethoven, three songs by Schumann, two songs by Schubert, two songs by Franz, two by Richard Strauss, one by Max Reger and one old German song of the seventeenth century. She brings her concert to an end by singing three English songs by Landon Ronald, Mary T. Salter and Louise Reichardt. Mr. Collins will play pieces by Chopin and Liszt.

The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

PLENTY COAL FOR NEWTON

Poured Into Her Hold in Record Time at Baltimore

A cargo of coal, 7236 tons, was poured into the steamer Newton of Boston at Curtis bay in three hours and 45 minutes, establishing a new record for quick loading. The vessel arrived at Baltimore Sunday and at 7.50 A. M. Monday went alongside the loading berth and began taking cargo, an additional 237 tons being stowed in bunkers. At 11.35 the cargo had been trimmed and the Newton was ready for sea, getting under way at noon. This performance beats the record, held by the Newton, by 25 minutes.

The Newton was built at Fore River.

EPWORTH LEAGUE DOES ITS PART

In Observing Fortieth Anniversary of Methodists

PREACHING AT WOLLASTON

The celebration of the fortieth anniversary of Methodist preaching in Wollaston was continued at the Wollaston Methodist church, Tuesday evening, Epworth League night being observed. Clarence P. Cassidy, president of the league presided and the meeting opened with a praise service in charge of Storer R. Wiggin with Mrs. F. G. Bennett at the piano.

Rev. Herbert A. Cassidy, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of North Easton and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cassidy of Wollaston, read the scriptures and offered prayer. A solo "Face to face" was sung by Alan Painten.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. William M. Crawford, pastor of the Broadway M. E. Church of Somerville, who took for his subject "The sacrificial life," and text Matt. 27-42: "He saved others; himself he cannot save."

He said: "These words, are the expression of two great truths. They are true in both a spiritual and physical sense that he saved others. It is literally true that he saved others—in a sense he could not save himself. Men could stoop to add to the sorrows of the Son of God.

"Sacrifice is a divine law of life. He who had power over sinful man had power to deliver himself from a fanatical mob. His sacrifice was voluntary. He voluntarily suffered for you.

"It was impossible for Jesus to save himself from the cross. If he had saved Himself, He would have failed in His best service. The same law is true of men. We enter into the kingdom of God by an act of self denial. Some losses are profitable. We shall attain service by a sacrifice of the lowest.

"Sacrifice is the Divine law of the highest usefulness. It is the universal law of mankind. Our Lord was the best illustration of this law. The son of man came to give his life—a ransom for man.

"Jesus Christ accomplished His work in the world by the sacrifice of Himself. Justice and righteousness are just as essential as truth and love. If we cannot understand God's word and its teachings we can accept them. Christ is in God reconciling men unto Himself.

"The love of Christ constraineth us and the sacrifice of Christ draws. If we vitalize others we must devitalize ourselves. More converts have been made for Christ's kingdom in the last century than in all the preceding centuries.

"Sacrifice is the divine law of reward. Jesus chose the cross, 'Christ has overcome' is set down at the right hand of God.

"Service most worthy of praise must spring out of a heart of love. Service for His kingdom ought to be a pleasure and not a hardship. Our highest joy comes in ministering unto others."

"More love to thee, O Christ" was sung as the closing hymn with Miss Mary Cobb at the piano. Rev. Mr. Crawford pronounced the benediction.

JEWISH YOUNG MEN TO MEET

Gathering to Stimulate Interest Slated For Sunday

A mass meeting of the Quincy Young Men's Hebrew Association is called for Sunday at the Congregation Ahavath Achim. The object is to stimulate a new interest in the association.

President A. W. Klubac of Boston will deliver an address and other speakers will attend.

Joseph B. Grossman and Edward Berman will be the delegates to the third annual convention of the association at New Bedford on Dec. 1st and 2nd.

The committee in charge of the mass meeting is Edward Berman, Joseph B. Grossman, Sydney Litchman William Asnes and William Wolf.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

ACTIVITIES OF WOMEN.

Mrs. Pennybacker, recently elected president of the General Federation of Women's clubs, says that women, whose activities are directed to affairs outside their home circles, consist of three classes: First, those who work for their daily bread; second, those who are moved to action by the economic conditions surrounding working women and political abuses which affect the general public and strike particularly hard at women and children; third, those who are interesting themselves in public affairs as a means of broadening their mental horizons and acquiring a more liberal knowledge of the ways of the world.

In the first class there are in the United States six million women. Six million women are working for their bread and shelter. Their activities are, with few exceptions, compulsory. They work because hard practical necessity compels them.

It is almost impossible to estimate the number of women in the second class. They are in every city and village. From the richest woman in the metropolis who is using her wealth to alleviate the hardships of overburdened girls, to the poor woman in the small hamlet who insists that the village constable shall keep children out of the one pool room in the place, are found these workers for the betterment of conditions.

The third class form the majority of the club women. There are about eight hundred thousand club members in the United states. Approximately one-third of these work for their living or are engaged in unpaid public service. Two-thirds are students of public affairs for educational reasons.

WAITING FOR OTHERS.

Waiting for other women to catch up must have been a weary business for the women leaders of past generations even more weary than for the women leaders of this generation because this is a generation in which the catching up spirit has become widely diffused. By way of illustration, the woman's club movement is frequently singled out as significantly characteristic of the times, essentially modern, preeminently advanced.

Yet away back in 1868 Sorosis was setting forth in her articles of incorporation the fact that the society was formed for the promotion of useful relations among women, the discussion of principles which promised to exert a salutary effect upon women and upon society, and the establishment of a social order which should render women helpful to each other and actively benevolent to the world.

And a year later, "Jennie June" Croly, the club mother, the woman who founded Sorosis, was commending to the attention of the club public education reforms, hygienic and sanitary reforms, a department of domestic economy, interest in civic welfare, and about all the other things that the women's clubs of 1912 are concerned with. She was too far ahead of her time, and for years she watched and waited while the rank and file of women went through the intermediate stages of culture club and study club, toward a fuller understanding of the socialization of women.

From the beginning, she had the vision and she saw, as she herself said, that: "We are only at the threshhold of a future that thrills us with its wonderful possibilities—possibilities of fellowship, where separation was; of love, where hatred was; of unity, where division was; of light physical, mental, and spiritual, where darkness was; of agreement and equality, where differences and traditions had built up walls of distinction and lines of caste."—New York Evening Post.

THE CROWDED ARTFUL LIFE.

More of Living-ness and Then A Pot Of Blue Dye. It's All About You—The Life Not the Dye—At Mrs. Mildred Manly Easton's Club Where Even the Minutes of the Last Meeting Are a Real Inspiration—Tea and Violets, Too.

Sixty or so members of Mrs. Mildred Manly Easton's Club for the Study of Life as Fine Art (initiation fee $2, yearly dues $3, single lecture $1, extra guests fifty cents each), met in the laurel room of the Hotel Astor yesterday afternoon to take up the discussion of "Life for More Living-ness" as a connecting link between the October topic, "The New Order," and the December topic, "A Pot of Blue Dye," all being as it were stops in the club's journey for the season of 1912-13 towards a better understanding, a fuller grasp, a truer realization of "The Creative Artistry of the Spirit in the Individual."

There were ever and ever and ever so many things in the way of new business and old business and special announcements, and— oh, well, you know how the routine of these clubs just seems to pile up and up and up from one monthly meeting to another—it was 3.37 by the clock when Mrs. Easton, a plump, little woman in Quaker gray, afternoon gown, who beamed on everybody, could drown all worldliness and routine with a draught of Croton and open fire on "Life for More of Living-ness." The meeting had been called for two o'clock. You see the club is going in for social service this season.

Mrs. Peters, chairman of social service committee, therefore had just a word to say—and by the way there's some question about the apropriateness of the title "social service." Shall we call it some other name? Or, after all, doesn't it about express just what the work is? And now would Mrs. Peters step to the platform, please? Mrs. Peters would.

The club members were conjured to imagine Mrs. Peter's feelings when she picked up her morning paper after the October meeting and read that she was to head a committee to "Aid Women to Get Divorce," to speak by the headline (soft laughter). The social service committee, Mrs. Peters said, was not going to do anything of the sort; but you know how the papers get things twisted. The chairman of committee went on to say that, strangely enough her work had enabled her to give advice to two women who were thinking of untying the matrimonial knot, and in one case in which an anonymous letter figured she had persuaded the young wife to burn up the letter and forget it.

"And she is living happily with her husband right now," said Mrs. Peters, whereat the club murmured approval, and the two women sitting close to the circassian walnut grand piano to the right of the platform whispered almost inaudibly, "Isn't that fine?"

"So if any of you are contemplating divorce, please come to me," concluded Mrs. Peters. There was a burst of gloved handclaping at this, and some of the members laughed right out loud. Then Mrs. Easton appointed some new social servers to the committee, pointing out that the enlarged body would be thoroughly representative, inasmuch as it had members from Jersey City, Flatbush, West Hoboken, Flushing, New Rochelle, Brooklyn, the Washington Heights section and Central Islip.

But the chronology of the programme is being overlooked. First of all, the Club listened to the minutes of the last meeting, read by the new secretary, Mrs. Byrd, who has succeeded Mrs. Malone, and whose minutes were always "such a real joy, a real inspiration," Mrs. Easton said. The new secretary prefaced her reading of the minutes with a few remarks in which she told how her one aim was to contribute a moiety to the general fund of happiness and living-ness by keeping good minutes, and how her ambition was to see that aim fulfilled.

"Is Mrs. Patterson in the room?" asked Mrs. Easton at this point. "I just want to say that I met Mrs. Patterson outside just before the meeting, and what do you suppose she had done? She had heard what our subject was to be today, and had sat down and scribbled some lines on the back of her card, while the inspiration was upon her. I'm sure we all want to hear from Mrs. Patterson. Mrs. Patterson comes from Freeport, you know. Will she come to the platform, please?"

Mrs. Patterson came. Furthermore in a voice that carried to the furthermost nooks and crannies of the laurel room, she read the little poem inspired by "Life for More of Living-ness." To think that anybody could sit down and compose rhymes like that on a moment's notice! It's a gift, that's what it is, a gift.

And now, it seems, one of the members had something on her mind and craved just a word. Last spring, she said, the Club had such a real lovely time at the Claremont, and she wanted to thank the members for their assistance. But what do you suppose had happened? After all the bill had been paid, there were some pennies left over. And so, she had taken them and had bought (business of rummaging in a small square box at her side) this little bunch of violets, which she hoped Mrs. Easton would accept.

"And now my mind is relieved," she added.

"I declare, it seems as if there were no end to the good things of this life," said Mrs. Easton, as she took the violets. "I want all of you to enjoy them with me."

The flower episode seemed to be a fitting prologue to "Life for More of Living-ness," but it was not to be. It merely reminded Mrs. Easton of an announcement about the Club's next "Over the Tea Cups," which is going to be held at the home of Mrs. Herman Schultz in Flatbush.

"We're going to talk about the little all know Henry Van Dyke's book. It's so full of lovely stories. Don't let's just sip tea and be foolish (suppressed giggles.) Our Mrs. Murphy, our own dear Mrs. Murphy, has promised to tell us her own idea of happiness, and that's what we want you to do. We want your little word, your little message. Just jump up and tell it."

Another announcement— it was about a lovely party that all members and their husbands were invited to by our friend, Dr. Liebfried, who had offered to turn over the great hall of his business college for a social evening and dance during the Christmas holidays—and the appearance of Mr. Cox and his accompanist, who entertained with three little songlets for tenor voice, intervened, and then, with the last words, "for you," of the soloist still ringing in their ears, the members sat back with eyes half-shut while Mrs. Easton poured forth the secrets of "Life for More of Living-ness."

In her introductory remarks, Mrs. Easton explained that we have round about us on all sides life, life, life, and that all we need to do is just to reach out and take it. We are all so full of life. Mrs. Easton did not speak from manuscript, but undoubtedly the life she was speaking of should be spelled Life. It is Life that we are so full of.

"And this Life," she told the club, "this Life is like a dam of water, held in and held in, as it were, by a wall. And just give it a tiny little poke, and down it all comes."

"How true, how true," murmured the pair near the circassian walnut harpsichord.

"We must serenely, calmly rise to a higher level," Mrs. Easton went on. "We must rise to a higher order of things. Then we can look down on all those little things, those little aggravating things that don't count at all Really, they don't. Serenity and peace—they are within us, and cannot be bought with money. (Murmurs of "That's right" and "Too true, too true.")

"And here at last is the great secret, the secret of the oneness of the spirit. We are to contemplate the good and the true in others, and by so contemplating we begin to develop those very qualities in ourselves. It is that that we mean by the oneness of the spirit. Don't you see it all now? Only know how to use the law, and how to adjust things to the law, and you have mastered the secret of true living-ness."

Mrs. Easton told how she had won a great victory only last summer by applying this homely principle to her own life and incidentally "attuning her ear to the birds." In her "stuffy" little apartment uptown one particularly hot and noisy summer morning she threw herself upon the sofa wondering if the elevated trains would ever stop roaring, and what was the use of even trying to live and be happy. Then she said to herself that she was not going to let "those foolish elevated trains spoil her splendid life." No, no, no, no. Somewhere, she thought, the birds are singing, somewhere there are mighty mountains—"can't you smell the pines even now?"—somewhere the great blue ocean rolls. Mrs. Easton says she rushed to the window, and what do you suppose? There on the roof next door was a flock of sparows, "real live, hopping, common, lovely little sparrows," that she had never seen or heard or known before. She says elevated trains don't faze her the least bit now.

MANIAC FELLED BY DETECTIVE

Hundreds of Lives Saved by Blow From Blackjack

POLICE STATION IS CAPTURED

Man With Infernal Machine Containing Enough Explosives to Blow Up City Block Holds Possession For Nearly Hour and a Half—Courtrooms, Jail and Hospital Are Speedily Emptied

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20.—Armed with an infernal machine containing enough dynamite to destroy an entire city block, a bottle of nitro-glycerin and a 45-calibre revolver, a masked maniac took possession of the central police station and held it for more than an hour, while hundreds of occupants of the building and those for blocks around, panic-stricken, sought safety in distance.

When Detective Hosick knocked the man unconscious with a leather "billy" after slipping up behind him, the fuse of the infernal machine was automatically ignited, but Detective Brown grabbed the box, with its fuse sharply sputtering, and hurled it into the street.

Sticks of high power dynamite scattered over the pavement, while hundreds of spectators stood apparently paralyzed by fright. Through a freak of chance there was no explosion.

Manacled to a cot in the receiving hospital the would-be dynamiter, who gave his name as Albert H. Davis, is suffering with several severe scalp wounds, but the police surgeons say his injuries are not serious.

Appears at Police Station

When Davis entered the outer office of Chief of Police Sebastian his face and head were completely covered with a grotesque mask, and he carried in his arms a large box covered with cloth.

The box was strapped around his shoulders and resembled a small handorgan.

First startled and then amused by the strange spectacle, Police Sergeant Hilf, who suspected a practical joke, asked the man what he wanted.

"I've got enough dynamite in here to blow us all into enternity," he said, "and I want you to send for the highest official of the Southern Pacific railroad."

The masked visitor rested the box on a filing cabinet and Assistant District Attorney Graham, who was in the office, started joking with him.

"This is no joke," said Davis. "I mean business and if you don't believe it try to take this away from me. My hand is fastened in this box and if I pull it out—bang—we all die."

A hole had been cut in the box and the occupants of the room saw for the first time that the man's left hand was hidden in the box.

Far From Being a Joke

They began to realize that it was no joke. Davis then walked into the office of Police Secretary Sniveley, which opens into the private office of Sebastian, and repeated his request that the head official of the Southern Pacific be summoned, Sniveley took down the telephone receiver and pretended to hold a conversation with Paul Shoup, general manager of the Pacific Electric company.

"Mr. Shoup is busy but he will be here in about fifteen minutes," said Sriveley.

"Well, he'd better hurry," replied Davis, "I'm getting nervous."

In the meantime Sebastian realized the man was in earnest, ordered the street roped off for a block either way and took steps to have the 100 prisoners in the city jail removed. Up stairs in the building two justice courts were in session and both courtrooms were crowded.

A detective passed the word to a bailiff in Judge Chambers' court. The bailiff whispered to the judge. "Court's adjourned until 2 p. m. Clear the courtroom," ordered the judge promptly, and there was a rush for the stairway.

A similar scene was enacted in Judge Frederickson's court.

There were not enough patrol wagons to remove the prisoners from the jail to the Doyle Heights prison. Two street cars were sent for and the prisoners were soon on their way to the East Side, guarded by the reserves, who had been called out.

Ambulances removed the patients from the city emergency hospital just around the corner from the chief's office.

Realizing the necessity of keeping the man's attention engaged until the building was cleared and some means devised for foiling his plans Sniveley and the detectives in the rooms carried on a conversation with him.

Plan to Trap Maniac

After Davis had held complete possession of the station for nearly an hour and a half, a plan was devised by the detectives to trap him.

While Sniveley carried on the conversation with the maniac, Detective Hosick tiptoed from the outer room, which was at Davis' back, and struck him on the head with a "blackjack."

Te infernal machine dropped, and Detective Brown, who was at Hosick's elbow, grabbed it. Davis reached in his coat pocket, and Hosick hit him again, and he tumbled to the floor unconscious. The bottle of nitro-glycerin and the revolver were in Davis' inside coat pocket, towards which he had reached.

As Davis had said, his left hand was attached to the mechanism of the infernal machine, and its withdrawal ignited the fuse, but the quick work of Brown revented the sparks from reaching the explosive. There were sixty half-sticks of dynamite, and an expert said it was 60 percent, and that there was enough to blow up a city block.

At the receiving hospital Davis said he was born in Germany, was 34 years old, and had lived in this country fifteen years. He admitted that Davis was not his right name, and finally declined to talk about his past.

The infernal machine was an ingenious contrivance, with a large number of springs and a wire lever attached to the hammerlock of an old army rifle. Davis' hand was attached to the wire that led to the hammerlock detonating device.

SHOOTS WOMAN IN BACK

Railroad Fireman Kills Self After Attempt at Murder

Gardner, Mass., Nov. 20.—Leon M. Jerome of Greenfield shot and seriously wounded Mrs. Lottie Burnett, aged 38, at her home here and then shot himself through the head, dying within an hour.

According to the police, Jerome had been drinking. He formerly boarded at Mrs. Burnett's home when she lived in Greenfield.

Last evening he entered her home here, saying he wanted to talk with her. When she said she could not talk with him he drew a revolver and shot her in the back and the left arm at the elbow. As the woman sank to the floor unconscious, Jerome placed the revolver at his head and fired.

Mrs. Burnett's condition is critical. Jerome was a fireman on the Boston and Maine railroad.

RAILROADS CONTROL RETAIL COAL YARDS

Pennsylvania Investigation Yields Startling Results

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—Evidence that the anthracite coal railroads not only own the mines and carry their products, but own the retail coal yards as well, was brought out at the hearing before the state railroad commission meeting here for the purpose of ascertaining if the rates between the Pennsylvania anthracite mines and the city of Philadelphia are discriminatory and prohibitive.

Confronted by the attorneys for five railroads named in the petition as charging exorbitant rates, the retailers were in a delicate position and endeavored to squirm out of any incriminating answers regarding the ownership of their yards until they actually were cornered.

For many years George W. Edmonds, vice president of the coal exchange and congressman-elect, has been looked upon as one of the largest independents in eastern Pennsylvania. Yet on the witness stand he testified that the four yards conducted by him are the property of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad. Following Edmonds, a dozen other large retailers were placed on the stand and testified to the same condition.

THREE CANDIDATES SPEAK

self to be in a delicate situation as all three were dear friends of his.

"Much has been done to discredit Mayor Stone, and it is only fair to a man who has done the best he could if he wants vindication and a second term to have it. I would not be the man to stand in the way.

"Ninety-five per cent of what is said against Mayor Stone is actuated either by personal malice or partisan politics. Quincy does not want a politician for a mayor or a mayor just because he wants to be one. It wants a business man.

I doubt if any candidate could have done better than Mr. Stone. This is a personal not a political opinion. I withdrew my nomination at short notice. I soon heard rumors that the reason I had withdrawn was because I would not get the union vote on account of my not manufacturing union cigars, as those are the only kind I ever did make, I began to suspect some of the stories about the other candidates might not be true.

"I went down to city hall. I saw John W. McAnarney and said 'John, you've got to explain about that $400.' He explained it fully to me but it is a question of public policy and I promised not to repeat it.

"I assure you that this $400 which Mr. Shaw in his sketch called illegal is not so but absolutely straight from a standard of morality and right.

"If it had not been explained I should have been a candidate for mayor on the platform that Mr. Stone had stolen $400. But he didn't! Otherwise there is no difference of opinion between Mayor Stone and myself."

Ex-Councilman Joseph L. Whiton declared the blame for the present financial condition rested with the precedent established by the first city council, that of 1889, in borrowing money. The remedy lay with the council and not with the mayor. Sixteen good strong business men in the council could stop the extravagance and carry the vote either way.

Councilman Charles L. Gilliatt declared if reelected he would vote every time against borrowing money for current expenses.

Russell T. Anthony, secretary of the Association and independent candidate for ward councilman, promised to exert his best efforts in the interests of the city as a whole if elected.

GRANITE CLUB LADIES' NIGHT

Varied Program Planned For Members and Guests

The annual ladies' night of the Granite City club will be held in Alpha and Union halls next Tuesday evening and promises to be equally as successful and enjoyable as have the events of the club in other years. The entertainment committee have arranged a program that can not fail to please the most fastidious. The entertainers include the Standish male quartette, assisted by Miss Anna Varner Baker, the well known crayon artist and clay modeller, Joseph Yarrick, the well known magnician and the Wollaston orchestra. Owing to the length of the program the entertainment will commence at 7.45 prompt. Following the entertainment refreshments will be served in Union hall after which there will be dancing until midnight in Alpha hall. The club rooms in the Savings Bank building will also be opened to the ladies and those who prefer whist may indulge in this past time at the club rooms.

TO GIVE GALEN A GOOD TIME

On His 75th Birthday the Plan of Veteran Firemen

Galen Vinton Bowditch the veteran newspaper messenger will pass the seventy-fifth milestone in his eventful career Saturday and the members of the Washington M. French Hose association of which he is a member are planning to give him a reception that evening at Wilson's hall. Invitations for the affair have been issued.

BRIEFS

Michael Cunniff died at his home 159 Liberty street this morning after a short illness. He was in his 52d year.

Mr. and Mrs. I. F. Tapley of Haverhill were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Collins of Merrymount road.

Galen Vinton Bowditch was among the old Boston schoolboys who attended the annual reunion of the Old Schoolboy's association at Young's hotel Tuesday evening. Galen was a pupil of the old Washington school.

For some time a committee has been at work considering changes in the by-laws of the Quincy Women's club which are to be presented to the club at its next meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 26, the meeting being called at two o'clock instead of the usual hour. It is hoped to get out a large attendance and a full discussion of the proposed changes.

Crate Slipped Gracefully From Express Delivery

DROP AT CHESTNUT STREET

No decline in price is noticed today although there was ad rop in eggs in City square when a crate of western nuggets consigned to an Italian grocer slipped out the rear of the electric express delivery wagon at Chestnut and Maple streets at 7.57 this morning.

A large crowd gathered and it was suggested that a sign be posted relative to rubbers as there was plenty of liquid leaking out the corners of the crate.

The driver ran to a nearby store and borrowed another crate. He was able to pick up about four dozen, which had escaped complete destruction.

DISTRICT COURT.

George W. Anderson who was given a hearing some weeks ago for the larceny of three watches from C. F. Pettengill at Quincy was brought over from Cambridge jail where he is serving a sentence for larceny at Lowell and sentenced to six months in the house of correction. Appealed and was held in $500.

A large number of continued cases mostly for drunkenness came up this morning. There were 47 cases in all. Of this number nine had paid their fines in full. Twenty paid their fines in part and the balance were either further continued or defaulted.

JUSTICE GOFF

He Presided at Trials of Becker and Four Gunmen

© 1912, by American Press Association.

AS MURDERERS OF ROSENTHAL

Four Gunmen Are Found Guilty In the First Degree

JURY QUICK IN ITS VERDICT

Prisoners Plainly Terrified at Announcement Which Means That Death Chair Awaits Them—Opinion That Judge's Charge Was Virtual Direction to Jury to Convict

New York, Nov. 20.—Guilty of murder in the first degree was the verdict returned by the jury in the cases of the four gunmen charged with the actual killing of Herman Rosenthal. The quartet, who will now go to join former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, "the brains of the conspiracy," in the death house at Sing Sing, are Frank Muller, alias "Whitey Lewis;" Frank Cirofici, alias "Dago Frank;" Louis Rosenburg, alias "Lefty Louie," and Harry Horowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood."

The verdict was forecasted by the action of the jury in refusing to go out to luncheon before being locked up to deliberate.

Few persons left the courtroom. It was considered certain the jury would soon be back, and this assurance was made certain when in fifty-two minutes the jury filed back into its place.

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you arrived at a verdict?" demanded Clerk Penny.

"We find all four defendants guilty as charged in the indictment," solemnly answered the foreman from his place alongside seat No. 1.

The faces of the four accused men presented a picture of fear and awe as they listened to the words that sealed their fate. They had believed they would be acquitted and all four appeared ready to drop in their tracks as they listened to the fateful utterance.

And as they stood there at the bar of justice, deputy sheriffs ranged themselves on either side of the quartet. Sheriff Harburger had detailed eight picked men in anticipation of just what had happened, but none of the four made any move. They were plainly too terrified with the realization of what was ahead of them to do anything but stare in a pleading, terrified way at the judge and the twelve men who had just condemned them to death.

Attorney Wahle started to make a motion, but desisted, only asking that the jury be polled, which was done, each man concurring in the verdict of guilty. Then Justice Goff announced that he would hear no motions at this time, but would listen to any the defense desired to make today, when he would pronounce sentence.

The wrist irons were immediately slipped on the four men, and they were hustled across the room and across the bridge of sighs to their cells in the Tombs.

Attorney Wahle stated he would appeal the case. He said he would move to set aside the verdict today when the men are sentenced. There is no doubt that his motions will be denied, but he declared he would carry the case to the court of appeals.

For more than three hours Justice Goff discussed the evidence in the case, and at the end of his charge it was the belief of all who had heard it he left practically nothing of the elaborate defense constructed in behalf of the quartet for the jury to consider.

HICKEY IS ARRESTED

Josephs Murder Suspect Is In Custody In New Jersey

New York, Nov. 20.—Locked up in a cell in the Orange county jail at Toms River, N. J., is a man whom the police of Buffalo believe to be the murderer of Joseph Josephs, the 7-year-old boy whose dismembered body was found in a sewer vault at Lackawanna last Saturday.

The suspect, who gives the name of J. Frank Hickey, was arrested by Sheriff Tilton at Keswick, where was located a sanitarium for victims of the liquor habit.

Hickey took his arrest coolly, and at first was inclined to waive extradition proceedings. Later, however, he decided to fight, and engaged former Assistant Prosecutor Jeffrey of Orange county to represent him.

"WILD MAN" CAPTURED,

For Many Months He Frightened Women on Lonely Farms

Bennington, Vt., Nov. 20.—The wild man of Shatterack mountain, who has been terrorizing the inhabitants of a lonely section of the town of Rupert for several months, was brought here by Deputy Sheriff Lincoln and placed in the county jail.

The wild man, who turns out to be Thomas Ourman, aged 42, was first seen on the mountain early in July.

He molested no one, but the women living on the lonely farms became so alarmed over his presence that several efforts were made to effect his capture. When brought to the county jail here his matted beard reached half-way to his waist, and his hair down over his ears.

SHOCK FELT FOR MILES

Leaking Gas Ignites and Blows Up Two Buildings In Amesbury

Amesbury, Mass., Nov. 20.—A gas explosion demolished two buildings of the Amesbury and Salisbury Gas company last evening, jarring dwelling houses and breaking hundreds of windows within a radius of two miles.

The ignition of leaking gas from the purifying room of the plant by a spark from a passing switch engine caused the explosion.

SECURES TEXT OF MELLEN'S AGREEMENT

Papers In Grand Trunk Case In Hands of Wickersham

Washington, Nov. 20.—Attorney General Wickersham has been supplied with a copy of the agreement executed by President Mellen of the New Haven railroad to make certain traffic arrangements with the Grand Trunk in New England, which agreement is alleged to have caused the cessation of work upon the proposed Southern New England railroad.

Whether this agreement covers the whole ground or whether a secret agreement exists whereby the Grand Trunk will be reimbursed by the New Haven for its outlay is a matter which remains to be investigated.

The Pujo committee of the house of representatives will be urged to make an investigation of the New Haven-Grand Trunk situation to learn whether the New Haven so embarrassed the credit of the Grand Trunk with financiers as to cause the Grand Trunk officials to cease their building operations in New England.

AN UNUSUAL SENTENCE

Boy Must Go to Sunday School Until He Is Twenty-One

New York, Nov. 20.—"You go to Sunday school every SuSnday until you are 21 years old. If you fail to do this I will send you to jail."

So, impressively, said County Judge Fawcett of Brooklyn to Frederick Kaiser, a youth of 17, who had been caught carrying cocaine to his brother, who was locked in a police cell.

"I am told you are loafing around the corners," Fawcett added. "If you had been going to Sunday school you would not be here. Remember, obey me, or to jail you go."

HARVARD TRIMMED AT SOCCER BY THE SPRIGHTLY FORE RIVERS

Shaw and Campbell Were the Stars of the Game in Classy Plays

Varsity Team Bewildered By Rapidity of Home Team

The Harvard Varsity soccer team played the Fore River Draftsmen at the ward two playground, Wednesday afternoon and were defeated 4 to 2. The game had its exciting moments and a number of men were knocked out for short periods. No one was obliged to retire from the game.

The stars of the game were Shaw and Campbell, who played in their usual classy style. The hit of the afternoon was Shaw's scoring the second goal in the first period after carrying the ball from the centre of the field alone.

Harvard lost three opportunities to score and each time acted as though they were bewildered, when if they had been able to keep an eye on the ball they could have easily added another point. A fine shot from a difficult angle looked good but it hit the goal posts and went outside.

The visitors first point was made by Carnochan who followed the ball after Fore River had blocked a penalty kick. Jennings also made an easy tally for the varsity by slipping it through after nimble footwork.

Campbell did his share in passing and his goal went under the bar at lightning speed. J. Hendry made

DOCK COMMITTEE TO GET BUSY

Citizens to Co-operate With City Council

ON IMPORTANT SUBJECT

Mayor Stone has called a meeting of the special committee of the City Council and the citizens committee appointed to consider the site for a public dock, for Saturday evening at his office at City Hall. This committee is working under an order adopted by the City Council for a special committee of the council to act with a committee of citizens to be appointed by the Mayor to consider the site for a public dock in Quincy. The report of Dock and Water Front Commissioner Frank Fessenden Crane, presents two desirable sites one of which is recommended. That is the Faxon property on Town river which he recommends be leased for a term of years.

Men's Club Wollaston Church Have a Gala Time

PART OF CELEBRATION

The celebration of the fortieth anniversary of Methodist preaching in Wollaston continued, Wednesday evening, in the Wollaston Methodist church. It being in charge of the Men's club who observed ladies' night.

A lively business meeting of the club was punctuated at various intervals with popular songs by soloists, quartets and choruses and concluded with the trial of one of its members for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Eric H. Ewertz, president of the club, opened the meeting with an address of welcome. But a small part of the address was original the president falling back on a speech written for him at his inauguration over a year ago. President Ewertz declared he was out for third term as president and hoped to win in spite of certain methods practised by certain politicians in the club.

A letter of protest from Rev. Wesley Wiggin was read by the secretary. At the last club meeting Rev. Mr. Wiggin had placed a bet of seven dollars on Fatty Cassidy in a bout against Farmer Bennett. Notwithstanding Cassidy obviously had the advantage. Referee Saunders was alleged to have deliberately thrown the decision to Bennett for a consideration.

President Ewertz considered this a serious matter and appointed a committee consisting of A. N. Murray, H. B. L. Dimmick and W. A. Seiders to investigate the matter and report later in the evening.

A lively and interesting edition of the Wollaston Herald was read by T. E. Perley, the new editor in chief. The issue contained many knocks that kept the audience rocking with laughter.

Several numbers by a quartet consisting of Storer Wiggin, Leon Randall, Raymond Cassidy and Frank

BOY SCOUTS IN NEW QUARTERS

Parents and Friends Guests of Wollaston Troop

WHAT BOY STANDS FOR

The new headquarters of Troop Two of the Boy Scouts at Wollaston were formally opened, Wednesday evening with a dedication attended by a large number of their parents and friends.

An inspection and social half hour, in which refreshments were served, were first in order.

Scout Master F. J. Hamel welcomed those present on behalf of the boys. He explained the Boy Scout movement, told what it required and what it was aiming to do.

Walter M. Hatch, chairman of the local committee bespoke his appreciation of the work being done and urged the boys to live up to the objects of the organization. He asked the good will and support of parents and others.

John Chandler, another member of the committee explained to the parents what the Boy Scout idea meant. He analyzed the word "Boys."

"B" means brotherhood; "O" means of; "Y" means your, and "S" means son. The Boy Scouts is a brotherhood of your sons. He told the boys to think of three "T's" "Thinking," "Toiling," and "Trusting in God."

The boys were heartily congratulated on the new quarters and the parents offered assistance in various ways.

When the guest entered the outer door, Wednesday evening, he was greeted by a sentinel in Scout uniform who passed the word along that "it was all right." At the head of the stairs another group of guards was met.

The young men who acted as guides on the tour of inspection were most

TWO CANDIDATES LOST IN SHUFFLE WHEN IT CAME TO FILING PAPERS

Pennington Shy of Names on Paper, Nelson Minus Papers of Any Kind

Complete List as Filed With City Clerk, Wednesday

There was quite a rush Wednesday evening shortly before 5 o'clock to file nomination papers for the municipal election. One or two papers came in early in the afternoon but it lacked but a few minutes of 5 o'clock when the great rush came. Of the papers filed but one man failed to get by. That was Harry Pennington of Houghs Neck who filed papers for Councilman from Ward One. His papers were filed early in the afternoon and he was notified shortly after that his paper did not contain sufficient names. No attempt however was made to remedy this defect.

Horace W. Richmond one of the gentlemen nominated by the Progressives for Councilman at Large did not file papers and the citizens papers of James H. Penniman for Mayor were not filed.

The full list of papers filed was as follows:

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The jury in the New York gunmen case did not take long to make up their minds. They were four minutes arriving at a verdict of guilty.

The cranks are multiplying every day to the great menace to innocent people.

The Turkey day is only one week away but will all who had a slash at one last year be able to repeat the operation this year?

It is a safe guess that Bryan will get a cabinet position and probably the secretary of state port folio if he desires it. And it is not surprising how many are making that guess at the present time, even if Gov. Wilson has announced that he has not made up his mind on any administration activities.

The Boston Post's suggestions anent the decorations of Copley square are timely if not altogether artistic.

Schrank is a crank and escapes the punishment his offence deserves, but it is just as well that he be kept under restraint and not let loose again through any false ideas of sympathy.

Mayor Fitzgerald says he raised salaries and offers no apologies to critics for the same. Commendable in a way but if the increase had first been given to the small salaried men instead of to the big fellows the public would accept the change with a little better grace.

The George T. Angell Memorial will soon be ready for use and it is not only ornamental and useful but its future place in the community typifies the character of the man it honors.

The Boston school board does not sanction the teachers actively engaging in politics. The heads of other departments are not so particular.

Democrats will not loose interest in politics until all of those jobs which figure up $30,000,000 are disposed of.

A German professor has invented a new bullet proof shield for infantry when under fire. If the Turks had a few of them as they should have under the German organization of their army maybe the reports from the seat of war would be different.

England has her fleet pretty near a war footing and to further cripple her possible adversaries has prohibited exportation of coal from the kingdom.

Possibly some people may glean a stray of intelligent information from the writings on the Harvard-Yale foot ball game, but in the main, it is a mass of "ifs" and "ands," and not even clever hedging.

HIS MOTHER'S MEMORY.

Francis Amory, living for more than 50 years the life of a recluse in a Boston hotel his death left splendid evidence of his desire to aid humanity. Among other things he left a fund of $500,000 which is to be permitted to accummulate for 21 years to the Boston Lying In hospital. But the underlying motive of this bequest was his deep gratitude to the mother who loved him and whose memory he treasured all those years.

"It is my sincere and earnest hope, that any and all persons having this trust in charge, or in any manner or capacity connected with the above hospital, will exercise the utmost care to treat all patients who may come under their care or be committed to their charge with that consideration, kindness and attention which is due to the helpless, sick, weak, weary and exhausted, ever keeping in sweet and affectionate remembrance the memories of their own homes, and that sweetest and most sacred of all memories, a mother's fostering care and love."

The man who penned those lines must have had a deep and abiding love for his mother and there must have been something beyond that which appeared on the surface which led him to live the life of a recluse. He has now reached into a full understanding of all things which are so mysterious to us and no doubt finds that consolation for which his good deed has given him some measure of consideration at the hands of the Master.

RAILROAD PROBE.

It is undobtedly very gratifying to the people of Massachusetts as well as Rhode Island and the country at large that the Attorney General is to probe the railroad situation, developed by the fiasco which the public was treated to the past few weeks with regard to the Grand Trunk incident.

It seems rather late in the day to enter upon such a course. Yet perhaps some good may come of it. But this publicly announcing a probe looks too much like putting the people to be probed on their guard. It is hardly likely that the interested parties will gallop forward with evidence to show the department of justice their violation of any existing laws.

There is one thing which should be borne in mind by future legislators, that in granting valuable franchises a bond should be required for the complete carrying out of their purpose and intent and again, some law should be enacted so that franchises granted individuals and corporations by the legislature for nothing could not be used commercially to the extent which they are. If the franchise is a subject of barter to the persons who receive it, then they should be called upon before it passes into their hand to pay to the state something for privileges. Valuable franchise rights are handed out by city and state for nothing, but they figure as a big asset to the people who hold them. The time will come when the people will demand that those franchise rights be figured on as to their possible value and paid for at something near that value. That seems only reasonable and just.

SPEEDY TRIALS.

District Attorney Whitman of New York has given to the country an illustration of speedy justice in the manner in which the now famous gun case was handled and carried along to a logical conclusion. All of this was performed under circumstances, which presented many difficulties. It is not a stretch of the imagination to believe that the police department of New York, was not enthusiastically eager to have the case come along as quickly as it did. In fact despite the tremendous public sentiment, there was against the killing of Rosenthal, the oposition of the police department was surprising. A delay of proceedings would have given the public a chance to cool about the murder and the things which led up to it, and so there would be less criticism, if the case should fall through because of lack of evidence or failure in one way or another to dove tail the connecting links. The action of the police department in its effort to secure control of the person of Scheff's plainly demonstrated the police department attitude. But Mr. Whitman was not to be balked in his purpose and the entire machinery of his department was centered upon this case.

Now that the case is practically over, it is plain that men held for high crimes and misdemeanors in New York have ample opportunity to do a good many things while in jail which is absolutely denied persons who may be held on mere petty complaints. Another thing established was that the New York jail is a good place to rehearse in judging from the story of the four gun men on the stand. If cases were handled with as much expediency in other parts of the country it might lessen the wave of crime which is yearly spreading.

A WISE JUDGE.

The New York boy who was sentenced to Sunday school, by the county judge must have received the supply of his life. Yet, while the disposition of the case of the offender was a novel one, it has many things which commend it for trial in other places. The judge very wisely thought that this would take up some of the time which the boy had previously spent hanging around corners. The judge said, "If you had been going to Sunday school instead of hanging around corners you would not be here. Remember, obey me, or to jail you go."

The sentence holds good until the young man is 21. If he may not learn a great deal of good he certainly cannot learn harm at the Sunday school. Whatever his disposition he will hear nothing but good at a Sunday school and it may be the means of molding him along different lines and change the whole course of his life. It would seem as if the judge had hit upon a probationary method which other communities would do well to follow out and study its effect.

CONANT STATUE FOR SALEM

Set Up in Boston Before Going to Permanent Location

WORK OF H. H. KITSON

The grounds of the Museum of Fine Arts, Huntington avenue, Boston will within a very short time be graced with another work of art. The new addition will be from the hand of the well-known local artist H. H. Kitson of Quincy, the subject being Roger Conant, the first Governor of the Cape Ann Colony.

The massive statue, weighing two tons and standing 10 feet four inches in height, was executed at the request of the Roger Conant Family Association, and will later be set up permanently in Washington square, Salem, in honor of the man who erected the first house in that city, and who was for two years the Governor of the colony.

The statue will be placed on the grounds of the Boston museum in a spacious lot just to the right of the main entrance. It will remain in that position until probably late in the spring. The site which it will occupy at Salem has been presented by the city, and the old drinking fountain which formerly held the position has already been removed.

MERRY PARTY ON AUTO TRIP

Bridgewater Inn Their Destination, Object Oyster Supper

Members of the Rand class of the Wollaston Baptist church together with their sisters, wives and sweethearts as the case might be, took part in a merry jaunt, Wednesday evening, when an excursion was made to Bridgewater Inn and an oyster supper enjoyed.

A jolly crowd of over 30 piled into a large motor truck at Wollaston shortly before 8 o'clock. The evening was a pleasant one and the trip was ideal. J. Arthur Sparrow teacher and Charles M. Roach president of the class were among those taking part in the event.

The party reached Wollaston about one o'clock on the return trip.

PENNIMAN ON THE STUMP.

James H. Penniman the Democratic candidate for Mayor journeyed to the Quincy Point ward Wednesday evening and addressed a gathering at Democratic headquarters. Before the campaign is over he will deliver addresses in every ward of the city.

HARDSHIPS OF FROZEN NORTH

Described By Traveller and Missionary Wirt

TO BRAINTREE MEN

The first meeting of the men's club of the South Congregational church, Braintree since the rebuilding of the chapel was held Wednesday evening with attendance of over 50 members. Among guests of honor were Captain James T. Stevens and Dr. William Gallagher. All present were greatly pleased with the improvements made and were loud in praise of the work done.

At 6.45 a bountiful repast was served in the banquet hall, the menu consisting of roast beef, mashed potato, squash, boiled onions, celery, cranberry sauce, coffee and rolls, various kinds of pies and lastly, fruit. After supper cigars were lighted, smoking being permitted in the lower room.

Next all adjourned to the chapel and a short "sing" was enjoyed, Henry H. Marston, presiding at the piano. Following this, the pastor, Rev. Tyler E. Gale, introduced as the speaker of the evening, Rev. Loyal L. Wirt, the educational director of the South church, Campello. Dr. Wirt holds the degree of Sc. D. and is a world traveller and lecturer of international fame. He told of his experiences in Alaska near the Arctic circle as missionary and spiritual adviser in a mining camp and of his 1500 mile trip with dog team and guide to get help for the starving and diseased men.

The address was one of the finest ever heard in town without any exception and words fail utterly to describe the dramatic and moving recital of life in the Artic. Dr. Wirt's audience listened spell bound and were carried in imagination to the frozen northland by the magic of the speaker's utterances.

He told of glaciers, avalanches, the mighty Yukon river, the furs, timber, oil, coal, gold mines and all the resources of Alaska, which was purchased from Russia for seven million dollars and which has already produced over five hundred million dollars in wealth and is yet scarcely developed. Out of this land go out each year, thirty-five millions of gold from the greatest supply in the world.

Dr. Wirt described the inexhaustible coal mines, the midnight sun, the intense cold, 60 and 70 below zero, the long months of darkness, the loneliness and silence of the winter. Most interesting were his descriptions of life among the Eskimo tribes, the dogs teams, furs, igloas, religious rites, etc.

His story of the long trip through the frozen wilderness for aid for the stricken camp was more thrilling than any work of fiction and the whole evening will be long remembered by all privileged to hear him. Dr. Wirt was accorded long and loud applause and a rising vote of thanks. He promised to come again sometime and the members said it could not be too soon.

The meeting was adjourned about ten o'clock after a most auspicious starting of the season. The committee in charge: Louis W. Thayer, Harry A. Simonds, Charles E. Gilman, Ernest C. Woodsum, Frederick A. Adams and Dudley P. Howland.

These gentlemen were ably assisted at the supper by Mrs. W. A. Torrey, Mrs. F. A. Adams, Mrs. C. E. Gilman, and Mrs. George W. Stevens.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES.

The following are a few of the books recently added to the Public Library:

Bennett—Your United States. "In Mr. Bennett'e brief visit to this country, he saw a great deal of our daily life, sports, theatres, schools, colleges, etc., and has recorded his impressions in these chapters, which first appeared serially in Harper's Monthly. A keen power of observation, and a sence of humor make his comments particularly pertinent and entertaining. Frank Craig, the English artist accompanied Mr. Bennett and his illustrations add much to the books attractiveness and interest."

Bryce—South America. "A most interesting account of observations made and impressions formed during a journey through western and southern South America from Panama to Argentine and Brazil via the Straits of Magellan. The book deals with the country from seven different view points, that of nature, inhabitants, economic resources, prospects for the development of industry and commerce, relics of prehistoric civilization, native Indian population, conditions of political life in the several republics."

Crawford—Romantic days in the early republic. "Depicts the early social history of Washington, New York, Richmond, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Charleston, New Orleans, and the several cities of New England at the time when the republic was young and social customs were still full of old world quaintness and charm."

Nicolay—Personal traits of Abraham Lincoln. "From material collected by authors father for his joint work with John Hay, but which was not used in the large life. It shows Lincoln in his every day life at the White House, his attitude toward money, his moral fibre, and his relation toward his wife and children."

Perry—The American mind. "Study of traits, as expressed in the books, the men, the ideas and the impulses, which are most characteristic of the American people. Physical and intellectual qualities which differentiate the American from the Englishman and European are analyzed."

PUBLIC WINTER MEETING.

The public winter meeting of the Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, for lectures and discussions, will be held at Union hall, South Framingham, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 3, 4, and 5.

Dec. 3, will be devoted to dairying and the milk problem. Following the address of welcome, by John Bowditch, Esq., chairman of the selectmen of Framingham, and president of the Middlesex South Agricultural society, and response on behalf of the board, by John Bursley, first vice-president of State Board of Agriculture, Prof. J. M. Trueman, professor dairy husbandry, Connecticut Agricultural college, will deliver a lecture on "heredity and the Dairy Cow." The afternoon session will open at 2 o'clock with a presentation of "Some Phases of the Milk Problem in New England," by Ivan C. Weld, dairy investigator, Washington, D. C. At 8 o'clock in the evening, Prof. Oscar Erf, of the department of dairying, Ohio State University, who has spent considerable time in the study of European methods, will present the subject "Dairying, an Important Factor in Agriculture, as Demonstrated in European Countries."

Dec. 4, Prof. F. C. Sears, professor of pomology, Massachusetts Agricultural college, will speak on "Storage of Apples," at 10.30 A. M., and the evening session, will be given over to a lecture in "Growing Small Fruits and Berries," by Wilfrid Wheeler, a fruit-grower of Concord. At 2 P. M. Prof. James C. Rice, professor of poultry husbandry, New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University, will illustrate his lecture on "Some Practical Points in the Management of Poultry for Egg Production," by a stereopticon.

Dec. 5, at 10.30 o'clock A. M. the speaker will be Prof. R. L. Watts, professor of horticulture, Pennsylvania State college, subject "Recent Advancement in Market Gardening."

Thursday afternoon, by invitation, a visit will be made to Millwood farm, Framingham, where 100 cows are milked by machinery.

Admission to all lectures is free to the public, and all are invited to take part in the discussions. A printed program may be obtained by addressing J. Lewis Ellsworth, 136 State House, Boston.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

Wednesday the Industrial school was visited by Superintendent Ralph Wiggin of Braintree and Superintendent Nelson G. Howard of Weymouth. Boys are in the school from both of those towns with a larger number still to come in the future. The advisory committee on Industrial Education will hold another meeting next month to prepare a brief report with recommendation for the final school committee meeting of the year. It is probable that two more trades will be taken into the school courses next year but what those trades will be remains to be determined.

While the regular schools will close next Wednesday for the remainder of the week, the Industrial school will be in session on Friday as usual as well as the Industrial evening courses.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Massachusetts Teachers' Association will hold its 68th annual meeting, Friday, Nov. 29 at Huntington hall, Rogers Building, Boston. The programme this year is one of the finest that the association has offered in a long time and includes the following:

Superintendent Franklin B. Dyer, Boston, "The Larger View of the Meaning of Education"; President Flavel S. Luther, Trinity College, "The Easy Mark"; Hon. David Snedder, "Teachers Annuities"; Principle William McAndrew, New York City, "The Increasing Value of the Teaching Service"; Prof. H. H. Home, New York University, "Educational Faith" Dr. Charles W. Eliot, "The Tendency to the Concrete and Practical in Modern Education."

HIGH SCHOOL WORK.

The first set of marks have been announced both at the High School and at Woodward Institute and in accord with the custom of the past three years, the masters of the grammar schools have been made aware of the deficiencies of freshmen pupils coming from these schools in September. It is a source of gratification to all that the reports of such failures show a decrease again this year for the third successive time, notwithstanding the increased size of the Freshmen class. As a matter of fact there were less than half as many cases of deficiency this fall as there were in the smaller class of three years ago.

NEARING END OF YEAR.

The next to the last school committee meeting of the year will be held Tuesday evening, at which time the finance committee will present the customary requests for transfers in the budget to be forwarded to the City Council. So far as now appears the School Department will close the year with all bills paid and a slight balance unexpended, notwithstanding the large and unexpected increase this fall in school attendance. The committee to prepare the annual report of the board will also be appointed at this meeting.

WOLLASTON SCHOOL.

Remember the dates of the Operetta Cinderella in Flowerland, Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock and Saturday afternoon at 2.30. It is necessary to begin the evening performance a little early because of the large number of small children taking part. Following is the program:

Scene III—The May-day ball, and the shower.
Scene IV—The Princess of Sunbeam Castle.
To close with tableau.
Accompanist—Mrs. H. Y. Follett.
Directors—Miss Lillian Newman, Miss Agnes Fisher.

The committee in charge has been most fortunate in having the assistance of Ernest Campbell who has taken entire charge of arranging the scenery and lighting.

MASS. FIELDS SCHOOL.

The pupils of the school will hold a candy sale at the close of school next Wednesday to raise money to purchase a large picture of George Washington. It will be hung in the corridor near the Capitol, one of the pictures purchased last May. We hope to raise fifteen dollars.

TWO CANDIDATES

Walter G. Ferguson, Progressive
August V. Johnson, Progressive

Ward Four.

Stephen B. Little, Citizens
Daniel F. Shea, Progressive

Ward Five.

Russell T. Anthony, Progressive
Charles W. Bailey, Progressive
Charles L. Gilliatt, Progressive

John R. Nelson who was defeated for the nomination in Ward Six came to City Square Wednesday evening in the vicinity of 10 o'clock looking for nomination papers but, of course the City Clerk's office was not open at that hour and he did not appear to take out papers Wednesday, so that he lost what chance he may have had for being a candidate.

William T. Shea nominated for Councilman at Large at the caucuses by having his name written on the ballot has officially withdrawn. Stephen O'Connor nominated for Republican Councilman from Ward Four has also officially withdrawn.

The time for the withdrawal of candidates expires at 5 o'clock Friday evening and the ward committees have until next Monday evening at 5 o'clock in which to fill vacancies caused by withdrawals or ties of candidates nominated at the caucuses. The filling of vacancies however does not apply to any that should occur to those who have been nominated on nomination papers.

The filing of the nomination papers noted above makes it certain that the contest on election day is to be a merry one all along the line. At the present time it is hard to predict how the election will go on the matter of members of the City Council.

As for Mayor it is also quite difficult to predict at the present time although it looks very favorable to the re-election of Mayor Stone.

MOCK TRIAL

Dunham were enjoyed. Among the selections were "Marching" and "Sittin' by the fire."

Secretary Wilson (J. A. Sedgwick) was called upon for a report of agricultural condition and told a vivid tale of mammoth cornstalks and giant pumpkins.

Theodore Rosevelt (L. E. Crosscup) spoke on "Why I was not elected. He told of various adventures of his trip abroad and gave reasons for his defeat.

Referee Saunders was put on trial, and despite the strong defense put up by Abe Hummel the noted criminal lawyer Chairman Murray succeeded in so browbeating the jury that they declared referee Saunders to be guilty.

He was sentenced to dismissal from the club and those present adjourned for refreshments as a relief from the heartrending affair. Many popular songs were sung through the evening.

NEPHEW SUNG THE MASS.

Mrs. Bridget M. Beard, widow of Bryan V. Beard and a former resident of West Quincy, was buried Wednesday from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eliza Kelliher, 15 Highland street, Neponset.

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's church, West Quincy, by Rev. Francis J. Hart of Canton, a nephew of the deceased. Rev. Henry T. Grady officiated as deacon and Rev. William J. Duffy was subdeacon.

The Gregorian chant was sung by the regular choir under the direction of Miss Frances Cronin. Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's Cemetery where prayers were said by Father Hart and Father Grady.

GOING AFTER "PILL DOCTORS"

Simultaneous Raids by Uncle Sam In Seventy-Two Cities

CRIMINAL MEDICAL PRACTICE

Determined Effort to Break Them Up After Many Months' Work by Secret Service —Nearly Two Hundred Persons, Many of Them Prominent, Caught In Federal Net

Washington, Nov. 21.—Acting under direction of Postmaster General Hitchcock, postoffice inspectors and United States marshals in seventy-two leading cities of the country began practically simultaneous raids for the arrest of 173 persons charged with using the mails to promote criminal medical practices or the sale of drugs and instruments used for illegal purposes.

This concerted official action covers the Unite' States from tne Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the lakes to the gulf. Many of the persons to be arrested are prominent, commercially and socially, in their communities. Some are leading physicians, others are rich and influential business men; yet others are men who live by their wits, and are comparatively little known without their own small coterie of associates.

All of the arrests are to be made for alleged violation of section 211 of the penal code of the United States, which bars from the mails any vile or obscene matter, whether sealed or unsealed; any advertisements, letters or circulars proposing or suggesting criminal practices; or any packet containing any substance, drug or thing intended to be used for immoral or unlawful purposes.

Chief Inspector Sharp of the postoffice department and many of his force of 390 inspectors have been working upon the cases for many months. The development of the plans which culminated yesterday is the most extensive raid in the history of any department of the government. Approximately ninety of the persons arrested already have been indicted by United States grand juries in various parts of the country and the cases of the others will be presented to grand juries now sitting, as rapidly as may be feasible.

Strict enforcement of municipal and state laws in the east is said by the postal authorities to account for the comparatively few arrests in the large cities in that part of the country.

Postoffice inspectors say that a hotbed of this sort of criminality is in the Pacific coast states. There they had little difficulty in obtaining a mass of evidence against accused persons. In San Francisco, it is claimed, a fictitious name was used by several well-known physicians, who employed a women to do the necessary advertising and clerical work. Scores of complaints have been received from respectable women, complaining of the receipt of this class of matter.

Approximately 20 percent of those arrested are so-called "pill doctors"—men who advertise their practice by correspondence or otherwise—and send to their patients either by mail or by express various compounds in the form of pills or powders. Careful analysis of these compounds by the government authorities is said to have disclosed that some of them are wholly innocuous, while others are dangerous poisons. Under another section of the penal code the sending of poisons through the mails is expressly forbidden.

Particular care was taken by the inspectors in collecting the evidence against business concerns—drug houses and remedy companies. The men actually responsible for the illicit correspondence were ordered arrested, and in this class of cases, it is said, many indictments already have been returned.

It is the expressed determination of the postal authorities to put an end to the promotion by mail of criminal practices and of the traffic in drugs and instruments upon which a ban is placed by the law. Postmaster General Hitchcock said every case against an alleged violator of the law would be pressed vigorously and every effort made to send the culprits, if convicted, to the penitentiary.

MANN SENT TO PRISON

Had Lately Finished Sentence For Snipping Girls' Hair

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 21.—Karl Mann, formerly in the employ of the Y. M. C. A. dormitory in this city, was sentenced by Judge Lummus in the local court to an indefinite term in the Concord reformatory for snipping girls' hair last Saturday and Sunday.

Mann had lately been released from the reformatory after serving eight months for a like offense.

WIMMIN'S PARTS FOR SOME BOYS

In the Play to Be Presented at the High School

A change has been made in the coming high school theatricals and the curtain raiser will be the "Quiet Family" instead of "The Booking Office." The minstrel circle will follow as the afterpiece, no change being made in the parts:

Under the direction of Headmaster Collins and Teacher Frank Mansur the progress is good and the cast will be ready, during the second week in December, to face an audience.

Several female parts will be taken by the boys and it is said at the school that some of the "wimmin" will show that they are stars in their line.

The cast will be as follows:

Benjamin Bibbs — Edward Brown
Barnabee Bibbs, — Leon Randall
Peter Carter, — Sam Prout
Grumpy, — Roland Estey
Mrs. Ben Bibbs, — Edward Bullock
Mrs. Barnabee Bibbs, — John Martin
Mrs. Selma Summers, — Willett Crocker

AMATEUR PERFORMERS.

"Captain Racket," a healthy show followed by an afterpiece, "The Widow's Own Startegy," will be presented by Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus this evening. It promises to be an enjoyable affair.

YOUR AMBITION.

Have You a Clear Cut Idea of the Object of Your Desire?

Several years ago, when I filled a position which brought me many visitors each day and many more letters at the same time, I was overburdened with requests for advice from persons who wished "to succeed," "to accomplish," "to attain." But, as strange as the statement may seem to you, I can truthfully say that not one in a hundred of these earnest seekers was able to state exactly what he or she really wanted.

They were dissatified and discontented and felt the vague urge of unrest pushing them forward to further endeavor and attainment, but it stopped right there. Ninety-nine out of every hundred did not know what they wanted. They asked not only for advice regarding the means of accomplishment and attainment, but also for information as to what they should really desire.

"Silly," you exclaim. Not a bit of it. I venture to say that you—yes, you who are now reading these lines—are not much better off regarding clear cut ideas and ideals. You want and want and want, of course, but just what do you want? Have you a clearly defined idea and a clear cut ideal of the object of your desire? Honor bright now, have you?—William Walker Atkinson in Nautilus.

DAVID H. MORRIS TAKES A BRIDE

Pretty Home Wedding of Prominent Young People

Miss Ellen Hastings Joss and David Hugh Morris were married Wednesday evening by Rev. J. A. Matheson of the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony took place in the parlor of the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Joss of 93 Bennington street.

Miss Mary Joss, a sister, was the bridesmaid and Edward Jenkins attended the groom. The maid of honor was Miss Alice Forbes Joss. The bride was given away by her brother Lewis D. Joss.

As the bridal party entered the parlor Claude E. Saunier of Cambridge played the Lohengren wedding march.

The bride was dressed in white satin and carried bridal roses. Her attendant wore blue crepe de chine and carried pink tea roses.

Following the ceremony there was a reception and wedding supper. Mr. and Mrs. Morris were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Mary Joss and Mrs. S. Hughes. The ushers were Miss Alice E. Collins and Miss Lois Stearns both of Lawrence.

The couple received a large number of presents from their many friends who called during the evening to wish them joy.

Guests were present from Cambridge, Dorchester, Milton, Lawrence and Brockton.

Mrs. Morris attended the Quincy high school and has been prominent in the younger set of the First Presbyterian church. The groom is well known in this city. They will live in Quincy.

DISTRICT COURT.

Alex Henningson was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy. Case continued until March 5, 1913.

Walter Dunn was sentenced to two months in the house of correction for drunkenness at Quincy, but sentence was suspended until July 9, 1913.

Arthur Starr of Braintree was sentenced to two months in the house of correction for drunkenness at Weymouth and fined $50 for carrying a loaded revolver. Cases placed on probation until July 9, 1913.

Andrew Smith was fined $10 for gunning without a license and $10 for gunning on the Lord's Day at Quincy.

Edward Goranson and Hjalmar Carlson were arraigned on three complaints for violating the game laws, viz, gaming without a license, gaming on the Lord's Day and gaming from a boat propelled by mechanical power. Cases continued on personal recognizance until next Wednesday.

EGGS SOAR IN COTHAM

Strictly Fresh Bringing Seventy-Five Cents a Dozen at Retail

New York, Nov. 21.—Fresh eggs at 70 cents a dozen at wholesale are looked for here in the near future. Eggs of today's laying from Long Island and nearby Jersey points are already bringing 75 cents a dozen at retail.

On the produce exchange the wholesale price of eggs is 55 to 60, and it is the general impression the 70-cent mark will be reached by next week.

UNANIMOUSLY CONFIRMED

Council Acts on Appointments of White and Tyrrell

Unanimous confirmation was given by the executive council Wednesday to the appointments of Norman H. White of Brookline and of Francis X. Tyrrell of Chelsea as members of the new commission on economy and efficiency. Both men qualified and this morning the commission will hold its first meeting. State Auditor John E. White is, ex-officio, a member of the commission.

The first work before the commission is to select a secretary, get quarters and equip them with the necessary working force.

NAMED FOR THE GOVERNOR.

The Observant Citizen in the Boston Post had the following Wednesday.

"A future voter who recently arrived at the home of William F. O'Connell, the mayor of Houghs Neck, has been named Eugene Noble Foss O'Connell in honor of Governor Eugene Noble Foss. In a letter of announcement, to Governor Foss, "mayor" O'Connell declared that son like father would always vote the straight Democratic ticket. In his reply, the Governor said he was highly gratified that his name had been selected for the newcomer, and expressed a hope that Eugene Noble Foss O'Connell's path through life would be marked by fame and fortune."

For over a week the boys have been hard at work renovating the quarters on Newport avenue donated by a kind friend and on Wednesday evening everything was spick and span.

The Troop holds meetings each Wednesday evening to which parents and others interested are welcome.

F. J. Hamel and A. W. Story are scoutmasters of the Troop. Theodore Higgins, Maynard Hatch and Doroft Bruce are the patrol leaders.

Walter M. Hatch, Mr. Higgins, J. Arthur Sparrow, Charles A. Randall, A. B. Cassidy and John Chandler form the local committee.

HICKEY WORKED AT FORE RIVER

Officials Recall His Presence But Knew Little of Him

WORKED AS ELECTRICIAN

J. Frank Hickey, the man arrested in Whiting, N. J., Tuesday, charged with the murder of Joseph Josephs at Lackawanna, N. Y. and also thought to be the author of the murder postal cards, was a former resident of Quincy having been employed at different occasions in the electrical department at the Fore River Ship yard. There are some of the officials at the ship yard that readily recall Hickey, having been employed at the yard but remember little about him.

his point towards the finish after nosing the ball along for 35 yards unassisted.

Nichols of Harvard played a snappy game at goal and stopped a large score. Altstein wrenched his knee and was obliged to slow up. Artis figured during the entire game.

The most enthusiastic rooters were the pupils of the Washington school which holds the championship of the city. Some of the grades were dismissed shortly before 3.30 P. M. and trooped into the field, cheering Fore River.

Manager Smith allowed the draftsmen to leave at two o'clock and they helped in the making of a 500 crowd.

A humorous incident which heartily pleased the rooters occurred in the last period when a draftsmen kicked a ball from the outside the line and smashed his chum's derby.

This was the first time a university has recognized Quincy's place in soccer although the Fore Rivers have held the national championships off and on for six years.

NATION WIDE MOVEMENT

For the Construction of Good and Durable Highways

MANY ROUTES SELECTED

Illustrating the tremendous impetus that lately has been given to the nation-wide movement for improved public highways, the United States Office of Public Roads has just prepared a chart which shows that nearly 15,000 miles of transcontinental, interstate, and trunkline roads are contemplated in various sections of the country.

The chart prepared by the Office of Public Roads shows the extent to which the good roads movement has taken hold of every part of the United States. North, South, East and West, the improved roads, some merely planned, others actually under construction, literally make a network covering the whole country.

If all the plans contemplated are carried out by the men and committees back of them, it will be possible to drive wagons and automobiles from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast and from Vancouver, British Columbia, to Tijuana, Mexico, and from Quebec, Canada, to Miami, Fla. The map prepared by the Office of Public Roads, merely for the purpose of gauging the extent of the good roads movement as fostered by individuals, associations, and communities, shows the following great highways in contemplation or actually under construction:

From Yellowstone Park to Glacier National Park, through Fort Yellowstone, the Big Hole Battlefield, and other interesting points in the Rocky Mountains—a total distance of 450 miles.

The Pacific highway, from Vancouver, British Columbia, to Tijuana, Mexico, a distance of 2,009 miles.

The Memphis-to-Bristol highway, connecting Knoxville, Nashville, and Jackson, a distance of 540 miles.

Bristol-to-Washington highway.

The Lincoln Memorial Road, from Washington to Gettysburg, forty miles.

Sherman, Texas-to-Galveston highway, 150 miles.

The Central highway, from Morehead City, N. C., on the Atlantic Ocean, to Paint Rock, on the French Broad River, Tennessee, through Goldsboro, Raleigh, Greensboro, Salisbury, Charlotte and Ashville, N. C., 460 miles.

The Dupont highway, from the upper end to the lower end of Delaware, proposed by T. Coleman Du Pont, who has offered to advance $1,000,000 toward its construction; length of route, 103 miles.

Des Moines-Kansas City-St. Joseph trail.

Ocean-to-ocean highway, extending from Cumberland, Md., to Tacoma, Wash., passing over the old Cumberland Road, through Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, over Boone's Lick trail, and St. Louis to Old Franklin, Mo., through Nebraska, Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon and Washington; length of route, 3,800 miles.

Quebec-to-Miami highway, passing through Albany, New York, Trenton, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Raleigh, Columbia, Savannah, and Jacksonville.

The Lincoln way, from Louisville to Nashville, 150 miles.

The Capital-to-Capital highway, extending from Washington, D. C., to Tallahassee or Jacksonville, through the capitals of the seaboard States; length of route, 1,500 miles.

Clay-Jefferson Memorial, Niagara Falls to New Orleans, via Zanesville, Ohio, Maysville, Ky., Nashville, Tenn., and Meridian, Miss., 1,200 miles.

"Red-to-Rio" highway, from Denison Tex., to Dallas, Waco., Austin and San Antonio connecting Houston and Galveston, 600 miles.

Nearly every State in the Union is benefited to some extent by the proposed new highways, and the manner in which all sections are working to the same end simultaneously indicates that it will not be long before the United States is laced by a complete system of good roads.

National Association Opens Its Forty-Fourth Annual Convention

Philadelphia, Nov. 21.—Enthusiastic in the belief that their cause will triumph and that the privilege of the ballot will be granted women throughout the United States within the next few years, hundreds of delegates from all parts of the country arrived here to participate in the forty-fourth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association, which opened its sessions today.

Dr. Anna Shaw, national president, declares that this convention will give Philadelphia a big jolt in the right direction, and will help materially the suffrage campaign in Pennsylvania.

ACCUSES OFFICIALS IN DYNAMITE PLOT

Ryan Among Those Who Discussed Plans, Says Witness

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—Eleven officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers were accused by Patrick J. Dugan at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial of having been present when blowing up non-union jobs was discussed.

Dugan, former treasurer of a local union, testified that shortly after a building in Detroit was dynamited in June, 1907, the union officials held a caucus over the election of officers and President Ryan and ten other officers were present while the dynamiting was being discussed.

HICKEY IS INDICTED

Grand Jury Charges Him With Murder of the Josephs Boy

Buffalo, Nov. 21.—The Erie county grand jury returned an indictment against J. F. Hickey, now under arrest at Toms River, N. J., charging him with murder in the first degree in having caused the death of Joseph Josephs at Lackawanna.

The indictment was made in a special report to Justice Wheeler in criminal term of supreme court, and contains two counts. The first accuses Hickey "of wilfully and deliberately effecting the death of the Josephs boy by strangling and choking him." The second count includes the degree of "malice aforethought."

LULL ON THE BATTLEFIELD

But Armies Remain Close to the Gates of Constantinople

ARRANGEMENT OF ARMISTICE

Question of Turks' Further Resistance Falls Upon Nazim Pasha—Diminution of Tension in Austro-Servian Dispute—No Mobilization of Austro-Hungarian Army

London, Nov. 21.—"Cease firing" has been sounded on the battle fronts of the armies before Constantinople and it seems likely that the last great fight of the war for the liberation of the Christian populations of Macedonia from the ferocious tyranny of Moslem rule has been fought. For 500 years the Turks have garrisoned southeastern Europe—in the land but not of it. Their religion has been an insuperable bar to the just government of Christian people.

Beaten to a standstill they have sued for peace and Bulgaria, acting for the allies, has granted an armistice and named the conditions of peace. The Ottoman government has appointed Nazim Pasha, commander-in-chief of the Turkish army, to confer with General Savoff, the Bulgarian leader.

The Turkish general has thrown on him the burden of deciding whether or not further resistance behind the fortifications of Tchatalja may bring easier terms and save to the Ottoman empire more than Constantinople and a strip of Thrace along the shores of the Sea of Marmora, which seemingly is all that the conquerers are at present disposed to leave to the vanquished. If success crowns the efforts to arrange an armistice, Turkey will appoint other plenipotentiaries to discuss terms of peace.

In the meanwhile the two armies hold their respective positions. Reports regarding the conditions proposed by the allies are conflicting. It is officially stated in Constantinople that the agreement of the allies to discuss the terms of an armistice and the preliminaries of peace does not stipulate any conditions.

Simultaneously with the lull on the battlefield comes news of a diminution of tension in the Austro-Servian dispute by the compliance of Servia with the demand of the Austrian government for an investigation on the spot. The Austro-Hungarian consul at Belgrade leaves at once for Prisrend to inquire into the complaint of the Austro-Hungarian consul there that he had been hindered by the Servians in the carrying out of his duties. Part of the journey must be made on horseback and it will take several days for him to arrive at his destination.

The more amenable attitude of Servia is doubtless partly due to the action of the German and Italian governments at Belgrade. Their interests also are affected, as the Germans and Italians at Prisrend are under the possession of the Austrian consulate. The two governments, therefore, warmly supported the Austro-Hungarian representations.

On the other hand there is nothing yet to indicate a solution of the question of the Servian demand for ports on the Adriatic sea. If, as is threatened, she diverts her army released by the fall of Monastir to the country of the Arnaut tribesmen, her relations with Austria-Hungary will, it is thought, be further imperilled. Meantime, however, the reports that orders for the mobilization of the Austro-Hungarian army had been issued are officially declared untrue.

Courtsmartial at Constantinople are busily engaged sentencing members of the Young Turk party to terms of imprisonment. Nineteen of them were disposed of yesterday.

A private letter received by a business firm from Constantinople dated Nov. 15 says that under martial law order is being better kept than ever before in that city and "that trouble will never occur in the way people abroad imagine."

CIGARET IS BARRED

Princess Asked to Stop Smoking In Lobby of Boston Hotel

Boston, Nov. 21.—Princess Colleredo Mannsfeld, who arrived in Boston yesterday to attend the Canadian club banquet, lighted a cigaret in the lobby of the Touraine during an interview with a newspaper representative and was at once politely but firmly requested by the management to refrain from smoking there.

The princess cast aside the cigaret, more amused than offended, and remarked that while American women in America appear to a certain extent opposed to smoking, when in France they enjoy their cigarets like true born Parisians.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

NOVEL CHICKEN RECIPES.

WHEN chicken is a part of the Thanksgiving dinner the housewife likes to know of some unusual way of preparing it. Here are some methods which are both novel and delicious:

When turkey is high a simple roast chicken may be served as the piece de resistance.

Chicken With Tartare Sauce.—Draw and clean a pair of young chickens. Split each in half and fry a nice brown in butter. Then press between two dishes until nearly cold, dip into beaten egg, then in breadcrumbs and broil over a clear fire. Serve on a hot dish with tartare sauce.

To make this use a quarter of a pint of rich mayonnaise sauce and season it with chopped gherkins, parsley and capers, an extra dessertspoonful of vinegar and a little more mustard. Serve fresh lettuce with this course.

A French Recipe.

Chicken a la Bordelaise.—Cut the breast from a chicken, retaining its shape on the bone. Remove the skin and lard the breast on each side. Place it in a deep saucepan, cover with stock or boiling water and simmer for thirty or forty minutes or until tender. Then remove from the water and place in oven for ten minutes to bake a very light brown. Serve with a sauce made of one-half cupful of stock in which the breast has been boiled and one-half cupful of cream. Let it come to the scalding point; season with salt and pepper and one tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Remove from fire and stir in slowly the yolks of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of milk beaten together. Stir constantly until thick, but do not boil.

A Novel Way.

Chicken a la Reine.—Take a pair of tender chickens, clean, stuff and truss as for roasting. Dredge with salt, pepper and flour. Cut a quarter of a pound of pork in slices and put part on the bottom of a stewpan with two slices of carrot and one large onion, cut fine. Stir over the fire until they begin to brown. Then put in the chickens and lay the remainder of the pork over them. Place the stewpan in a hot oven for twenty minutes and then add white stock to half cover the chicken and a bouquet of sweet herbs. Dredge well with flour. Cover the pan and return to the oven. Baste about every fifteen minutes and after cooking one hour turn over the chickens. Cook in all two hours. Serve with hollandaise sauce or with the sauce in which the chickens were cooked, it being strained over them.

Chicken Italian Style.—Truss a plump fowl as if for boiling and rub it all over with garlic. Place one-half pound of streaky bacon, cut into neat strips, into a clean saucepan. As soon as the fat fries out add the fowl and fry till well browned all over. Then add four sliced onions, pepper and salt and some stock. Simmer for three-quarters of an hour.

THE RIPE RED CRANBERRY.

MANY cooks fail to appreciate the possibilities of cranberries. The best they ever do with the fruit is to evolve a bitter, faded, watery sauce, instead of the bright, well flavored jelly which more skillful housewives concoct.

Sauce For Pies.

Cranberry Sauce.—To make a really good sauce pick the berries over, throwing out all imperfect ones. Wash them and put in a poreclain or agate kettle with a little water and the sugar on top. For a quart of berries use a pint of sugar and a cupful of water. Cook rapidly for ten minutes, occasionally pressing the berries under the syrup with a wooden spoon or crushing them against the kettle; skim if necessary. When every berry has burst pour the sauce into deep bowls of the right size that have been rinsed in cold water and leave in a cool place to mold or harden.

Cranberry Pie.—The preceding sauce is nice for cranberry pies. The plates are lined with paste, with a fancy rim, as if for custard pie, and filled with the sauce. Then strips of twisted paste are laid across diagonally, dividing the surface of the jelly in diamonds, or an upper crust may be used, provided many round holes are cut to show the bright jelly underneath.

Handsome Dishes.

Cranberry Jelly.—Stew four quarts of cranberries in a porcelain kettle with water enough to float them till they are thoroughly soft and broken. Rub them through a coarse sieve. Allow to each pint of the mixture a pound of sugar. Put the fruit on the fire. Let it boil hard. Leave the fruit on the fire till it jellies, which will be in a few minutes, remove from the fire and pour into molds.

Cranberry Mold.—Take two quarts of cranberries, a quart of sugar and a pint of water. Wash and pick over the cranberries carefully. Put them in a saucepan with the pint of water, cover and stew till tender; then strain them through a sieve. Return the pulp to the saucepan and boil fifteen minutes. Add the sugar and still boil just long enough to melt the sugar. Rinse out the mold with cold water and sprinkle with granulated sugar; pour the cranberries when nearly cold into the molds and set in a cool place to get firm.

GOTHAM NOT A HEALTHY SPOT

Opinion of Informers Who Are About to Be Released

GANGSTERS AWAITING THEM

Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps to Be Freed Today, but Shapiro Must Wait Awhile—"Bridgie," Who Has Fat Bank Account, Plans to Make Early Getaway to Europe

New York, Nov. 21.—It will be in broad daylight and not under cover of darkness, as they anxiously hoped, that "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon will be set at liberty, according to the program for the release of the three informers against Charles Becker and his four gunmen tools, so far as it can be learned. Mid-afternoon today is the time tentatively set.

The underworld has been awaiting with interest an intimation as to the time when they were to go free, for the feeling prevailed there that the friends of the four gangsters about to be sentenced for the murder of Herman Rosenthal were only awaiting the liberation of Rose, Webber and Vallon to take revenge upon the trio.

The three men will be brought this afternoon before Coroner Feinberg, who signed the orders of commitment on which they were held originally, according to the plan outlined. District Attorney Whitman will present to the coroner, it is said, stipulations signed by him with counsel for the witnesses. If Whitman will declare the three have kept faith with the state in giving relevant testimony, the coroner then will release them from commitment.

Sam Schepps, fourth of the state's valuable witnesses against Becker and the gunmen, likewise probably will be released today. The vagrancy charge upon which he has been held from week to week since his arrest will come up again today, and it is not believed further adjournment will be asked for.

Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the gray "murder car," whose case appeals more to those thoroughly familiar with the whole Rosenthal situation than that of any other associated with the murder, must wait until Whitman has satisfied himself about some details in the indictment for murder which now holds Shapiro, before the prosecutor moves for the dismissal of the indictment.

One thing is certain. Once Shapiro gets a good start westward no town that holds a Zelig gangster ever will see him again if Willie knows it.

Harry Vallon recently had returned to him about $2000 which he had contributed toward the $10,000 bail on which Jack Zelig was out when killed, and which was returned to the various members of the Sam Paul group, who chipped in to the bail fund. Vallon therefore has "getaway" money, but he has not told anyone where he intends to go when liberated.

"Bridgie" Webber, whose bank account is placed at "more than $100,000," says he is going to Europe to stay about three months, and he will leave just as soon as his booking can be arranged.

Will Sentence Gunmen Nov. 26

New York, Nov. 21.—Justice Goff fixed Nov. 26 as the date on which he will sentence the four gunmen, convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, to death in the electric chair. The four were brought into court and the motions to set aside the verdict and grant a new trial formally made by their counsel were immediately denied.

TWO DESPONDENT MOTHERS

Take Their Own and Their Children's Lives by Asphyxiation

New York, Nov. 21.—In widely separated parts of Brooklyn two tragedies, resulting in each case in the suicide of a mother and the death of her child, were enacted almost simultaneously.

Mrs. Frieda Kauffman, 25 years old, wife of a baker, took her 5-year-old daughter to bed with her after turning on the gas.

In like manner Mrs. Katherine Herrling, a widow, who had been ill for several months, and her 6-year-old son, met the same fate.

NO CABINET SELECTIONS

Wilson Intimates Newspaper Gossip Is Not to Be Relied Upon

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 21.—"All statements about selections for the cabinet may be disregarded until I make the announcement myself," declared President-elect Wilson when he was told of the reports published in the United States.

Governor Wilson said he had not offered or intimated an offer of a position in his cabinet to anyone. It is learned that William J. Bryan has not been invited to Bermuda, and it is said he is not expected here during Wilson's stay.

REAL FUNERAL FOR DOG

Honored With Casket, Hearse, Carriages, Flowers and Addresses

Cincinnati, Nov. 21.—With greater funeral honors than are accorded many men "Monkey," a pug dog owned by Mrs. Harry Jackson, was buried here.

"Monkey" died of old age after four veterinary doctors had been in almost constant attendance for three months. Mrs. Jackson was almost prostrated and sat weeping beside a coffin containing the body until time for the funeral. The dog was 20 years old.

The body, in its costly casket, was exhibited in the best room of the Jackson home. Flowers were sent by neighbors and admirers of "Monkey." A hearse carried the casket to Price hill, where "Monkey" was buried in a lot furnished through the Ohio Humane society. There were four carriages in the procession. Funeral services, consisting of short addresses by members of the society, were held at the residence.

"Monkey' was a Russian pug, and had carried premiums at the Madison Square and Niagara Falls shows as the smallest in his class.

BY MEANS OF CHLOROFORM

Worcester Grocer's Clerk Kills His Wife, Baby and Self

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 21.—John Wood, a grocer's clerk, killed his wife and 4-months-old baby with chloroform, and then ended his life in the same manner. A note, found by a 13-year-old daughter, Gladys, told of the crime and led to the discovery of the bodies.

Gladys and another child, 10 years of age, slept together in a room adjoining their parents' chamber. After reading the note they attempted to enter the other room and found the door locked. Neighbors forced their way in.

Wood was 38 years old and had been employed by one concern for more than twenty years. Family troubles are thought to have led to the crime.

TOWNS DEVASTATED, COAST ROADS GONE

Western End of Jamaica Suffers From Severe Hurricane

Kingston, Jam., Nov. 21.—The western end of the island of Jamaica has been devastated by a hurricane lasting for five days. A great tidal wave swept over both the north and south coasts, practically wiping out the towns of Savanna la Mar and Lucea.

According to a report brought in by steamer, forty-two persons were killed at Montege Bay.

All the coast roads have been wrecked along the southwestern coast and incalculable damage has been done. Communication between Kingston and the centre of destruction is not likely to be resumed for a week.

The latest reports indicate that the tidal wave swept over Savanna la Mar and adjacent villages for a quarter of a mile inland.

BY TWO TO ONE VOTE

Federation of Labor Goes on Record as Against Industrial Unionism

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 21.—After a debate that lasted all day, members of the radical wing of the American Federation of Labor were defeated by a vote of nearly 2 to 1 in their attempt to have the Federation adopt the principle of industrial unionism in place of its policy of trade autonomy.

The voting strength of the convention, based on membership in represented bodies, went 10,983 against the minority report and 5929 for it. After the minority report had beet defeated, the majority report in favor of the continuance of trade autonomy was adopted by acclamation.

CHARGED WITH BRIBERY

Trial of Former City Chamberlain of New York Is Begun

New York, Nov. 21.—A jury for the long-delayed trial of the former city chamberlain, Charles H. Hyde, on charges of bribery in connection with the Carnegie Trust company financial scandals nearly two years ago, was completed at the opening sessions of the trial.

Justice Goff started the trial with dispatch. He refused to entertain motions for further postponement of the long-standing case and ordered the immediate examination of the panel of 200 talesmen summoned for the trial.

YOUNG MARIANO GUILTY

Jury Recommends Leniency For Slayer of Willie Mather

Providence, Nov. 21.—Antonio Mariano, the 14-year-old boy charged with the murder of Willie Mather, was found guilty by a jury after eight hours' deliberation. The jury asked for leniency.

The murder was committed in North Providence Feb. 29. The body of Mather was not found until a month later.

SAVINGS BANK LIFE INSURANCE

Some Figures Which Speak For Themselves on the Subject

The fourth financial year of Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance closed, Oct. 31, and there were 6685 policies in force representing insurance to the amount of $2,531,409. The four Savings Insurance Banks show a total premium income of $101,632.27 for the financial year ending Oct. 31, 1912, increase of 33.1 per cent over the premium income of the preceding year.

There are now 175 agencies in manufacturing establishments and business men of Massachusetts have given this movement their most cordial co-operation.

The Massachusetts Savings Insurance League, with headquarters at 161 Devonshire Street, Boston, is sending lecturers and instructors at its own expense to all parts of the State to educate the people to an intelligent knowledge of the principles of insurance and the inducements to thrift and savings offered by this Massachusetts plan, which makes it possible for wage-earning men and women to make reasonable provision by small monthly payments out of current earnings against the contingencies of the future.

A CINCH.

"I have a permanent position for a young lady printer in an up-to-date office, free from tobacco spit and smoke. Must be a rapid and accurate compositor, feed presses, correct and make up, report and do ad. and job setting when necessary. Send photo, sample of work and references in first letter. A splendid place for the right party. Must be pleasing in manners and appearance. Wages $6.00."

Now this is what I call a cinch for any aspiring young lady. The man who inserted this ad. is a westerner. I should like to get 6 young ladies with half the number of these accomplishments to work in my printing office at this price.

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Quincy Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Ledger readers.

John Callahan, 55 Prospect street, Brockton, Mass., says: "I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, as I have been greatly benefited by them. I was annoyed by lame and aching back and my kidneys did not act regularly. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me entire relief. I am glad to confirm the statement given by a member of my family in 1908 in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Mary Donovan late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Charlotte F. Donovan of Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond: You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the eleventh day of December A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twelfth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

WAS ONLY AFTER SHOUP

Los Angeles "Dynamiter" Says He Meant No Harm to Police

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 21.—Strapped to a cot at the receiving hospital, Carl Warr, who took possession of the central police station by threatening to destroy the building with an infernal machine unless Paul Shoup, Jr., of the Pacific Electric company, was brought to him, told a wierd tale.

"I did not want to hurt any one about the police station," declared Warr. "All I was after was the head of the Pacific Electric. I was merely going to show him my machine and tell him I was going to blow him up unless he raised the wages of his workmen and otherwise improved their condition.

"The machine is my own invention. One of the finest features of the machine is that instead of pulling the trigger to set the machine off, one has to hold the three triggers to keep it from going off."

LEVI HACKETT TESTIFIES

Did Not See Noose on Daughter's Neck In Time to Save Her

Augusta, Me., Nov. 21.—His voice broken with sobbing, Levi L. Hackett, father of Mattie Hackett, murdered at Readfield seven years ago, took the witness stand in the trial of Mrs. Elsie H. Raymond for the murder.

It was he who found the body of his daughter. It was he who held her head when the noose that had caused her death was discovered. His wife had stood over the prostrate form lying beside the road, he said, and exclaimed "The girl is reviving."

She was taken home and they were slipping a nightdress upon her, thinking she had been assaulted and was recovering, when the father saw the cord.

"I said 'Oh my God,'" testified Hackett. Sobs choked his utterance.

SLOW WAITERS.

Julius Kahn of San Francisco was at one time on the stage with Booth and Barrett, but later he went into politics, had himself elected to Congress and eveloped a sense of humor to contrast with the tragedy roles he played in the theatres.

One morning he went into a country hotel in California and gave his order for breakfast to a waitress who seemed indifferent as to whether he got food or starved to death. She kept him waiting a long time, and his impatience grew until he had to give vent.

Calling a waitress who passed by his table, he said:

"How long have you been here?"

"Who, me?" she asked sweetly. "I've ben here three weeks."

"Then," said Klahn, "you're not the one who took my order. That one left before you came."—Popular Magazine.

The experience is by no means novel to his period.

—See what a trip abroad will do for one, says the Brockton Enterprise. A lady has come back from Antwerp with a bright scheme to demoralize the cost of living by substituting dog meat for beef. It would have been impossible for her to pick up such an idea here at home.

PREPARING FOR COLD WEATHER

Thieves Took Three Overcoats From Loberg House

USED FALSE KEYS

Although the weather today is not very suggestive of heavy overcoats, some thief evidently having in mind that cold weather is bound to come sooner or later, and being possessed with the idea to be forewarned is to be forearmed entered the house of Ludwig P. Loberg at 21 Grant street about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, during the temporary absence of the family and helped him, or themselves to three winter overcoats and an umbrella. The umbrella was probably taken with the idea that it might rain on some of the cold days during the coming winter.

Entrance was made by the use of false keys. The family were away during the early evening, returning home in the vicinity of 9 o'clock when appearances gave evidence of a visit of an uninvited guest. The theft however was not reported to the police until this morning.

LYCEUM COURSE OF RARE MERIT

Interest Manifested by Liberal Patronage

The certainty of the success of the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum course is assured because during the past three weeks, men and women from all parts of the city have subscribed and Dec. 9, the opening night will probably see as representative a gathering as ever appeared in Music Hall.

The course consists of concert work by well known quartettes and choirs, a recital by a well known instrumental company, a lecture and the personal experiences of a well known philanthropist.

The Temple Singers will appear Dec. 9th and Miss Bertha Cushing Child who is well known in this city because of her numerous appearances in contralto parts will be the soloist. In connection with the singers the famous choir of Henry Gideons will interpret the story of "Workshop Music and Opera and the Work-a-Day World." It is said by prominent critics and reviewers that "they are an open door to an unexplored region."

Victors Venetian Band, with Signor Calefty and Miss Evangeline Hietz are billed for Jan. 13th and Miss Maud Ballington Booth, the daughter of the late General Booth of Salvation Army fame will deliver a lecture on her experiences on Jan. 27.

Miss Booth's subject will be "The Little Mother of the Prison" and the decided human interest connected with the recital are well worth the attention of all.

A most comprehensive discourse entitled "On the Trail of the Emigrant" will be given, Feb. 17, by Dr. E. A. Steiner. He has devoted several years of his life to the assistance of the foreigner after his arrival at Ellis Island and other entre ports.

Miss Hietz will again appear as a prima donna in Parkers Boston Imperial male quartette on March 10. Their selections will cover a wide range with a touch of the present day musical atmosphere. The company consists of a quartette, quintette, instrumentalists and a harpist.

BRIEFS

MILTON MAN SHOT HIMSELF

Ill Health Drove Him From the Law to Ranch Life

NO CAUSE GIVEN FOR ACT

Whitcomb Field of Milton is reported to have ended his life by shooting himself, at Rossburg, Ore. No cause for the act was offered or discovered. The young man is 30 years old, a graduate of the Harvard Law School and was formerly connected with several Boston law offices.

Whitcomb Field was the son of the late James Baldwin and Sarah (Callendar) Field of Boston, and since the death of his parents made his home for most of the time with his half-brother, Parker B. Field of Milton.

He was graduated from Harvard College in 1905 and from the Harvard Law School in 1908. In college he was prominent in class athletics and in his graduating year was managing editor of the Harvard Crimson and ivy orator. He was a member of the Institute of 1770, the D. K. E., the Signet, the Amphadon, the Kalumet Club, the Zeta Psi and the Hasty Pudding Club.

After leaving law school he entered the office of Brandeis, Dunbar & Nutter and was later in the office of Fish, Richardson, Herrick & Neave, but ill-health compelled him to give up the work from time to time, and finally a year ago to abandon the law and go to an Oregon ranch.

In the opinion of his brother's family, his suicide was due to melancholia. While a college student, they say he went on an anthropological expedition to the Southwest and contracted a very severe attack of typhoid fever, from which he barely recovered. The permanent result of this illness was recurrent melancholia, which attacked him every Fall. He is survived by a brother, Henry C. Field of Seattle, Wash., and two half-brothers, Parker B. Field of Milton and E. Russell Field of St. Louis.

GOOD GAME ON SATURDAY

The Fitton A. C. of Roxbury will play the Quincy A. A. at Merrymount Park, Saturday afternoon and a strong game of football is expected. The visitors met the Cunningham gym team at Milton Saturday and played a scoreless game. Manager Flynn has the assurance that the Fitton team will positively appear and not duplicate the poor sportsmanship of the Ft. Banks eleven on Saturday.

—Dickens' famous chancery case of "Jarndyce vs Jarndyce" in the "Bleak House" promises to be outdone by the Russell will case now pending in the courts. If the newspapers were to receive half their regular advertising rates for the space they devote to the doings of "Dakota Dan" and "Fresno Dan," the rival claimants, there would be nothing left of the estates when the identity of the rightful heir is finally established.—Milford Gazette.

BEST DEMOCRAT FOR SULLIVAN

His Choice in Every Case For the Senatorship

Representative-elect Michael T. Sullivan, in answer to a canvass on the senatorial situation being conducted by a Boston newspaper said that the best available Democrat was his first, second and third choice, and that possession of qualities of a substantial nature would be necessary to secure his support. He has been flooded with campaign literature, favoring candidates seeking the senatorship.

NAMED AFTER THE GOVERNOR

Eugene Noble Foss Makes a Trio in O'Connell Family

Eugene Noble Foss O'Connell, so named because of his father, William F. O'Connell's admiration for the governor, has just rounded out his first month of life and is doing well.

In a letter to Governor Foss, Mr. O'Connell related how the child had been named for the first man in the state and cherishes a kindly worded letter from the "Old Boy" in acknowlegement of the compliment. The youthful Democrat was born on Oct. 7 and is one of three children.

His parents Mr. and Mrs. William F. O'Connell live at 85 Babcock street, Houghs Neck, where they are permanent residents.

ONLY TWO BIDS FOR $20,000

Premiums in Both Cases Considered Rather Small

Bids were opened by the City Treasurer this noon for a loan of $20,061.46 to pay Quincy's share of the cost of the repairs and widening of the draw of the Fore River bridge. But two bids were received and in both of these the premium was small. Esterbrook & Co. offered 100.08 and R. L. Day & Co., offered 100.079. The bid will probably be awarded to Esterbrook & Co.

NEWMAN TRAVEL TALKS.

In his second travel talk, "Rural France," at Symphony Hall, Boston, this week, Friday evening, E. M. Newman will conduct his audience through two quaint old provinces, Normandy and Brittany, where both architecture and people are of a picturesque type. Mr. Newman's color views and motion pictures will vividly reproduce places of historical interest in Normandy which at every step reminds one of the Conquest. Notable among the motion pictures is a storm at sea, showing the terrible effect of the severe winds off the coast of Brittany. The lecture will be repeated Saturday afternoon. Other lectures to follow will be on Switzerland, Germany and Iceland.

CHURCH SOCIAL.

An interesting and well attended church social was held in the vestries of the Wollaston Congregational church Wednesday evening. A generous and very satisfying supper was served to about 125 people, followed by an entertainment arranged by Mrs. Wyman Streeter and consisting of vocal colos by Mrs. H. Y. Follett piano solos by Miss Follett, and readings by Mrs. Alfred P. Thompson.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. E. R. Johnson, chairman, and Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Hogue, Mrs. Seavey, Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Blake, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Godfrey, Mrs. Leavitt and Miss Sara Wiley.

Hard Luck.

Mrs. Hatterson—What! You've had fourteen cooks in three months? Mrs Catterson—Yes, and I didn't please any of them.—Life.

Never yet was the voice of conscience silenced without retribution.—Jameson.

CLOSE BOUND BY BONDS OF IRON

Were the Early History of Braintree and Lynn

INTERESTING REVIEW

The following is an abstract of an article in the Lynn Item, relative to the "Relationship to settlement of towns in this and other states."

Through Lynn had little or nothing to do with the settlement of Braintree both towns during their earliest plantation years were very closely related industrially.

The ancient iron works at Saugus, was a bond of union between the two townships for a number of years, they having been established by the same company that shortly afterward set up the Braintree iron works, running both at the same time and under the same superintendency. Controversy exists in the history of the two places concerning the question of priority of the founding of the works, but though it is evident that the Lynn plant preceded that at Braintree but a short time, both had a common origin as to their business organization.

Braintree had been incoroprated a town three years, when in 1643 the first attempt was made there to establish a manufacturing industry—but for want of funds, the attempt was not completed for two or three years afterwards. Jan. 19, 1634, the town granted to John Winthrop, Jr., 3000 acres of land "for the encouragement of an iron work, to be set up about Monaticot river." When suitable arrangements were perfected, the persons before mentioned were organized as the company, "who established iron works at Lynn and Braintree." Shortly after, they received their charter from the court, granting them a monopoly and all the privileges they desired. "This," says Dr. Pattee, "like many other early enterprises in the colonies, struggled on with varied success until about 1653, when they became so embarrassed as to be obliged to give up the undertaking as utterly bankrupt." Further remarks:

"It is useless for us to go over the extensive field of controversy in reference to whether Lynn or Braintree erected the first iron forge in America. It is of little moment to us whether Lynn or Braintree began the works one or six months previous to the other, as the company was one and the same, and probably the works were established as near together as the nature of the circumstances would admit. We are, however, of an opinion that the evidence preponderates to Lynn; still, it is an open question, and we think it will ever remain as such.

"The first branch forge and furnace for the manufacture of ironware in America (as it was one branch, the other having been built at Lynn by the same company,) was constructed in that part of Braintree which is now called Quincy, on what has ever been known as the Furnace Brook.

"The greater part of the capital and principal business was at Lynn, as at the time of the failure of the iron company, the appraisements of their estate at Lynn amounted to 3295 pounds, two shillings six pence, and at Braintree, 666 pounds, three shillings, three pence."

The second iron works at Braintree were erected between the years 1682 and 1684 by John Hubbard, merchant, who "made a contract with parties at Nahant to furnish him with iron ore at three shillings per ton."

Lewis mentions the names of a number of the men who were employed at both works—Lynn and Braintree, thus

Richard Leader was general agent: for the company, and superintendent both at Lynn and Braintree. Dr. Pattee speaks of him as having been "A skillful artisan and a shrewd business man, but a bluff and free-spoken person."

James and Henry Leonard were connected with the works in both towns as hammersmiths. Afterwards, they carried on the business at Taunton, Rowley and Canton, and then in New Jersey.

In process of time, it come to be said that wherever there were iron works a Leonard might be found.

The Braintree history does not mention the name of Joseph Jenks, though he also was from Hammersmith in England; but the Lynn history says that he was the "first founder who worked in brass and iron on the western continent."

In 1651 John Gifford "who probably came from the Braintree works," appeared as agent of the Iron Works Company. In 1652, the dies for the coinage of silver at the Boston mint were made at Lynn by Joseph Jenks.

Successively, the property at Lynn passed into the hands of Major Thomas Savage and Samuel Appleton, who in 1688 sold the whole to James Taylor of Boston, who was the last proprietor.

The works at Braintree were finally sold by Nathaniel Hubbard son of John Hubbard to Thomas Vinton, the last proprietor, and the iron works dam there was destroyed in 1736.

"It is very evident," says a Braintree historian, "that this attempt to establish iron works in the Massachusetts colony never paid, for the reason that it was too great an undertaking for the times."

TURKEY SUPPER WELL ATTENDED

Goodly Number Enjoy Eats and Entertainment at U. P. Church

A large number of the parishioners of the United Presbyterian church attended the turkey supper held in the vestry Wednesday evening. Following the repast there was a musical program which ended by all singing "America."

All the parts were well taken and received encores. Mrs. Grant and Henry Patterson carried off the honors in a duet selection, entitled "Crookit Baw bee." Mrs. D. McKellar, organish of the church was the accompanist

The program was as follows:

Chorus—By the Choir.
Solo—"True Till Death," Henry Patterson
"Island of Dreams" and Scottish Blue Bells," Mrs. Grant.
Solo—"Three for Jack" Mrs. Grant
Duet—"Crookit Baw bee," Mrs. Grant and Henry Patterson
"Out on the Deep"—"Be kind to auld Granny," Henry Patterson

TIGERS BEATEN SCORE 19 TO 12

Kidder House of Milton Did Trick After Hard Contest

The Tiger A. C. of Atlantic were defeated by the Kidder House of Milton by the tune of 19 to 12, it was a fast and exciting game.

The lineup was as follows:

TIGER A. C.	KIDDER HOUSE
John Duffy re	Chandler le
A. R. Johnson rt	Cameron lt
H. Johnson lg	Dooley lg
T. O'Connell c	Wilson c
J. Duffey rg	Golden rg
H. Whalen lt	Daniels rt
P. Creedon le	Murphy re
Dicey qb	Sprague qb
Donnelly fb	Walters fb
Hyslop lh	Dennehey lh
L. Lindville rh	Siers rh

The features of the game were the end run by Duffy which resulted in a 40 yard gain and Donnelly and Hyslop made exciting plays by making each a touchdown. It was good and fast play all through the game. Dicey a fast man on his feet and he was complimented for rattling off his signals in fast style. Duffy made good attempts to stop punts by pushing his way through the Kidder House stone wall defense. Donnelly is an exceptionally fast man on his feet and is a hard man to tackle. Lindville is another fast man and he helped by making many good rushes. T. O'Connell is a very good centre and pays good attention to the signals.

WARD THREE IN FIRM PROTEST AGAINST ANY SLAUGHTER HOUSE

Led By Councilman C. A. Ross, They Objected to Granting Sochat a License

Petitioner Pointed Out Price Benefits As Inducement

Over thirty residents of Ward Three, including several ladies, residing in the vicinity of the location where it was proposed to locate a slaughter house appeared in protest at the public hearing held Thursday night by the Council Committee on Licenses. The opposition was conducted by Councilman C. A. Ross and several of those present spoke in that vein.

The petition for a license for the slaughter house is from Hayman Sochat and the location given was on Liberty street extension. Mr. Sochat said that the business would have to be done to meet the requirements of the Board of Health and that of the state inspector. He said that in Brighton there were many fine residences near the slaughter house and there was no complaint. The utmost care as to cleanliness would be used and everything would be perfectly clean, and that there would be nothing to show outside of the building what kind of business was going on. The refuge matter would go into the sewer and the meat into the cooler, and that the same condition would exist as in Brighton.

It would also be a good proposition for Quincy. The Hebrews used only the fore quarters of lambs and he would be able to sell the hind quarters for two or three cents cheaper than they could be bought elsewhere. It was proposed to have a siding from the railroad and he could not see where there could be any objection. The cattle from Brighton would be driven over the road.

Alexander Falconer said that as a property owner in that vicinity he objected most strenuously. The place was not adopted for the business. There was no sewer there and one would have to be built. The water shed would be apt to throw bad matter into the ice ponds in the vicinity. He also objected to driving cattle over the thickly settled portions of the city. The plant would greatly depreciate property in that section.

James Moody lived within 500 feet of the proposed location and he did not want it there.

NEW RED FIRE FIGHTER OF QUINCY DEPARTMENT.

Rear row, Michael P. Barry, Daniel Radley, William B. Gerry.

With the addition of the new auto chemical to the Fire Department which is stationed at Atlantic that section as well as the Squantum section is much better protected. There is no department of any kind at Squantum although there is much valuable property in that section of the city. In addition to two chemical tanks the new piece of apparatus carries 500 feet of hose, and as the machine is geered to make 35 miles an hour it can be readily seen that it will not take many minutes for it to reach Squantum or the most remote point in the section to which it responds.

The new piece of apparatus was made by the Kissel Co., and is up to date in every particular. As has been previously stated Richard Williams the Chief's chauffeur is temporarily stationed at Atlantic as driver of the car, while Faxon Billings the regular driver is breaking in. Faxon is quick witted and it will not be many days before he will be able to handle the apparatus with as much skill as he handled the three horse hitch with which Combination No. 2 was provided.

CHARACTER BUILDING

It is All the Time Going on in Our Lives

SAYS REV. MR. BEAN

Sunday school night continued the observance of the fortieth anniversary of Methodist preaching in Wollaston at the Wollaston Methodist church, Thursday evening.

J. A. Sedgwick, superintendent of the Sunday school presided and F. A. Sutermeister led the praise service. Prayer was offered by W. C. Sanders a former superintendent.

A message from Alberquerque, New Mexico, was received from Samuel A. Kay another former superintendent, expressing his interest in the work and wishing the school continued prosperity.

An address on "Character building" was delivered by Rev. G. B. Dean, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of West Somerville.

He took his text from the seventh chapter of Matthew and said in part: "The greatest piece of literature in the world is the first chapter of the Bible. Not because it has thoughts like Shakespeare but because He who speaks in it brought order out of chaos, light out of darkness, earth out of nothing, man out of dust, God into man.

"The greatest thing in the world is God working. God's works are marvelous. Another great thing is man at work. It is a noble thing to see men engaged in a task worth while. The works of man are wonderful. The best works of man lie not in the great cathedrals, not in the tall pyramids, not in the massive structures of granite, but in the character of the man who builds.

"The great thing in time or eternity is to see a man or woman, boy or girl, being made. We are all building ourselves. The young man or woman ought to lay a foundation sufficiently strong to bear the burdens of life. The girl and boy build their own minds.

"We are not to fight with bullets much longer. The battles of the future will be fought in the room where prayer is made. We are to take the material at our hands and work out the problems of life. We are building our body, mind and brain.

"Character is just what you are now. Like a thermometer it goes up and down. Man builds his own character. Character is not what people think of you, not what they say about you, but what you really are this moment, God will hold us accountable for character. You are responsible for your own character.

"We are building all the time. Every moment we are making impressions upon character. The mind acts all night.

"The things you think of, the things that have made an indelible impression upon you—these are the things that go to build character.

THANKSGIVING.

The First Congregational Society will hold its Thanksgiving service in the Stone Temple on next Sunday morning, Nov. 24 at 10.30. The minister Rev. Adelbert Lathrop Hudson will preach on "The Brotherhood of Man." The Sunday school Harvest exercises will follow at 12.00 o'clock.

PATTERN STORE ROOM BURNED OTHER BUILDINGS THREATENED

Quincy Point Scene of a Spectacular Blaze With Loss of Probably $3000

Fore River Had Insurance of $2500 on Property

The alarm from Box 723 at 3.46 this morning was for a lively fire in a barn on Sargent's lane, Quincy Point used as a store house for patterns of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. The fire was discovered by William Solomons who runs a boarding house adjoining. He was awakened by the glare of the light in his room and looking out saw the building was a mass of flames. He immediately rushed to the box and pulled the alarm.

The apparatus was remarkably quick in arriving on the scene but as the blaze was all on the inside it became necessary to pull out a large quantity of the patterns in order to get at the fire.

The light dry material of which the patterns are made furnished excellent food for the flames and the inside of the building seemed like a roaring furnace and it was an hour or more before the recall sounded.

According to Mr. Solomons the building has been used by tramp workmen for some time as sleeping quarters and it is supposed that the fire was started by some of this fraternity who occupied the building Thursday night.

It was thought for a time that some of the occupants of the building must have been smothered or burned to death but Chief Litchfield and the firemen made a thorough search after the fire but could find nothing.

The intense heat scorched and set fire to the house of Mr. Solomns once or twice during its progress but this fire was quickly extinguished with little damage.

The building was owned by the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., and at the plant this morning it was said that the loss could not be determined until a thorough examination had been made. The property however was insured for $2,500.

It was also said that it was not patterns with which the building was stored but templates, such as are used to mark plates, etc.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Will Tack Hardwick be able to perform as well against Yale as against the other teams, is now the burning question in Quincy.

While every one is in a flurry, and the public sentiment is so strong for a relief in the coal situation, those who can change the situation are obviously unmindful of the great public demand for a change.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has a faculty of doing things first and then letting the public know about them afterwards. If that was followed out in all departments, very few guilty ones would escape.

Will the lot of the released witnesses in the New York police graft case enjoy a peaceful existence?

It is now almost a month since the allies were said to have practically annihilated Turkey, yet the Turk has managed to wiggle along somehow since that time intact.

There may not be so much fake about those murder cards as appears on the surface.

A New York candidate filed his expense account with the endorsement for "renewing old acquaintances." As it was only a small amount, he did not have such an extensive acquaintance as candidate Bird.

A London widow asks advice to help restrain her two daughters from joining the militant suffragettes. A good case of the old fashioned slipper might prove helpful.

A Chicago child after being treated for three weeks for almost every disease under the sun, was found to be suffering from a rusty pin in the throat. Another time the X Ray was better than the doctor.

Bill Flynn having split the Republican party in Pennsylvania, asunder, has decided to quit the Bull Moose camp and have a Republican party of his own.

The latest fool thing to receive more than passing notice in the papers is the burial of a dog, in a casket with flowers, services and the like. And still people wonder at crime.

A western man has his horses fitted out with overalls. It keeps the flies from their legs and now the horses will not leave the stable unless fully dressed.

Carnegie could not pay his taxes in New York because he owed so much yet he hands over another $2,000,000 to his foundation. It is about time that this tax dodging nonsense was stopped and the dodgers compelled to pay their share of the burdens.

The suffragettes want to march in the inaugural parade. They would look better in a kitchen preparing a warm feed for the other marchers, to reduce the expenses of attending an inauguration.

That Maine man who has used his thrasher for 61 years has a rare bird in that kind of a machine.

Will Hoppe remains the wizard of the cue, but the showing that Jap made leads one to believe that he is some comer.

What Russia has been looking on with greedy eyes for centuries, the Balkan allies carried inside of two months. So much for diplomacy, war and opportunity.

NO CREDIT TO HUMANITY.

The notable contest waging in Eastern Europe at the present time, with all its attendant horrors, added to which have been that of the dreaded disease cholera, is a blot upon our present day civilization and a tremendous arraignment of the money-power of the world. The primary cause of this contest of little consequence when compared with the barbarous conditions which have developed from the conflict. It may be true that the Balkan states, crushed and bleeding from the cruelties of the Turk, arose at an opportune time to have those cruelties redressed and at the same time hurl a blow of savage retaliation at their ancient enemy.

All this could have been averted were it not for the greed and selfishness which control world wide affairs today. In the first place the powers could have long ago intervened and compelled Turkey to be less severe in her dealings with those states over which she had control. But no, the commercialism, the grabbing for the almighty dollar has been uppermost. It stands out stronger than any desire to alleviate personal suffering. And so this condition is Eastern Europe continued until the present outbreak. The Turk secure in his century continued ability to fool Europe depended on intervention of hostilities and a continuance of the power and cruelty he has so long practised. For once he was mistaken or else the Young Turk, lacked that power which had marked Addul Hamid's reign.

Hence the world is at present witnessing a spectacle, which if paralleled in ancient history would be claiming all the volcanic power of the present day press and magazines would be pouring the vials of their wrath out that such a thing could exist in civilized countries. But here in this enlightened age when we are supposed to be so far advanced, when there are so many missionaries, when foundations are an every day occurrence, when colleges are dotting the world, supported by the munificence of the wealthy, an appalling condition prevails, which cries to heaven for immediate adjustment, in a christian and humane manner.

It is time that those seekers after great wealth diverted some of their time, attention and money to preventing such blots upon the present history of the world. But they care little about humanity so that they can accumulate and secure vast sums with which they can endow colleges or foundations and have their names handed down to history as great philanthropists, regardless of the dodging of their just taxes.

Aside from this every day practice, it is about time that the world set aside some of its commercialism and united in checking this most brutal exhibition in the east regardless of whether Austria, Bulgaria or any of the other powers, get a door, a window or even a look in upon the Adriatic sea.

THE PUBLIC DOCK.

No public spirited citizen, no one with the interests of Quincy at heart, eager for her advancement or anything that would tend towards the greater commercial prosperity of the community or a part of the community would for a moment offer a cold douche of disapproval to any enterprise which would bring about beneficent results. Those facts are well established, but there might be an unbounded enthusiasm in some directions which would lead to exploiting, which later and calmer consideration and the failure of expectant results, would leave a cause for regret to all who were connected with such an affair.

Besides the regret there would be pecuniary losses which would be more tangible in their appearance. The public dock question, it would seem is one that requires the most careful consideration and more haste would be made slowly than by dashing into an enterprise which must of necessity prove costly and with any great evidence of adequate returns in sight up to the present time.

The matter is to be considered by a joint committee of citizens and members of the City council. That those gentlemen will exercise care and discretion and view the subject from every angle, and delve deep for light and information must be accepted at the very start. That little can be accomplished the present year is well understood.

If the quarries were all lined up along the water front, and a short strip of railway would enable a rapid transportation to the vessels at the docks of the granite there would be a reason for a wharf or pier of some kind to meet this demand, but this would not require an expensive pier by any means. The vessels which transport granite are not of such heavy draft that they would require docks such as are used in the big ports to meet foreign and domestic traffic. The optimistic hope that Quincy will be utilized as a part of the port of Boston is too far removed at the present time to permit of any wild flights in dock building. Even if this were so, the docks which would be erected at this time would not meet the requirements of 25 years hence, if this became an actual accomplishment. Then again much of the water front is skirted by the boulevard and it seems that if large docks were the possibilities of the future development of the city that they would be somewhere in close proximity to Boston bay.

There is much to be sifted out in this proposition before the city should be actually committed to its construction. To lease land with the improvements reverting to the original owner in a few years, in case of the failure of the scheme would be a wilful waste of the people's money. To purchase outright would require a large sum in addition to the amount required for the pier.

Then the financial condition of the city at this time must be taken into consideration. No one can shut their eyes to the fact, that it is a serious problem. The offering of a loan by the city in the public market was only met by two bidders and the premium offered was very low. All those things must be carefully weighed before any step, which may be regretted in the future is taken. Then what is the necessity of an expensive pier for the mere handling of the granite if this is the only use that it planned to put the structure.

An average type of pier it seems would be ample to meet all the demands of the coastwise granite vessels. Then again the Railroad company has held out special inducements to the granite manufacturers. A new terminal shed is to be constructed and no doubt, other requests will be complied with which will make the burden of railroad transportation easier and lighter.

While not desiring to stand in the way of improvement or progress in any enterprise which spells advancement for Quincy, in this particular case it would only be wise to heed the suggestion, which experience has taught to be reasonable and that is in this matter, the best course would be to move slowly. Nothing can be lost by thorough examination and knowledge of the situation, but much loss could be engendered by too hasty and careless inattention to detail.

THE ECONOMY COMMISSION

Announces That its Work Will Be Non-Partisan

WITH HUMANITARIAN SIDE

The new State Commission on Economy and Efficiency, popularly called the State Finance Commission, has temporary headquarters in room 445, State House, where its first meeting took place Thursday. After an informal discussion of the problems confronting the commission, a statement was issued. It follows in part:

"The commission at this time is not ready to discuss the advisability, or even the possibility, of consolidations of any boards, commissions, etc; neither is the commission in any position at present to discuss improved methods of efficiency or any change in our great State undertaking. We must necessarily work most slowly and carefully; and in the meantime the regular appropriations for our institutions must be provided to meet every legitimate need to carry on their work.

"We believe that the humanitarian side of our work will be of great public importance and of public interest. We sincerely hope that the commission will be of constant service in matters of public welfare and public health, and will be able gradually to create a confidence in our institutions and our boards and commissions, which will be of lasting benefit to the business man, the merchant, doctor, and men in all walks of life.

"The commission will sincerely deplore any attempt to show that its labors will be of any partisan nature or that its work will be of the spectacular kind. It is the one desire of every member of the commission to work solely for the best interests of the entire Commonwealth."

SINGLE TAX BY JOHNSON

Professor Declared it Cure for All Evils

LECTURE AT NORFOLK DOWNS

Professor Lewis A. Johnson of Cambridge spoke on the "Single Tax Plan" before a largely attended meeting of the Norfolk Downs Improvement association in Poland hall, Thursday evening, President Dunmore presided.

This plan advocated by Henry George and other deep thinkers, Professor Johnson declared to be a cure all for many existing evils.

This tax levied on land alone would work a hardship on none and would benefit a multitude. Value of land is determined by the improvements put forth by mankind. The single tax would not injure the farmer as so many suppose as the most valuable land is that upon the largest number of persons is employed per acre. This tax on land would prevent hiding of personal property from the assessors eyes. Even the most skillful tax dodger could not roll up a piece of land under his hat and go and live in Dover.

At present you cannot make improvements without being penalized. If a man takes $25, goes on a spree and is arrested he is fined once. If he takes this same amount and builds a hen house he is fined every year. From the present system one would suppose getting drunk was more desirable than building hen houses.

The speaker told of the single tax movement across the water. It is fast coming to the front in England today. The real thing that put the House of Lords on the shelf was their refusing to accept the budget which began reforms in this direction.

Professor Johnson showed his audience posters, cartoons and other matter that is being used in England to wage the single tax campaign.

By means of a blackboard the speaker brought clearly to the minds of those present some of the distinct advantages that would come with the single tax.

Everett, Washington had this year established the single tax which is in force in some parts of British Columbia. In five or ten years, the single tax would be in force all over the country and the man who proposed to tax your house would have to do it in your absence.

A business meeting at which C. J. Axberg presided, followed the address. Plans were made for increasing the membership of the association and reports were received from a committee appointed with this in view.

MAKE THE MOST OF LIFE.

Let's learn to make the most of life,
Lose not one single day;
But girdle on the shield of strife,
While here on earth we stay.
Come, list to me the while I sing—
This earth was made for man—
Thus make the glorious welkin ring
While life's due course is ran.

The summer winds will ne'er return,
Those passed and gone for aye;
So do not pause to fret and mourn,
But welcome each and every day,
Do love thy God and fellow-man—
That is the word that's given—
And you will reach a ripe reward
When ushered into heaven.

Work on with cheerfulness and glee
Through morning, noon and night
And you will never fail to see
The sunshine, pure and bright.
Leave not one tender word untold,
But kindness sow broadcast,
That he who died to save us all
May take us home at last.

Mourn not for wasted hours of time
That have swiftly drifted by;
Be resolute, and sing this rhyme
When for happines you sigh,
The good we might have done
Is gone, forever past:
And if we half the battle won
Content should we be at last.

The flight of life will soon be o'er.
The earth will pass from view,
And heaven in all its glory shine,
Where all will be pure and true.
Now, dearest friends, those whom I love,
In pain, in joy, or worldly strife;
May we meet again in the world above
For having made the most of life.

NEWS ITEMS FROM MILTON

A dancing party in aid of the football team was held at the gym on Wednesday evening and was a social success. There was a good attendance. The committee in charge was Joseph Rein and Stanley Hearn.

The Sophomore class will give a reception to the Freshman class of the high school at the Milton Town hall on the afternoon of December 6.

Robert Corkery of the J. J. Hammers Pharmacy attended the Rexall Clerks convention at Boston on Wednesday.

A regular meeting of the Thursday Evening Club was held at the rooms Nov. 21. New business was considered, particularly a change in the constitution.

A Thanksgiving communion service will take place on that morning at the Church Of Our Savior, East Milton. Services will commence at eight o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. Ernest Marriet, rector of the church. Special music will be given by an augmented choir and there will be an appropriate sermon.

A general interest is manifested in the annual Cunningham gym and Quincy A. A. game which will be played at Quincy Thanksgiving afternoon. Last, year the game was played at Milton and was one of the snappiest exhibitions ever witnessed. Both teams are preparing for the fracas and the men are in the pink of condition.

On Saturday afternoon the boys from the battleship New Jersey will play the Cunningham gym football team on the East Milton field. The jackies have cleared ship for action and there will be more than one man go overboard.

Mechanics Art High school and the Milton high school team will play on the East Milton field Saturday afternoon. The game will be called at two o'clock. A red hot contest is expected.

Miss Myrtle Loud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Loud of Willard and Pierce street and George Collier, both of East Milton, will be married on Thanksgiving evening at the home of the brides parents. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Mr. Woodsum of the First Baptist church.

The Thursday Evening Club will hold a dance in Ellsworth Hall, Nov. 27 and Thanksgiving features will be introduced. Music will be by Morisettes orchestra.

John Palisi of West Quincy is making preparations to develop the property he recently purchased in East Milton square. He will erect a large block with two stores and four apartments.

John Harriman has moved his barber shop to an adjoining building.

The petition for a special town meeting to take action on a measure relative to the pensioning of laborers will be presented to the board of selectmen this week. It has had many signers.

Cleopatra's Pearl.

Most persons know the story that is told of Cleopatra to illustrate her luxurious habits of living—that she dissolved in her wine a precious pearl. No one seems yet to have questioned what must have been the effect upon the drink, but scientists scoff at the possibility of such solution. The fact is pearls are not soluble in wine. The most powerful vinegar affects them slowly and never entirely dissolves them, for the organic matter remains behind in the shape of a spongy mass that is larger than the original pearl.—New York Press.

Gave Himself Away.

A man who is steadily employed finally had a day off and decided to go fishing, taking his luncheon with him. When he reached the creek he discovered that he had dropped the lunch packet somewhere on the road and hastened back to look for it. Presently he met a husky negro, who was looking happy and picking his teeth.

"Did you find anything on the road as you came along?" asked the gentleman.

"No, sah," answered the negro. "I didn't find nothing. Couldn't a dog have found it and eat it up?"—Everybody's.

The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

AMUSEMENTS

DOINGS ON THE STAGE IN BOSTON AND VICINITY

MAJESTIC THEATRE.

That a man can find plausible excuses for the gratification of his desires, which he would heartily condemn in a woman, is one of the many truths dramatically exemplified in "The Master of the House," a new American comedy-drama which the Messrs. Shubert are to present at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next week. "The Master of the House" was produced at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre, New York, on August 15. Its success was immediate. In order to take care of the many who sought admission it was found necessary to secure a larger theatre. The play was transferred to the Lyric, where it continued to do a record-breaking business for one hundred nights.

FLORENCE REED AND MALCOLM WILLIAMS IN "THE MASTER OF THE HOUSE."

Majestic Theatre, Two Weeks, Commencing Monday, Nov. 25.

"The Master of the House" is a play that appeals primarily to women because it pictures so truthfully how men frequently try to justify their fickleness; but it must also interest deeply a man of high ideals, as it demonstrates the wisdom of pursuing those ideals. There is pictured a man who has been so busy amassing a fortune that his home and his wife have been but incidents at his command. When the fortune is acquired and the man has time to glance about him, at the psychological moment there falls under his gaze his wife's companion, a personage as complex as she is bewitching. An old story, one would say from a casual glance, but the author, Edgar James, has given the story new turns, new phases and has worked out his ideas and lessons so interestingly that there is never a moment free from its surprise.

The usal Wednesday and Saturday matnees and a special Thanksgiving day matinee will be given. The engagement is positively for two weeks only.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"Othello" will be the first Shakspearean production of the season at the Castle Square. It will be given next Monday, and will be continued at every performance throughout the week. It will be remembered that "Othello" was given at the Castle Square two seasons ago, and that Mr. Craig made a notable success in the title character, and this revival of it with elaborate scenery is bound to be no less popular. With the strong company at the Castle Square the play will be cast exceptionally well. Mr. Craig will play Othello as heretofore, and in Mr. Melrose he has an actor fully capable of giving a remarkable portrayal of the character of the villain Iago. Desdemona will be acted by Miss Young, with Mr. Meek as Cassio and all the other roles carefully allotted among the members of the company.

BOSTON THEATRE.

Clifton Crawford, he of the merry ways and light feet, will begin the last week of his engagement at the Boston Theatre Monday in "My Best Girl," written by Channing Polock and Rennold Wolf, while the lilting lays with which it is embroidered were composed by Mr. Crawford himself and Augustus Barratt. There will be a special matinee Thanksgiving day in addition to the regular matinees Wednesday and Saturday. We all remember Mr. Crawford not only for his performance in "Three Twins" but in vaudeville and other entertainments, and it is enough to know that in "My Best Girl" there is humor of the sort he is best at and music which he can sing attractively and tunes to which he can dance gracefully. But the play is not for Mr. Crawford alone, by any means, for the Henry B. Harris management, under which he appears, has gathered about him a company of artists who have proven themselves first class entertainers and it is said that each and every one of them has that to do which displays their talents to the utmost. There is a chorus which can sing and dance aside from the fact that it has the good looks now necessary in such adjuncts. What the story of "My Best Girl" is about may be told briefly. It begins in an automobile salesroom where the young hero has landed after a night when he started to catch a steamer to Europe. Here he meets the girl and through complications he is forced into the United States army where he has numerous serious and amusing experiences, but at last complications are straightened out and the young hero wins the one whom he has come to know as "My Best Girl."

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

What in many respects should prove the most notable event of the season at B. F. Keith's Theatre is announced for next week, in the appearance of Ada Reeve. Miss Reeve, who is known on the other side of the water as "London's Pet Commedienne," is this season making her first American tour under Mr. Keith's management. She is recognized as the cleverest singing commedienne on English music hall stage today, and it is safe to say that Boston has never seen anything just like her. Everywhere this talented artiste has appeared, she has proved a genuine sensation. New York and Philadelphia fairly went wild over her, and no doubt Boston, where audiences appreciate true artistry perhaps more than in any other city in America, will be the next city to fall a captive to Miss Reeve. Miss Reeve will appear in a repertoire of serio-comic character songs, all written especially for her, and all new to American audiences. The bill surrounding this brilliant European star is as yet rather incomplete, but the acts so far engaged signify that it will be one of the strongest of the season. "Chuck" Riesner and Henrietta Gore have a novel specialty entitled, "It's All in A Show," including bits of mimicry, comedy, songs, dances and funmaking. Phina and her troupe of Pickannines will introduce a singing and dancing act different from anything previously seen here, and Lydia and Albion are European cortortionists with a spectacular electrical production.

FOR REFERENCE COAL SHORTAGE

The Same Old Dream Hashed Up Day by Day

NO CAUSE FOR FAMINE

Day by day, from one side comes the story that there is a coal shortage. The next the coal barons say there is no shortage. Another day the workmen's holidays are the cause. And again the shortage of cars. By the time the backing and filling of those in power is over, the winter will be over and the annual game of humbug will be forgotten until next fall. Under the caption "The Coal Shortage," the New York Tribune of Nov. 14, has the following editorial, marked "For Reference," with the warning underscored. It would be well if this was preserved for reference.

Coal is being mined in about the usual quanity. There is a slight shortage of cars for the shipment of it to market, but still a good supply is constantly arriving. The favorable weather is keeping consumption down. The "shortage," therefore, of which so much is heard, is not in the supply to meet the current needs. There is a shortage in the accumulated stock, not in the production of coal. This is a very different situation from that during the great coal strike of a few years ago, when production had ceased and there was a real famine. There will be no famine this time, if the public is content to buy coal in moderate quantities as it is required. If everybody attempts to lay in a winter's supply now there won't be enough to go around and a real scarcity will be felt.

Ordinarily the public does not have to depend to the extent that it has to this year on the current production of the mines for its supply of coal. There is usually a reserve stock on hand. When the consumers lay in a winter's supply all at once they merely divide up into little heaps in their cellars the big heaps that exist at the mines and the various places for the storage of coal. That big reserve stock doesn't exist this year, and the public ought not to insist upon a reserve stock in its individual cellars, but be satisfied to obtain its coal as the supply is produced, in quantities sufficient to satisfy current needs. If every one would put in coal only as he needed it no one would suffer from the shortage and there would be no "famine" and no "famine" prices. And every one might feel sure that when his small stock ran out it would be possible to replenish it. Coal is being constantly mined and brought to the city. There is no danger of serious labor disturbance to curtail production. That is guarded against by the agreement between miners and operators which was reached at the end of last spring's strike. Such shortage of cars as exists resutls from the imperfect machinery for getting car back to the lines which own them when in the transporting of freight they have passed over to other railroad lines. This subject is receiving the attention of the railroads and of the public regulative authorities and it is likely that there will be an improvement.

The situation calls for the exercise of common sense and self-restraint. If the public will recognize that conditions this year are different from what they usually are and adjust its practices to the difference no one will suffer serious inconvenience. There is nothing to be alarmed about.

AMATEURS IN THEATRICALS

Make Good in Presentation of Captain Racket

BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus successfully presented "Captain Racket" at Music hall, Thursday evening. An original sketch called the "Widow's Strategy" was also presented by Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis and Erastus Osgood. A concert was given by Cuffe's orchestra between the acts.

John A. Duggan, who has appeared in all of the musical productions given by the council made a decided hit by his easy interpretation of Capt. Robert Racket, and carried his situations extremely well.

Miss Ethel Blair as "Clarice" made a most charming wife and was up to "anything awful." In the second act she carried out the dark dyed scheme of acting intoxicated as a punishment to her husband and brought down the house.

Miss Anna Walsh as Mrs. Tolman, found her husband Timothy, which part was taken by John J. Shay, a most vexatious spirit and as a lady with a temper, she displayed fine judgment and made it rather a hard life for her "Tim." In moments of repentance she hugged "Tim" and obtained his forgiveness.

Miss Mary McConarty as "Katy," a mischievous maid kept the house roaring with laughter, particularly when she grabbed "Tim's" coat tail after a flying leap. She, sang about her trials in securing a man because she was not tall and received three encores.

"Obadiah Dawson," an uncle of Robert, was John A. McGowan and he made a delightful old sinner by telling yarns and complicating situations.

Michael T. Walsh as Mr. Tolman's father and James Grant as the waiter from the cafe who let the cat out of the bag did well in their parts.

Act 1 covers the sudden appearance of Obadiah, and the captain's troubles commence. In the second act complications arise and the adjustment of difficulties occurs in the last act.

Erastus Osgood coached the players and the furnishings were loaned by Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

The cast:

Capt. Robert Racket—A lawyer with nothing to do, and a liar — John A. Duggan
Obadiah Dawson—His uncle — John A. McGowan
Timothy Tolman—Sorry friend, married for money, — John J. Shay
Mr. Dalroy—His jolly father-in-law, — Michael T. Walsh
Hobson—A waiter, who confuses — James Grant
Clarice—The Captain's wife, out for a lark — Ethel Blair
Mrs. Tolman—A lady whose Timothy is vexatious — Anna Walsh
Katy—A mischievous maid — Mary McConarty

In the "Widow's Trategy," Mrs. Davis and Mr. Osgood acted in their usual pleasing manner and although Hiram "Square" Apgar was keen at a bargain he found the "Widder" Bartlett a trifle keener. Both are well known in theatrical circles and have coached a number of Quincy shows.

CHINA SHOWER NONE BROKEN

Miss Murray Surprised and Ribbon Bound by Friends

Nearly 120 yards of ribbon of all colors were wound around Miss Bella H. Murray, Thursday evening as she stepped into the presence of 15 friends who gathered at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murray of 226 Liberty street.

She was escorted to a large basket and after extricating her arms was tendered a china shower. Miss Murray was greatly surprised and managed to thank her many friends.

Miss Murray is a teacher at the Coddington school and is to be married to Percy Bates of East Milton in the near future.

An entertainment was provided by Miss Margaret Gill, Miss Anna Gill and Walter H. Murray. Miss Murray and Miss Jennie Grassick received loud applause for a highland fling and sword dance.

Mrs. Murray served refreshments and the committee was Miss Florence Williams and Miss Belle Stronach.

WALKER SPRINGS NICE SURPRISE

On G. O. P. Leaders on Senatorial Situation

URGES MAN OF PEOPLE

Attacking the movement to secure the pledges of Republican members-elect of the Legislature as a "fatal blow to the Republican party in Massachusetts," Joseph Walker, the defeated Republican candidate for Governor issued a statement last night asking for delay in the selection of a senator in order to give public sentiment a chance to develop and express itself.

The "old guard" leaders are blamed by him for killing the bill before the last session of the Legislature providing for the direct nomination of senators and a senatorial preference primary. Mr. Walker advocated the passage of that bill last spring and made his position taken at that time the basis of his support of the Progressive movement to get Gov. Foss to call a special session of the Legislature to pass a senatorial primary bill.

The only possible object of forcing the choice of a senator now, Mr. Walker says, is to forestall and defeat public sentiment which may later develop. It would be a fatal mistake, he says, to send to the Senate a man who distinctly stands for the old order of things. He wants a man to represent the people and not the interests.

The Walker statement was a surprise to the Republicans who heard of it last night. The sentiment was the same as in previous expressions from him, but it had not been expected that he would take a hand in the senatorial contest.

The statement, in part, is as follows:

"The interests of the party at this time are greater than the interests of any candidates. Every thoughtful Republican realizes that, if the party is to live, there must be reorganization and a new leadership. There is now much talk of such reorganization under the lead of such men as Hadley and Cummins. A senator should be sent from Massachusetts at this time who would cordially co-operate in this movement. In my judgment it would be a fatal mistake to send to the Senate a man who distinctly stands for the old order of things. What we need in Massachusetts as well as in Washington is not the old but a new leadership. We need a man who does not represent the "interests," but a man who represents the people.

"An effort to insure the election of a representative of the old guard was begun last year, when the bill for the direct nomination of senators and for the senatorial preference primary was killed through the influence of the old guard leaders. This arbitrary action was taken in spite of the fact that we had already established a direct nomination system for all other elective officers in Massachusetts, had ratified the constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of United States senators, and even had passed a law providing for a presidential preference primary.

"On this one matter of the senatorship, which carries with it leadership in the party, it was determined that the rank and file of the party should not have an opportunity to express themselves. The men who are responsible for this should not now be permitted to carry out their plans and dictate the choice of senator.

"I wish it were practicable even now to have direct nominations and a senatorial preference primary. We must have both if we have either. If this is impracticable then, at least, let the question of a caucus and the selection of a senator wait awhile and give public sentiment a chance to develop and express itself."

WARD THREE PROTEST

that while he did not live near enough to be injured he protested because it would be a detriment to property in that section. Here was a section with much desirable property which was bound to be developed but not if there was a business of this kind located there. A freight terminal was about to be built near the location and soon there would be a passenger station. He appeared in the interest of those who lived in the locality.

R. S. Williams had a plant on Totman street near the proposed location and he objected. It would be a bad thing to have cattle driven over the streets as some of the lots were not fenced in and then there were times when there were many children on the street. He also spoke of the danger of contamination of the ice ponds as there was bound to be some waste matter.

Mrs. Moody said that the land was low in the vicinity and that it would drain into the ice pond. Then there would be more or less noise. It would be easier to stop it now than later.

John Q. A. Field spoke at length in opposition. He told how business was conducted at the many slaughter houses he had visited. There was always a smell about these places that could not be prevented. He also spoke about the class of cattle that would be killed and that the city would have to pay the inspector. The sewer in that neighborhood was not large enough and the city would be put to the expense of building a larger one. His travels had shown him that it was impossible to have a slaughter house that does not have an odor. It was impossible to get rid of it. He had an ice pond near the locality and then there was the pond of Mr. Patch both of which would be injured by the flow of the water shed. He had 30 acres the other side of the railroad which he would be glad to sell.

Councilman Craig opposed. He did not want a slaughter house in Ward Three. It had always been that anything no other ward wanted was sent to Ward Three. The residents of Ward Three did not want a lot of cattle being driven through the streets. "We also want it peaceful and quiet at night." The property near the slaughter house would depreciate in value. Then a larger sewer would be needed and the city can not afford to build one.

Charles Miller and William Cummings also opposed having the business located in South Quincy.

At the request of the chairman that all opposed rise practically all stood up. The hearing was then closed and the matter taken under advisement by the committee.

The committee then gave a hearing on the petition of Constant Hill for a bowling alley and pool table license on Garfield street. Several were present to enter their protest. They claimed that the noise would be something terrific and that they would be unable to sleep.

This matter was also taken under advisement.

BLOW TO THE DEFENSE

Motion to Strike Out Reference to Money Denied In Gibson Trial

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The prosecution in the murder trial of Attorney Burton W. Gibson, accused of the murder of Mrs. Rosa Szabo, has rested.

Motions of the defense to dismiss the indictment and to direct the jury to acquit were denied by Justice Tompkins. The court also denied a motion to strike from the record all mention of the money Mrs. Szabo had in various banks.

This was ad istinct blow to the defense, as the state contends this money furnished the motive for the alleged crime.

ADMITS HIS GUILT

Litchfield Is Released on $5000 Bail Pending His Sentence

Boston, Nov. 22.—Wilford J. Litchfield, the genealogical writer and man of independent means, who was arrested shortly after the mysterious death of Fred N. Whittier at the Hotel Navarre, on indictment charges of a serious nature, pleaded guilty in the superior criminal court to being an immoral person and committing immoral acts. Litchfield pleaded "not guilty" when originally arraigned.

Litchfield will be sentenced when Assistant District Attorney Laville is ready to call for disposition of the case.

At first the police suspected the death of Whittier to be another mysterious murder, as death was due to cyanide poisoning, but after investigation they came to the conclusion Whittier took the poison himself. He had visited Litchfield's rooms frequently.

Litchfield appeared in court fashionably dressed. He is on $5000 bail.

TURKEY DEFIES HER ENEMIES

Peace Terms Called "Impossible" and Are Rejected

THE FIGHTING IS RENEWED

France Warns Ottoman Government That Christians Must Be Protected —Turks May Think Cholera Within Their Lines May Keep Allies From Pressing Their Attack

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—The battle at the Tchatalja lines has been resumed.

Cannonading was opened with great violence and is plainly audible here.

London, Nov. 22.—Turkey has rejected the peace terms presented by the Balkan league and ordered a renewal of hostilities. Sofia, however, intimates that the proposals were not in the nature of an ultimatum, thus leaving open the way for further negotiations.

Grand Vizier Kiamil Pasha made this statement at Constantinople:

"I received communication through the Russian ambassador to Turkey of the terms which the Bulgarians suggest for an armistice as a preliminary to the discussion of the terms of peace.

"The terms are impossible, and unless they are radically altered the war will continue.

"The Bulgarians ask for the surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and the Tchatalja lines."

France, evidently believing Turkey's action may prove a forerunner of disorder within that empire, warns the Moslem government that she will hold it responsible for any violence against Christians and demands that it take precautionary measures.

In this action in rejecting the peace terms offered Turkey may simply be playing the game of diplomacy in the disingenious Oriental fashion, or she may have been advised by, say Austria, to really go on with the fighting.

While the Turkish army has succeeded in holding the Bulgarians in check at certain points of the Tchatalja line there is no indication that the fortifications could withstand the combined attacks of the armies of the allies, the major part of which are now released for an attack on Constantinople. It may be the Turks think that the cholera epidemic within their lines will keep their enemy from pressing an attack.

Vienna pretends to be very optimistic over the Balkan outlook. It announces its belief that Turkey will accept the peace conditions offered by the allies. Servia, it is "understood," has modified its attitude and agreed to an autonomous Albania. Emperor Francis Joseph went out of his way to praise the military feats of the Bulgarians.

At the same time Lieutenant Wagner, who worked as the headquarters tool of the Bulgarian war staff, has begun a press campaign against Servia in relation to Albania, charging the brutal massacre of men, women and children by their soldiery.

The opposing forces occupy practically the same positions as they did at the time the great battle along the Tchatalja lines for the defense of Constantinople.

The positions of both armies, it is considered, must rapidly become untenable in face of the ravages of cholera, which is more deadly even than the guns of the enemy, and this will prove an additional reason, it is thought, for arriving at an early settlement. There is talk of a European conference as soon as hostilities cease for the discussion of international questions arising out of the war. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, however, announced in the house of commons that the question whether a conference should or should not be held had not been definitely considered by the European powers.

CRUELTY TO SUFFERERS

Terrible Conditions Prevail In Cholera Camp Behind Turkish Lines

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—Heartrending scenes of suffering and misery are enacted daily at the Turkish cholera camp at San Stefano. Two Ottoman soldiers stand on guard at the entrance to the camp, but they never make a motion. Their duty is to prevent those within the cordon from escaping and not to hinder other people from entering.

A press correspondent, accompanied by the secretary of a foreign embassy and by Major Ford, U. S. A., who is here on leave of absence, paid a visit to the camp yesterday afternoon.

A nauseating picture was witnessed at the side of the railroad. The bodies which had been thrown from trains lay as they had fallen. Some had struck on top of the embankment; others had rolled part of the way down and some had reached the bottom. Some of the corpses lay stiffly alone. Others were in groups of threes or fours.

Around a one-story stable at the foot of the embankment was a group of sixty dead and dying, lying close together, apparently for warmth, on the slopes of a manure pile which the sick men had found softer than the hard ground. One man on top of the pile was digging with his fingers a sort of trough in which to lie. The trough soon became his grave.

As the visitors came near one victim attempted to crawl across the road to the crowded manure heap, but failed and fell in the roadway. Others lying around raised their heads and cried in the hearing of the attendants that they were given no bread or water. Walking half way across the field the visitors passed dead and dying men.

A group of tents stood in the centre where four or five Turkish soldiers wearing the arm-piece of the Red Crescent stood on guard. Inside the sick and dead lay in groups. Some of the stricken men found difficulty in getting into the Moslem position for prayer, looking toward the east. One praying victim was so weak that he could not replace his blanket around his head when the wind blew it off. The Red Crescent attendants made no attempt to assist any of these suffering soldiers.

A water tank drawn by a donkey passed along the road. Those of the victims who were able to rise to their feet went unassisted toward it and struggled feebly for a drink. Those unable to rise got none. In a similar way what appeared to be army bread was distributed to those able to reach the place of distribution. Several of the sick men raised themselves with difficulty and stumbled toward a well, from which they tried to dip water with their long sashes, wetting the ends and moistening their parched mouths with them. There were hundreds of dead and thousands of sick in this camp.

PENSION OF $25,000 FOR EX-PRESIDENTS

Their Widows Are to Benefit In Equal Amounts

New York, Nov. 22.—Future ex-Presidents of the United States are to be pensioned in the sum of $25,000 each annually by action of the Carnegie corporation of New York.

The grant is provided for with the idea of enabling former executives of the nation to devote their unique knowledge gained in public affairs to the public good, free from pecuniary care. A similar amount is to be paid widows of ex-presidents so long as they remain unmarried.

President Taft, upon his retirement, will be eligible, but ex-President Roosevelt is not. His wife would be after his death.

INDICATIONS OF SUICIDE

Daughter of Ex-Governor Garvin Thought to Have Drowned Herself

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 22.—That Miss Norma Garvin, 35-year-old daughter of ex-Governor Garvin, is a suicide, is the belief of the former executive and of the police of Providence and Pawtucket.

Miss Garvin's hat was found floating on the surface of New River pond, about half a mile from her home. Shortly after the discovery of the hat, the handbag of Miss Garvin was found on the wooded shore.

The fact that Miss Garvin left behind her a note on her dresser which read, "I can't get the water off my mind," causes the family to feel certain that in a fit of temporary insanity the young woman took her life in the mill pond.

PLACED IN PADDED CELL

Boston Man Who Killed His Mother Becomes Violently Insane

Boston, Nov. 22. Cornelius M. Donahue, 30 years old, who was indicted for murder in the second degree on the charge that he strangled his invalid mother, Mrs. Ellen Donahue, a month ago at her home, 1287 Washington street, is in a padded cell.

Following his arrest and indictment Donahue was placed in the Charles street jail. He became so violent that it was necessary to put him in a padded cell. District Attorney Pelletier has asked Judge Brown for the appointment of two alienists to examine the man as to his sanity.

Boy Killed by Trolley Car

Haverhill, Mass., Nov. 22.—Ten-year-old Andrew Mitchell was instantly killed and Rocco Bouccuco, a friend, was bruised by a trolley car on River street. Spectators said the two lads started across the street, dodged a wagon and ran in front of the trolley.

New York, Nov. 22.—United States District Attorney Wise has left the city and it is supposed he was summoned to Washington in connection with the Grand Trunk-New Haven investigation by the department of justice.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CREAM PIES.

CREAM pies are just the things for winter desserts when fruits are scarce and high. While the different kinds are made much alike, they may be greatly varied by using different flavors in the creams.

The following recipe will provide a puff paste for cream fillings. It is especially suitable for the purpose:

Sift together half a cupful each of sugar and pastry flour, one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar and a little nutmeg. Separate two eggs, beating the whites very stiff. Beat the yolks an equal length of time. Put both together, mixing very carefully, and fold in the flour, sugar, etc., a little at a time. Do not beat in the ingredients, but fold in with mixing spoon.

Bake in a moderate oven about fifteen minutes.

A Rich Filling.

Chocolate Cream Pie.—Take three and one-half pints of sweet milk and one cupful of sugar. Beat the yolks of three eggs and add to two and one-half tablespoonfuls of corn starch which has been dissolved in a little milk combined with the rest of the milk. Stir and let come to a boil. Fill the pie crusts and frost with the whites of eggs; sweeten to taste; brown slightly. Two tablespoonfuls of chocolate or cocoa may be added to the boiling milk and one has a nice chocolate filling.

Plain Puff Paste.—A plainer crust than the one above mentioned may be made for this as follows: Take three cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt and one-half teaspoonful of baking powder sifted together. Rub into this one cupful of lard. Moisten with cold water. Roll out, place in pie pan and bake.

A Fruit Cream.

Peach Cream Pie.—Take half a cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs, a cup and a half of canned peaches which have been passed through a sieve and a quarter of a cupful of milk or peach juice. Beat the egg yolks and sugar. Add milk or fruit juice, then beat in the peaches. This is baked in a lower crust of puff paste covered with meringue. Put the meringue on the pie after the same has been baked and cooled. Set the pie in a moderately warm oven, keeping the door open so you can watch. As soon as the meringue is evenly tinged with a light golden color remove from direct heat, but let it cool gradually.

SOME SEASONABLE SOUPS.

WHEN the housewife is considering what to serve in the way of soups her mind now turns to the late vegetables available for the purpose. Beets, carrots, celery, potatoes, late tomatoes, onions, turnips, cabbages and cauliflowers are among the available in fresh vegetables.

Two Delicious Soups.

Cream of Beet Soup.—Take four bunches of selected blood beets, pare, grate and strain through a sieve. Then put on the fire and scald them. Boil a pint of sweet milk and add it to the beets. Stir in a saltspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sifted flour, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a little cream and a sprinkle of pepper. Stir these slowly into the soup until it is as thick as cream.

Cream of Celery Soup.—Take a bunch of celery, a quart of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour, a tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful and a half of salt, a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Select the outside stalks of celery, clean, cut into half inch lengths and take a quart and a half of these, cover with cold water and cook until tender. Drain and mash the celery through a wire strainer. Take the water in which the celery was cooked, the strained celery and add to the milk, which has been boiled in the top of a double boiler. Rub the flour and butter together and work into a smooth paste with a little cold milk. Add this to the soup, then add the salt and pepper. Boil one minute, strain through a fine strainer and serve.

Rich, Yet Inexpensive.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—Take four carrots, a quart of milk, a tablespoonful each of butter, finely chopped onion, flour, chopped parsley a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper. Wash and scrape the carrots, cut into pieces, cover with boiling water, add the teaspoonful of salt and boil until tender. Drain and mash. Put the milk on in the upper part of a double boiler. As soon as it boils add the carrot. Put the butter and onion in a frying pan, cook one minute, then add the flour and one cupful of the water the carrots were cooked in. Stir until smooth and creamy, then stir into the milk. Season with salt and pepper, cook three minutes, strain through a wire strainer and add the chopped parsley.

NO CLAIM OF INSANITY

Alibi Will Be the Defense In the Trial of Mrs. Raymond

Augusta, Me., Nov. 22.—The defense of Mrs. Lisle H. Raymond, on trial here for the murder of Mattie Hackett, will be an alibi.

When the government closes its case the defendant's lawyers are going to try and prove that Mrs. Raymond was nowhere in the vicinity of the crime when it was committed.

The element of insanity relative to the physical condition of the defendant at the time of the murder will not, under any circumstances, be taken nuder consideration by the defense.

Trainor Sent to Prison

Boston, Nov. 22.—John H. Trainor, who entered a department store Sept. 3, and in a sensational manner shot and all but fatally wounded Gertrude M. Jordan, yesterday pleaded guilty to the charge of assault with intent to kill, and was sent to the state prison for a term of not less than five nor more than seven years.

The Smelt.

It is the opinion of the true gourmet that of all marine pan fish there is none to compare with the smelt (Osmerus mordax). This primary rank is its own by reason of its delicacy and delicious flavor, and when fried a light brown in very fine breadcrumbs and served with melted butter there is none that disputes its pre-eminence. Its delightful flavor, however, as well as its peculiar odor, is evanescent. Like the mackerel, it cannot be too fresh. It is from its odor that the smelt derives not only its familiar but Latin name, an odor so aggressive of sliced cucumbers that if its presence be manifested only to the sense of smell people are often deluded into such supposition. This odor is not marked except in the freshly caught fish and disappears in the cooking, giving place, however, to a fitting resurrection of the smelt to an offensive sense still more savory and delightful.

NERVES SHAKEN BY FREEDOM

Informers Do Not Intend to Remain Long In New York

LEAVE PRISON IN A HURRY

Say They Fear Uniformed Police and Plain Clothes Men More Than They Do Great Crowd Which Awaits Their Release—Police Prevent Rose Making Prepared Speech—Schepps Served With Divorce Papers

New York, Nov. 22.—Sam Schepps, the first of the four informers in the Rosenthal case to be released from the West Side prison, "flashed his roll" of yellowbacks to the crowd upon being discharged for vagrancy, chattered nervously about himself in the corridors for a few minutes, and then, with a suitcase in either hand, made a dash for a yellow taxicab and cackled hysterically to moving picture men and the crowd to make way for the taxicab so that he could "get away from here quick."

Jack Rose and Bridgie Webber sneaked away two hours later, hidden behind drawn shades of taxicabs which first had been backed into the prison yard so that the informers could climb into the taxicabs unseen by the crowd of 500 or more men and women waiting in West Fifty-third street.

Harry Vallon, watching his chance while the crowd was pressing toward the jail yard gates to see the taxis come out, appeared at the street door of the jail above the heads of the crowd, while all eyes were glued to the gates leading to the yard. And Vallon quickly sneaked down the steps to the edge of the crowd, circled it, climbed into a touring car and sped away.

All chatted loudly that they had no fear of bodily harm from the crowd individually or collectively, but that they did fear the uniformed police and plain clothes men whom Inspector Dwyer had brought to the prison to keep the crowd in order.

Jack Rose had a speech all prepared which he insisted upon trying to deliver from the highest step leading to the street door of the prison. But Jack wasn't permitted to make his speech. The police told him in effect to "gwan."

Schepps immediately upon his release had raced to the home of his mother. There later in the day came Miss Sadie Apfel from the office of Lawyer Reilly, counsel for Mrs. Leona Schepps, to serve upon Schepps a notice and summons in a suit for absolute divorce for statutory causes and asking for $10 a week alimony and $50 counsel fees.

Rose will stay in town for a day or two and then go to Florida to "rest up." Then he intends to give all his time to the getting out of his book and its sale. Vallon first wants to dispose of a lease he holds on his old gambling house and then, within a few days, also will go to Florida for "a rest." Webber intends to sail for Europe on Saturday if possible and stay abroad for about three months.

The three informers shook hands with Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the "murder car," just before leaving the prison.

The informers all go out of their way to say that Willie, unlike themselves, is guiltless of murder or being an accessory. But as Shapiro has been indicted for murder in the first degree he could not be released merely by the signing of a discharge of a coroner's commitment as Rose, Webber and Vallon were.

A motion will have to be made by the district attorney in the supreme court to dismiss the indictment in Shapiro's case before he will be freed, and as there is absolutely no testimony to hold Shapiro, this will be done probably within a few days.

LAUNCH OF THE HIYEI

Japan's Battle Cruiser to Carry Eight Fourteen-Inch Guns

Tokio, Nov. 22.—The Japanese armored cruiser Hiyei, built at Yokosuka, was successfully launched in the presence of the Emperor of Japan.

Her first keel plate was laid Nov. 4, 1911. Her dimensions are: Length, 704 feet; beam, 92 feet; displacement, 27,500 tons, and she is armed with eight 14-inch guns, sixteen 6-inch guns and sixteen 3-inch guns.

Probe of Bakery Rates

Washington, Nov. 22.—The interstate commerce commission has begun an investigation into the rate and practices of express companies relating to the transportation of bread and bakery products.

Another Aviator Falls to Death

Rheims, France, Nov. 22.—Aviator Frey, winner of the Paris-to-Rome flight, was killed here when his aeroplane fell to earth from a great height. He is the 212th victim of aviation.

Birth of Gray-Haired Baby

Whitesburg, Ky., Nov. 22.—Mrs. John H. Craft of this place has become the mother of a boy with a full head of gray hair.

HETTY GREEN IS 78

Richest Woman Gives Out Some "Dont's" For Girls on Birthday

New York, Nov. 22.—Mrs. Hetty Green, "the richest woman in the world," has reached her 78th birthday. Seen in her office in New York she stopped work long enough to give this list of "dont's" for girls:

Don't envy.
Don't over-dress.
Don't fail to go to church.
Don't eat anything but wholesome food.
Don't cheat in your business dealings.
Don't forget to be charitable.
Don't forget to take a lot of exercise.
Don't forget to obey the laws of God.

In a general way Mrs. Green says to everybody: Don't forget to eat plenty of baked onions.

OVER A HUNDRED DEAD

Hurricane and Tidal Wave Wrought Great Damage In Jamaica

Kingston, Jam., Nov. 22.—The official estimate of the dead in the hurricane and tidal wave which visited the western part of Jamaica places the number at more than 100 in the coast towns alone.

Details which are gradually coming in indicate great devastation in the western section, where sugar factories and buildings, almost without exception, were unroofed or wrecked, and the banana fields recently planted were completely wiped out.

Practically all the lighters, coasting sloops and small craft in the harbors of Green Island, Montego Bay, Lucea and Savana la Mar, foundered, and a large proportion of the crews were drowned. Many persons living in these towns lost their lives in the collapse of buildings.

SECOND DYNAMITE PLOT PLANNED

McManigal Failed to Destroy Times' Auxiliary Plant

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—Equipped with twelve quarts of nitro-glycerin, Ortie E. McManigal in December, 1910, went to Los Angeles, commissioned to destroy The Times auxiliary plant, and by "adding a few more to the list of dead" to take suspicion off James B. McNamara, who had killed twenty-one persons in the wreck of The Times building two months before.

McManigal so testified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial. He named men other than the McNamaras as having inspired the second Los Angeles dynamite plot. He said he was prevented from carrying it out by the discovery, on reaching Los Angeles, that the auxiliary plant was too well guarded and illuminated at night.

Instead he set a bomb in an iron works plant to explode on Christmas day.

ATTACK ON GOMPERS

Claim That His Annual Report Favors Democratic Party

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Protracted and excited debate occurred at the American Federation of Labor convention over a portion of the report by the committee on the president's report.

The direct point of argument was the attitude of President Gompers during the recent campaign, in which the committee concurred. The so-called conservative and radical wings of the Federation represented by the delegates took sides on the question.

Max Hayes, particularly, assailed the committee's report. He declared he would not stand by the report, which, he said, favored the Democratic party.

FOUR HUNDRED OUT

Eight Lynn Factories Involved In Strike of Sole Workers

Lynn, Mass., Nov. 22.—The outsole workers of eight Lynn shoe factories went on strike because no attention had been paid to demands presented to the manufacturers about a week ago. The demands included forty-nine hours a week instead of fifty-six and $21 a week instead of $16 or $18.

Business Agent Hartman of the local union said that the strike was occasioned by the fact that cut-sole workers in Boston factories were getting $21 a week for forty-nine hours' work.

Fire Wrecks Lowell Church

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 22.—Several priests and eleven firemen were overcome by smoke in a fire that wrecked the church of St. Jean Baptiste, a French Catholic church situated at Merrimac and Aiken streets. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

Not to Be Bitten.

Andrew Cherry, the actor, once received an offer of an engagement from a theatrical manager who had not previously treated him very well. "I have been bitten by you once," he wrote, "and am resolved that you shall not make two bites of A. Cherry."—London Telegraph.

ON INVITATION OF MANAGERS

Department of Justice Will Look Over Railroads' Accounts

GRAND JURY PROBE CHECKED

Would Have Been Hard to Uncover Facts Warranting Prosecution of New Haven or Grand Trunk Roads For Violation of Sherman Act—Situation Investigated In Boston

Washington, Nov. 22.—On invitation of the management of the New Haven and Grand Trunk railroads a special agent of the department of justice will be sent to New Haven and Montreal to make a study of the books of the two companies with reference to the Grand Trunk stopping construction of the Southern New England railroad.

This movement is understood to be made partly in relation to the claim of President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk that construction of the Southern New England was stopped because of lack of foreign money incident to the Balkan war.

The action of Attorney General Wickersham in calling off the investigation by the grand jury in New York into the proposed traffic agreement between the two roads, leaves the whole matter in the hands of Special Attorney Adkins in Washington, who will proceed under the personal direction of the attorney general.

The belief is growing, and is shared more or less by the Massachusetts railroad commissioners, that it will be exceedingly hard for the department of justice to uncover any facts that will warrant a prosecution of the companies for violation of the Sherman act, at least until the situation has progressed further than it has at present.

Chairman Bliss of the Rhode Island public utilities commission had a further talk with Adkins here and is pressing the department for action, but the Massachusetts commissioners have returned to their duties at the annual meeting of the National Railroad Commissioners, saying they are inclined to think no further steps can be taken by them until the department of justice has completed its investigation.

Probe Conducted In Boston

Boston, Nov. 22.—All of the acts which transpired in Massachusetts leading to the abandonment by the Grand Trunk railway of its extension to Boston are being investigated by special agents of the federal department of justice.

Special Agent Schmid, who makes his headquarters in Boston, is said to be acting under instructions received from Washington direct, and other agents have been placed in the field for the purpose of getting at all of the facts.

Leading officials of the New Haven road and others, who have any information whatsoever regarding the matter, are being interviewed. It is supposed that a similar inquiry has been started in the other New England states, and all of the findings will be reported to Washington at once.

THE PULITZER ESTATE

Appraisal Just Filed Shows It to Be Upwards of $16,000,000

New York, Nov. 22.—The appraisal of the estate of Joseph Pulitzer was filed here, showing the gross value of the real and personal property is $18,525,116, and the nevt value of the estate, which is exclusive of debts, funeral expenses, administrative expenses and executor's commissions, is $16,843,484.

His 4990 shares of stock in the Press Publishing company, publishers of The World and Evening World, are appraised at $604 a share, or $3,016,455. His 9164 shares of stock in the Pulitzer Publishing company of St. Louis are appraised at $1,115,717. The par value of both stocks is $100 a share.

TEMPERATURE ABOVE SIXTY

Nine Days of the Present Month With Record Thursday

EVERYBODY SATISFIED

Thursday was the warmest Nov. 21 save that of 1900, in the last 41 years. The maximum, 68, was at 3 P. M. The only Nov. 21 on record that rivaled Thursday for high temperature had a maximum and minimum exactly the same as Thursday. In the last 41 years there were only five days of the same date on which the highest temperature was not 15 or more degrees lower than Thursday. On eight days since Nov. 1 the temperature has gone above 60.

And it was above that figure today at noon. May it continue so for some time to come until the lakes freeze over and the eastern coal supply is started on its way.

BRIEFS

Mrs. William Fleming and family, formerly of Euclid avenue are leaving today for Flatbush, Brooklyn, N. Y., where they intend to make their home.

Mrs. Charles Bickford of Hancock street opens her house tonight for an entertainment under the auspices of Charitable Ten King's Daughters, for the benefit of the Norfolk County Home for aged people.

Miss Mildred Bonney is spending a few weeks with her sister Mrs. Robert Campbell of Nashua, N. H. Mrs. Campbell and her little daughter Mirjam, were recently in Quincy visiting her mother Mrs. H. E. Bonney, while her home at Nashua, N. H. was being remodelled.

The Ward Four Good Government Association will meet at the hall, 157 Copeland street, this evening to continue the organization started earlier in the week. Any resident of the ward who believes in the aims and objects of the association are invited to attend this gathering and become affiliated with the organization. It is not a close corporation. Every one who believes in good government and undoubtedly the membership of the associations will grow like a snow ball going down hill.

Not a Permanent Return.

ANNUAL APPEAL FOR DINNER AID

For the Poor Issued By Overseer James H. Elcock

JOHNSON FUND SHORT

Overseer of the Poor James H. Elcock makes his annual appeal today to the philanthropic citizens of Quincy for contributions to assist in providing Thanksgiving dinners for the poor of the city. Under the will of the late C. C. Johnson the income of a bequest of $2,000 is used annually to provide Thanksgiving dinners for the poor of Quincy. The demands of late however have been so great that the $80 interest is not sufficient. Overseer Elcock in his appeal says:

"Thanksgiving is coming and the appeals to this department are many from the poor of our city to send them a basket on that day. Last year we delivered over ninety baskets, the size of the basket depending on the number of persons in the family, each basket containing a turkey or chicken, potatoes, celery, cranberries and turnip.

"December 24, 1887 Cotton Centre Johnson bequeathed to the Town of Quincy, two thousand dollars, the interest of which was to be used to supply turkeys to the worthy poor of Quincy. The interest amounts to eighty dollars and this sum is very inadequate owing to the growth of the city.

"I, therefore, appeal to your charity to make the poor people happy on Thanksgiving Day.

JAMES H. ELCOCK,
Overseer of the Poor.

FORESTERS ATTENDED FUNERAL.

The funeral of Michael Cunniff was held this morning from his late home 159 Liberty street. A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. John's church. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Rev. Mathew McDonnell of Braintree, a cousin of the deceased was celebrant of the mass. Rev. John J. Casey was deacon, Rev. Fr. Sharkey, sub-deacon and Rev. John J. Coan was master of ceremonies.

Music was by the regular choir assisted by Mrs. Mary Burns King and Miss Eva Rice, under the direction of organist John Mahon.

A large delegation of Quincy Court, 76, M. C. O. F., of which the deceased was a member attended the funeral. There was a profusion of floral tributes.

HICKEY WORKED IN QUINCY HERE TWO WEEKS AGO

Is the Belief of People Who Knew a Man of That Name Who Worked at Fore River

Habits and Actions Tally With Those of Man Under Arrest

Quincy was combed Thursday by Boston and local inspectors to get some information relative to a man named J. Frank Hickey, who worked here off and on for the past two years for the Fore River Ship building Co., who is believed to be the man indicted for the murder of six-year-old Joseph Josephs at Lackawana, N. Y., in 1911.

The description, habits and other traits of the arrested man, tally identically with those of the man who worked in Quincy. The man who lived in Quincy temporarily was known by the same name, J. Frank Hickey.

He attended one of the churches in this city, and became known to the pastor. It is said that at times when overcome by the drink habit he would confide in the pastor of the church which he attended and invariably received spiritual consolation and more substantial aid in the form of money to again set him on his feet.

Some days ago, the Boston papers had a story about the man working in Boston and attending a Boston church and the minister aiding him many ways.

These were rehearsals of the occurrences in Quincy which for obvious reasons the Ledger did not make public at that time, because there was danger of handicapping the police in the researches if the exact locality of the man's exploiting was revealed.

William E. Hingston, the celebrated handwriting expert of this city was shown the letters and post cards and passed his opinion, on them as being written by the same person, and his experience warranted in him in detailing the characteristics of a man penning such a hand. After the arrest of Hickey there was no need of any further covering of this clew.

The Quincy J. Frank Hickey was in Quincy, no later than the eleventh of the present month. On that date he left this city to go to New York. After leaving Quincy he is alleged to have written one or two letters to Quincy people who in giving the information expressly stipulated that their names should not be used owing to the notoriety that would result.

The police however obtained possession of these letters and they were submitted to a handwriting expert who pronounced them to be in the same handwriting as the anonymous postal received by the police.

Hickey was employed in Quincy as stated in Thursday's Ledger at various times in the electrical department at the Fore River at one time being at work on the Rivadavia. He is said to have been a stylishly dressed man of prepossessing appearance. His first appearance in Quincy was about two years ago, but as he was not considered a particularly good workman he did not remain long. Six weeks ago he again came back to Quincy and was given a position on the Argentine dreadnaught where he worked up to the early part of November when he left Quincy. Just before leaving he is alleged to have told a Quincy man that he was going to a New York alcohol sanitarium for treatment.

Investigation of his conduct while in Quincy was not such to arouse suspicion. As stated above since going away he has written several letters to Quincy parties. Thursday a Boston Inspector came to Quincy and with Inspector Goodhue a visit was made to Yules hotel where Hickey boarded. The party here too had received a letter from him however stated that he had destroyed the letter received.

Commissioner Lenham of Lackawana is quoted as saying: "In the country-wide search for Hickey we have traced his movements through many cities and learned that a man of that name worked in Quincy recently. The Hickey held in New Jersey is said to have a scar on the right temple. The man who worked in Quincy had similar scar. I believe he is the same man as that held, but have not verified that theory yet."

When the story of Hickey's arrest was published parties who had received letters from J. Frank Hickey since he went away two weeks ago compared the writing with the specimens published in the newspapers. Then certain letters were turned over to the police.

About the same time the Boston police also began investigations in this city.

Here is a description of the J. Frank Hickey who worked in this city: Five feet 6 or 7 inches in height, weight about 150 pounds, bald on top of head, mustache quite gray, a neat dresser and wore a dark, stiff hat.

Even while doubting the genuineness of the messages which they have received signed by the so-called postcard murderer, declaring the body of Joseph L. O'Connor, the 12-year-old Roxbury boy who has been missing from his home since Oct. 18, would be found buried on Chestnut Hill, the police of Greater Boston continued their search for the child's remains Thursday.

The hunt, which started early in the morning and lasted until long after nightfall, was confined to the huge tract of underbrush and timberland stretching northwest from the Chestnut Hill railroad station to Hammond's Pond. Not the slightest semblance of any evidence tending to show a body had been buried on the hill was discovered, however. A further search was entered upon today.

Elzear Dion of 611 Washington St., Quincy thinks he is the same man. Dion and Hickey were roommates up to Hickey's departure from Quincy.

"A Frank Hickey, who in several ways resembles the J. Frank Hickey now under indictment, was my roommate at Yule's Hotel from about Oct. 24 until Sunday Nov. 3 when he suddenly went away," said Dion last night. "He was a peculiar acting man He drank considerably, and after drinking would take long walks. He also talked a great deal about religion. I remember once he told me he had worked in several cities in New York State, including New York City."

There is no claim on the part of the police or any one else in this vicinity to connect J. Frank Hickey who lived in Quincy with the murder of the Josephs boy or the other affairs, yet they all feel from the descriptions received here and the announcement on his departure as to his destination, that there is strong probability that the man held by the New York police and the Quincy man are the same.

DEMOCRATS LEAN TO GRISWOLD

Progressive Candidate Endorsed By City Committee

SURPRISED BUT PLEASED

It is the unexpected that always happens. Thus it was Thursday evening at the Democratic City committee when it voted unanimously to endorse the candidacy of Charles L. Griswold of Quincy Point as Councilman at Large. Mr. Griswold filed papers Wednesday as the Progressive candidate for Councilman at Large. He had no idea however that his name was being considered favorable by the Democratic City Committee until he was informed Thursday night that he had been endorsed by that party. He stated after the meeting that it was an entire surprise to him but that he probably would accept the endorsement. Mr. Griswold is engaged in the school supply business in Boston and has been a resident of Quincy for the past twelve years, seven years of which has been in the Quincy Point district.

SEWING FOR THE FAIR.

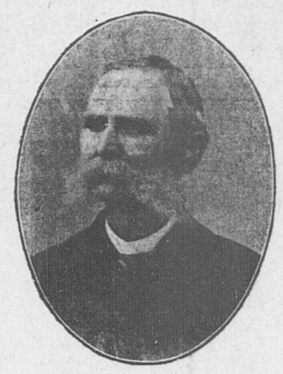
A very enjoyable all day sew was held in the vestry of the Washington street Congregational church, Thursday, by the Ladies' Aid. The ladies were very busy sewing for their fair, which is to be held December 5. Fourteen ladies were present, and a box lunch and coffee were served at noon. A short business meeting after lunch.

COM. F. P. LOUD COMPLIMENTED

Upon the Fine Condition of Post and Good Work

BY INSPECTOR GAGE

The annual inspection of Paul J. Revere Post 88 G. A. R., was held Thursday evening. The Inspecting officer being Col. William L. Gage of Post 87 South Braintree, who was accompanied by Comrades North, Belcher, Peterson, Gurney Adjutant Curtis and others, Commander Jones and his adjutant from Randolph Post 110 and visiting comrades from Weymouth and Maine.



COMMANDER FRANCIS P. LOUD, Complimented on Condition of Revere Post, G. A. R.

Asst. Inspector Gage complimented Commander Loud and the comrades upon the excellent condition of the post and the prompt manner with which the work of the evening was performed.

Speeches were made by nearly all the comrades present and Past Commander George L. Phillips was present for the first time since his illness and gave one of his old time recitations after which all enjoyed an excellent clam chowder and fixings prepared by Comrades Pierce, Pope, Dunbar and Bird.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

An invitation has been received by Ave Maria Council, Knights of Columbus to attend the Memorial Service at St. Edward's church, Montello on Sunday evening, for the departed members of Seville Council of Brockton.

DIED SUDDENLY.

The funeral of Louis P. Salazar who died suddenly at Washington and Bromfield streets, Boston, Tuesday, took place this afternoon from his late residence 133 Bromfield street, Wollaston. He was a member of the Wollaston Yacht club and was a commission merchant at Boston.

He leaves a widow and one son. He was 39 years old and engaged in the Commission business in Boston.

GALEN'S RECEPTION.

Union hall will be the scene of the 75th birthday reception to Galen Vinton Bowditch, familiarly known as "Do"" all over the state. It was planned to hold it Saturday evening at Wilson's hall but because of the large number who said they were to attend it was thought better to make the change.

YALE—HARVARD GAME.

The result of the great gridiron battle between Yale and Harvarde at New Haven, Saturday, will be posted on the Ledger bulletin board as soon as the game is ended as arrangements have been made to get the returns as quickly as possible.

QUINCY FIRST IN CROSS COUNTRY

Kingsbury Led the Bunch at Weymouth Meeting

ALLEN CLOSE SECOND

The Quincy High school Cross Country team, won the annual cross country run with Weymouth High school at Weymouth Thursday afternoon. Each school was represented by four runners, Captain Fred Kinsbury Q. H. S. came first, Alen Connor Q. H. S. 2nd, Sweet W. H. S. 3rd, Edward Newcomb, Q. H. S. 4th, Captain Haviland, W. H. S. 5th, Albin Anderson Q. H. S. 6th, Eddy W. H. S. 7th. The course was between 2 1-2 and 2 3-4 miles and was made in the good time of 14 minutes, 49 seconds. Kingsbury won a fine race and did just what was expected of him.

Connor was the surprise of the Quincy team by finishing a close second to the winner and he looks like a future High school star.

Both Newcomb and Anderson for the little experience they have had did creditable work for the team. The track team had to pay their own expenses, the Quincy High school would not pay even one half of the expenses of sending five men.

XMAS PARTY FOR CHILDREN

One of the Things Planned By Squantum Woman's Club

The Squantum Women's Club held its regular meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Charles Bostwick, Bellevue road.

This was the last evening session as it has been decided to meet the first Wednesdays of December, January, February and March, in the afternoon.

Reports were heard from the finance and improvement committees.

Plans for a Club house were discussed and this coming Spring ought to find a club house well under construction on the corner of Huckins avenue and Richfield street where the club has recently purchased 10,000 feet of land from J. R. Nelson.

Mrs. James Foster, Park avenue has kindly offered her spacious house for a Christmas party and tree for the children of Squantum.

Quite a few attended the meeting, among those present were: Mrs. H. Morse, Mrs. William Reed, Mrs. Helen McGowan, Mrs. James Foster, Mrs. S. H. Adams, Mrs. John Mardon, Mrs. John Holmes, Mrs. James Hogan, Mrs. Underhill, Mrs. Edmund White, Mrs. Roger Mason, Mrs. Robert Bell, Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mrs. L. B. Titus, Mrs. E. A. Rich, Mrs. H. C. Cahoon, Mrs. John R. Nelson, Mrs. Charles Bostwick, Mrs. Charles Watts, Mrs. W. N. Kenyon and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

—The apple growers are pushing with vigor the propaganda of the fruit which started Eve on her discovery of our great institution, "moving day," and which led to unpleasantness on Olympus when Venus was awarded an apple in a beauty contest. "Eat an apple a day and you'll keep the doctor away," is a slogan many of the apple men are shouting. It sounds all right, but a wag replied: "Yes, and if you eat an onion a day, you'll keep every one away." However the apple is a fine fruit, and if more people ate it there would doubtless be fewer doctor's bills. Incidentally, the growers would find the market for their fruit improving very rapidly.—Milford Cabinet.

GRANDFATHER OF CODFISH

Taken on the Hook by Fisherman Bill of Quincy Point

AFTER HARD FIGHT

Fellow workmen of William Labardie, at the Fore River Ship Co., are showering congratulations upon him for his great success as a fisherman.

Now "Bill" as he is called by his fellow workmen goes fishing about every Sunday, and is rated as one of the best amateur firsherman around the shores, but last Sunday he beat all records. In the morning after putting lines and other fishing gear aboard ship at Quincy Point bridge, he set sail for Boston Light and when he arrived down goes anchor and over goes line and it wasn't long before "Bill" felt a pull on the line, that nearly pulled the ship around, but good fisherman that he is, he knew there was something on the other end.

"Bill" is no lightweight, weighing about 200, but he had all he could do as the fish was just as anxious to get away, but at last "Bill" landed him safely, and he was very much surprised as it was the largest Codfish. "Bill" had ever seen. Of course, "Bill" carries a rule so he measured it and it was exactly 49 inches long and weighed 38 lbs., and he thinks it must be the father of all the fish in the Bay.

"Bill" was so overjoyed that he hauled up anchor and set sail home, but it was a pretty rough trip with that fish flopping around in the bottom. When he got home he told the neighbors but they hardly believed it, but "Bill" had the goods so they knew it was no fish story. The gang will have to take hats off to "Bill" as the best amateur fisherman on the South shore.

CLAM DIGGING COMES HIGH

South Boston Men Without Permit Fined $50

THEIR SECOND OFFENCE

Michael McDonough and John J. Mahoney two South Boston men, learned this morning that digging clams without a permit is serious business. The two men were caught Friday by Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Day at Squantum. They had a boat with them in which were about two bushels of clams which they evidently intended to sell in the markets. The place where they were digging was in prohibited territory. The fine for the first violation of the law is from $5 to $10. Both of these men were in court earlier in the year and fined $10 each so that Friday was their second offence. In case of a second offence the fine jumps from a minimum of from $5 to $10 to a fine of from $50 to $100.

When arraigned in court this morning both men entered a plea of guilty and the court imposed the minimum fine for a second offence, or $50 each.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING.

A meeting of the officers and teachers of Christ Church Sunday school was held in the rectory Thursday evening and was well attended. Many matters of importance were discussed, the chief being the new curriculum of the Board of Education of the Diocese of Massachusetts, now being used, and suggestions for the extension of training in christian activity and church loyalty. It was announced that Professor Wrigley has presented a cabinet organ to the primary department of the Sunday school, a gift that will be greatly appreciated by the teachers and scholars.

WHIST SERIES STARTED.

A most popular series of whist parties commenced Friday evening at Protection hall under the auspices of the Fore River Lodge, I. O. O. F., M. U. Sixteen tables were in play and the committee was Alex Hamilton, J. Davidson, J. Nimmon. The leaders were John J. Fallon, William Mitchell, A. H. Philbrick, James Thompson, W. J. Finegan.

BIGELOW CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

Held First Dance Under the New Name Waseca Social Club

The first assembly of the Waseca Social club was held at Alpha hall, Friday evening. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight and music was furnished by Wilson's orchestra.

The club is a reorganization of the old Bigelow base ball club which was considered the fastest team around Boston during the 1910 season.

The officers are President, William Fields; Secretary, Henry Shea, and Treasurer, John Pinel. The dance committee included John McGregor, Henry Shea and J. Pinel.

The floor was in charge of William Field, assisted by William Cain and Henry Shea as chief of aids.

Delegations were present from many Quincy clubs.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH QUINCY?

Irving L. Shaw writes the Ledger that it is a source of some annoyance that matters beyond his control render it well-nigh impossible to continue his letters on "What's the matter with Quincy?" as he hoped to have a few more shots. He has been assigned in connection with his work at the Tax Commissioner's office at the State house, to prepare suggestions for new legislation to come before the General Court at its next session early in January and has to prepare the new bills.

It is however probable Mr. Shaw will again be heard from, when he is more at leisure than at present, for he has still much data to make public.

GRASS FIRE.

The alarm from Box 154 at 4.58 Friday afternoon was for a grass fire on Rawson road. The recall sounded in a few minutes after the alarm came in.

ANOTHER FALSE ALARM.

The alarm from Box 59 at 11.35 this noon was a false alarm. The firemen when they arrived at box could find no one who could give any clew as to who had pulled the box.

STRAIGHT LINE FROM TEMPLE ST.

To Coddington When Insurance Building Goes

SOME LAND TO LIBRARY

It is reported that when the city takes possession of the Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Co., property on the corner of Coddington and Washington streets, that the company will have its office on the Faxon property near the court room building, on Coddington street. The corner of the Insurance lot will be taken off and thrown into the street so that Temple street will run straight into Coddington street, thus doing away with the bad curve at present at that corner. The remainder of the lot will probably be thrown into the library yard. The removing of the building will add much to the sightliness of the corner.

WOLLASTON LODGE A. B. S.

Entertained Mayor and Other Guests at Installation

Dr. N. Mary Pearson, Supreme Deputy, installed the officers of Wollaston lodge, 174, of the American Benefit Society, in Odd Fellows hall, Thursday evening. Mayor Stone, other city officials and about 100 members of the order were present. Addresses were made by the Mayor, visiting deputy and others, and there was a supper and entertainment.

The officers installed were: President, Welcome G. Young, vice-president N. Stuart Sanford; orator, Robert J. Katchpole; secretary, Mrs. Nina J. Miller; collector, Mrs. Rosa N. Taylor; treasurer, Samuel P. Hanson; chaplain, Mrs. Mary P. Vibert; marshal, Algernon S. Gardner; warden, Everett B. Goodrich; sentry, Angus Polson; trustees, Leonard W. Taylor, Ernest G. Cook and Mrs. Lydia W. Colett.

FIRE HAZARD HEARING.

The Metropolitan Fire Hazard Commission, created under Chapter 103 of the acts of 1912 to investigate loss of life and property by fire in the Metropolitan district, will hold a public hearing in room 431 at the State House next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE.

The Democratic candidates for the municipal election will meet the city committee tonight at headquarters for a conference. After the conference James H. Penniman the party candidate for Mayor will go to Quincy Point to meet the Ward Two committee.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

Mrs. Martha Willett, widow of Edward Willett and one of the oldest residents of Atlantic passed away at her home on Clive street, Friday aged 93 years. Mrs. Willett has been a resident of Atlantic for about 20 years and has been in poor health for some years owing largely to infirmaties incident to old age.

JONES—HAMILTON.

William John Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Jones of 22 South Central avenue and Miss Mary Ann Hamilton of Dorchester were married at Dorchester, Thursday evening by Rev. John V. Cronan.

The groom is a member of the Wollaston Yacht Club and has played football with some of the strongest teams, particularly the old Wollaston A. A.

DANCING AND WHIST PLAYING

By O. E. S. Dramatic Club Attracted Many People

A whist and dancing party was held Friday evening in Colonial and Hancock halls by the Order of Eastern Star Dramatic Club and there was a good attendance.

Whist trophies were awarded to Mrs. William Norteman, Mrs. George Spooner, Mrs. Holbrook, Calvin G. Fletcher, Mrs. G. K. Nichols, William Norteman, Mrs. William Hughes and Mark Gordon.

The committee was Mrs. Clara Catarius, Miss Annie Rose, Miss Bessie Roberts, Miss Mildred Crowley and Miss Cora Call. They were assisted by William Tarbox and Arthur L. Thomas.

Dancing was enjoyed in Colonial hall, music being furnished by Provosts orchestra.

DOC. BOWDITCH GIVEN GIFTS

Saw Birth and Death of G. O. P. and Proud of It

"Doc" Galen Vinton Bowditch, Democrat and vocalist who recently blossomed into fame as a vaudevillian at the Press Clubs dance, is today observing his 75th birthday, and his friends from far and near are extending their congratulations to the grand old man who "saw the birth of the Republican party and by the eternal I have lived to see it die."

"Doc" has been the press messenger from Quincy to Boston papers for nigh on 28 years and has been fathful in every sense of the word.

The anathemas which he has hurled at the G. O. P. were not forgotten by his hearers, and Friday at the editorial rooms of the Boston Globe "Doc" was tendered a reception.

Nearly all of the correspondents were present and Charles H. Daley who watches Medford for his paper presented "Doc" with an ulster, a box of cigars, a large bouquet and a pink ticket.

The depth of affection the boys have for "Doc" was expressed by their hearty cheering and in accepting the gifts "Doc" outdid Demosthenes.

While he was expressing his acceptance he was interrupted by a messenger boy who handed him congratulatory messages from Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, Gov. Eugene N. Foss and President-elect Woodrow Wilson.

"Doc" sang "Alice Ben Bolt," and concluded with "Au Revoir." Tears welled in his eyes as he bade the boys goodbye and said he was pleased with the respect accorded him by the rising generation.

Galen is a native of Roxbury, but has lived in Quincy nearly all his life. He is descended from John Vinton, who was a captain of infantry in the Revolutionary War and who, with a band of men , burned Boston Lighthouse that it might not serve the British ships. Galen himself was long ago a member of Co. H., 4th Massachusetts Infantry.

Veteran fireman for 50 years, member of the Tigers, the Sons of the American Revolution, the Old School Boys' Association, the Washington M. French Hose Company and—the Democratic party are some of the titles in which Galen glories.

RECOGNITION SERVICE.

A recognition service will be held at Plymouth Wednesday evening for Rev. C. P. Marshall who recently resumed the pastorate at the church of the Pilgrimage.

The sermon on that evening will be preached by Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott of the Bethany Congregational church. He was a classmate of the Rev. Mr. Marshall's and the close friendship has continued.

REV. LILLBACK AT HOME AGAIN

Successfully Conducted Series of Services at Brooklyn Church

Rev. John E. Lillback, pastor of the Finnish Congregational church, returned from Brooklyn, Friday, where he had been conducting a series of special meetings. He stayed longer than he intended but the people there prevailed upon him to overstay his original period.

He delivered a series of 10 bible sermons. He reports having a great time in his field of operations and being listened to each night by large congregations.

This afternoon he went to Maynard to attend a concert and revival at the Congregational church in that place. His parishioners will be glad to see him in his own pulpit, Sunday.

MAYOR'S FRIENDS OPTIMISTIC.

There is always a large crowd of Mayor Stone supporters at his headquarters in the Hancock building every evening and it is a very optimistic crowd. The general impression at the headquarters is that Mayor Stone has them all beat to a frizzle.

—A Baltimore judge has adopted the method of sentencing youthful law breakers to the evening schools. This will at least keep the youngsters off the streets, but whether it will stimulate a desire for education remains to be demonstrated. And it is also a question to what extent the night schools should be expected to serve as reformatory institutions.—Milford Gazette.

CINDERELLA IN FLOWERLAND

Musical Extravaganza Presented By Wollaston Tots

FOR DECORATING FUND

One of the prettiest and most complete entertainments ever given by children in Wollaston was the extravaganza "Cinderella in Flowerland" by the pupils of the Wollaston school in the school hall, Friday evening. Charming costumes, perfect acting, pleasant music and beautiful scenery combined to make the piece most effective for the audience that filled the large assembly room.

The extravaganza, in four acts, a prologue and tableau tells a pretty nature story of the birds and flowers, under guise of the well known tale of "Cinderella."

The little tots who took part were exceedingly cunning and acted with skill and absence of self consciousness.

In the prologue, Katherine Follett as the fairy sings of Fairyland and its joys. The stage setting which remains the same throughout is that of a beautiful flower garden.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

That bubble in City Square is still practically out of commission, with a big water leakage all the time.

How nice of the New Haven and the Grand Trunk to let the Department of justice look over the books, correspondence and the like. The investigators will be liable to pick up a lot of stray knowledge about this time.

Boston parents are kicking because the children are asked to attend school 15 more days a year. They ought to go the whole 365 to make up for the time wasted in football, base ball and other features which were unknown quantities in the school life of a few years ago.

The Board of Trade got pretty busy over the train time table, but they did not continue that state of activity long.

Ward Three people object to the tramp of cattle. If they had to listen to it every morning about three o'clock what would they say?

Yet it is one of the things people residing on Hancock street hear every morning.

A state uniform tax, would do much to prevent moving of tax dodgers and help communities to come into what rightfully belongs to them.

Has the Dynamite planting at Lawrence been lost sight of since the preelection period?

John D. is a great fellow to quote the Lord and what men should do in the line of the Master's work. Did he ever thinks that every time he gives a boost to the price of oil that he is hitting the Lord real hard in robbing even the humblest of his children.

The newspapers will now be busy for a few days tracing the course of that remarkable trio of informers in the New York graft case. On the whole the public is pretty well satisfied to let them drop out of sight.

The Yale—Harvard players must feel real flattered to be registered, as Gyps, Whitey's and Louis's and Dagos. It may sound funny to the writer of such slush, but it is hardly stuff that appeals to any one of intelligence.

By all means let us find the actual demand for a public pier, the rentals, the possible returns from the money invested and how long the interest in the enterprise will hold out before pledging the city to another debt burden.

If people would only learn to eat rabbits cooked in the proper way, they could hardly tell the difference between that and chicken.

The prosecution that suggests insanity on the part of the person it is prosecuting rather takes some of the props from beneath its case.

There is a scarcity of bowling alley boys in Boston owing to the return of so many Greek boys to their country. And plenty of kid gloved do nothing boys loafing around the streets, too proud to earn Christmas money in that way.

All Quincy citizens who are complaining because of high taxes, increase in valuation etc, should ponder the plan recently proposed of making a uniform tax rate for all cities and towns in the commonwealth. This would in many respects seem a good scheme and would at least prevent desirable citizens and large property owners moving, as they do now under present conditions, to other localities where lower rates prevail. Of course there are draw backs and valid objections to be raised but the idea reads like a forerunner of better things for the real estate owner.

The great family reunion day is almost here with its atmosphere of peace plenty and good fellowship. Thanksgiving day while instituted in this county by the Pilgrims was an idea really borrowed from the Dutch and dates back to the times of their wars with the Spaniards. While we celebrate it locally, let us not forget the poor and needy and the strangers who may be with us on that occasion. Though of necessity a sad day to many because of relatives and friends absent or dead, we can be happy by making others happy and their gratitude will be of considerable assistance in causing us to forget our own troubles.

TO PENSION EX-PRESIDENTS.

Undoubtedly there will be divers opinions upon the project of the Carnegie Foundation to pension ex-presidents and their wives. The matter of pensioning public officials out of the public funds at the present time is gaining alarming proportions. Men who 50 years ago offered their bodies as targets for bullets, for the preservation of the Union had some difficulty in getting a bill through congress for a mere pittance of $1 a day now when they are in the winter of their life time. On the other hand, fat salaried officials who have been sucking at the public tit for years at fat salaries, ranging any where from $2000 to $5000 are retired on half pay, and immediately proceed to engage in other business their previous public service affording a commercial value to their names in some enterprises, whereas their actual performance of duty to those same undertakings would not be worth a cent.

The people should give heed to this wholesale pension system before it gets beyond them. Soon it may come to pass that the applicant for a position may desire the pension first and actual salary consideration so far as it relates to service afterwards. Recently a man was discharged, or at least his resignation was desired in a certain department in Philadelphia. Bristling with indignation he demanded of the chiefthe cause for the request. The indignant one was quietly informed that he was incompetent. This naturally increased the porcupine spirit of the youth, and he demanded an investigation. When he finally agreed to resign, he sarcastically turned to the chief, with this last fling: "Incompetent! You certainly are a wonder. How you could tell whether I was competent or incompetent, is beyond me, as I have never performed a single service of any kind during all the months I have been in this department."

This glaring shirking of labor might well be credited to many now engaged in public service and their resignation rather than redireмnt on pension would be of more benefit to the public good.

But this is digressing from the first thought.

President Taft very dignifiedly declined to make any comment upon the proposed plan of the Cornegie Foundation.

On the other hand it is hardly befitting the dignity of any citizen of this country to accept a pension from any individual, which in itself might be acceptable in some cases as prima facie that he was incapable of earning a living at his accepted calling It has somewhat the appearnce of lowering the dignity of the high place of president to have it go world wide that the minute he steps down and out he must receive a pension. But that is really not all there is to the question. The more profound thought which this great gift giving of Mr. Carnegie to perpetuate his name, is found in the question, "how and where did he get so much money?"

And it is one that has got to be answered some day. Not only with regard to Mr. Carnegie's vast wealth but with as much foundation of others who are similarly situated.

No man by his own toil, or by certain channels of trade could accumulate so much money.

It is plain to every one how and by what means this money is accumulated.

Mr. Carnegie only a short time ago, was absolved from paying an honest property tax in New York because he claimed he owed more than he possessed. If that is not tax dodging, there is another name perhaps more applicable.

Tax dodging has enabled many people to accumulate but there are other means.

The man who dodges his taxes is not patriotic. He is not public spirited, he is merely cheating the community in which he lives and even if he give largely to charity or other things, by which he is given much newspaper notice that does not absolve him from the offense or lighten the burden of the small property owner who has to bear the burden that the tax dodger may accumulate and have money with which to perpetuate his name, while the lesser fellow, soon forgotten actually produces the wherewithal.

CARELESS SHOOTING.

Almost daily from the many gunning districts of the country come the usual story of "Mistaken for a deer and shot to death." The annual crop of deaths from the criminal carelessness, is far above the proportion usually credited to other causes, when the number engaged is taken into consideration. The game laws in some states require the wearing of a red hat so that the gunners may be able to distinguish the human head from the form of an animal. How often in densely thickened woods at this season of the year are the leaves and foliage crimsoned with the autumnal glory far and above more brilliant than any artificial coloring.

The toll to this gunning sport in precious life is yearly growing larger. Experiences of seasons past and gone do not appear to make any imprint upon the minds of men. It is like the case of "Did not know it was loaded." although in the latter case there is some little difference. In the shooting for game there is the lust of blood. The fear of losing a good shot many times blinds and numbs the gunners to the dangers to others in the immediate vicinity. There should be a movement to stop it. The mere crediting of such deaths to accident should not enable the offender to escape scot free. Some penalty should be imposed even where the case is clearly accidental. Then greater care would be used by the gunners. The loss of a deer, or a few months imprisonment, if they be the means of saving even one life from this menace each season are not any punishment for the results secured.

BRAINTREE SCHOOL CENSUS.

Mrs. Gracia Dyer of Pond street who has been busily engaged in taking the school census has completed her work and reports the general satisfaction of the parents with the schools. In some few cases and in only one section did she hear any dissatisfaction. Of school children between the ages of five and fifteen there are 1618 of which 784 are girls and 834 are boys. Between the ages of seven and fourteen there are 1148, of which 554 are girls and 594 are boys.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

The action opens with the appearance of Robin Red, Prince Sunshine's herald who calls the flowers and invites them to the May day ball. The discussion is on what shall be worn, the flowers being attired in quiet costumes of brown. After singing "What shall we wear to the ball" the flowers flock off to prepare, leaving Cinderella the Daisy disconsolate at having no costume and being unable to attend. Cinderella decides that although she cannot go she will help those who are going and when her proud sisters Hollyhock and Tiger Lily enter in radiant costumes she assists them.

After they leave Nature, the Godmother enters. She sends Bonnie Bee the little page for a charm which changes Cinderella's homely gown into a beautiful ball costume. Bonnie Bee brings two Butterflies and the Godmother gives Cinderella warning not to linger at the ball after the flower closes. The scene closes with a charming tableau showing Cinderella, driving the Butterflies with Bonnie Bee as trainbearer, waving good bye to the Godmother.

In the third scene flowers and Robin Red are at the ball awaiting the arrival of Prince Sunshine who soon enters followed by a crowd of sunbeams. After the flowers are presented by Robin Red, Cinderella is announced and the Prince goes, himself to meet her.

She enters driving the butterflies and accompanied by the Prince and Bonnie Bee. Although all the flowers, have tried to make an impression the Prince has eyes for none but Cinderella. The ball continues and among the dances a pretty minuet is performed.

Although constantly reminded by Bonnie Bee Cinderella outstays the closing of the four-o'clock and, is compelled to rush off, losing a slipper in the attempt.

The sunbeams and flowers continue to make mery but flee on the approach of the raindrops who carry watering pots and are gleeful over their prank. They soon regret their act and running out return each with a sunbeam and form a rainbow with which the act closes.

In scene four Cinderella is seen in her rags wondering if the ball is all a dream and her sisters returning drenched with rain assure her it was.

The Prince however comes searching for his lost love who left her slipper and after vain attempts with the others Robin Red tries the slipper on Cinderella. It fits and the Godmother transforms her into a beautiful princess.

She and the Prince are united and the assembled company bow as she is crowned.

The extravaganza closed with a tableau showing the Prince and Princess on a pedestal surrounded by groupings of the cast.

The Social Realm

Mr. Roscoe R. Ricker, the well-known violinist of this city, in company with the Bostonia Sextette club, is on a two weeks' tour of the principal southern cities. It will give Mr. Ricker's many local friends pleasure to know that the young artist is being greeted by strange audiences with the same hearty enthusiasm which has always characterized his public performances, both in his native city, and in Boston. The following criticism appeared in a Richmond, Va., paper, on the morning after Mr. Ricker had appeared before an audience of three thousand people: "His first violin—Mr. Ricker having the appearance of a regular man, astounded us with the smooth flowing, and soft beauty of his playing. Without airs or graces he stood and played with exquisite tone and polished technique that marks the genuine artist."

A very pretty dancing party, the second entertainment of the year was given last evening at the Cochato Club, Braintree. The floor was all that could be desired, while the many brilliant and striking dresses of the ladies added zest and color to the scene. Delicious punch was served throughout the evening which was most refreshing to the dancers. The music consisted of five peices of the club's most popular orchestra, Mace Gay. One of his pleasing features is the readiness following encores thus lengthening each dance. Among those present were: Elmer E. Abercrombie, Miss Louise Abercrombie, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Averill, Miss Helen Averill, Edward Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Elisha B. Bird, Mrs. W. E. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. TO GREET THE PROBATIONERS

Supt. Mulready Will Visit Local Court for Purpose

CITIZENS INVITED TO ATTEND

Eward Mulready, superintendent of the probation officers of the state will make a visit of inspection to the district court tonight. There is a class of about fifty probationers who are due to report at that time and Supt. Mulready will be on hand to see how the system is working in Quincy. Judge Avery will also be present and he has invited a number of business men to attend that they may see how the system is being worked out in Quincy.

Judge Avery is a great believer in the probation system. Under this system as worked out in Quincy a man convicted of a minor offense is given an opportunity to reform by being placed on probation. In other cases where a fine is imposed the sentence is suspendid for a definite period during which suspension the party has an opportunity to pay his fine on the instalment plan. In this way the payment of a fine does not come so hard on a man with a family yet at the same time he receives a punishment.

BANQUET PART OF CELEBRATION

WARD FOUR MEN GETTING BUSY

Lively Time at the Good Government Session

LONG TO BE REMEMBERED

The ward four good government association held quite a lively and enthusiastic meeting Friday night. The hall was filled to the doors with a good representation of the heaviest tax payers of the ward, John Evans, occupied the chair while P. T. Fallon, Councilman Boyd, Councilman at large, Sandberg, Candidate for Councilman Little. Candidate for Council Shea, Candidate for Councilman at large Earl. Robert Teasdale, John Casey, Patrick Tagney, Walter Ripley, Thomas J. Lamb, T. I. Toombs and several others kept the ball a rolling without any intermission for hours. At one time the discussion got so hot that the President had a hard time to keep the speakers from over reaching the mark. In fact, it was a meeting long to be remembered something new to ward four.

It is claimed it is time for all the other wards of the city to follow this lead and get together and tell the Councilmen what they want done and what they don't want the association claims it is time the city lived within its income and the voters should get together and let the city government know Messrs Sandberg and Fallon were elected to represent the association at the Board of Trade meeting in regard to the Railroad matter.

RESOLUTIONS.

At the regular meeting of the Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy, held Nov. 11, 1912, it was voted:

That this Board wishes to express its appreciation of the services of all who helped to make a success of the recent campaign to raise $35,000 for the purpose of paying off the debt of the City Hospital of Quincy, especially

To the Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association for generously placing their building at the disposal of the Committees as headquarters of the campaign,

To the Secretary and many members of the Y. M. C. A. for the great assistance rendered in laying out and conducting the campaign,

To the Members of the General Committee, the Publicity Committee, and to the Collectors, who gave so freely of their time with such splendid results,

To the ladies of the Hospital Aid Association and others who so kindly provided the suppers and served them to the workers,

To the local press, whose extended notices of the progress of the campaign were of the greatest possible help to the cause, and

To our contributing friends, whose response to our call for funds was so prompt and liberal.

VOTED: That the Secretary be instructed to publish the above vote in the local papers and that a copy of the vote be sent to each individual who took part in the campaign.

TIMOTHY REED, Secretary.
Quincy, Nov. 11, 1912.

MAY PRESS ON TO BOSPHORUS

Turkey's Rejection Habit Not Pleasing to Allies

TERMS MAY BE MODIFIED

Ottoman Government Would Perhaps Agree to Enter Into Negotiations Should Balkan League Not Insist Upon Surrender of Lines Which Form Gates of Constantinople

London, Nov. 23.—In rejecting the terms laid down by the allies as a condition of granting the armistice asked for by Turkey it is not believed that the porte has any idea that it can win any real military success at the Tchatalja lines. The come-and-take-them attitude is only a phase of Oriental diplomacy.

It is quite likely that the allies will modify their terms—perhaps intended to from the start. The danger in the situation lies in the fact that a continued exercise of the rejection habit might get on the nerves of the Balkan armies and the on-to-the-Bosphorus battle cry becomes too strong to resist.

Europe could hardly put a veto upon the entry of the allies into Constantinople if Turkey refuses to accept the results of the battlefield. In view of the fact that the Ottoman capital, even if captured, must ultimately be evacuated in accordace with the promise of the allies and the desire of the great powers, it may be the Balkan league will not insist on the surrender of the lines which form virtually the gates of the city.

If this demand be withdrawn, Turkey, recognizing that she has no prospect of taking the offensive for the recovery of her lost territory, might conclude that she has nothing to gain by continuing the conflict. She would perhaps agree to enter into negotiations on the basis of a surrender of all but a reasonable strip of territory at the back of Constantinople, the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

It would seem, however, that the Turkish officials have not abandoned hope that the powers will come to their rescue and attempt to dictate a compromise, but Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, announced the powers had not gone so far as to arrange a general conference after the conclusion of the war. Their only agreement, as far as surface indications go, is to keep their hands off.

Fighting continues along the entire line of fortifications at Tchatalja, according to dispatches from Constantinople. The Bulgarians are continuing their efforts to break through the Turkish lines, but have hitherto been prevented from doing so by the fire of the Turkish warships.

The Greeks have occupied the island of Mytilene preparatory, it is said, to a movement in the rear of the Dardanelles.

The resumption of hostilities has started rumors afresh from Vienna of Austrian and Russian mobilizations on their borders, and a naval demonstration by the triple alliance on the Albanian coast, if Servia pushes her onward march to the coveted seaport.

The first classes of the reserves of six Austro-Hungarian army corps have been called to the colors, according to a dispatch from Vienna. Three of these army corps are stationed in the north and three in the southeast of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

ALLEGED POISONER OF HIS FIRST WIFE

Grand Jury Indicts Doctor For First Degree Murder

Springfield, O., Nov. 23.—Dr. Arthur B. Smith, who married Miss Mabel Merchant, a nurse, of Newton, Mass., in October, was indicted by a special grand jury for first degree murder, on the charge of poisoning his first wife, Mrs. Florence C. Smith, who died March 18, 1912.

The physician is accused of having administered cyanide of potassium to the first Mrs. Smith, under whose will he was the principal beneficiary.

It was the marriage of Smith to Miss Merchant, whom he first met while she was nursing Mrs. Smith, that led the authorities to begin an investigation.

Her body was exhumed and the contents of the stomach were analyzed by chemists.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

New Wrinkles in Selling Science Explained to Nation's Shop Girls by Boston Expert—Pleas for Early Christmas Shopping are Spirited as Usual—Corn Show Interests both Hubbites and Country Cousins—Still another of the Literati Comes out for Woman Suffrage—The Views of Miss Frothingham.

About this time of year listen to the early Christmas shopping carols which are heard on all sides. Among the local carolers are business men of the Boston Chamber of Commerce who emphatically urge the shoppers to do their buying now instead of waiting until three days before the holiday. They do not, however, offer any recipe for obtaining the cash with which to make the early purchases. Another suggestion which the street commissioners have set forth is that pedestrians who use the shopping district from now until Christmas keep to the right on the sidewalks, walking not more than two abreast, and refraining from stopping for conversation on the corners. It is thought that there are Bostonians who might be able to refrain from the provincial habit. This proposal, however, is not intended as an insult, but as a step toward obviating the fearful congestion of the narrow streets in the shopping district during the holiday rush.

Corn on the ear, on the stalk and on the walls is making Horticultural Hall look like a Kansas corn field gone astray. The big New England exposition opened November 20, after expert decorators had made an appropriate setting for the scenes of outdoor farm life which afford much interest. Corn contests to the number of 148 furnished amusement and interest and a great shelling-out contest held on Friday afternoon brought 80 entries and shelled a ton and a half of corn. Perhaps the most attractive contest of the exposition is that open to farmers' wives for the best display of corn gems, muffins or fancy corn cakes, and another one for girls under 18 years for the best Johnny cake.

The sales mentor of the American shop girl is a Boston woman Mrs. Lucinda Prince, who is now touring the country, stopping at the larger cities and teaching saleswomen the most up-to-date and scientific manner of selling goods and thereby raising the value of their own services. Mrs. Prince established her fame through her school for the instruction of salesgirls at the Women's Educational and Industrial Union several years ago, in which five of the great department stores of Boston co-operated. The course covers many subjects, such as knowledge of stock, business arithmetic, hygiene, commercial geography and a good vocabulary. Perhaps the most interesting phase of the instruction from the public point of view is the training in mind reading, so to speak. The properly trained salesgirl, according to Mrs. Prince, can tell at a glance whether the approaching customer is of the nervous, emotional, undecided or whatever type, whether she is changeable, "only looking" or out for real business. These points she sizes up as you approach the counter, along with points regarding the size, probable quality, and style of articles that you are likely to want. The result of this preliminary survey is that the salesgirl is able to prescribe just the thing you wanted, though perhaps you yourself didn't feel quite sure before, and the sale is made in a fraction of the usual time with no wear or tear on either side. Mrs. Prince also takes up the personal habits of the girls, the friends they cultivate, the books they read, the matter of properly hygienic clothing, and all the things which go to make not only good saleswomen but good women. The work has been remarkably successful and Boston friends of Mrs. Prince see very little of her owing to the demand from other cities and towns.

One of the latest converts to suffragism in the Hub is a well known writer, Eugenia Brooks Frothingham, whose novel "The Turn of the Road" was one of the six best sellers of a few years ago. Miss Frothingham as a member of a distinguished Back Bay family with generation upon generation of treasurers and tradition behind her, admits that she does not feel the need of a vote for herself particularly, but she clearly sees the needs of other women whose lives have been differently ordered. Miss Frothingham speaks ardently of the reasons why equal suffrage is desirable, and lays her emphasis no so much on the friends of the cause as upon the enemies. She says: "I believe in votes for women because of some of the people who don't believe in it. We are told to judge a man by his friends and I think we can judge him by his enemies also. The enemies of our movement are liquor interests, white slave traffickers, masters of industries that make big profits out of child labor and a starvation wage for women. Political machines, ignorance of facts and prejudice, greed, corruption—these are the enemies to be proud of, and we women are proud of them. We think we could not have a higher tribute than the thousands of dollars they spend each year to defeat us."

SEVERAL "JOBS" BY M'MANIGAL

Tells of Part He Played In Dynamiting Non-Union Work

REALIZED HE WAS FOLLOWED

Says McNamara Suggested That Room Next to Burns' Office Be Hired and an Electric Wire Put Through Wall to Connect With Bomb In Detective's Desk to Get Him Out of Way

Indianapolis, Nov. 23.—Explosions on non-union iron works in Milwaukee, Omaha, and Springfield, Mass., were explained by Ortie E. McManigal at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial as having been done by him shortly before he and James B. McNamara, arriving in Detroit to "clean up" that city, were arrested with suitcases filled with dynamite.

For weeks before his arrest, he testified, he had observed he was being followed and had seen strange heads dodging around the corners of elevator shafts in the iron workers' headquarters in Indianapolis.

"I told James B. before we started for Detroit that William J. Burns had detectives after us; that detectives were even coming up near the vault where we stored the dynamite and that one of them followed me on the street when I was going with a suitcase of dynamite to blow up the South Chicago job," said McManigal.

"McNamara said if we saw any more of them we would go to Chicago and rent a room next to Burns' office, put an electric wire through the wall and arrange to set off from our room a bomb in Burns' desk when he was sitting there. That would make an end of our troubles with him, he said. I told him I didn't think we would do anything of the kind or ever get near Burns."

That was about April 5, 1911, McManigal said. He and McNamara were arrested seven days later.

For blowing up an unloading hoist and damaging a steamer near the docks at Milwaukee on March 16, with a loss of $50,000, McManigal said, he received the compliments of John J. McNamara "for the best job he ever did."

When he destroyed part of the Douglas county courthouse at Omaha on March 24, he said he was "called down" because he did not cause the explosion to occur at exactly the same hour James B. blew up a job at Columbus, Ind., a telegraphic signal having been arranged to send word when he was ready to John J. at Indianapolis.

At John J.'s instructions, McManigal said, he went to Springfield, Mass., and there met Michael J. Young, the union official at Boston, who pointed out a tower in the group of municipal buildings he wanted blown. "Young told me to lay the tower flat on the ground," testified McManigal. I put two bombs in the tower about 3 and took a train for Utica, where I examined a vest pocket gun. Then I went to Rochester, N. Y., and bought a dozen alarm clocks to be used in making bombs.

"After I returned to Indianapolis we mapped out the tour jobs to be blown up in Detroit. J. J. said we were to receive $200 for each job. I went to Detroit to look over the ground, purchasing a map of the city there on which I marked the location of the American Bridge company, the Detroit Bridge and Iron Works and two other iron works that were to be blown up the same night.

"I then went to Chicago, to visit my home. On April 11 I left for Toledo to meet James B. at the station there. The next day we went to Detroit and were arrested."

McManigal testified he and James B. had been promised $300 for causing an explosion at South Chicago on Feb. 24 and that they were unable to place the bombs near enough to the plant because of the glare of nearby furnaces.

"We complained to J. J. about not getting our money," said the witness. "He answered he was waiting to receive the payment from Chicago local No. 1, but he thought they wouldn't pay $300 for putting a bomb near a fence."

Defense Fund by A. F. of L.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The American Federation of Labor decided to ask the unions affiliated with it to raise money for the defense of the alleged dynamiters who are on trial in Indianapolis.

The resolution adopted by the convention was that delegates to the convention on their return advise their international unions and local bodies to provide financial assistance for the trade unionists on trial in Indianapolis to aid them in securing a fair trial and in appealing the cases should fair trial be denied them."

The resolution also urged that the men on trial "net be convicted in advance or the decision in their cases be influenced" by the alleged fact that certain corporations and a private detective agency "are clamoring for a conviction."

BRAINTREE PHILERGIANS.

The club house was a scene of beauty and activity on Tuesday when members and guests taxed the seating capacity of Cochato hall, to hear Miss Ellen Paine Huling give her lecture on "Labrador Through a Woman's Eyes." The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon with beautiful colored slides, Miss Huling gave her listeners a very clear idea of the life and manner of the people in that far north country. Curios were shown and the Misses Dorothy and Louise Bower represented Labrador women in native dress. Mrs. Elsie Cooper, contributed vocal solos and was encored; Mrs. Helen Ellsworth, accompanied.

The hall was decorated in club colors for the annual Guest Day, yellow and white chrysanthemums. There were thirty guests of honor, officers of neighboring clubs, whom the president Mrs. George O. Wales, welcomed in the club's behalf; these guests were presented with yellow chrysanthemums. The color scheme was also carried out in the ices served those who presided at the tables were Mrs. William F. Rogers, Mrs. George E. Williams; Mrs. Frank H. Dearing and Miss Bertha M. Arnold.

During the business hour reports and announcements were made for the various departments by:

Mrs. John T. Conway, home economics.

Mrs. James H. Stedman, education.

Mrs. Eugene L. Webber, legislative,

Mrs. Albert E. Avery, literature.

Mrs. Harold M. Gage who represents the club in the Braintree friendly Aid Association.

Wednesday afternoon Pietro Isola's lecture to the Art Class was on Spanish architecture. He threw on the screen glimpses of cities and towns of Spain, showing cathedrals, mosques, palaces, bridges, a Roman aquaeduct, and the Alhambra. The places visited are; Burgos, Madriad, Toledo, Seville, Malaga, Granada, and Cordova, the last named Mr. Isola calls a "typical city of the Moors." The next lecture will be Wednesday, December 4th.

The literature and library extension committee has arranged for a class in modern literature under the leadership of Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney. The first lecture will be Monday, January 13th.

PENSION PLAN IS RIDICULED

Public Officials at Washington Against Carnegie Offer

DIGNITY OF EX-PRESIDENTS

Opinion That It Would Suffer by Accepting Gratuity—Called "Insult" by Hannis Taylor and "Impudence" by Champ Clark—Bryan's Plan Favored by Many Congressmen

Washington, Nov. 23.—With almost unbroken unanimity public officials and other prominent persons at the national capital disapprove of the plan of the Carnegie foundation to give ex-presidents of the nation an annual pension of $25,000. That acceptance of such a gratuity is beneath the dignity of one who has filled the highest office in the land is the general objection to the plan.

President Taft was not accessible to callers, being occupied in dictating his annual message. Just what his view of the matter is his friends could not ascertain.

Hannis Taylor, former minister to Spain, said that he considered Mr. Carnegie's offer as nothing less than an "insult" to the president and ex-presidents, as well as to their widows.

"I think," said Taylor, "that an ex-President of the United States would reject such a gratuity as beneath the dignity of one who had filled that high office. The idea of an ex-President of the United States stooping to accept an annuity from a private corporation, as if the people of the nation are not able to take care of those whom they have honored with election to the presidency!"

Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, was brief in his comment. "I don't want to talk about it; it isn't worth talking about," said he.

"I think it is a piece of impudence on his part to suggest such a thing, and a reflection on the people that it should be considered," said Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, who was a member of President Cleveland's second cabinet.

"Grover Cleveland, to my mind, put it right when he said that all there was to do for ex-presidents was to treat them just as we would any good citizen," said Senator Gore. "I am not sur ethat an ex-president who would accept such a pension would receive or be entitled to the continued respect of the people of the United States. The idea of giving a pension to the widows of ex-presidents to secure to the country the benefit of their knowledge and experience in public affairs is possibly a joke, but not a very good one."

There are a number of members of congress who favor William J. Bryan's plan to admit former executives to the councils of the nation, by granting them a place in the house or senate as a sort of ex-officio counsellor. A few members were willing that congress should annually provide a comfortable income for such counsellors.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Jane R. Duncan late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for Probate, by Lawrence D. Duncan, Jr., of said Quincy, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Brookline in said County of Norfolk on the twenty-seventh day of November A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifteenth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

JOHN D. COBB, Register.

ETTOR'S CASE OVER TO MONDAY

District Attorney Still Arguing This Afternoon

CHARGE NEXT WEEK

The case of Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso, charged with the murder of the Lopizzo woman during the Lawrence strike, now on trial at Salem was not concluded today as was confidently expected.

District Attorney Harry C. Atwill of Lynn, was addressing the jury, making his closing argument for the prosecution, up to three o'clock this afternoon.

How much longer he planned to talk was not known, as the judge had set no limit on the counsel on the matter of argument.

Ettor the leading figure in the strike and likewise the central figure of the trial wanted to address the jury and his counsel may decide to permit him to do so.

It is hardly likely that under the circumstances Judge Quinn, will charge the jury today. It is more than likely that when Atwill finished the court adjourned to Monday when the Judge will charge the jury and the fate of the three men will then be in the hands of the twelve good men and true.

BRIEFS

Mrs. John Tilley is very ill at her home on Sea street, with pneumonia.

Miss Edith Randall who has been confined to the house with a severe cold is convalescing.

The Ladies Catholic club of Houghs Neck is to hold a dance this evening at Brown's bungalow.

Miss Etta Hanson entertained the Murray club at dinner at her home on Hancock street, Thursday evening.

Nothing doing in the City Council Monday evening. The next meeting will be held, Dec. 2, the night before the election.

The pupils of the public schools will have a few days vacation next week. Schools will close Wednesday for the balance of the week.

The November meeting of the Hospital Aid Association will be held next Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Luther W. Glover, corner of Goffe and Adams street.

The Quincy Choral Society announces that there will be no rehearsal next Tuesday evening, owing to the Thanksgiving recess. The next rehearsal will be held Tuesday, Dec. 3.

One of the spectacular things to be seen, at times, is the rush of Chief Litchfield in his big red car and the auto chemical from the central station through City Square in responding to an alarm, after sundown.

The Quincy Women's club meets Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock sharp to discuss changes in by-laws and other business which will precede the afternoon's program of music and a recital by John Orth at three o'clock.

Funeral services for Miss Isabel F. P. Emery who died on Friday at the Quincy Hospital after a few day's illness of pneumonia, are to be held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in Memorial Congregational church, Atlantic.

A large and powerful vaccum cleaner car of the street railway has been stationed at the Quincy barn for the past two weeks cleaning out the cars. it is almost useless however for with the present dry weather the dust accumulates in the cars faster than it can be taken out.

At the brilliant ball given at the Copley—Plaza hotel, Boston, Thursday evening by Mrs. Henry Cabet Lodge, for the debut of her granddaughter, Miss Constance Gardner, music contributed greatly to the success. George Monk of this city was in the orchestra.

GIRLS READY FOR THE FRAY

Quincy Gyms Start Basket Ball Schedule with Needham

HOME GAMES TUESDAY

The Quincy Gym Girls, the only organization in this city that plays girls' basket ball and is ready at all times to meet all comers will open their season at St. Mary's hall, on Tuesday evening when they play the Needham Girls. The local girls have been working themselves into the best of condition because they not only expect to win after a hard game, but to go through this season with as fine a record as that of last year.

Miss Helen F. Mitchel, manager, is negotiating for games with Wellesley, North Easton, Randolph , Stoughton, Worcester, Needham, Cunningham Gym, Melrose, Roxbury Y. W. C. A., Sharon and Revere. It is planned to have a game in this city on every Tuesday evening.

The following schedule has been arranged to date:

Nov. 26, Needham at Quincy.
December 10, Needham at Needham.
Dec. 17, Randolph at Quincy.
Jan. 27, Worcester at Worcester.
Feb. 25, Stoughton at Quincy.

The team will be very strong this year and Miss Mildred Smith, Miss Helena Clark and Miss Edith Mullen are expected to excell in their positions this year.

Miss Edith Mullen will play centre, Miss Mildred Smith at right forward, Miss Isadora Beale, left forward, Miss Helena Clark, right back, Miss Mary Beale, left back and Miss Ruth Hildebrand will be the utility player.

HUNTER—FORSYTH.

Miss Lilla May Forsyth and Walter Clarence Hunter were married Wednesday night by Rev. J. Walther of the Wollaston Baptist church. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Forsyth, 25 Rawson road. At 7.30 mid strains of that famous wedding march and beneath a canopy of evergreens and lilies the knot was tied. Only the family of bride and groom were present at the ceremony.

The reception which followed the ceremony was attended by upwards of 150 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth and Mrs. Hunter.

The bride was most charmingly gowned in white satin and carried white bridal roses.

After an extended trip Mr. and Mrs. Hunter wil reside at 25 Rawson road, Norfolk Downs.

DISTRICT COURT.

Lindsy Hooper and Walter A. Johnson were fined $10 each for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

Patrick O'Connell was fined $10 for digging clams without a permit at Quincy.

Michael McDonough and John J. Mahoney were fined $50 each for digging clams at Quincy without a permit. In these cases it was their second offense in which case the law provides that the minimum fine shall not be less than $50.

Michael O'Connell was fined $15 for drunkenness at Braintree. Sentence suspended until March 5, 1913.

The continued case of Frank Kaufmann for alleged larceny of jewelry, etc., was heard and again continued until next Wednesday.

SILVER LINKS HOLD HIS ARM

Dr. Bund Exhibits Result of Remarkable Operation

James Coleran of Weymouth who had his right arm broken and so badly lacerated by being caught in a shafting, that it was thought impossible to save the arm and who was for six months at the Quincy City hospital under the care of Dr. L. B. Lund of Boston, and who succeeding in saving the arm, attended a meeting of the Massachusetts Medical society at the medical library of Boston, Wednesday evening, and Dr. Lund lectured and exhibited the arm to the physicians present. The arm was so badly broken that it was necessary to bore through the bone and insert silver plates, which resulted in the bones netting together.

CHRISTMAS LIPPINCOTT'S

A strong Yule-tide spirit pervades the pages of December Lippincott's and good cheer predominates. There is a complete novel, of course—"The Glimmer Glass," by Augusta Kortrech, whose recently published book "A Dixie Rose in Bloom," has made something of a stir. "The Glimmer Glass" is a breezy love-story, remarkable not only for the newness of its plot, but for its admirable local color, for its repression, and for its fidelity to life. The scenes are laid in Tranquil Harbor, a quaint village on the New Jersey coast, which gives the author a rare opportunity to display her skill in character delineation, of which she takes full advantage.

Short-stories that breathe of the holiday season are "A Christmas Blessing," by Harriet Prescott Spofford; "The Woman at the Door," by John Nichalos Beffel; "TwoTails," by Owen Oliver; and "Mercy's Goodness," by Ellis O. Jones. Lucy Copinger contributes "Gurls is Fierce," a funny story of primary-school children, while Temple Bailey is responsible for a clever and touching little tale entitled "Grandma." Then there is another "Short-Story Masterpiece"—the third of the Russian series: "A Long Exile," by Tolstoi.

As usual there is an introduction by the editor.

UP TO RICHARDS.

"I think my friend John R. Richards of Quincy will come as The Rockland Commercial Club's guest one of these days and give us a talk on the value of granite" says Flashes of the Rockland Independent. "He tells me that people like to hear about live things not dead 'uns but some people can make dead things seem lively and John is one of them. R S V. P Mr. Richards."

SOUTH BRAINTREE

Mrs. E. S. Loring of Franklin street is confined to her home by a rheumatic trouble.

Friends are glad to know that Mrs. Dexter Holbrook is recovered from her recent illness.

Miss Adelaide Gibson of Highland avenue has returned from a visit with Mrs. L. W. Smith of Whitman.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron A. Haskell of Franklin street welcomed a little son at their home, Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Q. Taylor of Central street have been entertaining the former's mother Mrs. Taylor of Dover, N. H.

Miss Marion Dyer of Salem has been the guest several days this week of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Palmer of Highland avenue.

Mrs. J. Warren Bates of Union street is quite ill at her home. She is being cared for by her mother Mrs. G. H. Jones of Pearl street.

Mrs. Horace A. Jones and Miss Evelyn Jones of Tremont street have returned from a four weeks' visit in Brunswick and Augusta, Maine.

Otis B. Oakman, John M. Townsend, William H. Heath and David T. Pottinger will witness the Harvard-Yale football game at New Haven this afternoon.

The people of the town are very sorry to learn of the illness of Dr. J. William Watson who has been suffering since last Saturday with diphtheria. At last accounts he was resting comfortably.

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. George W. Stevens of Tremont street entertained the members of the Ivaloo club. This is probably the longest established club of this kind in town and their meetings are characterized by social and friendly relations.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR POND HOME

Fine Musical and Literary Program at Home of Prof. Bickford

Lovers of good music and fine elocution, enjoyed a rare treat Friday evening, when Professor and Mrs. Charles Bickford opened their charming home on Hancock stret and entertained under the auspices of Charitable Ten King's Daughters. The program which was varied and interesting pleased the audience and called forth repeated applause.

Professor Bickford who introduced the artists by his ready wit and keen sense of humor kept his listeners in hearty sympathy with him.

The first number was a reading by Mrs. Bickford, "The Wishless Land," read in her accustomed graceful manner.

Mrs. Mary Hastings Slade rendered a group of songs by Mary Turner Salter, Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann accompanying at the piano. "Since First I Met Thee," "In the Garden," and "Requiem," Mrs. Slade's round, pure voice always pleases and her selections were particularly expressive.

Walter C. Guild of Boston recited, "The Mourning Veil," which was so cleverly rendered, he responded to repeated calls with humorous selections.

Miss Ruth Keating rendered on the violin "De Beriot Concerto," in A minor, interpreting the music in a brilliant and thoroughly artistic manner; responding with Beethoven Minuet, G No. 2, Miss Teresa Keating accompanied her sister at the piano.

Mrs. William F. Hodgkinson read, "Ann Teek's Black Silk Dress," a very pathetic story of a woman's self denial Mrs. Hodgkinson possesses a sweet, well modulated voice and her selection was very pleasing.

Professor Bickford introducing himself in a very witty manner, which caused much merriment, read "Luke" by Bret Harte, in his own particular style. He responded with, "The Night Wind," which was so natural, is made one shiver.

Mrs. Slade again favored with a song "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Water," by Charles Cadman which was much enjoyed.

The entertainment closed with an "Impersonation of a Country Gossip" by Mr. Guild. He responded with "The Dude's Soliloquy." Mr. Guild is remarkably gifted in the portrayal of the humorous and ludicrous side of human nature and kept the audience in a continual state of laughter.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to Pond Home for aged people. Professor and Mrs. Bickford are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts. They proved themselves delightful host and hostess.

Social Realm

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Persis Anna Thompson to Edward Russell Hall at the Wollaston Unitarian church, December the third.

* * *

The regular social meeting of the Quincy Women's Riverside club which occurs Nov. 27 has been postponed to Dec. 4 owing to the Thanksgiving holiday. The program will be musical and literary including a paper by Mrs. Miriam Watts on "The life and letters of Charles Lamb." R. D. Green, baritone will be among the musicians and the program will be one of unusual merit.

* * *

The large social function next week in which not only Quincy people, but many from neighboring towns and Greater Boston are interested in the annual assembly at Music hall under the auspices of the Civic Committee of the Quincy Women's club. Mrs. Oscar Allen Blaisdell, Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard and Mrs. Theophilus King are to matronize the affair.

* * *

The Brockton Enterprise of Tuesday in reporting the annual musicale of the Brockton Woman's club said the "musicale was delightful." It was given by Henry Eichheim, violinist, formerly with the Boston Symphony orchestra; Frederic Kennedy, tenor soloist at Rogers Memorial church, Fairhaven, who gave so much pleasure by his singing at the Quincy Choral society concert; Miss Estelle Patterson, soprano soloist at Mt. Vernon church, Boston, and Mrs. Jennie Hocking Hunt of Quincy, organist at All Souls' church, Braintree.

* * *

The Quincy Tennis club is arranging for its annual dancing party at Music hall the date being Dec. 27, during the Christmas holidays.

LED TO VICTORY BY NEW LEADER

Patternmakers Walloped the Sparks Out of Electricians

OTHER BOWLING GAMES

The Patternmakers won their first three points in one match at the Coliseum Alleys, Friday evening when they defeated the Electricians, 3 to 1. They have chosen a new captain and J. Sprenkel will be their future leader.

The Shipfitters beat the Machinists Gallery 3 to 1, and the Yard took four points from the Government Draftsmen.

Hansen was high man with a single of 126 and total of 297.

Paul Poehter, a recognized "champ" rolled three strings to limber up and averaged 114.

QUAKERS' WON.

The Quaker A. C. defeated the Cranch A. A. at Nelson's field this morning, by a score of 26 to 0. The features of the game were the tackling of Mahoney for the losers and the forward passing of Kelliher and the rushing of the Quaker's backfield, also the blocking of the punts by the Quaker's line.

BOY KILLED SISTER

Judge Says Parents Should Prevent Children Using Firearms

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 23.—"I emphatically state that boys of 14 years of age and under should not be allowed by their parents to use firearms."

This was the statement of Judge Pickman as he announced his finding of the inquest held on the body of Grace J. Webster, 10 years old, who was shot and killed by her brother, Ralph, 12. Pickman said he could not hold the boy criminally responsible for his act.

SHERMAN'S AIR THEIR TROUBLE

East Weymouth Woman Accused Husband of Choking Her

CAT AND DOG LIFE SHE SAID

According to the story told by Mrs. Fannie Sherman of East Weymouth, in court this morning the course of wedded bliss has not run very smoothly in her family for some time. The cause of the court case was her complaint against her husband Joseph A. Sherman for non support. Both parties were represented by counsel, and the story of the family difficulties was somewhat amusing. Mrs. Sherman said that it was a regular cat and dog fight all of the time. That she and her husband never sat down to a social chat. That the menu for breakfast was a scrap and likewise the same for dinner and supper. Several times her husband had threatened to shoot and kill her and that several times he had grabbed her by the throat and choked her.

When asked by counsel for Sherman if she did not throw the sugar bowl at her husband one time and she said "no" in a most emphatic manner. What she had done was to throw the coffee pot at him and it hit him in the head. The reason she did this was because he had choked her.

She said that he had repeatedly said that he was going to get out and last October she told him that he had better do it if he wanted to and he went. Last Monday he came back and kicked in the door and wanted to make up and start all over again, but she would not have it.

The trouble last Monday started because he wanted his life insurance policy which he could not find.

She said he had accused her of infidelity with the milk man which was the reason that she would not make up, then again it would be useless as their temperments were so much different.

It was also claimed that the house was in her name and that was another cause for the family trouble. On one occasion when he was choking her the daughter ran out and got help. Her husband she also said had repeatedly threatened to get a revolver and pop her when she was not looking.

Several times during her testimony the audience broke out into laughter which required considerable pounding of the gavel by the court officer and threats to clear the room.

FRIENDS HONOR AN OLD FRIEND

Galen Bowditch Helped to Celebrate His 75th Birthday

SOME CELEBRATION

Galen Vinton Bowditch, the veteran press messenger, and a man for many years familiar to Quincy people, was 75 years young Saturday. Friday the employees in the office of the Boston Globe made the approaching event a feature of the afternoon at which Galen was the chief guest. Saturday night he was the guest of the Washington M. French Hose Association at Union hall.

A large number of the old fire veterans turned out to help Galen remember the day, and in addition to these there were many active firemen of the present day present, as well as city officials and friends. Galen, in his Prince Albert, was early on the scene and not for a minute would one imagine that 75 eventful years had passed over his head, for he seemed as young and active as the youngest.

The reception was from 8 to 11.30 and started off with a lunch, which included chicken salad and other things good to eat. In the centre of the table was a large bouquet of chrysanthemums while at each plate was a fragrant carnation, which was immediately transferred to the coat lapels. Galen occupied the seat of honor in the centre of the long table and directly in front of him was a full length picture of the veteran that had been taken Saturday by the Globe artist. It was a perfect likeness.

On the opposite wall was the cartoon also drawn by a Globe artist which showed Galen with his usual cigar in one corner of his mouth while in his right hand was his time worn umbrella the point of which held the G. O. P. party elephant pinned to the floor.

Previous to the supper Galen held an informal reception, in which he was assisted in receiving by Fred F. French, the president of the association, Jesse F. Curtis the genial secretary, District Engineer Frank C. Packard and members of the general committee. Galen had a good word of greeting for all and was in turn showered with good wishes for a long life and a merry one.

Although Galen was enjoying himself to the uttermost he did not forget his duty as a messenger, and when the time came to start for Boston with his messages he hastily bade all good night, and telling them to enjoy themselves to their fill took his departure. The occasion for him and his friends had been a pleasant one.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

Mrs. Hannah Gearin, widow of the late Frank Gearin, died Sunday at her home 162 South Walnut street, in her 82d year. She was one of the original settlers in that part of Quincy Point known as Dublin, having lived there for about 45 years.

She was an active member of the St. John's church in her younger days and had a large acquaintance throughout the city.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Dennis Ford and Miss Elizabeth Gearin, and one son, John Gearin.

She will be buried on Thanksgiving day.

WILL INSPECT WATER FRONT

The first meeting of the citizens and City Council committees to consider a site for a public dock was held Saturday evening in the Mayor's office at City Hall. There were also present Mayor Stone, City Solicitor McAnarney and Dock Com. F. F. Crane. There was an informal discussion for an hour or more on the subject, largely as to advisability of a public dock. Then some question arose as to what the order called for, whether it was to consider the advisability of public dock or to consider sites.

City Clerk Crane was then sent for to produce the order which proved to be for a committee of the Council to consult with a committee to be ap-

FORTY YEARS OF PREACHING BY METHODISTS OF WOLLASTON

Society Had Hard Sledding For a Number of Years to Get Good Start and Build Church

Interesting Historical Address By the Pastor Rev. Wesley Wiggin

The closing services in observance of the 40th anniversary of Methodist preaching in Wollaston were held Sunday in the Wollaston Methodist church.

In the morning the pastor, Rev. Wesley Wiggin, preached on "Christ's commands imperative." Special music was sung by Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook and the quartet.

In the evening a ladies quartet was enjoyed with solos by Miss Holbrook. The pastor preached the historical sermon which concluded the observances.

He took his text from Psalm 126-3 "The Lord has done great things for us whereof we are glad."

He said:

"These are the words of the Psalmist uttered in appreciation of the Lord's benefits to himself and the people. It is good to remember God's gracious dealings with His people in every age of the world and to note the many blessings received from His hand.

"When we review the past and consider the influence, the power and the result of the Church in the world we are led to say in the language of the Psalmist, 'The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad.'

"The history of our local church is also noteworthy. Wollaston is beautiful for situation, picturesque in scenery, unsurpassed as a residential section of Quincy and from the commanding view from its Heights takes in the sweep of the horizon, the Great Blue Hill, Hingham, Nantasket, all of Boston Harbor and beyond Boston Light, across to Lynn and Marblehead, Boston and to Wachusetts. It is the Fifth Ward of Quincy, a city of two of our honored Presidents, the home of Granite Industries, and the great Fore River Shipbuilding Company, the Tubular Rivet Company, and the Boston Gear Works. A city that for the past ten years has made the greatest gain in population with but one exception and yet about 45 years covers its period of greatest growth.

"In this great growth the Churches

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

It was a runaway for Harvard in the first period.

No one said the Constitution prohibited women from voting. Neither did the Magna Charter, but it is not quoted in that respect.

The Socialists are opposed to war. No one expected the brethern to favor that any more than they do anything else. However it helps break their record of being at odds with the rest of the world.

Public men seem to be unanimous in their opposition to the Carnegie pensioning of ex-presidents. It is just like a hardheaded Scotch man to place the obligation as high up as possible.

Possibly if the opponents of the three decker owned land available for the purpose they would not be so strenuous in their opposition.

Mr. Root asked a question which should make every one sit up and think about, when he said, "Are we maintaining our capacity for free self government." Judging by the daily reports of what this and that leader says or does or plans to do in the disposition of officers and the like, it would be a safe guess that we have got long beyond that point and should immediately retrace our steps and get a new start.

One quart of string beans for a dinner for four. One would think the chef had planned a Belshazzer feast.

Seattle has been successful in one of the three recalls. This is more creditable to the people when it is considered the losses were because the executive would and did enforce the law.

For all of which we should offer up Thanksgiving we cheerfully do so.

One cafe, announces a special imported souvenir menu, for Thanksgiving. The diners would prefer to take the whole bill out in "eats."

Another treasury department official has resigned because he was not in accord with the chief. There was more in the claim of Piatt Andrew than many people were willing to credit.

That Ward Four Good Government Association is moving right along. Now let's hear some of the things they advocate to warrant the name.

Idaho came in rather late but she seems to have kept right in the beaten Wilson path.

That self appointed body of cabinet makers should give the President a chance. Maybe the poor man has some ideas of his own on the subject.

Joe Walker has demonstrated his independence and at the same time shown the Republican party whither its present course is going to lead.

Senator Lodge has always been accustomed of being a boss, a party boss. Might one ask if it is for the sole purpose of being bossed around or supplanting the old boss that certain men are making such strenuous efforts to gain control of the shipwrecked party?

The Ledger never does anything by halves. In view of the interest that is manifested in the coming inauguration of a new President at Washington next spring the Ledger has decided to send two people down there to witness the great event. Read the details of the offer.

NO LICENSE.

A week from tomorrow, the people of Quincy will perform their annual duty of electing a mayor and other city officials. In addition there is another duty which they should not shirk, but should be careful and not forget and that is vote on the license question. A great many people through indifference or from some other cause, get tired before they reach this part of the ticket. It is the real duty of every voter to vote every part of the ticket. There should be no shirking this responsibility. Laxity in the license matter may prove regrettable.

This city has always been counted in the no license column. There does not appear to be any occasion for a change at this time. In fact, it is evident to a majority of the people, that a change would be detrimental. With this view held by a majority of the citizens, it is safe to assume that they will go to the polls next week and vote in accordance with their views and keep the city where it has been for so many years, with a clean record on the license question. For fear there should be any slip up however it will be wise for every person against license not to forget to vote that way on election day, and thus make the majority more pronounced even than in former years.

WOOD MUST GO.

General Leonard A. Wood, will retire as chief of staff of the United States army, in March. Certain members of congress have desired his retirement some time ago, but they were unable to force him out. Among that number was congressman Hay, house chairman of the committee on military affairs. Gen. Wood, would naturally serve four years under the 1903 law, governing the general staff. But under the circumstances with a new president coming in and Mr. Hay's opposition well known there is every reason to believe that the general will resign rather than in any way embarrass the President.

Gen. Wood has proved a strong, capable and efficient officer. He has accomplished much in perfecting the army conditions, in all departments. That there are men who will be able to take his place and do as well, is accepted but it will be some time before the army will be accustomed to his absence as its chief.

A Maine paper says that in one forenoon recently a boy of thirteen and a girl of fourteen each picked five barrels of apples in the orchard of their mother, while their grandmother was picking four barrels. All the old-fashioned New England women aren't dead yet.—Somerville Journal.

Mr. Mackay Thinks Probationers Should Be Shielded

AND NOT EXPOSED

Editor Daily Ledger:

I see by the local papers that a number of business men were present at the court house Saturday evening, on invitation, to witness the workings of the probation system, when a class of fifty so called "probationers" called to pay instalments on their fines and be interviewed and admonished by the probation officer. So far as I am aware, I have no relative or friends in that "class," but the common impulse of fair play bids me speak out against this rather spectacular innovation in the reform movement.

These unfortunate people are entitled to be shielded from needless publicity when they call at the court house to comply with the orders of the court, and no possible good can come from letting disinterested people gaze upon them and hear their sad stories. They and their families have feelings and sensibilities which must be respected, or probation will fail of its beneficent purpose.

John D. Mackay.

November 23.

FORTY YEARS OF PREACHING

have not been without their share of the benefits given and received for they have acted well their part. The Methodist church has been a part of the forces for righteousness in the city for thirty-eight years and Methodist preaching has been a power for good for forty years.

"At the end of 40 years of service for the uplift of mankind we may rightly say 'The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad.'

"Methodist services were first held in the fall of 1872. While Rev. Samuel Kelly was serving the church at West Quincy and the National Sailor's Home, of that year he found a few Methodist families at Wollaston Heights and in the fall organized a class with Mr. H. S. Braden as leader.

"In the spring of 1873 a prayer meeting was begun and at the first service two began the new life of faith in God.

"The interest continued to grow and in order that more effective work might be accomplished on the 4th of January 1874 a church and Sunday school were organized by Rev. William R. Clark, Presiding Elder of Boston District, in the hall of the school house.

"Among the first officers were Henry S. Braden, class leader; Isaac Mellish, Sunday school Superintendent; Benjamin C. Barlow; H. C. Braden, M. G. Brown, Isaac Mellish, Stewards; H. S. Braden, B. C. Barlow, Israel Waterhouse, trustees.

"The Wollaston Land Association gave the church a bond for a deed of a lot of land of 15,000 feet on the corner of Beale street and North Central avenue said deed to be given when a church building was commenced.

"The society began at once to hold services in the hall of the school house having several different ministers to serve them until Rev. S. L. Beiler came to preach for them on September 27, 1874, and was the first pastor appointed to serve the church.

"On November 22, 1874 the official board resolved to build a chapel to cost about $5,000. Through the efficient services of Dr. B. I. Ives of New York and Rev. E. P. King city missionary $2,500 were subscribed toward the building.

"Soon after the official board appointed Israel Waterhouse, H. S. Braden and B. C. Barlow a building committee. Israel Waterhouse was the chairman and treasurer of the committee, and much of the success of the work was due to his wise management, and his good will in advancing the money to pay the bills as they came due. The contract for the building was given to B. C. Barlow.

"During the fall special meetings were held and a few became interested and united with the church. When the first pastor was appointed there were only 8 full members and 7 probationers, only two of whom came into full membership.

"At the close of the conference year April 16, 1875 there were 16 full members and 15 probationers. The membership had doubled in six months. On April 7, 1875 the first day of conference the new chapel was dedicated. Rev. L. T. Townsend, D. D. of the Theological School of Boston University preached the dedicatory sermon. Rev. S. L. Gracy preached in the evening, after which the chapel was formerly dedicated. Several hundred dollars were subscribed during the day. The entire cost of the building, including grading and furnishing was about $6,000. By hard work and generous giving $3,000 was raised and a mortgage of $3,000 was put on the building to run five years at 8 per cent interest.

"At the following conference Rev. S. L. Beiler was appointed to Wollaston Heights and Quincy Point so that he could only give half of his time to Wollaston.

"During this year the Congregational church was built in this section of Quincy and some of the families which were Congregationalists left and went to their own church nevertheless the Sunday school continued to grow under the wise leadership of Mr. Braden.

"The church continued to grow, steadily and at the end of conference year there were 28 members and 12 probationers.

"The church at the same time paid its interest on the mortgage, the pastor's salary, and other current expenses, with less trouble than many of the larger and older churches.

"In 1876 Rev. Mark Trafton was appointed as pastor of the church and served it faithfully for three years receiving for the three years of service $255. Mr. Trafton desiring to spend the winter with his children in Springfield, Rev. S. Kelly, Chaplain at the National Sailor's Home was secured to supply the pulpit from December until conference met in April, at which time he was appointed as pastor preaching in the Chapel twice each Sabbath.

"During the latter part of Mr. Trafton's three year's service a Sabbath Schol had been revived of which he was the superintendent. During his absence on a short vacation the Superintendent in an unauthorized manner disbanded the school greatly to its detriment and to the work of the church. The hard times caused many to move from the place and some of the most active families in the church were obliged to seek work elsewhere. The loss to the church was keenly felt.

"At conference time there were 13 full members and 5 probationers including a class of workers from Germantown. Rev. S. Kelly received for his service for the year the sum of $32.00. He began a social meeting for the week day but only a few could attend. The attendance on the Sabbath varied from 12 to 15 at the morning service to 30 or 50 in the evening.

"Rev. Mark Trafton was again secured to supply the pulpit and continued through the year receiving for his services the sum of $85.00. Mr. Trafton continued to serve the church until May 1882 when on account of the sickness of Mrs. Trafton he was obliged to give up the work.

"Mr. I. Waterhouse arranged with the holder of the mortgage to have the debt canceled providing $2000 could be raised. Of the $2000 the society raised about $635. which was supplemented by a gift of $150 from Henry Faxon making the total $785.

"During the year visiting preachers who spent one sabbath were Rev. G. E. Robinson, Rev. J. W. Bowen, Rev. J. P. Kennedy, Rev. Geo. Miller, Rev. Geo. Perkins.

"The year closed with the finances in a good condition. The Sunday school was prosperous, but the spiritual tide was at a low ebb. Collections were met complete.

"From 1884 to 1887 Rev. Fred H. Knight was the appointed pastor, serving as a supply for the first two years and as a regular appointed minister his third year.

"In the spring of 1889 Rev. Luther Freeman was appointed and served for three years.

"In April 1892 Rev. Wilson S. Fritch was appointed as pastor and continued his labors until February 12, 1893 when he resigned to accept a call to another field. Rev. W. B. Hollingshead of the Puget Sound Conference, a student in the Emerson school of Oratory was secured to complete the year and served with great acceptability.

"At the session of the Conference held in April 1893, Rev. C. W. Wilder, was appointed preacher in charge and continued his labors for three years.

"In 1896 Rev. Seth Cary was appointed preacher in charge. During this year a lot was purchased at the corner of Beale and Safford streets containing 8600 feet, at a cost of $1,000. Plans were at once procured for putting vestries under the church with a tower on the corner and arrangements made to move the church edifice. A subscription was started more than $1,700 pledged towards the enterprise.

"November 30, 1897 the church was dedicated, Bishop Earl Cranston preaching in the afternon and Rev. W. N. Brodbeck, D. D. in the evening. Rev. L. B. Bates, D. D. had charge of the financial interests. The amount of expenditures was $4601.50. This was increased by bills which came in later. The amount provided for was $2,848.25 and the balance of $1,753.25 was all pledged before the evening service closed. Much credit for this is due to good management and the liberal gift of John Dun of Gardner.

"At the conference held in April 1898 Rev. Joseph E. Waterhouse was appointed preacher in charge and served the church faithfully for three years. During this pastorate the Quarter Centennial celebration was observed January 22 and 23 1899. A pipe organ was purchased.

The present pastorate began in April 1909. During which time 37 have ben received on probation and 98 have been received into full membership either from probation or by letter so that we have a membership today of 185 with 7 probationers. The repairs for the past few years speak oor themselves. The new kitchen, the new ladies' parlor, the hard wood floors throughout the vestries and the new heating plant which is unsurpassed in this section of the city, the new carpet in the auditorium and the retinting of the walls of the vestry and of the auditorium, all these are of recent efforts which makes is possible for us to have a church in which to worship and do service for the Lord with no apologies to offer and no excuses to make. The recent repairs reflect great credit upon the committee having them in charge."

"During all these years the Ladies Aid Society has been a most helpful factor in the work of the church and but for their heroic labors many of the improvements would not have been possible. They have given unsparingly of their time, their labors and their means."

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Anncuncements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

CHRIST CHURCH.

The calender in short for the week is as follows:

Monday, 8.00 P. M. Laymen's Club.

Tuesday, 3.45 P. M. Junior Auxiliary. 8.00 P. M. Confirmation Class.

Friday, 4.00 P. M. Cinfirmation Class. 7.30 P. M. St. Margaret's Guild Hunter's Party.

Laymen's Club—It is expected that F. W. Sullivan of Cambridge will speak this evening on Social Service and lead in the open discussion. This is the second in this course, which began with a large attendance, and it is hoped will be increased at this meeting.

Thanksgiving—Surely everyone can find something, great or small, for which to be thankful; but how many really do give thanks? "Let us go into His Courts with thanksgiving." Let us as a parish come to the House of the Lord to render thanks for all His benefits. Let the day be one of joy and thanksgiving in the homes but first come within the gates of the Lord our God and give praise and thanksgiving unto Him. There will be two services in the church, at 7.30 the Holy Communion and at 9 o'clock morning prayer and address.

A Want filled—In response to the appeal made in the Calendar last week, Mr. Wrigley has given a cabinet organ for use in the primary department of the Sunday School. This is a most serviceable gift and is much appreciated, particularly by the teachers and pupils whom it directly benefits.

At the special meeting of the parish Roy Prout was elected clerk in place of Walter Deacon, resigned. Mr. Prout formerly filled the office and is welcomed again as a member of the Vestry.

The choir is rehearsing Manuder's Harvest Cantata, which will be given in the church Sunday evening, December first.

There is room in the choir for boys between ten and eleven years of age. Mr. Wrigley will be at the church vestry on Tuesday evening at 7.20 to test voices.

This is the final week for preparation for the fair. Every woman, every individual woman in our parish can do something to help the fair. Following are the names of the heads of the various tables: Fancy, Mrs. Francis Brewer; Household, Mrs. Emery; Handkerchief, Mrs. Sidney Hardwick; Stocks and Belts, Mrs. W. L. Thomas; Candy, Mrs. Burke; Reapers, Miss Savil; Children's, Mrs. Griswold; Tea Room, Mrs. Torrey; Entertainment, Mrs. Chaplin. Articles for any of the tables may be brought to the Rectory but packages should be marked with the name of the table for which they are intended. The decorations are in charge of Mrs. Brewer, and each chairman should communicate with her to ascertain what material is needed for decorating. This was voted by the Women's Guild, in order that the whole effect may be harmonious in color and design.

The Entertainment at the Fair—A half hour brimming over with amusement, and beauty! Think of five of them each day of the Fair. Don't miss one, for there is sure to be something of especial interest in each half hour that you would be sorry not to see.

ST. CHRYSOSTOM'S CHURCH.

The calendar in short for the week is as follows:

Monday: 4.00 p. m. Junior Auxiliary in Parish Rooms.

Wednesday: 2.30 p. m. Woman's Guild in Parish Rooms. 7.30 p. m. Choir Rehearsal.

Thursday, (Thanksgiving Day) 10.00 a. m. Morning Prayer and Address.

Friday: 8.00 p. m. Girls' Friendly Society in Parish Rooms.

Saturday, (St. Andrew's Day: 8.00 a. m. Holy Communion.

Thursday being Thanksgiving Day there will be morning prayer with address at 10 o'clock.

Woman's Guild:—The regular monthly missionary meeting will be held in the Parish Rooms on Wednesday afternoon at half past two.

The Guild is planning to give an "English Tea Party" in the Parish Rooms early in December. This will be given in connection with a Sale. The whole project has the Parish House Fund in view.

At the Fair and Supper given by the Woman's Guild on Oct. 31st, a net profit of $248 was made. Of this amount the Guild has given $225 to the Parish House Fund.

A genuine Cabaret Supper, served in most approved style, will be given by the Men's Club on Tuesday, Dec. 10. Early notice is given because tickets are to be limited in number, and as great interest is being shown in this novel undertaking, it is expected that the demand for them will be heavy.

Following is the standing of the Parish house fund at the present time.

Cash in bank	$1812.42
Promises	443.50
Total	$2255.92

The Diocesan Reinforcement Fund promises to give $500 on the condition that $2500.00 is raised by the Parish before Jan. 1, 1913. It is necessary therefore still to raise $244.08 before Jan. 1. So fine an opportunity cannot be allowed to slip away. This amount must, can and will be raised in time. To do so, however, continued activity on the part of Parish societies, and the loyal support of their efforts, are essential. New subscriptions will help along wonderfully. Squares in the Chart about to be started mean $1.00 each to the Fund. Everyone interested in the welfare of the Church is called upon to rise to the present urgent occasion and help. Every dollar helps secure that $500.00. The present Parish House plans will allow building to begin when this $3000.-00, which is almost within grasp, is attained.

A Union Service of all Wollaston churches will be held at the Wollaston Baptist Church on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day at five o'clock. Members of this congregation are cordially invited.

WOLLASTON CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

At the morning service, Dr. Sneath preached a powerful and convincing sermon from the text "What think ye of Christ?"

"Christ puzzled the Jews of his own day and down through the years he has been an enigma to many, at one time looked upon as an ordinary man, at another proclaimed "King of kings.

"The various theories held concerning Him at the present time prompted the sermon on "The Christ Needed Today." This age needs the Christ of example. Many are ready to say the example of his perfect life is sufficient and that persistent imitation will make us perfect. But the problem of telling just what Jesus would do in all the circumstances of life is a difficult one, and nineteen centuries have failed to produce the man who has measured up to the standard of Christ.

His matchless life is not accounted for by race connection, by environment, or by the age in which he lived.

He himself accounted for it when he said I came from God.

More than a Christ of example the human mind calls for a revealing Christ. His relations on God, on sin, and on immortality are an inspiration. In our struggle to attain to his perfection we have the assurance that we are not striving alone for he will help us. Not only is he the Christ of example, the Christ of revelation, but Christ the helper and the promise is ours that we shall be like him when we shall see him as he is.

The first vesper service of the season was held at four o'clock, the solos being rendered by Miss Hardy and Mrs. Long. Dr. Sneath spoke briefly upon the Heavenly life as one of activity and of praise. He made special reference to one of the books of 1912 on the subject of heaven. The book entitled "Child of the Dawn" is from the pen of Arthur C. Benson and gives a vision of heaven that in many ways is disappointing. Dr. Sneath expressed his conviction that no better representation of the future life can be found than in the Bible.

The special notices for the week include the meeting of Wollaston Congregational Club on Tuesday evening and the Union Thanksgiving Day service at the Baptist church. Dr. Sneath will preach the sermon.

CITIZENS SEE SYSTEM WORK

Probation Operation in Courts Exemplified For Them

ALL WITNESSES SATISFIED

In response to an invitation of Judge Avery a number of business men were given an opportunity Saturday night to witness a practical working of the probation system as carried out at the district court. There were upwards of fifty probationers that were due to appear Saturday night, either to pay something on fines that had been imposed, or to report to the Probation officer that they had kept from indulging in intoxicating liquor during the week.

Instead of reporting in the probation officers room as usual however, they assembled in the juvenile court room on the second floor. Here they were greeted by Judge Avery and the gentlemen who had been invited to be present. These included Edward Mulready, the head of the state probationary system, John F. Merrill, chairman of the Norfolk County Commissioners, Charles C. Hearn, president of the Quincy Board of Trade and others.

Judge Avery addressed the probationers briefly and told them how the court was helping them lead upright lives and make men of themselves.

Mr. Mulready also spoke to the probationers telling them of the working of the system, whose object was not su much to punish men for their misdemeanors as as it was to help them become upright citizens and men who would become useful members of the city or town in which they resided. It was also pointed out that if the courts had in most cases insisted on fines being paid it would have resulted in many of them going to jail, which in addition to being a humiliation would take away from their families the main support. But by being placed on probation it gave them an opportunity to see the error of their way and to become useful citizens. Also by being placed on probation they would not have the stigma of having served a sentence in a penal institution.

All present expressed themselves as being very much pleased with the working of the probation system as carried out at the district court.

125 INITIATED AS HIBERNIANS

Record Number Taken Into County Organization

MANY DIVISIONS ATTENDED

A class initiation for Norfolk county at which 125 were admitted to A. O. H. membership, was held Sunday afternoon in A. O. H. hall. State Treasurer, Dennis J. Slattery directed the work and he was assisted by James J. Harold, president of Middlesex County, Frederick J. McLaughlin, Suffolk County president and Patrick J. Ferguson, president of Norfolk County.

It was one of the largest class initiations ever held in this country in the history of Hibernianism. The degree work was exemplified by the staff of Division 9 of East Weymouth. Rev. John J. Coan, pastor of St. John's church attended the ceremonies. County Chaplain, Rev. John J. Chittick of Hyde Park was the principal speaker. He took as his topic; "The Organization."

Candidates were present from Divisions 4, 5, 17 and 22 of Quincy; Division 12 of Braintree; Division 3 of Randolph; Division 6 of Weymouth Landing; Division 9 of East Weymouth Division 14 of South Weymouth; Division 15 of North Weymouth; Division 16 of Cohasset; Division 26 of Milton and Division 7 of Brookline.

A large representation from the Ladies Auxiliaries of the country witnessed the first and second degrees. An entertainment was furnished and refreshments were served.

President Thomas J. Welsh of Division 5 was chairman of the committee of arrangements. He was assisted by the following division presidents James O'Dowd of Quincy; Patrick Bennett, West Quincy; Patrick McNiece, Qiuncy; James J. Bethel, Cohasset; John J. Dwyer, Weymouth Landing; James T. Welch, South Weymouth; Dennis J. Buckley, Braintree; Farrell Caine, Randolph; Joseph J. Buckley, North Weymouth; James J. Kersey, Milton, John J. Tynan, Brookline; William J. Walsh, Quincy; and County Secretary, James A. Knox. East Weymouth.

Fr. Chittick spoke of the patriotism of the Irish, of the sacrifice which they made in Ireland's behalf and of the ever brightening prospects of the sireland.

He reviewed the program of the race and its descendants in America, praising those who were factors in commercial and other lives while they lived, and urged a stimulation of enthusiasm in all who had Irish blood coursing in their veins so that they might emulate their forefathers and accomplish better deeds.

He pointed out what individuals gains had been made and said that much more could be done through society organization .

JESUIT FATHERS OPEN MISSION

Of Two Weeks' Duration at St. John's Catholic Church

Rev. William Coyle of the Jesuits inaugurated a mission for the members of the St. John's parish at the early mass Sunday morning. He gave a short instruction at each mass. The first week will be devoted to the women and the second to the men. At the service Sunday evening there was a large attendance.

The mission masses will be celebrated at 5 and 9 o'clock. The regular masses will be said at 7 and 8 o'clock Evening devotions will commence at 7.45, and will consist of prayers and a sermon.

Fr. Coyle in speaking of the benefits derived from missions said at the late mass on Sunday that the object was to settle for the past, adjust the present and to provide for the future. He said that an absence of faith meant eternal damnation and that the only way one could attain the joys of heaven and the reward of the Father was to sin no more.

He spoke of the wholesome effect a mission has on the members of a parish and said that the day following the closing of a mission seemed as though something was gone. He asked the people to perform acts of faith during the week in order that they might benefit by the special indulgences granted.

Fr. Coyle will be assisted by Fr. Condon, who is now on his way to this city.

YOUNG WOMEN IN CLUB LIFE

Plays and Songs Make Things Pleasant at Gathering

The members of the Young Women's club gathered at the clubhouse on Goffe street Saturday evening and enjoyed another of the entertainments which are scheduled during the winter season.

The program opened with a song by a large chorus and was followed by a violin duet by Miss Margaret and Miss Florence White. Miss Eva Rice was the accompanist.

A chrysanthemum drill in which eight of the girls took part was a most pleasing feature. The chrysanthemums were Misses Mildred Bean, Elizabeth Beattie, Ella Melville, Lydia Djerf, Blanche Hayden, Winifred Pratt and Helen Schools.

Misses Gertrude Burke and Miss Mabel Lovejoy presented a 20 minute skit, entitled "Fast Friends." The story is woven about the experiences of two women who become tired of the humdrum of life and make a chance acquaintance. In relating their experiences to each other that evening they both learn their new found friends were each others husbands.

After the usual amount of commenting, fuming, fretting and giggling, they renew their relations on a much firmer basis and continue as fast friends as ever.

A song by the chorus closed the program.

The attendance leads one to feel that the popularity of the club is growing since the active interest in the work is demonstrated by the large membership.

DOCK COMMITTEE

pointed by the Mayor to select a site for the public dock.

It was then suggested that the committee should organize and this was carried out Hon. William T. Shea being elected as chairman and Councilman Charles W. Bailey as secretary.

After some discussion it was decided that the committee should take a view of Town River and it was voted to go on a view next Saturday afternoon. The committee will meet at the Fore River bridge at 1.30 when a tug boat will be boarded for a trip up the river and along the Quincy water front. It was also voted to hold a public hearing on the question in the council chamber on Thursday evening Dec. 12.

There seemed to be some misunderstanding as to just what the powers of the committee were, and whether at the public hearing the question should be confined to a site or the broad question of a public dock discussed.

The order for the committee would naturally convey the idea that the Council was committed to the establishment of a dock whereas the fact is that the duty of the committee is solely to select a proper site and not to consider the advisability of the establishment of a dock .

JUNIOR ALLIANCE.

A meeting of the Junior Alliance of the First Church will be held in the social chapel this evening.

SOCIAL POSTPONED.

The Walther class social to have been held at the Wollaston Baptist church this evening, has been indefinitely postponed.

RUNS INTO OPEN SWITCH

Mogul Engine Shakes Up a Car Containing Large Quantity of Dynamite

Boston, Nov. 25.—A train of six heavy steel cars, drawn by a ponderous "mogul" locomotive, running from Braintree without passengers, ran into an open switch at the Neponset station on the New Haven railroad Sunday and crashed into a train of freight cars on the siding.

One of the freight cars contained a great quantity of dynamite, but it did not explode.

Three freight cars were demolished and derailed. The one containing the dynamite was but slightly damaged. Both locomotives were damaged considerably. Traffic on the line was delayed several hours. None of the trainmen was seriously injured.

CLOTHES AND MAN MISSING

Both Quickly Located in Boston By Inspector McKay

THEFT WAS WHOLESALE

Several of the boarders at the house of James Shea at 350 South street awoke Sunday morning to find that while they had slept someone had made the round of their rooms and had carried off a lot of their wearing apparel. It was also noticed that one of the boarders, known as Thomas Doyle and sometimes as Joseph Murphy was missing, and the conclusion reached was that the clothing and Murphy had disappeared at the same time.

Police headquarters was notified and an immediate search was made for the missing man. Captain McKay went to Boston and soon located a man trying to dispose of some clothing, who proved to be the missing boarder. He was placed under arrest and brought to Quincy, and this morning he was arraigned in court charged with the larceny of the clothing.

HICKEY LIKED QUINCY.

Endorsements sometimes come from strange sources. Commendation of Quincy as a City to live in was made by J. Frank Hickey, who has been receiving much notoriety, the last few days, when he told one of our citizens that he preferred to work and live in Quincy because it was possible for him to live a more clean and sober life here where no saloons existed.

BRIEFS

Plans are underway for a large no-license rally under the auspices of the Swedish churches of the city. The rally to be held Sunday afternoon, December 1st.

Manuder's Cantata will be sung at Christ Church next Sunday evening with Mrs. James H. Slade, William Carter and J. W. McLeod so soloists, and the church choir. Organist and director, F. Wrigley.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Quincy lodge of Elks in accordance with its usual custom will hold its annual memorial service in memory of departed brothers at the club house on Foster street, next Sunday.

THREE DECKER GREAT MENACE

Communities Do Not Grow Under Their Development

OPINION AT THE FORUM

Rev. Elmer S. Forbes secretary of the department of social and public service of the American Unitarian association spoke on "Three Deckers" at the Good Citizenship Forum, Sunday noon, at the Wollaston Unitarian church.

He said:—"The three deckers, so-called, is spreading at the present time like cholera or yellow fever and while not as destructive to life as these diseases is quite as destructive to property values.

"They are built primarily to escape the designation of tenement houses and the regulations pertaining to this class of building. The majority of them are of the flimsiest construction and rapidly deteriorate after the paint begins to wear off. A less desirable tenant is followed by a lowers class in the rapidly deteriorating house until at the end of about eight years the owner has recovered the original cost of the structure and a reasonable profit.

"He still has the land and what is left of the house if he has not already unloaded on some unsuspecting purchaser. In this way the house has been filled with a class of tenents who bring nothing to the town and increase every department of town expense."

The speaker referred to the fire menace in a place like Dorchester where there are 20,000 of these buildings, which are natural food for flames.

"A high wind and a spark," said Mr. Forbes, "and this crowded district will go down like houses of cards. If it is at night, God help the people on the top floor. Smaller houses in the suburbs could take the place of this type of building.

"Belmont and Winthrop have accepted the act of prohibition passed by the state and Watertown, Arlington Wellesley and Weymouth are soon to consider it."

A discussion followed the speaker in which housing conditions were broadly considered. Among the speakers were Mrs. Frederick H. Bishop, Edward J. Cummings, Frederick H. Bishop, Mrs. Robert E. Park, Irving L. Shaw, Chandler W. Smith and Chester I. Campbell.

GRANITE CLUB LADIES' NIGHT

Elaborate Plans For the Annual Entertainment and Dance

The annual ladies night entertainment of the Granite City club, to be held in Alpha and Union halls, Tuesday evening, promises to be a very enjoyable event. The entertainment committee has provided a most excellent program for the entertainment of the ladies to be followed by refreshments, which will be served in Union hall after which there will be dancing in Alpha hall, while those who prefer cards or billiards and pool may adjourn to the club rooms.

THE NIGHT BEFORE.

Tonight is an off night for the City Council as there is no meeting of that body. The next meeting will be held next Monday evening the night before the municipal election.

☞The reason Quincy's 2 cent daily outdistances all other papers in the city and county is because it gives its readers 2 cents worth of news and more. It's columns are full of home news, news gleaned from all parts of the city by well paid and reliable reporters. Beside the office staff of three reporters and an editor, there are 12 district reporters and special writers. The Ledger invites comparison of amount of news and also to quality and reliability. Although carrying a large pay roll the Ledger believes it pays as the people show appreciation of the clean, newsy sheet put out by the management. Take your foot rule any day and measure up the columns of news and you will be surprised to see how far ahead the Ledger is when it comes to home news.

BEG FOR JUSTICE

Ettor and Giovannitti Make Impassioned Pleas to Jury

Salem, Nov. 25.—Against the strenuous advice of counsel, Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti addressed the jury in their own behalf, speaking the closing words in their trial as accessories to murder. Caruso, accused as principal, made no plea.

In speeches which compelled the admiration of everybody and, more particularly in the case of Giovannitti, moved many people to tears, the prisoners pleaded their own causes.

Ettor maintained stoutly that not his acts, but his ideas, were on trial. Giovannitti called on the jurors, if they believed he had uttered the speech alleged, to give a verdict which would call for a death sentence, as, indeed, Ettor had also done.

Both men asserted that if released they should, in case of any other strike similar to that at Lawrence, do the same things over again. Giovannitti, in impassioned fashion, claimed entire responsibility to rest upon himself and Ettor and begged the jury to disregard Caruso entirely.

Judge Quinn will deliver his charge to the jury today.

MISS FARLEY FREED ON MURDER CHARGE

Crowd Applauds Verdict and Women Kiss Defendant

Columbus, O., Nov. 25.—Miss Cecelia Farley, the state house stenographer, who for two weeks has been on trial for first degree murder for the shooting of Alvin E. Zollinger, an advertising solicitor, in a city park last May, was acquitted after the jury had been out for 3½ hours.

Immediately following the announcement of the verdict of the jury, Miss Farley stated that she and Jerome Quigley, the hotel clerk who figured prominently in the case, will be married at once.

The large crowd in the courtroom greeted the verdict with a shout of approval. Scores of women spectators crowded about Miss Farley and insisted upon kissing her.

ALLEGED SLAYER CAUGHT

Murder During Street Brawl In Providence Italian Colony

Providence, Nov. 25.—Pasquale Perrino, 35, was arrested after a long automobile chase, charged with the murder of Giuseppe De Rosa during a street brawl in the Italian colony on Spruce street.

Perrino is said to be one of the four men who attacked De Rosa, and while he declares he did not do the stabbing the police claim to have sufficient evidence to warrant holding him on a murder charge.

Perrino says De Rosa made an insulting remark about his wife and he pushed him because of that, but he maintains innocence of the stabbing.

SMALL PRISON POPULATION

It Causes Box Factory to Close at the Charlestown Institution

Boston, Nov. 25.—The paper box factory in the state prison at Charlestown has been discontinued because of the decrease of inmates in the jail, according to a statement made by Warden Bridges last night.

During the past year the population of the prison has dropped from 850 to 700, and it was thought advisable to discontinue the factory.

New Revolt In Mexico

Mexico City, Nov. 25.—Governor Gonzales of the state of Chihuahua has appealed for 10,000 soldiers to combat the Orozco rebellion, which, after subsiding for a time, has broken out again violently.

Yale's Football Team Meets With Disastrous Defeat

HARVARD'S CONCERTED WORK

It Places Crimsons on Football Throne For Season of 1912—First Touchdown In Eleven Years of Play—Brickley Scores Twelve of Twenty Points For Cambridge Team

HOW THEY STAND

Harvard, 20; Yale, 0.
Harvard, 16; Princeton, 6.
Princeton, 6; Yale, 6.

New Haven, Nov. 25.—Those three scores tell the tale of football for 1912. They tell it well and tell the truth. They tell the story of eleven years' effort on the part of Harvard, not merely to beat Yale but to cross the the Yale goal line by a touchdown, and in the eleventh year Harvard was successful in doing this not once but twice.

No doubt exists after the game of Saturday that Harvard is much the better football eleven of the season. It defeated Yale more decisively than Princeton. It would have made the score even higher than it was had Brickley made two field goals, which he tried and missed by narrow margins.

Briefly, Harvard won by repeating a form of attack which was almost identical with that which was employed against Princeton. First there were the high spiral kicks of Felton, sometimes for a long distance, sometimes for a short distance, always difficult to handle, and handled with less accuracy than they were handled by the Princeton backs, and the best back field of the Tigers was none too accurate in catching the ball.

Supplementing these punts was the possibility of driving the ball close enough to the goal line for a possible touchdown either to be gained because of a run after a Yale player had handled the ball inaccurately or, if the touchdown failed, by using Brickley to kick field goals. Brickley was there with the field goal on two occasions and added to the score which had been run up against the Elis by dropping the ball to the turf and then accurately lifting it over the crossbar of the goal posts. To Brickley belonws the credit of scoring twelve of the twenty points made by Harvard.

It was not a contest which reflected credit on what has been known as the Yale style of football. The incessant muffing and fumbling of puts brought forth groans from the Yale side and shrieks of satisfaction from Harvard.

Punt after punt was lifted by Felton into the air, only to be squarely muffed by a Yale back when the ball dropped in his hands.

The veriest football novice could see how the game was lost by the Elis. It took no expert to figure close chances or the balance of hard problems. There was no balance—except that it was all on the side of Harvard. Wheeler, Flynn, Cornell, almost every player who essayed to guard Yale against the punting of Felton, failed disastrously.

Flynn was a crude back in the Princeton game, and showed little more promise in the game with Harvard. It is true that he punted well, but his good kicking could not offset his inability to get through the line with success, nor the blunders which he made in trying to handle punts in the back field.

The concerted work of the victorious eleven was fully equal to that which was displayed in the game against Princeton. There was the same admirable display of intelligence on the part of the players, their keen perception of where to be and what to do.

Percy Haughton finally has coached a Harvard eleven to that point of efficiency that it thoroughly outplayed a Yale team, outplayed the Yale system and outplayed the Yale idea of football.

FIREMEN HAVE HARD FIGHT

Handicapped by Numerous Explosions During Fire at Boston

Boston, Nov. 25.—Menaced by frequent explosions of barrels of turpentine and gasolene and compelled to work in relays by the pungent and voluminous smoke from varnishes and manufactured goods, firemen here had narrow escapes from injury and death while they battled desperately to save a section of the manufacturing centre of the city from destruction.

Tons of water were poured into the five story brick building at Nos. 45 and 47 Wareham street, in the hope of confining the blaze there, while streams were played on adjoining plants to save them. The district for a while seemed doomed, but after thirty minutes of fighting the firemen began to win the ascendency.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

THE HOLIDAY FRUIT CAKE.

LIKE plum pudding, fruit cake may be prepared in advance of the time it is needed. It is better for being kept awhile.

A Very Fine Cake.

Christmas Cake.—Take a cupful and a half of butter and mix it with three cupfuls of brown sugar until light and creamy. Add half a grated nutmeg, a tablespoonful of powdered cinnamon, one teaspoonful each of cloves and mace. Dissolve a level teaspoonful of soda in a half cupful of sour cream, add to it a half cupful of molasses and stir until it stops working. Then add to the other ingredients. Mix well and put in six eggs, beating vigorously between each one. Knead this cake with the hands, for it is too stiff to beat.

Now stir in a wineglassful of brandy. Sift four cupfuls of flour and add to the cake mixture little by little, kneading all the time.

Have ready one pound of seeded raisins, one pound washed and dried currants, quarter of a pound of shredded citron and an eighth of a pound each of candied orange and lemon peel chopped fine.

Add and knead for ten miutes longer, then put the mixture into two brick shaped tins lined with buttered paper, place in a moderate oven and bake slowly for three hours.

Real Christmas Cake.

English Plum Cake.—Take two pounds of flour and mix it with three-quarters of a pound of powdered sugar, half a grated nutmeg and grated mace to taste.

When these are blended make a hole in the middle and pour in the beaten yolks of seven eggs, also the whites of seven beaten with half a pint of yeast, half a wineglassful of sherry and a tablespoonful of orange flower water.

Next melt one pound and a quarter of butter in three-quarters of a pint of warm milk and when it is lukewarm pour into the center of the batter. Throw a little of the flour over the liquids, but do not work altogether till it is ready for the oven. Let it stand before the fire, with a cloth over it, to rise for an hour.

Then add one pound and a half of currants, picked and dried, one pound and a half of sultanas, half a pound of citron, half a pound of orange peel, all sliced thinly, and a half pound of blanched almonds cut roughly.

Mix, pour into a buttered tin and bake for two and a half hours.

CHRISTMAS TARTS.

WHEN racking your brain for plans to make the children's Christmas delightful do not forget that individual dainties served as their part of the Christmas dinner will charm them. Indeed, the dainty pastries, recipes for which are given here, may well be made in quantity to supply the whole family.

You may bake your tarts in small individual baking dishes, muffin or pattypans. Cover the outside of the pans or dishes with pastry, press down firmly and trim around the top. Invert on a pan and bake until light brown. Then slip off the pans and set aside for filling.

Nice Fruit Tarts.

Jam or Jelly Tarts.—Roll good pie crust out thin and cut into half inch squares. Brush each square with the white of an egg, then fold over the corners to meet in the middle. Slightly press together, brush with the white of egg, sift with sugar and bake in a quick oven for a quarter of an hour. When done make a little hole in the middle and fill with jam, jelly and marmalade.

Raisin Tarts.—Take a cupful of raisins and run through the meat chopper. Add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one egg, one lemon, one tablespoonful of butter and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Make a crust as for pie. Fill the shells with above mixture and roll remainder of crust. Spread over top, prick with a fork and bake as you would pie. After it cools you may cut in any shape you desire.

Toothsome Pastries.

Custard Tarts.—Take three ounces of butter, three ounces of sugar, yolks of three eggs and one-half cupful of cream puff paste.

Cream the butter and sugar together until soft, then work in one at a time the three yolks of eggs. Beat well, grate the orange rind and add it with the strained juice of half an orange to the other ingredients. Beat in the cream and mix all well together.

Fill in the tart shells with the mixture and bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Date or Fig Tarts.—Cut a cupful of dates or figs into small pieces. Add to them two tablespoonfuls of sugar and water enough to cover them in the saucepan. Let the fruit simmer until smooth. A little more water may be added if needed. Toward the last add sugar and stir to a smooth paste. When cool spread in tart shells. A few chopped pecans or other nuts sprinkled on top are an improvement.

Anna Thompson.

The Hallmark.

"Isn't that Marjorie Mincer, the soubrette star?"

"Yes."

"But she hasn't a particle of makeup on her face."

"She doesn't wear paint and powder on the street any more for fear she might be mistaken for a society leader."—Life.

TRIBUTES TO SHERMAN

President Taft and Others Say Kind Things of Late Vice President

New York, Nov. 25.—Eloquent tributes to James S. Sherman were paid by President Taft in a letter and by Senator Root, former Senator Depew and others in speeches at memorial exercises held at the Republican club in this city in honor of the late vice president.

President Taft spoke of Sherman's record as presiding officer of the national senate, his valuable public services and his admirable qualities of heart and mind, and declared him to have been "more anxious to hold the good things established by the past than to surrender them in a search for less certain benefits to be derived from radical changes in the future."

GOMPERS IS RE-ELECTED

Haywood Figures In Fist Fight at Convention In Rochester

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 25.—A fistic encounter between William D. Haywood, a leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, and J. M. Barnes, who was national campaign manager of the recent Socialist campaign, took place in the lobby of Convention hall while the American Federation of Labor was holding its final session.

Haywood struck Barnes and then ran into the street, followed by several delegates. Haywood took refuge in a laundry and some one barred the door. Haywood was taken to police headquarters, but Barnes declined to make a charge against him and he was not held.

Samuel Gompers was re-elected president of the Federation over Max Hayes of the International Typographical union. It was the first time in ten years that there had been opposition to Gompers, who has been re-elected annually since 1895. All other officers were re-elected.

SHELL HURLED INTO GARRISON

Turkish Stronghold Cannot Much Longer Withstand Siege

NOW SHORT OF AMMUNITION

Surrender of Adrianople Considered Question of Hours—Military Preparations by Austria, Germany and Russia Cause Gloomy Foreboding—Vienna Regards Situation Grave

London, Nov 25.—With the Bulgarian forces hurling shell into the garrison before Adrianople, after nearly sixty hours of desperate fighting, the Turkish defenders are on the verge of collapse. Not only have their food supplies dwindled to the lowest ebb, but now they are confronted with a new peril in the shortage of ammunition.

As the garrison is completely surrounded by the besiegers, there is no chance for the defenders to replenish their ordnance or provisions, and experts assert that surrender, full and complete, is only a question of hours.

Dispatches from Constantinople are more sanguine from the Turks' viewpoint. So far they have held the attacking forces of the allies in check and repulsed the boldest of these attacks. Just whether the Ottoman forces can keep up their bold spirit is problematical, as cholera and pestilence is assailing them on all sides and the ill and dying are being carted from their ranks by hundreds.

Meanwhile a spirit of unrest in all the capitals of Europe. Stock markets and bourses reflect this restlessness, for they see in the general mobilization of troops by those powers intimately connected with some one or all of the contestants a fear that they will be drawn into the conflict and that a general war may follow. While the plenipotentiaries of the various powers ridicule this rumor, nevertheless all are working feverishly for an armistice.

They are urging a speedy termination of hostilities, and hope this will be followed by a peace agreement which will end for some time to come the bitter contention over territory in the Balkans.

When word reached the capitals of Europe that Russia, Germany and Austria were mobilizing troops rumors spread with feverish haste that these great powers would take the field at once and align themselves on the sides they had respectively championed with regard to the dispute between Austria and Servia. It is regarded by those here who have closely studied the Balkan situation that the real crisis will be reached today, and all are frank to admit that the situation, as far as the powers are concerned, is graver today than it has been at any time since hostilities in the Balkans began.

Continental mobilization never fails to strike terror to the hearts of those who stand for peace and deprecate war. The activity of Austria, Germany and Russia leaves no doubt in the minds of the most conservative that Europe is on the brink of a conflict, and only the most delicate and diplomatic intervention can stay their hands. It is unofficially estimated that Russia alone has mobilized 1,200,000 men, and the majority of these are not far from the Balkan borderlands.

Vienna regards the situation grave in the extreme and has established a strict censorship on all dispatches and communications leaving that country. Business is paralyzed.

Berlin takes a more optimistic view of the situation than Vienna, and the press of the German capital is almost a unit in asserting that peace will soon be effected in the Balkans and without the armed intervention of the powers.

TO ROUSE CONGRESS

Possible Plan of Carnegie In Presidential Pension Suggestion

Washington, Nov. 25.—No such unanimity of opinion over a matter of national interest can be called to mind as that expressed by legislators in Washington in opposition to Andrew Carnegie's plan to pension ex-presidents from the funds of the Carnegie corporation.

It is believed here that the "Canny Scot" never imagined that the Carnegie corporation ever would be called upon to pay out a dollar to any ex-president. Carnegie, it is thought, broached his scheme for the express purpose of arousing congress to action.

Anti-Russian Society In China

Canton, Nov. 25.—An anti-Russian society has opened headquarters here. Its business will be the stirring up of sentiment in favor of a declaration of hostilities against the czar in retaliation for the attempt he is said to be making to grab outer Mongolia.

Yale Hall Dedicated

New Haven, Nov. 25.—Wright Memorial hall at Yale, named in honor of former Dean H. P. Wright, who retired in 1909, was formally dedicated here.

JESUS IS GOD'S GIFT TO ALL HUMANITY

Salvation Is of God's Love, Not of Justice or Necessity.

Misunderstanding of What Constitutes the Divine Penalty For Sin Has Misled Us In Respect to Every Feature of God's Program For Our Recovery From the Penalty.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn is here. We report one of his addresses from the text, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable Gift." —II Corinthians ix, 15.

The Pastor said that in order to appreciate the Scriptures on all subjects, we must handle the Word of God honestly. We must recognize that our Lord Jesus is one person and the Father another person. The oneness between the Father and the Son is that declared by our Master Himself, saying that He and the Father are one in the same sense that He desires all of His disciples to be one—in mind, in purpose, in will, in effort. (John xvii, 21, 23.) Our Lord Jesus is God's unspeakable Gift.

The Scriptures declare that the Redeemer took the nature of men in order to redeem sinners; but that in Him there was no sin. Only a sinless one could give to God a Ransom for Adam, and thus redeem from destruction, not only Adam, but all his posterity, involved in sin and death through him.

The speaker then showed that God set before our Lord a great joy, the influence of which led Jesus to endure cheerfully the bitter experiences of His earthly life. This joy is intimated to have been: (1) His pleasure in doing the Father's will; (2) His privilege of "bringing many sons to glory"—the Church; (3) His pleasure and joy in being by and by the world's Restorer, delivering them from the power of Satan, sin and death. "Wherefore," St. Paul says, "God hath highly exalted Him," far above "angels, principalities and powers, and every name that is named."

An Opposite Course From Satan's.

Pastor Russell then contrasted the course pursued by Satan with that followed by our Lord. Meditating ambitious designs, Satan found an opportunity in Eden. He beheld in our first parents a new order of beings, designed to bring into existence a race that would fill the earth. Satan essayed to be ruler or prince over this human creation; and by so doing, he not only became a rebel against God, but brought sin and death into the world.

Our Lord Jesus pursued an opposite course, and demonstrated His loyalty and obedience. St. Paul intimates that although the Logos was much higher than was Lucifer, yet He was humble, and "meditated not a usurpation," as the Greek text declares. (Phil. ii, 6.) He thought not by robbery to be equal with God. On the contrary, our Lord willingly accepted the Divine proposal that He should be humbled to the human plane for a time, in order to carry out the Father's Plan.

To the Church, Jesus is God's unspeakable Gift. He is indeed a Gift to the whole world, unspeakable in value, but He is more to the Church than to the world. To His footstep followers, He is the "Captain of their Salvation," their Bridegroom, their "Elder Brother," their great High Priest. Through Him they are privileged to be the Royal Priesthood. Through the merit of the sacrifice of Christ, they are privileged to "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy, acceptable unto God."

The Pastor then said that Justice is the foundation of God's Throne. In the past, endeavors to harmonize Justice with our great Creator's dealings with humanity have involved us in difficulty. We were assured by the prominent creeds that God had knowingly brought mankind into existence under such conditions that the great majority would spend eternity in torture. We perceived no Justice in any such arrangement. But while desisting from criticising the Creator, we could not indorse such a course, nor see it to be in harmony with the Divine regulations governing ourselves. If we are to love our enemies, should more be expected of fallen human beings than of our perfect Creator?

The Scriptures declare only the consecrated Church see the "lengths, breadths, heights and depths of the Love of God," which passeth understanding. This class alone is in any sense prepared to give thanks to God now for His unspeakable Gift. Their thanks go up, not only in words, but also in actions, which "speak louder than words." These thanks ascend as sweet incense to God.

By and by, "All the blind eyes will be opened and all the deaf ears will be unstopped." Then the whole world of mankind, including those awakened from the sleep of death during Messiah's reign, will be in condition to recognize God's unspeakable Gift and render thanks. When wilful evil doers shall have been destroyed, then every creature in Heaven, on earth and in the sea shall be heard saying, "Praise, glory, honor, dominion and might be unto Him that sitteth on the Throne, and to the Lamb, forever," through the unspeakable Gift.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Quincy Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains often come from weak kidneys,

'Twould save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys,

Read what a Quincy citizen says:

Mrs. E. H. Prouty, 85 North street, Quincy, Mass., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills completely and permanently cured me of kidney trouble and I am only too pleased to recommend them to anyone in need of a kidney medicine. I was subject to backaches and headaches and the secretions from my kidneys also bothered me. It required the contents of only two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills to effect a complete cure. Another member of my family who was afflicted with kidney trouble used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BRIEFS

Mr. Carl Hill of Portland, Maine, spent he week end with his uncle, Mr. George Hill of Walker street.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Burchsted of Beale street, will spend Thanksgiving week in Brooklyn, N. Y., with their son A. R. Burchsted.

Have you sent your subscription toward the expense of the Citizens No-License League for the annual campaign against having saloons in Quincy? Possibly you may have forgotten it. If so let this be a reminder.

Mrs. Edith G. Fitts of Elm street has been appointed a director of the Quincy Choral Society, vice Dr. Geo. H. Ryder, resigned. Mrs. Fitts has been an ardent worker in the society since its origin, and will be a valuable member to the executive board.

Mony favorable comments have been expressed in Atlantic on the promptness of the payment of the $2000 certificate, in the Ancient Order of United Workmen held by the late Dr. Wellington Record, the check being made out ten days after the accident.

MISS EMERY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral service of Miss Isabel F. P. Emery of Billings street, took place at the Memorial church, Atlantic, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. T. W. Davison officiated. A quartett composed of Miss Jordine Davison, Miss Maud Read, Miss Margaret Re d, and Mrs. A H. Hall sang, "Lead Kindly Light." "Nearer My God to Thee," and "Abide with Me." Interment was at Forest Hills Cemetery.

Miss Emery was one of the older residents of Atlantic and previous to her sister's illness, had taken an active part in the social work of the community. She had been a school teacher in Neponset for over twenty years. She is survived by a sister.

BIG MEASURES UP FOR ACTION

Short Sessions of Congress Will Have Plenty of Work

NO ACTION ON THE TARIFF

General and Special Legislative Matter Pending With Adjournment of Long Session, Together With Grist of Appropriation Bills, Must Be Disposed Of—What the Plans Are

Washington, Nov. 25.—Congress will re-convene a week from today for the last short session of Republican control in national legislation.

Comparatively few senators and representatives have reached Washington, but discussion has been active during the last week among those early on the scene over plans for the winter's work, and the prospects for the special tariff session next spring, when all branches of the government pass into the hands of the Democrats.

While the vexing question of the tariff is not scheduled for consideration this winter, the three months of the short session will be crowded with legislative work. In addition to the annual grist of appropriation bills congress will be forced to dispose of a quantity of general and special legislative matter left pending with the adjournment of the long session in August.

During the early part of the session the house will be busy shaping appropriation bills, while the senate is disposing of the impeachment trial of Judge Archbald of the commerce court, set to begin Dec. 3.

Several important measures will be pushed for early action in the senate, among them the resolution to limit the president to a single six-year term, the bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor into prohibition states, and the vocational education bill. The bill creating a department of labor is also scheduled for early consideration.

The department of labor bill has passed the house, but that body would still have to act upon the vocational education bill and the six-year presidential term measure if they passed the senate. The prohibition liquor measure will be pushed in the house by Representative Sheppard of Texas, who will succeed Senator Bailey in the next congress.

Energetic efforts will be made in both houses to secure legislation amending the Sherman anti-trust law, and limiting contributions to political campaign funds. The house judiciary committee is under instructions by resolution to conduct an investigation into violations of the Sherman law, with a view to preparing legislation, and it is preparing to begin the investigation immediately after congress convenes.

Meantime, the committee headed by Senator Clapp will probably formulate a measure limiting campaign contributions, based upon its extensive investigations. Several bills on this subject are pending in both house and senate.

Efforts will be made during the session to repeal at least a part of the Canadian reciprocity tariff agreement. Congressmen now in Washington do not expect any action on currency legislation during the short session.

RELEASED AS TREASURER

Boston Man's Reason For Taking His Life In a Chicago Hotel

Boston, Nov. 25.—The mystery surrounding the suicide of William C. Snell, who took his own life with a revolver at a Chicago hotel Saturday afternoon, was practically cleared when it was announced by President Harman of the William F. Mosser company of Boston that Snell had been released as treasurer of his concern.

That Snell knew that the company was making an investigation of the books when he left Boston was not denied, but the rumor to the effect that a heavy shortage had been found was denied by both Harmon and Vice President McGarry. Neither would deny or affirm that a shortage existed.

SHADOWED WILSON

Man Who Threatened Life of President-Elect Is Arrested

Colorado Springs, Nov. 25.—Declaring he will kill President-elect Wilson if he ever gets a chance, John Cohan, a one-armed man, arrested here on a charge of disturbing the peace, is being held by the police pending word from secret service operatives.

If not wanted by the government his mental condition will be examined by local authorities. Evidence has been disclosed tending to show that he shadowed Wilson at a number of places throughout the country during the recent campaign.

Suffrage Vote In Michigan

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 25.—Complete returns from sixty-two counties show a majority of but 14,000 for the suffrage amendment. State officers predict the amendment's defeat is more than possible.

TRAVELLING BAG FOR BERMAN

Friends Gathered at His Home Took Him By Surprise

A party of friends of Edward Berman surprised him at his home, Franklin street, Sunday evening and presented him with a travelling bag. The presentation was made by William Wolf.

Mr. Berman managed to make a speech of acceptance, although the surprise was complete.

During the evening piano selections were given by Miss Dora Grabowsky, Miss Marion Litchman and Miss Anna R. Grossman. Miss Etta Litchman and Miss Judith Smith rendered popular songs and the Y. M. H. A. quartett, consisting of Miss Judith Smith, Max Catler, Percy Schwatz and Sidney Litchman, gave several selections. Refreshments were served.

INAUGURATION TRIPS.

Would you like to se the President of the United States inaugurated. Perhaps you can, who knows?

The Quincy Daily Ledger is to send somebody to Washington to witness the inauguration of President elect-WiWlson. This somebody will be chosen by votes and the winner can select his or her own companion to accompany them on the trip. The expenses of both will be paid by the Ledger. The best of accommodations will be provided on the way to and from Washington and at one of the best hotels in the capitol city.

In addition to the inauguration will be visits to the various historical buildings and rsorts in Washington, to Arlington, the home of Gen. Robert E. Lee, where the national cemetery is now located, a visit to Mount Vernon, the home of Washington, Alexandria, where is located Christ's church, where Washington and Lee attended services, the famous Marshall House where Col. Ellsworth, the first officer in the Union Army, was shot and other noted resorts.

Arrangements have also been made for a stop over in New York with a sight-seeing trip.

Everything has been done for the comfort of the winners.

On account of the interest in the coming inauguration the Ledger has completed its plans early for the trip. The best of everything will be provided and the Ledger winner will be assured of a fine trip.

The trip will be managed by the Marsters Tours company which stands the highest in this line in America.

From now on the Ledger will publish a coupon good for five votes.

New paid subscription to the Ledger for one year ($5.00) is good for 500 votes; new paid subscription for 6 months ($3.00) good for 200 votes; new paid subscriptions for 3 months ($1.50) good for 100 votes.

This is the best prize ever offered by the Ledger, but that is not all, for a diamond ring will be awarded the one having next to the largest number of votes.

Start at once as inauguration day is only a few weeks away. Collect your votes and bring in your subscriptions.

The full itinerary of the trip and further details of the contest will be published in the Ledger from time to time.

There will be no change in these rules. A subscription is as good one week as another. The date of the close of the contest will be announced in due time. At the close the votes will be counted by prominent business men of the town.

FITTON BEATEN BY QUINCY A. A.

Visitors Took Home Team Off Their Feet at First

FLYNN'S DRAGONS AWOKE

In one of the cleanest games of football ever played at Merrymount Park, the Quincy A. A. beat the Fitton A. C. Saturday afternoon, 13 to 0. Cummings made both touchdowns on forward passes when the periods were nearly up.

The visiting team was lighter than Quincy, but the snap and vigor which they put into their plays kind of frizzled the locals for awhile. They found no difficulty in penetrating Quincy's defence and it looked as though Manager Flynn's team was overconfident.

When Quincy did awaken it was with a vengeance and they carried the ball down the field to their hearts content, three times and lost on a fumble.

The first score was made on a pretty forward which McDonald made following a trick play. He shot the ball about 30 yards to Cummings, who was covered by both ends and crossed the line. Harkins kicked the goal.

He made the other score with only 45 seconds to play by running about 40 yards after Fitton's forward pass bounced off a visiting player. Fitton was held on the 10 yard line.

Kelley was a new man in the line-up and came up to expectations. McDonald was at quarter and has practically recovered from a throat operation. Outside of poor defense work in some periods the team did well.

The only substitute was used by Fitton.

The score:

QUINCY A. A.	FITTON A. C.
Kelly, le	re McCormack
Tocci, lt	rt Sweeney
Harkins, lg	rg Susan
Moberg, c	c Lang
Morton, rg	lg Gallant
	McDonald
Gerstel, rt	lt Flannagan
Dennehy, re	le Dagle
McDonald, qb	qb Kerr
Cummings, lhb	rhb Canavan
Boyle, rhb	lhb Doherty

Score 13-0. Touchdowns, Cummings,2. Goals from touchdowns, Harkins. Umpire Moran. Referee, Manning. Linesman Chapman, Murphy and Jenkins. Timer Feltis. Periods 4-10m.

TIGERS EAGER FOR SCALPS

Beat Milton Team Out Saturday in Fast Game

Tiger A. C. defeated Willson Jrs. of Milton 12 to 3 it was a hard fought game all the way through.

The teams lined up as follows:

TIGER A. C.	WILLSON JRS.
Peter Creedon, re	Thomas Wells, re
Will Curtin, rt	John Golden, rt
H. Johnson, rg	Edward Toy rg
T. O'Connell, c	Thomas Olsen, c
Joseph Duffy, lg	Will Davis, lg
H. L. Johnson, lt	Patrick Conroy, lt
John Duffy, le	Edward Day, le
Donnelly, fb	Fred Wells, gb
Dicey Russell, qb	John Sprague, fb
Lucas Lindville, lh	Patrick Dolan, lh
Will Hyslip, rh	Ed. Wallstrom, rh

Two touchdowns were made by Donnelly and Creedon. The work of Creedon was wonderful as he made many long runs which helped very much.

Curtin is a very fast man and is as fearless as any one of Harvard or Yale men in tackling.

Alvin Johnson is a very good man in the line and he helped tear up gaps in the defense of the Willson Jrs. The Tigers have a very fast backfield and make many good plays with them. They would like to play all 110 or 105 pound teams in city of Quincy or Boston. Write manager Whalen, 61 John street, Atlantic or telephone 2-8 Quincy.

HIGH SCORES.

The following were high scores at the weekly whist party held by William Caldwell at Stone hall, Friday evening: Mrs. A. J. Gould, Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, Stephen Schofield, Herbert Selden, J. Brown and Mrs. W. M. Dorley.

QUINCY SLUMP CAME QUICK

Lost to Waltham and Wholly Outclassed

PROUT SAVED THE DAY

A drop kick by Sam Prout from the 35 yard line in the third period gave Quincy high the only score in the game against the strong Waltham eleven in that city Saturday afternoon. The watch city boys rolled up a score of 48 points.

The game was the finish of the local high school season. Quincy played a fine game during the first period and it looked as though they were going to do something for the honor the school they represents. Their courage gradually ebbed until in the last half they were unable to even protect the man doing their punting .

Crane, Sayward and Hamlin, three of Quincy's best players were obliged to retire from the contest in the third period.

Waltham played an open game, had a abundance of trick plays on hand which Quincy could not fathom and were successful in their forward passes. In the closing seconds of the second period Waltham tried a forward which was not completed just as the whistle blew for time. They were allowed to complete the play and a man crossed the line for the second touchdown. The first score was made in the first period after a short session of open formations.

The secondary defense of the Waltham boys could hardly be excelled. They were in position on every play and not only did they assist in interference, but had a peculiar way in hiding the men with the ball from the Quincy players.

The third period ended with the score 20 to 3. From then out however the Quincy boys were hopelessly outclassed. Trick plays were good for all kinds of gains and they were worked often. Quincy could not even make first downs and their disorganization was complete.

Ends were circled with ease by the Waltham boys and cross tackle plays could not be solved by the Quincyites in time to stop large gains.

The lineup:

WALTHAM	QUINCY
Fagan le	re R. Larkin

Score, Waltham H. S. 48, Quincy H. S. 3. Touchdowns, Johnson 2, Johnstone 2, Fagan, Pickett, Pendlebury. Goals from touchdowns, Fagan 5. Johnson. Goal from field, Prout. Umpire, Laughlin. Referee, Ingalls. Linesmen, Handrohan and Sanderson. Time 13m periods.

JEWISH YOUNG MEN ORGANIZE

Mass Meeting Sunday Marked By Good Speaking

An enthusiastic mass meeting was vatah Achim Synagogue under the held Sunday afternoon at the Ahoauspices of the Quincy Young Men's Hebrew Association. A. H. Klubock of Chelsea, president of the associated Y. M. H. A., was present and was one of the speakers.

Alderman Samuel Markell of Chelsea was the speaker and talked on organization urging the younger members to secure the membership of the older Jewish residents of the city. He complimented the Quincy branch on their progress and said that a continuation of the membership campaign, which had been most successful so far, would make this society one of the leaders in the state.

Other speakers were Joseph Szathmary, Philip Levowitch and Joseph B. Grossman, who is a delegate to the state convention to be held at New Bedford on Dec. 1 and 2.

Edward Berman presided and many new members were admitted. Another mass meeting is planned for the near future.

Arrangements are being made for a series of lectures on current events and debates on topics of the day will be included in the season's program.

OFFICIAL BALLOT OF ELECTION NAMES TO BE VOTED UPON

No More Revisions Except Those to Be Made By the Voters in the Voting Booth

Here is the List, it is Up to the Voter to Take His Choice

The time for filing nominations, declinations and the time for withdrawals for the municipal election has now expired and no changes in the list of candidates to be voted for at the election can be made. In view of the many different features that enter into the election this year it will be of interest to know just what names will appear on the official ballot, the party of each candidate and the order in which they will appear on the official ballot which is as follows:

FOR MAYOR.

John L. Miller, Progressive and Citizens.
James H. Penniman, Democratic.
Eugene R. Stone, Republican

QUINCY HIGH TAKES LEAD

A Dozen Candidates for Washington Trip

IN DAILY LEDGER CONTEST

Everybody likes to vote, and several coupons have already reached the Vote Editor in the contest for the Inauguration Trips announced by the Daily Ledger on Monday. "Sam Prout," a Quincy High boy is evidently popular among his fellows, and they have given him a good start. With the support of the school he should make a good run.

Mrs. Alice T. Ash and Michael P. Barry are tied for second place, and have a great many friends. The shipyard will probably have several candidates, but at present J. Hynes is the only one; and he knows how to score a goal. John Evans has been much in the public eye of late, and also Galen V. Bowditch, and both have votes in this contest.

Coupons good for five votes are printed on page two of the Ledger every day, and every resident of Quincy can become a candidate for this popular trip. Washington is always an attractive city to visit, but it will be particularly so in March next during the Inauguration ceremonies.

The standing of the candidates today at 12 M., was as follows:

"Sam" Prout, Quincy High	30
Mrs. Alice T. Ash, M C O F	25
Michael P. Barry, Fire dept.	25
J. Hynes, shipfitter	20
Annie Lamont, L L O L,	15
John Mahon, organist	15
"Ted" Keohane, St. Kevin court	15
Miss Jennie Taylor, Violet club	15
John Evans, Progressive	10
Robert Pratt, 10c store	10
Galen Bowditch, messenger	5
Fred J. Kessler, Montclair	5

LIVELY FINISH TO CAMPAIGN

Planned By Candidate Miller in the Mayoralty Contest

John L. Miller, candidate for mayor, has planned a rousing finish of his campaign and will hold a rally at Evans hall, Copeland street, West Quincy on Wednesday evening, and on Friday evening he will speak to the voters of Wollaston at Brasee hall.

During the past week Mr. Miller has been putting in considerable time getting himself before the voters in a personal way, and a large number of his friends are doing all they can to tell the citizens of this city that Mr. Miller will do if he is elected the mayor of the city.

SOCIAL HALL DEDICATED

St. Mary's Guild Hold First Party in St. Joseph's Hall

MOST SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The recently completed St. Joseph's hall, formerly the St. Mary's Catholic church, was formally opened Monday evening by the St. Mary's Guild, the occasion being a whist and dancing party. The attendance was large and the majority stayed to the close of the affair.

The trophies were donated by Rev. William J. Duffy, Dr. J. T. Reynolds, George A. Berry, Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale and John Casey.

After two hours play they were awarded to Miss Nona Reardon, Miss Mary King, Joseph Garritty and Martin King. The general prize was presented to Miss Annie Ogle.

Dancing followed the whist, music being furnished by Morrisettes orchestra. The floor was in charge of Grand Knight Bernard J. O'Neil of the Ave Maria council, Knights of Columbus.

Rev. Henry T. Grady, pastor, whose efforts have made it possible for the parish to have a well appointed hall, and Rev. William J. Duffy, his assistant, were the guests of the evening.

The committee in charge of whist consisted of Misses May Sweeney, Mollie Galvin, Grace Elcock, Ethel Burns, Sadie Monahan, Mary King, Josephine Grignon and Katherine McKenna.

Refreshments were served in a corner of the hall by the entertainment committee, consisting of Mrs. James L. White, Mrs. Alice T. Ash and Mrs. Mary A. O'Brien.

The officers of the Guild are President, Miss Catherine Shea, vice president, Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale; treasurer, Miss Anna Burns; secretary, Miss Elizabeth J. McNeil.

The building was for many years used as the church for the Catholic people of West Quincy. It is situated on Crescent street, close by the new St. Mary's church. After the congregation took possession of the new church, the old one was practically abandoned.

Since Fr. Grady came to the parish he has always believed that some disposition could be made of the building for the good of the parish, and last August he started alterations.

A new dance floor has been laid, the balcony strengthened, a stage set in the front of the hall, and ante rooms suitable for meetings are on the sides. The building is steam heated, well ventilated and when all improvements are completed will be one of the prettiest of parish halls.

MEN ACQUITTED AT SALEM VISIT FRIENDS IN QUINCY

Giovannitti and Caruso the Centre of Joyous, Admiring Fellow Countrymen

Wife of Former Been Here the Past Few Days, Always Hopeful

Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Giuseppe Caruso, the three men who have been on trial before Judge Quinn at the superior court in Salem for the past few weeks for the alleged murder of Anna Lopizzo were found not guilty and discharged.

The case was given to the jury at 12.49 o'clock, Monday. The jurors instead of immediately retiring to consider the case elected to go to lunch first.

The judge told them that even if they should reach a verdict at night he would not come to the court to receive it.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

THANKSGIVING.

Thursday according to the calendar will be the annual feast of Thanksgiving. Some people have more than others for which to offer up thanks. One thing certain that people up to the present time have much to be thankful for in the way of the mild weather which has saved a little on coal bills. Aside from that there is the high cost of living for which it is said many people should be offering thanks. Undoubtedly the fellows who reap the profits have much to be grateful for from a large and patronizing public. The person who enjoys good health, is able to be about, and eat three square meals a day and the chance to provide those same meals, has something to be thankful for. On the whole this old world is not such a bad old place, and while the thanking spirit is leaping to mind and leap, many undoubtedly are thankful that they are on earth at all.

EARLY SHOPPING.

The early holiday shopping idea which has been advanced is meeting with general favor from all quarters. It is a very good idea and one which should have been advocated and practiced years ago. The wonder is that no one thought of making a public appeal in behalf of the movement years ago. Already the store keepers in order to aid in the action have shown their enterprise and the result is that the store windows are already decorated with the Christmas goods.

The early shopping idea, saves in a great many ways. It saves the shopper the last trying football rush through any of the big stores and affords the women folks greater freedom for holiday home attention. It relieves the tired clerks, bundle boys, deliverers, horses and in fact every person connected with the large stores. It is a mighty good thing and should be continued. There is a certain class who will not be able to do their shopping until the last minute as the money returns will not warrant it. For the aid of those people employers should make it a point to help them out as much as possible by handing out the usual emolument as early as consistent with good feeling, and business requirements.

FREE USE OF MAIL SERVICE.

Undoubtedly the members of congress and officials should have the free privileges of the mails for the distribution of official mail, but that this right is abused by some is quite evident. It is surprising the tremendous amount of mail a congressman has during the run of the year. He must answer every letter that is addressed to him. Failure to perform this part of his duty as a patriotic representative of the people would certainly prove fatal to his future ambitions.

During the year just closed, nearly 8,000,000 pounds of free matter was handled by the post office department. If charged at the regular rates this would have brought an income of some $20,000,000. Quite a tidy little sum. It is figured that $3,250,000 was for the transfer of political matter, speeches, which the members had made or failed to make, but had printed in the record just the same and which they desired their constituents to read, however painful. Such a practice is certainly an abuse of the privileges accorded congressmen. There should be some means by which this tremendous drain upon the service should be reduced and the department continued on as near a paying basis as possible and not have the difference between deficit and surplus, represented by the amount which it costs to handle the free mail of congressmen and officials.

WILL THERE BE REST.

The football season is over. The base ball season is a thing of the year passing rapidly before us. There has been tremendous energy and plenty of money expended on both in the past few months. The wonder is, is it worth it all? That of course is an open question. But leaving that matter out of the question it looks very much as a period of serenity and quietness was due. There is only of course the ice skating coming. The bowling and basket ball have already arrived. Those thinks however do not claim the tremendous attention which centres on base ball and foot ball. So that in a measure we may expect a few days of safe and sane material in the daily papers, without first seeing that some heroic giant, with marvelous skill and judgment, great generalship and plenty of other highly pleasing qualifying attributes had annexed the pig skin and either carried or kicked it into the middle of next week.

The recreation from the continuous din of those two great sports will come as a relief to many. To others it only means the breathing space that will stimulate to greater enthusiasm, as another year rolls around and they are resumed.

PORTLAND LOSS ANNIVERSARY

Just Fourteen Years Since Ill Fated Steamer Left Boston

Fourteen years ago today the steamer Portland sailed out of Boston on her ill fated trip for Portland, Me., in the teeth of a severe northeast storm. Not a soul who was a passenger on the steamer that night was ever heard from, and the exact spot where she went down has never been definitely located. Parts of the steamers fittings have been found from time to time but that is all. The storm was the most severe one that had visited this coast for years. Many vessels were lost and it will be remembered that one large steamship was blown high and dry on the sands at Rufe's Hummock, near the National Sailors Home. It was of a Saturday night that the ill-fated Portland pushed her way out of Boston harbor, into the storm and night and she was never seen again or any one on board of her, although about nine o'clock that night, a fishing vessel clawing her way into port off Thacher's Island reported having seen the steamer, storm tossed a short distance away, but the weather was so bad that it was impossible to approach or speak with her.

THE MacGREGORS 700 STRONG

Clan Gaining in Membership at Every Session

BOSTON MEN ENTERTAINED

Clan MacGregor, No. 5, held a largely attended meeting Monday evening at Clan MacGregor hall and was honored by a visit from Clan MacKenzie, No. 2, of Boston. The MacGregors were out in full force and a splendid evening was spent.

Chief Stewart of Clan MacKenzie outlined the work intended to be done by his clan during the coming winter, and his remarks were ably seconded by Past Chief Frank Abercrombie.

The amusement committee then got busy and passed around sandwiches, coffee, and cigars and the evening was spent in songs and stories and an excellent entertainment was the result.

Chief Alfred O. Diack of Clan MacGregor informed the visitors that less than two years ago the Quincy Clan had started out with the idea of increasing its membership to 500, the results were far beyond the most optimistic expectations. At present the clan has a membership of almost 700, and if the work of committees, led by Clansmen John Kennedy and Thomas Johnston, continues it will not be very long before the 1000 mark will be in sight.

James F. Reid announced that all the details, in connection with the coming entertainment and dance on New Year's Eve, had been attended to and a great concert had been provided for the members and their friends.

The clan feels gratified with the work done by its committee in connection with the monument to be erected on the clan lot at Mt. Wollaston cemetery. This lot has been used by Clan MacGregor to furnish a burying place for Scotchman, or men of Scottish blood, who have died while in Quincy without leaving a necessary amount to furnish a decent burial, and Clan MacGregor has decided to place a monument on the graves of these men so that their last resting place may not be unhonored. The clan feels that the act in itself is reward for the interest taken and work performed in connection with same, "As ye have done unto one of these,, the least of my children, so ye have done it unto me." rings just as true now as it did when spoken by the lips of the Master.

Next meeting of Clan MacGregor will be election of officers and a large attendance is assured. Much conjecture has been made as to who the new board of officers will be, but it is the feeling among clansmen generally in this vicinity that the present board would be hard to beat, particularly Chief Alfred O. Diack, whose work in connection with Clan MacGregor speaks for itself.

It was also decided to continue the lectures and socials which were inaugurated by Chief Diack last year, namely that of having prominent men give lectures and talks to the clan.

HINGHAM TOWER IS DEDICATED

Founders of the Town Honored By the Present Residents

The memorial tower of Hingham, a tribute to the early founders of the place, who came from the English town of the same name was dedicated Monday. Addresses were made by Ex-Gov. John D. Long and Charles Francis Adams.

A set of chimes cast in England and hung in the tower was rung for the first time. An ancient stone seat for the tower was presented recently by Ambassador James Bryce in behalf of the residents of Hingham, Eng.

CALL EXTENDED TO MR. PALMGREN

Swedish Church of Hartford Would Like His Services

CONSIDERING THE MATTER

Rev. Gerhard W. Palmgren of the Swedish Congregational church in this city has received a call from the Swedish Congregational church of Hartford, Conn.

The Swedish population of the city is 6,000 and growing rapidly.

The offer is a very tempting one, but Rev. Palmgren has found his duties in Quincy so congenial, his associations so pleasant and the work of building up the local church so agreeable to his energies that he could not decide right off just what he would do. He will keep the call under consideration for a little while at least, before coming to any decision.

His parishioners and the many friends he has made in Quincy during his five years resident here would be sorry to have him leave this city.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD.

Mrs. Louisa R. C. French, aged 82, of 36 Maple avenue, died at the Brockton Hospital Sunday evening. She had been ill only a short time, an attack of the grip developing into pneumonia, and was taken to the hospital that she might have the best of care.

Mrs. French was a native of Quincy and was twice married. Her first husband lost his life in the Civil war. Later she married Charles A. French. The only near relative who survives is W. O. Carver, harness maker, a son by the first marriage.

The funeral was held this afternoon from her late home in Brockton. Services were conducted by Rev. Alan Hudson. The burial was in the family lot in Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

TACK HARDWICK SOME TACKLER

Figured in All Big Plays of Harvard-Yale Game

Tack Hardwick of Quincy who played on the Harvard football team Saturday, is some tackler if any one should ask you. He figured prominently in every play which resulted in scoring for the Crimson Saturday. He was there all the time with the goods and was happy as could be when the contest ended and he was one of the group that in eleven years of effort had succeeded in crossing Yale's goal line, but not only that had completely whitewashed the blue.

The story of the game would not be replete without Hardwick figuring strong and big in it. He was everywhere. His tackling was the feature of the contest and it was his beautiful handling of Wheeler that enabled Storer to make the first touch down in the game. Hardwick was one of the few Harvard players who remained in the game from start to finish.

FEARED WHITE SLAVERS

Woman Makes Fearful Leap to Death to Escape Dishonor

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Possessed with the idea that she was pursued for dishonorable purposes, Miss Maud Van Deusen, 25 years old, leaped from the twentieth story of the McCormick building and was crushed to death on the stone paving.

She jumped from a fire escape nearly 250 feet above the ground. Her body struck another fire escape at the first floor and bounded into an alleyway. Nearly all her bones were broken.

Miss Van Deusen, according to papers found on her person, was a school teacher in Humboldt, Neb. It appeared that she had been seeking a position here and had been obsessed with the idea that she had been in danger from white slavers.

ADVERTISE IN THE LEDGER.

PASSED THE NINETY MARK

J. E. Hayward of Braintree, Strong, Hale and Hearty

LONG WALK EVERY DAY

J. Eliphas Hayward, probably the best known resident of Braintree, observed the 90th anniversary of his birthday, Sunday, at his home 495 Quincy avenue.

A number of neighbors and old time friends called at his home to extend congratulations and left many presents. Despite his age Mr. Hayward enjoys excellent health, and Saturday he went to Boston unattended and transacted considerable business there.

Mr. Hayward was born in the town, the son of Jonathan and Esther Hayward. After leaving school he learned the stonemason's trade and for many years was in business partnership with John Porter. The firm built many of the walls and bridges that still exist in Braintree, Weymouth and Quincy.

Retiring from business 30 years ago, Mr. Hayward brought a large farm extending from Quincy avenue to Fore River, and since he became owner he has done a large part of the work on it himself. During the past summer he arose daily at 4 in the morning, took a long walk, and then worked nearly all day on the farm without showing signs of fatigue.

The excellent condition of his health and vitality Mr. Hayward ascribes to his abstinence from intoxicating liquors and tobacco, neither of which he ever tasted. He was married three times. His first wife was Charlotte Dyelley, to whom he was married June, 1849. She died in 1862. Two children were born to them, Lemuel A. and Francis E. Hayward, both of whom are living. He was married a second time on April 15, 1868, to Harriet L. Hall, who died July 28, 1877. He was married a third time on Nov. 1,1879, to Abby A. Morse and she died May 19, 1885.

FIRE LOSS OF $245,000

Sulphur Blaze Spreads Over Area of Three Blocks In Brooklyn

New York, Nov. 26.—Brooklyn's East river water front was the scene of the most serious explosion and fire which that section has known for years. Fifteen men are suffering burns and injuries, from which a number may die.

The area of three blocks was swept and a loss of fully $245,000 caused, notwithstanding the Brooklyn firemen were aided by New York firebcats and apparatus rushed across the bridges from Manhattan.

The fire started with a series of explosions of chemicals on the ground floor of the five-story building of the Union Sulpnur company.

A series of four other explosions followed in quick order, and the building was soon enveloped in the weird blue flames of burning sulphur.

The flames swept down a large hay and grain warehouse of the Brooklyn Eastern District Terminal company. At times the wall of blaze, which the wind drove before it, was 200 feet square.

CAMERON GIRL RELEASED

Bonds of $1000 Signed by Young Woman and Her Mother

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Lucille Cameron, whose association with Jack Johnson led to the negro pugilist's arrest for alleged violation of the Mann white slave act, was released from custody in bonds of $1000.

The bond was signed by the young woman and her mother, and was accepted by United States District Judge Carpenter, who instructed the young woman to be present as a witness when the Johnson case comes to trial.

In the early stages of the case Lucille Cameron was looked on as a highly important witness against Johnson, but with the presentation of other evidence the government decided that it would not be necessary to keep her in custody longer.

HANCOCK BUST FOR DORIC HALL

Remarkable Man Unfortunately Left No Descendants

HE IS NOT FORGOTTEN

Walter Gilman Page is chairman of the committee in charge of the proposed John Hancock memorial to be placed in Doric Hall, State House, Boston, by the Massachusetts S. R., and other members are Talbot B. Aldrich, president of the society; Charles Dana Burrage, a former president; Charles Irving Thayer, treasurer, and Herbert Messinger Leland, secretary.

The following circular letter has been sent to the members:

"John Hancock left no direct descendants. So far as Massachusetts history is concerned, the name Hancock is not to be found upon her public records after the first Governor under our state constitution was laid in the family vault in the Old Granary burial ground.

"The commonwealth has erected no monument to his memory, with the exception of the shaft, which marks his last resting place, and this was done a century after his death; furthermore, this action was brought about indirectly by our society.

"No memorial is to be found in our State House. His splendid mansion on Beacon street, which he intended to leave to the commonwealth, has long since been torn down, a source of never ending regret to the generation of today; but now an opportunity for a suitable and dignified memorial offers itself. Therefore, your board of managers has appointed a committee to take the matter in charge and raise the sum needed to carry out the plan.

"Our society occupies a post of distinction through its work of perpetuating forever the memory of the patriots of revolutionary days, and it is in harmony with that honorable record that we grasp this best and greatest opportunity of placing a bust of John Hancock, together with a suitably inscribed tablet, on the walls of Doric Hall in our Massachusetts State House.

"By concurrent action at its last session, Congress has granted for the first time our request for the privilege of having a cast made of the head of the full length statue of Hancock, which stands in the Senate wing of the Capitol, and the only statue of Hancock in existence.

"As president of the provincial congress, as our first chief executive under the state constitution, as president of the continental congress and the first signer of the Declaration, where he wrote his name where all men could behold it and all time could not efface it; this honorable record demands from our society such recognition as we can give.

"The cost of the proposed memorial to be placed in Doric Hall will be $800. Trusting that your contributions will be liberal, hearty and quick, we write you to send them at once to Charles I. Thayer, treasurer, Equitable building, Boston, by whom due acknowledgment will be made."

SCHRANK TAKEN TO INSANE HOSPITAL

Roosevelt's Assailant May Never Again Be at Liberty

Milwaukee, Nov. 26.—John Schrank, who shot Theodore Roosevelt, was taken to the Northern hospital for the insane, near Oshkosh, yesterday afternoon, Judge Backus committing him to that institution after a comission of alienists adjudged him insane.

Schrank has not changed his demeanor since sentence was pronounced. His disease, pronounced paranoia, and probably incurable, may result in his spending the rest of his life in the asylum. Should he recover he will be tried for attempting to kill Roosevelt.

GIRLS' FRIENDS STOLE COATS

Called But Finding No One Home Took Souvenirs

WILL BE RECOVERED

John R. Carroll of 902 Fourth street, South Boston, was arrested at the Orpheum theatre, Monday on a John Doe warrant by officer Avery for the larceny of three overcoats from the house of Ludwig P. Loberg, on Grant street last week Thursday evening, during the absence of the family.

From what the police learned Carroll and other parties concerned in the larceny were acquainted with the two daughters of Mr. Loberg and on the night in question the fellows came to Quincy to visit the girls. Not finding them at home it is alleged that they carried off three overcoats, which they had secreted near the door on a previous visit.

The girls evidently knew where to find the men wanted, for Monday they accompanied Officer Avery to Boston and visited the Orpheum theatre where Carroll was pointed out. An officer from Station 2, Boston, was secured and he placed the fellow under arrest and turned him over to officer Avery who brought him to Quincy. In court this morning he was arraigned on two complaints for larceny and was held in $300 bonds until Wednesday morning.

Carroll agreed to accompany the officer to Boston today and show him where he could recover the overcoats.

DISTRICT COURT.

George Glover was fined $15 and Joseph Ranio, $10 for drunkenness at Quincy.

John R. Carrill was arraigned on two complaints for larceny at Quincy and was held in $300 until Wednesday morning.

BRIEFS

Miss Eva Kimball of 963 Hancock street, is at Southern Pines, for the winter months.

The several hundred school teachers will receive their monthly salary from the city tomorrow.

The predicted snow storm for Monday night did not materalize. There was a slight flurry of snow during the day as a reminder of what may be expected soon.

The City Council Committee on Finance will give a hearing tonight to the residents of Tyler street who have petitioned for a reassessment of betterments by the building of the street two years ago.

Although the municipal election is a week from today there seems to be but little interest on the surface. No rallies are scheduled for this week. It is probably a case of a still hunt with the politicians and may the best man win.

Mrs. Stephen Penniman who has been passing the summer months with her daughter Mrs. James B. Pollock at White Plaines, N. Y. arrived in Quincy for the winter Monday. She was accompanied by her daughter who will remain in Quincy over the holidays.

NEWMAN TRAVEL TALKS.

"Switzerland," the focal point of all European travel, will be the subject of the third Newman travel talk at Symphony Hall, Boston, Friday evening, Nov. 29, and Saturday afternoon. Nov. 30. Geneva and Lake Leman, Lucerne and the peaks which guard it. Pilate and Rigi, Chamonix, Mt. Blanc, and the three adjacent glaciers, Interlaken and the Jungfrau, the queen of the Alpine heights; Zermatt and the Matterhorn, St. Moritz and the Engadine the lovely lakes of Thun, Brienz and the four cantons will all be visited in turn by means of Mr. Newman's photographic reproductions in motion and color. The journey is an endless, ever-changing panorama through a country where nature has scattered her priceless gifts most lavishly.

NO ONE TAKES INTEREST.

It is doubtful if anyone from Quincy is present tonight at the hearing before the Metropolitan Fire Hazard Commission which is investigating the loss of life and property by fire in the Metropolitan district. The hearing will be held in room 481 at the State House tonight at 8 o'clock.

LIQUID FROM FIRE CHEMICAL PROVED ELECTRICAL CONDUCTOR

John Desmond Shocked While Fighting Fire at Fore River Yard Sunday

Roof of Boiler House Burned with Loss of $200

John Desmond, a fireman attached to Combination 1 received a severe electrical shock Sunday morning while at the fire at the Fore River ship yard. Desmond was directing a chemical stream onto the fire when the stream struck an electrical shut off box. The liquid formed a conductor and a current of 250 volts was carried through it to the man at the nozzle. Desmond's right side was paralized for a time and he was immediately taken to the central station where his injuries were treated.

The fire was over the boiler house at the Fore River plant and the department had been summoned to the yard by an alarm at 9.40 from Box 78, which is located inside of the yard. The roof of the boiler house is made of two inch hard pine planking tongued and grooved. The intense heat from the boilers had thoroughly dried these planks so that they were like tinder and they took fire.

It was necessary for the firemen to do considerable tearing away in order to get at the fire. They were assisted in the work by the fire crew at the yards. It was while directing a chemical stream onto the fire that it struck an electrical shut off box. It was fortunate that Desmond did not receive a more severe shock than he did. The loss according to Chief Litchfield will not exceed $200.

TWELVE MEN DEAD, TWENTY-SEVEN HURT

Explosion In Corn Products Plant Causes $100,000 Damage

Waukegan, Ills., Nov. 26.—An explosion which wrecked the dry starch house of the Corn Products company's plant perhaps killed twelve workmen, injured twenty-seven others, several of whom will die, and caused about $100,000 property loss.

Uncertainty as to the number of dead is caused by inability of firemen to search the burning ruins because of continued minor explosions.

Edward Conrad, deputy in the Lake county coroner's office, is authority for the statement that twelve men at least had been trapped in the wrecked building.

Nearly all of the workmen killed or injured were foreigners and they were on the company's payroll by numbers and not by names. This further increased the difficulties met by the coroner in his efforts to arrive at a correct death list.

The fire is expected to continue to burn today, with the possibility of new explosions starting it afresh.

A NON-PARTISAN BODY

Women's Convention Re-elects Rev. Anna Shaw President

Philadelphia, Nov. 26.—Women from the west, north, south and east, delegates to the convention of the National American Woman Suffrage associataion, have chosen officers for the ensuing year.

As was forecasted, the majority of officers were re-elected, though there was a host of nominees for several of the offices. Rev. Anna H. Shaw is again the president.

The resolutions committee's report contained less than 100 words.

NEW ENTERPRISE.

The H. M. Hansen Co., incorporated, report to the Daily Ledger that they have large contracts ahead, which will distribute thousands of dollars to labor, but they are now handicapped by a poor factory and the lack of funds. They invite investigation, and would like encouragement. All interested in the development of Quincy should attend a public meeting this evening at Electa hall, and if the claims of Mr. Hansen are well founded, give him what assistance they can. Some of the Hansen shoes, which are made by the patented process, will be exhibited.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS.

Letters addressed to the following persons, remained unclaimed at the Quincy post office for the week ending Nov. 23:

SUNDAY IN OUR CHURCHES

Topics and Announcements For Coming Week

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

FIRST CHURCH.

To make the Unitarian church a "dominating influence for good in the community" was the expressed ambition of the Rev. A. L. Hudson on accepting a call to the pastorate last year. If the people of the parish would only always strengthen his heart by their presence as they did at yesterday morning's service, he might reasonably expect to realize his hope, for he can be depended upon to do more than his part. There was an unusually large attendance. The pastor preached an able sermon from the text "Who is my Neighbor." He said in part:

"If we would act fully the part of the good Samaritan toward the man who has fallen, we must not only bind up his wounds but we must get rid of the robbers. They exist today in the form of injustice and inequalities in our laws and customs. Let us strive for a larger fraternity and be not frightened by the bogey of equality. It is inequality, not equality, that begets fraternity. So long as there is variety in human life there will continue to be inequality, and the only form of equality we hope to bring about is equality of opportunity for all men in a society wherein there shall be no unjust burden placed on the back of any class. Let us begin by forgetting that which has been unpleasant in our relations with our neighbor and promoting harmony and good will. The duty of clear thinking and earnest effort rests upon us. Let us act our part. Let us make life happier. Let us make our city and state honest and righteous."

Mr. Hudson closed his discourse by reciting the poem of Sam Walter Foss, entitled "The House by the Side of the Road."

BETHANY CHURCH.

Despite the rainstorm there was a large attendance at the evening service, the church being more than three quarters full. There was singing of old, familiar hymns by the congregation and "The King of Love my Shepherd is" was rendered by the choir, the solo parts being beautifully sung by Mrs. Moore. The pastor's topic was, "Come over from Worryland," and, as usual, he gripped the attention of his audience and held it throughout. Mr. Willmott said in part:

"There are no known boundaries to Worryland, but people are constantly crossing over into it. You have been there and so have I. It is a drear country. Hope dies and faith withers and even charity is unable to live there. People grow old rapidly in Worryland and all are glad to get away. There are no children there and it is far from the kingdom of Heaven. You will hear no carrolling of birds there.

"And yet, my friends, this country is our own; it is of our own making. If we cannot get a glimpse of the eternal blue from there, it is because of the intervention of our own clouds, —clouds of our own imagining.

"No man is equipped for strong and efficient service who worries. It is hard to live with a man or woman who worries. Why worry about the bridges we haven't come to? They are usually not there at all. It is futile to mourn the past. You cannot in that way undo the wrongs you have done, nor unfasten the fetters you placed on others. Repentance implies more than vain regret; it means facing the future resolutely and determined to do better. The past is not yours any longer; it belongs to God. The future is not yet yours either, so why worry about its possible dangers and sorrows? The present moment alone is yours and it is your duty to make it count for good. That is the Christian concept of life. The key to happines is faith in God and man, and the lack of that faith accounts for so many remaining in worryland.

WOLLASTON UNITARIAN CHURCH.

At the morning service Rev. Carl G. Horst conducted the opening devotional exercises and Rev. Elmer S. Forbes gave the discourse, taking as his subject "The Church at Work."

"The revelations of God were treated under four heads, I, The Created Universe, II, Man's Conscience, III, Jesus Christ, these first three being classed as complete and finished revelations. And the IV revelation was styled "The Kingdom of God" and was described as being still in an early stage of development, since this kingdom is dependent upon the association of men and therefore constantly changing. Jesus, the most vital revelation of God, spoke often in his day of this kingdom to come but never in terms of definition; leaving the quality of it to be determined by those who should follow him and interpret to their contemporaries his message from the Father.

Great strides have been made in the last two or three generations toward a larger conception of what God's kingdom on earth should be, and from a narrow and eager wish to save their own souls, men have come to feel that the real kingdom will be nearer to realization when they have given profound study to the great questions of physical and moral development and a fair sharing of God's gifts among their fellow men. The problems which are to be met and solved today are far more difficult than those which our forefathers faced in our early days, but with our larger vision and our richer inheritance and experience we shall bravely face the present conditions. Indeed we are already well started upon a work of service which shall hasten the time when men shall live like sons of God and shall look out upon all His human family as brothers striving for a common end.

Mrs. Page and Mrs. Turner rendered most beautifully "Forever with the Lord and the contralto solo preceding the sermon was one of peculiar fitness to the Thanksgiving season.

The minister officiated, Saturday afternoon at the Plymouth, Andubon Circle, Boston, at the funeral of Mrs. Carleton A. Gifford, a member of our church. Burial took place in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery yesterday morning.

Last Monday the minister officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Fred Goodman, 63 Charles street, Dorchester, at whose marriage he had officiated in Athol, Mass., Sept. 16, 1896.

Our church will unite with the other Wollaston churches in the Union Thankesgiving service, Thanksgiving day at 5 o'clock in the Wollaston Baptist church.

The Unitarian Church Helpers will meet with Mrs. Charles E. Barker, 294 Fayette street, Nov. 25 at 2 o'clock.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of our church takes place in January and will be suitably celebrated.

"The very general movement towards excluding notices from the pulpit has been forced upon ministers by the inconsiderate invasion of the hour of worship by throwing good causes which, if all were given place, would make the pulpit a social and philanthropic advertising bureau. The turning of all such requests into the channels of printed announcements is in the interest alike of good taste and of religion."

The next great event in the life of our parish is the Wollaston Alliance Fair in the church vestry, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 4, 5 afternoon and evening.

We urge upon all the members and friends of our parish to use their influence to secure this year as large a No-License majority as possible. Let us keep Quincy in the No-License column.

In Germany, hitherto the land of universal beer-drinking, the Ministry of Education has approved the following circular, now being distributed by certain Boards of Health: Give your children not a drop of wine! Not a drop of beer! Not a drop of brandy!

WHY?

1. Alcohol checks the bodily and mental development of children.

2. Alcohol leads quickly to exhaustion and produces heaviness and inattention in the school.

3. Alcohol causes disobedience to parents.

4. Alcohol develops sleeplessness and early nervousness.

5. Alcohol increases the death rate of children.

6. Alcohol weakens the resisting power of the body and thereby leads to the development of all kinds of diseases.

7. Alcohol prolongs the duration of every illness.

8. Alcohol continually awakens renewed thirst and on that account lead easily to habits of drinking.

Three beautiful pictures, most appropriate to a Sunday school room were presented to the Sunday school by Miss Catherine Kimball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kimball, 83 Grand View avenue.

The next Vesper Service will be held the second Sunday in December at 4.30 o'clock. Mr. Frederick H. Bishop will have charge of the music, this his fourth season.

The Good Citizenship Forum meeting in spite of the rain yesterday was well attended. The leader was Elmer S. Forbes of Boston and the subject for discussion was "The modern Three-decker." Dr. Forbes complimented the church for having not only an hour of worship Sunday mornings, but also an hour for the consideration of the great problems of today. To moralize business and politics and society is the crying need of our time.

FINNISH CONGREGATIONAL.

Services were held as usual at the Finnish Congregational church, Sunday, under the direction of Rev. John E. Lillback, the pastor who has returned from an extended trip to Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Sunday school and children's service was held at 9.30 o'clock in the forenoon. Rev. Mr. Lillback lectured to the classes on "Child Life in New York." Teachers and pupils were much pleased at the discourse; and were gratified that they lived in Quincy where they had a breathing space.

At the regular morning service, the pastor took for his subject, "On a Mount Tabor, and in the valley of the shadows." At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the Christian Endeavor Society had a largely attended meeting.

At the evening service the pastor reported from the Brooklyn meetings and brought greetings from the newly organized Finnish Congregational church in that city.

At the evening service, the pastor preached a very strong sermon and three stepped forward and pledged themselves as church members. There was a large congregation and they remained until 10 o'clock in the evening, singing and exchanging views. This evening the Martha Society will meet at the church.

AERIAL NEWSPAPER BOY

Scranton Paper Delivered In Town Twenty Miles Away by Aeroplane

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 26.—A new stunt in American aviation was staged when Aviator Weeks carried an edition of the Scranton Truth between this city and Carbondale, a distance of twenty miles, making the trip in exactly fifteen minutes.

The biplane was designed by O. E. Williams, a local mechanic. Awaiting Weeks at the landing field in Carbondale were Mayor Murrin and other city officials and Truth carriers, who opened the bundles and covered their regular routes.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts
LAND COURT.

To the Bethel Beach R. E. Trust, Samuel Engler, Oscar Y. Rosquist and the Sailors Snug Harbor, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, and said Commonwealth; Henry M. Hollis of Braintree, in said County of Norfolk; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Sarah F. Castor, of said Quincy, to register and confirm her title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of marsh land situate in said Quincy, containing three acres, more or less, bounded on the south and west by land of said petitioner; on the south also by land of the Sailors Snug Harbor, on the north and east by land of the Bethel Beach Real Estate Trust, of Samuel Engler, of Oscar Rosquist and of Henry M. Hollis.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed in case No. 2324 on the files of said Court, and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the ninth day of December A. D. 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this eleventh day of November in the year nineteen hundred and twelve.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

PLANNED TO DYNAMITE PANAMA CANAL LOCKS

Los Angeles Was Also to Be "Wiped Off the Map"

Indianapolis, Nov. 26.—The contentions of the defense that the McNamaras and Ortie E. McManigal alone were responsible for explosions, and that the Iron Workers' union executive board and President Ryan knew nothing of any $1000 expended from the union funds for destroying non-union property, were pursued in the cross examination of McManigal at the "dynamite conspiracy trial.

Before being turned over by the government McManigal had told stories of how he and the McNamaras had talked of blowing up the locks of the Panama canal, and how James B. McNamara was to return to Los Angeles "and wipe that city off the map" by a series of explosions, and how they were prevented from carrying out these plots by their arrest in April, 1911.

He also related that after his and James B.'s arrest in Detroit, and they were on a train to Chicago, James B. offered Guy Biddinger, a detective, $30,000 to allow them to escape, telling Biddinger "If you don't get it, Clarence Darrow will.'

JURORS HAVE GIBSON CASE

Defendant's Wife Expresses Confidence In His Acquittal

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 26.—The case against Burton W. Gibson, accused of murdering his client, Rosa Szabo, at Greenwood lake on July 16, went to the jury last night.

Justice Tompkins spent two hours and twenty minutes in delivering his charge, following summing up for the defense. The charge was accepted by both prosecution and defense as fair.

"I am pleased. It is all right," said Mrs. Gibson, after the justice had concluded his charge. "I shall be glad to know the result. I am confident and tired."

RESIGNATION POSTPONED

Bryce Remains as British Ambassador to United States

Washington, Nov. 26.—The resignation of British Ambassador Bryce, announced to occur in the near future, has been indefinitely postponed. The reason advanced is the undesirability of making a change during the present delicate situation in Europe.

It is thought, however, that a more pressing reason is the desire of the British government to keep Bryce in Washington in view of the coming change of administration in this country, with the possible reversal of the attitude of this government towards the Panama canal tolls question.

Norfolk, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Martha W. Q. Willett late of Quincy in said County, deceased:

Whereas, three certain instruments purporting to be the last will and testament—and two codicils—of said deceased have been presented to said Court for Probate by George T. Till of Swampscott in the County of Essex who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named, without giving a surety on his official bond; You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy in said County of Norfolk, on the eleventh day of December A. D. 1912, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted. And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger a newspaper published in said Quincy the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fifth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve.

YARD PASSED THE 1400 MARK

Trimming the Machinists Gallery in Jig Time

OTHER BOWLING SCORES

Good scores marked the regular match of the Fore River league teams at the Coleseum Monday evening. Riley of the Yard team made 112 as the high string and 325 for the best total. Seven others rolled over 100.

The Yard won four points from the Machinists Gallery, the Government Draftsmen lost four to the Shipfitters and the Machinist Floor won three points from the Pattern makers.

SOCIALIST MEETING.

The local Socialists have planned for a rally at Finn hall, Wednesday evening, when William Francis Barnard will be the principal speaker.

NAVAL TALK.

At the monthly meeting of the Wollaston Congregational club, this evening, Rev. George A. Crawford, D. D., chaplain U. S. N., retired, will speak on "A Winning navy and why it wins."

BRIEFS

Miss Helen Martin of Hall Place is enjoying a month's vacation.

The regular meeting of the school committee will be held this evening.

Turkeys are a little high perhaps, but then we are living in a high flying age.

James H. Penniman, the Democratic candidate for Mayor will speak at a Democratic rally in Ward Four tonight.

The public schools of the city close tomorrow noon for balance of week. Many of the teachers whose home is out of town will go home for Thanksgiving.

Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows will work the third degree tonight on candidates from John Hancock and Neponset lodges. Several candidates are in line for the degree.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Russell Poquett of Bellevue Park have gone to Alburgh, Vermont to spend Thanksgiving with Mr. Poquett's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Poquett.

The meeting of the men's club at the Washington street Congregational church Wednesday evening will be an interclub debate with the Wollaston, M. E. club on "Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities."

A little stranger arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb F. Howard, 22 Trafford street, last night. He was a lusty little fellow, weighing 12 pounds. Mr. Howard is a socialist and a disciple of I. W. W. He has taken a great interest in the trial of the three men who were indicted for the death of the woman during the Lawrence strike. As the youngest scion of the house of Howard arrived on the very day that the jury had reached a verdict of not guilty in the case of the three men, Howard senior decided that it was a good omen and named the youngster, Arthur Joseph Howard, for two of the defendants in the case, after Arthur Giovannitti and Joseph J. Ettor.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

A Thanksgiving service will be held Wednesday evening in the Park and Downs Congregational church. The pastor Rev. William B. Ayers will deliver the sermon. There will be special music.

WAS A LEADER OF DEMOCRATS

Rayner Long Prominent In Affairs of Nation

NOTED AS STRONG DEBATER

Was Also Recognized Authority on Matters of Constitutional Law—Schley Case Brought Him Fame Before He Entered Senate—His Death Changes Complexion of Next Senate

Washington, Nov. 26.—Senator Isador Rayner of Maryland died at his home in this city of neutritis. Members of his family were at his bedside when the end came.

Senator Rayner's illness covered a period of nearly five years. Complications began about six weeks ago, and his serious illness dates from that time. He attempted to enter actively into the Democratic campaign and met Bourke Cockran in joint debate at Baltimore late in September. The effort exhausted him and he became seriously ill immediately afterward. He was one of the men William J. Bryan suggested as suitable candidates for the presidential nomination.

Senator Rayner was one of the striking figures of the senate. He had been a member of that body for almost eight years, and was one of its strongest debaters and a recognized authority on matters of constitutional law. Before he entered congress he had attained a national reputation because of his vigorous conduct of the late Admiral Schley's case before the naval court of inquiry that investigated the action of American officers in the battle with Admiral Cevera's Spanish fleet.

Mr. Rayner was a native of Baltimore and was 62 years old. He was a member of the Maryland legislature when 28 years old and served three terms in the national hourse of representatives in the period from 1886 to 1892. He was elected to the United States senate in 1904, after having served a four years' term as attorney general of Maryland.

As a member of the committees on foreign relations and the judiciary Rayner devoted especial attention during the last two years to America's foreign problems and constitutional and legal questions. He was a strong advocate of the abrogation of the treaty with Russia because of that country's discrimination against passports held by American Jews and exercised a marked influence in getting the senate to indorse that action.

The death of Raynor changes the political complexion of the next senate and swings it from Democratic control to a tie. With his vote the Democrats had 49, or one more than a majority. As the present governor of Maryland, Lee Goldsborough, is a Republican, the new Maryland appointee will probably be of that political faith until the legislature meets in January, 1914. This will give each party in the senate 48 votes.

According to Senator Curtis of Kansas the tie threatened in the senate by Rayner's death may be broken by the election of one and possibly two Democratic senators from Illinois and a Democratic senator from Tennessee, giving the Democrats at least one majority.

In Tennessee, where sectional strife among the parties threatened the election of a Republican, Rayner's death, Curtis suggested, would probably result in peace among the Democrats and the selection of a Democratic senator acceptable to both party factions.

STRING TIED ABOUT NECK

Infant Is Found Choking In Bureau Drawer In Boston Hotel

Boston, Nov. 26.—A newly born infant with a string tightly drawn about its neck was found in a bureau drawer in a room at the Hotel Haymarket. The police are searching for a well dressed, refined appearing young woman who registered as Olive Cummings, Salem, Mass.

The baby girl is at the Relief hospital, being cared for by the nurses and surgeons. It was owing to the work of the surgeons at the hospital that the child will live. The string was placed about the neck, according to the physicians, in the wrong place, and for that reason the attempt to strangle the infant failed.

TRESTLE COLLAPSES

Logging Train Goes Through and at Least Five Men Are Killed

Marshfield, Ore., Nov. 26.—Five men were hurt, some fatally, when a logging train went through a 175-foot trestle at Bear creek.

The boiler of the engine exploded when the locomotive fell. The bodies are buried under the wreckage of the train and the trestle and the number of dead may be greater.

Actor a Suicide by Gas

New York, Nov. 26.—Alfred Hudson, Jr., an actor, was found dead in bed in his father's home in this city. He had committed suicide by inhaling gas.

ISADOR RAYNER

Maryland Senator Who Died In Washington After Long Illness

VILLAGES ARE DESTROYED

Government Troops' Method of Stamping Out Rebellion In Mexico

Mexico City, Nov. 26.—Not less than twenty-five villages have been destroyed in the state of Oaxaca in the past two days by the government troops.

The administration, believing that the rebels in that region have been sufficiently cowed by the terrible warfare which has waged, has now sanctioned orders for the retirement of the greater part of the federals from that state, leaving the final pacification to the local troops.

Despite the fact that federals in all districts invested by Zapatistas have been using the right conferred by the suspension of guarantees to execute captives summarily, there is little, if any, change in the general situation.

ONE MAN SUSPENDED

Immediate Effect of Report of Boston Finance Commission

Boston, Nov. 26.—In a statement issued by the mayor's office last evening, it was stated the city officials have determined to follow the finance commission's recommendation to prosecute criminally any employe of the building department who in the future shall be guilty of any improper conduct in connection with his official duties.

David A. Finnegan, head of the gas fitting division of the building department, was suspended yesterday. He will be given a public hearing and unless he can refute the charges made against him by the finance commission he will be discharged from the city's service.

THREE INDICTMENTS EACH

Jury Selected For Trial of Quincy and His Associates

New York, Nov. 26.—Twelve provisional jurors had been selected last evening for the trial of Julian Hawthorne, Josiah Quincy, twice mayor of Boston and assistant secretary of state under President Cleveland, Dr. William J. Morton and Albert Freeman.

There are three indictments against each of the defendants for conspiracy and one for a felony. The felony is based on the charge that they used the mails to get money under false pretences and the conspiracy consists in the charge that they used the mails fraudulently.

CARNEGIE IS 77

Laird of Skibo Transfers Millions to Corporation Bearing His Name

New York, Nov. 26.—On his 77th birthday anniversary Andrew Carnegie spent a part of his time transferring $125,000,000 in securities to the Carnegie corporation of New York, which in future will handle all the ironmaster's philanthropies.

A dinner to eighteen friends last night at the Carnegie home, Ninety-first street and Fifth avenue, was the only formal celebration of the anniversary.

Carnegie was born in Scotland Nov. 25, 1835, and came to this country when 13 years of age.

Clark's Son as Parliamentarian

Washington, Nov. 26.—Friends of Speaker Clark declare they will urge upon the Democrats the selection of Bennett Clark, the 24-year-old son of the speaker, as parliamentarian of the house of the Sixty-third congress.

CORBETT RECOVERING.

Officer Henry Corbett who had his leg fractured while attempting to stop a runaway horse in City Square some weeks ago is about again although he has to use crutches.

THE BIG TACKLE OF FUND FIGHT

And His Better Half Surprised By Army of Friends

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick of Goffe street were most agreeably surprised Monday evening at their home by the officers and teachers of the Sunday school and the choir of the Wollaston Methodist church.

A musical program consisting of vocal and piano solos by Miss Marquerite Louise Holbrook and a vocal solo by Mr. Sedgwick were enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick were presented with beautiful bouquets of flowers. Remarks were made by Rev. Wesley Wiggins and by Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick. Refreshments and a social hour completed the evening.

Among those present were: Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Wiggin, Storer Wiggin, Rev. and Mrs. F. H. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carter, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cassidy, S. N. Belcher, F. G. Bennett, Miss Florence Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sutermeister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brooks, Arthur Dewsnap, Miss Alfreda Dewsnap, Walter Sutermeister, Miss Mildred Dunham, Frank Dunham, Miss Nettie Crittenden, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts, Miss Mary Cleveland, Chester Cleveland, Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook, Mrs. A. R. Poquett, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick.

MEN ACQUITTED

It was because of the fear of disturbance in case of an adverse verdict, that the court decided it would be wiser not to let the jurors out in the night time.

Shortly before 7 o'clock, last night the jurors reached a decision.

When Judge Quinn opened court at an hour unusual for such proceedings today, the jurors filed in and the foreman announced the veridct.

The woman Anna Lopizzo was shot and killed during rioting incident to the great textile strike in Lawrence last January. No one really knew who fired the fatal bullet. Caruso was accused of being the principal in the case. The other two were held as accessories, inciting to the act.

The three men were to address the meeting.

Giovannitti and Caruso arrived at the West Quincy station at 11.55. In company of a large gathering of Italians from Quincy, Salem, Lawrence and Boston they were escorted down Copeland street. In the party was Gildo Messarrelli of Lynn, a noted I. W. W. agitator and Umberto Jerussi of this city.

They walked past the Willard school where they were the centre of a large crowd of school children. On the way down Centre street they talked to the Ledger reporter.

Giovannitti, showing the prison pallor and exhibiting an enthusiastic appearance in his talk, said that "he was perfectly satisfied with the result of the trial, and that while he believed that a great deal of the evidence introduced by the prosecution was perjured he thought it was without the knowledge of District Attorney Atwill of Lynn.

Caruso, who has been in this country only five years and has picked up a reading knowledge of reading Italian literature since he has been confined, said that he was glad to meet newspaper men. Through an interpreter who was a reporter for an Italian journal he said he was glad to be out. He wanted it understood that the papers were all friends of his and that he wanted rest for a few hours.

When they reached Centre and Liberty street they were greeted by the little daughter of Mrs. Julia Vanninni who ran up and welcomed them with a pretty smile and a flash of gladness in her eyes. Just about this time Mrs. Vanninni appeared on her piazza. She gave a glad shout, stepped down to meet the two men in whom she has been more than interested and shook hands. In her left hand she had a chicken already for the broiler and as the two men who have been in the eyes of the world for months stepped through her door they were cheered and cheered and again cheered.

Mrs. Caruso was not in the crowd, since she was at Salem preparing to take up housekeeping again with her husband.

The men will stay in Mrs. Vanninis home until about four o'clock when they will go to the Quincy Adams station to take the 4.24 for Boston. They will meet Ettor who is now in Boston and go to Lawrence where they will be accorded a reception.

There was no talk of a demonstration similar to that of Sept. 30 when about 500 men suspended work as a protest against the imprisonment of Ettor, Caruso and Giovannitti.

A large number called at Mrs. Vanninis home and expressed their thankfulness at the successful termination of the trial. It was thought that there would be a general reception to the men but interested parties counseled a quiet affair and it was so carried out.

Arrangements are being made to hold a meeting at the Finn hall tonight. Mrs. Vanninni, secretary of the Quincy organization will probably be one of the speakers.

Jerussi said that it was hard for him to control himself at Salem this morning and that when he had the opportunity he could not help kissing both men. They were treated in that manner by all who could get near to them according to Jerussi and other men who came to Quincy.

HALL PLACE M. E. CHURCH.

In the absence of Rev. T. C. Martin, pastor of the Hall Place M. E. church on Sunday, Rev. Alfred Noone preached a very helpful and inspiring sermon on "Love is the fulfillment of the Law." Romans 30-10.

At the close of the morning service the session of the Sunday school was held, and preparations were begun for the Christmas concert to be given by the Sunday school, Sunday Dec. 22nd at 4 P. M.

The Junior League met at 3 P. M. in charge of Mrs. T. C. Martin.

The Epworth League devotional service was held at 6.15 P. M. Walter Strite of the School of Theology, Boston University preached at the evening service at 7.A. M.

The business meeting of the Epworth League which was postponed from last week will be held this evening. Each one present is requested to have a post card picture of some place in Quincy and be able to tell something about it. A study of historic Quincy is to be taken up during the winter months under the direction of Miss Helen Martin, fourth vice-president.

Saturday afternoon and evening from 2 to 8 o'clock there will be a candy sale in the vestry the proceeds to be devoted to the work of the first department of the league.

SEEKING WOMAN.

City Clerk Emery L. Crane received a letter this morning from Charles H. Franks, Chief of Police of Lexington making inquiries for a woman named Lela V. Grandville, wife of Charles K. Grandville, who is supposed to be in Quincy. According to the letter Mr. Grandville is dead and the Chief of Police is anxious to find his widow. The letter reads as follows:

City Clerk, Quincy, Mass.

Can you give me any information about one Lela V. Grandville, who married Charles K. Grandville in your city Sept. 12, 1893. If she is dead please send me a certified copy of the death record, and if she is there tell her that Mr. Grandville is dead. He died Aug. 31, at my house in Lexington.

Yours truly,
Charles H. Franks,
Chief of Police.

The Quincy directory of 1894 gives Charles K. Grandville as a clerk, at 220 Devonshire street, Boston, and his home as Taylor street, Wollaston.

According to the records of marriages published in the city report of 1893, Charles K. Grandville and Lilla V. Herring were married Sept. 12, 1893.

The city directory of that period however gives no family in Quincy by the name of Herring.

CHAPLAIN TELLS OF PRISON LIFE

Wollaston Congregational Club Highly Entertained

MANY THINGS LEARNED

Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins chaplain of the Charlestown State Prison gave a most stirring and interesting address on "Prison Reform" at the monthly meeting of the Wollaston Congregational club, Tuesday evening. President Mann spoke of the death of Dr. Wellington Record, a member who has passed away since its last meeting.

T. E. Perley reported for the benevolence committee. The club year book was distributed.

Wendell H. Hull moved that a communication be sent the mayor asking him to push the matter of four tracks and a subway for Wollaston, but it was decided to let the matter lay over until the next meeting.

Rev. Herbert W. Stebbins who spoke instead of Rev. George A. Crawford D. D., said in part:

"There are five great marks of emphasis in a man's life today that are distinct from the years preceding. The first of these is the unhomed man who is more numerous at present than ever before in the world's history. The unhomed man and the unmanned home are more of a menace in the United States than ever before. They run in parellel lines.

"The second is the association idea which leads the young man to club and gang life. In association there is a divided responsibility and in gang life this is so infinitesimally divided that little responsibility is felt. This makes crime, vice and the hoodlumism easy. The unhomed man suffers from not having senior counsel, especially that of older women.

"The third is the great increase of social necessities that are capital in business, social and political life today. Never before has the wage at which a man started in business been so small a per cent of what he received when successful. His social necessities were never so large and his progress never slower than today. A young man from the grammar or high school is entering business at 4 1-2, 5 or 6 dolars a week is brought face to face with increased social necessities and increased expenditure along all social lines.

"This brings great and increasing temptation to the youth and unless his character is based on high moral and Christian principles he will be terribly tried in the first six years.

"Fourth comes the present attitude toward hard and continuous toil. It is lower than 50 or even 30 years ago. Get rich quick schemes and easy political positions obtained through wire pulling account somewhat for this attitude. Foreign labor accounts for more. The average man has not the same pride today in honest hard work and manual toil that he had in years past. Migration by men who thought themselves stationery was given as the fifth point by the speaker. The consolidation of banks and other large corporations lead the uncertainty and discharge of high salaried men.

"These men going elsewhere in search of a living lose the men of the neighborhood and their work in life that have been the bonds to hold them true in the hard places of business political and social life.

"Some of the men fail to pass the test. Why do they come to us? Why are there 748 men at Charlestown and why are you here? It is not because they are altogether bad that they are there and it is not because you are altogether good that you are here.

DRUG CLERK NOW FIRST

In Daily Ledger Popularity Contest For the

FREE WASHINGTON TRIP

Ten more candidates have entered the Daily Ledger contest today for the Free Inauguration Trips to Washington next March, and there is a new leader, Fred D. Williams, the drug clerk at the pharmacy of E. J. Murphy. Miss Rita S. Lyons, the popular clerk at City Hall, has also as many votes for second place as "Sam" Prout.

Mrs. Ash thanks the friend who forwarded votes for her, but declines to be a candidate. Conductor Kelley and Letter Carrier Cole are promising new candidates today, and there are others.

Who will be the first candidate to get 1000 votes on a Daily Ledger subscription for one year good for 1000 votes? There is a fine chance for a new candidate to take lead with one of these certificates.

Coupons good for five votes are printed on page two of the Ledger every day, and every resident of Quincy can become a candidate for this popular trip. Washington is always an attractive city to visit, but it will be particularly so in March next during the Inauguration ceremonies.

The standing of the candidates today at 10 A. M. was as follows:

Fred D. William, drug clerk	150
Rita S. Lyons, City Hall	30
"Sam" Prout, Quincy High	30
Michael P. Barry, Fire dept.	25
William Kelley, conductor	25
Richard A. Cole, letter carrier	25

GRANITE CITY CLUB AS HOST

Annual Ladies' Night Proved Delightful Event

VARIED PROGRAM

The hospitality of the Granite City club was again demonstrated Tuesday evening, on the occasion of the annual ladies' night. The affair was held at Alpha hall and was largely attended by members and lady friends. The arrangements were in charge of the efficient entertainment committee composed of Thomas G. Smith, James H. Lalley and James E. Neary. They were assisted by every member of the club, each constituting himself a committee of one to see that nothing was left undone that would add to the pleasure of the evening.

As each lady entered the hall she was greeted by James H. Lally, who with one of his most gracious smiles, handed her a bunch of white chrysanthemums. Then ex-President Henry F. Tilden stepped forward and presented each lady with a small card bearing a number. The significance of this numbered card being explained later, by President Sheppard.

Wraps laid aside the guests repaired to Alpha hall where a pleasing entertainment was given. Before the program commenced however President Sheppard briefly extended the welcome to the ladies. He said that he regretted that circumstances this

CARUSO AND GIOVANNITTI HAILED ON EVERY HAND BY STURDY FRIENDS

Ettor Will Join the Pair in Visit to Quincy Tonight and Will Speak

Local Italians Planning to Give Trio a Great Reception

Mrs. Giovannitti, after ten weary months of watching and hoping, was on Tuesday afternoon reunited with her husband at the home of Mrs. Julia Vanninni on Intervale street where she was awaiting his coming, knowing, as she said, "in her heart, that he would be freed." Caruso, his wife in Salem, gazed on the scene with tear dimmed eyes and spoke his benediction on the young wife who clung so fondly to her husband after their long separation.

Both men arrived at West Quincy, as stated in Tuesday's Ledger and spent the afternoon in South Quincy. Many Italians called and presented their compliments to the men who will no longer languish in jail for the alleged connection with the murder of Anna Lo Pezzi during the Lawrence strike.

Intending to leave Quincy Adams at 4.24 they had to take the 5.07 at Quincy because their progress was so often blocked by countrymen who flocked to Mrs. Vanninnis to greet the men whom they believe fought for their industrial freedom. They walked along Franklin and Hancock street, the centre of a group of supporters and the curious gazed for the first time on two men who have been in the eyes of the world so long.

After a short wait at the station, the train rolled in. The usual goodbyes were said and the newspaper men were told that Ettor would come to Quincy tonight with both men and speak to the workers at Malnati's hall.

Elaborate preparations are being made to give them a rousing reception although there is a bare possibility that Ettor will not appear.

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

THANKSGIVING

Thursday, November 28 (Thanksgiving), the regular edition of the Ledger will be omitted. Friday's Ledger will contain a full account of the observances of the day.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A summary of some of the criticisms of the Harvard-Yale football game would read something like this, outside of losing the game, the Yale team was all right.

The Boston opera season has opened and as usual more attenion was given to the costumes than to the music.

Thanksgiving is with us tomorrow. Every one has something to be thankful for and the coal dealers are thankful that the cold weather has come along.

Those Boston young men who called on certain Quincy girls were some thrifty. If left long enough alone they might have carried off the house.

Joe Walker is showing more progressive spirit than a good many who have been laid greater claim to the name.

Carnegie on his 77th birthday finds the universe well. Who would not find it well, if they uncounted millions to draw from and at the same time avoid paying taxes on a few more.

Things are reversed in Massachusetts. It used to be the Democrats having a Kilkenny cat affair each year. Now they are all like lambs and the Republicans are presenting that old time affair of the cat and the dog.

Very few intelligent people were swayed by an opinion that the evidence against the three men acquitted at Salem was sufficient to convict.

The complaints against the Boston Elevated men have been quashed. Every one expected it.

One headline says, "Michigan lost woman suffrage." Most every one had an idea that the suffragettes lost Michigan.

Europe has recovered from her war scare. Now if some of the bigger powers will take the little ones in hand and make them see the error of their ways, the world will be the gainer.

If the New York gunmen had led a different life they probably would have more occasion for Thanksgiving at this particular time than they have.

Candidate Bird had a merry time contributing the sinews of war, in the recent campaign. There were few more lavish givers.

Some one should have been thoughtful enought to have sent Gov. Wilson a turkey. He will not have one for dinner tomorrow as there are none available on the island of Bermuda.

Some of the candidates for office will have something to be thankful for after Tuesday, in the event of their being selected to remain at home.

Will Hurley's thirteenth nomination for mayor of Salem have any significance one way or the other?

THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving is with us and according to all troditions, every one should have something to be thankful for, and should be glad of the opportunity to offer thanksgiving for the benefits which may be showered upon them at this time.

The three men who were found not guilty of a serious charge at Salem, Tuesday and freed from the meshes of the law, have something to be thankful for in every sense of the word. In fact they have many things to be grateful for at this time. It is appropriate that they should be released from custody, on being found not guilty at this particular season.

At the time of their arrest there was much clamor for an immediate trial or immediate release. Perhaps for more reasons than one it was better that there was delay in the trial of their case. When first arrested communities in this section of the country were much stirred by the quickly crowding events. Passions were aroused on both sides, which time alone could subdue and create people to think with calmer deliberation. A trial at that time might, under the circumstances have had different results and a different verdict would have meant the arousing of more bitter passions, which could not be so easily subdued and it is impossible to calculate the happenings such feelings under the pressure and passions of the time would have engendered. Fortunately the delay of the trial gave people a chance to collect themselves. Sober second thought prevailed and influenced every one.

There was a different feeling all around, by the different elements towards each other. As time went on those higher feelings molded more strongly public feeling and people began to see things in a newer and clearer light. Hence out of the passions and turmoil of that period peace came and with that peace came the inevitable result. So that take it all in all, the three men have something to be thankful for at this time and the community has likewise reason to be thankful that no more dire results than a costly trial, grew out of this incident, which at one time looked so ominuously threatening to the peace and good name not only of Lawrence and Essex county, but of undoubtedly the entire state.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

The Yale cheering squad, bunched on the benches, with their songs, shouts and cheers all ready and known by heart, with the leaders in their places ready to perform their duty, did not have the opportunity they craved for to test their lung power and enthusiasm during the progress of the game. It was a hard broken crowd of what in base ball would be termed rooters that looked from those seats across that gridiron, hopeful up to the last mement, but the hope taking no tangible form as the minutes slipped by spelling defeat for the blue. But if they lacked the chance during the game, they did not permit soreness or a poor spirit to check them after the game was ended. They gathered on the field and gave lusty cheers for Harvard. They had nothing but praise for Harvard's victory. They regretted their own defeat, but there was nothing for which they could condemn the victors.

That was the proper spirt and it would be better for all if more of it was manifested in the every day life, in the home, the school, the office and elsewhere where much real good would be worked out of such a continuous good spirit and kindly feeling.

AT PEACE.

For once Mayor Fitzgerald and the Finance commission, are in harmony and in a measure at peace. The report of the latter body on the investigations into some departments which have been carried on for about a year, meet with the approval of the Mayor.

The recommendations which the commission make meet with general approval. The removal of certain officials, the appointment of others where efficient service demands it are worthy of consideration. The paper contains many things of value.

But the surprise is that certain things which are pointed out have been permitted to run along for years. when they must have been apparent and in evidence to any one having business with those departments. The borrowing money of an inspector in any department from people whom he comes in contact with in an official way, receiving gifts from those people and other evidences of graft pure and simple should receive the condemnation they deserve, not only in Boston, but in other places.

The habit which officials have of performing outside service must necessarily mean that they take so much time from the city. Those are all things which make up graft and should be eliminated. In fact there seems hardly any excuse for their existence, or continuance when it must be evident to officials, who the offenders are in such cases and should be met with a demand for a discontinuance or the resignation of the offender.

PRISON LIFE

"The best man living has enough evil in his being for the making of a first class fiend and the worst man has enough good in him for the making of a first class saint. Somehow when the boy was in the home he did not discover the best in him. His parents his teachers, his boss at the trade failed to reveal it to him. He went over on the other side and developed what he did find. He doesn't find the best and the weakness continues to develop. Habit finally brings him to express the weak side.

"You are here. Thank God for it because in the home your father and mother tried to discover the best in her boys and tried to reveal it and you tried to co-operate. Then the best developed more. You are here not because you are altogether good but because the best in you has been discovered. You have formed the habit of keeping the best in you out front and putting the worst and weaker in the rear.

"It is a question how to change a man who enters as a destructive factor and whether or not we change him so as to make of him a constructive factor. Not only does the community need protection but some men need protection from the community. The saloon is one thing from which many need to be protected. No man living can tell the next thing he may do under the influence of liquor. Some men need protection from the saloon for a series of years, others from the gambling hell and more from fast women.

"Besides training along trade lines the men are brought in contact with speakers and artists of prominence. All leaders in their respective pursuits. Methods were changing and with the title "Massachusetts State Prison should go the title Massachusetts Man Training Institute."

LECTURED ON SHOE MAKING

H. M. Hansen Interested a Good Sized Audience

An interested audience listened to a talk on shoe manufacturing by H. M. Hansen in Electa hall, Tuesday evening. He is the treasurer of H. M. Hansen Co., Inc., which is located at 41 Baxter street, Quincy. A large assortment of shoes were used in demonstrating what his factory can produce. Mr. Hansen exhibited a last which is beveled and said that through its use the filling placed in shoes would not be necessary.

He said he controlled his own trade, was manufacturing with non-royalty machinery, and that his patent rights and other improvements guarantee a saving of 15 per cent in manufacture.

Mr. Hansen also spoke of the offers received from other cities, particularly Brockton, inviting the location of his factory within their limits.

He said the object was to show his product and give Quincy people the opportunity of investing in a concern which will do business in their own city.

GRANITE CITY CLUB

year prevented the affair being held in the Savings Bank building, where the ladies could avail themselves of the use of the club rooms, but that after the entertainment the rooms would be open and any who did not care to remain for the dancing could proceed to the club uarters.

He also charged the ladies to guard carefully the little numbered ticket which had been given them for their number might be the one which would entitle them to a basket of confectionery which had been presented to the club for the ladies by Benjamin F. Chase of Wollaston, a member of the club and representative of the Samoset chocolate company.

The evening program was furnished by the Standish male uartet, assisted by Miss Anna Varner Baker, crayon artist and clay modeller and Joseff Yarrick, the well-known magician. The program an excellent one opened with a selection by the Wollaston orchestra and a vocal march by the quartet. There were also solos by William H. Corliss, readings and stories by Robert L. Van Buskirk. All of the numbers by the quartet were freely applauded and encores were granted lengthening the somewhat long program to over two hours duration.

Miss Baker proved to be a pleasing entertainer. Her skill in handling the crayons, and the rapidity with which she produced faces and landscapes on the board called for much applause. Then again in her clay modelling, she showed remarkable skill, for with a dab here and there and a pat the responsive clay was quickly formed into a head.

A magician is always entertaining and Mr. Yarrick was certainly a wizard. His tricks looked simple enough yet no one in the audience could duplicate them. Several of his tricks were entirely new and as they were performed on the floor among the audience their effect was even more mystifying.

At the conclusion of the entertainment the handsome basket of candy was brought forward, with a cigar box in which the duplicate tickets had been placed. From this box held on high a card was drawn and the basket of candy fell to the lot of Mrs. James E. Neary.

An adjournment was then made to Union hall, where refreshments were served by Henry P. Furnald. Sometime was passed at the refreshment table, so that it was nearly 11 o'clock before the sound of music in Alpha hall again called the party to that hall where for an hour an impromptu dance was enjoyed which closed the evening's program.

The evening had been a most enjoyable one from start to finish and the general sentiment seemed to be that fore of the same kind would be very acceptable on the part of the ladies.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

In the English billiard tournament now being played at the Coliseum by the Hull Draftsmen, Wilson beat Slavin, 102 to 44 and will play in the second round.

Lambie and Rhodes, Shaw and Griffin and Howard and Hunter will meet. Friday evening and the losers will be eliminated.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

A handsome grand piano upon which was an exquisite bronze bust of Franz Liszt, the famous Hungarian composer, was the stage setting at the Women's club house Tuesday afternoon when Mr. John Orth gave a lecture-recital on "With Liszt in Weimar." Mr. Orth first gave a description of the home of Liszt. He compared it to Emerson's home in Concord, where poets and philosophers gathered to draw inspiration from their leader, and told how at Weimar, Germany, young musicians of great promise were gathered at the feet of Liszt.

He told of his own years of struggle and self denial before he reached the footstool of the great composer and of the suspense through which he passed while waiting for the invitation to remain with the other musicians who were so favored as to receive an invitation. The privilege of studying with Liszt was priceless and only the chosen few were bidden to enter at this feast and allowed to pass their days among the musical celebrities who migrated to this mecca.

He gave a sympathetic description of Liszt, the man, and told of his wonderful charm and magnetisim and pointed out, how like all great souls, he was noble, kind and gentle with the exquisite simplicity of manner which is ever the accompaniment of greatness. He spoke of the lovable side of his nature which made him always ready to give back to those associated with him the love and respect which he received and his readiness to recognize merit in others where it existed and give assistance.

He told how Liszt was considered a radical and was fifty years ahead of his time, and also how religion and music were so interwoven in the German mind that the orthodox German understood not nor cared for the music which did not interpret his religious views. He spoke of the note of sadness which this conflict left in the life of Liszt and how he realized that he was not appreciated.

He told of the delight of the intimate touch of being so near to the master and spoke of the charity of Liszt for those musicians who could not reach up to his heights, giving an incident of an ambitious young woman who played before him. This young woman had not the ability to warrant her presence there; however he listened to her performance with patience and then said, "Young woman, get married."

Mr. Orth spoke of the enduring qualities of the great oratorios of Liszt which will be heard even more in the future and contrasted him with other composers whose work cannot stand the test of time. He showed the difference between genius and talent in this way:—one gets to the gates of heaven—that is talent; one gets into heaven, that is genius.

Mr. Orth then spoke a few minutes upon the construction of some of Liszt's compositions. He explained the motif in a Polonaise and showed how the theme was idealized and later glorified and where the lyric was introduced.

Then Mr. Orth played the Love Dream No. 3 by Listz and these others compositions by the great composer; Polonaise, in C. minor; Ten Follet (Will-o'-the-Wisp) Etude Transcendante, in B flat; Consolation, in E; Polonaise Heroique in E.

It is very unusual to have such a musical treat. One of the numbers which Mr. Orth played he had practised upon for twenty-five years. The degree of perfection was so great that a novice would hardly dare attempt to describe the flexibility, accuracy, rhythm and depth of expression. Perfect technique to which is added a soul and wonderful intelligence produces a musician to whom Liszt himself could say "well done."

Besides being a musician Mr. Orth is a remarkable teacher. He has a way of telling things so that they remain with one.

A business meeting of the club was held from 2 until 3 o'clock. At this meeting the by-laws were under consideration for revision. It will take several more sessions to complete the revision as it is hoped to get them as near perfect as possible before the club is incorporated. They are taken up section by section and on Tuesday four were considered. One important article accepted by the club was that of changing the membership from 350 to 500. This will be good news for the waiting list, as the by-laws will be effective on passage. This will give women who have been on the waiting list for a year or two an opportunity to enjoy full club privileges this season.

A sale of arts and crafts products was held after the lecture, Mrs. Alfred W. Jelineck in charge. More of Mr. James Hamilton's baskets were on sale, in charge of Mrs. Edward S. Tenny. Mr. Hamilton has been stricken with blindness and the Women's club is glad to lend a hand to him. The Woman's exchange also had a brisk sale.

Notice was given of the Assembly to be held in Music hall Friday evening, the night after Thanksgiving. This assembly has been held for a number of years upon the night after Thanksgiving and is looked forward to as one of the pleasant social affairs of the season and always patronized by representative people of Quincy. The money raised is used for civic improvements. There should be a large attendance this year. Mrs. Charles R. Safford with Mrs. N. S. Hunting and Mrs. Edward E. Jameson are making extensive plans so that this year's assembly will even surpass that of previous years. The matrons will be Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, Mrs. Theophilus King and Mrs. Charles R. Safford.

Mrs. John O. Short anounces a class in current events which is to be conducted by Mrs. Leila C. Pennock to have its first lesson next Monday afternoon, Dec. 2. Mrs. Pennock comes highly recommended. Full particulars about the class may be had by telephoning Mrs. John O. Short.

The parliamentary law class will meet next Tuesday morning at the clubhouse at 10.30.

Among the guests of the afternoon were: Mrs. L. B. Robinson, St. John, N. B., Mrs. Welton, Medford, Miss Clapp, Weymouth, Mrs. Nichols and Miss Moorhouse, Wollaston, Mrs. E. T. Baldwin, Miss Gertrude D. Allen and Col. Edward Anderson of Quincy.

CHEER TO SHUT-INS.

Extensive plans for carrying Christmas cheer to shut-ins were made at a meeting held at the Park Street church, Boston. Mrs. Frank B. Tracy of Wollaston, retiring president of the Shut-In Society, presided and outlined the project, saying that the society, assisted by a number of young women from a Back Bay school would dispense holiday comforts.

The plans include entertainments at a number of institutions in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and the distribution of "wonder bags" and other gifts to about 1500 shut-ins. Requests were made for a phonograph, a typewriter and a bed lifter. It was announced that Mrs. John H. Sturgis of Cambridge had taken charge of the work in relation to wheel chairs.

HIS HEALTH MUCH IMPROVED

Rev. Fr. Scannell Returns From European Trip

Rev. P. J. Scannell, who recently returned from a European trip taken for the benefit of his health, assumed his duties as curate at the St. John's church today.

Father Scannell has been busy accepting the warm welcome of his many friends and it is very evident that he has decidedly improved. He entertainingly relates incidents which appealed to his humorous nature and frankly says, "it is good to be back in Quincy."

WHIST PARTY.

A well attended whist party, at which Thanksgiving trophies were awarded, was held by the Ave Maria Council, Knights of Columbus, at their rooms on Tuesday evening.

The high scorers were George W. Berry, Ambrose Reinhalter and Bernard Griffin.

FEELEY ON THE LIST.

In the list of candidates to be voted for at the municipal election published in Tuesday's Ledger the name of John J. Feeley, Democratic candidate from Ward Two was inadvertably ommitteed. Mr. Feeley was one of the men nominated at the municipal caucuses.

NEEDHAM GIRLS NOT IN GAME

Quincy Gym Girls Had a Walk-over in 25 to 7 Score

MISS BEALE THE STAR

The Quincy gym girls won their first game, 25 to 7, against the Needham Girls at St. Mary's hall Tuesday evening. The game was fast on the part of the local team. Miss Isadora Beale was the star, securing seven baskets, some from very difficult angles. Miss Mildred Smith also scored three baskets which called for applause.

Miss Ruth Hildebrand played her first game at right guard and spoiled Needham's chance of rolling up a larger score. Only two baskets were made, the other three points being secured on free tries.

The girls played with a snap, showing a faster and classier style than last season, and appearances undoubtedly near a banner season.

The score:

GALLINGER TO RETIRE

Rumor Has It That New Hampshire Man Will Quit Senate

Washington, Nov. 27.—The rumor has reached Washington from apparently authoritative sources that Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire has decided to retire before the end of his term in 1915. Gallinger is said to feel himself to be out of sympathy with the senate as now constituted.

Senator Gallinger will be 76 years old next March. In the days of regular Republican control of the senate he was a power in the upper chamber. Today there are not enough Republican votes to elect him president pro tempore of the senate, and the policies and measures in which he chiefly believes find few to support them on either side of the house.

It is believed here that Gallinger is actuated by much the same motive as was Senator Crane of Massachusetts, when he declared that he was not a candidate for re-election.

THANKSGIVING QUIET HOLIDAY

Few Public Events Scheduled For the Day in Quincy

THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS

Tomorrow will be the annual Thanksgiving and as usual, preparations have been made in every home for a proper celebration of the day. In some homes it will be more elaborate than in others all depending upon the means of the people interested, but in any case, the observance will be heartfelt and sincere.

Many people will come home to Quincy for the holiday. Many others will go from Quincy to their homes in other places for the holiday so that every community on the day witnesses it home coming and home going.

The number of public events in the way of celebrating the day are not numerous. There will be football enough to satisfy all and a few dancing parties, but on the whole the traditions of the day will be followed pretty closely, in that it is more of a home and family holiday than an assemblying of a large bodies of people in public places. Many people will go into Boston, for the theatre, both afternoon and evening.

The events, which have been scheduled for consideration in this city are as follows:

A BATTLE ROYAL.

From a sporting standpoint Quincy will have enough games on. The big card of the day will be the annual Quincy A. A. and Cunningham Gym game at the Water street grounds at 2.30 P. M.

In one of the hardest played contests ever seen south of Boston, these elevens fought it out at Milton last year without a score. This year there is a feeling that one team must win, but no choice is being made by the open-minded fan.

Manager Flynn, aside from preparing the love feast for one of Quincys biggest crowds has been most active in securing officials. Huntington Hardwick, Harvard's premier half back, will umpire if he does not go to the Army and Navy game. Pishon who gained the name "the diminitive quarter" of Dartmouth in '10 wants to come out, and "Jack" Norton, a well known fight referee will probably officiate.

The boys are worked into real shape. Both teams are actually looking for staying qualities and scores.

Powell, the cleanest and finest half back in the game throughout the state will play with the gym, and to listen to Capt. Rein, "he is one of our many good ones."

SOCCER FOOTBALL.

Soccer lovers can see a game at Ward Two between the Fore River Draftsmen and the St. George A. A. On Nov. 20 the locals defeated Harvard, and the St. George are sticking near the top in the Greater Boston league. The game is called at 10 A. M. and will be of 45 minute halves.

WOLLASTON VS MILTON.

At Merrymount Park, the Wollaston A. A. will play the Milton A. A. at 10 o'clock. Wollaston is composed of former high school stars and the visitors are really the Cunningham Gym second team. "Phil" Rice will reach here today from St. Louis in order to play and Findlay and "Pete" Chapman are down from Williston Academy.

It is said that "Billie" Manning will signal at quarter. Others will be Frank Gillis, H. Johnson, J. Higgins, R. Larkin, L. Chapman, H. Chapman and "Frankie" Harmon.

RED MEN AFTER SCALPS.

At South Quincy the Redmen will scalp the Pastimes if they get the jump but it is doubtful if either team scores. The "Reds" are in their first season and well known amateur baseball players are on their line. The game is billed for 10 A. M.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

QUINCY WOMAN'S ALLIANCE.

The Woman's Alliance met in the parlor of First church, Monday afternoon, the president, Mrs. George G. Saville, presiding and conducting devotional exercises, after which the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. Mrs. Saville read a letter of thanks from Miss Sophia W. French, saying that they were very grateful for the barrel of nice clothing sent by Mrs. Henry Emery. Mrs. Charles H. Johnson read letters from different Alliances and Mrs. Minnie Manchester read some very interesting articles of religious intelligence.

Miss Angela McCarthy, who possesses a rich voice, of wide range and volume sang a group of songs, Frank Gilbert accompanying on the piano.

Carissima,—Arthur A. Penn, Bonnie Sweet Bessie, J. L. Lilbert, Irish Love Song by Lang. Her singing was much enjoyed and won many favorable comments from the audience. Mrs. Saville introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. George T. Rice of Westwood, who took for her subject, "Social Service in connection with Alliance Work." Mrs. Rice said in part: I am very glad to come to you as Director of the new Social Service Department which is being organized in the various Unitarian churches, and which they wish the Alliances to take up. I want to say a word in regard to the social service work which is being started among the women of the Unitarian churches. This is a tremendous opportunity. Social service means bringing people who are down, up to a higher level. This does not only mean poor people and needy people; it really means in my mind, kindness and bigness among ourselves.

I have a feeling that many people are going to take social service too technically, that their idea of taking an active part in the work, may be that of sending money to the various organizations and feeling then that their work is done. Do not for one moment stop at that! Your work is only beginning! Social service, is not by any means, meant only for people beneath us. It is meant for all; we must practise it in our every day lives, in our homes, in our social lives, in our churches, in fact at every turn, long before we can hope to reach out and do good among the less fortunate people.

Prevention, of course is the first step. In the old days we waited until something happened, then we began to better circumstances. Now, it is a well known fact, we are to look ahead, and try to avoid the coming trouble. We do not want to wait until many people are forced into starvation, disease and discomforts of other kinds, but we want to prevent their occurring. This of course in the larger sense of the word is impossible, but I think you would be perfectly amazed if you had followed the methods employed by the present social workers to what a tremendous extent they are curbing these various ills. In the first place, we must eliminate ourselves in this work. We must work for others. If you find in your community, a group of people, foreigners or not, you must put aside your own small interest, and work to bring these people to a higher level. I know that in some of the alliances in the country you do not come in contact with this element. In that case, such an alliance would be expected to send what it could afford to Headquarters of the Social Service Department, and let them use the money where it was most needed.

The social worker has got to be undainted, must see things to a certain extent, before they happen and must have the right personality in dealing with conditions she may find. Everyone cannot do it in the professional sense but we all can do it to a certain extent. Select the women whom you think are the most sympathetic and tactful. You will never get any where in this work without these two characteristics, sympathy and tact.

Personally I have worked a great deal in the last ten years in rural communities, and have often had it said to me that there was no work of a social nature to be done in that place, but how often do we go through a lovely village where peace seems to be supreme and one could hardly see how any suffering could be there, and how often do we turn the corner and find close by, the poor and needy, who often are lacking the smallest comforts.

In the state of Massachusetts so many of our smaller towns are becoming industrial centres. This is always sure to bring in a class of people who need our help, and any of you who keep in touch with what the social workers are doing today will find that, one of the greatest pleas, that is made is toward the church asking them to bend every effort to help in the great undertaking of bettering conditions in the state.

Housing conditions, have as much effect on the morals of a family, as well as the health and well-being in general, as anything. I have been much interested recently in studying the Vice Commission report of Illinois to find so many of the unfortunate girls have become so because there homes were so unattractive that they could not stay in them in the evening, and also too close contact with members of their own families. Also let me add that thousands of these girls come from rural communities.

Here I think the Unitarian Alliances can play a tremendous part. As long as they have taken up social service work, I do not see how they can avoid bearing their share of the burden. I often wonder whether the women who started the social service work realized the magnitude of what they were undertaking. I think it is almost impossible for people who have not seen the seamy side of life to have a really just idea of the conditions that exist, because up to now the Unitarian Alliances have in the most charming and social ways raised their money to send off to our different charities, but how really near to the truth of the whole thing have many of us come. It is for the women of our time to take up the work right here, and let it touch us personally before we can gain the end. In most of our churches there is a department of "Mercy and Help," to care for the poor, but is not most of the alms taken by a committee? Though others work and plan for the poor, are not these few the only ones of the church who ever actually see the inside of the homes of the poor? If our people knew the blessing that comes from the actual visit, more would want to go. I believe the day will come when every member will have some special duties of social service, and then what interest and enthusiasm there will be in church work, and how the churches will grow. Not but what we can serve the Master by giving bazaars and teas and with all kinds of committee work, but no kind of service is so personal and intimate as the service to the Master, the service we give to His poor. I think, you will all agree that this is a lovely sentiment, and one which is not impossible for us to follow.

I fear sometimes, I am not the right person to present this subject to the Alliances, for I have come into such close contact with the serious side of the social field, and have seen so much misery and suffering, that it may seem to you as if I had exaggerated the situation. I am too loyal, however to the Unitarian women as a whole to put the matter before them in any way but the way that in the end they must come to see it.

In Dedham, a very good work is being done among the Italians, and in Westwood four years ago we started a summer camp for sick girls, which has been most successful and I do not believe you will find a happier group of women today than the Westwood Alliance. I believe much of it is because they feel they have accomplished something for others and they are personally responsible for it.

The quality of social service depends, first upon personal qualities, and second upon the social opinions of the community. Until we have men and women of splendid personality who are able to win men, we can hardly expect to develop that quality of social service which will bind a community in co-operative effort.

In 1836 my grandfather, who was a Unitarian minister in Ohio, opened a room where poor people could go and get his advice. He was considered at that time, too progressive. William Henry Channing wrote his life and upon reading it I find he was working on the same lines we are today. So although we are not the originators of the work, we can follow the splendid examples of the pioners and with the grand opportunities of today, the Unitarian churches have very little excuse to fail in their great undertaking of social service.

In closing, let me say I shall be very glad to have you ladies talk this matter over among yourselves, and decide in what way I can assist you. As the Social Service Director I am ready to come at any time to help solve any problem which you may wish to consider.

A rising vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Rice and during the social informal hour all greeted and thanked her.

Refreshments were served. The hostesses, Mrs. John D. Buckingham and Mrs. Eugene Atwood, presiding at the chocolate urns. Mrs. William Hodgkinson and Mrs. Minnie Manchester assisted in serving.

ART CONFERENCE.

The art department of the Massachusets State Federation, holds an all-day conference in Boston, Dec. 5, By the courtesy of the Museum officials of the Museum officials the meettings will be held in the lecture room of the Museum of Fine Arts.

State President, Mrs. Mulligan, will open the morning session at ten o'clock. Dr. Arthur Fairbanks, Director of the Museum, will give a word of greeting to the delegates, and Mr. Huger Elliott will speak briefly of the educational facilities of the Museum. An opportunity will be given for art chairman to report the work of their clubs, and they are requested to send in advance to the chairman of the art department any topics or questions which they would like to have discussed in the conference.

The morning session will close with a paper on "The Education Value of Pageants," by Mrs. Cyrus E. Dallin, of Arlington Heights, who has designed several of the artistic pageants given in this country.

The afternoon session will open at two o'clock, Mr. Philip J. Gentner, Director of the Worcester Art Museum, will give an address on "American Impressionism in Painting," with lantern slide illustrations.

Admission to the Museum will be free on presentation of visiting card with name of club added. Luncheon at a reasonable price can be obtained at the restaurant in the Museum, or within short walking distance.

Mrs. H. H. Kitson and Mrs. Eugene Atwood are to represent the Quincy Women's club at the conference.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Mrs. Leila C. Pennock of Somerville, who is chairman of the bureau of information of the state federation gives an idea of the aims and objects of the department in a recent General Federation Bulletin. It was stated in part that its mission is to act as a medium for general information and to advise from an unprejudiced and disinterested point of standpoint whenever such advice is desired. It has through the assistance of clubs maintained scholarships carried on by the club women throughout the state. Each year the response from the individual organizations grows so that the bureau has information regarding valuable class and department work that is being carried on. It has an increasing list of speakers who are willing to make special terms for small clubs.

"The bureau holds the constitution and by-laws of nearly every club in the state federation and during the past year in order to aid clubs desiring to revise their by-laws, it has taken what has been deemed the most practical parts of these and embodied them in so-called model constitution and by-laws, copies of which can be loaned to clubs at any times.

"There are in the possession of this department, excellent outline studies of 19 different countries. These are at the disposal of club study classes—all that is asked in return being that they shall be returned for the benefit of others.

"The bureau would like to come in touch with club women throughout the state who through experience in department work are able and willing to speak for any of the federation interests. It also asks clubs to send their year-books as soon as they are published to the chairman of the department.

"Assistance is again solicited for the coming year not only from the large (federated) club, with its numerous advantages on account of numbers, but also from the small club which through the necessity of individual activity is rich in ideas."

JANITORS WANT MORE SALARY

School Committee Asked for 15 Per Cent Raise

SCHOOL FINANCES

A regular meeting of the School committee was held Tuesday evening the only absent member being A. W. Newcomb.

A communication was received from the State Board of Education stating that the tuition for the evening industrial schools for out of town pupils would be $3.50 per month.

The resignation of Harriet P. Hayford of the Wollaston school was accepted.

Miss Myra E. Otis was appointed a teacher at the Washington school and Miss Ethel F. Marsh a teacher at the Coddington school.

It was announced that the evening schools and the evening Industrial school at the High school building would be held Friday evening as usual.

A petition was received from the janitor's association of the Quincy schools asking for an increase in salary of fifteen per cent. It was referred to a special committee consisting of the Chairman, Messrs. Newcomb and Mackay.

It was voted to appoint a special committee of three with the Superintendent to draw regulations governing the public use of school halls.

Dr. Bruce, Dr. Hunting and John D. Mackay were appointed a special committee to draw the annual report of the school board.

The two evening dressmaking classes at the High school petitioned for another term after January 1. Referred to the committe on evening schools.

The special committee considering the subject of sex hygeine in the public schools reported that it was inadvisable to cause such instruction but that it was topic that might well be considered by the parents and teachers association so that instruction be given in the homes where it really belongs.

It was voted to ask the City Council to make transfers in some of the budget appropriations.

The financial report to date was reported as follows:—

GUNMEN SENTENCED TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

Penalty For Killing Rosenthal at Instigation of Becker

New York, Nov. 27.—With the courtroom guarded by deputy sheriffs, policemen and detectives, all heavily armed to prevent any outbreak or attempt at rescue, Harry Horowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood;" Louis Rosenburg, alias "Lefty Louie;" Frank Muller, alias "Whitey Lewis," and Frank Cirofici, alias "Dago Frank," were sentenced to die in the electric chair in the week beginning Jan. 6 for the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

As each man was sentenced he was carried back to the Tombs. Then they were handcuffed to deputies, hustled into an ironclad prison van and rushed to the Grand Central station, where a train was taken to Ossining.

It is expected that a formal notice of appeal, which will automatically act as a stay, will be filed soon with the district attorney and the warden of Sing Sing prison.

GIVING UP HIS WEALTH

Carnegie to Keep Only $25,000,000 to Be Disposed of In His Will

New York, Nov. 27.—Andrew Carnegie, in a statement last night, announced that all but $25,000,000 of his fortune, which will be disposed of under his will, will be left to the Carnegie corporation of New York, which has been made his residuary legatee and which will carry on his educational and charitable work.

"I am happy in getting all this off my mind," he said. "It is a gruesome business, but I find that this earth is rapidly becoming more and more heavenly so many good men and women I know labor for others. Surely Luther, Franklin and their followers were right who held that 'Service to man is the highest worship of God.'"

CHURCH FILLED WITH PEOPLE

Eager to Take Part in the Mission at St. John's Church

An overflow congregation again filled the St. John's chuhch on Tuesday evening where a mission for women is being conducted by Father Coyle and Father Condon of the Jesuits.

Father Coyle delivered a sermon on "Mortal Sin" at the evening services and this morning Father Condon spoke on "The Commandments."

The mission will continue during this week for women and next week will be devoted to the men. The children are also receiving instruction.

The preaching of the visiting fathers is along the lines of Spiritual Exercises, and a short instruction precedes each sermon.

MRS. RAYMOND FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MURDER OF MATTIE HACKETT

Jury Out Only a Short Time Today When They Brought in Their Verdict

Closing One of the Most Sensational New England Cases

Augusta, Me., Nov. 2—Mrs. Elsie Hobbs Raymond, was found not guilty of the murder of Mattie Hackett, this afternoon and discharged. This ends one of the most sensational cases which has occupied the attention of the New England courts for a considerable time. The girl Mattie Hackett 17 years old was killed by having a rope tied around her neck and strangled, seven years ago.

Mrs. Raymond, was in a delicate condition at the time. It was claimed that she was jealous of the girl. The night of the murder she left her house and claimed to have been in the orchard near by until 11 o'clock when she was found by her husband.

There was much gossip and talk and finally the present year an indictment was returned against the woman. The place of the murder was two miles from the home of Mrs. Raymond.

The case has been on trial before Chief Justice Whitehouse for about two weeks. The evidence was finished Tuesday. The judge charged the jury this morning and the jury was not out very long when they came in with the verdict of acquittal.

GRASS FIRE IN THE MARSHES

Brought Apparatus Out at Pretty Stiff Speed

REAR WHEELS SLEWED

The alarm from Box 515 at 12.55 this noon was for a grass fire in the marshes near the Quincy Mansion school. In responding to this alarm the danger of running the auto chemical of the central station through the streets at break neck speed was again demonstrated. The street was full of children and people and the speed which the apparatus made in passing through the City Square was terrific. When near the corner of Hancock and Whitney road the rear wheels of the apparatus slewed and came within an ace of striking the curbing. Had the wheels struck the curbing there was some probability of the machine turning turtle.

It is all right to make good speed in getting to a fire but no fire warrants the apparatus making the speed through a crowded thoroughfare that this piece of apparatus does. It is understood that the new piece of apparatus stationed at Atlantic is geared so that it cannot go over 35 miles an hour. With the central station apparatus however, it can easily make a speed of fifty miles an hour and it seems sometimes as though it was going the limit.

BOUGHT A NEW HOME.

Ward C. Walker, ticket agent at the Quincy station of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. has purchased the new house recently built by Charles A. Ericson on Upland road and has already occupied it. Mr. Ericson is to immediately erect several more dwellings in the immediate vicinity.

THE THIRD DEGREE.

The third degree was worked on four candidates by the Mount Wollaston Lodge, I. O. O. F. on Tuesday evening. The work was under the direction of Degree Master Jones.

GELOTTE GETS OFF COMMITTEE

Claims He Cannot Support Party Candidate For Mayor

Otto Gelotte has resigned as a member of the Republican city committee from word three and in doing so sent the following letter to the secretary:

Quincy, Nov. 27, 1912.

Mr. Edward Marnock, Secretary,
Republican Ward Committee,

Dear Sir:—I hereby through you, tender my resignation from the ward committee for the curent year, because I am unable to support the nominee for mayor.

To better the conditions in the city we must have strong men in office, particularly the executor, and the present incumbent owes his strength politically because office weakens office.

Very truly yours,
Otto Gellote.

TYLER STREET PEOPLE OBJECT

To the Amount and Methods In Betterment Scheme

HEARING WELL ATTENDED

The Finance Committee of the City Council gave a hearing Tuesday evening to residents on Tyler street who had petitioned the Council for a reassessment of betterments for the building of the street. The street was laid out and built under the betterment acts in 1911 and last September the City Council passed an order assessing betterments on the abutters and it is these betterment assessments over which the abutters are kicking.

There was a good attendance of residents at the hearing including ex-Commissioner of Public Works Randolph Bainbridge, under whose administration the street was built.

The claim of the abutters was that there had been a number of charges made against the street which should not have been made. One of the charges was one for $150 for use of steam roller when it was claimed and later admitted by Mr. Bainbridge that the steam roller was not used. He, however claimed that some gravel was used on the street which offset this charge. The petitioners also claimed that seed was charged for that was not used, for certain supplies that were not used and that the extra gravel charged for was not used.

After the hearing the matter was taken under advisement by the Finance Committee who will report later.

EDITOR CALLED INTO COURT

Charles E. Decker Charged With Criminal Libel by Hotel Man

Charles E. Decker, of the Bulletin was summoned into court this morning by Chief Burrell on a complaint sworn out by Sidney W. Smith, proprietor of the Vermont house, a boarding house for Fore River workmen charging him with criminal libel.The complaint is based on an article that appeared in a recent issue of the Bulletin.

The complaint which was a very lengthy one was not read, the defendant having waived the reading. He was not represented by counsel this morning although it was announced that he had counsel. A continuance was asked for until next Wednesday. The court however said that as this was a grand jury case and that the grand jury came in the first of December it was desirous that the hearing in this court to determine whether or not there was probable cause should be held this week and therefore ordered the case continued until Friday morning and the defendant was permitted to furnish his own recognizance in the sum of $50.

ALMOST THROWN DOWN STAIRS

Officer Phillips Had Lively Time With Frazer

MAN WAS TROUBLESOME

It was in the vicinity of 4 o'clock Thanksgiving morning when officer George F. Phillips was called to a tenement in the brick block on Chestnut street to remove Martin Frazer who was under the influence of liquor and creating a disturbance. As the officer attempted to place the fellow under arrest he grabbed him and nearly threw the officer over the bannisters to the floor below before he was subdued. This morning in court Frazer was arraigned on two complaints. One charged him with drunkenness and the other with assault on an officer.

READ LEDGER ADVS.

MAN HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Acknowledges He Is the Same Who Lived Here

BUT DENIES THE CRIME

J. Frank Hickey, indicted at Buffalo N. Y., for the alleged murder of seven year old Joseph Josephs of Lackawanna, in 1911, has acknowledged that he is the J. Frank Hickey who formerly lived in Quincy.

At the jail Hickey gave his name as John Frank Hickey, 47 years old, of 632 Washington street, Quincy, Mass. He said he was an expert concrete maker, when asked for his occupation.

Hickey's arrest, the police say, was mainly due to his employment in Quincy, Mass., in 1910 and March and April 1911.

Police Commissioner Smith got Hickey employment at the Lackawanna plant. Smith knew Hickey well and the arrest was the result of Smith's accurate description and the police commissioner went to Tom's River and identified Hickey as the suspect.

Hickey protested his innocence when locked up here and told the police he would soon clear himself. The jailer said he is the coolest prisoner he has seen in years. He denied that he admitted to the New York police that he had written certain letters shown to him. He said he was arrested in Buffalo 10 years ago on suspicion of having killed the Kruck boy in New York and said he was released as there was no evidence against him. That mystery has never been solved.

SWEDISH RALLY.

Every year just previous to the municipal election the Swedish Republicans hold a grand rally. This year will be no exception to the rule for a grand Republican rally will be held Saturday evening in Protection hall.

PLAN SMOKE TALK.

Quincy herd, No. 1, B. O. B. is arranging a fine programme for a smoke talk on Monday evening, next at Hibernian Hall. The Granite City minstrels, Fred McDonald, Andy Dinegan, William Collins and several others will render selections.

—Having refused to abolish capital punishment, the Vermont legislature must be getting ready to substitute the electric chair for the hangmen's noose. Such a substitution will be a marked step in advance.—Barre, Vt. Times.

THE LAST LAP FOR MAYORALTY

Candidates Will Be on the Jump From Now Till Tuesday

Mayor Stone has planned for several rallies between now and the election on Tuesday. Tonight he will speak at a rally to be held in Music hall, Atlantic, and from there he attends a rally in his interest at the Association hall at Montclair, and a rally at Quincy Point.

Saturday night a grand rally in the interest of his candidacy will be held at Hibernian hall South Quincy at which the Mayor will speak. On Monday night rallies will be held in Wards One, Two, Three, Four and Six.

James H. Penniman the Democratic candidate for Mayor will speak at rallies tonight in Ward Four and Atlantic.

SILVER WEDDING AT WOLLASTON

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sutermeister Surprised Them

Wednesday was the 25th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sutermeister of Belmont street, Wollaston, and a large number of their friends and neighbors did not allow them to forget the fact. In the evening a large number formed a surprise party and presented the couple with a valuable gift, Mrs. George Crothers making the presentation.

The evening was pleasantly taken up with readings by Miss Ruby Walter, vocal solos by Miss Marguerite Louise Holbrook and general singing by the assembled company. A bright and original poem concerning the couple was read by Mr. Bambery of New Haven, Conn. The evening closed with a social good time and the serving of refreshments. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sedgwick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carter, Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Wiggin, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Belcher and daughter Lucille, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cassidy, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Eric H. Ewertz, Mrs. W. A. MILLER CLAIMS CITY LOST $3100

By the Way the Ward Three School Contract Was Let

WEDNESDAY NIGHT RALLY

A rally in the interests of John L. Miller, candidate for mayor, and other Progressive party candidates, was held at Evans hall, Wednesday evening, John Evans, presided.

Mr. Miller said that he believed in a re-organization of the water department system and more equitable taxation. He related his idea of the condition under which the new ward three schoolhouse contract was awarded and said the city lost $3150 by delaying the award.

He said he would work 16 hours a day if necessary in order to conduct affairs efficiently.

Other speakers were Albert N. Murray, Benjamin F. Earle, William M. Prime and Daniel Shea, all candidates at the coming election for council.

ALL COUNTRIES REPRESENTED

At the Annual Masquerade Party of Loyal Ladies

The 15th annual masquerade ball of the Loyal Ladies, Clan McGregor, No. 1 was held at Music hall, Thanksgiving eve. Dancing was enjoyed until three o'clock and music was by Provost's orchestra.

Costumes, representing all countries, gave the assemblage a patriotic appearance, and comic makeups were by no means absent. No prizes were awarded.

Miss Mary S. Summers was floor directress and Miss Lizzie S. Grassick assistant. The aids were Mrs. Josie Daw, Mrs. Sarah Dunstan, Mrs. Helen Peterson, Miss Lillian McIntosh, Miss Violet Robertson and Miss Catherine Yule.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE.

A service of Thanksgiving was held Wednesday evening by the Park and Downs Congregational church in the church auditorium.

The Thanksgiving proclamation was read and the congregation joined in a praise service. The pastor Rev. William B. Ayers preached an inspiring sermon, taking for his text "Jehovah reigneth, let the earth rejoice." Special music was rendered by the vested choir.

THANKSGIVING GOOD CHEER

Extended to All Parts and Touched All People

SEASONABLE STORM

Quincy in common with other parts of the state received its first real touch of winter on Thanksgiving day. The indications as given out by the weather man were for pleasant weather but this was one of the times when the weather man did not hit it. The air during the early morning hours felt cold and damp. There was a few flurries of snow but it was not until about 10.30 that it really began to come down in shape. It was the damp kind of snow that stuck wherever the flakes alighted with the result that when one had faced it for a few minutes he resembled a snow man. From this time on it snowed hard all day but the air was so cold that the snow was very light and did not show a lasting disposition. It was however ideal Thanksgiving weather. Late in the afternoon the sky cleared and the moon and stars came out bright and clear and it was a beautiful evening.

As usual in Quincy there were many family gatherings. There were some families who journeyed to other cities and towns to pass the day with relatives and friends but by far the larger part remained at home and the gatherings about the family hearth in Quincy were numerous.

Thanks to the Overseer of the Poor and charitable organizations there were few if any families who were denied a taste of the many good things that abound on Thanksgiving day, and not a few families offered up

BIG GAINS IN CONTEST

Williams Turns in the First Subscription

STURGIS HUNT HUSTLING

Sturgis Hunt, of Bigelow street, the Y. M. C. A. boy, made the largest gain on coupons today in the contest for the Washington trip, but Fred D. Williams was not caught napping; in fact he has a big surprise for all the candidates, for he turned in a year's subscription to the Daily Ledger which is good for just one thousand votes.

Candidates must of course have an eye out for subscriptions, either for one year, or six months, or three months, for all of which vote certificates will be issued by the publishers of the Daily Ledger.

Promising new candidates are Miss Ethel Randall, a stenographer of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co., William Wolf, of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, and Miss Bertha Pearson of Wollaston, and there are others with 20 or less votes. Sam Shellman, the barber, and others have moved up in the list.

The Vote Editor has been asked if there will be "bargain votes" in the Daily Ledger contest as in some others where coupons will count for more than five votes. Believing it would be unfair to a candidate who has accumulated a large total on small coupons, to print a coupon good

NOTICE.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The approach of snow yesterday has officially registered the arrival of winter.

It is said that Democrats plan to get 30,000 jobs. It seems too bad there will not be enough to hand out in full measure to the ever faithful.

A train going 40 miles an hour clips into a lone engine and no one is hurt. The days of miracles are not yet over.

Lawrence had another patriotic demonstration, Thursday. They cannot come too often.

Do your Christmas shopping early and avoid the rush.

The war clouds still hang dark and threatening over Eastern Europe.

It would appear that we are getting pretty near home in the dynamite cases. All of which starts the inquiry as to the Lawrence dynamite incident.

After an 11 years fight Attorney Patrick will now have a chance to prove his innocence.

Senator Jones jumped from the Republican party to join the populists then he returned to the fold, but he has now joined the angels. He missed the chance to get in on the ground floor of the latest new party.

On the evidence presented, few intelligent men would have convicted Mrs. Raymond of the crime with which she was charged.

THE REASON.

It is about this season of the year, when the air is tinctured with a beautiful moon and fine hunks of sharp coldness that the candidate or at least some candidates, for public office rise to explain to a breathless and wondering community why they are candidates for office and the cause of their being guilty of such an offense.

Now it is naturally a good thing for the average man of intelligence to manifest an interest in public affairs. He should likewise demonstrate a patriotic sentiment to serve his city, in the halls of administration of governmental affairs. And thereby hangs a tale.

Many candidates are called, that is they hear a call in the thin keen atmosphere of this season and they respond. Not with any undue haste, but with a dignified slowness that does them credit and leaves a good impression upon their friends and relatives. All so far is very good. Having heard the call and responded to it, with becoming modesty, some candidates sit calmly down and wait until the election returns land them in the coveted place of trust and honor.

Others it is sad to relate are not willing to accept their fate in this prosaic way. They have an idea that the entire community should understand their reasons for getting into this great contest, and that the majority of the voters of the district should be told why a few, possibly a nominating committee desire the presence of this particular personage at the seat of government. All of which is commendable and laudable on the part of the candidate.

But some of the candidates go a little further. They seize this opportunity in making their reasons for running for office clear to the voter to get in a lot of other stuff, which is modest enough in its way, but somewhat fulsome from a personal point of view when analyzed. And further they endeavor to tell the trusting public why they joined this party or the other.

All of which leads up to that which most people fully realize. That is, that unless there is a great general public demand for any man to be a candidate for office the only thing the public wants to know is his position with regard to certain matters in which the community is vitally interested. As to the cause of the aforesaid entering the running, or his enrollment under any banner which he may elect to make his contest, it is of very little concern. Few people care a great deal about it one way or the other. And if all the candidates were to be given the time and space to perform this little service to the public at large and incidentally in a large measure to themselves a lot of good time and valuable space would be wasted.

WOMAN AGAINST WOMAN.

It was rather a strange setting of circumstances that the witnesses who were the strongest against Mrs. Raymond who was charged with the killing of Mattie Hackett, were with few exceptions of her own sex. It seemed that those neighbors treasured up every little matter, kept it stowed away in their minds, until the proper moment of disclosure came.

Some of them manifested remarkable memories. Many it would seem had drawn upon their imagination and then thought it was memory serving them.

Even the neice of the woman appeared in the ranks of those who testified against her. Many of those witnesses recalled things which had not occurred to them in the early stages when suspicion was first turned towards the woman. They freshened up their memories every little while. In some cases, the process during the period of seven years in which had to foment, worked wonderfully. It was truely astonishing what memories some of those people had. They should form a club and hold an annual reunion, to further develop and perpetuate their powers. It would be a burning shame if the splendid examples of mind over matter thus demonstrated were permitted to go to seed. Perish the thought.

BIG GAINS IN CONTEST

HOLIDAY AIR PREVAILED

At the Granite City Club With Big Party Enjoying It

As usual on the night before a holiday good cheer reigned supreme at the rooms of the Granite City club on Thanksgiving eve. It was the regular whist night of the club and eleven tables participated in the tournament. The two high scores were made by Samuel T. MacQuarrie and George T. Magee. After the tournament the remainder of the evening was passed as each individual taste dictated. Some indulged in whist while others preferred pool or billiards, and still others gathered in the reading room and engaged in social conversation.

In the dining room there was a continuous lunch served all the evening. The menu included sandwiches, ice cream, fruit of all kinds, hot coffee and sweet cider. The attendance at the rooms was one of the largest for some time, for in addition to the members there were many out of town friends of members who were in Quincy for the holiday.

PEACE AT LAWRENCE

Citizens Offer Thanks at End of Great Textile War

Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 29.—Thousands of men, women and children participated in Thanksgiving day exercises, held in the public schools and the city hall last night, and most of them wore a miniature American flag. The meetings were similar in nature to the patriotic meetings held Columbus day.

Judge DeCourcey, Samuel J. Elder and Mayor Scanlon were the principal speakers at the meeting in city hall. All the speakers gave thanks that the end of the labor trouble in the city has been reached, and advised that the proper spirit now is to guide the foreign-born mill workers along the pathway that will lead to their becoming true American citizens.

Letters from Cardinal O'Connell and Bishop Lawrence were read at each of the meetings.

—Snowshoes for horses will be ready at Chicago for the first fall snow or frozen streets. The shoes, furnished by the Society of Humane Friends, are of carpet and canvas and are intended to be slipped over the feet of a fallen animal so that he can get up. Traffic policemen will carry sets of four for the use of drivers whose horses go down.—Bryantville News.

ELLIOTT—FOGARTY.

A wedding of much interest locally was solemnized Wednesday at at South Braintree when Miss Ada Grace Fogarty of Holbrook avenue, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Fogarty of Moncton, New Brunswick, became the bride of Robert James Elliott of Moncton, son of James Elliott of that city. The ceremony was performed at the parochial residence at two o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Fr. Andrew J. Fitzgerald, curate of the St. Francis church.

The best man was the bride's brother, James E. Fogarty of Moncton and a sister of the bride, Miss Kathleen Fogarty of New York City was maid of honor gowned in brown velvet with mink trimmings with hat to match. The bride wore a blue travelling suit of chencella cloth with hat to match.

A wedding dinner was served at the Parker house, Boston, covers being laid for fourteen, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marshman of Holbrook avenue with whom Miss Fogarty made her home here, Master Clifton Marshman, Miss Katherine Schraitt and Miss Mary E. Reynolds. After the dinner the happy couple left on the five o'clock train for Moncton, stopovers to be made at Portland and Lewiston. They received quantities of wedding gifts among them being some beautiful pieces of cut glass and silver.

The groom's present to his bride was a black marten muff and the bride bestowed upon her maid of honor a pendant of pearls. Mrs. Elliott was for the past five years a stenographer in the local office of the Rice & Hutchins Company where she made an enviable reputation as faithful and highly capable member of that department. She leaves town accompanied by the best wishes and congratulations of her many friends. A short time before resigning her position she was presented with twenty-five dollars in gold as a remembrance from her associates of the office force.

Mr. Elliott is equally well known and esteemed in his home town and is a popular conductor in the employ of the Intercolonial Railway. Their friends call it an ideal match and predict for the young couple a rosy future.

BURIED WITH A MASS.

The funeral of Mrs. Hannah Gearin, widow of the late Frank Gearin, who died Sunday in her 81st year, was held from her late residence, 162 South Walnut street, Thursday morning. A requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. John J. Casey at St. John's church, where the deceased was a faithful attendant. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The bearers were Timothy Ford, William Kiernan, Joseph Purpura, Eugene McGillocudy, Michael Sweeney and William Taylor.

NATIONS FALL BY CORRUPTNESS

Wise For Men and Nations to to Look Back to Beginning

MR. WILLMOTT'S MESSAGE

There was a good attendance Thursday morning at the Thanksgiving service at the Bethany church. The speaker was Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott, pastor assisted by Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson of the First church. The service opened with the reading of the Governor's Thanksgiving proclamation by Rev. Dr. Hudson and was followed by a Hymn of Thanksgiving, the reading of the psalms by Rev. Mr. Willmott, another hymn by the congregation assisted by a chorus of twenty voices.

This was followed by prayer by Dr. Hudson which was followed by a solo by Mrs. Emma S. Moore and another hymn by the congregation.

The address of Rev. Mr. Willmott was in the nature of an exhortation to trust in God his text being taken from Isaiah 51-1. "Look unto the rock whence ye are hewn, and the hole of the pit whence ye are digged." "It is always wise" said the speaker" for any man who has gained prestige and power to look back to the beginning, and it is well for nations that have become powerful to look back to the beginning. So today we shall hark back to the things that made us great. We are not unmindful that our resources and industries have made our land what it is today. But we are not after all satisfied with the glory. The old spread eagle style of life is disappearing. The problems today are more serious and complex than those of our fathers. We are beginning to think this government is only an experiment. History teaches us that no nation is great because it is rich. We are not so sure that our institutions will stand the strain put upon them, but if we can hark back and put sufficient foundation on our resources there is no reason why these institutions should not be able to abide. There was never a greater strain put on a nation than its prosperity. The thing that has broken down nations is prosperity. The vast accumulation of wealth has made nations weak. A rich country may become corrupt. We know that all great powers that have gone have been weakened by corruptness brought on by prosperity. People are becoming discouraged and wondering if it will last.

"It was religion that gave our fathers the power to build. The protestant religion. It was the old religion of Calvanism that made old New England great. A religion that has challenged King's their right of authority and gave the common man his right of prestige. Wherever it has gone it has challenged the right of Kings to rule. It has been said to every man you are equal before God." The speaker said that he had no defense for Calvanism, "but my father and your father were brought up in this faith and it ill behooves the old New Englander to curse the bridge that carries us over.

"They were great men, but like children before God. They were tremendous fighters but like children befor God. We have wondered far from them and it behooves us to get back to God, and see if we can not put on this structure of ours more religion.

"The nation that remembers God is the nation that prospers. The power that put us on this throne is the power of Jehovah and the religion is the religion of Jesus Christ. It is well therefore to get back. You have received good things. Pass on to your children as great as you have received."

The service closed with the singing of America by the congregation and benediction by Rev. Dr. Hudson.

HOLIDAY NUMBER.

Suburban Life for December, called "The Holiday and Travel Number" is one of the finest ever published in point of interesting text and beautiful illustrations. "The Christmas Background" is a foreword by Professor Liberty H. Bailey, containing inspiring thoughts on Christmas and the countryside. Other Christmassy stories are "Christmas Cheer by the Acre" telling the way the gorgeous poinsettia is grown in California. "The Danger of Fire at Christmas," a timely warning about the Christmas candle; and "The Problem of Christmas Giving," a talk on the good and evil of the ancient custom. "A Little Tour in California, "Where Winter-Time is Playtime" and "Lay Days Beyond the Seas" are some of the holiday and travel articles which make one long for sunny skies.

THANKSGIVING

their heartfelt thanks because of the existence of these societies.

At several of the churches in the different wards of the city there were union religious services during the morning, and notice of these will be found elsewhere.

At Quincy's institutions all possible was done to make those in them happy. At the City Hospital the patients were allowed to receive friends who came to cheer and try to make them forget there sufferings. Those whose condition permitted of their having a taste of the Thanksgiving goodies were supplied, and those who were denied this pleasure were made to forget as far as possible, by friends who had called, that it was the day of an abundance of good things to eat.

At the National Sailors Home where some of the old salts who fought that we might enjoy a free and united country are domeciled all unnecessary work was omitted. At noon they were given a dinner which included turkey and everything that goes with it. After dinner the sailors gathered in the main room and smoked the pipe of peace while they fought over again some of the battles of the days of old.

At the Quincy Home Overseer Elcock saw to it that there was nothing lacking to make the Thanksgiving dinner all that a Thanksgiving dinner implies. There was an abundance of things good to eat including turkey, and vegetables of all kinds. Only work absolutely necessary was performed by the people at the home.

At the Sailors Snug Harbor at Germantown there was also the usual Thanksgiving dinner and the pensioners only performed work absolutely necessary. At noon as in other institutions a genuine Thanksgiving dinner with turkey and all the fixings was served. Then the old salts gathered in the smoking room and whiled away the time with checkers and other games.

The patients at Mr. Pleasant camp were not forgotten, and here as in other institutions of the city a genuine Thanksgiving dinner was served.

BOSTON AND VICINITY

KREISLER CONCERT.

The Kreisler concert to be given in Symphony Hall, Boston, next Sunday afternoon is one of the most important events of its kind in the current musical season. Kreisler, the incomparable violinist, is in this country for only a few weeks chiefly to play with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in several of its concerts. With considerable difficulty Mr. C. A. Ellis, Manager of the Symphony Orchestra, persuaded Mr. Kreisler to give a concert in Boston. He will have the assistance of an orchestra of Symphony

HOLLIS STREET.

It is the concensus of opinion among the Boston critics that Charles Cherry in the C. Haddon Chambers' comedy which goes into its third and last week at the Hollis Street next Monday night is one of the few plays which Boston has seen this season that is really worth while. There was not a dissenting voice among them and it is one of the three plays that has met with the approval of the Drama League, for on their bulletin they recommend it to their members.

In addition to telling a story of absorbing interest Mr. Chambers has introduced into the action of the play a number of types, British ones, which have been drawn with the same fidelity to nature that Charles Dickens used in his novels. There is the "cabby," Nighty, a typical London cabman of the old school who does not believe in motor vehicles and is a good bit of a philosopher. Then there is Burns, the tramp, who is a perfect picture of one of the great army of the London unemployed and Burns is a glorious triumph of the negative. Pine, the valet-butler is a real gentleman's servant, not the caricature that is generally seen on the stage and the types from the "great world" are just as cleverly drawn. "Passers-By" is rich in its appeal to human sentiment and it is cheerful and uplifting without a moment of depression. It is worth trying for any complaint you may have against yourself, for it is humanity and cheerfulness dramatized for the particular good of those who are weary of the sordid things of the theatre. In the role of Peter Waverton, the hero of the comedy, Charles Cherry is very happy. He gives a splendid performance of a part that would be very easy to overplay and he is robust and blunt without losing sympathy. The supporting company is one of the best that has been seen on the Boston stage in many a long day. The usual matinees will be given on Wednesday and on Saturday.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE.

In many respects the most novel and brilliant production ever staged by Jesse L. Lasky comes to B. F. Keith's Theatre this week in "The Little Parisienne," a miniature musical comedy by William LeBaron, Cecil de Mille and Robert Hood Bowers. This little comedietta is a novelty in more ways than one. It serves to introduce to Americans Valerie Serice, a clever little French singer and dancer, who has scored a tremendous hit in the title role. The musical score, by Mr. Bowers, author of "The Red Rose," and "The Vanderbilt Cup," is by far the most tuneful of any he has ever done, and abounds in lilting melodies and whistly airs. Among the big song hits are "You're just the sort of girl;" "Bunty Pulls The Strings;" "Esquimo Rag;" "Goodbye Scotland;" and "Won't You Love Me?" The various characters in the play are French and Scotch, a mixture that makes for some very funny comedy situations. This big novelty will be but one feature of a great bill. Harry Scott and Agnes Keane will appear in that beautiful love idyll, "Drifting;" and a big comedy feature will be Matthews and Alshayne in "A Chinatown Fantasy." Still another big act will be John E. Kenshaw and Grace Avery in a medley of songs and dances, while Hufford and Chain are two clever delineators of the Southern darky type. The DeLesse Troupe are some wonderful European acrobats; Ray E. Ball is a charming young violinist; and others yet to be announced will round out one of the best shows of the season.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

"The Seven Sisters," which will be given at the Castle Square next week by John Craig's company, is a merry comedy of plot, situation and character. Its events take place in Hungary, and with its personages the picturesque people of that foreign country, it will offer decided novelty to the playgoer. It is in fact a play that possesses an atmosphere and humor that is all its own.

Daughters in Hungary are trained from childhood for matrimony. They are betrothed and married in order. In "The Seven Sisters," there is a widowed mother whose seven daughters range in age from twenty to twelve, and in stature they would make a very presentable flight of stairs. The mother is of too moderate means to hasten the marriage of her eldest daughter by giving her a substantial dower, and she is therefore forced to handicap the others by dressing them in costumes that make them seem younger than they actually are. From this beginning the play starts and progresses rapidly through many scenes of humor. There are of course suitors for the daughters' several hands, and the mother eventually is happy in seeing them all well bestowed. The fact that the action of "The Seven Sisters" takes place in Hungary gives it a curious interest to American theatre-goers, for its stage settings, its costumes and its customs offer an insight into the quaint life of another people.

MANY NOVEL COSTUMES WORN

At the Masquerade of Reglers at Wollaston

A jolly time was experienced Wednesday evening in Brasee hall at the masquerade of the "Reglers," a Wollaston social organization. A large number of fancy costumes were in evidence including a large array of clowns, yama yama girls, hobos, policemen, sailors and many others.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of Pinkhams orchestra and at intermission a flashlight picture of the dancers was taken.

The matrons were Mrs. Samuel Knapp and Mrs. B. Frank Wood. Composing the committee in charge were Miss May Knapp, Kenneth Wood and William Flahive.

WOMAN JURY RELEASED

Considered Ungallant to Allow Them to Serve In "Enoch Arden" Case

Pittsburg, Kan., Nov. 29.—On the plea that it would be "ungallant" to allow women to sit in the trial, nine women jurors impanelled in what is known here as the "Enoch Arden" case were released in the court of Justice Pomeroy and a jury entirely of men impanelled.

The case is one in which Antone Bognu charged Antone Grover with improper attention to Mrs. Bognu.

"This is a mean case for anyone to handle," State Attorney Morris said, "and as gallant men we should not ask ladies to try it."

Couple Poisoned by Gas

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 29.—William Sharpe, 50 years of age, and his wife, Anna, aged 35, were found unconscious in bed in their room, suffering from gas poisoning. Sharpe died while being removed to a hospital, while his wife is not expected to recover.

TENDERED A BIG RECEPTION

Two of Men Discharged in Lawrence Cases

VISITING IN QUINCY

The entrance to Malnati's hall on Thanksgiving eve by Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Giovannitti and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Caruso and baby was the signal for tumultuous applause from about 700 people who wanted to hear the two men who were acquitted at Salem.

Giovannitti, weakened by his 10 months imprisonment and visibly affected by the demonstration received cheers as he stepped forward. He said that their conviction would have meant leadership would be outlawed, that no man could assume it without the taking chances on going to jail.

"It would further mean that we had no reasons to protest against conditions. I am proud to know you were not tardy in protesting.

"There have been different ways. One is gentlemanly, peaceful and respectable, consisting, in a dignified way of forwarding sympathetic resolutions calling upon the governor, judges and people of Massachusetts to see that no injury was done to us, that no law was violated and that we would have a fair trial. These protests have done good, but they have been platonic in spirit and mild in effect.

"There has been another form, not quite so refined(respectable and kid-gloved,—the real protest of the working class of which you had a fair sample in this city on Sept. 30.

"You should be thankful, not because we have been given back to you because our lives do not amount to anything since we are unimportant and obscure, but in the name of yourselves and liberty, you should be thankful and proud.

Giovannitti spoke in Italian also. Caruso, said in Italian, that he wanted to say what Giovannitti had said, but that he was not a speech-maker. Caruso embraced Giovannitti when the latter finished speaking, and a tremendous cheer was given both men.

They were the guests of Mr. Julia Vanninni of Intervale street.

LONDON POLICE HEAD SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

Shot by Man Who Had Been Refused Taxicab License

London, Nov. 29.—Sir Edward R. Henry, chief commissioner of the London metropolitan police, was shot and seriously wounded by a man who had an alleged grievance against him.

Sir Edward was alighting from a moto. car at his residence in Kensington when the man rushed from the opposite side of the street and shot at him thrice with a revolver.

One bullet entered the left groin but the others missed their mark. The commissioner's chauffeur grappled with the assailant and overpowered him.

It turned out that the man, whose name is Bowles, had, a month ago, applied at Scotland Yard for a taxicab license, which was refused. Subsequently he wrote to the commissioner pleading for a reconsideration, but without avail.

HUSBAND UNDER ARREST

Medford Woman Found Dead Under Suspicious Circumstances

Medford, Mass., Nov. 29.—Mrs. Katherine Birmingham, 38, was found dead at her home by Chief Elwell of the Medford police, who was summoned to the house by one of the woman's neighbors.

Her husband, Thomas Birmingham, is under arrest pending the result of an autopsy to be performed today.

Investigation by the police show Mrs. Birmingham had refused food for three days, and indicate that she came to her death from lack of food and exposure. She was found lying on a sofa, and bore no marks of violence except a bruised nose.

The Birminghams have two children, one of whom notified the neighbor who summoned Chief Elwell.

MANY FRIENDS AT THE WEDDING

Of Miss Peterson and Mr. Deacon at Christ Church

Miss Anna Augusta Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Station street, one of Quincy's most popular young ladies, and Walter Augusta Deacon, son of Mr. and and Mrs. William Deacon, were married at the Christ Church on Thanksgiving evening by Rev. R. E. Armstrong. The ceremony was witnessed by the parents, immediate relatives and friends.

The pretty couple were attended by Miss Lexina Gillis and Charles Francis. Following the ceremony they left on a trip throughout the Atlantic states.

The groom's father is a prominent granite manufacturer and the son will manage a branch yard at Plymouth, Mass., where he and his bride will make their home.

McCABE—FRAZIER.

Miss Elizabeth Frazier, daughter of Mrs. Mary Frazier of 33 Summer street South Braintree and William A. McCabe, son of Mrs. Mary V. McCabe of 52 Penn street, Quincy, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony Thanksgiving afternoon at 4.30 o'clock the ceremony being performed at the parochial residence by Rev. Fr. Andrew J. Fitzgerald of the St. Francis church, South Braintree. The groom was attended by his friend James P. Clare of Quincy and the maid of honor was Miss Belle Frazier the bride's sister becomingly gowned in brown velvet with hat to match.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of blue charmeuse with pearl trimmings and wore a white beaver hat with white plumes. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride from five until ten o'clock, the happy couple being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Mary Frazier, Mrs. Mary V. McCabe and Mrs. John H. Frazier.

The rooms were decorated with cut flowers. A wedding supper was served and the enjoyment of the evening was increased by the delightful piano solos of Miss Helen L. Frazier. Finely executed piccolo selections were rendered by Master Herbert Frazier and there were pleasing vocal numbers by James P. Clare and others..

At a late hour the newlyweds left for New York City, Mrs. McCabe wearing a handsome travelling suit of Copenhagen blue. After a short stay enjoying the sights of the metropolis, Mr. and Mrs. McCabe will reside for the present at 33 Summer street South Braintree where they will be at home to their friends after Dec. 16.

There were a great many beautiful wedding gifts testifying to the high regard in which the young people are held. Mrs. McCabe is popular and well known in Braintree and is an active member of the Braintree Catholic Women's Club. Mr. CcCabe is a Quincy young man with a wide circle of friends. He is a Spanish War veteran and served in the Phillippines and also in China during the Boxer outbreaks.

CREEDON—BOWEN.

John Patrick Creedon of 327 Copeland street, took Miss Hannah Frances Bowen of Salem as his bride on Thanksgiving. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. M. J. McCall at that place. The groom is an engineer by trade.

A BOY'S SOLILOQUY.

Alas no Thanksgiving at our house
Since daddy's gone away,
An' mamma says we mustn't fuss,
'Cause she can't 'ford to pay
For turkey an' the fixins' now—
Takes all that she can scrape,
She says, to buy jus' common things,
An' keep us kids in shape.

She said to me, "You don't mind, dear,"
An' smiled so nice an' kind,
That I jus' give her one big kiss
An' said I didn't mind.
But, when I come back, sudden like,
She wasn't smiling. She
Was crying, though she tried to stop
When I climbed on her knee.

I told her I'd take daddy's place,
An' mamma she said "Bless
You dear," an' then she kissed me most
A hundred times, I guess.
Of course a turkey's lot of fun,
An' nuts an' cakes are fine,
But I am thankful jus' to have
A mamma dear, like mine.

The allies of Europe are said not to be of the most happy and contented frame of mind over the turn affairs are taking.

SMART STYLES.

On Fifth Avenue and Elsewhere in New York, Pretty Neck Pieces—Muffs—Party Gowns and Wraps.

It is said that when the Indian hunter meets the fur-bearing animal he is looking for he says "I need your coat brother," then kills him. To judge from the lavish use made of fur this year, it's a wonder that any of the "brothers" have a pelt left. Nothing is too delicate in texture or light in color to be combined with fur. Evening dresses of tulle, beaded lace, or filmy shadow styles have their lines brought out by a band of sable, Alaska or Russian. Blouses to wear with suits of cloth or velvet have a touch of narrow fur at neck and wrist, hats are edged with it whether their brims be of transparent net or of velvet. It makes covers for buttons, crowns for hats, and all the more usual appurtenances in the way of neck pieces, cuffs, muffs and stoles and no end of odd little pieces that are like small garments to be worn with the street frocks that are out in new and enticing models.

SERGE AND VELVET.

Serge and velvet are prime favorites for these street frocks and often there is a cutaway coat of velvet to go with the serge, which transforms it into another appearing costume. The velvet dresses are more apt to have a fur garment added for warmth when the weather demands thicker clothing, though many women wear these all winter with the aid of a warm under jacket and some of the larger neck pieces, worn with huge muffs that are the correct mode, as well as a very excellent protection from winter winds, for notwithstanding all that is said to the contrary, it is a woman's own fault if she does not secure styles at once smart and comfortable. Nobody looks well unless they feel right, and a chilly back will spoil the sweetest expression.

COLORS.

Taupe and brown with all the yellow tones for contrast are leading favorites this year, with black and certain blues worn as always. As usual, when fur is the rage, velvets and velvet finished woolens are leaders in fabrics for street wear and velvet is quite as much to the fore for handsome dinner, reception and evening gowns. Velvet means velveteen usually for this material is now so beautifuly made and finished that people prefer it. Aside from its smaller cost it outwears silk velvet many times and in the better grades is by no means cheap.

LACE FIXINGS, BLOUSES.

Of laces fixings for the neck there is simply no end, and many of these are attached to fancy collars and tabs of white or black satin that—adjusted in a moment will transform a collarless house blouse into just the right effect to wear with street attire. A few such fixings allow great variety of effect at small cost or trouble, and dress up a plain costume wonderfully. Blouses of lace with touches of darker tint in velvet, net, chiffon and fur are very much worn for dress occasions, but for general wear shirt types of washable crepe silk brocades and satins are best worn. The over-trimmed lingerie blouse has been relegated to the limbo of things passe'.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

FASHIONABLE PELTS.

While in the dyer's hands all skins from rats to rabbits and squirrels emerge in colors that their original owners would not recognize, many of them are distinctly worth possessing.

The novelty this season is squirrel dyed to look like chinchilla. A coat of this fur made by C. C. Shayne & Co. known as the Mandarin has the sleeve and body cut in one, is banded with 3 1-2 inch natural skunk and lined with royal purple satin striped with narrow lines of black velvet. A distinctive garment fit for most elegant wear. The combinations of furs shown are almost endless but usually a short and long haired fur go together. Muffs are huge, but without any stiffening or stuffing so they are now a bit clumsy, and have a new style of lining that extends up the arm if required and finishes with a fur bracelet.

Wolverine in natural tan with brown centre makes a stunning set made up with matching velvet lining the whole very new and handsome.

UNION SERVICE

A vocal solo was sung by Miss Priestly.

A collection for the benefit of the Associated Ccharities was taken. "Come ye thankful people, come," was sung by the congregation.

The address was delivered by Rev. Isaiah W. Sneath, Ph. D. He took for his text "Rejoice in the blessed spirit of communion and be ye thankful."

He said among other things:—"It is said that ingratitude is one of the basest crimes. If this is true with man to man, how much more true is it in our relation with our Heavenly father. It is well we meet together occasionally and recognize our Heavenly Father and the gifts that have been bestowed by Him.

"There may be something the matter with Quincy and if there is Brother Horst and his Forum will no doubt settle that. But there is nothing the matter with Wollaston. I feel like saying in the spirit of the school boy, "What's the matter with Wollaston? She's all right.'"

Dr. Sneath declared we were living in a critical age when it was easy to become discontented. He compared the enviable conditions in this country with those at the seat of the present war in the east.

Besides our residence in Wollaston and in the United States our present public school system was a matter in which we should rejoice.

"There has never, been such an ambition and desire for the all round training of our boys and girls. We should thank God that each boy and girl here has an opportunity for training not only in the grammar but also in the high school at public expense for the welfare of themselves and the nation."

He was thankful for Christianity. "It is true, that there are some things that are not inspiring. At the present time the church of Christ is marking time. In the last ten years an increase of 21 per cent. in population has been followed by only an increase of 21 per cent. in church membership.

"We have abundant reasons for being thankful however. Never has philanthrophy, never have home and foreign missions been so manifest as today. In the age we are passing through young men of courage and heroism are responding to the call of duty."

"We should look up and say "God's in His universe, all will be well with mankind." I believe in thanking God for the Christian incarnation of life that welds us together in the brotherhood of Jesus Christ and leads us on to the glorious victory when the Lord shall be king of all and reign on forever more."

"America was sung in closing and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Sneath.

—A well-conducted paper is like a banquet, says an exchange. Everything is served up with a view to selection. Help yourself to what you want and do not condemn the entire spread because pickles and onions may be included. If you do not relish them, somebody may find them palatable. Be generous and broad enough to select gracefully such reading matter from a paper as will be agreeable to your mental taste. You, as an individual, are not compelled to swallow everything. We do not all think alike on every subject, and it is a good thing, as it makes more variety, and variety is the spice of existence.

DEGREE TEAM AT WEYMOUTH

John Adams Court to Perform Initiatory Work

The members of Court John Adams, No. 144, Foresters of America, are to visit Court Monatiquot of Weymouth Landing, Tuesday. The degree team of Court John Adams will perform the initiatory work in connection with the inducting of a large number of candidates into membership of the Weymouth Court.

Court John Adams is now closing a very successful year, having made increases in membership and finances, and the visits which the members have been making to Court Monatiquot have apparently imbued the members of that Court with the same degree of enthusiasm that prevails in Court John Adams because its membership is rapidly increasing and its finances are in a better condition now than at any time in its history.

HUNDREDS OF VICTIMS DAILY

Seventeen Thousand Have Died of Cholera at Constantinople

POWERS WON'T GO TO WAR

Frightful Hardships Endured by Servians In March to the Adriatic—Allies Open Fire on Each Other With Artillery Owing to Mistake—Pause In Battle Explained

London, Nov. 29.—While stating that the hospitals have recently undergone improvement, a dispatch from Constantinople says 17,000 deaths have already occurred from the epidemic of cholera, and that it daily claims hundreds of victims. These figures do not include the thousands who have died from dysentery and enteric fever. The cold spell is now causing the cholera to diminish.

All danger of a war involving the great European powers appears to be at an end, although the alarmists continue to keep up their work. There are many rumors concerning the progress of peace negotiations at Tchatalja, but nothing official has been made public. One correspondent says if the fighting continues neither army is in a condition to take the offensive.

Terrible scenes are to be witnessed at Adrianople. It is said aeroplanes are dropping pyrokylin bombs into the besieged city, setting fire to many of the buildings. Other aeroplanes drop letters to the hungry inhabitants containing proclamations to the effect that the allies are under the walls of Constantinople and there is no hope of succor from without.

The hardships endured by the Servians in their march across country to the Adriatic were frightful. One correspondent says the march was like no other ever attempted in Europe.

It concluded with a ten days' forced march, which brought the right wing to Alessio, on the right side of the river Drin.

"In expectation of their coming," the correspondent continues, "the Montenegrin army had taken up a position on the opposite side of the river, separated from the Servians only by a narrow wooden bridge. Nevertheless, so sudden and dramatic was the appearance of the Servians that the Montenegrins actually began to shell their ally. Fortunately, however, their error soon was discovered and both armies raised cheers and fired volleys in the air.

"Officers related the truth of their privations on the line of the march. One officer said he had had no proper sleep or food for a fortnight. Large numbers of Turks had surrendered all along the march. Once a body of 2000 surrendered together, but they had to be sent away, as it was impossible to feed them."

A delayed dispatch from Kirk-Kilisseh explains the first pause in the Bulgarian operations against Tchatalja. It was due to sanitary difficulties, the army being camped in a nest of filthy villages. The chief of staff one day announced that the Turkish position had proved, after a reconnaissance, to be very strong; its reduction would be a matter of considerable time, and considering the medical aspect, operations would be suspended. This order caused bitter disappointment in the Bulgarian army, which was anxious to advance and finish the Turks off.

The Servians, ignoring the proclamation of Albanian independence, have occupied the port of Durazzo without resistance. This information comes in a direct dispatch from that town.

Thus the conflict is now raised in acute form betweeen Austria and Servia, and it remains to be seen whether the Austrian government will take any direct action or will be content to leave the question for the after-the-war settlement.

PATRICK QUITS SING SING CELL

Wife and Daughter With Him as He Leaves Prison

IS RESTORED TO CITIZENSHIP

Will Devote His Energies to Complete Vindication of His Declared Innocence—Brother-In-Law Posts $100,000 That It Will Be Proven Within a Year—Prisoner Never Abandoned Fight For Freedom

New York, Nov. 29.—Albert T. Patrick left Sing Sing prison yesterday a free man, with the full rights of citizenship restored to him after being confined for more than ten years, sometimes within forty-eight hours of the electric chair, to which he was sentenced on April 7, 1902, when found guilty of the murder of William Marsh Rice.

His wife, whom he married four days after his conviction, while he was still in the Tombs, and who has aided his long fight for liberty, met him at the prison gate with the two daughters born of his first marriage.

Patrick's first step will be to attempt to prove his innocence of the charge of murdering the wealthy and aged Texan. He has contended he was absolutely innocent of the charge, and has convinced thousands that he is right. His brother-in-law, John T. Milliken of St. Louis, who has spent fully $1,000,000 in Patrick's defense, has told Governor Dix he will place $100,000 on deposit in a New York bank, to be turned over to some charity if Patrick does not establish his innocence within a year after his release from Sing Sing.

Patrick was told by John S. Kenledy, warden of Sing Sing prison, early yesterday that Governor Dix had pardoned him and Pasquale Doti, sentenced to life imprisonment. Patrick took the news with no change from the cold and austere manner which has characterized the man since his arrest.

"I expected it," he said. "It is only justice. Now that I am free, I can show absolutely that I am innocent of the charge upon which I was convicted. It has been a long fight, but I have never feared the outcome. After establishing my innocence, I shall immediately seek reinstatement to the bar."

When Patrick left the prison his wife and two daughters were with him. They had met in the warden's office. With a single glance at the prison Patrick started at once for New York, where he had his Thanksgiving day dinner with his family at the apartment his wife has occupied here when she was not at the cottage she had hired at Ossining.

Prison life has dealt gently with Patrick. Since his sentence was commuted he has been one of the most active and valuable prisoners at Sing Sing.

Patrick, tall and straight, appears in better shape physically than when he went up the river sentenced to death. He has gained in flesh and his eyes gleam as keen as ever.

Patrick's stay in this city, it is said, will be brief. As soon as possible he intends to go to St. Louis to meet his brother-in-law, Mr. Milliken, who has much information which Patrick and he believe will help greatly in establishing Patrick's innocence.

In issuing the pardon to Patrick, Governor Dix said:

"There has always been an air of mystery in this important case. Quoting from the minority opinion, the atmosphere which surrounded the defendant showed that a fair and impartial trial was scarcely possible. I trust Patrick will devote his energies to complete vindication of his declared innocence. During the year I have given much consideration to this case and I am convinced that the defendant is entitled to have a full pardon."

Altogether Patrick made twenty-seven separate appeals to the courts in his fight for freedom from the time he was convicted in 1902 until Governor Dix's pardon made him a free man with all his rights of citizenship restored. His sentence to death was commuted to life imprisionment Dec. 20, 1906, by Governor Higgins.

To keep Patrick in prison it is estimated that the state has spent at least $300,000, while a far gretaer sum has been spent to free him by Milliken. Not alone did Patrick fight for himself, but to many another almost hopeless prisoner in the death house he gave valuable assistance.

A lawyer of no special standing or promise of unusual ability before he was sent to Sing Sing, Patrick developed one of the keenest legal minds in the history of the country after he began to battle for his freedom.

ENGINE CREW STICK TO POST

Undaunted When They Find Collision Is Inevitable

PASSENGERS LIVES ARE SAVED

Fall River Line Train Crashes Into Lone Locomotive While Going at Forty-Mile Clip—Engineer of the Wrecked Machine Saves Life by Jumping—Railroad Officials Mum

Stoughton, Mass., Nov. 29.—Many lives were saved through the coolness and bravery of William A. Lufkin and William Stopford, the engineer and fireman respectively of a boat train from Fall River to Boston, by their sticking to their posts when a collision was inevitable and bringing their train to a full stop within twenty-five feet of the place where they had demolished another locomotive.

The hundreds of passengers on the boat train and the members of the crew were severely shaken up when the emergency brakes were applied, but none was injured. A locomotive and a car were demolished and the second locomotive much damaged, but there was no loss of life.

Engineer Meister, in charge of engine 1684, which was to draw a local train to Boston, had run his locomotive out on the main line in order to pick up his cars, when the boat train came thundering around a curve at the rate of forty miles an hour. Meister saw at a glance that it was a case of sure death for him if that avalanche of steel struck him. He jumped.

Lufkin and Stopford, who were in charge of the onrushing locomotive, saw a collision was inevitable, but thought of the valuable cargo of human lives behind them. They applied the emergency brakes and then awaited the collision. It was not long delayed.

The boat train locomotive struck the rear of the other great machine, lifting it bodily in the air and sending it sailing to one side, where it fell beside the tracks. The locomotive of the boat train held to the rails and continued on for twenty-five feet, where it came to a stop. As the other locomotive left the rails it struck a car which was standing on another track, smashing it into kindling wood.

The officials of the New Haven road declined to make any statement regarding the accident, but it is understood it was due to a mistake in receiving certain directions relative to the course of the boat train, which was about ten minutes late.

The boat train was backed away from the debris, and, after another locomotive had been attached to it was pulled over to the southern track and proceeded on its way to Boston, less than an hour late.

The officials of the company are making an investigation to ascertain why Meister was not forewarned of the fact that the boat train was late and likely to run his locomotive down as soon as he went upon the main rail.

SPRINGFIELD TOWER JOB

It Cost $300, According to Witness in "Dynamite Conspiracy" Trial

Indianapolis, Nov. 29.—Frank J. Higgins of Boston was accused of having admitted the blowing up of the tower of the municipal building at Springfield, Mass., on April 4, 1911, had cost $300, by a witness at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

Daniel W. Gallagher, a Boston newspaper man, testified that after the explosion Higgins admitted he had gone to Hartford to establish an alibi and Higgins had said the explosion cost the iron workers' union $300.

Ortie E. McManigal confessed he actually caused the explosion and received pay for it.

MEXICAN REBELS LOSE

Small Federal Garrison Victorious In Four-Hour Battle

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 29.—Mexican rebels met their first defeat in the projected movement against Juarez when repulsed by a small federal garrison at Guzman, a few miles south of the border.

After four hours' fighting 500 rebels, under General Salazar, were defeated by the 200 federals defending the town, possession of which controls the Mexican Northwestern railway.

The federal version of the attack gives the rebels killed as twenty-five while the federals lost only four killed and three wounded.

El Rena, Okla., Nov. 29.—Alva McDonald, chairman of the state committee of the Progressive party, was arrested and held without bond here, charged with killing F. T. Marsh, an attorney of this city, who died from injuries sustained in a fist fight with McDonald. Marsh's skull was fractured.

McDonald saw Marsh borrow 50 cents from an old soldier on the street and heard the old man say he had no money left. McDonald reproached Marsh, and in the fight which followed knocked him to the pavement.

COLONEL RANSDELL DEAD

Operation Proves Fatal to Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate

Washington, Nov. 29.—Colonel Daniel Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate and former United States marshal for the District of Columbia, died here as the result of an operation performed on Nov. 7.

Colonel Ransdell was one of the well known figures of public life. He had been sergeant-at-arms of the senate for nearly twelve years. As such officer he had practically complete charge of all official senate affairs. He was 70 years old, and a native of Indianapolis.

At the time Ransdell's Washington career began he had held many positions of prominence in Republican party affairs. In his three years' service in the Civil war he lost his right hand.

BOY KILLS PLAYMATE

Fires Bullet From Rifle Which He Did Not Know Was Loaded

Woburn, Mass., Nov. 29.—Joseph Garvey, 15 years old, was accidentally shot and killed by 12-year-old Lawrence Budreau, one of his playmates.

The shooing took place in the Budreau home and, according to the police, Budreau thought the gun was not loaded.

The bullet entered Garvey's temple and he died an hour later. Medical Examiner Keleher was called, but after questioning the boys and those who were in the house at the time, became satisfied that the shooting was accidental.

Robbers Kill Policeman

Cleveland, Nov. 29.—In a revolver fight with three bandits, who were fleeing in an automobile, Policeman Bouker was shot through the heart and killed. The bandits, who had rifled a cash drawer of $100, escaped.

RITCHIE WINS ON FOULS

He Gains World's Lightweight Title In Contest With Wolgast

Daly City, Cal., Nov. 29.—The world's lightweight title chaged hands yesterday afternoon when Willie Ritchie of San Francisco was awarded the decision by Referee Griffin following the delivery of two foul blows by Champion Ad Wolgast in the sixteenth round.

At the time the first foul blow was struck Wolgast was staggering around the ring under a fusillade of blows. He had once been sent to the floor and once driven to the ropes by Ritchie, but the latter apparently lacked the power to finish Wolgast.

Both men seemed to be fairly strong at the end of the fifteenth round, though each had suffered considerable punishment. Ritchie presented a battered appearance. His left eye was entirely closed and the right one was partly so from the powerful blows delivered by Wolgast in the early rounds of the battle.

The fight had been in Wolgast's favor up to the turning point in the sixteenth round.

FOR RIVERS AND HARBORS

Congress Will Be Asked For an Appropriation of $50,000,000

Washington, Nov. 29.—"We hope that congress will make the most liberal annual appropriation for rivers and harbors this year that ever has been made," said Representative Ransdell, senator-elect from Louisiana and president of the national rivers and harbors congress, who reached Washington yesterday.

"The needs of the country are so pressing that I shall urge that the appropriations shall not be less than $50,000,000; and we hope to have the rivers and harbors bill passed by the Christmas holidays."

This announcement by Ransdell is expected to bring out further strong support for a big appropriation bill this year. The rivers and harbors congress meets here next week, coincident with the opening of congress.

BLANCHE BATES A BRIDE

Actress Becomes Wife of Denver's Reform Police Commissioner

New Castle, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Blanche L. Bates, the actress, was married last evening at her home here to George Creel, reform police commissioner of Denver. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. N. Peterson, rector of the Scarborough Presbyterian church, and was witnessed by literary and stage people from all parts of the country.

Judge Lindsey of Denver and W. B. Lyons of Kansas City were the ushers. The best man was Wylie Creel of St. Louis, a brother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Rupert Hughes was matron of honor.

WIFE HAD LEFT HOME

Deserted Husband Becomes Despondent and Takes Own Life

North Adams, Mass., Nov. 29.—The refusal of his wife to return home led Herman Suessbrich, 52, a weaver, to commit suicide by shooting near his home in Adams. His wife on Tuesday had her stepson brought into court on a charge of assaul and battery against her, and Suessbrich's testimony, which exonerated the young man, angered her.

She left home immediately after the court proceedings were finished, taking with her her 8-year-old daughter, Lena. Suessbrich urged her to return, but she refused to do so.

He brooded over her absence until yesterday, when he decided to end his life. He wrote affectionate letters to his wife, his daughter and his son. He also directed the disposition of his property.

TWELVE TO SIX FOR WOLLASTON

Atlantic Team Could Only Score Half as Much as Opponents

The Wollaston A. C. defeated the Atlantic W. R. in Holbrook's Field, Atlantic, on Thursday morning. The score was twelve to six, in favor of the Wollaston A. C. Hoyt, the Wollaston fullback, made both touchdowns. Turner, the Atlantic quarterback, proved himself the best player of the Atlantic team, he made one touchdown.

The lineup was as follows:

ATLANTIC W.R.	WOLLASTON A.C.
Price le	Whalen le
Wilson lt	Kale lt
Flahive lg	Fowler lg
Gay c	Smith c
Dalquest rg	Fay rg
Anderson rt	Crocker rt
Welsh re	Murphy re
Turner qb	Harkins qb
Wilkinson fb	Hoyt fb
Robinson lh	Cane lh
Knapp rh	Murphy rh

Four ten minute periods were played. The linesmen were "Nat" McClure, of Thayer Academy and Norman Cook of Harvard. Laurence French was timekeeper, and A. Hall referee.

THE DECKER CASE.

The continued case of Charles E. Decker for alleged criminal libel was heard before Judge Avery in the district court this morning. The complainant Sidney W. Smith was represented by Fred L. Norton of Boston while the interests of Mr. Decker were looked after by John D. Mackay.

Five witnesses were sworn by the complainant who was the first to testify. He testified that he was the proprietor of the Vermont house. That on the average he had eight roomers and between 30 and 40 mealers, the latter being clerks, draftsmen and sub-foremen employed at the Fore River. He also said that the food served was the best that he could buy. He also said that the rooms were swept every day, and the linen on the beds frequently changed.

His attention was called to a statemen published in the Bulletin of Nov. 8, relative to the character of his house. It was this article which was the basis of the complaint.

On cross examination Counsel Mackay tried to get out of the witness that Mr. Decker had agreed that if Smith would write an article denying the statements and sign his name to it Decker would put a scare head on and feature and publish it. He was not successful however in getting in this evidence. Counsel also asked several questions as to the dealings between the complainant and officers of the Fore River Co., to show whether it was the Fore River Co., that was back of the complaint. Witness denied that he had consulted or had any conversation with officials of the Fore River Co., in regard to bringing the complaint.

The other witnesses testified as to the character of the Vermont house, as to its cleanliness, etc. all giving it the best of recommendation. B. F. Nay in particular testified that after hearing of the article he had visited the house and examined it from top to bottom and that it was grand.

No evidence was offered for the defence. The court then found probable cause to believe him guilty and held him in $100 for the grand jury. After court, word was received by the defendant from a Boston party who agreed to furnish cash bail and the assistant court officer was sent to Boston after it. The court then continued the case until Saturday morning, when the bail will be accepted. In the meantime Mr. Decker is out on his personal recognizance.

BUSY BURGLARS FRIGHTENED

Had Cut Hole in Panel of Drug Store Door

SCENE IN WOLLASTON

Burglars are again at work in Wollaston and late Tuesday night an attempt was made to break into the Park Pharmacy, corner of Beach and Hancock street. The attempt was made in the rear and a hole some five inches square was cut in the back door, evidently with a sharp knife. The would-be burglar was scared away before he could effect an entrance. Clerks were at work early into Wednesday morning at the grocery store of George W. Mitchell on Hancock street, preparing turkeys for the next day's trade. One of the men in going to the rear of the store noticed a man by the back steps of the drug store. Thinking the man was delivering goods no further attention was paid to him. There is no doubt this was the man attempting the break.

TOOMBS—TRANT.

Miss Mary Catherine Trant of 77 Hamilton street and Percival Webster Toombs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Toombs, of 77 Hamilton street, were married by Rev. Fr. J. P. Cuffe,, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, Atlantic on Thanksgiving eve.

McCARTHY—LALLY.

Miss Mary Margaret Lally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lally of 44 Water street and Charles Michael McCarthy of Boston were married on Thanksgiving eve by Rev. Fr. J. P. Cuffe, pastor of the Sacred Heart church, Atlantic. The bride has a host of friends in the north end of the city.

PITTAPAS—MEYETT.

Charles Pittapas of 25 Beacon street Quincy, and Miss Mary Adela Elizabeth Myett of Boston, were married at South Boston, Nov. 27, by Rev. Fr. R. J. Johnson. The groom is a steam engineer and his bride a dressmaker.

ROBERTSON—SANDFORD.

Miss Gertrude Jennie Sandford and William Clarence Robertson were married by Rev. B. A. Willmott at his home on Goffe street, Thanksgiving afternoon. The ceremony was witnessed by friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Robertson of 139 Independance avenue. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Sandford. They will reside in Quincy.

DISTRICT COURT.

Thomas Callahan was sent to the state farm for drunkenness at Weymouth and Morris J. Sheahan was fined $10 for the similar offence at Weymouth.

Martin Frazer was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy and for assault on Officer George F. Phillips. Cases continued until Saturday.

Y.M.C.A. TO OPEN THEIR SEASON

Will Battle Against All Comers For the Championship

The local Y. M. C. A. basket hall teams will open their season on Saturday night when the Somerville teams will be their opponents. These are league games and the rivalry will be all the greater as the title of Y. M. C. A. Champions will go to the winner of the most league games during the season.

The Quincy teams will be composed of practically new men as the only old men to try out for positions are Parker, Trask, Rich, Holmes and Dineen, Brooks and Glover are expected to fill the gaps left vacant by Jenkins and Dackers who are not playing this year.

The First team will be one of the fastest which every represented the Association. Parker is the oldest and most experienced of the group for he has been playing for the past eight years? His passing and floor work ought to be of great assistance to Henry Trask, who is also playing forward. Trask it is remembered is the star center of last year's High school team. Holmes, who is out for a guard position, was the crack back of the High School last season, having a record of only 14 baskets made against him in 22 games. Rich and Dineen were members of the teams two years ago and both ought to be much improved in playing form this year.

The Second team has an almost entirely new line up this year with the following men fighting for places: Price, Kenn, Thomas, Pinel, Minchin and Corthell.

The first game will start promptly at 8.15.

PASTIME TEAM PRACTICED WELL

But Failed to Develop Strength Against the Red Men

A 60 yard run, by Carlson who broke through the left side of the Pastime A. C. line and made a touchdown started a score which reached 19 points for the Red Men against a goose egg for their opponents at the ward three playground Thanksgiving morning. The defeat was unexpected by the visitors who had drawn from the most available men living in the Upham's corner district, and although they made a grand showing in practice they lost confidence on the first play.

The work of "Tommie" Veale at half was of a fine nature. With ease he smashed interference and downed his man, and with equal facility he made good gains. Carlson, was a factor in all offensive plays and Leonard had no trouble penetrating either side of the line.

Anderson, in response to the cries of the large gallery, tried three drop kicks, but none went over. Twice, instead of attempting the kick, the Reds could have rushed the ball over.

The snow fell freely and covered the field with a thin coating which made playing rather dangerous, but slipping did not result seriously. The ball was wet and heavy and fumbling was frequent. Punts did not go more than 25 yards on any try.

"Tommie" Veale made his touchdowns in the last period and Carlson kicked one goal.

RED MEN WON FROM GRANITE

Lively Football Game at the Ward Three Grounds

The Redmen A. C. Jrs. of South Quincy defeated the Granite A. C. at Ward Three playground 6 to 0. The game was fast and well played. The score came in the second period on a blocked kick right under the goal posts, Kemp falling on the ball and scoring a touchdown, but he failed to kick the goal. The rushing of Favreau for the winners and the all round playing of Clark for the losers were the features.

The lineup was as follows:

ODD FELLOWS AT FUNERAL.

The funeral of Nicholas Reinhalter was held from his late home, 29 Bunker Hill street, this morning. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's church by Rev. Fr. Henry T. Grady, pastor. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery. A delegation of the Quincy Lodge, I. O. O. F., M. U. attended the services. The funeral was directed by Edward D. Barrett.

Mr. Reinhalter died at the Quincy City Hospital on Tuesday evening. He was admitted the previous day but did not respond to treatment.

He leaves four daughters, Mrs. Bernard Hoffman of North Attleboro, Marie, Margaret and Caroline and five sons, Philip, Benjamin, Nicholas, Sylvester and Jerome.

ANNUAL BATTLE POSTPONED

Grounds in No Condition Fo Football Game

Manager Flynn and Larabee agreed to postpone the annual Thanksgiving afternoon football game. The condition of the field was unfit in their opinion.

Quincy A. A. and Cunningham gyms. teams were on the field with strong lineups. They will play on the Water street grounds Saturday at 3 o'clock.

Milton A. A. did not show up to meet the Wollaston A. A. at Merrymount Park, Thanksgiving morning and a large number, as well as players, were dissappointed.

THANKSGIVING BOWLING.

Thanksgiving prizes at the Granite street alleys, which are now conducted by W. Frank Galvin, were awarded to George White for his three string total of 318; David White for high string of 120; Leo Elcock for high number of tens, and Frank Gillis for spaces. Mr. Galvin took the alleys over last Saturday. He is well known in Quincy and is a member of the Iroquois club and other organizations.

Philip Rossi Picked Up By the Plymouth Express

DEATH INSTANTANEOUS

Phillip Rossi aged 25 years of 104 Canal street a track walker employed on the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. was instantly killed this morning on the main line between the Atlantic and Squantum street bridges. Rossi was walking on the outward rail toward Atlantic so that he could see any train approaching. An inward bound train however screened his view for a minute as the outward bound Plymouth express came thundering along.

Rossi was struck by the locomotive and thrown some distance and when aid reached him he was dead having been instantly killed. Examiner Jones was called and after viewing the body turned it over to Undertaker Hall. The unfortunate man was not married.

MILLER INVITED TO WATER OFFICE

Mayor Stone Says He Can Find Out About Water Rates

STONE AT THREE RALLIES

In addition to two house rallies at Quincy Point, Mayor Stone spoke at the open rally held by the Montclair Improvement Association at their club house Friday evening. President Parlee presided.

Mayor Stone said that if Mr. Miller calls at the water office he will be given the facts on water rates, particularly the minimum rate which is $6, allowing seven cubic feet daily. He also said that $16 covered the consumption of a full plumbed house.

The mayor said that 10 year loan had created a debt which the people of the present must assume, and that in years to come, taxpayers receiving benefits would not have to stand their proportion.

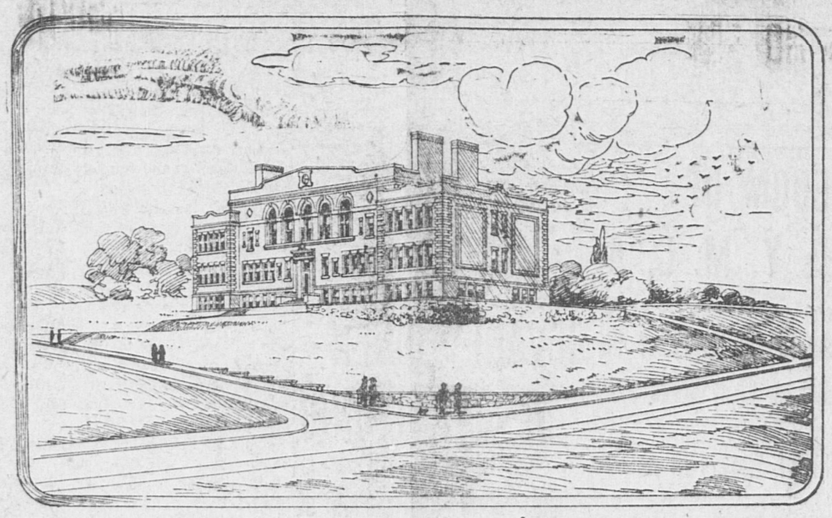
He said other cities borrow on the 20 year basis and that our method was material in our present tax rate.

He also reviewed his attitude while mayor and spoke along general lines.

Other speakers were Charles E. Cherrington, Herbert G. Beeman, James H. Cunningham, all ward councilman candidates.

The Republican state central committee seem to have a nice young contest on their hands at the present time. It remains to be seen which of H's will win out.

NEW ADAMS SCHOOL BUILDING IN WARD THREE



ADAMS SCHOOL IN WARD THREE

How the New Structure Will Look When Completed

One of the campaign issues this year has been the new Adams school building in Ward Three, work upon which has already been commenced. At the present stage however, but little can be seen of how the building and grounds will look when the building is completed and the grading of the lot finished.

It will be of much interest therefore to the residents of Ward Three and the children who will later on occupy the building to see just what the citizens are to get for the money expended. The accompanying picture will be studied with interest as it gives a true view of the building and grounds as they will appear when completed.

Much has also been said first and last about the stone wall that it was necessary to build on one side of the building. The fact is that the school committe set the building on a side hill which made it necessary for a sustaining wall but as will be seen by the picture however the wall will add to the finish of the lot and is an addition rather than a detriment to the looks of the building. The wall in question is shown on the right front corner of the picture and building.

PENNIMAN ON THE CIRCUIT

Toured City Last Night With a Corps of Speakers

MADE NO PLEDGES

Largely attended rallies in the interest of James H. Penniman for Mayor were held in Ward Four at Hibernian hall and in Ward Six at Poland's hall Friday night. Mr. Penniman was present at both rallies and spoke.

He was accompanied by a corps of speakers. Representative-elect John J. McDevitt presided at the ward four Hibernian hall rally, and Peter Colligan at Poland's hall, Atlantic.

Mr. Penniman said that he was going into office unpledged, that efficient city employees would not be dropped, and that the Stone administration had not, as they promised, curtailed expenditures.

He said that if elected mayor he would be mayor, and not be subject to the dictates of any man.

Representative-elect Michael T. Sullivan placed himself on record as being against placing the Chief of the Fire department under civil service.

At Hibernian hall Mr. Penniman said he favored one day off in five for firemen.

Other speakers were Councilman Harry T. Boyd, Edward J. Parker, Daniel Cocoran, William Martell and William Kelly.

No-License Advocates Plan Big Sunday Campaign

BIG RALLY IN MUSIC HALL

Sunday evening, Dec. 1 will see the opening of the grand no-license campaign conducted by the Citizens No-License League of this city. The banner event will be the mass meeting at Music Hall which will be addressed by Philip Emerson of Lynn, Mass.

Mr. Emerson, besides possessing an acquaintance with his city under license and no-license influence has had an extensive experience in Massachusetts and other New England states where this same condition exists.

Quincy, since its incorporation, has cast an overwhelming vote in favor of no-license. To renew enthusiasm in the campaign this rally is being held. The Nevin male quartette of Boston will sing.

Other rallies will be held throughout the city, on Sunday. At 3 P. M. at the Swedish Baptist church there will be a rally for the Swedish speaking people of the city. Mr. Theophilus King will speak, with others, at the Atlantic Memorial Church, at 7 P. M.

A Square Deal for Mayor Stone

QUINCY, MASS., Nov. 29, 1912.

To the Voters of Quincy:

When I assumed the office of Mayor of Quincy I did so fully conscious of the difficulty of my undertaking, but firmly resolved to do my duty without fear or favor and regardless of the consequences to my political future.

I found the City burdened with a large debt, with maturing liabilities in excess of other years, with the departments in immediate need of money and with the City's assets reduced by the removal from it of certain of its heaviest personal property tax payers.

These conditions, not the result of any particular past administration, but the inevitable consequences of the twenty-three years of our Municipal life, compelling me to submit to a Tax Rate of twenty-two (22) dollars per $1,000, I was obliged to meet. I have done so to the best of my ability. I surrounded myself with honest and capable officials.

I forced each department to accept in the Budget the least possible amount of money on which it could carry on its work.

I have seen to it that every dollar of the City's money has been Honestly and Economically expended.

I have instituted changes in certain of the Departments resulting in the saving of much money to the city.

Although I have been from the beginning of my administration actively opposed by political enemies, I point with pride to my administration for the year now closing as one of the most economical in the History of Quincy.

Believing that my experience in office this year qualifies me to deal advantageously with problems which the City will be confronted with during the coming year, and that a Mayor, who during his first year in office serves the City, under adverse conditions, conscientiously and faithfully, should receive a second term and feeling that my fellow citizens believe in my integrity and honesty of purpose, I once more offer myself as a Candidate for Mayor of Quincy, and ask the favor of your votes on ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3d.

The Ledger is receiving a great many communications these days, the more the better, and is glad to give publicity to the thoughts therein expressed, especially when they are for the good of the city as a whole, believing too much publicity cannot be given under the circumstances. We will accept anything for publication that is honest criticism without malice or personal grudge, provided the communication is sent in with the writer's name and address. It would seem as though it was not necessary for us to again reiterate that we do not accept or use anonymous communications but as we receive unsigned letters most every day whose fate is the waste basket the statement seems necessary. Why not follow the rule of this and other newspapers?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The Ettor trial cost the people of Essex country over $18,000 and many incline to the belief that it was worth it.

Hickey's confession shows that conscience is a bad actor if crime has been committed.

The Turks and Bulgars have been fighting now they are negotiating and Europe looks on with more concern regarding the negotiations than over the war.

And forthwith there are others who are modestly stepping forward and waiting to be enveloped in the senatorial Toga. Members of the legislature have plenty of material to pick from.

Those English Suffragettes are the limit. Their latest move is to put acid in the mail boxes. Rather hard on the poor letter carrier who would really be the only one to suffer.

The San Quentin murderer who was given a three hours band concert, and then led to his execution, evidently believed in going out of the world in perfect harmony.

Taken as a whole November has been pretty decent. Sad to relate the only real nasty kicking up came on Thanksgiving day.

With a record of near 550 witnesses, the government side of the dynamite cases at Indianapolis is nearly all in. It would not be surprising, if jurors, judge and lawyers were pretty near "all in" at the same time.

There does not appear to be any great crying demand to put Quincy in the liquor license column.

The German Emperor will celebrate his silver jubilee as monarch next year. His later years have been calmer and more dignified than those erratic plunges during his colt period as a ruler.

William J. Bryan got $7000 for his couple of weeks work as a reporter of the big conventions. If some of the stuff he produced had been handed in by a cub reporter, there is no doubt in the minds of some as to its fate.

We will not be on treaty lines with Russia after Jan. 1, but there is little danger to any but one class of people from this country in travelling through the land of Czar and they will be too wise to go into the lions den unless protected by a coat of mail in the form of a safe, sane and really sound treaty covering the rights of United States citizens.

With the country going to spend $50,000,000 for rivers and harbors Quincy people ought to get busy for a look in. Here is a chance for the Board of Trade.

The conference of the Progressive party in Chicago, Dec. 10 and 11 would not be complete without the attendance of the leader.

City Square is gradually becoming more citified and some day Hancock street will be lined with up-to-date two and three story blocks. One location recently improved is that at the corner of Maple and Chestnut streets, purchased by W. A. Bradford and now known as the Bradford building. It has been modernized and become a good renting proposition as well as business location.

James H. Stetson is considering a new three-story brick block to house the Quincy Daily Ledger which has outgrown its present quarters. The problem is how to build on the present location without interrupting business, the printing business with its large presses and machinery can not be easily moved about or condensed into smaller space.

The youngsters get plenty of joy looking in the store windows, but their anticipations and dreams of what is really coming to them would be most illuminating.

Ring off old November and ring up the curtain for new December.

NO-LICENSE.

Every quarter of Quincy will be touched by the No-License campaign which is being waged. The great demonstration will be started tomorrow and in about all the churches rallies with that end in view will be held. The main effort will be held at Music hall in the evening.

It is hardly conceivable that the sentiment which has so strongly intrenched this city in the No-License column, for so many years can be changed to bring about a most undesirable condition. Yet you never can tell what is working in the minds of many people.

Some advocates of license have sprung up within the past few years. What their numerical strength may be is uncertain. But it is quite necessary to guard against any possible effects which this uncertain vote might produce; it behooves all those who do not desire any change, to get busy and work for the cause they advocate from now until the polls close, Tuesday afternoon. It is quite evident that Quincy on the whole would be much better off under its present system of No-License, than under a license system.

BOSTON OPPORTUNITY.

It would seem that as the time advances the opportunity of Boston to become the greatest port on the Atlantic seaboard is approaching. It is not coming in leaps and bounds but there is every indication of a gradual trend that way which is having its effect on people on the other side of the world.

Only this week, two representatives of Japan were in Boston looking over the situation with a view to making steamship connections between Boston and Japan by way of the Panama canal.

That is a long jump from Japan to Boston, but the possibilities of such a line would mean a tremendous impetus to Boston and the whole of New England for that matter.

It demonstrated another thing that the Japanese were quick to preceive a possible situation which would bring them trade and commerce with their attendant profits and benefits of social intercourse.

The Japanese are a very wide awake people. If they see an opportunity to add to their traffic with the east coast of this country, by means of the Panama canal, it is undoubtedly true that they have studied the situation from all its angles and are at the present time in possession of some valuable information on the subject. The Chinese people have selected a commission to visit the leading cities of this country to get some practical ideas of the conduct and development of people under a Republican form of government.

Here is another chance for Boston to take another step in the direction of increasing its commerciad importance. The Port directors no doubt are looking into those various matters in a serious way and are doing what they can to bring about the results desired.

But in the development of the port and the construction of piers and the like the port directors should not make the mistake of building for today, or this year or the next few years. They should have keen sighted, far reaching ideas, which would carry them into the needs of the port for the next 50 years, if not longer.

The mistake should not be made of expending those immense sums and then finding out within a comparatively brief period, that the results were only equal to meeting almost present day conditions and in the rush and hurry of a few years, the scheme as desired had been left far in the rear.

FREEDOM OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Extended to Employees of the Boston Gear Works

A GREAT TIME FOR ALL

The employees of the Boston Gear Works held a reunion, Friday night, turning out in force and were granted the freedom of the Y. M. C. A. building and secretary Bromley and the other officials did their utmost to please the visiting party. The program included a musical and literary entertainment, bowling, athletic sports, and operating the various pieces of athletic machinery in the building.

William Artis rendered several drum solos in a very pleasing manner. Frank Burgess swung Indian clubs, and performed some magic tricks, with a skill bordering that of Hellar. Mr. Spofford, superintendent of the half term Industrial school explained the methods and system of the school to the satisfaction of every one.

Mr. Coburn, performed as the dancing Juggernaut and made a hit. In the Basket ball contest, the Mutts won from the Jeffs by a score of 14 to 6. The teams lined up as follows: Mutts: Hunter, Martin, McDonald, Reenie and Gray. Jeffs: J. Gillis, F. Gillis, Joyce, Carlson and Buckley.

In the bowling the team made up of Simpson, Flagg, Francis, Duval and Foley, defeated the team composing, Raymond, Frost, Grant, Hallquist and Burns, by 312 to 298. Hunter won the 15 yard dash, Martin the high jump and the Jeffs, the relay race.

The sports over the party enjoyed the freedom of the entire building, indulging in billiards and pool and music and everything else imaginable. They also sat down to a most appetizing lunch. It was quite late when the party broke up, but every one was satisfied they had a grand good time and would look forward with much pleasurable anticipation to the joys in store from such another occasion.

The closing event was one of the most enjoyed of the whole program. This was the "eats" which were served in the auditorium. When the men had done ample justice to the lunch which had been provided by Mr. Burgess, Mr. Pratt and Mr. Burgess made a few remarks which were received in a very enthusiastic manner.

At 11 o'clock the men started for their homes after having to the number of nearly 100 to all appearances enjoyed a very pleasant evening.

The success of the affair was due to the work done by the committee which consisted of Messrs Colburn, Pratt, Bissett, Raymond, Stowers and MacDonald.

The Association is planning to cover the manufacturing plants of the city in like manner during the winter.

DEVANEY GIVEN A SIGNET RING

Friends Show Appreciation of His Work as Councilman

A rally in the interests of the Republican ward two candidates was held at the home of Councilman Stephen Devaney on Dysart street, Friday evening. In appreciation of the councilman's efforts, the residents of the street through D. J. McCurdy presented him with a signet ring. Councilman Devaney, who is a candidate for reelection accepted the gift and said if returned he would work harder than ever to assist his ward.

Joseph Mathews, sang a parody on "Take it back and change it for a boy," which was complimentary to the councilman.

During the evening Mayor Stone dropped in to see the boys and gave a short talk.

BRIEFS

The Wollaston Congregational quartet will be assisted at its concert on Monday evening by Mrs. Benjamin, reader, and Miss Corson, violinist.

After several months of preparation the ladies of the First Parish are to hold a Christmas fair in the chapel on Wednesday afternoon and evening of next week, serving one of their fine suppers at half past six.

Rev. Fr. Sharkey, who served at St. John's church during Rev. Fr. Scannell's absence, has been assigned to St. Anns church, Gloucester. When he was transferred from Ireland to the Boston diocese he was sent to Quincy. While here he made many friends.

The monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of Pilgrim church North Weymouth, will be held in the vestry Tuesday evening. Rev. Benjamin A. Willmott of Bethany church, Quincy, will address the meeting. The committee consider themselves very fortunate in securing Mr. Willmott for this meeting and urge every member to make a special effort to be present and also extends an invitation to all men connected with the church and parish to come out and give Mr. Willmott a good audience as it feels that any effort made to hear him will be amply repaid.

TWO NEW CANDIDATES

Among the First Five in Ledger Contest

BOTH LEADERS GAINING

Several new candidates have entered the Washington contest of the Ledger today, and two of them—Timekeeper Hart at the shipyard and Miss are among the first five.
are among the "rst five.

Other new candidates have 30 and 40 votes. Letter Carrier Cole and Sam Prout of the High school and others have moved up. Both the leaders made good gains.

The itinerary of the Washington trip will be printed in the Daily Ledger next week. It is a grand one, and worth a big effort on the part of all candidates. Your friends will assist you.

The Vote Editor has been asked if there will be "bargain votes" in the Daily Ledger contest as in some others where coupons will count for more than five votes. Believing it would be unfair to a candidate who has accumulated a large total on small coupons, to print a coupon good for 10, 25, or 50 votes, it has been decided to print only 5 vote coupons. Prize certificates, however may be issued to candidates standing highest on certain dates, or who make the largest gain during certain weeks or periods, which will be properly advertised in advance. For example, the Vote Editor hereby offers a certificate good for 100 votes to the candidate who stands first in the contest at 9 A. M. Monday, Dec. 9.

Coupons good for five votes are printed on page two of the Ledger every day, and every resident of Quincy can become a candidate for this popular trip. Washington is always an attractive city to visit, but it will be particularly so in March next during the Inauguration ceremonies.

The standing of the candidates today at 10 A. M. was as follows:

Fred D. Williams, drug clerk	1435
Sturgis Hunt, Y. M. C. A.	250
Richard A. Cole, letter carrier	50

THE ASSEMBLY A SOCIAL SUCCESS

Woman's Club Conducted Pleasing Affair at Music Hall

EVERY ONE ENJOYED IT

One of the leading social events of the city is the Assembly, which has been an annual event for some years. It is an affair to which Quincy's social set look forward with real pleasure, for with exceptionally good music, a fine floor for dancing and congenial company, nothing more is needed. This year's event, which was held last evening, was no exception to the rule. As usual it was held in Music hall and Pool's orchestra furnished the musical accompaniement.

The attendance was fully as large as in other years. The ladies vied with each other in the exquisiteness of their gowns and there were many beautiful creations and the scene on the floor during the mazy waltz or more lively two step was indeed pretty to look upon. The assembly was held under the auspices of the Civic committee of the Quincy Women's club and while many faces familiar among the participants in other years, were missed their places were taken by a newer and perhaps somewhat younger set.

In the receiving party stationed in a cozy corner on one side of the hall near the platform, were Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, president of the Quincy Women's club, Mrs. Charles R. Safford and Mrs. Theophilus King. Mrs. Sheppard wore a gown of pale lavender, Mrs. Safford a lavender of somewhat deeper shade and Mrs. King a cream silk. They made a charming and stately group.

During the half hour previous to the dancing there was a reception during which the following well-known men ushered. George E. Pfaffman, C. Eaton Pierce, Ambler Welsh, Moreton T. Swallow, Horace R. INSPECTING DOCK SITES

Committee Made Power Boat Trip Along Shore Today

The City Council and Citizens Committees appointed to consider the site for a public dock, with Mayor Stone are taking a water side view of a part of Quincy's unsurpassed water front along the Town River this afternoon. The party left Quincy Point in a large power launch at 1.30 and after viewing the shore front near Quincy Point they steamed up Town River and viewed the two sites suggested in the report of Dock and Water Front Commissioner Frank Fessenden Crane. Mr. Crane was with the party and explained the various points to be seen along the river front.

MRS. L. R. C. FRENCH.

Louisa Rebecca Field, daughter of William and Louisa (Dickerman), Field was born in Quincy, Aug. 9, 1830. She received her education in her native city and July 29, 1847, was united in marriage to Charles William Carver of Marshfield, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. S. A. Davis.

Mr. Carver was a successful builder and contractor but while serving his country during the Civil war was shot at the battle of Antietam. He died ten weeks later at Sharpesburg, Maryland, Thanksgiving eve, Nov. 26, 1862 aged 37 years.

Those were sad days for the widows and fatherless and this widow found her lot a complex one with three children to provide for the eldest being but twelve years of age.

Jan. 2, 1868 she was married to Charles A. French of Braintree by the Rev. J. Munford of Dorchester. The death of her daughter the late Mrs. William A. Ross of South Braintree, which occured Dec. 28, 1898, was a loss from which she never fully recovered. Some ten years ago Mr. French died and shortly after she removed to Brockton where she has lived most of the time since.

Those who knew her best loved her the most. She was a woman of remarkable ability and there are many who bless her for her kindness to them. In the sick room, she was invaluable and there are many cases of actual record when by her skill and nursing she saved the lives of those given up by physicians. She had many sorrows but by nature was most cheerful. She had been in rather poor health the past few months but those who loved her hoped her wonderful vitality would last for many years to come but she had an attack of the grip recently which developed into pneumonia. She passed peacefully away Sunday at the Brockton hospital.

The funeral services were held at the home of William O. Carver, her only son, Tuesday and were attended by the Rev. Alan Hudson, pastor of the First Congregational church, Brockton. The flowers were most beautiful. Interment was in the family lot at the Mt. Wollaston cemetery, Quincy.

Although one of six children only one brother survives her, Charles Henry Field of South Quincy. She is also survived by one son William O. Carver, of Brockton, one granddaughter, Mrs. M. C. Gillette of South Braintree and a grandson William R. Carver of Attleboro.

Mrs. French was a member of the Paul Revere Relief Corps of Quincy and Cascade lodge, United Order of Odd Ladies of Brockton. Honored as a friend, respected as a neighbor and dearly loved by her bereaved relatives, she has gone to her reward, leaving a vacancy in those hearts that can never be filled.

WATER RATES SHOW VARIETY

Some Are $6, Some Are $10, and Some Are $16

TAKE YOUR CHOICE

In view of the many statements that have been made and are being made during the present campaign relative to water rates it might be well if interested parties would get a circular from the water office showing the rates. The fact remains that the minimum rate is not $16, as has been stated, but the minimum rate runs from $6 to $16. Aman who has but one faucet only pays a minimum rate of $6 while a man with a full plumbed house pays a minimum rate of $16, while a man with a closet and one faucet pays $10.

☞The Ledger trip to Washington, D. C., to attend the inauguration of President-Elect Wilson will be first class in every way and include many extra features in the way of grand stand seats for the inaugural procession and tickets for the inaugural ball. While in Washington all points of interest will be visited under the direction of a conductor with headquarters at a first class hotel. The trip will be by Fall River steamer to New York and from there by parlor car, leaving Boston Friday, Feb. 28 at 6 P. M. tf

REVISION OF CITY CHARTER

Subject of Discussion at Wollaston Church Forum

The great interest in the Good Citizenship meetings, which are held in the Wollaston Unitarian Church, Sundays at 12 o'clock, continues unabated and it must be a great satisfaction to those in charge to see so many representative citizens from all parts in Quincy attend these gatherings. As not a few of our leading citizens are of the opinion that a change in our city charter is advisable, tomorrow's subject will be "Revision of the City Charter." Walter F. Nichols will open the discussion. All interested in the welfare of Quincy are cordially invited.

DISTRICT COURT.

Thec continued case of Martin Frazier for drunkenness and for assault on Office Phillips at Quincy was called. He was fined $5 for drunkenness and $25 for the assault.

The continued case of Andrew Frazier for drunkenness was heard and he was fined $5.

James J. Hooke and Ernest C. Hawes were fined $5 each for exceeding the speed limit at Milton with a motor cycle.

BRIEFS

The Conference of Alliance Branches will be held in the vestry of Arlington Street church, Boston, instead of at 25 Beacon street, Monday, Dec. 2, at eleven o'clock. All members are cordially invited to attend. The subject "Programs" will be discussed, and Mrs. Emily A. Fifield and Rev. William S. Key will speak on the "Southern Missionary Work."

The evening service at the First Presbyterian church will begin at 6.45 and close at 7.30 so that those present may attend the No-License meeting at Music Hall.

The Thanksgiving service held in the Memorial church, Thursday morning at seven o'clock, was well attended. The meeting was in charge of the Christian Endeavor and Kenneth Blake, vice-president of the endeavor was the leader.

The Parents and Teachers' Association will hold its next meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Charles H. Johnson will give his illustrated lecture on "Washington the Great American." All persons interested are cordially invited.

Wollaston Alliance holds a two-days' fair next week Wednesday and Thursday in the vestry of the Unitarian church, with a novel entertainment each evening.

The regular business meeting of Epworth League of Hall Place M. E. Church was held Tuesday evening. In the absence of the president and first vice-president, the second vice-president, J. Lawrence Martin, called the meeting to order. At the close of the business session the study of historic Quincy was started and interesting information given. Later the meeting adjourned to the parsonage where a Japanese tea was served and a pleasant social hour spent.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Memorial church is to hold a social Saturday evening, Dec. 7. It will be a family reunion of the Frankleigh-Batty family all to go in costume as one of the family. A good time is planned by the Social committee.

Everett A. Barber of Webster street returned Friday from a three weeks' business trip to Canada.

The Sewing Circle of Dorothy Q. Lodge No. 55, spent Monday evening with their treasurer Mrs. Ethel M. Stewart. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed with music by Miss Ruth Cahill.

The W. C. T. U. hold their next regular meeting Thursday, Dec. 5, in Protection hall at 2.30 P. M. The Faxon Loyal Temperance Legion are requested to meet at the same hall at 4.15 P. M. on the same afternoon. Parents are most cordially invited to be present with their children and friends interested in the Temperance work and "Lend-a-Hand."

The Walther Men's Class will meet on Sunday at 12.15 in the Wollaston Baptist church. Subject: "A Lunatic" Rev. Joseph Walther will lead the discussion. All men not in other similar classes invited.

A supper and entertainment is to be given in Odd Fellows' hall Wollaston on Dec. 2 under the auspices of Dorothy Q. Lodge, U. O. I. O. L.

On Sunday at 6.15 at the devotional service of Epworth League of the Hall Place M. E. church, Miss Ayres of Boston will present the work of Morgan Memorial.

The next meeting of the Whatsoever Circle of Kings' Daughters will be held with Mrs. George Thompson, 170 Arlington street on Monday.

NO-LICENSE RALLIES

A program has been arranged, consisting of music and speaking at the Wollaston Congregational church, commencing at 7.30 P. M.

Charles H. Johnson will be the speaker, with others, at the First Presbyterian church on Water street. Mr. A. F. Bromley will be the chief speaker at the United Presbyterian church on School street. Rallies at both churches are scheduled at 6.45 P. M. Carl R. Hayward, with others, in addition to music, will constitute the efforts of the Quincy Point residents to battle for no-license.

A sentiment, in favor of the continuation of Quincy in the no-license column is making its presence felt in all parts of the city. In ward four, the home of the St. Mary's Catholic Total Abstinence and Mutual Relief society, extra efforts are being made to enlarge the "no" vote, and societies, in other parts of the city which have discussed the situation publicly and privately during the past year are working towards the same end.

There can be no question as to the result since it is safe to assume that Quincy will be as it has been, a no-license city, but, the larger the vote against license, the more interest the people take in their home life, and the stronger their protest against the creation of an environment which must wreack havoc with the morals of the young, our future citizens.

RECITAL AND CONCERT.

The musical event for next week will be the recital by the Wollaston Congregational church quartet on Monday evening, in the church. The quartet consisting of Miss Ruth Louise Hardy, soprano; Mrs. Minetta Dyer Long, contralto; Roy Adelbert Spooner, tenor; Charles Harvey Everett, bass, will be assisted by Mrs. Maude H. Benjamin in readings; Miss Jennie A. Corson, violinist, and Walter Clarence Rogers, organist and accompanist, in an exceptionally interesting and enjoyable program consisting of:

IN MEMORIAM.

On Friday, Nov. 22d, there passed from the city of Quincy to the city eternal, in the heavens, one who, for half a century, had been deeply interested in all good works for Quincy, and who will be especially missed in Atlantic, which had been her home since her parents came there from Boston in her girlhood.

Isabel Frances Pratt Emery was of the best Maine and Massachusetts stock. She counted among her ancestors, General Pratt of Revolutionary days and was an early member of the Boston Tea Party Chapter, D. A. R. She was a long-time member of the Quincy Charitable society, and of several Atlantic societies.

Of an extraordinarily happy, cheerful, and ever gay disposition, she kept always a youthful spirit, and a warm love for young people and children, and her loss will be felt by friends of all ages, from those in the nineties down to the child of tender years.

She was educated in Boston, and for about twenty-five years served as head-assistant in the Minot school, at Neponset. As teacher, and as friend and neighbor, she had an especial sense of duty and an especial gift in wisely counselling young people as to the course of their education and the vocations to which they might be suited. Several persons who have been successful in a musical career, owe much to her influence and encouragement. Her effort was always to aid others to have faith in themselves, and to get all the education possible to their circumstances, while her unselfish devotion to the interests of others, sometimes led her to see in them abilities of which the possessors themselves were, in a measure unaware.

Perhaps this was partially due to some consciousness, on her own part, of possessing many more talents than it was possible for her to develop, yet desiring conscientiously to use all she could.

That all human beings are so full of possibilities, that our short earthly life can at best unfold but a part of our mental and emotional powers, has long been one of the chief grounds for a reasoned belief in a future life.

Our friend, with her manifold tastes and enthusiasms, crowded into a busy life of daily care, "great riches in a little room," was an unusual illustration of the hidden wealth of the human spirit, and of the likelihood of a larger and grander life to come.

She was by nature of the artistic temperament. She had an intense love for the beauty of the outward world. Flowers, trees, waterfalls, mountains, inspired her with a joy that remained to be a deep pleasure to the "inward eye," during the dullest indoor day of winter. Few have ever appreciated as did she the beauty of Atlantic's shores and the hills of Quincy and Milton. The late Professor Nash of Cambridge once said, "I should like to have a little bit of this earth to carry with me to Heaven." I think she would like to look from Heaven to the Blue hills and across the sunlit sea to Squantum.

She had not only the artist's appreciation, but something of what Browning calls, "the craftsman-hand." She loved drawing and painting, and was very skilful in all the womanly arts of the needle, by which she often, in gifts of her own work, expressed her friendship.

Possessed of much dramatic faculty she was a good reader and mimic and in earlier life something of an amateur comic actress. But all her liveliness and fun was compatible with a deep earnestness.

She had the pure and simple religion expressed in the poems, so valued by her of J. G. Whittier, and she believed heartily in many of the reforms of her day and aided in the causes of temperance, woman-suffrage, and the betterment of social conditions, so far as she had opportunity, and with the most unwavering steadfastness.

While the exigencies of life obliged her to lay aside the exercises of many of her gifts, while in recent years, she found little time for the studies, or the journeys, in which she delighted, there was one gift, her greatest, in whose use she was unceasing, an absolute talent for kindness.

Her friendly spirit was like a never-failing spring of sweet waters, beneath which her perfect loyalty and her unselfishness formed the underlying rock. To some of us, in times of deep and tragic trial, she has been indeed "the cup of strength." She has made the love of God seem real and near. Feeling the warm-hearted, sunshiny nature of this sincere woman and true child of God, we could but believe as we must, now, go on believing, that behind all clouds of pain and sorrow the sun of a great love beams ever, and the heart of the Eternal is most wonderfully kind.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

How to Reach Aquarium New England Folk are Asking—Boston's Great Cathedral of All the Fish is Now Open to Visitors—Rare Specimens from Tropical Waters Delight Multitudes—Suffragist Has Fun with Anti-Suffrage Monologue—Neither Elijah, Elisha, Micah, Hezekiah, Obadiah nor Jeremiah ever Said 'Votes for Women'—Local Talent is Still Drafted to Professional Stage.

Another dramatic critic to join the ever growing ranks of the playwrights is Earl Derr Biggers, well known to New Englanders and for long a leading critic for the press. Mr. Biggers is also well known for his witty writings and short stories, and there is no doubt but that his new play, to be given one performnace only, will be a success. Several old Boston favorites will take part in the performance, among them Kate Ryan and George Hassell, and the event will also mark the theatrical debut of Miss Edna Jewett Johnson, the talented daughter of a well known Winchester family. All things considered, the forthcoming play is of more than passing interest to Bostonians and New Englanders in general who are familiar with Mr. Biggers' former successes.

A laudable undertaking on the part of one of the Boston newspapers is that of bringing before the public unusual cases of want and destitution which have escaped the watchful eye of the various charitable institutions. It is remarkable, considering the number of these institutions, public and private, in and around Boston, that many of these instances of destitution could exist. The pitiful case was recently reported of nine persons, living in one small room, the father out of work, the mother sick with the cough that threatens her life and the lives of the seven little ones crowded into the same atmosphere, no food, clothing, medicine, coal, nor even a stove to keep out the cold. It is thought that in specific cases of destitution such as this more help can be obtained from the public readers of the daily newspapers, than from the charitable organizations. Response to the appeal as a rule comes quickly and with less red tape than otherwise.

The novel method of promoting the cause of equal suffrage, introduced by Mrs. Jenjamin F. Pitman, a Brookline society leader, bids fair to surpass in effectiveness all previous methods. Mrs. Pitman assumes the role of an anti-suffragist, giving a farcical address embodying the sentiments of an "anti" in sudna form as to show the weakness of the arguments in a screamingly funny manner. Many converts have been gained to the suffrage through this use of satire in arousing their sense of humor. The speech, which contains all the points emphasized by the antis, was written by Marie Jenney Howe and is called "An Anti-Suffrage Monologue." In its course, it is argued that "Woman suffrage is the reform against nature. Look at these ladies sitting on the platform. Oserve their physical inability, their mental disability, their spiritual instability and general debility! Could they walk up to the ballot box, mark a ballot and drop it in? Obviously not!.....Man must remain man. Woman must remain woman. If man goes over and tries to be like woman, if woman goes over and tries to be like man, it will become so very confusing and so difficult to explain to our children. Let us take a practical example. If a woman puts on a man's coat and trousers, takes a man's cane and hat and cigar and goes out on the street, what will happen to her? She will be arrested and thrown into jail. Then why not stay at home?.... Did George Washington ever say, 'Votes for women?' No. Did the Emperor Kaiser Wilhelm ever say, 'Votes for women?' No. Did Elijah, Elisha, Micah, Hezekiah, Obadiah and Jeremiah ever say, 'Votes for women?' No. Then that settles it.....Have you ever pictured to yourself election day with women voting? Can you imagine how women, having undergone this terrible ordeal, with their delicate systems all upset, will come out from the voting booths and be led away by policemen, and put into ambulances, while they are fainting and weeping, half laughing, half crying, and having fits upon the public highway? And how shall I picture to you the terrors of the day after election? Divorce and death will rage unchecked, crime and contagious disease will stalk unbridled through the land....." And so it goes, until the audience is convulsed with laughter and more than one secret anti is ridiculed out of her own arguments.

How to get to the aquarium is a new question subway guards and employees of the great railroad stations are now having frequently to answer, ever since the very successful opening of the new "cathedral of all the fish" on Thanksgiving Day. The answer, of course, is that surface cars run direct every few minutes from North or South stations from Kendall Square, Cambridge, Roxbury Crossing, Dudley Street terminal, or that by transfer at Dover Street, a matter of twenty minutes' ride brings the sightseer to the tip of the South Boston peninsula, where the aquarium is evidently destined to vie in popularity with the birds, bears and other beasts of the new zoo at Franklin Park which are also attracting thousands of people every fine Saturday or Sunday. Housed in an attractive concrete building are rare and radiant fish from the tropical seas—gaily adorned angel fish, purple morays, butterfly fish, as brilliant as their namesakes of the air, cow fish, trunk fish, marine cat fish, and many other iridescent denizens of the coral reefs off Bermuda and Key West. The aquarium director, Louis L. Mowbray, has been fortunate in arranging with the chief buyer of fish at Key West for first choice of all uncommon or particularly fine specimens that are brought by the fishermen to that great centre of Gulf of Mexico fisheries. Having previously been director of the aquarium at Bermuda he has a call on some of the best things from that archipelago. Consequently, although Boston's aquarium has come into being nearly twenty years later than New York's it will from the start be hardly less well worth a visit. Beside the variegated fauna from the tropics there are the usual displays of the more familiar fish of the north Atlantic coast and the inland waters of New England. These are seen at their best in the large glass tanks lighted from windows in the roof. The aquarium collections are open every day including Sundays, and costing nothing but carfare to City Point and back, the new institution is certain to be one of the chief features in present day plans for popularizing Boston's extensive park system.

STRONG TEAMS WANT GAMES

Basket Ball Organizations Seeking Local Dates

A letter has been received at the Quincy A. A. from Hal Chase, the well known ball player, asking for a game with the Quincy A. A. basket ball team. His quintet has played up and down New York state and they are said to be fast at caking the ball.

Joe Jeannette, the pugilist, has also written the club in reference to booking his team of colored boys. Reports says this team is also fast.

Manager Flynn has placed both letters on file for a few days, awaiting a meeting.

On Monday night a meeting of the N. E. A. A. A. U. will be held at the Revere house. The question of enlarging the circuit over the basket ball territory of last winter will come up.

A commission to regulate the game will also be elected, and it would not be surprising if William H. Flynn of the Quincy A. A. was made a member.

The polls will be opened at 6 o'clock in the morning and will be closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and all such citizens may, in the several precincts in which they are entitled to vote, between said hours, give in their votes for a Mayor, Five Councilmen-at-large, Three Councilmen from each Ward, One member of the School Committee-at-large for three years, One member of the School Committee for Ward 1, and One member of the School Committee for Ward 5, for three years; also their votes "Yes," or "No," in answer to the following question "Shall licenses be granted for the sale of intoxicating liquors in this City?" and their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the following question "Shall Chapter 579, Acts of 1912, 'An Act to extend the provisions of the Civil Service Act to the Chief of the Fire Department of the City of Quincy' be accepted by this City?" and their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the following question "Shall Section One, Chapter 104, Revised Laws, being an Act to regulate the inspection, materials, construction, alteration and use of buildings and other structures within its limits, be accepted by this City?" and their votes "Yes" or "No" in answer to the question "Shall Chapter 546, Acts of 1912, 'An Act relative to vacations of members of fire departments,' be accepted by this City?"

Chapter 579, Acts of 1912.
An Act to extend the provisions of the Civil Service Act to the Chief of the Fire Department of the City of Quincy.
Be it enacted, etc., as follows:
Section 1. The provisions of chapter nineteen of the Revised Laws, entitled "Of the Civil Service," and all acts in amendment thereof and in addition thereto, and the civil service rules made thereunder and all acts now or hereafter in force relating to the appointment and removal of members of the fire department of the City of Quincy shall apply to the chief of said fire department.
Section 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.
Section 3. This act shall be submitted to the voters of the city of Quincy at the next municipal election, and if accepted by a majority of the voters voting thereon, shall take effect upon such acceptance; otherwise it shall not take effect. [Approved May 11, 1912.]
Section One, Chap. 104, Revised Laws.
Every city, except Boston, and every town which accepts the provisions of this section or has accepted the corresponding provisions of earlier laws may, for the prevention of fire and the preservation of life, by ordinances or by-laws not inconsistent with law and applicable throughout the whole or any defined part of its territory, regulate the inspection, materials, construction, alteration and use of buildings and other structures within its limits, except such as are owned by the United States or by the Commonwealth and except bridges, quays and wharves, and may prescribe penalties not exceeding one hundred dollars for each violation of such ordinances or by-laws.
Chapter 546, Acts of 1912.
Be it enacted, etc., as follows:
Section 1. Members of the fire department of every city shall be excused from duty for one day out of every five days, without loss of pay. The time and manner of excusing members of fire departments from duty, in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall be determined by the chief, or other officer or board at the head of the fire department.
Section 2. The chief, or other officer or board at the head of the fire department of any city shall have authority, in case of any public emergency, to prevent any member of the department from taking the day off herein provided for at the time when he is entitled thereto, or at the time assigned therefor, provided that such day off shall be granted to him as soon thereafter as is practicable, and such days shall be in addition to any annual vacation now or hereafter allowed to the members of said departments and such annual vacation shall not be diminished on account of the days off herein provided for.
Section 3. This act shall be submitted to the voters of every city, except the cities of Boston and Brockton, at the annual city election in the current year, and shall take effect in any city upon its acceptance by a majority of the voters voting thereon; otherwise it shall not take effect. If in any such city the said election for the current year shall have been held prior to the passage of this act, this act shall be submitted to the voters of such city at the annual city election in the following year. [Approved April 27, 1912.]

MAY CLEAN UP THE BUSINESS
City Council Will Meet on the Eve of Battle
COMMITTEE REPORTS

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening, the night before the great battle of ballots which shall determine who shall rule over the destinies of Quincy next year and who shall conduct the administrative branch of the city government. There are several important matters pending before the Council, the most of them being on the table. They are however to be taken up at any meeting. It is well known however that the vote on some of these matters is so close that they probably will not be taken up unless every member of the Council is present.

One of the matters to come up however is a public hearing on the question of condemning the old partly burnt building on Greenwood avenue Wollaston as a menace to the locality, and a fire danger.

There have been several committee meetings since the last meeting of the Council and reports may naturally be expected from them.

POPULAR FOREMAN
Presented With Ring and Morris Chair By Employees

When David Wolfe, foreman of the No. 3 lasting department in the W. L. Douglass shoe factory at Brockton, was eating his lunch, Friday, the employees of the department gathered around him. John J. Daley, foreman of the No. 1 making room stepped forward and in behalf of the boys presented Mr. Wolfe with a beautiful ring, set with a white heart stone and a leather covered Morris chair. Although completely surprised Mr. Wolfe responded briefly and thanked the friends for their kindly act and invited them to his home in North Weymouth. He assured them that he should have many a pleasant dream bringing back old memories while taking his after dinner nap in that chair.

Mr. Wolfe is very popular with the employees of the company.

HOUSE RALLY FOR MILLER

A well attended house rally, in the interest of John L. Miller, Progressive candidate for mayor and several councilmanic candidates, was held at the residence of Thomas Musgrave, Rawson Road, Norfolk Downs, Friday evening.

The speakers were John L. Miller, Councilman Albert N. Murray, Councilman Charles L. Gilliatt, Horace W. Richmond and John H. Winslow, Councilman Murray presided.

Mr. Miller spoke on the water question and advocated an equalization of rates. The apportionment of taxes was also mentioned. He asked a square deal for the people. Councilman Murray and Gilliatt spoke largely on assessments. The meeting unanimously endorsed John L. Miller for Mayor and Councilmen Murray and Gilliatt for reelection.

RED CROSS SEALS.

The Christmas Red Cross seals for this year are the prettiest ever issued by the National Anti-tuberculosis Society and should carry the real Christmas spirit all over our land.

Seals for sale in Quincy, to aid in the local anti-tuberculosis work, have not arrived but the committee hope to have them next week. Wait for the Quincy sale for it will aid Quincy needy cases, and when you buy, buy liberally as it is a worthy cause. This bright little seal makes a Christmas letter or package look very attractive.

BUILDINGS INCREASING
Noticeable Increase in Permits to Repair and Build
ALSO IN VALUES

Inspector of buildings Warren S. Parker, in his report for the month of November says that the total number of permits for new buildings, alterations, etc., issued during month was 62 against 42 for corresponding period last year. The total value of work contemplated under these permits is $188,525. as against $71,029 for the corresponding month last year. In considering these figures however it must be taken into consideration that the figures given for November this year include the sum of $80,000 for the new Adams school building. The figures for November 1911 are given in addition to the figures for November 1912 for the purpose of comparison.

BRIEFS

Joseph B. Grossman and Edward Berman leave tonight for New Bedford where they will attend the annual convention of the Young Men's Hebrew Association as delegates from the local organization.

A rally for progressive citizens is to be held tonight at Hibernian hall, South Quincy. Ex-Representative Harry S. Nicol will preside and the speakers announced are John L. Miller, the Progressive Mayoralty candidate, ex-Councilman Alexander W. Russell, and the Progressive candidates for Councilmen-at-Large and from the Wards.

Many of the politicians who have issued flyers and other printed matter in the interest of this or that candidate during the present campaign seem to have forgotten, that there is a law which says that all such printed matter or political advertisements calculated to injure or aid a candidate seeking political honors shall be signed with the name and address of the party issuing such circular or advertisement. There is a heavy penalty for the violation of this law and while no one in Quincy would probably pick up the matter and take it to the courts it is just as well for politicians to remember and keep within bounds.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food

Prof. Prescott, of the University of Michigan, testified before the Pure Food Committee of Congress, that the acid of grapes held highest rank as an article of food and he regarded the results from baking with cream of tartar baking powder as favorable to health.

Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

MRS. HILLMAN WANTS DIVORCE
Formerly Jean Bell, a Summer Resident of Houghs Neck
WEDDED ONLY FOUR MONTHS

Mrs. Florence Jean Bell Hillman, 19 years, who lives at Houghs Neck during the summer months with her father, George H. Bell of 15 Blagden street, Boston, announced on Friday that she is going to sue her youthful husband, George Arthur Hillman of Roxbury for divorce. They were married four months ago in New York city, after a sensational elopement from Boston.

At that time she was a student at Dr. Sargent's gymnastic school at Cambridge. Her husband is a member of the English High school football team.

Mrs. Hillman says that she has not been in want as her father has been a generous provider, although her husband has not contributed to her support. She states that she will petition on the grounds of desertion.

The couple separated on Labor Day, each going to the homes of their parents.

Mrs. Hillman says that there was no trouble, but that she had married in haste, that her husband has no backbone and has been denying his marriage. Furthermore he has been posing as an 18 year old boy, when he is 21, and Mrs. Hillman does not approve of it.

Mrs. Hillman was rescued from drowning off Houghs Neck during the summer of 1911. She was brought ashore by another young lady who was on the shore.

The boy's mother says that there is now an action for the annulment of the marriage pending which she brought shortly after the ceremony was performed.
